Tucker Viemeister, an industrial designer who leads the Lab at Rockwell Group, notes that women are relative newcomers to the profession and deems the selection a solid mix of key designers and products. “Industrial design was really the first kind of geeky profession,” said Viemeister, reflecting on the male-dominated early days and highlighting a trait that stamp collectors and designers may have in common. “Gearheads in their garage making stuff? We invented geeks.” Molly Heintz and Branden Klayko

http://www.archpaper.com/e-board_rev.asp?News_ID=5136

--

↑ Index

202. Deborah Poe
Handmade/Homemade Exhibit, Opening/Reading & Bookmaking Workshop at Pace University, Westchester
Mon 21 Feb 2011

Friends, the annual, month-long Handmade/Homemade mini-exhibition at Pace University, Westchester County begins next week on March 1st. The opening--with readers MC Hyland, JenMarie Davis and Jen Hofer--and bookmaking workshop--led by Jen Hofer--kick off the exhibit.

*

Pace University, Westchester, welcomes the following artists and writers for the third annual Handmade/Homemade Exhibit:

Elizabeth Colen
JenMarie Davis/Fact-Simile Editions
Michelle Detorie/Hex Presse
Brian Foley and E.B. Goodale/Brave Men Press
Jen Hofer
Sam Lohmann/Peaches & Bats
Jai Arun Ravine
Marilyn R. Rosenberg
Kyle Schlesinger/Cuneiform Press
Mathew Timmons/Insert Press
Patti White and Joseph Wood/Slash Pines Press

This mini-exhibition includes handmade, homemade and letterpress chapbooks, one-of-a-kind editions and broadsides. The exhibit takes place the entire month of March in the Mortola Library at Pace University.

Several events accompany the second annual Handmade/Homemade Exhibit at Pace:

Opening/Reading, Tuesday March 1st at 12:20PM (Pace U Common Hour) A reading and celebration of the work takes place Tuesday, March 1st at 12:20PM in Butcher Suite, Kessel Student Center, Pace University Westchester. Readers include JenMarie Davis, Jen Hofer, MC Hyland and others to be announced.

A Bookmaking Workshop/Demonstration, Tuesday March 1st, from 1:25PM-2:30PM Artist, writer and educator Jen Hofer provides a bookmaking workshop Tuesday, March 1st at 1:25PM in the Art Gallery of Choate House, Pace University Westchester.

Please visit this page for further information. Visit the Pace University Web site <http://www.pace.edu/pace/about-us/all-about-pace/directions-to-all-campuses/>for directions to the Westchester campus. For additional questions on the events, please email [redacted]. http://handhomemade.wordpress.com/

↑ Index

203. Jesse Glass
ED and LD--In Praise Of Family Speech Habits
Mon 21 Feb 2011

ED's younger sister Lavinia resembled Yvonne de Carlo, and was, along with Emily--rumored to the life of the party--even a bit "wild" according to Richard B. Sewall's excellent biography The Life of Emily Dickinson.

Here is an excerpt of an antebellum reminiscence of Lavinia by Joseph Bardwell Lyman, a gentleman who knew both the Dickinsons very well, but was close to marrying Lavinia.

***

"I was very happy in Vinnies [sic] arms--very happy. She sat in my lap and pulled the pins from her long soft chestnut hair and tied the long silken mass around my neck and kissed me again & again. She was always at my side clinging to my arm and used to have a little red ottoman that she brought & placed close by my chair and laid her book across my lap when she read. Her skin was very soft. Her arms were fat & white and I was very, very happy with her....

***

But more interesting than this was Lyman's (and other visitors' observations) on the similarities of ED's and LD's speech patterns and turns of phrase. Though Emily's speech was declared by Lyman, and others, including Lavinia, as brilliant, it was noted that there was an echo of ED's trope making in LD's talk and writing. I find this utterly fascinating. I would predict that this same sort of language use could probably have been discerned in Austin's familial language as well, and perhaps in the Mother's and most definitely the Father's. How much of highly original language use is actually a reflection of private language play and other idiomatic uses of language within the home? The Bronte family is another example. I would also point to Wallace Stevens and his intense and private home life.

***

Finally, Lavinia Dickinson was also something of a poet and in the Dickinson papers at Harvard is a 17 page manuscript of LD's poems which she typed in 1898. Sewell gives an excerpt (pgs. 250--252 in the one-volume paperback edition)--I'll include several.

Night

The stars kept winking and blinking,
as if they had secrets to tell;
But nobody asked any questions,
Nobody heard any tales.

***

Fire-Flies

The fire-flies hold their lanterns high
To guide the falling star,
But, if by chance the wicks grow short
The stars might lose their way.

***

The wind hung high in the trees last night
And threw the branches down,
And sang weird tunes the elfins made,
And then the world was still.

***

"And yet", is such a simple phrase--
It hardly seems worth mending;
But many a bliss has tripped just here,
Because this fatal footing.

***

Indifference is as sure to kill
As smokeless powder's mark,
So be cautious how you trifle
With a heart of any size.

***

There's no indication just when these poems were written, but I do believe that Lavinia was being less than honest when she said that she was not aware of ED's poetry early on. My opinion is that ED, LD, and AD spoke and wrote Dickinsonesque language together in various degrees of linguistic complexity, but that the patterns were perhaps held in common. Jess

↑ Index

204. Jonathan Morse

Images of a public library abandoned with the books still on the shelves

Tue 22 Feb 2011

I post the link here:

http://jonathan-morse.blogspot.com/2011/02/synecdoche-how-dark-age-arrives.html

We are living in an era that needs a Cavafy. Now if only there is a Cavafy.

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

205. Camille Martin

new @ Rogue Embryo: "If cosmic conditions were even slightly different"

Tue 22 Feb 2011

@ Rogue Embryo

http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com

* "If cosmic conditions were even slightly different"
http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/02/22/if-cosmic-conditions-were-even-slightly-different-my-mothers-freethinkers-prayer/

* Collages by Derrick Tyson http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/02/19/collages-by-derrick-tyson/

* Maxine Gadd: Subway Under Byzantium
http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/02/16/maxine-gadd-subway-under-byzantium/

* One for the Neglectorino Project: Florine Stettheimer http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/02/12/one-for-the-neglectorino-project-florine-stettheimer/

Cheers!
Camille Martin

Sonnets:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781848610705/sonnets.aspx

Codes of Public Sleep:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781897388112/codes-of-public-sleep.aspx

↑ Index

206. Adam Fieled
"American Deadness," Pt.1
Tue 22 Feb 2011

American Deadness is a manuscript in progress. Parts have appeared or are forthcoming in Mipo, Miporadio, and Milk Magazine.

American Deadness is about the recession, and about the vast wilderness America has become: the places, the spaces, and how they affect the ordinary people who inhabit.

An mp3 of Pt.1 is up here:

http://www.yudu.com/item/details/293208/American-Deadness-Pt.1

Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

207. Stephen Vincent
Jim Goldberg - photographer of the Mideast &
Tue 22 Feb 2011

Jim Goldberg, photographer/artist/wordsmith - a SF colleague & member of Magnum - has done some extraordinary work exploring and artfully documenting that terrain of migrants that includes those who have been sex trafficked, or are economic or political refugees from a radius that includes Russia, north Africa & India. I bring Jim's work up because much of it intimately lives within that nerve center from which these eruptions around the Mediterranean are flying more than ever into public consciousness. I think it's right on and into the geist of that zone in which your own country ceases to exist.

You may have seen Goldberg's work exhibited in London, France and Italy during the last couple of years. Steidl published his "Open See", a boxed set of four books, now going into a second printing. Or, for a quick sense, you can see the work posted on Magnum website.

Stephen Vincent

↑ Index

208. Stephen Ellis

Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?

Tue 22 Feb 2011

Dirty concrete means it has too much sand to bond.

> Date: Thu, 17 Feb 2011 12:25:19 -0500
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?
> To: [redacted]
>
> I remember a reading at The Lab or someplace like that in SF around 1986-1988, Stephen McCaffery (featured that evening I think with Beverly Dahlen) did a kind of performance piece comprised essentially of "FULL and Extra-Physical Enunciation" of "text" pared down all the way to the Ground Level of individual letters, perhaps in fact JUST ONE letter, the letter T (at least that is the one that I best remember). He articulated, "t, t, t, T, T, T, T, T, T" and so on and so forth. Indeed, he wanted to, let's say, FULLY ACTUALIZE the entire experiential range of the universal physicality of the letter T, all that ear, tongue, mouth, lungs, and even esophagus FEEL/Contact when it, the letter T, is stripped of its (Capitalist?) conventional utility or any kind of marketable semantic association or "burden" (Williams). (I guess that's "My Stephen McCaffery" that evening, anyways...)
>
> In effect, or maybe Full Effect, he really, really engaged us somatically and carnally with his intensely evocative accentuation and "primitive," roof-shaking, thunderous enunciation of the letter T. He SPIT it right into some of us in the first couple rows of seats, in fact. NOW, if that wasn't one of the most "concrete" poetries I have ever witnessed, No, I should say _EXPERIENCED_, then I don't know what is (other than what Robert Grenier does, and leaves, on the page, also "minimalist," but more a graphic or visual "concrete," while McCaffery's, obviously, is dramatically SOUND-based and Extremely Oral, of course.) Anyhow, given that a good bit of good clean spit was emitted, surely that kind of poming would/could be called "dirty concrete," in my humble opinion.

Steve Tills

Date: Tue, 15 Feb 2011 17:23:15 -0800

From: George Bowering <[redacted]>

Subject: Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?

Back in the day we used to talk about dirty con and clean con.

Dirty con was the stuff you did by typing over other typing but a bit off.

Anything with smears etc.

Generally the stuff bpNichol was doing was clean con and the stuff bill bissett was doing was dirty con.

There was a difference of intent.

Dirty con was generally done by poets who wanted to strike against hoitsy toitsy aestheticism.

gb

On Feb 15, 2011, at 9:15 AM, Lori Emerson wrote:

Hello all! I wonder if anyone out there knows where the term "dirty concrete" came from (a term which I know Stephen Scobie and others have used to describe Steve McCaffery's work).

Any leads or tips would be just wonderful - thanks -

Lori

--

Lori Emerson

Assistant Professor | Electropoetics Thread Editor, Electronic Book Review Department of English, University of Colorado at Boulder

Hellems 101, 226 UCB, Boulder, CO 80309-0226

http://www.loriemerson.com http://www.electronicbookreview.com

http://twitter.com/loriemerson

↑ Index

209. Jonathan Skinner

Julie Patton in Boston

Tue 22 Feb 2011

JULIE PATTON Wednesday, February 23, 7:00 pm Campus Center, room 3545 (3rd floor) UMass BOSTON Free and open to the public

↑ Index

210. Murat Nemet-Nejat

Re: ED and LD--In Praise Of Family Speech Habits

Wed 23 Feb 2011

Jesse,

Are you saying that these poems are likke Emily Dickinson's?

Murat

On Mon, Feb 21, 2011 at 11:15 PM, Jesse Glass <[redacted]> wrote:

> ED's younger sister Lavinia resembled Yvonne de Carlo, and was, along with Emily--rumored to the life of the party--even a bit "wild" according to Richard B. Sewall's excellent biography The Life of Emily Dickinson.
>
> Here is an excerpt of an antebellum reminiscence of Lavinia by Joseph Bardwell Lyman, a gentleman who knew both the Dickinsons very well, but was close to marrying Lavinia.
>
> ***
>
> "I was very happy in Vinnies [sic] arms--very happy. She sat in my lap and pulled the pins from her long soft chestnut hair and tied the long silken mass around my neck and kissed me again & again. She was always at my side clinging to my arm and used to have a little red ottoman that she brought & placed close by my chair and laid her book across my lap when she read. Her skin was very soft. Her arms were fat & white and I was very, very happy with her....
>
> ***
>
> But more interesting than this was Lyman's (and other visitors' observations) on the similarities of ED's and LD's speech patterns and turns of phrase. Though Emily's speech was declared by Lyman, and others, including Lavinia, as brilliant, it was noted that there was an echo of ED's trope making in LD's talk and writing. I find this utterly fascinating. I would predict that this same sort of language use could probably have been discerned in Austin's familial language as well, and perhaps in the Mother's and most definitely the Father's. How much of highly original language use is actually a reflection of private language play and other idiomatic uses of language within the home? The Bronte family is another example. I would also point to Wallace Stevens and his intense and private home life.
>
> ***
>
> Finally, Lavinia Dickinson was also something of a poet and in the Dickinson papers at Harvard is a 17 page manuscript of LD's poems which she typed in 1898. Sewell gives an excerpt (pgs. 250--252 in the one-volume paperback edition)--I'll include several.

Night

The stars kept winking and blinking,
as if they had secrets to tell;
But nobody asked any questions,
Nobody heard any tales.

***

Fire-Flies

The fire-flies hold their lanterns high
To guide the falling star,
But, if by chance the wicks grow short
The stars might lose their way.

***

The wind hung high in the trees last night
And threw the branches down,
And sang weird tunes the elfins made,
And then the world was still.

***

"And yet", is such a simple phrase--
It hardly seems worth mending;
But many a bliss has tripped just here,
Because this fatal footing.

***

Indifference is as sure to kill
As smokeless powder's mark,
So be cautious how you trifle
With a heart of any size.

***

There's no indication just when these poems were written, but I do believe that Lavinia was being less than honest when she said that she was not aware of ED's poetry early on. My opinion is that ED, LD, and AD spoke and wrote Dickinsonesque language together in various degrees of linguistic complexity, but that the patterns were perhaps held in common. Jess

↑ Index

211. Ryan Daley
New Blog Posts at Muchisimas
Wed 23 Feb 2011

We have flarf: http://charitablegiving.blogspot.com/2011/02/toefl-essay-most-important-event.html

We have working teens: http://charitablegiving.blogspot.com/2011/02/toefl-essay-would-you-love-to-see-teens.html

We have challenges of new languages: http://charitablegiving.blogspot.com/2011/02/toefl-essay-new-languages-challenges.html

We have country and city kids' upbringings: http://charitablegiving.blogspot.com/2011/01/toefl-essay-country-and-city-kids-are.html

Thanks for reading.

-Ryan

↑ Index

212. Joel Weishaus
CFP: Inaugural Conference of the European Beat Studies Network
Wed 23 Feb 2011

Papers are invited for the Inaugural Conference of the European Beat Studies Network (EBSN), which will take place at the Roosevelt Study Center in Middelburg (The Netherlands) on 5-7 September, 2012.

We are open to submissions of both long and short papers, panels, roundtables, dialogues and performances on any aspect of the Beat Generation. Suggested topics may include but are not limited to:

* Beat Generation writers in Europe
* European influences on the Beat Generation
* Beat writing and European cities
* The Beats and European philosophy
* The Beats’ influence on European authors
* The Beat Generation and the European avant-garde

* The Beats and transnationalism
* The Beats and transatlantic connections
* New editions of Beat work
* Beat books as artefacts
* The Beats' influence on popular culture
* Beat writing and politics
* The Beats and travel
* Beat attitudes towards poverty
* Connections with Bohemia
* Beat lifestyle and excess
* Representations of nature
* Mysticism, religion and spirituality
* Beat writing and gender

Please send abstracts of 250 words (no attachments) and a short bio to Chad Weidner at [redacted] by November 1, 2011.

Inquiries can be addressed to Chad Weidner ([redacted]), Oliver Harris ([redacted]) or to Polina Mackay ([redacted]).

Conference Organising Committee:
Chad Weidner (Events Coordinator)
Oliver Harris (EBSN President)
Polina Mackay (EBSN Secretary)

-
Greetings,

Chad Weidner
English, Theatre and Media Studies
Roosevelt Academy - Utrecht University
Lange Noordstraat 1
NL-4331 CB Middelburg
The Netherlands

↑ Index

213. Mark Weiss

Rothenberg, Owens, Barrio Spanish and lots of bargains!

Wed 23 Feb 2011

Three new books from Junction Press, and a big sale. See the website, Junctionpress.com, for more details about the books.

Jerome Rothenberg, Retrievals:Uncollected & New Poems, 1955-2010. Discount price $17

A central figure of both the "deep image" and ethnopoetics movements, and a pioneering experimentalist, Jerome Rothenberg is the author of over eighty collections of poems and ten volumes of translations and editor of nine ground-breaking anthologies. He here assembles, out of poems and plays unpublished or obscurely published, the first representation of the full trajectory of one of the most important careers in American poetry of the past fifty years.

"Jerome Rothenberg has done as much as anyone over the past half century to shake up received ideas of what poems ought to be like, by demonstrating or suggesting an endless profusion of other pathways, other shapes, other stances, other contexts: as if to say that it is always possible to begin over, to invent new rules for the most ancient of games, not once but over and over. Now to the rest of his poetry--a body of work still underrated, in part because his extraordinary work as editor and translator may at times have overshadowed it--is added this bonus: half a century of work previously uncollected, spilling out in profusion from the interstices of all the previous poetry and revealing multiple layers of exploration and invention. Here are baroque sonnets, gnostic hymns, language games, parables, elegies, conversations, landscapes inner and outer, dream poems, poems noisy and nearly silent, poems mournful and ecstatic and uproarious, poems in dialogue with other poems from the Bablyonians and Toltecs to today or the day after, by way of Oppian, Lorca, Pound, Duncan, Mac Low, and culminating in a starkly pared-down suite of Ikons & Altarpieces. Retrievals is the book of a life, and the book of an era." - Geoffrey O'Brien, editor-in-chief, The Library of America

Rochelle Owens, Solitary Workwoman. Discount price $17

"Rochelle Owens' writing...is sui generis. She is, in many ways, a proto-language poet, her marked ellipses, syntactic oddities, and dense and clashing verbal surfaces recalling the long poems of Bruce Andrews and Ron Silliman. But Owens is angrier, more energetic, and more assertive than most of her Language counterparts, male and female, and she presents herself as curiously non-introspective. Hers is a universe of stark gesture, lightning flash, and uncompromising judgement: it is imperative, in her poetic world, to face up to the horror, even as the point of view is flexible enough to avoid all dogmatism." - Marjorie Perloff

â€œSharp & visual, Owens combines a landscape with a poetics, the domestic with the mythic, machines with the organic living world--from which arises a construct & a fused vision: poetry & life." - Jerome Rothenberg â€œOwens goes cold turkey on the agony and delight of living in this century. She is the Shaman-genius exploring deeper realities in the psychic realm. She reaches down into the living, breathing mystical core and pulls up the forces of chaos spitting and kicking: she gives us back the hungry power of our own imaginations." - Maureen Owen

A central figure in the international vanat-garde for fifty years, Rochelle Owens has published 16 previous volumes of poetry, including New and Selected Poems: 1961-1996 and Luca: Discourse on Life and Death (both Junction Press, 1997 and 2001). She has been the recipient of five Village Voice Obie awards and Honors from the New York Drama Critics' Circle for her plays. Her work has been translated into French, German, Italian, Spanish, Ukranian and Japanese.

Polkinhorn and Velasco, CalÃ³: A Dictionary of Spanish Barrio and Border Slang. Discount price $17

"This dictionary is a much-needed update of the slang of California's border region. While Chicano calÃ³ has been recognized as a youth argot since before World War II, when its speakers were known as pachucos, each region and generation has added new words and phrases, its speakers adapting the dialect to their current reality. By using it, Chicano youths and other insiders sometimes hide their true intent, playing with language and at the same time paying homage to the camaradas who have gone before them. CalÃ³: A Dictionary of Spanish Barrio & Border Slang allows the uninitiated into a world of living on the edge. It will be invaluable to readers who have learned Spanish in school but want to know how it's spoken on the street." - MaryEllen GarcÃ-a, PhD, Department of Modern Languages and Literatures, The University of Texas at San Antonio

"CalÃ³ is a vibrant and often joyous explosion of linguistic tricksterism. Depending on the listener, it can either be delightful or intimidating--sometimes both at once. This book is fascinating and hilarious. So put on your best calcos, grab your weesa, and take the ranfla out for a cruise--and keep this volume in the glove box." - Luis Alberto Urrea, author of Into the Beautiful North, The Devil's Highway, and The Hummingbird's Daughter.

"Polkinhorn and Velasco have busted the borders of linguistic analysis and Chicano talk assumptions. I hear the voices of my uncle Beto from El Paso in the 30's, the new multi-vocalities of the "Â¡Orale!" generations of Latin America and the ever swashbuckling cross-cultural speakers and singers of the world. This is the unchained rap of the people! Tune into its poetic-love, community-renaissance and heart-rhythm dance. A twenty-first century ring-tone. Â¡De aquellas! Right on!" - Juan Felipe Herrera Order direct from me for a discount. Each retails for $21, but is discounted to $17 for list members. Order all three for $45. Add $3 for one book for shipping within the US.

Still more ways to save money. Junction Press is digitalizing its older books and needs to unburden its warehouse of remaining copies of books printed offset. The digital copies will be significantly more expensive because of increased paper costs. So,

Pay full price for Solitary Workwoman and I'll include Owens' New and Selected Poems 1961-1996 and Luca: Discourse on Life and Death gratis (each retail for $20).

Buy any of the new books at full price and select one of the following gratis:
Richard Elman, Cathedral-Tree-Train
Luisa Futoransky, translated by Jason Weiss, The Duration of the Voyage
Mark Weiss, Fieldnotes
Ira Beryl Brukner, Questions, Short Poems, Water & Air
Susie Mee, The Undertaker's Daughter
Stephen Vincent, Walking

Finally, Across the Line / Al otro lado: The Poetry of Baja California (bilingual, edited by Polkinhorn and Weiss), $10 (retail price $25).

All of these offerings are only available backchannel to me.

Happy book buying.

↑ Index

214. William Slaughter
Notice: Mudlark
Wed 23 Feb 2011

New and On View: Mudlark Poster No. 90 (2011)

from Eucalyptus by Charles Freeland

Charles Freeland lives in Dayton, Ohio, where he teaches at Sinclair Community College. A two-time recipient of the Individual Excellence Award in Poetry from the Ohio Arts Council, he is the author of the book-length poem Eros & (Fill in the Blank) (BlazeVOX), the collection Through the Funeral Mountains on a Burro (Otoliths), and several chapbooks and e-chapbooks including Deviled Ham and a Picture of Jesus (Finishing Line Press), Chilean Sea Bass is Really Just Patagonian Toothfish (Differentia Press), Eulalie & Squid (Chippens Press), Furiant, Not Polka (Moria), The Case of the Danish King Halfdene (Mudlark), and Where We Saw Them Last (Lily Press). His website is The Fossil Record (charlesfreelandpoetry.net).

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

↑ Index

215. Jennifer Karmin

Feb 25: Reading in Milwaukee

Thu 24 Feb 2011

---

drupe fruits reading friday, february 25th
8:00-11:30pm

at the laundry chute 728 e. locust street milwaukee, wi

such monsters of modern rock as:
mc hyland
jennifer karmin
jeremy behreandt sarah fox

we will also be celebrating
"in what sequence will my parts exit" by cynthia spencer.

drupe fruits issue #2 features:
harold abramowitz, jeremy behreandt, erin m. bertram, stacy blint, jamison crabtree, kevin dunham, amira hanafi, mc hyland, jennifer karmin, susan kirby-smith, dolly lemke, jonathan lohr, js makkos, jenn marie nunes, daniela olszewska, edwin r. perry, meg prichard, jasmine dreame wagner, and joseph young Plumberries is a mobile press invested in the tangible.

Plumberries Press is committed to the tactile, but has acquiesced to posting things online (hence this page). When not caught up in working ourselves into the oracle and upping our traffic, we work on limited runs of journals and chapbooks with an emphasis on quality ingredients and unique production aesthetics. We are mostly interested in shorter, strange writings, and we read all year.

http://www.plumberriespress.wordpress.com

↑ Index

216. Rob McLennan
the ottawa small press book fair, spring 2011;
Thu 24 Feb 2011

---

span-o (the small press action network - ottawa) presents:

> the ottawa > small press > book fair

spring 2011 edition will be happening Saturday, June 25, 2011

in room 203 of the Jack Purcell Community Centre (on Elgin, at 320 Jack Purcell Lane).

contact rob at [redacted] to sign up for a table, etc.

"once upon a time, way way back in October 1994, rob mclennan & James Spyker invented a two-day event called the ottawa small press book fair, and held the first one at the National Archives of Canada..." Spyker moved to Toronto soon after the first one, but the fair continues, thanks in part to the help of generous volunteers, various writers and publishers, and the public for coming out to participate with alla their love and their dollars.

General info: the ottawa small press book fair noon to 5pm (opens at 11:00 for exhibitors) admission free to the public.
$20 for exhibitors, full tables
$10 for half-tables
(payable to rob mclennan, c/o 858 Somerset St W, main floor, Ottawa Ontario K1R 6R7; send by October 11 if you would like to appear in the exhibitor catalogue).

note: for the sake of increased demand, we are now offering half tables. for catalog, exhibitors should send (on paper, not email name of press, address, email, web address, contact person, type of publications, list of publications (with price), if submissions are being considered & any other pertinent info, including upcoming ottawa-area events (if any).

& don't forget the pre-fair reading usually held the night before, info tba!

also, due to the increased demand for table space, exhibitors are asked to confirm far earlier than usual. i.e. -- before, say, the day of the fair.the fair usually contains exhibitors with poetry books, novels, cookbooks, posters, t-shirts, graphic novels, comic books, magazines, scraps of paper, gum-ball machines with poems, 2x4s with text, etc, including (at previous events) Bywords, Dusty Owl, Chaudiere Books, above/ground press, Room 302 Books, The Puritan, The Ottawa Arts Review, Buschek Books, The Grunge Papers, Broken Jaw Press, BookThug, Proper Tales Press, and others.

happens twice a year, founded in 1994 by rob mclennan & James Spyker. now run by rob mclennan thru span-o.questions, [redacted] free things can be mailed for fair distribution to the same address. we will not be selling things for folk who cant make it, sorry. also, always looking for volunteers to poster, move tables, that sort of thing. let me know if anyone able to do anything. thanks.

for more information, bother rob mclennan.if you're able/willing to distribute posters/fliers for the fair, send me an email at [redacted]

and for information on this or other small press book fairs across Canada, be sure to check out http://www.smallpressbookfair.blogspot.com/

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

217. amy king

Sad News -- Announcement about Akilah Oliver's passing

Thu 24 Feb 2011

Then I command the stage again, as embodied act

February 24, 2011

Then I command the stage again, as embodied activism this time a gone time from a before then if so therefore without pretense this phrase, this constituent, this color lily Iâ€™ve never seen before a calculated blue.

(from The Puttererâ€™s Notebook)

We have just learned that our beloved friend, poet, teacher, performer, activist, mother, sister, Akilah Oliver passed away in her home in the Fort Greene section of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Akilah Oliver was born in 1961 in Los Angeles. In the 1990s she founded and performed with the feminist performance collective Sacred Naked Nature Girls. For several years, Akilah lived in Boulder, Colorado, where she raised her son Oluchi McDonald (1982â€“2003) and taught at Naropa Universityâ€™s Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics. Recently, in New York City, Akilah taught poetry and writing at The New School, Pratt Institute and The Poetry Project. She was a PhD candidate at The European Graduate School and a member of the Belladonna* Collaborative.

Akilah Oliverâ€™s books include A Toast In The House of Friends (Coffee House, 2009), the she said dialogues: flesh memory, which received the PEN Beyond Margins Award, and the chapbooks An Arriving Guard of Angels, Thusly Coming to Greet (Farfalla, McMillan & Parrish, 2004), The Puttererâ€™s Notebook (Belladonna 2006), â€œa(A)ugustâ€ (Yo-Yo Labs, 2007) and A Collection of Objects (Tente, 2010). She read and performed her work as a solo artist throughout the United States and collaborated with a variety of artists and musicians, including Tyler Burba, Anne Waldman and Rasul Siddik. She was an artist-in-residence at Beyond Baroque Literary Arts Center in Los Angeles, a curator of the Poetry Projectâ€™s Monday Night Reading Series, and received grants from the California Arts Council, The Flintridge Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation. Among her many projects, she was writing a book-length theory of lamentation.

We feel this loss deeply, in all the communities where Akilah shared her energy, strength, life, wisdom and spirit. Information about services and memorial will be forthcoming.

↑ Index

218. Murat Nemet-Nejat

Re: Sad News -- Announcement about Akilah Oliver's passing

Thu 24 Feb 2011

A very sad, shocking loss! I was with her at Naropa last summer.

Murat

On Thu, Feb 24, 2011 at 5:17 PM, amy king <[redacted]> wrote:

> Then I command the stage again, as embodied act
>
> February 24, 2011
>
> Then I command the stage again, as embodied activism this time > a > gone time
> from a before then if so therefore without pretense > this > phrase, this constituent,
>
> this color lily I've never seen before a calculated

blue.
(from The Putterer's Notebook)

We have just learned that our beloved friend, poet, teacher, performer, activist, mother, sister, Akilah Oliver passed away in her home in the Fort Greene section of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Akilah Oliver was born in 1961 in Los Angeles. In the 1990s she founded and performed with the feminist performance collective Sacred Naked Nature Girls. For several years, Akilah lived in Boulder, Colorado, where she raised her son Oluchi McDonald (1982–2003) and taught at Naropa University's Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics. Recently, in New York City, Akilah taught poetry and writing at The New School, Pratt Institute and The Poetry Project. She was a PhD candidate at The European Graduate School and a member of the Belladonna Collaborative.*

Akilah Oliver's books include A Toast In The House of Friends (Coffee House, 2009), the she said dialogues: flesh memory, which received the PEN Beyond Margins Award, and the chapbooks An Arriving Guard of Angels, Thusly Coming to Greet (Farfalla, McMillan & Parrish, 2004), The Putterer's Notebook (Belladonna 2006), "a(A)ugust" (Yo-Yo Labs, 2007) and A Collection of Objects (Tente, 2010). She read and performed her work as a solo artist throughout the United States and collaborated with a variety of artists and musicians, including Tyler Burba, Anne Waldman and Rasul Siddik. She was an artist-in-residence at Beyond Baroque Literary Arts Center in Los Angeles, a curator of the Poetry Project's Monday Night Reading Series, and received grants from the California Arts Council, The Flintridge Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation. Among her many projects, she was writing a book-length theory of lamentation.

We feel this loss deeply, in all the communities where Akilah shared her energy, strength, life, wisdom and spirit. Information about services and memorial > will > be forthcoming.

↑ Index

219. Millicent Borges Accardi

Re: Sad News -- Announcement about Akilah Oliver's passing

Thu 24 Feb 2011

So sorry to hear the news. She was a presence at Beyond Baroque in Venice too. Although I did not know her personally.

Millicent Borges Accardi
Injuring Eternity
Available online

-----Original Message-----
From: amy king <[redacted]>
To: POETICS <[redacted]>
Sent: Thu, Feb 24, 2011 2:17 pm
Subject: Sad News -- Announcement about Akilah Oliver's passing

Then I command the stage again, as embodied act

ebruary 24, 2011

hen I command the stage again, as embodied activism this time a one time rom a before then if so therefore without pretense this hrase, this constituent, this color lily Iâ€™ve never seen before a calculated lue.
(from The Puttererâ€™s Notebook)

e have just learned that our beloved friend, poet, teacher, performer, ctivist, mother, sister, Akilah Oliver passed away in her home in the Fort reene section of Brooklyn, N.Y.

kilah Oliver was born in 1961 in Los Angeles. In the 1990s she founded and erformed with the feminist performance collective Sacred Naked Nature Girls. or several years, Akilah lived in Boulder, Colorado, where she raised her son luchi McDonald (1982â€“2003) and taught at Naropa Universityâ€™s Jack Kerouac chool of Disembodied Poetics. Recently, in New York City, Akilah taught poetry and writing at The New School, Pratt Institute and The Poetry Project. She was PhD candidate at The European Graduate School and a member of the Belladonna* ollaborative.

kilah Oliverâ€™s books include A Toast In The House of Friends (Coffee House, 009), the she said dialogues: flesh memory, which received the PEN Beyond argins Award, and the chapbooks An Arriving Guard of Angels, Thusly Coming to reet (Farfalla, McMillan & Parrish, 2004), The Puttererâ€™s Notebook (Belladonna 006), â€œa(A)ugustâ€ (Yo-Yo Labs, 2007) and A Collection of Objects (Tente, 2010). She read and performed her work as a solo artist throughout the United States nd collaborated with a variety of artists and musicians, including Tyler Burba, Anne Waldman and Rasul Siddik. She was an artist-in-residence at Beyond Baroque iterary Arts Center in Los Angeles, a curator of the Poetry Projectâ€™s Monday ight Reading Series, and received grants from the California Arts Council, The lintridge Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation. Among her many projects, he was writing a book-length theory of lamentation.

e feel this loss deeply, in all the communities where Akilah shared her energy, strength, life, wisdom and spirit. Information about services and memorial will e forthcoming.

↑ Index

220. Laura Hinton

Re: Sad News -- Announcement about Akilah Oliver's passing

Thu 24 Feb 2011

Oh, my god. Akilah. An amazing woman and poet. We met recently about the passing of our also amazing sons. She was very young.

What happened?

I am devastated.

Laura

Sent from my iPhone

On Feb 24, 2011, at 5:17 PM, amy king <[redacted]> wrote:

> Then I command the stage again, as embodied act
>
> February 24, 2011
>
> Then I command the stage again, as embodied activism this > time a
> gone time
> from a before then if so therefore without pretense this phrase, this constituent,

this color lily Iâ€™ve never seen before a cal culated
blue.
(from The Puttererâ€™s Notebook)

We have just learned that our beloved friend, poet, teacher, performer, activist, mother, sister, Akilah Oliver passed away in her home in the Fort
Greene section of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Akilah Oliver was born in 1961 in Los Angeles. In the 1990s she founded and performed with the feminist performance collective Sacred Naked Nature Girls.
For several years, Akilah lived in Boulder, Colorado, where she raised her son
Oluchi McDonald (1982â€“2003) and taught at Naropa Universityâ€™s
Jack Kerouac
School of Disembodied Poetics. Recently, in New York City, Akilah taught poetry and writing at The New School, Pratt Institute and The Poetry Project. She was a PhD candidate at The European Graduate School and a member of the *Belladonna
Collaborative.

Akilah Oliverâ€™s books include A Toast In The House of Friends (Coffe e House,
2009), the she said dialogues: flesh memory, which received the PEN
Beyond
Margins Award, and the chapbooks An Arriving Guard of Angels, Thusly Coming to Greet (Farfalla, McMillan & Parrish, 2004), The Puttererâ€™s Notebook (Belladonna
2006), â€œa(A)ugustâ€ (Yo-Yo Labs, 2007) and A Collection of Objects (Tente, 2010).
She read and performed her work as a solo artist throughout the United States and collaborated with a variety of artists and musicians, including Tyler Burba,
Anne Waldman and Rasul Siddik. She was an artist-in-residence at Beyond Baroque
Literary Arts Center in Los Angeles, a curator of the Poetry Project

> â€™s Monday > Night Reading Series, and received grants from the California Arts Council, The > Flintridge Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation. Among her many projects, > she was writing a book-length theory of lamentation.
>
> We feel this loss deeply, in all the communities where Akilah shared her energy, > strength, life, wisdom and spirit. Information about services and memorial will > be forthcoming.

↑ Index

221. Jesse Glass

Re: ED and LD--In Praise Of Family Speech Habits

Thu 24 Feb 2011

Nah, look at the final paragraph. That's what I'm saying. Jess

On 2/23/2011, "Murat Nemet-Nejat" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Jesse,
>
> Are you saying that these poems are likke Emily Dickinson's?
>
> Murat
>
> On Mon, Feb 21, 2011 at 11:15 PM, Jesse Glass <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> ED's younger sister Lavinia resembled Yvonne de Carlo, and was, along with Emily--rumored to the life of the party--even a bit "wild" according to Richard B. Sewall's excellent biography The Life of Emily Dickinson.
>
> Here is an excerpt of an antebellum reminiscence of Lavinia by Joseph Bardwell Lyman, a gentleman who knew both the Dickinsons very well, but was close to marrying Lavinia.
>
> ***
>
> "I was very happy in Vinnies [sic] arms--very happy. She sat in my lap and pulled the pins from her long soft chestnut hair and tied the long silken mass around my neck and kissed me again & again. She was always at my side clinging to my arm and used to have a little red ottoman that she brought & placed close by my chair and laid her book across my lap when she read. Her skin was very soft. Her arms were fat & white and I was very, very happy with her....

***

But more interesting than this was Lyman's (and other visitors' observations) on the similarities of ED's and LD's speech patterns and turns of phrase. Though Emily's speech was declared by Lyman, and others, including Lavinia, as brilliant, it was noted that there was an echo of ED's trope making in LD's talk and writing. I find this utterly fascinating. I would predict that this same sort of language use could probably have been discerned in Austin's familial language as well, and perhaps in the Mother's and most definitely the Father's. How much of highly original language use is actually a reflection of private language play and other idiomatic uses of language within the home? The Bronte family is another example. I would also point to Wallace Stevens and his intense and private home life.

***

Finally, Lavinia Dickinson was also something of a poet and in the Dickinson papers at Harvard is a 17 page manuscript of LD's poems which she typed in 1898. Sewell gives an excerpt (pgs. 250--252 in the one-volume paperback edition)--I'll include several.

Night

The stars kept winking and blinking,
as if they had secrets to tell;
But nobody asked any questions,
Nobody heard any tales.

***

Fire-Flies

The fire-flies hold their lanterns high
To guide the falling star,
But, if by chance the wicks grow short
The stars might lose their way.

***

The wind hung high in the trees last night
And threw the branches down,

> And sang weird tunes the elfins made,
> And then the world was still.
>
> ***
>
> "And yet", is such a simple phrase--
> It hardly seems worth mending;
> But many a bliss has tripped just here,
> Because this fatal footing.
>
> ***
>
> Indifference is as sure to kill
> As smokeless powder's mark,
> So be cautious how you trifle
> With a heart of any size.
>
> ***
>
> There's no indication just when these poems were written, but I do believe that Lavinia was being less than honest when she said that she was not aware of ED's poetry early on. My opinion is that ED, LD, and AD spoke and wrote Dickinsonesque language together in various degrees of linguistic complexity, but that the patterns were perhaps held in common. Jess

↑ Index

222. CA Conrad
Joanna Fuhrman & Stacy Szymaszek
Fri 25 Feb 2011

Joanna Fuhrman & Stacy Szymaszek are the two most recent poets to appear on JUPITER 88 to see these and previous issues, please go to http://JUPITER88poetry.blogspot.com

thank you for visiting JUPITER 88!
CAConrad

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

223. Maria Damon
query from a musicologist
Fri 25 Feb 2011

Dear all:
A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told him I'd forward it to the poetics list.
You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the responses to him. Thanks, all.
bests, md

Hi Maria,

I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across the term "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-sound poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.

Cheers,
Sumanth

↑ Index

224. amy king
Tonight: SUSAN HOWE -- Caesura Conversation: Dialogue and Process -- February 25, Friday, 5:30pm, James Gallery
Fri 25 Feb 2011

Caesura Conversation: Dialogue and Process
February 25, Friday, 5:30pm, James Gallery

What does it mean for a woman poet-scholar to write out of archival dark matter? Are particular formal strategies are demanded to narrate archival silences? Susan Howe's poetry collections include essaysâ€”personal and historical explorations written in proseâ€”and her works of scholarship, broken into lyrical fragments, often feature the figurative language and quick leaps often found in contemporary verse. How should we read such texts, describe them, or categorize them? Join the Graduate Center's Stefania Heim, PhD program in English, as she explores these questions and more with Susan Howe, one of our most important contemporary poets. Howe is the author numerous collections of poetry and prose, including My Emily Dickinson, Pierce-Arrow, and the forthcoming That This, a collaboration with photographer James Welling.

The Center for the Humanities :: The City University of New York :: 365 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10016-4309
http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org/

****

VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

225. Catherine Borders
CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS: Omnia Vanitas Review of Erotica and Cliterature
Fri 25 Feb 2011

PLEASE REPOST!

We are now accepting submissions for Omnia Vanitas Review's upcoming second issue: “Operatic Veils.”

Omnia Vanitas Review is a delicate mixture of Féminine Écriture, New Narrative, and Clit Lit. We enjoy explicit descriptions of sex written in white ink. Deflowering language. Multiple orgasms with multiple climaxes. The playful touching of intertextuality. Deliberately elusive linguistic weavings. Words who slow dance with Aphasia and flirt with Amnesia. Words wet with formlessness. Words pregnant with child. With twins, with quintuplets.

Esoterica. Etcetera. Erotica.

Though we consider ourselves an erotica magazine, we also interpret “erotica” rather loosely. We think of the act of writing—words penetrating the void, pen piercing paper—as an erotic endeavor, and though some of our submissions are transparently risqué, we can’t think of anything more racy than the pure desire to write.

This can be interpreted in an infinite number of ways, however, only the ways that suit us best will be considered for publication. We are interested in defining, defiling, and defending barriers. We are interested in operas, mechanical operations, and operational machinations. We like layers upon layers of everything and words richer than cream. And we love literature that skirts the edges of what language can do.

Please take a look at our previous issue, “The Invisible Corset,” to get an idea of what we’re looking for: http://omniavanitasreview.com

We will be considering poetry, fiction, creative-nonfiction, essays, as well as both visual and video art, though some of the latter pieces may only be featured on the website (for obvious reasons). We are also considering works in other languages besides English, or bilingual works, with a specific interest in French.

Please send all submissions to [redacted]

Please include the word "submission" in the subject line.

Multiple submissions are okay, but send each submission as an individual Microsoft Word documents (.docx okay) or PDF email attachment.

Deadline to be included in our “Operatic Veils” Issue: The Ides of March, 2011 (late submissions possibly ok)

As we are an aspiring literary journal, we regretfully are unable to pay our authors, but what we lack in cash we make up for in love.

We look forward to hearing from you!

Sincerely,
Catherine Borders, Oleander Underhill, and Lily Robert-Foley

Omnia Vanitas Review is always open to submissions of previously unpublished works. Currently, we are an annual publication, but our fingers are crossed for expansion. We are a small operation, and will do our best to respond to you promptly.

↑ Index

226. Mark Weiss
Re: query from a musicologist
Fri 25 Feb 2011

Like the opening of Wings of Desire? I've never heard the term, but it would fit.

-----Original Message-----
>From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
>Sent: Feb 25, 2011 12:37 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: query from a musicologist
>
>Dear all:
>A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told him I'd >forward it to the poetics list.
>You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the >responses to him. Thanks, all.
>bests, md

>
>Hi Maria,
>
>I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across the term
>"phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-sound >poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in >appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it has a >relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.
>
>Cheers,
>Sumanth
>

↑ Index

227. Elliot Harmon

March 7 in San Francisco: Mike Young, Jamie Iredell, and Patrick Duggan

Fri 25 Feb 2011

Hi all,

I'm hosting a reading in San Francisco next Monday, March 7, with Mike Young, Jamie Iredell, and Patrick Duggan. It would be great to see you there.

Cheers,
Elliot

Idiolexicon Reading Series
Rancho Parnassus, 132 6th St, San Francisco
Monday, March 7, 7 PM
Free
More info: http://www.idiolexicon.com/
Facebook invite: http://on.fb.me/3-7-11

The Idiolexicon Reading Series at Rancho Parnassus brings a wide range of innovative writers from the Bay Area and beyond. On Monday, March 7, the reading will feature Amherst's Mike Young, Atlanta's Jamie Iredell, and San Francisco's Patrick Duggan.

Jamie Iredell is the author of The Book of Freaks (Future Tense Books 2011) and Prose. Poems. A Novel. (Orange Alert Press 2009). He lives in Atlanta, where he co-curates the Solar Anus Reading Series.

*Mike Young *is the author of *Look! Look! Feathers *(Word Riot Press 2010) and *We Are All Good If They Try Hard Enough *(Publishing Genius 2010). He co-edits *NOÖ Journal *and runs Magic Helicopter Press.

*Patrick Duggan *is co-editor of *Idiolexicon *and a 2010 National Poetry Series finalist. His poems have appeared in several journals including * Beeswax*, Mirage, Monday Night Lit, NOÖ Journal, *Oranges and Sardines *, Parthenon West Review, and Shampoo.

↑ Index

228. Marc Nasdor

Shanna Compton & Marc Nasdor, Segue Reading Series, Sat. March 5, 4 pm

Fri 25 Feb 2011

Come to the Segue Reading Series at the Bowery Poetry Club to hear...

SHANNA COMPTON & MARC NASDOR
do their things.

We'll be reading from new works & hawking our books & generally would love to have your bodies & minds in attendance.

4 pm, Saturday, March 5 , 2011

308 Bowery, between Bleecker & Houston.
Admission, $6.00, which goes to the poets.

Shanna Compton is the author of For Girls (& Others), Down Spooky, Gamers, and several chapbooks. Her third poetry collection will be called The Seam Rovers. She lives on the internet at www.shannacompton.com.

Marc Nasdorâ€™s most recent book is Sonnetailia, published by Roof Books (2007). His poems have been published in translation in Hungarian, German and Spanish, and have been performed in France, Germany and Hungary. An art and audio consultant, he is also an amateur ethnomusicologist who presents global dance music under the alias DJ Poodlecannon.

↑ Index

229. Jim Andrews

Re: query from a musicologist

Sat 26 Feb 2011

I had not heard the term "phonomontage" before, though it is a 'natural', so I googled it. Google gave me search results for "photomontage" instead. I had to go to the "advanced search" page and specify "this exact wording or phrase" to get results for "phonomontage".

Several of the initial results referred to "Joseph Hammer, an influential artist in the LA sound-art scene for more than twenty-five years. Drawing on the complexities of playing, listening, memory and time, his sample based piece used a vintage reel tape player to manipulate handmade loops controlled manually into a complex 'phonomontage'."

The poet Karl Krauss also is mentioned: "Kraus's most characteristic work was produced in wartime, and the most important of his plays, the monumental but virtually unperformable "phonomontage" Die letzten Tage der Menschheit (1922; The Last Days of Mankind, English abridgments, 1974, 1976), may be the most powerful pacifistic statement ever made."

Interesting to me is the reference to "phonomontage" in an essay by Nicholas Zurbrugg called "Marinetti, Boccioni, and Electroacoustic Poetry". He says, concerning Larry Wendt, the terrific audio poet/writer, "In the same interview, Wendt explained that the use of computers and microprocessors facilitates the production of what we have termed "reel-time" effects (or studio editing, previously achieved laboriously, in sequential "phonomontages" combining layer after layer of sound), in real time, as relatively spontaneous "phonomontage." As Wendt intimates, such creativity adds yet another "language" to electroacoustic poetry."

And this sort of context--amid the work of the audio writers--is where I would expect the term 'phonomontage' to appear, really, concerning poetry. It's in the work of the audio writers such as Larry Wendt, Bernard Heidsieck, Henri Chopin, Gregory Whitehead, and Douglas Kahn that it makes the most intuitive sense to me that the term would appear. Because they were indeed doing aural montages of very many different types. Using the technology of recorded sound.

I used to play the work of all these cats on a literary radio show I produced in the 80's and early nineties.

ja
http://vispo.com

----- Original Message -----
From: "Maria Damon" <[redacted]>
To: <[redacted]>
Sent: Friday, February 25, 2011 9:37 AM
Subject: query from a musicologist

> Dear all:
> A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told him I'd forward it to the poetics list.
> You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the responses to him. Thanks, all.
> bests, md

> Hi Maria,
>
> I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across the term "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-sound poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.
>
> Cheers,
> Sumanth

↑ Index

230. Jim Andrews

Re: query from a musicologist

Sat 26 Feb 2011

To expand a little on my last post, I'd say that though the term 'phonomontage' is not one I've heard before, it's a natural concerning the work of the audio writers, who may have used it--it sounds like Larry Wendt used it, in any case, to judge from its appearance in http://tinyurl.com/6bt8zp3

Larry Wendt, John Giorno, William S Burroughs, Bernard Heidsieck, Henri Chopin, Gregory Whitehead, Rod Summers, Susan Stone, Douglas Kahn, blackhumour, Matt Fair, and various other artists were/are poets/writers who take the medium of recorded sound seriously as compositional media.

Check out, for instance, some of the first work by Gregory Whitehead at http://www.ubu.com/sound/whitehead.html . These are simply brilliant "audio cut-ups".

Some of my own interactive audio cut up/phonomontage work is at http://vispo.com/mw , http://vispo.com/animisms/enigman2 , and http://vispo.com/stevens . You need the Shockwave plugin from http://vispo.com/sw to play these. The first one, http://vispo.com/mw , requires some curiosity to play with the controls of the interface that appear at the bottom of the screen. The controls are not explained at all. But if you play with the spin control to change the number displayed, you see that changes the sound quite a bit if you change that number quite a bit. The second piece, http://vispo.com/animisms/enigman2 , is interactive with the word "meaning" backwards once, forwards twice.

ja
http://vispo.com

----- Original Message -----
From: "Maria Damon" <[redacted]>

To: <[redacted]>
Sent: Friday, February 25, 2011 9:37 AM
Subject: query from a musicologist

> Dear all:
> A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told him I'd forward it to the poetics list.
> You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the responses to him. Thanks, all.
> bests, md
>
> Hi Maria,
>
> I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across the term "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-sound poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.
>
> Cheers,
> Sumanth

↑ Index

231. Crisman Cooley
Re: query from a musicologist
Sat 26 Feb 2011

"...if [phonomontage] has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry..."

My guess (supported by a brief google search) is that the short answer is: No.

Phonomontage implies multiple voices, interruption of one voice by another, or use of editing for one voice to interrupt itself, complete disconnection of signifier from signified, found (vocal) sound, etc -- rare in cont Am poetry I think, which, despite all, clings tenaciously to sense. (Human minds after all are meaning-making machines, though human beings are not. And there's the rub.) I'd be interested to hear if others know of a poet/poets who use phonomontage (ergo this msg frontchannel).

I'd also love to know what happened at Black Mountain College in conversations between Cage & Olson. My guess is that Olson basically said, "This man's ideas shall have no place in poetry." Yet Cage, in my opinion, is the greater poet. Not only because his lectures are more interesting studies of word arrangements in time, but because his ideas will be more enduring. Is there any record of what passed between them?

> Date: Fri, 25 Feb 2011 11:37:10 -0600
> From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
> Subject: query from a musicologist
>
> Dear all:
> A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told him I'd forward it to the poetics list.
> You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the responses to him. Thanks, all.
> bests, md
>
> Hi Maria,
>
> I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across the term "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-sound poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.
>
> Cheers,
> Sumanth
>
> ==========

↑ Index

232. Ryan Daley
New at Muchisimas
Sat 26 Feb 2011

Tests of English as a Foreign Language is about to grow some realpolitik.

Toefl Essay for Wisconsin:
http://charitablegiving.blogspot.com/2011/02/toefl-essay-for-wisconsin-welcome-to.html

↑ Index

233. William Slaughter
Notice: Mudlark
Sat 26 Feb 2011

New and On View: Mudlark Flash No. 59 (2011)

Short Poems by Sherman Alexie

Sherman Alexie is the author of, most recently, War Dances, poems and stories, from Grove Press, and Face, a book of poems from Hanging Loose Press. He lives with his family in Seattle.

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

↑ Index

234. Adam Fieled
New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Sun 27 Feb 2011

I have a new music-crit blog up called Adam Fieled's Fair Game:

http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com

Articles about:
Nirvana
Van Morrison
Neko Case
Rolling Stones
Kinks
Depeche Mode
Pulp
Robert Plant

and more....

↑ Index

235. Anny Ballardini
Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?
Sun 27 Feb 2011

Hi Lori,

although I think that the answers above are meaningful and add to the understanding of Steve's 'concrete poetry' if you look at the following:

Exemplo destas propostas pode ser encontrado no poema Terra de Décio Pignatari:

ra terra ter
rat erra ter
rate rra ter
rater ra ter
raterr a ter
raterra terr araterra ter raraterra te rraraterra t erraraterra terraraterra

Observe-se o despojamento e o jogo verbal deste poema de Haroldo de Campos :

de sol a sol soldado de sal a sal salgado
de sova a sova sovado de suco a suco sugado de sono a sono sonado

sangrado
de sangue a sangue

Os recursos visuais

Os recursos visuais são utilizados por Augusto de Campos como no poema abaixo entitulado Eis os amantes:

COLOCAR EIS OS AMANTES

Em Pós-tudo, escrito no fim da década de 80, Augusto de Campos parece fazer o inventário de sua participação no concretismo, identificando o seu papel nas mudanças poéticas e reconhecendo que o caminho revolucionário acabara na mudez*:

COLOCAR POEMA PÓS –TUDO

Taken from this site of Literatura Brasileira under poesia concreta:

http://educaterra.terra.com.br/literatura/litcont/2003/04/22/001.htm

then we can easily get to the idea of 'dirty concrete'_ any kind of poetry which is 'concrete' but not that neatly formatted, nor that orderly/logically formulated.

--
Anny Ballardini
http://annyballardini.blogspot.com/
http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=poetshome
http://www.lulu.com/content/5806078
http://www.moriapoetry.com/ebooks.html
I Tell You: One must still have chaos in one to give birth to a dancing star!
Friedrich Nietzsche

« Stulta est clementia, cum tot ubique vatibus occurras, periturae parcere chartae »
Giovenale

↑ Index

236. Catherine Daly
LA (BB): ALEXANDER, JORON
Sun 27 Feb 2011

WILL ALEXANDER AND FRIENDS
March 3, Thursday 7:30 PM
**
*
681 Venice
Venice, CA 90291 Phone [redacted]
March 3, Thursday 7:30 PM

* WILL ALEXANDER AND FRIENDS Join Will and special guest readers as well as musicians. Enjoy music with WILL ALEXANDER on the piano and ANDREW JORON on the theremin. ANDREW JORON is the author of Trance Archive: New and Selected Poems (City Lights, 2010). Joron's earlier poetry collections include The Removes (Hard Press, 1999), Fathom (Black Square Editions, 2003), and The Sound Mirror (Flood Editions, 2008). The Cry at Zero, a selection of his prose poems and critical essays, was published by Counterpath Press in 2007. From the German, he has translated the Literary Essays of Marxist-Utopian philosopher Ernst Bloch (Stanford University Press, 1998) and, most recently, The Perpetual Motion Machine by the proto-Dada fantasist Paul Scheerbart (Wakefield Press, 2011). Joron lives in Berkeley, California, where he theorizes using the theremin.

↑ Index

237. Jennifer Karmin
March 4-6: The Dust of Suns in Chicago
Sun 27 Feb 2011

The
The Chicago Poetry Project presents
a staged reading of the play

The Dust of Suns
by Raymond Roussel
Trans. Harry Mathews

March 4-6th
Fri & Sat 8pm; Sun 3pm
All performances are FREE!

at The Charnel House
3421 W. Fullerton Street
Chicago, Illinois
http://thecharnelhousechicago.com
[redacted]

This script-in-hand performance of Raymond Rousselâ€™s play, directed by John Beer, with design by Caroline Picard, features an array of Chicago writers and artists.

Performers include: James Tadd Alcox, Joshua Corey, Joel Craig, Monica Fambrough, Sara Gothard, Judith Goldman, Samantha Irby, Lisa Janssen, Jennifer Karmin, Jamie Kazay, John Keene, Jacob Knabb, Francesco Levato, Brian Nemtusak, Travis Nichols, Jacob Saenz, Larry Sawyer, Suzanne Scanlon, Jennifer Steele and Nicole Wilson.

French poet, novelist and playwright Raymond Roussel (1877-1933) faced almost universal incomprehension and derision during his lifetime, for works that neglected traditional character and plot development in favor of the construction of elaborate descriptions and anecdotes based on hidden wordplay. While the premieres of his self-financed plays caused near-riots, admirers included Surrealists Andre Breton and Robert Desnos, who called The Dust of Suns (1926) â€œanother incursion into the unknown which you alone are exploring.â€ Roussel never enjoyed the posthumous fame of his hero Jules Verne, but he has exercised a powerful fascination upon later writers and artists including the French Oulipo group, Marcel Duchamp, John Ashbery, Michel Foucault, and Michael Palmer. New editions of his novels and poetry are forthcoming this year from Princeton and Dalkey Archive.

Like much of Rousselâ€™s writing, The Dust of Suns has a colonial setting. Against the backdrop of fin-de-siecle French Guiana, a convoluted treasure hunt unfolds. Along the way, Roussel fully indulges his penchant for bizarre invention and juxtaposition. The Frenchman Blache seeks his uncleâ€™s inheritance: a cache of gems whose location lies at the end of a chain of clues that includes a sonnet engraved on a skull and the recollections of an albino shepherdess. Meanwhile, his daughter Solange is in love with Jacquesâ€”but all Jacques knows of his parentage is a mysterious tattoo on his shoulder...

Blog link -- http://chicagopoetrycalendar.blogspot.com/2011/02/march-4-6-dust-of-suns.html

↑ Index

238. amy king
Akilah Oliver 1961 - 2011
Mon 28 Feb 2011

We have just learned that our beloved friend, poet, teacher, performer, activist, mother, sister, Akilah Oliver passed away in her home in the Fort Greene section of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Akilah Oliver was born in 1961 in L.A. In the 1990's she founded and performed with the feminist performance collective Sacred Naked Nature Girls. For several years, Akilah lived and raised her son Oluchi McDonald (1982-2003) in Boulder, Colorado where she was a teacher at Naropa University's Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics. Recently, in New York City, Akilah taught poetry and writing at Eugene Lang College, The New School, Pratt Insitute and The Poetry Project. She was a PhD candidate at The European Graduate School and a member of the Belladonna* Collaborative.

Akilah Oliver's books include A Toast In The House of Friends (Coffee House 2009), the she said dialogues: flesh memory, a book of experimental prose poetry honored by the PEN American Center's "Open Book" program, and the chapbooks An Arriving Guard of Angels, Thusly Coming to Greet (Farfalla, McMillan & Parrish, 2004), The Putterer's Notebook (Belladonna 2006), a(A)ugust (Yo-Yo Labs, 2007) and A Collection of Objects (Tente 2010). She read and performed her work throughout the country as a solo artist and with a variety of musicians and collaborators including Tyler Burba, Anne Waldman, and Rasul Siddik. She was a artist in residence at Beyond Baroque Literary Arts Center in Los Angeles, and received grants from the California Arts Council, The Flintridge Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation. Among her many other projects, she was writing a book-length theory of lamentation.

Information about services and memorial will be forthcoming.

We are collecting funds for Akilah's funeral expenses and to support activity to keep the memory of Akilah and her work alive! These contributions are tax deductible and can be made through Ether Sea Projects. Please include Akilah's name in the subject line if you are sending a check.

Ether Sea Projects
925 Bergen Street; Suite 405
Brooklyn, NY 11238

Paypal donations -- Accessed through Litmus Press --- http://www.litmuspress.org/oliver.html

↑ Index

@poetics

The UB Poetics Discussion Group

Archive of Electronic Correspondence

March 2011

184 messages · Sun 27 Feb 2011 – Thu 31 Mar 2011

March 2011 caught poetry being courted by the mass audience and rocked by a distant catastrophe in the same weeks — the celebrity magazine discovering verse at one end, a great earthquake and tsunami drowning the coast of Japan at the other. One hundred and eighty-four messages moved through the list, thin and scattered, and its currents ran between poetry as a lifestyle accessory and poetry as a response to disaster. The month measured the vast distance between what the culture wanted from a poem and what a poem is actually for.

The largest thread watched the mainstream reach for poetry. Oprah Winfrey's magazine had run a feature on verse, and the room met the embrace with wary comedy — one poster deadpanning, of the celebrity endorsement, "At least poets can't be corrupted", half-hoping the art was too poor to be worth corrupting. Behind the joke sat a real ambivalence: gratitude that poetry had been noticed at all, mixed with the old avant-garde dread of being tidied into a lifestyle, made safe and inspirational and sold beside the diet tips.

The quarrel between high and low ran on all month. Against Oprah's glossy embrace the room set its own harder loves — a symposium on Bernadette Mayer convening in Buffalo, a thread on Jack Spicer's Beowulf, the difficult and the local and the uncommercial — as if to remind itself that the poetry it cared about was exactly the kind no magazine would ever feature. The popular and the experimental eyed each other across the month, each suspicious of what the other called poetry — the one fearing the difficult was mere obscurity, the other fearing the accessible was mere product, neither quite willing to grant that the word might stretch to cover both.

And then the ground moved, and the argument shrank. The earthquake and tsunami struck Japan on the eleventh, and the room turned from the Oprah joke to a suggestion titled simply for Japan — poetry marshaled, however helplessly, toward a catastrophe of a scale that made the culture wars look small. The same art the celebrity magazine wanted for uplift was being reached for, in the same weeks, as one of the few responses left when the sea takes a coastline.

I have set March down exactly as the archive delivered it — Oprah's adventures in poetry, the wary defense of the difficult and the local, and the turn toward drowned Japan — because it was the month the list felt poetry pulled between the lifestyle feature and the disaster, and knew which one it answered to. A room that will joke that at least poets are too poor to corrupt, guard its uncommercial Spicer and Mayer against the glossy embrace, and then quietly gather itself for Japan is a room that understands the difference between being wanted as decoration and being needed as witness, and knows that only the second has ever been the point.

— Kristen M. Fabians

Index

Writers, names mentioned, and concepts. Every number links to its message. 184 in all.

WRITERS

Allegrezza, William 159
AND, mIEKAL 82
Andrews, Jim 28, 98
Beaulieu, Derek 40
Beer, John 25
Benson, Cara 23
Borchart, Sharon Mesmer/David 17
Bo¾ièeviæ, Ana 27, 83
Byrne, Mairead 164, 170, 172
Cabri, Louis 139
Cain, Séamas 86, 177, 180
Calabrese, Rosalie 35
Carson, Margaret 110
Ciccariello, Peter 36
Clay, Steve 173
Conrad, CA 10, 11, 47, 48, 80, 81, 113, 114, 147
Cárthaigh, Tomás Ó 104
D.Buuck 50, 94
Dalachinsky, Steve 1, 21, 151
Daley, Ryan 37, 61
Daly, Catherine 24
Damon, Maria 45, 153
Dewhurst, Robert 126, 158
Dickey, Eric 43, 115
Dufficy, Rory 78
Dunagan, Patrick 181
Earl, Amanda 179
Ellis, Stephen 62, 77
Elshtain, Eric 121
Emerson, Lori 15
Farrell, Michael 5, 6, 30, 31
Fieled, Adam 4, 52, 97, 111, 116, 120, 144, 145, 152
Al Filreis 19
Fisher, Johanna M 138, 166
Foley, Jack 14
Freind, William Joseph 150
Giragosian, Sarah 3, 38
Glass, Jesse 136, 141, 155, 157, 162
Glazier, Loss Pequeño 79
Godston, Dan 174
Golata, Russ 32
Gordon, Noah Eli 112
Gricevich, Andy 130
Hadbawnik, David 42
Hinton, Laura 107
Iantosca, Tony 129
Infante, Giuseppe 122, 167
Johnson, Mark 56
Karmin, Jennifer 69, 102, 108, 118, 131, 146, 161, 184
Kasimor, Mary 63
King, Amy 22, 54, 55, 76
Kirschenbaum, David 135
Konkol, Margaret 84
Lee, Jeffrey 175
Lepson, Ruth 105
Levine, David M. 57
Loden, Rachel 58
MacAllister, Bonnie 13, 49, 75, 137
Martin, Camille 53, 92, 165, 182
Maurer, Susan 178
McCaffery, Stephen 7
McLennan, Rob 33, 51, 72, 134
Meadows, Deborah A. 96, 125
Michael 176
Morse, Jonathan 44, 46, 119
Myers, Morgan 109
Nelson, Paul 88, 168
Nemet-Nejat, Murat 2, 67
Nielsen, Aldon 8, 91, 148
Oha, Obododimma 16, 59, 74, 163
Peterson, Tim 142, 149, 183
Pinto, Regina 143
Quasha, George 127
Review, The Paris 124
Robbins, Micah 71, 117
Schickling, Jared 39, 65, 140
Schultz, Susan Webster 73, 160
Sebastian, Nic 12
Series, Belladonna 133
Shankar, Ravi (English) 93, 132
Sherwood, Kenneth 20
Side, Jeffrey 87
Sondheim, Alan 68, 90, 100, 101
Tills, Steve 85
Traffic, Small Press 41
Trigilio, Tony 95
Vasquez-Giroux, Angela 66
Vincenz, Marc 29
Warsh, Lewis 89, 156
Weishaus, Joel 60, 106, 154, 169, 171
Weiss, Mark 26
Wharton, Samuel 34
Wickens, Jessica 9
Wilcox, Dan 99
Young, Mark 64, 103, 123
Zultanski, Steven 18, 70, 128

NAMES MENTIONED

Abrams, Jen 174

Acker, Kathy 135
Alice, Mary 105, 143, 173
Allegrezza, Bill 159
Altemus, Reed 179
Americans, Asian 90
Anderson, Erik 41
Andre, Michael 25
Andrews, Bruce 125, 128, 136
Ang, Brian 41, 139
Anne, Sarah 41
Antin, David 173
Archambeau, Robert 69
Armantrout, Rae 107, 139
Armstrong, Steve 135
Ashbery, John 25
Ashley, Robert 49, 75, 137, 139
Atlanta, Mark P. 9
Augustine, Jane 14
Austen, Jane 168
Austin, Geer 174
Austin, Mary 41
Babiak, Wendy 55
Baker, Lori 13, 75, 174
Baldessari, John 173
Baldwin, Joshua 79
Ballardini, Anny 176
Barwin, Gary 179
Baudelaire, Charles 128
Beattie, Ann 124
Bellamy, Dodie 41, 70, 94
Belle, Cecelia 75
Belz, Aaron 112
Bem, Greg 49
Benjamin, Walter 140, 176
Benka, Jen 41
Bennett, Bill 49, 182
Bennett, John M. 177, 179
Berkeley, Michael 23, 42, 57, 63, 66, 135
Berlin, Irving 135
Berman, Tosh 8
Bernstein, Charles 105
Berrigan, Anselm 105
Berry, Chuck 174
Bervin, Jen 27, 172
Beuys, Joseph 102
Bianchi, Ray 69
Blake, William 149
Blaser, Robin 149
Blau, Rachel 19
Boat, Drunken 93
Bolano, Roberto 124
Bonney, Sean 71, 78, 117
Borzutzky, Daniel 131, 184
Boughn, Michael 149
Bowering, George 7, 72
Bozicevic, Ana 55, 76, 83
BpNichol 7, 15
Bradley, George 83
Bradshaw, Joseph 96
Brady, Taylor 183
Braxton, Anthony 174
Brazil, David 7, 49, 137
Briante, Susan 71, 78, 117
Brook, James 64
Brown, Ann 126, 138, 158, 166
Brown, Brandon 128
Brown, Pam 72
Browne, Colin 41
Browning, Robert 71, 78, 112, 117
Budde, Rob 72
Bukowski, Charles 105
Burke, Edmund 86, 173
Burton, Philip 174
Byrne, Edward 12
Cameron, Sharon 51
Capen, Samuel P. 84, 126, 138, 158, 166
Carter, Angela 100, 102
Catullus 128
Cha, Theresa Hak Kyung 23
Cheek, Chris 7
Christakos, Margaret 165
Clare, John 33, 67, 124
Clark, Emilie 135
Clark, Hilary 139
Clarke, Jack 149
Clement, Catherine 124
Cobb, Allison 41
Cobbing, Bob 7
Cohen, Ethan 64
Cohen, Joshua 124
Cohn, Steve 174
Cole, Peter 124
Coleman, Victor 149
Compton, Shanna 18
Cooke, Stuart 49
Cooley, Crisman 1, 2, 26
Cooley, Nicole 51, 72
Coolidge, Clark 136
Cope, Stephen 126, 138, 158, 166
Copp, Corina 94
Corbett, Bill 181
Corey, Joshua 25, 69
Coultas, Brenda 126, 138, 158, 166
County, Madison 86, 184
Creeley, Robert 72, 149
Cross, Michael 41
Cunningham, Brent 41
Currin, Jen 112
Cutts, Simon 173
Cycholl, Garin 159
Davis, Martin 69, 131, 174, 184
Deming, Richard 96
Dennis, Carl 51, 72, 176
Dentz, Shira 96

Derksen, Jeff 139
Desnos, Robert 25
Dewinetz, Jason 72
Dickens, Charles 108, 112
Dickinson, Emily 7
Dickinson, Mark 49, 58, 174
Dienstfrey, Patricia 41
Dixon, Nancy 133, 173
Donovan, Thom 47, 81
Doris, Stacy 41
Doubiago, Sharon 168
Drucker, Johanna 173
Duggan, Patrick 9
Duncan, Robert 27, 67, 83, 149
Durbin, Kate 170, 171, 172
Dykstra, Kristin 125
Economou, George 96
Edwards, Ken 72
Elena, Maria 96
Elliot, Joe 9
Elliott, George 71, 78, 117, 139
Elrick, Laura 41
England, Amy 7
Faithfull, Marianne 67
Felix, Joel 49
Ferguson, Jesse 51
Finch, Annie 3, 24, 31, 38, 183
Finlay, Ian Hamilton 173
Firestone, Jennifer 41
Fisher, Ann 138, 158, 166
Fitterman, Robert 135
Flatt, Michael 131, 184
Fletcher, Sasha 75
Fodaski, Elizabeth 128
Forbes, John 90
Foucault, Michel 25
Foust, Graham 112
France, Peter 18, 49, 137, 179
Frances, Mary 71, 78, 117, 183
Franzen, Jonathan 160
Fraser, Kathleen 183
Frazer, Vernon 87, 179
Freedman, Robert 130
Freind, Bill 150
Friedman, David M. 177
Frost, Corey 103
Froude, Richard 72
Frym, Gloria 41
Fucaloro, Thomas 122
Fuhr, Laurie 51
Fuhrman, Joanna 7
Fulton, Alice 173
Gallo, Philip 173
Gambito, Sarah 23
Gatza, Geoffrey 125
Gevirtz, Susan 41
Gibbons, Reginald 174
Gibson, Morgan 173
Gilbert, Susan 35, 75
Gilmore, Gary 135
Gimenez, Carmen 112
Ginsberg, Allen 27, 105
Giscombe, Cecil 41
Glick, Eric 174
Glück, Robert 41
Godard, Barbara 2, 26
Goldman, Emma 142
Goldman, Judith 25, 131, 184
Goldsmith, Kenneth 112
Goldstein, Laura 118, 131, 184
Gonzalez, Ray 89, 156
Goodman, Craig 179
Gordon, Nada 18, 70, 128
Gottlieb, Michael 18, 70
Graham, Lea 27, 51, 72
Gray, Stephanie 89, 129
Greenberg, Arielle 124
Greene, Graham 174
Greenstreet, Kate 105
Gregerson, Linda 124
Gregory, Dick 76
Grenier, Bob 64
Grenier, Robert 7
Griffin, Tim 140
Grumman, Bob 179
Guston, Philip 181
Hadas, Rachel 160
Hagedorn, Jessica 89
Haines, John 60
Hajnoczky, Helen 179
Halpern, Rob 41, 183
Hamady, Walter 173
Hamilton, Ian 7
Harris, Kaplan 19
Harryman, Carla 131, 139, 184
Harvey, Lee 14
Hawthorne, Nathaniel 184
Hejinian, Lyn 41
Heller, Michael 96
Henderson, David 27, 132
Henning, Barbara 89
Herman, Rachel 89, 122, 156
Hewitt, David 49, 137
Higginbotham, Keith 34
Higgins, Dick 20
Hillman, Brenda 41, 72, 168
Hollo, Anselm 92
Holman, Bob 131
Horton, David 173
House, Poets 27
Howard, Scott 102, 131, 184
Howe, Ashley 49, 137
Howe, Susan 7
Hsu, Ray 112

Huang, Yunte 27
Hughes, Peter 83
Iijima, Brenda 183
Irby, Ken 27
Ireland, Lauren 86
Israel, David 132
Israeli, Henry 135
Jackson, Jesse 51, 89, 156
Jacob, Max 25
Jamahl, Iris 49
Janssen, Lisa 25
Jaramillo, Laura 113
Jarnot, Lisa 105
Jeffery, Mark 76
Jenkins, Matthew 89, 156
Jones, Brian 89, 122, 174
Jordan, June 132
Jorgensen, Alexander 49, 137
Joron, Andrew 102
Joseph, Safdie 102, 132
Joyce, Trevor 139
Katko, Justin 71, 78, 117
Kazay, Jamie 25
Keene, John 25, 131, 184
Keller, Helen 132
Kelley, Mike 49, 140
Kelly, Patrick 19, 135
Kelsey, Karla 41
Kennedy, David 135
Kennedy, Jake 135
Kerouac, Jack 27
Kiely, Aaron 105
Killian, Kevin 41, 42, 57, 63, 64, 66
Kilroy, Kevin 131, 184
Kim, Myung Mi 23
Kirschenbaum, David A. 135
Klane, Matthew 131, 146
Klobucar, Andrew 139
Kramer, Wendy 41
Kroetsch, Robert 33, 72
Kuhl, Nancy 96
Ladouceur, Ben 51
Lai, Larissa 165
Lang, Abigail 41
Languell, Krystal 133
Larkin, Maryrose 96
Larsen, David 130
Laynor, Gregory 76
Lea, Nicholas 33
Lease, Joseph 41
Leigh, Mike 13, 34, 75
Lennon, John 102
Levato, Francesco 25
Levin, Lauren 41
Levitsky, Rachel 27, 133
Lewis, Bernard 130, 143
Lilly, Ruth 174
Lindley, Eric 112
Livingston, Reb 54
Locklin, Gerald 64
London, Frank 79, 83, 135, 142
Long, Richard 173
Lorca, Federico García 84, 110
Lovelee, Amanda 49, 137
Luoma, Bill 41
Macdonald, Helen 156
Mackey, Nate 88, 168
Mackey, Nathaniel 41, 88, 174
Madison, James 174
Madrid, Anthony 142
Magi, Jill 96
Malcolm, Janet 124
Marie, Anne 131, 184
Marshall, Robert 90, 174
Mason, Janet 132
Mathews, Harry 25
Mayer, Bernadette 102, 126, 138, 158, 166, 167
Mayer, Jane 126, 138, 158, 166
Mayhew, Jonathan 110
Meadows, Deborah A. 96, 125
Meltzer, David 85
Meredith, William 72
Merrill, James 105
Mesler, Corey 34
Metres, Philip 140
Middle, Max 51
Middleton, Christopher 34
Millar, Jay 53
Milton, John 135
Mirakove, Carol 41
Miriam, Erica 175
Moody, Rick 93
Moore, Allison 140
Moreland, Sean 51
Morgan, Robin 102, 109
Morris, Dee 49
Morris, Patrick 137
Morrison, Bill 41, 50
Morrison, Toni 3, 24, 31, 38
Moschovakis, Anna 27
Moten, Fred 147
Moure, Erin 165
Murphy, Sheila E. 103, 177, 179
Myles, Eileen 105, 108, 150, 158, 166
Nagler, Christian 41
Nasdor, Marc 18
Nelson, Paul E. 88, 168
Newlove, John 33
Nichols, Travis 25
Nicole, Anna 25, 95, 102
Niedecker, Lorine 72, 83
Nielsen, Aldon L. 8, 91, 148
Norman, Peter 51

Norton, John 142
Notley, Alice 105
Oliver, John 10, 22, 131, 184
Olson, Charles 149
Olson, Kirby 1, 2, 5, 6, 20, 26, 83
Orth, Steve 94
Owens, Richard 71, 78, 117
Pacific, Asian 23
Palmer, Michael 25, 174
Parrish, Gary 89
Patterson, Ian 89
Perkins, Stephen 49
Perloff, Marjorie 112
Perry, David 34, 118
Peterson, Katie 86, 180
Phillips, Beth 41, 181
Phillips, Lance 125
Place, Vanessa 135
Poe, Deborah 126, 138, 158, 166
Porter, Anne 41, 126, 138, 158, 166
Pound, Ezra 19, 149
Powell, Ren 67
Di Prima, Diane 27, 83
Pringle, Kathryn 41
Pritts, Nate 27
Prize, Poets 174
Professor, Kelly 8, 19, 91, 148
Pugh, Christina 174
Quaid, Andrea 41
Quartermain, Peter 72
Queyras, Sina 23
Randall, Karen 83
Randall, Margaret 27
Rankine, Claudia 27
Rasula, Jed 139
Reagan, Nancy 77
Reed, Marthe 123
Reese, Marshall 174
Retallack, Joan 41
Reynolds, Rebecca 57, 63, 66, 83
Reynolds, Sean 42, 84
Rivera, Alex 96
Roberts, Gary 131, 146
Roberts, Kim 54
Robinson, Elizabeth 27, 123
Robinson, Kit 41
Rosal, Patrick 93
Rosenfield, Kim 112
Rosenstock, Gabriel 86
Rosenthal, Sarah 41
Rothenberg, Jerry 176
Rothenberg, Michael 176
Roussel, Raymond 25
Rowan, Lou 150
Saidenberg, Jocelyn 41
Sanchez, Jorge 89, 156
Santos, Craig 72
Satie, Erik 149
Sawyer, Larry 25, 69
Schneiderman, Jason 69, 131, 184
Schultz, Lou 73, 160
Schultz, Susan M. 73, 160
Schuster, Joshua 139
Schwitters, Kurt 20
Scobie, Stephen 7
Segal, Martin E. 76, 110
Shapiro, David 110
Shelley, Percy Bysshe 27, 108, 173, 174
Shufran, Lauren 41
Siegel, Jeff 49, 137
Silliman, Ron 139
Silverman, Oren 131, 184
Simone, Frank 41, 69
Sloan, Margaret 131
Smith, Harry 112, 133
Smithson, Robert 173
Solie, Karen 51
Spahr, Juliana 41, 105
Spicer, Jack 57, 63, 66, 83, 84, 105, 149
Spicer, John 42, 57, 63, 66, 83, 84
Staiti, Erika 41
Steiner, Konrad 131, 184
Stengel, Jill 41
Stevens, Wallace 67
Stevenson, Matt 3, 24, 31, 38
Stewart, Jon 102
Sullivan, Andrew 124
Sutherland, Keston 71, 78, 117
Svalina, Mathias 112
Sweeney, Chad 70, 83
Szymaszek, Stacy 7
Tabios, Eileen 41
Tate, James 27
Teare, Brian 41
Texas, Irving 67, 174
Thomas, Dylan 86, 102, 160
Thompson, George 140
Toscano, Rodrigo 41
Tribune, Chicago 184
Trinidad, David 131
Truitt, Sam 126, 138, 158, 166
Truscott, Mark 165
Tuite, Jim 49, 137
Turner, Victor 58
Tzara, Tristan 112
Upton, Lawrence 7
Valentine, Jean 112
Van, Erica 173
Vermeersch, Paul 182
Vermont, Charlie 67
Verne, Jules 25
Vincent, Stephen 41
Vitiello, Chris 113
Viviane, Ana 49, 137

Waldman, Anne 23, 27, 41, 89, 122
Waldrop, Rosmarie 112
Walker, Laura 13, 75
Walker, Mary 27, 89, 156
Wallace, Nicole 64, 174
Wallenstein, Barry 35
Warhol, Andy 108
Warner, Jim 67
Warren, Kenneth 27, 173
Washington, George 85, 142
Waters, Jacqueline 27
Watten, Barrett 139
Weaver, Rebecca 15
Weber, Damian 71, 78, 117
Weiner, Hannah 102
Weiner, Lawrence 41
Wertheim, Christine 41
Whiting, John 174
Wieners, John 83
Williams, Paul O. 7, 49, 89, 137, 156
Williams, Tyrone 140
Williams, William Carlos 149
Wilson, Erin 41
Wilson, Karen 25, 49, 83, 95
Wilson, Warren 174
Wolfe, Thomas 75
Wright, James 112
Yacht, Peter F. 51, 72
Young, Mike 9
Ziyalan, Mustafa 67
Zolf, Rachel 135, 165
Zucker, Adam 49, 137
Zurawski, Magdalena 113

CONCEPTS

9/11 69
Activism and protest 124, 133, 142, 172, 176
Aesthetics 7, 39, 79, 93, 103, 125
African American poetry 88
Anthologies 7, 58, 67, 135, 141, 151, 162, 174, 176, 184
Appropriation 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 26, 112
Archives and libraries 18, 23, 25, 27, 42, 57, 63, 66, 68, 83, 84, 101, 106, 112, 126, 138, 157, 158, 166, 174
Asemic writing 82, 179
Autobiography 70, 142, 159, 184
Avant-garde 136
Beauty 75
Biography 76, 165
Black Mountain 1, 2, 5, 6, 26
Blogs 7, 8, 10, 11, 13, 14, 19, 30, 33, 34, 36, 39, 44, 47, 48, 51, 52, 56, 61, 62, 65, 72, 73, 75, 80, 81, 83, 91, 93, 97, 107, 111, 113, 114, 116, 119, 120, 128, 130, 131, 134, 135, 137, 140, 145, 146, 147, 148, 153, 160, 161, 174, 177
Book announcements 27, 41, 47, 64, 69, 70, 71, 78, 79, 82, 83, 85, 108, 112, 117, 125, 131, 146, 159, 174, 183
Bookstores 83, 122, 124, 146
Calls for submissions 3, 8, 24, 31, 38, 40, 72
Capitalism 7, 102
Cities 7, 27, 67, 95, 131
Class 11, 30, 39
Collage and montage 1, 2, 26, 82, 124, 179
Conceptual writing 112
Conferences and festivals 27, 42, 51, 57, 63, 66, 67, 72, 79, 86, 91, 102, 107, 126, 138, 139, 158, 166, 167, 174, 177
Copyright and permissions 124
Craft 13, 75, 171, 172
Creative writing pedagogy 76, 95, 142, 183
Dada 7, 20, 124
Difficulty 82
Digital archives 20
Disability 95
Dreams 23, 64, 123
Ecology and ecopoetics 41, 90, 175
Editing 1, 2, 5, 6, 16, 26, 37, 59, 76, 149, 160, 163, 183
Ekphrasis 125
Electronic poetry and hypertext 79, 93, 112
Elegy 135
Epic 72, 131, 146, 149
Erasure 123
Experimental poetry 24, 31, 38, 72, 131, 146, 174
Feminism 39, 135, 142, 184
Film 2, 23, 26, 45, 67, 133, 137, 142, 147, 149, 176
Flarf 92
Fluxus 177
Formalism 3, 24, 31, 38
Gender 95, 131, 159, 183
Globalization 67
Grants and funding 27, 41, 58, 108, 133, 135, 137, 142, 174
Hermeneutics 184
Humour and satire 69, 110
Improvisation 161, 174
Indigenous and Native poetics 31, 184
Interviews 7, 15, 50, 54, 55, 76, 122, 124, 168, 174
Israel and Palestine 132, 135
Jewish poetics 112, 124
Language poetry 79
Letters and correspondence 70, 95
List moderation 27, 133
Little magazines 9, 19, 38, 40, 45, 49, 50, 58, 67, 70, 75, 86, 95, 105, 113, 122, 124, 129, 131, 132, 135, 137, 145, 146, 154, 164, 165, 169, 170, 171, 172, 174, 180, 184
Lyric poetry 69, 84

Marxism 131, 184
Materiality of the text 40
Memory 64, 73, 131
MFA programs 27, 41, 76, 88, 89, 95, 131, 132, 146, 156, 161, 174
Modernism 72, 124, 148
Mourning and loss 79, 82, 123, 125
Music and poetry 11, 18, 19, 20, 30, 39, 61, 64, 65, 67, 68, 76, 85, 92, 93, 99, 101, 123, 131, 135, 149, 174, 183
Nationalism 38, 45, 98, 104
Nature 28, 67, 103, 123, 165
New York School 142
Oulipo 25, 92
Performance and the poetry reading 9, 18, 35, 70, 72, 75, 76, 94, 99, 112, 128, 139, 149, 165, 181, 182
Philosophy 39, 45, 64, 67, 95, 103, 106, 112
Place and region 41, 103, 125
Poetics 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 24, 26, 27, 31, 38, 42, 49, 50, 57, 58, 63, 66, 76, 79, 83, 110, 112, 127, 133, 137, 138, 142, 158, 164, 166, 169, 170, 171, 172, 183
Postmodernism 72
Print vs. digital 7, 9, 10, 11, 12, 27, 30, 39, 43, 47, 48, 56, 61, 69, 80, 81, 87, 112, 113, 114, 143, 147, 159, 173
Prizes and awards 27, 33, 41, 58, 69, 72, 76, 108, 132, 142, 174, 184
Procedural and constraint writing 112
Prosody and meter 170, 171, 172
Queer poetics 70, 76, 95, 142, 183
Race and poetry 131, 174
Reading announcements 7, 18, 27, 70, 76, 88, 96, 114, 128, 129
Religion and the sacred 41, 45, 58, 75, 112, 123
Representation 45, 131, 148
Reviewing and criticism 3, 7, 8, 9, 15, 24, 29, 30, 31, 38, 50, 83, 85, 93, 95, 105, 124, 135, 139, 142, 154, 164, 169, 170, 171, 172, 174, 180, 183, 184
Science 39, 40, 79, 103, 125
Semiotics 1, 2, 5, 6, 16, 26, 37, 59, 74, 77, 163
Serial poem 111, 139
Small press publishing 12, 18, 27, 33, 41, 42, 51, 57, 63, 66, 70, 72, 83, 84, 85, 122, 128, 130, 131, 133, 134, 135, 137, 146, 174, 183
Social media 7, 9, 13, 15, 27, 49, 90, 104, 112, 135, 137, 174, 176, 184
Sonnet 25, 53, 69, 92, 165, 182
Sound poetry 5, 20, 172
Subjectivity 3, 31, 41, 49, 124, 125, 131
Surrealism 25, 103, 124
Terrorism 176
The academy 7, 8, 15, 16, 19, 23, 27, 37, 41, 45, 51, 58, 59, 64, 67, 74, 76, 77, 79, 84, 89, 90, 91, 95, 108, 110, 112, 122, 126, 131, 132, 133, 135, 138, 139, 142, 146, 148, 149, 150, 156, 157, 158, 161, 163, 165, 166, 174, 184
The canon 3, 24, 31, 38
The internet 3, 18, 19, 31, 38, 40, 52, 91, 112, 135, 184
The Iraq war 98, 104
The listserv 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 26, 41, 141, 151, 162
Theatre 13, 16, 25, 27, 37, 40, 59, 64, 67, 75, 76, 110, 136, 180
Torture and Abu Ghraib 67
Translation 17, 18, 21, 40, 42, 50, 57, 63, 66, 67, 76, 84, 96, 105, 110, 124, 128, 174, 176, 183
Visual and concrete poetry 28, 36, 40, 82, 98, 104, 119, 135, 179
Visual art 7, 27, 40, 45, 49, 105, 112, 127, 129, 135, 142, 149, 150, 161, 174, 175, 176
Voice 86
Women's writing 170, 171, 172

Contents

Every entry links to its message. 184 in all.

27 FEB 2011

1. steve dalachinsky — Re: query from a musicologist

28 FEB 2011

2. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: query from a musicologist
3. Sarah Giragosian — Call for papers
4. Adam Fieled — "Mother Earth" Pt.1
5. michael farrell — Re: query from a musicologist
6. michael farrell — Re: query from a musicologist
7. Stephen McCaffery — Re: POETICS Digest - 24 Feb 2011 to 25 Feb 2011 (#2011-43)
8. Aldon Nielsen — MLA Seattle
9. Jessica Wickens — Re: March 7 in San Francisco: Mike Young, Jamie Iredell, and Patrick Dugg...

1 MAR 2011

10. CA Conrad — for Akilah Oliver...
11. CA Conrad — Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
12. Nic Sebastian — new audio chapbook - 'Dark Refuge' by Edward Byrne
13. Bonnie MacAllister — March 12: She Should Have Written It @ the Shubin Theatre
14. Jack Foley — jrfoley.com is UP and AT 'EM -- from FlashPoint
15. Lori Emerson — Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?
16. Obododimma Oha — A Sign Monkey Is Watching You
17. Sharon Mesmer/David Borchart — Connie Deanovich and Sharon Mesmer at the Poetry Project
18. Steven Zultanski — SEGUE PRESENTS: SHANNA COMPTON + MARC NASDOR
19. Al Filreis — PoemTalk 41 released: on Ezra Pound's canto III
20. Kenneth Sherwood — Re: Phonomontage

2 MAR 2011

21. steve dalachinsky — Re: Connie Deanovich and Sharon Mesmer at the Poetry Project
22. amy king — OT: Memorial Service for Akilah Oliver
23. Cara Benson — Belladonna & Kundiman Celebrate Theresa Hak Kyung Cha
24. Catherine Daly — Re: Call for papers
25. John Beer — Fwd: dust of suns
26. Mark Weiss — Re: query from a musicologist
27. Ana Bo¾ièeviæ — Chapbook Festival begins this evening! through March 5
28. Jim Andrews — Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?
29. marc vincenz — Mad Hatters' Review
30. michael farrell — Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
31. michael farrell — Re: Call for papers
32. Russ Golata — 1st Mondays @ 11/12 Lounge Orlando Fl.
33. Rob McLennan — Chaudiere Books: Pearl Pirie
34. Samuel Wharton — Fwd: Sawbuck 5.1!
35. Rosalie Calabrese — Poetry Reading
36. Peter ciccariello — A cerebral collaborative series of visual poetry by artists Peter Cicca…

3 MAR 2011

37. Ryan Daley — Re: A Sign Monkey Is Watching You
38. Sarah Giragosian — Re: Call for papers
39. Jared Schickling — Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
40. Derek Beaulieu — Call for Submissions: dandelion is BUILDING | performance/MACHINE
41. Small Press Traffic — Reminder: The Document: Field, Cobb, Morrill
42. David Hadbawnik — jack spicer's beowulf

43. Eric Dickey — announcing new poetry website toegoodpoetry.com
44. Jonathan Morse — Against easiness

4 MAR 2011

45. Maria Damon — [Fwd: CFP: Iowa Journal of Cultural Studies]
46. Jonathan Morse — Summer graduate seminar: Visual Rhetoric and Public Culture
47. CA Conrad — NY book party w/ Thom Donovan
48. CA Conrad — Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
49. Bonnie MacAllister — New Magazine: Certain Circuits (new issue, call for proposals)
50. D.Buuck — Submit to Tripwire
51. Rob McLennan — new from above/ground press: The Peter F. Yacht Club #15 (VERSeFest special);
52. Adam Fieled — Internet Theory (I.T.) Blog

5 MAR 2011

53. Camille Martin — New @ Rogue Embryo
54. amy king — Poets and Artists
55. amy king — cow heavy books & about a fish
56. Mark Johnson — Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game

6 MAR 2011

57. David M. Levine — Re: jack spicer's beowulf
58. Rachel Loden — Trigilio & Loden at Columbia College Chicago
59. Obododimma Oha — Re: A Sign Monkey Is Watching You
60. Joel Weishaus — "John Haines, a Poet of the Wild, Dies as 86"
61. Ryan Daley — Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
62. Stephen Ellis — Blog
63. Mary Kasimor — Re: jack spicer's beowulf
64. Mark Young — Now out from Otoliths — Arpine Konyalian Grenier's "The Concession Stand"

7 MAR 2011

65. Jared Schickling — Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
66. Angela Vasquez-Giroux — Re: jack spicer's beowulf
67. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Ref.:: Letters to Distant Cities: Release Event
68. Alan Sondheim — Michael Moore's Wisconsin speech - (fwd)
69. Jennifer Karmin — March 12: Severance Songs reading in Chicago
70. Steven Zultanski — SEGUE PRESENTS: MICHAEL GOTTLIEB + LONELY CHRISTOPHER

8 MAR 2011

71. Micah Robbins — Sous Les Pavés III
72. Rob McLennan — new(ish) on rob's clever blog
73. Susan Webster Schultz — newish on Tinfish Editor's blog
74. Obododimma Oha — Libya, a Feast for All
75. Bonnie MacAllister — Green Light Arts Reading Series (Thursday, Friday, and Saturday)
76. amy king — Tomorrow at the Grad Center: Jeffery Allen, Ana Božičević, Gregory Laynor, Astr…
77. Stephen Ellis — Re: Libya, a Feast for All
78. Rory Dufficy — Re: Sous Les Pavés III

9 MAR 2011

79. Loss Pequeño Glazier — Announcing E-Poetry 2011 Buffalo -- Please Forward!
80. CA Conrad — Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
81. CA Conrad — Dorothea Lasky & Thom Donovan on JUPITER 88
82. mIEKAL aND — Xerolage 49 - scriptions by Tim Gaze
83. Ana Bo¾ièeviæ — Lost & Found: Series II Now Available! Books by di Prima, Duncan, Randall, …

10 MAR 2011

84. Margaret Konkol — Save the Date: Small Press in the Archive March 21
85. Steve Tills — New title from theenk Books NOW AVAILABLE: John Roche's _Road Ghosts_.
86. Séamas Cain — St. Patrick's Day event
87. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Odds Against Today” by Vernon Frazer.
88. Paul Nelson — Nate Mackey in Seattle
89. Lewis Warsh — Brooklyn Paramount #1
90. Alan Sondheim — Re: US politics and wealth (fwd)
91. Aldon Nielsen — Louisville 2011

11 MAR 2011

92. Camille Martin — Sonnet Workshop
93. Shankar, Ravi (English) — Drunken Boat#13 is live!
94. D.Buuck — Upcoming Readings in Philly & NYC
95. Tony Trigilio — Job Opening: Assistant Professor (Creative Writing/Poetry), Columbia Colleg…

12 MAR 2011

96. Deborah A. Meadows — Shearsman 30th Anniversary Reading at the Bowery on March 19th
97. Adam Fieled — New on Adam Fieled's Fair Game
98. Jim Andrews — Nationalism

13 MAR 2011

99. Dan Wilcox — Third Thursday Poetry Night, March 17, Lori Desrosiers
100. Alan Sondheim — Three Re-Mastered Original and Beautiful (I think) Videos*
101. Alan Sondheim — please donate
102. Jennifer Karmin — March 18 & 19: Utopic Monster Theory (Chicago)

14 MAR 2011

103. Mark Young — Now out from Otoliths — Marcia Arrieta's "triskelion, tiger moth, tangram, th…
104. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Re: Nationalism
105. Ruth Lepson — FW: aaron's post
106. Joel Weishaus — "Of Place Itself."
107. Laura Hinton — On Chant de la Sirene: Rae Armantrout in conversation at the recent Louisvil…
108. Jennifer Karmin — March 16: Eileen Myles & Ed Roberson in Chicago

15 MAR 2011

109. Morgan Myers — Kind of an experiment in conceptual reviewing...
110. Margaret Carson — March 23 in New York: Jonathan Mayhew, David Shapiro and Mark Statman at …
111. Adam Fieled — from Letters to Dead Masters: New Links

16 MAR 2011

112. Noah Eli Gordon — reading tour info: Las Cruces, Tucson, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Oakland, A…
113. CA Conrad — Zurawski, Vitiello, Jaramillo on JUPITER 88
114. CA Conrad — Asheville, North Carolina...

17 MAR 2011

115. Eric Dickey — toegoodpoetry.com
116. Adam Fieled — Fieled's Miscellaneous: Apparition Poems Outtakes
117. Micah Robbins — Sous Les Pavés III

18 MAR 2011

118. Jennifer Karmin — March 19: Rites of Spring in Chicago

19 MAR 2011

119. Jonathan Morse — Anything here for VisPo?

20 MAR 2011

120. Adam Fieled — Apparition Poems Outtakes Pts.4-6
121. Eric Elshtain — Near Earth Objects and You
122. Giuseppe Infante — By The Overpass, published by a new small press Overpass Books
123. Mark Young — Out from Otoliths — j/j hastain's "the ulterior eden"

21 MAR 2011

124. The Paris Review — Roberto Bolaño, Ann Beattie, et al in the new Paris Review
125. Deborah A. Meadows — a new book of poetry: Saccade Patterns by Deborah Meadows
126. Robert Dewhurst — Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
127. George Quasha — 8 axial drawings called "dakini drawings"

22 MAR 2011

128. Steven Zultanski — SEGUE PRESENTS: BRANDON BROWN + ELIZABETH FODASKI
129. tony iantosca — New Poetry Journal Release Party in Brooklyn
130. Andy Gricevich — Cannot Exist: presale on new chaps by Conrad, Harrison, Larsen and Mynes, …
131. Jennifer Karmin — Red Rover Series / Experiment #44
132. Shankar, Ravi (English) — Celebrate Mason¹s Road a literary and arts journal sponsored b…
133. Belladonna Series — Upcoming Belladonna Reading: 4/19
134. Rob McLennan — Amanda Earl on Literary Ottawa

23 MAR 2011

135. David Kirschenbaum — Boog City presents No Press and Rorie Kelly
136. Jesse Glass — Disembodied I at Clark Coolidge's St. Marks Reading Before the Earthquake and…
137. Bonnie MacAllister — CERTAIN CIRCUITS NEWS: Events, Call, Exhibit
138. Fisher, Johanna M — Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
139. Louis Cabri — the Alphabet: A Symposium on Ron Silliman's Long Poem, 25-26 March 2011
140. Jared Schickling — eccolinguistics ////
141. Jesse Glass — "For Japan"--A Suggestion from Disembodied I--St. Marks and Beyond Baroque?

24 MAR 2011

142. Tim Peterson — Tendencies 3/28: Barbara Hammer, Maggie Nelson, & Janlori Goldman
143. Regina Pinto — More than a century of Lewis Carroll's Alice re-readings.
144. Adam Fieled — Mother Earth Pt.2 on Yudu
145. Adam Fieled — from American Deadness: 3 Links
146. Jennifer Karmin — March 27: Iowa City writers @ Myopic Books (Chicago)

25 MAR 2011

147. CA Conrad — Fred Moten on JUPITER 88
148. Aldon Nielsen — Modernist Studies panel proposal
149. Tim Peterson — Michael Boughn and Victor Coleman at Zinc Bar, 3/27

26 MAR 2011

150. Freind, William Joseph — Eileen Myles in South Jersey
151. steve dalachinsky — Re: "For Japan"--A Suggestion from Disembodied I--St. Marks and Beyond …
152. Adam Fieled — American Deadness Pt. 2 on Yudu (mp3)
153. Maria Damon — can't remember...
154. Joel Weishaus — "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

27 MAR 2011

155. Jesse Glass — A Charm For Survivors--For Japan
156. Lewis Warsh — Every Time We Say Goodbye

28 MAR 2011

157. Jesse Glass — The Baroness Else von-Freytag Loringhoven Project At the University of Maryla...
158. Robert Dewhurst — Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
159. William Allegrezza — two new ebooks/books: cycholl and hastain
160. Susan Webster Schultz — Much more Dementia Blogging at Tinfish Editor's Blog
161. Jennifer Karmin — March 30: Aaaaaaaaaaalice @ Illinois State University

29 MAR 2011

162. Jesse Glass — Re: "For Japan"--A Suggestion from Disembodied I--St. Marks and Beyond Baroqu...
163. Obododimma Oha — Writing and Rewriting Gaddafi
164. Mairead Byrne — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
165. Camille Martin — Influency 10: A Toronto Poetry Salon
166. Fisher, Johanna M — Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
167. Giuseppe Infante — Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
168. Paul Nelson — Nate Mackey, Susan Schultz
169. Joel Weishaus — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
170. Mairead Byrne — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
171. Joel Weishaus — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

30 MAR 2011

172. Mairead Byrne — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
173. Steve Clay — Artists' Books Collection for sale
174. Dan Godston — Piano + Poetry concert on April 16
175. Jeffrey Lee — Nest of words in New Mexico
176. Michael — 100 Thousand Poets for Change Anthology - Send work and Join The Event!
177. Séamas Cain — The discontinuum ...

31 MAR 2011

178. susan maurer — clwn wr, Skidrow Penthousae, Volt
179. Amanda Earl — A Month of Visual Poetry: NationalPoetryMonth.ca
180. Séamas Cain — A review of poetic drama ...
181. patrick dunagan — readings in D.C. area
182. Camille Martin — Camille Martin, Paul Vermeersch, and Jonathan Bennett at Pivot
183. Tim Peterson — Tendencies 4/4: Jack Halberstam, Rob Halpern, and Brenda Iijima
184. Jennifer Karmin — Red Rover Series / Experiment #45

1. steve dalachinsky

Re: query from a musicologist

Sun 27 Feb 2011

---

probably meaqnt HA photomontage tho phono montage may indicate as in dj terms playing a variety or at least more than one phongraph (lp) record at once like a sound collage

On Sat, 26 Feb 2011 08:47:35 -0800 Crisman Cooley <[redacted]>
writes:
> "...if [phonomontage] has a relatively stable meaning or set of > meanings in > scholarship on poetry..."
>
> My guess (supported by a brief google search) is that the short > answer is:
> No.
>
> Phonomontage implies multiple voices, interruption of one voice by > another, > or use of editing for one voice to interrupt itself, complete > disconnection > of signifier from signified, found (vocal) sound, etc -- rare in > cont Am > poetry I think, which, despite all, clings tenaciously to sense.
> (Human > minds after all are meaning-making machines, though human beings are > not.
> And there's the rub.) I'd be interested to hear if others know of a > poet/poets who use phonomontage (ergo this msg frontchannel).
>
> I'd also love to know what happened at Black Mountain College in > conversations between Cage & Olson. My guess is that Olson basically > said,
> "This man's ideas shall have no place in poetry." Yet Cage, in my > opinion, > is the greater poet. Not only because his lectures are more > interesting > studies of word arrangements in time, but because his ideas will be > more > enduring. Is there any record of what passed between them?
>

>
> >
> > Date: Fri, 25 Feb 2011 11:37:10 -0600
> > From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
> > Subject: query from a musicologist
> >
> > Dear all:
> > A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told > him I'd > > forward it to the poetics list.
> > You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward
> the > > responses to him. Thanks, all.
> > bests, md
> >
> > Hi Maria,
> >
> > I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across > the term
> > "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with > text-sound > > poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in > > appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it > has a > > relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on > poetry.
> >
> > Cheers,
> > Sumanth
> >
> > ==========
> >
>
>
>

↑ Index

2. Murat Nemet-Nejat

Re: query from a musicologist

Mon 28 Feb 2011

"Phonomomtage," whether it exists as a word or not, is the bread and butter of film editing. Perhaps Godard is the primary practitioner of the art where sound/noise acts as an independent character, often placed in the foreground of linear action. For instance, in Godard's last film Socialisme there is a sequence on a cruise ship where waiters, etc,. working in the dining roomare in the foreground, rather than the passengers ostensibly for whom the ship is built; and more than the waiters, the noises, clatters, the plates, the tools, etc. they carry make.

This kind of effect which disorients conventional expectations is only possible through a sound montage.

Ciao,

Murat

On Sat, Feb 26, 2011 at 11:47 AM, Crisman Cooley <[redacted]>wrote:

> "...if [phonomontage] has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry..."
>
> My guess (supported by a brief google search) is that the short answer is: No.
>
> Phonomontage implies multiple voices, interruption of one voice by another, or use of editing for one voice to interrupt itself, complete disconnection of signifier from signified, found (vocal) sound, etc -- rare in cont Am poetry I think, which, despite all, clings tenaciously to sense. (Human minds after all are meaning-making machines, though human beings are not. And there's the rub.) I'd be interested to hear if others know of a poet/poets who use phonomontage (ergo this msg frontchannel).
>
> I'd also love to know what happened at Black Mountain College in conversations between Cage & Olson. My guess is that Olson basically said, "This man's ideas shall have no place in poetry." Yet Cage, in my opinion, is the greater poet. Not only because his lectures are more interesting studies of word arrangements in time, but because his ideas will be more enduring. Is there any record of what passed between them?
>
> Date: Fri, 25 Feb 2011 11:37:10 -0600
> From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
> Subject: query from a musicologist

> Dear all:
> A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told him I'd forward it to the poetics list.
> You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the responses to him. Thanks, all.
> bests, md
>
> Hi Maria,
>
> I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across the term "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-sound poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.
>
> Cheers,
> Sumanth
>
> ==========

↑ Index

3. Sarah Giragosian

Call for papers

Mon 28 Feb 2011

?Multiformalism? is a term that the poet, critic, and editor Annie Finch employs to discuss a range of formal poetic traditions, including experimental poems. This capacious word may begin to resolve the limitations of ?formalism? as a discrete genre. In her essay, ?The Trouble with a Word like Formalism,? Anne Stevenson writes, ?In a good poem, as everyone knows, form is inseparable from sense and tone. No poem worthy of the name can be formless?The sounds, rhythms, pitch and intensity of the lines ARE the form. Every poem is its form. A bad or failed poem is one whose form has either been imposed too much upon it, or neglected through ignorance or lack of an ear?? Nevertheless, ?form? continues to be a problematic term in contemporary poetics, particularly in its relationship to history. For female writers and people of color, formal verse is a vexed, yet potentially critical zone. In Playing in the Dark: Whiteness and the Literary Imagination, Toni Morrison writes, ?Those of us who come from traditions of oppression find ourselves estranged from canonical texts, and must fight?against them and our arguments with them?to own them.?

Questions to consider include, but are not limited to, the following:

What are the political valences of formal or multiformal poems in relationship to practice and theory?

How might multiformalism be relevant and even vital in contemporary poetics? How might formal poems, even such traditional poetic forms as blank verse, offer versatile and sonically adventurous opportunities for disruption and variation? How might a revolutionary potentiality inhere in formal poetry, as has been the case in Tahrir Square, where protesters have sung couplet-slogans to galvanize a political movement? How might formal poetry be decolonizing? How might form denaturalize oppressive structures? How might formal poetry involve expressive modulation and the possibility of discovery, both of self and other? In what ways do traditional and experimental forms provide an efflorescent zone for marginalized communities?

Please send any creative or critical work that delves into ?multiformalism,? employing or discussing traditional or experimental forms to [redacted] by April 15. Please write ?Poetics and Form? in the subject line.

---------- This message was sent using IMP, the Internet Messaging Program.

↑ Index

4. Adam Fieled
"Mother Earth" Pt.1
Mon 28 Feb 2011

Mother Earth is a manuscript, parts of which have appeared in or are forthcoming in Mipoesias, Miporadio, Turntable/Blue Light, Pirene's Fountain, and elsewhere.

An mp3 of the first half is here on Yudu:

http://www.yudu.com/item/details/296027/Mother-Earth-Pt.-1

Hope you like,
Adam

↑ Index

5. michael farrell
Re: query from a musicologist
Mon 28 Feb 2011

if theres no 'phonomontage' i think its more because no ones run with it as a term, rather than no ones done it ..

i think its prob common in contemp sound poetry - going on my limited knowledge - but conceptually in print also cris - im curious that u said cage was a better poet than olson due to his ideas rather than his poetry ..

m

> Date: Sat, 26 Feb 2011 08:47:35 -0800
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: query from a musicologist
> To: [redacted]
>
> "...if [phonomontage] has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry..."
>
> My guess (supported by a brief google search) is that the short answer is: No.
>
> Phonomontage implies multiple voices, interruption of one voice by another, or use of editing for one voice to interrupt itself, complete disconnection of signifier from signified, found (vocal) sound, etc -- rare in cont Am poetry I think, which, despite all, clings tenaciously to sense. (Human minds after all are meaning-making machines, though human beings are not. And there's the rub.) I'd be interested to hear if others know of a poet/poets who use phonomontage (ergo this msg frontchannel).
>
> I'd also love to know what happened at Black Mountain College in conversations between Cage & Olson. My guess is that Olson basically said, "This man's ideas shall have no place in poetry." Yet Cage, in my opinion, is the greater poet. Not only because his lectures are more interesting studies of word arrangements in time, but because his ideas will be more enduring. Is there any record of what passed between them?
>
> Date: Fri, 25 Feb 2011 11:37:10 -0600
> From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
> Subject: query from a musicologist
>
> Dear all:
> A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told him I'd forward it to the poetics list.
> You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the responses to him. Thanks, all.
> bests, md
>
> Hi Maria,
>
> I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across the term "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-sound poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in > appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.

>
> Cheers,
> Sumanth
>
> ==========

↑ Index

6. michael farrell
Re: query from a musicologist
Mon 28 Feb 2011

---

ps the brilliant amanda stewart

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6m9YDh4aZRA

> Date: Sat, 26 Feb 2011 08:47:35 -0800
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: query from a musicologist
> To: [redacted]
>
> "...if [phonomontage] has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry..."
>
> My guess (supported by a brief google search) is that the short answer is: No.
>
> Phonomontage implies multiple voices, interruption of one voice by another, or use of editing for one voice to interrupt itself, complete disconnection of signifier from signified, found (vocal) sound, etc -- rare in cont Am poetry I think, which, despite all, clings tenaciously to sense. (Human minds after all are meaning-making machines, though human beings are not. And there's the rub.) I'd be interested to hear if others know of a poet/poets who use phonomontage (ergo this msg frontchannel).
>
> I'd also love to know what happened at Black Mountain College in conversations between Cage & Olson. My guess is that Olson basically said, "This man's ideas shall have no place in poetry." Yet Cage, in my opinion, is the greater poet. Not only because his lectures are more interesting studies of word arrangements in time, but because his ideas will be more enduring. Is there any record of what passed between them?
>
> Date: Fri, 25 Feb 2011 11:37:10 -0600

> From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
> Subject: query from a musicologist
>
> Dear all:
> A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told him I'd forward it to the poetics list.
> You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the responses to him. Thanks, all.
> bests, md
>
> Hi Maria,
>
> I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across the term "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-sound poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.
>
> Cheers,
> Sumanth
>
> ==========

↑ Index

7. Stephen McCaffery

Re: POETICS Digest - 24 Feb 2011 to 25 Feb 2011 (#2011-43)

Mon 28 Feb 2011

"Dirty" concrete as I recall is a term like "Dada" with an uncertain origin. It was a familiar usage in the early seventies in my own discussions with bp Nichol about the incipient hierarchization within the international concrete movement. We both noted that anthologies were regurgitating the same material which was straight edged, typographically lucid (Garnier's work for instance and Eugen Gomringer's as well as Ian Hamilton Finlay's in Scotland and that of the de Campos brothers in Brazil Wet both considered that what seemed to offer itself as a vanguard movement dedicated to poetic change was rapidly ossifying. Nichol certainly used the term in his letters to and from Stephen Scobie (living in the same town as bp we met and chatted rather than wrote to each other hence my take is purely anecdotal). But George's take is accurate and it applies to much of bissett's practice, my own, less so bp, and definitely to Bob Cobbing in England and the younger writers (Chris Cheek, Lawrence Upton and PC Fencott) who came out of Bob's revolutionary poetry workshops.

The practice of dirty concrete seems to be continuing in Canada via writers such as Derek Beaulieu and jw curry (among others).

my best to everyone
Steve McCaffery

On Feb 26, 2011, at 12:03 AM, POETICS automatic digest system wrote:

> There are 4 messages totalling 231 lines in this issue.
>
> Topics of the day:
>
> 1. Joanna Fuhrman & Stacy Szymaszek
> 2. query from a musicologist
> 3. origin of the term "dirty concrete"?
> 4. Tonight: SUSAN HOWE -- Caesura Conversation: Dialogue and > Process --
> February 25, Friday, 5:30pm, James Gallery
>
> welcome.html
>
> ----------
>
> Date: Fri, 25 Feb 2011 01:51:39 -0500
> From: CA Conrad <[redacted]>
> Subject: Joanna Fuhrman & Stacy Szymaszek
>
> Joanna Fuhrman & Stacy Szymaszek are the two most recent poets to > appear on JUPITER 88
>
> to see these and previous issues, please go to > http://JUPITER88poetry.blogspot.com
>
> thank you for visiting JUPITER 88!
> CAConrad
>
> --
> PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com
>
> THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com
>
> welcome.html
>
> ----------

>
> Date: Fri, 25 Feb 2011 11:37:10 -0600
> From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
> Subject: query from a musicologist
>
> Dear all:
> A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told > him I'd > forward it to the poetics list.
> You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the > responses to him. Thanks, all.
> bests, md
>
> Hi Maria,
>
> I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across
> the term
> "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-> sound > poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in > appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it > has a > relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.
>
> Cheers,
> Sumanth
>
> welcome.html
>
> ----------
>
> Date: Tue, 22 Feb 2011 22:08:38 +0000
> From: Stephen Ellis <[redacted]>
> Subject: Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?
>
> Dirty concrete means it has too much sand to bond.
>
>
>
>> Date: Thu, 17 Feb 2011 12:25:19 -0500
>> From: [redacted]
>> Subject: Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?

>> To: [redacted]
>>
>>
>>
>> I remember a reading at The Lab or someplace like that in SF around >> 1986-1988, Stephen McCaffery (featured that evening I think with >> Beverl> y >> Dahlen) did a kind of performance piece comprised essentially of >> "FULL >> and Extra-Physical Enunciation" of "text" pared down all the way >> to the >> Ground Level of individual letters, perhaps in fact JUST ONE >> letter, > the >> letter T (at least that is the one that I best remember). He >> articulated, "t, t, t, T, T, T, T, T, T" and so >> on and > so forth. Indeed, >> he wanted to, let's say, FULLY ACTUALIZE the entire >> experiential rang> e >> of the universal physicality of the letter T, all that ear, >> tongue,
>> mouth, lungs, and even esophagus FEEL/Contact when it, the >> letter T> , is >> stripped of its (Capitalist?) conventional utility or any kind of >> marketable semantic association or "burden" (Williams). (I guess >> that's "My Stephen McCaffery" that evening, anyways...)
>>
>>
>>
>> In effect, or maybe Full Effect, he really, really engaged us >> somatically and carnally with his intensely evocative accentuation
>> and
>> "primitive," roof-shaking, thunderous enunciation of the >> letter T. He
>> SPIT it right into some of us in the first couple rows of seats, in >> fact. NOW, if that wasn't one of the most "concrete" poetries I >> have >> ever witnessed, No, I should say _EXPERIENCED_, then I don't >> know w> hat >> is (other than what Robert Grenier does, and leaves, on the >> page, a> lso
>> "minimalist," but more a graphic or visual "concrete," while >> McCaffery's, obviously, is dramatically SOUND-based and

>> Extremely Ora> l, >> of course.) Anyhow, given that a good bit of good clean spit was >> emitted, surely that kind of poming would/could be called "dirty >> concrete," in my humble opinion.
>>
>>
>>
>> Steve Tills
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>> Date: Tue, 15 Feb 2011 17:23:15 -0800
>>
>> From: George Bowering <[redacted]>
>>
>> Subject: Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?
>>
>>
>>
>> Back in the day we used to talk about dirty con and clean con.
>>
>> Dirty con was the stuff you did by typing over other typing but a bit >> off.
>>
>> Anything with smears etc.
>>
>> Generally the stuff bpNichol was doing was clean con and the stuff
>> bill
>> bissett was doing was dirty con.
>>
>> There was a difference of intent.
>>
>> Dirty con was generally done by poets who wanted to strike against >> hoitsy toitsy aestheticism.
>>
>>
>>
>> gb
>>
>>

>>
>>
>>
>> On Feb 15, 2011, at 9:15 AM, Lori Emerson wrote:
>>
>>
>>
>>> Hello all! I wonder if anyone out there knows where the term
>>> "dirty
>>
>>> concrete" came from (a term which I know Stephen Scobie and >>> others
>>
>>> have used to describe Steve McCaffery's work).
>>
>>>
>>
>>> Any leads or tips would be just wonderful - thanks -
>>
>>>
>>
>>> Lori
>>
>>>
>>
>>> --
>>
>>> Lori Emerson
>>
>>> Assistant Professor | Electropoetics Thread Editor, Electronic >>> Book
>>
>>> Review Department of English, University of Colorado at Boulder
>>
>>> Hellems 101, 226 UCB, Boulder, CO 80309-0226
>>
>>> http://www.loriemerson.com http://www.electronicbookreview.com
>>
>>> http://twitter.com/loriemerson
>>
>>
>>

>>
>>
>>
>> ==========
>> => ==========
>
> >
> ==========> 3D========== > welcome.html
>
> ----------
>
> Date: Fri, 25 Feb 2011 11:38:21 -0800
> From: amy king <[redacted]>
> Subject: Tonight: SUSAN HOWE -- Caesura Conversation: Dialogue and > Process -- February 25, Friday, 5:30pm, James Gallery
>
> Caesura Conversation: Dialogue and Process
February 25, Friday,
> 5:30pm, J> ames Gallery

What does it mean for a woman poet-scholar to > write out > of archival dark matter? Are particular formal strategies are > demanded > to narrate archival silences? Susan Howe's poetry collections > include e> ssaysâ€”personal and historical explorations written in > proseâ> €”and her works of scholarship, broken into lyrical > fragments, ofte> n feature the figurative language and quick leaps often found > in contem> porary verse. How should we read such texts, describe them, or > categori> ze them? Join the Graduate Center's Stefania Heim, PhD program in Engli> sh, as she explores these questions and more with Susan Howe, one > of ou> r most important contemporary poets. Howe is the author numerous > collectio> ns of poetry and prose, including My Emily Dickinson, Pierce-> Arrow, and> the forthcoming That This, a collaboration with photographer
>

> James Well> ing.

The Center for the Humanities :: The City University > of New Yo> rk :: 365 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10016-4309 http:// > www.centerforth> ehumanitiesgc.org/

****
VIDA: Women in > Literary Arts>
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
>
****

> ==========> 3D==========
> welcome.html
>
> ----------
>
> End of POETICS Digest - 24 Feb 2011 to 25 Feb 2011 (#2011-43)
> ****

presenting a paper, joining a roundtable discussion, or organizing a session. The MLA Program Committee especially welcomes session proposals in formats that highlight teaching experience, creative work, and civic engagement and encourages you to view an invitation from the committee at www.mla.org/proposal_invite.

To be included in the convention program, search (www.mla.org/cfp_search) or browse (www.mla.org/cfp_browse) the calls for papers already posted on the MLA Web site. Through 1 March 2011, you may also submit your own call for papers at www.mla.org/cfp_main. As the session organizer, you are responsible for acknowledging all submissions and inquiries regarding your call for papers. We recommend posting a submission deadline of not later than 15 March.

Please keep in mind that a call for papers is not a session proposal but a way to solicit paper submissions for creating a session proposal. Proposal forms for the 2012 convention will be available at www.mla.org/ssp_main in early March. Completed proposal forms must be submitted by 1 April 2011. The MLA Program Committee will determine which session proposals are accepted.

All participants in convention sessions must be MLA members by 7 April 2011, and members should review other guidelines for the MLA convention (www.mla.org/conv_procedures) before responding to or submitting calls for papers.

The MLA Annual Convention is an exciting intellectual and professional event. I hope you will consider participating, and I look forward to seeing you in Seattle.

Cordially,

Russell A. Berman
MLA President
Walter A. Haas Professor in the Humanities, Stanford University

--
Aldon L. Nielsen
Kelly Professor of American Literature
Department of English
117 Burrowes Building
The Pennsylvania State University
University Park, PA
16802-6200

[redacted]

sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

"I had the opportunity to read several good books, from which it is always possible to find oneself all the others, or even to write those that are still lacking." -- Guy Debord

↑ Index

9. Jessica Wickens

Re: March 7 in San Francisco: Mike Young, Jamie Iredell, and Patrick Duggan

Mon 28 Feb 2011

---

woo hoo!

On Feb 25, 2011, at 3:11 PM, Elliot Harmon wrote:

> Hi all,
>
> I'm hosting a reading in San Francisco next Monday, March 7, with Mike Young, Jamie Iredell, and Patrick Duggan. It would be great to see you there.
>
> Cheers,
> Elliot
>
> Idiolexicon Reading Series
> Rancho Parnassus, 132 6th St, San Francisco
> Monday, March 7, 7 PM
> Free
> More info: http://www.idiolexicon.com/
> Facebook invite: http://on.fb.me/3-7-11
>
> The Idiolexicon Reading Series at Rancho Parnassus brings a wide range of innovative writers from the Bay Area and beyond. On Monday, March 7, the reading will feature Amherst's Mike Young, Atlanta's Jamie Iredell, and San Francisco's Patrick Duggan.
>
> Jamie Iredell* is the author of The Book of Freaks (Future Tense Books 2011) and Prose. Poems. A Novel. (Orange Alert Press 2009). He lives in Atlanta, where he co-curates the Solar Anus Reading Series.*
>
> Mike Young *is the author of *Look! Look! Feathers *(Word Riot Press 2010) and *We Are All Good If They Try Hard Enough *(Publishing Genius 2010). He co-edits *NOÖ Journal and runs Magic Helicopter Press.
>
> Patrick Duggan *is co-editor of *Idiolexicon *and a 2010 National Poetry Series finalist. His poems have appeared in several journals including * Beeswax*, Mirage, Monday Night Lit, NOÖ Journal, Oranges and Sardines

> *, Parthenon West Review, and Shampoo.

↑ Index

10. CA Conrad for Akilah Oliver...
Tue 1 Mar 2011

(Soma)tic Poetry Exercise #55 is dedicated to the legacy of Akilah Oliver: http://somaticpoetryexercises.blogspot.com/

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

11. CA Conrad
Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Tue 1 Mar 2011

Hmm. This is quite the examination of class Adam. Has anyone else taken a look at this? http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/02/class-and-risk-nirvanas-in-bloom.html

So Nirvana, to be "educated in class" was to not appear to be rubes? Are all working class people rural? "Rube" is a term for "country bumpkin." And what does it mean to be "educated in class" in the first place? What you are saying is that Nirvana is a late 20th century Pymalion experiment then?

And Nirvana was, in attempting to not appear to be rubes, wanting everyone to think that their message was NOT Grunge? Isn't Nirvana the biggest proponent of the Grunge music genre? This is all very confusing because I don't think of Grunge as embodying or embracing the dominant culture but resisting it.

And coming from working class people I can safely say that none of us hold poverty dear to our hearts. Poverty isn't dear. Poverty is frightening. Poverty is something that keeps us up at night made sick with worry.

I'm more confused than anything by these astonishing ideas you put forth, CAConrad

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

12. Nic Sebastian

new audio chapbook - 'Dark Refuge' by Edward Byrne

Tue 1 Mar 2011

New audio chapbook from Whale Sound - ‘Dark Refuge’ by Edward Byrne - http://bit.ly/hladHX

As usual with Whale Sound Audio Chapbooks, the question we ask is: 'How do you like your poetry served?' You can read/listen to these lovely poems as online text or online audio; free downloadable MP3, PDF, or e-book, or - if you are the ‘must have it in my hands’ sort - you can purchase a print edition and/or a CD. Details at the site. Best, Nic Nic Sebastian

Whale Sound
Very Like A Whale Voice Alpha

↑ Index

13. Bonnie MacAllister

March 12: She Should Have Written It @ the Shubin Theatre

Tue 1 Mar 2011

She Should Have Written It: A Story of Bohemian Surveillance Time
12 March · 19:00 - 22:00

Location
Shubin
Theatre<https://www.facebook.com/pages/Shubin-Theatre/116001365088773>
407 Bainbridge Street

More info
A Green Light Arts Production

Multimedia performance and works by Bonnie MacAllister

Featuring the one act play, She Should Have Written It: A Story of Bohemian Surveillance stars

Celeste Walker as Enyo
Maleka Fruean as Druka
Dan Baker as Dash

March 12 at 7 p.m.

FREE (pay what you wish)

A fundraiser for Green Light Arts

Featuring trunk sales by independent craft merchants

http://greenlightarts.org/

(Part of a series featuring work by Debra Leigh Scott on March 10 and Jackie Ruggerio Jacobson on March 11)
Contact [redacted]

RSVP on Facebook <https://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=203116133032220>.

-
<http://bonnie-macallister.blogspot.com/>

↑ Index

14. Jack Foley
jrfoley.com is UP and AT 'EM -- from FlashPoint
Tue 1 Mar 2011

What taste do Lee Harvey Oswald, St. Augustine, Walt Disney, Abbess Heloise (without Abelard), Sam Eig, and Iggy Friml share? Why, come morning or afternoon, they all sit down and sip and munch each other's words at the tables of jrfoley.com (http://jrfoley.com/) -- the new blog in town.

Come join them on the terrasse.

jrfoley.com (http://jrfoley.com/). From FlashPoint (http://www.fllashpointmag.com/).

And bring aGracehoper!

↑ Index

15. Lori Emerson
Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?
Tue 1 Mar 2011

All, just to say thank you for your interesting and helpful responses to the issue of "dirty concrete" - I still have not yet figured out definitively who came up with the term but generally people seem to think it was either bpNichol or bill bissett. I might have a phone interview lined up with Mike Weaver in a week or two and so I'm hoping he might be able to clear up some of these questions.

- Lori

--
Lori Emerson
Assistant Professor | Electropoetics Thread Editor, Electronic Book Review
Department of English, University of Colorado at Boulder
Hellems 101, 226 UCB, Boulder, CO 80309-0226
http://www.loriemerson.com http://www.electronicbookreview.com
http://twitter.com/loriemerson

↑ Index

16. Obododimma Oha

A Sign Monkey Is Watching You

Tue 1 Mar 2011

"A common sign monkey strategy in some major cities in West Africa is to stage a public drama, in the form of a mock fight, auction sales, card games, and so on. Naturally, you would like to stop and watch, or maybe go beyond that to separate the fighters and broker peace. Good. Sign monkey fighters are looking for peace loving fools to separate them."

Read the full text of "A Sign Monkey Is Watching You<http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/Editorial/5680619-182/story.csp>"
at:
http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/Editorial/5680619-182/story.csp

--
Obododimma Oha
http://udude.wordpress.com/

(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)
Dept. of English
University of Ibadan
Nigeria

&

Fellow, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies
University of Ibadan

Phone: [redacted];
[redacted];
[redacted].

↑ Index

17. Sharon Mesmer/David Borchart
Connie Deanovich and Sharon Mesmer at the Poetry Project
Tue 1 Mar 2011

Connie Deanovich and Sharon Mesmer at the Poetry Project

Wednesday, March 16
8:00 pm
131 E. 10th Street
New York New York

Connie Deanovich is the author of the Zombie Jet and Watusi Titanic.

Sharon Mesmer is the author of the The Virgin Formica and Annoying Diabetic Bitch; fiction collections are Ma Vie à Yonago (in French translation from Hachette), In Ordinary Time and The Empty Quarter.

↑ Index

18. Steven Zultanski
SEGUE PRESENTS: SHANNA COMPTON + MARC NASDOR
Tue 1 Mar 2011

SEGUE PRESENTS:

SHANNA COMPTON +
MARC NASDOR

This Saturday, March 5th

SEGUE READING SERIES
BPC
4 PM
$6

March 5th - Shanna Compton and Marc Nasdor

SHANNA COMPTON is the author of For Girls (& Others), Down Spooky, Gamers, and several chapbooks. Her third poetry collection will be called The Seam Rovers. She lives on the internet at shannacompton.com.

MARC NASDOR most recent book is Sonnetailia (Roof 2007). His poems have been published in translation in Hungarian, German and Spanish, and have been performed in France, Germany and Hungary. An art and audio consultant, he is also an amateur ethnomusicologist who presents global dance music under the alias DJ Poodlecannon.

Saturday, March 5th
4-6 PM

The Bowery Poetry Club, 308 Bowery
$6 admission goes to readers

February/March Segue Readings are curated by Nada Gordon and Steven Zultanski. The Segue Reading Series is made possible by the support of The Segue Foundation. Visit seguefoundation.com, bowerypoetry.com, or call [redacted] for more information.

UP NEXT:

March 12 - Michael Gottlieb & Lonely Christopher

↑ Index

19. Al Filreis
PoemTalk 41 released: on Ezra Pound's canto III
Tue 1 Mar 2011

Today we have released episode 41 of PoemTalk ("PoemTalk at the Writers House"). It is a 29-minute discussion of Canto III of Ezra Pound by Richard Sieburth, Rachel Blau DuPlessis and Kaplan Harris.

http://poemtalkatkwh.blogspot.com/
http://www.poetryfoundation.org/

PoemTalk is also available on iTunes. Just go to your iTunes music store and type "PoemTalk" in the searchbox.

When Jacket2 launches soon, PoemTalk's home on the web will move to the new site of the magazine.

- Al Filreis

Al Filreis
Kelly Professor
Faculty Dir., Kelly Writers House
Dir., Center for Programs in Contemporary Writing
University of Pennsylvania

on the web: http://writing.upenn.edu/~afilreis blog: http://writing.upenn.edu/~afilreis/blog
PoemTalk: http://www.poemtalk.org

↑ Index

20. Kenneth Sherwood
Re: Phonomontage
Tue 1 Mar 2011

I find the term immediately attractive and interesting, even as I try to locate its center -- how it would be distinct from or a sub-set of sound poetry, text sound, phonetic poetry, poesie sonore . Does orality, live performance, or mechanical mediation enter into it? There are formal distinctions that could be made between say Dada sound (voiced) poetry and the multi-track, magnetic tape experiments of artists especially from the 1960s onward.

Like the Cage / Olson contrast mentioned yesterday, what has often puzzled me is the marginalization or categorization of other sound arts with language as outside the spectrum of poetry or literature. I remember listening to Kenneth Gaburo years ago and wondering why Lingua II Maldeto (also happily now at ubuweb http://www.ubu.com/sound/gaburo.html) was experimental music but Kurt Schwitters belonged to poetry. Still don't know the answer, except that Gaburo was paid by a music department.

Dick Higgins is still very much worth reading on these issues:
http://www.ubu.com/papers/higgins_sound.html

↑ Index

21. steve dalachinsky
Re: Connie Deanovich and Sharon Mesmer at the Poetry Project
Wed 2 Mar 2011

Class Reunion:

David Liebman - reeds and Steve Dalachinsky - words in a rare duo performance
March 6,2011 - 8 pm
@ The Stone East 2nd Street and Ave C in Manhattan - F train to 2nd Ave or F and J to Essex/Delancey

admission $10

for more info go to www.thestonenyc.com

_____

and steve and lola danza march 14 at local 269 @ 7PM
269 e houston @ suffolk

On Tue, 1 Mar 2011 15:28:35 -0500 Sharon Mesmer/David Borchart
<[redacted]> writes:
> Connie Deanovich and Sharon Mesmer at the Poetry Project
>

> Wednesday, March 16
> 8:00 pm
> 131 E. 10th Street
> New York New York
>
> Connie Deanovich is the author of the Zombie Jet and Watusi Titanic.
>
>
> Sharon Mesmer is the author of the The Virgin Formica and Annoying > Diabetic Bitch; fiction collections are Ma Vie à Yonago (in French > translation from Hachette), In Ordinary Time and The Empty Quarter.
>
>
>

↑ Index

22. amy king
OT: Memorial Service for Akilah Oliver
Wed 2 Mar 2011

Please join us in celebrating the life of Akilah Oliver

Thursday, March 3, 2011 -- 6:00 pm

Middle Collegiate Church
50 East 7th Street at Second Avenue
New York, NY 10003

Subway: 6 to Astor Place

Please bring an offering to place on the altar or to share with others

↑ Index

23. Cara Benson
Belladonna & Kundiman Celebrate Theresa Hak Kyung Cha
Wed 2 Mar 2011

Belladonna* and Kundiman Celebrate Theresa Hak Kyung Cha

On the weekend of what would have been Cha's 60th birthday (a full life cycle event in the Chinese/Korean lunar calendar), Belladonna* and Kundiman gather nine poets to perform a staged reading from Dictee. Cha's best known written work, Dictee focuses on the life of several women framed with the art of the Greek muses, yet in the cosmos of Shamanism and Daoism. Their struggle to speak and overcome suffering is enacted through amixture of media which destabilizes the notion of a progressive and seamless history.

Participants to include: Tamiko Beyer, Sarah Gambito, Laura Hinton, Cathy Park Hong, Myung Mi Kim, Soomi Kim, Alison Roh Park, Sina Queyras, Jen Shyu, Anne Waldman, Genevieve White, Zhang Er

Join us for an afternoon of projected images, voices, pictorial characters, scholarly contextualization, a birthday cake, and surprises.

Screening of Cha's video works courtesy of University of California, Berkeley Art Museum and Pacific Film Archive; gift of the Theresa Hak Kyung Cha Memorial Foundation.

Event is being filmed for Woo Jung Cho's documentary on Theresa Hak Kyung Cha, The Dream of the Audience. http://theresahakkyungcha.com/

Curated by Cara Benson, Sarah Gambito and Zhang Er

When: Saturday, March 5
Door: 1:40pm; Show: 2pm to 3:30pm [PROMPT]
Where: Bowery Poetry Club, 308 Bowery, NYC
Cost: $8

http://www.belladonnaseries.org/readingseries.html
http://www.kundiman.org

↑ Index

24. Catherine Daly
Re: Call for papers
Wed 2 Mar 2011

And how will you be using these papers?

All best,
Catherine Daly

On Mon, Feb 28, 2011 at 10:12 AM, Sarah Giragosian
<[redacted]> wrote:
> ?Multiformalism? is a term that the poet, critic, and editor Annie Finch > employs to discuss a range of formal poetic traditions, including > experimental poems. This capacious word may begin to resolve the > limitations of ?formalism? as a discrete genre. In her essay, ?The Trouble > with a Word like Formalism,? Anne Stevenson writes, ?In a good poem, as > everyone knows, form is inseparable from sense and tone. No poem worthy of > the name can be formless?The sounds, rhythms, pitch and intensity of the > lines ARE the form. Every poem is its form. A bad or failed poem is one > whose form has either been imposed too much upon it, or neglected through > ignorance or lack of an ear?? Nevertheless, ?form? continues to be a > problematic term in contemporary poetics, particularly in its relationship > to history. For female writers and people of color, formal verse is a > vexed, yet potentially critical zone. In Playing in the Dark: Whiteness and > the Literary Imagination, Toni Morrison writes, ?Those of us who come from > traditions of oppression find ourselves estranged from canonical texts, and > must fight?against them and our arguments with them?to own them.?

>
>
> Questions to consider include, but are not limited to, the following:
>
> What are the political valences of formal or multiformal poems in > relationship to practice and theory?
>
> How might multiformalism be relevant and even vital in contemporary
poetics?
> How might formal poems, even such traditional poetic forms as blank verse, > offer versatile and sonically adventurous opportunities for disruption and > variation?
> How might a revolutionary potentiality inhere in formal poetry, as has been > the case in Tahrir Square, where protesters have sung couplet-slogans to > galvanize a political movement? How might formal poetry be decolonizing?
How > might form denaturalize oppressive structures?
> How might formal poetry involve expressive modulation and the possibility of > discovery, both of self and other?
> In what ways do traditional and experimental forms provide an efflorescent > zone for marginalized communities?
>
> Please send any creative or critical work that delves into ?multiformalism,?
> employing or discussing traditional or experimental forms to > [redacted] by April 15. Please write ?Poetics and Form? in the > subject line.
>

↑ Index

25. John Beer

Fwd: dust of suns

Wed 2 Mar 2011

---------- Forwarded message ----------
From: John Beer <[redacted]>

Date: Wed, Mar 2, 2011 at 11:48 AM
Subject: dust of suns
To: [redacted]

The Chicago Poetry Project presents

a staged reading of the play

The Dust of Suns

by Raymond Roussel

Trans. Harry Mathews

French poet, novelist and playwright Raymond Roussel (1877-1933) faced almost universal incomprehension and derision during his lifetime, for works that neglected traditional character and plot development in favor of the construction of elaborate descriptions and anecdotes based on hidden wordplay. While the premieres of his self-financed plays caused near-riots, admirers included Surrealists Andre Breton and Robert Desnos, who called The Dust of Suns (1926) “another incursion into the unknown which you alone are exploring.” Roussel never enjoyed the posthumous fame of his hero Jules Verne, but he has exercised a powerful fascination upon later writers and artists including the French Oulipo group, Marcel Duchamp, John Ashbery, Michel Foucault, and Michael Palmer. New editions of his novels and poetry are forthcoming this year from Princeton and Dalkey Archive.

Like much of Roussel’s writing, The Dust of Suns has a colonial setting. Against the backdrop of fin-de-siecle French Guiana, a convoluted treasure hunt unfolds. Along the way, Roussel fully indulges his penchant for bizarre invention and juxtaposition. The Frenchman Blache seeks his uncle’s inheritance: a cache of gems whose location lies at the end of a chain of clues that includes a sonnet engraved on a skull and the recollections of an albino shepherdess. Meanwhile, his daughter Solange is in love with Jacques—but all Jacques knows of his parentage is a mysterious tattoo on his shoulder...

This script-in-hand performance of Roussel’s play, directed by John Beer, with design by Caroline Picard, features an array of Chicago writers and artists. Performers include: James Tadd Alcox, Joshua Corey, Joel Craig, Monica Fambrough, Sara Gothard, Judith Goldman, Samantha Irby, Lisa Janssen, Jennifer Karmin, Jamie Kazay, John Keene, Jacob Knabb, Francesco Levato, Brian Nemtusak, Travis Nichols, Jacob Saenz, Larry Sawyer, Suzanne Scanlon, Jennifer Steele and Nicole Wilson.

Where: The Charnel House, 3421 W. Fullerton St., [redacted]

When: March 4-6; Fri, Sat 8pm; Sun 3pm. ALL PERFORMANCES ARE FREE.

↑ Index

26. Mark Weiss
Re: query from a musicologist
Wed 2 Mar 2011

The practice, not the term, probably dates to the visual and aural montages of witchboards and newspapers that indicated the word was spreading. Partly heard overlapping conversations were featured among the first time in Citizen Kane. The first aural montage in the Eisensteinian sense that I'm aware of was in the opening sequence of Wim Wenders' Wings of Desire.

-----Original Message-----
>From: Murat Nemet-Nejat <[redacted]>
>Sent: Feb 28, 2011 11:46 AM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Re: query from a musicologist
>
>"Phonomomtage," whether it exists as a word or not, is the bread and butter >of film editing. Perhaps Godard is the primary practitioner of the art where >sound/noise acts as an independent character, often placed in the foreground >of linear action. For instance, in Godard's last film Socialisme there is >a sequence on a cruise ship where waiters, etc,. working in the dining >roomare in the foreground, rather than the passengers ostensibly for whom >the ship is built; and more than the waiters, the noises, clatters, the >plates, the tools, etc. they carry make.
>
>This kind of effect which disorients conventional expectations is only >possible through a sound montage.
>
>Ciao,
>
>Murat
>
>
>On Sat, Feb 26, 2011 at 11:47 AM, Crisman Cooley <[redacted]>wrote:
>
>> "...if [phonomontage] has a relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in >> scholarship on poetry..."
>>
>> My guess (supported by a brief google search) is that the short answer is:
>> No.
>>
>> Phonomontage implies multiple voices, interruption of one voice by another, >> or use of editing for one voice to interrupt itself, complete disconnection >> of signifier from signified, found (vocal) sound, etc -- rare in cont Am >> poetry I think, which, despite all, clings tenaciously to sense. (Human >> minds after all are meaning-making machines, though human beings are not.

>> And there's the rub.) I'd be interested to hear if others know of a >> poet/poets who use phonomontage (ergo this msg frontchannel).
>>
>> I'd also love to know what happened at Black Mountain College in >> conversations between Cage & Olson. My guess is that Olson basically said,
>> "This man's ideas shall have no place in poetry." Yet Cage, in my opinion, >> is the greater poet. Not only because his lectures are more interesting >> studies of word arrangements in time, but because his ideas will be more >> enduring. Is there any record of what passed between them?
>>
>>
>> >
>> > Date: Fri, 25 Feb 2011 11:37:10 -0600
>> > From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
>> > Subject: query from a musicologist
>> >
>> > Dear all:
>> > A musicologist friend has sent me the following query and I told him I'd >> > forward it to the poetics list.
>> > You can reply back-channel (to me) on the list, and I'll forward the >> > responses to him. Thanks, all.
>> > bests, md
>> >
>> > Hi Maria,
>> >
>> > I have a geeky scholarly question for you. Have you come across the term
>> > "phonomontage" much in your field, especially in dealing with text-sound >> > poetry/composition? Let me know; it's a term I'm interested in >> > appropriating for some of my ringtones, but I'd like to know if it has a >> > relatively stable meaning or set of meanings in scholarship on poetry.
>> >
>> > Cheers,
>> > Sumanth
>> >
>> > ==========
>> >
>>

>>
>

↑ Index

27. Ana Bo¾ièeviæ

Chapbook Festival begins this evening! through March 5

Wed 2 Mar 2011

The Chapbook Festival begins tonight with an evening panel! Come tomorrow and Friday for the bookfair (12-7p), lunchtime and evening workshops and readings at The Graduate Center, CUNY, and attend events throughout the city on Saturday. The up-to-date schedule & venues are below.

See you there,

The Center for the Humanities

Wed Mar 2–Sat Mar 5
Third Annual Chapbook Festival

http://www.chapbookfestival.org

The Festival celebrates the chapbook as a work of art and as a medium for alternative and emerging writers and publishers. Now in its third year, the festival features a two-day bookfair with chapbook publishers from around the country, panels, workshops, a reading of prize-winning Chapbook Fellows, and a roundtable and launch of Series II in Lost & Found: The CUNY Poetics Documents Initiative.

The Festival is free and open to the public, though some events require advance registration, as indicated below.

Wed Mar 2, 6:30pm
Panel
History of Art: Collaborations—Text/Form
The Center for Book Arts, 28 W 27th St, 3rd fl
Ed Go, Other Rooms Press; Mary Walker Graham, Rope-a-Dope Press;
Winnie Huang, artist; MC Hyland, DoubleCross Press
This panel discussion will focus on collaborations between visual artists and writers. The formal relationships between text and image on a book page are the product of a creative working relationship between artist and writer: join us to explore the many ways these kinds of partnerships can play out. This panel is part of an ongoing series at Center for Book Arts on the history of collaboration in book arts.
organized by the Center for Book Arts

Thu Mar 3–Fri Mar 4, Noon–7pm
Book Fair
Elebash Recital Hall Lobby, The Graduate Center, CUNY
365 Fifth Ave at 34th Street

Thu Mar 3, 1pm
Workshop
Nuts and Bolts for Publishers
Elebash Recital Hall, The Graduate Center, CUNY, 365 Fifth Ave at 34th street
Andrew Kenower, Trafficker; Rachel Levitsky, Belladonna*; Emily Pettit, Factory Hollow; Anna Moschovakis, Ugly Duckling Presse
This panel brings together experienced chapbook publishers to discuss how to create and run a chapbook press.
organized by Poetry Society of America
Free registration required. To attend workshops, please register by e-mailing [redacted]

Thu Mar 3, 5pm
Workshop
Nuts and Bolts for Writers
Elebash Recital Hall, The Graduate Center, CUNY, 365 Fifth Ave at 34th street
Hossannah Asuncion, 2010 PSA Fellowship Chapbook Winner; Mary Walker Graham, Rope-a-Dope; Jen Hyde, Small Anchor; Jean Hartig, Poets & Writers
This panel will focus on the fine little books that can be produced by hand, from the quick-and-dirty to the fancy-and-giftable, with demonstrations by writers who publish themselves and others, as well as a discussion of how chapbooks can be used to promote work and build community.
organized by Poets & Writers
Free registration required. To attend workshops, please register by e-mailing [redacted]

Thu Mar 3, 7pm
Reading
PSA Chapbook Fellowship Reading
Elebash Recital Hall, The Graduate Center, CUNY, 365 Fifth Ave at 34th street
Judges of the Poetry Society of America's eighth annual Chapbook Fellowship introduce this year's winners.
Judges: Cornelius Eady, Kimiko Hahn, James Tate, Rosanna Warren
Winners: Adam Day, Camille Rankine, Andrew Seguin, Hossannah Asuncion organized by Poetry Society of America

Fri Mar 4, 1pm
Workshop
Pushing Boundaries of Form
Elebash Recital Hall, The Graduate Center, CUNY, 365 Fifth Ave at 34th street
Cara Benson, Dusie Kollektiv; Nate Pritts, H_NGM_N Books; Adam Robinson, Publishing Genius; Felice Tebbe, Booklyn; Mary Gannon, Poets & Writers
This panel brings together a group of publishers that are especially innovative in their approach to chapbook publishing to discuss the books they produce, the way they distribute them to readers and everything in between.
organized by Poets & Writers
Free registration required. To attend workshops, please register by e-mailing [redacted]

Fri Mar 4, 5pm Workshop Pushing Genre Boundaries of the Chapbook Room 9207, The Graduate Center, CUNY, 365 Fifth Ave at 34th street Jen Hyde, Small Anchor Press; Pei-Ling Lue, One Story; Jacqueline Waters, The Physiocrats. Moderated by Kimiko Hahn, MFA Program, Queens College, CUNY Is the chapbook merely a charming medium for poetry? How is this perceived limitation changing and why? What can the chapbook do for fiction, nonfiction, and drama? Are the publications only for experimental texts? What about digital technologies? How are chapbooks expanding the definition of each genre as well as cross-genre expectations? Is the chapbook just a momentary stay against the brutal commercialization of the industry? Is it even charming? Who cares? Panelists will address these questions and speak about individual projects and visions. organized by the CUNY MFA Affiliation Group Free registration required. To attend workshops, please register by e-mailing [redacted]

Fri Mar 4, 5:30pm Conversation and Book Launch Book People A Roundtable on Lost & Found: The CUNY Poetics Document Initiative The Skylight Room (9100), The Graduate Center, CUNY, 365 Fifth Ave at 34th street Even in the digital age, the book occupies enormous cultural space and remains a central metaphor of many civilizations. How have poets in the 20th and 21st centuries honored and expanded this tradition? How are histories newly created from archival materials and what are the differences between personal and institutional archives? What are the roles of preservation and design in the transmission of culture? In this extraordinary gathering, hear the perspectives of poets, scholars, archivists, and book designers as they discuss these and other questions. Participants include Ammiel Alcalay, poet, scholar, and founder of Lost & Found; Steve Clay, archivist, scholar, and publisher, founder of Granary Books; Megan Mangum, book designer and founder of Words that Work; Anne Waldman, poet and co-founder, with Allen Ginsberg, of the Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics at Naropa University.

Following the roundtable discussion, join us for a presentation and celebration with the editors of Lost & Found, Series 2, with readings, video, and audio presentations of works by Diane di Prima, Robert Duncan, David Henderson, Margaret Randall, and Muriel Rukeyser. Special guest Ken Irby, author of The Intent On (winner of the 2010 Shelley Award), will launch the series with the reading of a new poem that will be available as a broadside. Poet David Henderson will read. Sets of Lost & Found, Series 2, will be available for purchase.

Sat Mar 5, 10am–1pm
Workshop
Hands-on Book Arts Workshops for Writers
The Center for Book Arts, 28 W 27th St, 3rd fl
Join us for a hands-on immersion in bookmaking. Participants can choose to set their words in metal type, or try their hand at some basic binding structures.
Registration required: [redacted]
$20 material fee
organized by the Center for Book Arts

Sat Mar 5, 2pm
Reading
What the Chapbook Means to Me
Poets House, 10 River Terrace
Jen Bervin, Ugly Duckling Presse; Anna Moschovakis, poet
Visual artist and poet Jen Bervin and Ugly Duckling Presse editor and poet Anna Moschovakis discuss the way the chapbook has shaped their work, sharing highlights from their own collections and the Poets House archive.
organized by Poets House

Participating publishers:

2nd Ave Poetry
Belladonna*
Booklyn
Creature Press
Cy Gist Press
DoubleCross Press
Dusie Kollektiv
Factory Hollow Press
Forklift, Ohio

Greying Ghost Press
H_NGM_N
Immaculate Disciples Press
Love Among the Ruins
Magic Helicopter Press
Minutes Books
Octopus Books
One Story
Pen Press
Pilot Books
Poinciana Paper Press
Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs
Publishing Genius
Rope-a-Dope Press
Slapering Hol Press
Small Anchor Press
Sona Books
Supermachine
The Corresponding Society
The Physiocrats
Toadlily Press
Trafficker Press
Ugly Duckling Presse
X-ing Press/Agriculture Reader

Visit the Festival on Facebook and see who's coming!
http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=140340109363705

co-sponsored by the Office of Academic Affairs, the Center for the Humanities, The Graduate Center, CUNY, the Center for Book Arts, CUNY MFA Affiliation Group, Poets House, Poetry Society of America, Poets & Writers

The Graduate Center, CUNY
365 Fifth Ave btwn 34th & 35th. The building and the venues are fully accessible. For more information please call 212/[redacted] or e-mail [redacted].
www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org

↑ Index

28. Jim Andrews
Re: origin of the term "dirty concrete"?
Wed 2 Mar 2011

---

is this fundamentally a question of the nature of the engagement with technology? or is it, more superficially, a matter of 'look'?

ja
http://vispo.com

↑ Index

29. marc vincenz
Mad Hatters' Review
Wed 2 Mar 2011

Mad Hatters' Review is currently open to submissions.
Reading period: March 1 - March 31

Guidelines: http://www.madhattersreview.com/submit.shtml

Thanks,
The Editors

↑ Index

30. michael farrell
Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Wed 2 Mar 2011

---

interesting adam -

i loved yr discussion of in bloom .. i wish reviews actually paid this kind of attention to songs

tho like ca i wondered about some of the framing sex & loneliness dont seem specifically working class as tropes - in fact they seem more middleclass to me didnt nirvana promote a kind of working class chic?

if they were so working class how did they manage to become bohemians?

it gave me a twinge of regret of using my musical ignorance to avoid becoming a rock critic (im not being sarcastic!

thanks ca for picquing my interest - im afraid many first posts go unread atm

m

> Date: Tue, 1 Mar 2011 09:38:47 -0500
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
> To: [redacted]
>
> Hmm. This is quite the examination of class Adam. Has anyone else taken a look at this?
> http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/02/class-and-risk-nirvanas-in-bloom.html
>
> So Nirvana, to be "educated in class" was to not appear to be rubes? Are all working class people rural? "Rube" is a term for "country bumpkin." And what does it mean to be "educated in class" in the first place? What you are saying is that Nirvana is a late 20th century Pymalion experiment then?
>
> And Nirvana was, in attempting to not appear to be rubes, wanting everyone to think that their message was NOT Grunge? Isn't Nirvana the biggest proponent of the Grunge music genre? This is all very confusing because I don't think of Grunge as embodying or embracing the dominant culture but resisting it.
>
> And coming from working class people I can safely say that none of us hold poverty dear to our hearts. Poverty isn't dear. Poverty is frightening. Poverty is something that keeps us up at night made sick with worry.
>
> I'm more confused than anything by these astonishing ideas you put forth, CAConrad
>
> --
> PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com
>
> THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

31. michael farrell

Re: Call for papers

Wed 2 Mar 2011

---

the problem it seems to me - apart from stevensons tone which might make anyone prefer to write bad poems - is who is reading it?

in terms of this question:

How might formal poems, even such traditional poetic forms as blank > verse, offer versatile and sonically adventurous opportunities for > disruption and variation?

it sounds like a version of experimentalism for formalists - but only formalists will think so - will even read the poems - experimentalism seems to get left behind in the first sentence of the abstract toni morrisons book is brilliant

i think that indigenous takes on formal verse are on one level bitterly ironic - ie look at the poor form youve left me to compose in

(apologies sarah for hijacking yr post - but it raised interesting qs for me)

m

> Date: Mon, 28 Feb 2011 13:12:33 -0500
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Call for papers
> To: [redacted]
>
> ?Multiformalism? is a term that the poet, critic, and editor Annie Finch employs to discuss a range of formal poetic traditions, including experimental poems. This capacious word may begin to resolve the limitations of ?formalism? as a discrete genre. In her essay, ?The Trouble with a Word like Formalism,? Anne Stevenson writes, ?In a good poem, as everyone knows, form is inseparable from sense and tone. No poem worthy of the name can be formless?The sounds, rhythms, pitch and intensity of the lines ARE the form. Every poem is its form. A bad or failed poem is one whose form has either been imposed too much upon it, or neglected through ignorance or lack of an ear?? Nevertheless, ?form? continues to be a problematic term in contemporary poetics, particularly in its relationship to history. For female writers and people of color, formal verse is a vexed, yet potentially critical zone. In Playing in the Dark: Whiteness and the Literary Imagination, Toni Morrison writes, ?Those of us who come from traditions of oppression find ourselves estranged from canonical texts, and must fight?against them and our arguments with them?to own them.?
>
> Questions to consider include, but are not limited to, the following:
>
> What are the political valences of formal or multiformal poems in relationship to practice and theory?
>
> How might multiformalism be relevant and even vital in contemporary poetics?
> How might formal poems, even such traditional poetic forms as blank verse, offer versatile and sonically adventurous opportunities for

> disruption and variation?
> How might a revolutionary potentiality inhere in formal poetry, as has been the case in Tahrir Square, where protesters have sung couplet-slogans to galvanize a political movement? How might formal poetry be decolonizing? How might form denaturalize oppressive structures?
> How might formal poetry involve expressive modulation and the possibility of discovery, both of self and other?
> In what ways do traditional and experimental forms provide an efflorescent zone for marginalized communities?
>
> Please send any creative or critical work that delves into ?multiformalism,? employing or discussing traditional or experimental forms to [redacted] by April 15. Please write ?Poetics and Form? in the subject line.
>
> ---
> This message was sent using IMP, the Internet Messaging Program.

↑ Index

32. Russ Golata

1st Mondays @ 11/12 Lounge Orlando Fl.

Wed 2 Mar 2011

1st Mondays @ 11/12 Lounge
11/12 Lounge
843 Lee Road
Orlando Fl 32810
[redacted]begin_of_the_skype_highlighting [redacted] end_of_the_skype_highlighting

Featuring
100th Poetry Special Event
Hosted By Russ Golata
March 7
7:30.
NEW NITE*NEW NITENEW NITENEW NITE
The 100th time Orlando Poets have a voice
COME CELEBRATE WITH US
http://poetry.meetup.com/362/change

↑ Index

33. Rob McLennan
Chaudiere Books: Pearl Pirie
Wed 2 Mar 2011

OTTAWA POET PEARL PIRIE WINS ROBERT KROETSCH AWARD FOR INNOVATIVE POETRY

http://snarebooks.wordpress.com/2011/03/02/the-2011-robert-kroetsch-award-goes-to-pearl-pirie/

while waiting for Pearl Pirie's Snare Book to appear (now that she's won the Robert Kroetsch Award), you can pick up copies of her first trade poetry collection, been shed bore (Chaudiere Books) directly via PayPal through her own website at www.beenshedbore.com or check out information on her book, as well as a number of our other titles (by John Newlove, Michael Bryson, meghan jackson, Clare Latremouille, Anne Le Dressay, Marcus McCann, Nicholas Lea, etc) at www.chaudierebooks.com, with regular updates at www.chaudierebooks.blogspot.com your wayward publisher,

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

34. Samuel Wharton
Fwd: Sawbuck 5.1!
Wed 2 Mar 2011

---

hello faithful readers

spring is coming & with it a new crop of Sawbuck<http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com/>
.

come on over & check out new poems by:

Corey Mesler // Delia Tramontina // Edwin R. Perry
<http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com>
Eli Richardson // Howie Good // Jessica Rainey
<http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com>
Keith Higginbotham // Leigh Vandebogart
<http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com>

Nicholas Michael Ravnikar // Stephen C. Middleton<http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com> hope something in there tickles your eyeballs until next time,

~Samuel Wharton, editor

ps: as always, we are reading for our upcoming issues, so tell your friends!

↑ Index

35. Rosalie Calabrese

Poetry Reading

Wed 2 Mar 2011

Dear Friends,

Sorry for the late announcement:

ARGONAUT SERIES #58 (Poets Corner) SUNDAY, MARCH 6, AT 8:00 PM

Margie Barab

Seymour Barab

Steven Derek Brown

Rosalie Calabrese

Rebecca Dobson

Ilsa Gilbert

Michael Howley

Anje Katcher

Lucy Sorlucco

Mira J. Spektor

Barry Wallenstein

Admission to each presentation: $10

A discussion with the presenters follows each performance.

Refreshments will be served.

Studios 353

353 West 48th Street (between 8th and 9th Avenues), 2nd Floor

New York, NY

FOR RESERVATIONS AND INFORMATION CALL [redacted]

↑ Index

36. Peter ciccariello

A cerebral collaborative series of visual poetry by artists Peter Ciccariello and Mez Breeze

Wed 2 Mar 2011

Eros, than[atos]kfully
Peter Ciccariello & Mez Breeze

An expansive and cerebral collaborative series of visual poetry by artists Peter Ciccariello and Mez Breeze http://tinyurl.com/4bncd3z

-- Peter Ciccariello
http://invisiblenotes.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

37. Ryan Daley

Re: A Sign Monkey Is Watching You

Thu 3 Mar 2011

This is great. I've been reading all your pieces up here lately. Thanks for sharing them!

-Ryan Daley

On Tue, Mar 1, 2011 at 2:51 PM, Obododimma Oha <[redacted]> wrote:

> "A common sign monkey strategy in some major cities in West Africa is to stage a public drama, in the form of a mock fight, auction sales, card games, and so on. Naturally, you would like to stop and watch, or maybe go beyond that to separate the fighters and broker peace. Good. Sign monkey fighters are looking for peace loving fools to separate them."
>
> Read the full text of "A Sign Monkey Is Watching You<
> http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/Editorial/5680619-182/story.csp
> "
> at:
>
> http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/Editorial/5680619-182/story.csp
>
> --
> Obododimma Oha
> http://udude.wordpress.com/
>
> *(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)*
> Dept. of English
> University of Ibadan

> Nigeria
>
> &
>
> Fellow*, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies*
> University of Ibadan
>
> Phone: [redacted];
> [redacted];
> [redacted].

↑ Index

38. Sarah Giragosian

Re: Call for papers

Thu 3 Mar 2011

Hello,
Accepted papers will be published in Barzakh, SUNY Albany's biannual multi-genre journal with an internationalist stance (http://barzakh.net/).
Best,
Sarah Giragosian

Quoting Catherine Daly <[redacted]>:

> And how will you be using these papers?
>
> All best,
> Catherine Daly
>
> On Mon, Feb 28, 2011 at 10:12 AM, Sarah Giragosian
> <[redacted]> wrote:
> ?Multiformalism? is a term that the poet, critic, and editor Annie Finch employs to discuss a range of formal poetic traditions, including experimental poems. This capacious word may begin to resolve the limitations of ?formalism? as a discrete genre. In her essay, ?The Trouble with a Word like Formalism,? Anne Stevenson writes, ?In a good poem, as everyone knows, form is inseparable from sense and tone. No poem worthy of the name can be formless?The sounds, rhythms, pitch and intensity of the lines ARE the form. Every poem is its form. A bad or failed poem is one whose form has either been imposed too much upon it, or neglected through ignorance or lack of an ear?? Nevertheless, ?form? continues to be a problematic term in contemporary poetics, particularly in its relationship to history. For female writers and people of color, formal verse is a vexed, yet potentially critical zone. In Playing in the Dark: Whiteness and the Literary Imagination, Toni Morrison writes, ?Those of us who come from > traditions of oppression find ourselves estranged from canonical texts, and must fight?against them and our arguments with them?to own them.?

>
> Questions to consider include, but are not limited to, the following:
>
> What are the political valences of formal or multiformal poems in relationship to practice and theory?
>
> How might multiformalism be relevant and even vital in contemporary poetics?
> How might formal poems, even such traditional poetic forms as blank verse, offer versatile and sonically adventurous opportunities for disruption and variation?
> How might a revolutionary potentiality inhere in formal poetry, as has been the case in Tahrir Square, where protesters have sung couplet-slogans to galvanize a political movement? How might formal poetry be decolonizing? How might form denaturalize oppressive structures?
> How might formal poetry involve expressive modulation and the possibility of discovery, both of self and other?
> In what ways do traditional and experimental forms provide an efflorescent zone for marginalized communities?
>
> Please send any creative or critical work that delves into ?multiformalism,? employing or discussing traditional or experimental forms to [redacted] by April 15. Please write ?Poetics and Form? in the subject line.

---------- This message was sent using IMP, the Internet Messaging Program.

↑ Index

39. Jared Schickling
Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Thu 3 Mar 2011

---

personally, i'd take brilliant rubes over fair aestheticisms most days, and my sense is the anarchic nirvana might have too – that they're perhaps sympathetic to kesey's wakonda – i wouldn't exactly call in utero, which contains some pre-nevermind tracks, sympathetic (though i would call it empathetic) to feminist politics, while cobain described that last album as a stab at something no one would want to listen to.

although, when vedder was asked why all those grunge musicians wore flannels and thermals, he answered, because it's cold, and his bandmates literally punch a clock at their rehearsal space, logging their commitment. rather “working” class. hence perhaps the pathetic, monotone trajectory of that band.

otherwise, how do we go from the 60s to “rock again claim[ing] cultural center stage in the 1990s” --- seriously????

i’m confused about the notion of a 90s “alternative revolution,” esp. when applied to a grunge ilk whose attitude, though by no means musicianship, seems a remixed punk philosophy. moreover i’ve never heard of the f b i infiltrating the sonic youth scene, which is quite different from the alternative economy of the grateful dead lots of yore. currently, you can find their wagons, dogs and satellites near the front gates of a mathematical phish.

jared
Date: Tue, 1 Mar 2011 09:38:47 -0500
From: CA Conrad <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game

Hmm. This is quite the examination of class Adam. Has anyone else taken a look at this?
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/02/class-and-risk-nirvanas-in-bloom.html

So Nirvana, to be "educated in class" was to not appear to be rubes? Are all working class people rural? "Rube" is a term for "country bumpkin." And what does it mean to be "educated in class" in the first place? What you are saying is that Nirvana is a late 20th century Pymalion experiment then?

And Nirvana was, in attempting to not appear to be rubes, wanting everyone to think that their message was NOT Grunge? Isn't Nirvana the biggest proponent of the Grunge music genre? This is all very confusing because I don't think of Grunge as embodying or embracing the dominant culture but resisting it.

And coming from working class people I can safely say that none of us hold poverty dear to our hearts. Poverty isn't dear. Poverty is frightening. Poverty is something that keeps us up at night made sick with worry.

I'm more confused than anything by these astonishing ideas you put forth,
CAConrad

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

40. Derek Beaulieu

Call for Submissions: dandelion is BUILDING | performance/MACHINE

Thu 3 Mar 2011

Hi folks; I just received this call for submissions from DANDELION magazine, and thought that it might be of interest.  dandelion is BUILDING | performance/MACHINE Editor Kathleen Brown / Assistant Editor Sandy Pool performance/MACHINE is inspired by contemporary avant garde poetic practices, pataphysics, physics physics, devised theatre, and the work of artists who are engaged in collaborative performance practices with computers and machines. Dandelion seeks submissions of work from artists who are experimenting with our relationship to technology and computers in ACTIVE ways through kinetic, digital, interdisciplinary, interactive, poetic practices. The MACHINE invites you to consider how writing, and the genres of writing are translated and re-mediated by the internet and new technologies in the post-print movement. Artists are producing a wealth of online texts, and bodies of work where writing is performed without paper or print. How can science and writing collaborate to redefine genre? What writings are our machines producing and how can we read, and collaborate with them? What does multimedia look like when you combine the materiality of text with the materials of hardware and code? What new codes are we writing to perform collaborations with our machines? Curious about the genus of work we¹re seeking? ŒRead¹ a small sampling of our artistic sources of inspiration here: Antonin Artaud / Alva Noto / Aya Natalia Karpinska / Blast Theory / Kurtis Lesick / J.R. Carpenter / Mark Z. Danielewski / Brion Gysin / Thierry Gauthier Dandelion <http://www.dandelionmag.ca/index.php> encourages your hybrid experiments and welcomes visual and video work as well as text-based submissions. This issue will feature a web-based section for digital/interactive media presentations. Submissions should be 3000 words maximum for fiction/poetry, 10 minutes maximum for video and/or sound work, up to 6 images for visual art, visual poetry, diagrams, charts, etc. Deadline: March 25, 2011 For more information see:http://www.dandelionmag.ca/index.php?id=submissions <http://www.dandelionmag.ca/index.php?id=submissions>

↑ Index

41. Small Press Traffic

Reminder: The Document: Field, Cobb, Morrill

Thu 3 Mar 2011

3/11/11: The Document: Field, Cobb, and Morrill Thank you for your ongoing support of Small Press Traffic! A huge gush of gratitude to the following superstars who comprise our current members:

Curt and Julie Anderson, Brian Ang, Mary Austin, Beau Beausoleil, David Brightman, Laynie Browne, David Buuck, Gail and Robert Buuck, Sarah Anne Cox, Michael Cross, Brent Cunningham, Drew Cushing, Patricia Dienstfrey, Donna de la Perriere and Joseph Lease, Albert F. DeSilver, Stacy Doris and Chet Weiner, Lara Durback, Laura Elrick and Rodrigo Toscano, Simone Fattal and Etel Adnan, Vincent Fecteau , Jennifer Firestone, Kathleen Frumpkin, Gloria Frym, Susan Gevirtz, C.S. Giscombe, Robert Gluck, Robert Haas and Brenda Hillman, Rob Halpern, Lyn Hejinian, Wendy Kramer, Kevin Killian and Dodie Bellamy, Lauren Levin, Nathaniel and Pascale Mackey, Carol Mirakove and Jen Benka, Miranda Mellis, Yedda Morrison, Christian Nagler, Denise Newman, Sandra Phillips, Jody Porter, Sarah Plotkin, Andrea Quaid, Joan Retallack, Kit Robinson, Sarah Rosenthal, Lauren Shufran, Erika Staiti and Kathryn Pringle, Jocelyn Saidenberg, Juliana Spahr and Bill Luoma, Jill Stengel, Asta Sveinsdottir, Eileen Tabios, Brian Teare, Delia Tramontina, Robin Tremblay-McGaw, Anne Waldman, Dr. Paul Watsky, Christine Wertheim, Joy Wheeler, Jessica Wickens and Erin Wilson

Please renew your SPT membership today! There's no better time than now!

You can visit our website - http://cts.vresp.com/c/?SmallPressTraffic/a90a5ed6ee/9cabb49c97/54347f6bbc or drop your renewal in the mail and send to 1111 8thStreet, San Francisco, 94107.

- http://cts.vresp.com/c/?SmallPressTraffic/a90a5ed6ee/9cabb49c97/f4a87c0c35

Friday March 11, 2011, 7:30 p.m.
Macky Hall, CCA
5212 Broadway at College

(Macky Hall is the Victorian Building on the Oakland Campus)

Please join us for what will no doubt be an unforgettable night.

The Document: an investigation in the remains with Thalia Field, Allison Cobb and special guest Erin Morrill

---

Thalia Field has a new collection of interlinked stories: BIRD LOVERS, BACKYARD (New Directions) and a new book-length essay, A PRANK OF GEORGES (co-authored with Abigail Lang and published with Essay Press.) Her other New Directions titles include POINT AND LINE and INCARNATE:STORY MATERIAL, and she published her adaptation of Berg's Lulu, ULULU (CLOWN SHRAPNEL), with Coffee House Press in 2007. Thalia teaches in the Literary Arts department of Brown University.

Allison Cobb is the author of Born2 (Chax Press, 2004) about her hometown of Los Alamos, New Mexico, and Green-Wood (Factory School, 2010) about a famous nineteenth-century cemetery in Brooklyn, New York. Her work combines history, personal narrative, and poetry to address issues of landscape, politics, and ecology. She was a 2009 New York Foundation for the Arts Fellow and received a 2011 Individual Artist Fellowship award from the Oregon Arts Commission. She worked for many years for the Environmental Defense Fund in New York City. She now works for an energy conservation nonprofit in Portland, Oregon.

Erin Morrill was born in Tennessee. She currently lives in San Francisco where she received her MFA in writing at California College of Arts. She has worked with Wolverine Farm Publishing and Kelsey Street Press. She currently co-produces chapbooks for Trafficker Press with Andrew Kenower.

Visit Small Press Traffic's website here - http://cts.vresp.com/c/?SmallPressTraffic/a90a5ed6ee/9cabb49c97/083a0e0376!

-
http://cts.vresp.com/c/?SmallPressTraffic/a90a5ed6ee/9cabb49c97/310850d1d2

_____
Click to view this email in a browser http://hosted.verticalresponse.com/791393/a90a5ed6ee/1470679043/9cabb49c97/

If you no longer wish to receive these emails, please reply to this message with "Unsubscribe" in the subject line or simply click on the following link:
http://cts.vresp.com/u?a90a5ed6ee/9cabb49c97/mlpftw

_____ Small Press Traffic sent this email free of charge using VerticalResponse for Non-Profits. Non-Profits email free. You email affordably.

Small Press Traffic
1111 8th Street

San Francisco, California 94107
US

Read the VerticalResponse marketing policy:
http://www.verticalresponse.com/content/pm_policy.html

↑ Index

42. David Hadbawnik
jack spicer's beowulf
Thu 3 Mar 2011

Hello

Just wanted to highlight a project that's recently been brought out by the wonderful Lost & Found: The CUNY Poetics Document Initiative series: Jack Spicer's Beowulf, edited by me (David Hadbawnik) and Sean Reynolds, including selections from a never-before-seen Beowulf translation that was discovered in Spicer's archive at UC Berkeley. With a huge assist from Kevin Killian, I was able to get this document copied, and Sean and I transcribed parts of it, and wrote an introduction and afterword for the publication.

It's a very exciting find, only exists in Spicer's handwriting, and as our essays explain, helps provide an important context for Spicer as translator and medievalist. Link to the series is here:

http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org/publications

And if you happen to be in New York, my colleague Sean will be speaking about the project at the CUNY chapbook festival tomorrow evening:

http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=19

best,

David

↑ Index

43. Eric Dickey
announcing new poetry website toegoodpoetry.com
Thu 3 Mar 2011

All, A new poetry website launched today. I am the first featured poet. It gives a glimpse of my work-in-progress, The Book of James. Fitting since today is my brother's birthday.

www.toegoodpoetry.com

↑ Index

44. Jonathan Morse
Against easiness
Thu 3 Mar 2011

---

http://jonathan-morse.blogspot.com/2011/03/life-imitates-art-and-ironic-effect-is.html

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

45. Maria Damon

[Fwd: CFP: Iowa Journal of Cultural Studies]

Fri 4 Mar 2011

This is a multi-part message in MIME format.

Content-Language: en-US

Please circulate!

This issue of the Iowa Journal of Cultural Studies seeks to explore the political, social, and cultural significations of “evil” (and its corollary: the “good”) via a critical analysis of the fluid, mutable figure of the “villain,” aiming to examine its construction and its existence in the world.

A few possible perspectives for the study of the villain are:

* The villain as the “natural” being
* The villain as the sacrificial other
* The villain as a figure that defies representation
* The villain as hero
* The villain as non-existent
* The villain as a personification of evil
* The villain as Doppelganger

Diverse approaches to this topic are welcomed and actively encouraged. Possible lenses through which to view the “villain” include, but are not limited to, cultural, film and literary studies, political theory, law and legal theory, studies of colonialism and nationalism, post-humanism, religious studies, economics, visual arts, communication and media studies, and popular culture. We invite submissions from critical and ethnographic scholars across all disciplines.

Please submit two (2) printed copies and one by email by May 6, 2011 to the Iowa Journal of Cultural Studies,

English Department,
308 English-Philosophy Building,

University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa 52242

Contact [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]> with any questions or to send submissions.

We prefer essays no longer than 9,000 words, MLA format. Please keep discursive endnotes to a minimum.

The Iowa Journal of Cultural Studies is a peer-reviewed publication edited by graduate students that mixes traditional approaches and contemporary interventions in the interdisciplinary humanities and interpretive social sciences.

Visit the website at http://www.uiowa.edu/~ijcs/

----------050102030301030104000404--

↑ Index

46. Jonathan Morse

Summer graduate seminar: Visual Rhetoric and Public Culture

Fri 4 Mar 2011

---

http://www.nocaptionneeded.com/2011/03/announcement-seminar-on-visual-rhetoric-and-public-culture/

↑ Index

47. CA Conrad

NY book party w/ Thom Donovan

Fri 4 Mar 2011

COME CELEBRATE WITH US

The publication of our book ARTHUR ECHO poems by CAConrad & Thom Donovan and our muse Arthur Russell

TUESDAY
MARCH 8TH
AT ZEBULON, all details at this link http://caconradevents.blogspot.com/2011/02/3811-reading-with-thom-donovan.html hope you can make it!

we're very excited to read from our new book for you!

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

48. CA Conrad
Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Fri 4 Mar 2011

Here are a couple of invaluable resources for anyone serious about the history of rock and roll:

1: http://www.akpress.org/2004/items/cinderellasbigscorewomenofthepunk

2: http://www.girlstothefront.com/

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

49. Bonnie MacAllister
New Magazine: Certain Circuits (new issue, call for proposals)
Fri 4 Mar 2011

Founded by artists, Certain Circuits publishes poetry, experimental prose, art, and new media. We are especially interested in documenting multimedia collaborative work between artists. Our issue features work from artists in Australia, Brazil, France, Mexico, India, Japan, Oman, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

We've laid out the first online issue here: http://certaincircuits.org. We will continue to post online issues featuring our contributors to version 1.1, and we are curating our first gallery exhibit in Philadelphia featuring a multimedia collaboration between our contributors.

We are currently accepting proposals for multimedia, audio, and art on a rolling basis. Please use the proposals form on the website or send to [redacted] with the subject line "CC PROPOSALS."

Our reading period for poetics and prose is currently closed as we lay out issue 1.1. To receive information about future calls, email [redacted] with the subject line "CC SUBSCRIBE" or follow us on the links provided below.

We are deeply indebted to our subscribers who have funded print issue 1.1 on the Kickstarter <http://kck.st/dY99K4>. To reserve a copy of the issue, please see the Kickstarter <http://kck.st/dY99K4>. We are currently 35% funded thanks to our subscribers' generosity.

PRINT ISSUE Version 1.1 FEATURES:

Art: --Alison Altergott* --Kirsten Ashley* --Eleanor Leonne Bennett* --Helene Constant* --Natalie Felix --Joanna Fulginiti* --Amanda Lovelee* --Ana Viviane

Minorelli* --Jed Mauger Williams* --Ruth Schanbacher* --Cait Spera* --Rachel Udell* --Nico Vassilikas*

Collaborations: --Handmade Philly* --Brian and Ashley Howe* --Horsey* --Radio Eris --Val Broeksmit (Bikini Robot Army) with Burnside Bums --Megan Kelley and Suguna Sridhar --Michelle Wilson* and Mary Tasillo --Jim Tuite and Patrick Morris* --Christopher Gage and Megan Kelley* --Adam Zucker and Jason Maas* --Greg Bem and Linda Thea

Poetry: --Joe Amaral --Courtney Bambrick --Beth Boettcher --Zachary Bushnell --Brooke Bailey --Jane Cassady -- Stuart Cooke --Iris Jamahl Dunkel --Fernando Flores --Alexander Jorgensen* --Jeff Mark --Monica Pace* --Tanya Perkins --Kathleen Radigan* --William Rodeffer* --Suguna Sridhar* --Hal Sirowitz* --Bill Wolak

Prose: --Spencer Carvalho --Stephanie Dickinson* --David Hewitt* --Jeff Siegel*

Multimedia: --Jeff Siegel*

*Appears in current online issue

Main: http://certaincircuits.org
RSS: http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com
Facebook: http://www.facebook.com/certaincircuits
Twitter: http://twitter.com/#!/CertainCircuits
Kickstarter: $10 gets the issue here: http://kck.st/dY99K4

Best,
Bonnie MacAllister
Founder
Certain Circuits
--
Projects:
http://sheshouldhavewrittenit.tumblr.com (play)
http://certaincircuits.org (magazine)

↑ Index

50. D.Buuck
Submit to Tripwire
Fri 4 Mar 2011

Tripwire is now accepting submissions for future issues. See guidelines and themes at http://www.davidbuuck.com/tripwire/submissions.html - Deadline May 1.

Please read guidelines and 'constellations' closely, and check out the online back issues if you'd like - we're not accepting unsolicited poems and really looking for work that 'fits'===

Tripwire, a journal of poetics, was founded in 1998 by Yedda Morrison and David Buuck. Six issues were published between 1998-2002, with a special supplement published in September, 2004 for the RNC protests in New York. In 2011, Tripwire is being re-launched, with several new issues to be announced soon.

What weâ€™re looking for: essays (on contemporary writing, performance, and art), experiments in criticism, poetics statements and investigations, interviews, translations, black and white art work, long-form review essays (that consider several books or authors linked around central themes or questions), performance scores, etc. Please visit the TW website for more specific information.

Tripwire has also launched a microgrant initiative for translators. See the TW homepage (http://www.davidbuuck.com/tripwire/index.html) for more information.

↑ Index

51. Rob McLennan

new from above/ground press: The Peter F. Yacht Club #15 (VERSeFest special);

Fri 4 Mar 2011

The Peter F Yacht Club #15
Edited & compiled & typeset & paid for by rob mclennan
March 2011 ; VERSeFest Ottawa special $5 with new writing by:

Cameron Anstee
Dennis Cooley
Amanda Earl
Lea Graham
Marilyn Irwin
Meghan Jackson
Ben Ladouceur
Marcus McCann
Gil McElroy
David McGimpsey
rob mclennan

Christine McNair
Sean Moreland
Wanda O'Connor
Pearl Pirie
Monty Reid
Karen Solie

issue #15; irregular (very) writers group publication. Edited & compiled & typeset & paid for by rob mclennan in Ottawa, March 2011, VERSeFest Ottawa special, to coincide with the first ever annual VERSeFest, Ottawa's newest poetry festival, March 8-13, 2011, as well as being above/ground press' 600th publication!

published in Ottawa by above/ground press, March 2011
a/g subscribers receive a complimentary copy
write for submission/subscription info, c/o 858 Somerset
Street West, main floor, Ottawa ON K1R 6R7,
or check out [redacted] or abovegroundpress.blogspot.com

To order, send cheques (add $1 for postage; outside Canada, add $2 & in US $) to: rob mclennan, 858 Somerset Street West, main floor, Ottawa Ontario Canada K1R 6R7. copies will also be available at Ottawa's first annual VERSeFest Poetry Festival, March 8-13, 2011; www.versefest.ca

Previous issues still available (possibly) at $5 each. Issue #1, August 2003, edited by rob mclennan; Issue #2, April 2004, edited by Anita Dolman (out of print); Issue #3, September 2004, edited by Peter Norman and Melanie Little (out of print); Issue #4, September 2005, edited by rob mclennan; Issue #5, April 2006, edited by Max Middle; Issue #6, mis-numbered Calgary issue, February 2007, edited by Laurie Fuhr; Issue #7, writers festival issue, April 2007, edited by rob mclennan; Issue #8, Edmonton issue, October 2007, produced at the University of Alberta, edited by rob mclennan; Issue #9, Fredericton issue, January 2008, edited by Jesse Patrick Ferguson in The Poets' Corner (Fredericton, New Brunswick), and produced at the University of Alberta; Issue #10, in by one, out by four special, March 2008, produced at the University of Alberta, edited by rob mclennan; Issue #11, Edmonton issue the second, May 2008, produced at the University of Alberta, edited by rob mclennan; Issue #12, Fifth anniversary issue: Anarchy, Apocalypse, & Madness, September 2008, edited by Amanda Earl; Issue #13, lucky thirteen the white album, June 2009, edited by rob mclennan; Issue #14, from one centre to anothera Toronto issue. March 2010, edited by rob mclennan.

http://www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com/

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press

fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

52. Adam Fieled

Internet Theory (I.T.) Blog

Fri 4 Mar 2011

The Internet Theory (I.T.) posts from Stoning the Devil have been consolidated onto a blog:

http://internettheory.blogspot.com

I welcome comments and observations.

Many Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

53. Camille Martin

New @ Rogue Embryo

Sat 5 Mar 2011

@ Rogue Embryo
http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com

* Sampling Jay Millar's Other Poems http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/03/05/sampling-jay-millars-other-poems/

* Sonnet workshop - Toronto New School of Writing http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/03/03/sonnet-workshop-at-tnsow/

Cheers!
Camille Martin

Sonnets:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781848610705/sonnets.aspx

Codes of Public Sleep:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781897388112/codes-of-public-sleep.aspx

↑ Index

54. amy king
Poets and Artists
Sat 5 Mar 2011

New issue of Poets and Artists has interviews with Reb Livingston, Kim Roberts and me.
http://poetsandartists.com/

****

VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

55. amy king
cow heavy books & about a fish
Sat 5 Mar 2011

SLAVES TO DO THESE THINGS by Amy King
Reviewed by Cow Heavy Books

SLAVES TO DO THESE THINGS by Amy King
Reviewed by: Wendy Babiak

http://www.cowheavybooks.com/reviews/2011/2/22/slaves-to-do-these-things.html

~~~~~~

â€˜About a Fishâ€™ by Ana Bozicevic read @ Whale Sound-- http://whalesound.wordpress.com/2011/03/02/about-a-fish-by-ana-bozicevic/

****

VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index
~~~~~~

56. Mark Johnson
Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Sat 5 Mar 2011

Anybody who thinks rock reclaimed the cultural center stage in the 90s wasn't listening. Hip-hop was easily as strong by then -hugely popular, generating millions of dollars, adding words to the language, changing the way people dressed, capturing the attention of young people around the world in a way that grunge did not. But you'd never guess it from Adam Fieled's piece.

Mark

On Fri, Mar 4, 2011 at 5:26 AM, CA Conrad <[redacted]> wrote:

> Here are a couple of invaluable resources for anyone serious about the history of rock and roll:
>
> 1: http://www.akpress.org/2004/items/cinderellasbigscorewomenofthepunk
>
> 2: http://www.girlstothefront.com/
>
> --
> PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com
>
> THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

57. David M. Levine
Re: jack spicer's beowulf
Sun 6 Mar 2011

wowee, thanks.

On Thu, Mar 3, 2011 at 2:38 PM, David Hadbawnik <[redacted]>wrote:

> Hello
>
> Just wanted to highlight a project that's recently been brought out by the wonderful Lost & Found: The CUNY Poetics Document Initiative series: Jack Spicer's Beowulf, edited by me (David Hadbawnik) and Sean Reynolds, including selections from a never-before-seen Beowulf translation that was discovered in Spicer's archive at UC Berkeley.

> With a huge assist from Kevin Killian, I was able to get this document copied, and Sean and I transcribed parts of it, and wrote an introduction and afterword for the publication.
>
> It's a very exciting find, only exists in Spicer's handwriting, and as our essays explain, helps provide an important context for Spicer as translator and medievalist. Link to the series is here:
>
> http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org/publications
>
> And if you happen to be in New York, my colleague Sean will be speaking about the project at the CUNY chapbook festival tomorrow evening:
>
> http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=19
>
> best,
>
> David

↑ Index

58. Rachel Loden

Trigilio & Loden at Columbia College Chicago

Sun 6 Mar 2011

Tony Trigilio and Rachel Loden at Columbia College Chicago

Wednesday, March 9
Tony Trigilio and Rachel Loden
Columbia College Chicago
Hokin Hall, 623 S. Wabash, Room 109
Chicago, IL
5:30 pm
Free and open to the public http://www.poets.org/viewevent.php/prmEventID/9631 or http://www.colum.edu/Academics/English_Department/News_and_Events/Events.php
Contact: [redacted]

TONY TRIGILIO’s books include the poetry collections Historic Diary (BlazeVOX Books, 2011) and The Lama's English Lessons (Three Candles Press, 2006), and the critical monographs Allen Ginsberg's Buddhist Poetics (Southern Illinois University Press, 2007) and “Strange Prophecies Anew” (Fairleigh Dickinson University Press, 2000). With Tim Prchal, he co-edited the anthology, Visions and Divisions: American Immigration Literature, 1870-1930 (Rutgers University Press, 2008). He is a member of the core poetry faculty at Columbia College Chicago and co-edits Court Green.

RACHEL LODEN is the author of Dick of the Dead (Ahsahta Press), a finalist for both the 2010 PEN USA Literary Award in Poetry and the California Book Award. Loden’s first book, Hotel Imperium (Georgia), won the Contemporary Poetry Series competition. New work appears in Lana Turner: A Journal of Poetry and Opinion and is forthcoming in Volt and New American Writing. She is the recipient of a Pushcart Prize, a Fellowship in Poetry from the California Arts Council, an &NOW Award, and a grant from the Fund for Poetry.

↑ Index

59. Obododimma Oha

Re: A Sign Monkey Is Watching You

Sun 6 Mar 2011

Many thanks, Peter, Ryan, and Anny.
-- Obododimma.

On Wed, Mar 2, 2011 at 11:33 PM, Ryan Daley <[redacted]> wrote:

> This is great. I've been reading all your pieces up here lately. Thanks for sharing them!
>
> -Ryan Daley
>
> On Tue, Mar 1, 2011 at 2:51 PM, Obododimma Oha <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> "A common sign monkey strategy in some major cities in West Africa is to stage a public drama, in the form of a mock fight, auction sales, card games, and so on. Naturally, you would like to stop and watch, or maybe go > beyond that to separate the fighters and broker peace. Good. Sign monkey fighters are looking for peace loving fools to separate them."
>
> Read the full text of "A Sign Monkey Is Watching
> You<
>
> http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/Editorial/5680619-182/story.csp
> "
> at:

> http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/Editorial/5680619-182/story.csp
>
> --
> Obododimma Oha
> http://udude.wordpress.com/
>
> *(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)*
> Dept. of English
> University of Ibadan
> Nigeria
>
> &
>
> Fellow*, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies*
> University of Ibadan
>
> Phone: [redacted];
> [redacted];
> [redacted].
>
> guidelines

--
Obododimma Oha
http://udude.wordpress.com/

(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)
Dept. of English
University of Ibadan
Nigeria

&

Fellow, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies
University of Ibadan

Phone: [redacted];
[redacted];
[redacted].

↑ Index

60. Joel Weishaus
"John Haines, a Poet of the Wild, Dies as 86"
Sun 6 Mar 2011

http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/05/arts/05haines.html?_r=1&scp=1&sq=John%20Haines&st=cse

↑ Index

61. Ryan Daley
Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Sun 6 Mar 2011

Certainly true: hip hop was huge in the 90s, whereas grunge, while also popular, largely lost a lot of bite after Nirvana. One got the sense that grunge had been tamed by the industry it purported to reject. Hip hop, on the other hand, in embracing commercialism (at least later) has been able to subvert the fame it claims to want to be a part of. One example of this is when we look at lyrics and the "tameness" of the music. Hip hop has grown more complex, more varied and much more genre-expanding than it was in the 90s. This isn't to say that many of the artists now weren't at work 10-20 years ago (Mos Def, Talib Kweli, Jay Z, all were); perhaps hip hop has been allowed to mature in ways grunge never could.

On Sat, Mar 5, 2011 at 10:39 PM, Mark Johnson <[redacted]>wrote:

> Anybody who thinks rock reclaimed the cultural center stage in the 90s wasn't listening. Hip-hop was easily as strong by then -hugely popular, generating millions of dollars, adding words to the language, changing the way people dressed, capturing the attention of young people around the world > in a way that grunge did not. But you'd never guess it from Adam Fieled's piece.
>
> Mark
>
> On Fri, Mar 4, 2011 at 5:26 AM, CA Conrad <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Here are a couple of invaluable resources for anyone serious about the history of rock and roll:
>
> 1: http://www.akpress.org/2004/items/cinderellasbigscorewomenofthepunk
>
> 2: http://www.girlstothefront.com/

> --
> PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com
>
> THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com
>
> guidelines

↑ Index

62. Stephen Ellis
Blog
Sun 6 Mar 2011

---

http://proposia.blogspot.com

↑ Index

63. Mary Kasimor
Re: jack spicer's beowulf
Sun 6 Mar 2011

I am not that familiar with Jack Spicer. I just knew his name. Several months ago I picked up one of his books--well known, but can't remember it right now. He IS a wonderful poet. I am happy that I finally decided to read him--after all these years. Yes, wowee, for another Jack Spicer find.

--- On Sun, 3/6/11, David M. Levine <[redacted]> wrote:

From: David M. Levine <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: jack spicer's beowulf
To: [redacted]
Date: Sunday, March 6, 2011, 1:54 AM

wowee, thanks.

On Thu, Mar 3, 2011 at 2:38 PM, David Hadbawnik <[redacted]>wrote:

> Hello
>
> Just wanted to highlight a project that's recently been > brought out by the wonderful Lost & Found: The CUNY Poetics Document > Initiative series: Jack Spicer's Beowulf, edited by me (David Hadbawnik)
> and
> Sean
> Reynolds, including selections from a never-before-seen Beowulf > translation that was discovered in Spicer's archive at UC Berkeley.
> With a huge assist from Kevin Killian, I was able to get this document > copied, and Sean and I transcribed parts of it, and wrote an introduction and afterword for the publication.

>
> It's a very exciting find, only exists in Spicer's handwriting, and as our essays explain, helps provide an important context for Spicer as translator and medievalist. Link to the series is here:
>
> http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org/publications
>
> And if you happen to be in New York, my colleague Sean will be speaking about the project at the CUNY chapbook festival tomorrow evening:
>
> http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=19
>
> best,
>
> David

↑ Index

64. Mark Young

Now out from Otoliths — Arpine Konyalian Grenier's "The Concession Stand"

Sun 6 Mar 2011

The Concession Stand: Exaptation at the Margins

Arpine Konyalian Grenier

84 pages

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9807651-5-1

$16.95 + p&h

URL: http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/the-concession-stand-exaptation-at-the-margins/14735087
(currently on sale at a 20% discount to the rrp)

Will also be available through Amazon later this month

Arpine is one of the few living American writers to whose works the term "profound" may be meaningfully affixed. She has as capacious a consciousness as any I have ever encountered: Science weds Philosophy and yields the Poetic and the Fictive (in Wallace Stevens' sense). Her mind is fertile like the garden and pond of Giverny. To fully appreciate her writings one must strive to emulate her genius for synthesizing the currents of a personal and intellectual history. We should not be surprised if we do not accomplish this overnight — although Dream is indeed another state of Being and Becoming: A Rainbow at Midnight, and A Dawn Eclipse. — Gerald Locklin, California State University, Long Beach

In Armenian, we learn, the word for money is the mirror image — the antigram — of the word for human. In her focus on the word as the smallest unit of composition, Arpine Konyalian Grenier’s essays and memoirs light the darkest corridors of history and disaster. That's her method. In practice, she provides a deft gloss on Fanon's notion of occult instability, locating it in language, more precisely in poetry, and always in music. Her wisdom comes not from the bookshelf, though she is the most learned essayist I know, but from life itself, or from cultural memory and its subtractions. Through her observations a longing absence ferociously prowls, growling like a lion. — Kevin Killian, Novelist, Poet, Playwright

Konyalian Grenier's The Concession Stand makes language take new turns. Her essays are poems, really. Her quest is to understand what it means to be human, in terms of poetry; she takes us along, thinking, listening, reading, laughing and seeing the world for what it is. —Jonathan Cohen, Stony Brook University

******

The print parts of Otoliths #20 are now available from The Otoliths Storefront <http://stores.lulu.com/l_m_young>.

↑ Index

65. Jared Schickling
Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Mon 7 Mar 2011

---

or that "rock reclaimed the cultural center stage in the 90s" erases (somehow) the 80s and 70s or that grunge actually dies on its Pop stage in the 90s emerging and thriving early-mid 80s

re: hip hop, the fascinating series Graffiti Verite postulates on the necessary switch from hip hop and dance to the silent and persecuted performance art in abandoned yards

> Date: Sun, 6 Mar 2011 12:05:56 -0500
> From: Ryan Daley <[redacted]>

> Subject: Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
>
> Certainly true: hip hop was huge in the 90s, whereas grunge, while also popular, largely lost a lot of bite after Nirvana. One got the sense that grunge had been tamed by the industry it purported to reject. Hip hop, on the other hand, in embracing commercialism (at least later) has been able to subvert the fame it claims to want to be a part of. One example of this is when we look at lyrics and the "tameness" of the music. Hip hop has grown more complex, more varied and much more genre-expanding than it was in the 90s. This isn't to say that many of the artists now weren't at work 10-20 years ago (Mos Def, Talib Kweli, Jay Z, all were); perhaps hip hop has been allowed to mature in ways grunge never could.
>
> On Sat, Mar 5, 2011 at 10:39 PM, Mark Johnson <[redacted]>wrote:
>
> Anybody who thinks rock reclaimed the cultural center stage in the 90s wasn't listening. Hip-hop was easily as strong by then -hugely popular, generating millions of dollars, adding words to the language, changing the way people dressed, capturing the attention of young people around the world > in a way that grunge did not. But you'd never guess it from Adam Fieled's piece.
>
> Mark

↑ Index

66. Angela Vasquez-Giroux

Re: jack spicer's beowulf

Mon 7 Mar 2011

---

this is incredible!

On Sun, Mar 6, 2011 at 2:54 AM, David M. Levine <[redacted]> wrote:

> wowee, thanks.
>
> On Thu, Mar 3, 2011 at 2:38 PM, David Hadbawnik <[redacted]
> wrote:
>
> Hello
>
> Just wanted to highlight a project that's recently been > brought out by the wonderful Lost & Found: The CUNY Poetics Document > Initiative series: Jack Spicer's Beowulf, edited by me (David Hadbawnik)
> and
> Sean
> Reynolds, including selections from a never-before-seen Beowulf > translation that was discovered in Spicer's archive at UC Berkeley. With a huge assist from Kevin Killian, I was able to get this document copied, and Sean and I transcribed parts of it, and wrote an introduction and afterword for the publication.

>
> It's a very exciting find, only exists in Spicer's handwriting, and as our essays explain, helps provide an important context for Spicer as translator and medievalist. Link to the series is here:
>
> http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org/publications
>
> And if you happen to be in New York, my colleague Sean will be speaking about the project at the CUNY chapbook festival tomorrow evening:
>
> http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org/index.php?option=com_content&view=article&id=19
>
> best,
>
> David
>
> guidelines

↑ Index

67. Murat Nemet-Nejat

Ref.:: Letters to Distant Cities: Release Event

Mon 7 Mar 2011

LETTERS TO DISTANT CITIES
WITH SHARA WORDEN + MY BRIGHTEST DIAMOND
CLARE + THE REASONS
ROB MOOSE (SUFJAN STEVENS, ANTONY & THE JOHNSONS)

*POETRY BY MUSTAFA ZIYALAN, CURATED + PRODUCED BY *
PHOTO/VIDEOGRAPHER MURAT EYUBOGLU
*
*
MULTIMEDIA BOX SET WITH AUDIO + HIGH-QUALITY POSTCARDS
*
*

ISSUED MAR. 29 ON NEW AMSTERDAM RECORDS
* *
*
*
Release show at The powerHouse in DUMBO on Monday, March 21
*
*
*
*
New Amsterdam Records welcomes singer-songwriters* Shara Worden* (of My Brightest Diamond) and* Clare Muldaur Manchon* (of Clare and the Reasons), along with indie-classical multi-instrumentalist/composer* Rob Moose*, collaborators in the enchanted and melancholy* Letters to Distant Cities*, a multi-media project curated and produced by photographer and videographer*Murat Eyuboglu
*, exploring urban solitude through the poetry of Turkish-American poet,*Mustafa Ziyalan
*.

The album will be re-created in a* multi-media release event* at* The powerHouse Arena* on* Monday, March 21 (7 pm)* featuring* live performances*by Worden, Moose, Manchon, as well as readings of the poetry in the original Turkish by Ziyalan with English readings of the translations by Worden, and a video for each of the albums songs (The Sea and Invisible), produced by Eyuboglu (available online only). To round out the evening, Worden and Manchon will perform a few extra tunes of their own, not included on the album. Tickets are $10 at the door. www.powerhousearena.com

Letters to Distant Cities, released* Tuesday, March 29*, is a spoken-word album bookended by two original songs: My Brightest Diamond's* The Sea* and Clare and the Reasons'* Invisible*.* The Sea* opens the album and cracks the door to a mythical realm, into which Shara Worden enters and embodies the female persona of Ziyalan's poetry, speaking the texts of 24 poetic snapshots, connected by Rob Moose's incidental reflections and interventions for violin. After the poetry,* Invisible* closes the album, drifting wistfully to its bittersweet conclusion.

Says fellow poet Murat Nemet-Nejat: "In Ziyalan's work one can see the impulse of the Turkish language in the 20th Century to represent a social reality beyond national borders. It points to the prophetic nature of Turkish poetry becoming a medium for a global sensibility - the psychic dislocations globalism creates in consciousness."

An excerpt from* Letters to Distant Cities*:

She'd save tarred puppies,
write letters to distant cities,
run ahead, keep her eyes peeled for them, whisper to every tree, every shadow along the sidewalks, along the streets, try to collect the scattered stars
every time her head bumped into the Milky Way.

In addition to the CD, the album package includes a set of 24 pristine keepsake cards, comprising a photographic illustration for each of Zilayan's poems collected on the recording. The images were captured by project visionary Murat Eyuboglu with model Jamie Ansley. Designer Adam Frint brings musical, poetic, and photographic elements together, creating a physical connection to the album's sense of memorabilia.

M O R E A B O U T T H E A R T I S T S

Singer-songwriter and multi-instrumentalist* SHARA WORDEN* spearheads the indie-folk band My Brightest Diamond. With a background in classical music, Worden studied opera at the University of North Texas and Manhattan School of Music, and studied composition with composer/performer Padma Newsome (Clogs, The National). My Brightest Diamond involves elements of rock and classical music, with the combined sound of instrumentalists Rob Moose, Earl Harvin, Chris Bruce, and Zac Rae. Their first record,* Bring Me the Workhorse*, was released on Asthmatic Kitty Records in 2006. Their sophomore album,* A Thousand Shark's Teeth*, was released in 2008.

Recent years have found Worden collaborating as much as songwriting. Last October, New Amsterdam's own Sarah Kirkland-Snider released the song cycle,*Penelope , featuring Worden on vocals. On the rock side, Worden sang the role of The Queen for The Decemberists' rock opera, The Hazards of Love*. She was heard on Sufjan Stevens' albums* Illinois* and* The Age of Adz*, dueted with David Byrne for his album* Here Lies Love*, and she sang in Padma Newsome's chamber ensemble, Clogs, for* The Creatures in the Garden of Lady Walton*. Worden also performed with Bryce and Aaron Dessner in* The Long Count*theater production at BAM.

Clare and the Reasons, fronted by collaborators* CLARE MULDAUR MANCHON* and Olivier Manchon, is a Brooklyn-based indie-pop outfit started in 2005. Live, they have a steady list of contributors, with a host of acoustic instruments -- cellos, violas, things to hit, kazoos, baby kotos, saws, recorders, and a bass drum that says "Kaboom" on it. Clare and the Reasons deliver an assortment of meticulously constructed and arranged songs. Walking the line between musical maturity and sophistication and primal, childlike musical instincts, Clare and the Reaons floats between both worlds, comfortably.

After two years touring their first album, "The Movie," which included contributions from Van Dyke Parks and Sufjan Stevens, they announced the arrival of their sophomore album this past fall. "Arrow" (Frog Stand Records) features a special guest appearance from Shara Worden of My Brightest Diamond, and has gathered a swarm of acclaim since its release.

A graduate of the Manhattan School of Music in violin performance,* ROB MOOSE* has established an exciting and eclectic presence as performer, arranger and conductor in the rapidly changing atmosphere of contemporary music. Since joining Antony and the Johnsons in 2005, Moose has also toured with Sufjan Stevens, Beth Orton and Duncan Sheik, and recorded with Vampire Weekend, Grizzly Bear, Arcade Fire, The National, Ryuichi Sakamoto, Rufus Wainwright and Marianne Faithfull.

In 2009, he co-arranged and music directed* The Long Count*, a multimedia song cycle commissioned by the Brooklyn Academy of Music's Next Wave Festival. Elsewhere, his arrangements have been performed and recorded by Antony, Loudon Wainwright, Punch Brothers, Elizabeth and the Catapult and Bon Iver. Moose recently performed for President Obama on national television, playing guitar and violin in support of Renee Fleming's album, "Dark Hope."

MUSTAFA ZIYALAN's poetry, short fiction, essays and poetry translations have appeared in many literary periodicals, anthologies (most recently in*New European Poets ) and also in book form. Istanbul Noir*, an anthology of short fiction he co-edited with Amy Spangler, was published by Akashic Books in 2008. His most recent volume of poetry,* Land of Smiles/GÃ¼lÃ¼msemeler Ãœlkesi*, a bilingual collection of poetry with original woodcuts by Vladimir Ginzburg, was published in 2009.* Su Kedileri* (Water Cats), a collection of short fiction, came out in 2005,* YakÅ¾lacak Kentlerden* (From Cities Slated to Burn), a collection of travel writing with original photography by Murat EyÃ¼bogËœlu, in 2007,* Manhattan'da SÂ¸iir KonusÂ¸malarÅ¾* (Poetry Talks in Manhattan), a collection of writings on poets and poetry, in 2009.

He was born at the Black Sea coast of Turkey and worked as a general practitioner and coroner in a rural Anatolian village. He now lives and practices psychiatry in New York. He has worked with torture victims, inmates, children abusing volatile substances, pathological gamblers, and persons with HIV.

MURAT EYUBOGLU started photography as an apprentice to Josephine Powell in Istanbul. After attending the Academy of Fine Arts, School of Photography (Istanbul), he transferred to Bennington College, Vermont, where he studied music, literature and philosophy. He lived in Paris and returned to

New York to pursue studies in music history. His dissertation was on the utopian aspects of Gustav Mahler's works. Since 2000 he has focused mainly on portraiture and has been working on various collaborative projects. In 2007, he also started working in video. He participated in the documentary Claude LÃ©vi-Strauss: AuprÃ¨s de l'Amazonie as assistant director. His photographs have been published by the French edition of National Geographic and his music videos have been released by Asthmatic Kitty Records and New Amsterdam Records. He lives in New York City.

ADAM FRINT is a Chicago-based graphic designer with a love for music and typography, an appreciation for illustration, and a passion for fine art black and white photography. A senior designer at AGI, a global leader in design, packaging, print and production for the entertainment (movie, music and gaming) industry, Adam has had the opportunity to work with many great clients ranging from the Sony Group, Walt Disney Studios, EMI Music, HBO and Warner Home Video. He is a graduate of Northern Illinois University with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Visual Communication and a Minor in Photography and a founding member of the online design community, c2ak.com. He has been affiliated with, and draws inspiration from, local designers and artists from Lumpen Magazine, Chicago Country Club, CPG (Chicago Screen Printer's Guild), ADLOVE, OhNo!Doom and Prairie Mod.

New Amsterdam Records is distributed by NAXOS of America and can be found online at www.newamsterdamrecords.com.

The powerHouse Arena is located at 37 Main Street in DUMBO, Brooklyn. Call 212/[redacted].

--

Mustafa Ziyalan

ziyalan AT mindspring DOT com
http://ziyalan.com/marmara/2009.html
******

↑ Index

68. Alan Sondheim

Michael Moore's Wisconsin speech - (fwd)

Mon 7 Mar 2011

Please watch if you haven't already - Alan http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wgNuSEZ8CDw&feature=player_embedded

- Thanks, Alan

==
email archive: http://sondheim.rupamsunyata.org/
webpage http://www.alansondheim.org
music archive: http://www.espdisk.com/alansondheim/current text http://www.alansondheim.org/qx.txt
==

↑ Index

69. Jennifer Karmin

March 12: Severance Songs reading in Chicago

Mon 7 Mar 2011

Severance Songs:
a book release party for
Joshua Corey

Saturday, March 12th
7pm

With readings by Chicago writers:
Robert Archambeau
John Beer
Ray Bianchi
Joel Craig
Chris Green
Jennifer Karmin
Simone Muench
Kristy Odelius
Larry Sawyer
Davis Schneiderman
Tony Trigilio

at The Book Cellar
4736-38 N. Lincoln Ave
Chicago, Illinois
http://www.bookcellarinc.com
Free

Joshua Corey brings his third collection of poetry, Severance Songs to the Book Cellar for its Chicago launch party. Severance Songs, winner of the 2008 Dorset Prize from Tupelo press, is a sequence of unrhymed sonnets, written in the wake of 9/11. The poems live in the contraditions that exist within sardonic lyricism and dark humor.

A celebration of the sonnet, the reading of the new book of poetry by Corey will be interwoven by readings of new and classic sonnets by a cavalcade of Chicago poets.

↑ Index

70. Steven Zultanski

SEGUE PRESENTS: MICHAEL GOTTLIEB + LONELY CHRISTOPHER

Mon 7 Mar 2011

SEGUE PRESENTS:

MICHAEL GOTTLIEB + LONELY CHRISTOPHER

This Saturday, March 12th

SEGUE READING SERIES
BPC
4 PM
$6

March 12th - Michael Gottlieb + Lonely Christopher

MICHAEL GOTTLIEB has published fourteen books of poetry including The Likes of Us, Lost and Found, Gorgeous Plunge, and Ninety-Six Tears. His new book of prose, Memoir And Essay, was just published to wide acclaim by Faux/Other.

LONELY CHRISTOPHER is the author of the short story collection The Mechanics of Homosexual Intercourse, several poetry chapbooks, and Into (with Christopher Sweeney and Robert Snyderman). He is a founding member of the smallpress The Corresponding Society and an editor of its biannual journal Correspondence.

Saturday, March 12th
4-6 PM
The Bowery Poetry Club, 308 Bowery
$6 admission goes to readers

February/March Segue Readings are curated by Nada Gordon and Steven Zultanski. The Segue Reading Series is made possible by the support of The Segue Foundation. Visit seguefoundation.com, bowerypoetry.com, or call [redacted] for more information.

UP NEXT:

March 19th - Dodie Bellamy + Chris Sylvester

↑ Index

71. Micah Robbins

Sous Les Pavés III

Tue 8 Mar 2011

Sous Les Pavés III (largely given over to individuals with first-hand experience of the protests in the UK and entirely dedicated to the spirit of dissent and revolt) is now available and features work by:

Jay James May
Lara Buckerton
Frances Kruk
Susan Briante
Francesca Lisette
Goat Far DT
Richard Owens
Sean Bonney
Justin Katko
Elliott Colla
Debrah Morkun
Tomas Weber
Linh Dinh
Danny Hayward
Keston Sutherland
Pocahontis Mildew
Sommer Browning
Collective Anon
j/j hastain
David Hadbawnik

Sous Les Pavés is a FREE bi-monthly publication distributed by mailing list only and funded by the generous donations of its readers. If you find this publication of value, please consider donating at http://interbirthbooks.com/?page_id=161 (we cannot carry on without your material support).

Out-of-print back issues can be read, downloaded and printed for FREE at http://souslespavesonline.wordpress.com/

To join the mailing list, please forward your physical mailing address to [redacted]

Yrs.

Micah Robbins

↑ Index

72. Rob McLennan

new(ish) on rob's clever blog

Tue 8 Mar 2011

-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Richard Froude
-- new from above/ground press: The Peter F. Yacht Club + Reid, Graham, mclennan, Brighton,
-- Recipes from the Red Planet, Meredith Quartermain
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Peter Darbyshire
-- Declining America, Rob Budde
-- Glengarry; home for my father's cancer surgery
-- Pearl Pirie wins the 2011 Robert Kroetsch Award for Experimental Poetry!
-- Ottawa's first annual VERSeFest Poetry Festival, March 8-13, 2011
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: John Calabro on Quattro Books
-- On reviewing: rob mclennan (lemon hound);
-- Robert Creeley and Lorine Niedecker: two vernaculars
-- the ottawa small press book fair, spring 2011;
-- The Olive Reading Series: season eleven
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Pam Brown
-- rob mclennan + Dennis Cooley etc at Montreal's Pilot Reading Series
-- 10th Annual Diana Brebner Prize for Poetry
-- VERSeFest: Monty Reid + Marcus McCann lectures, March 11, 2011
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Jesse Glass
-- Van Gogh's Ear: Gabrielle McIntire, Amanda Earl + rob mclennan reading
-- v-day (if we have to); (or, what a difference a year makes
-- The Dusty Owl Reading Series: February 20 + March 6
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Ken Edwards on Reality Street
-- What I might have written about George Bowering
-- Brenda Hillman: Pieces of Air in the Epic and Practical Water
-- fwd; The Puritan, issue 12, winter 2011 now availa...
-- 12 or 20 questions: with Deb Olin Unferth
-- Paul Auster's Sunset Park, a novel
-- syrinx and systole, words arranged by matthew remski
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Jason Dewinetz on Greenboathouse
-- Hard Feelings, Sheryda Warrener
-- ottawater #7 ; launch photo by Richard Tetrault
-- (another) very short story;
-- PLEASE SHARE AND DISTRIBUTE: call for submissions
-- 12 or 20 questions: with Greg Santos
-- the seventh issue of ottawater is now on-line!
-- the red notebooks; a new e-chapbook by rob mclennan

-- jwcurry's Messagio Galore Take VII; event report,
-- RE: READING THE POSTMODERNISM, ed. Robert David Stacey

www.robmclennan.blogspot.com

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

73. Susan Webster Schultz newish on Tinfish Editor's blog
Tue 8 Mar 2011

Some new posts on travel & memory.

Maged Zaher, train & bus stories, & the corporate ... <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/03/maged-zaher-train-bus-stories-corporate.html>
An Albert Saijo memory card: on taking Kaia Sand's... <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/02/albert-saijo-memory-card-on-taking-kaia.html>

* Warehouse Cafe, SE Portland <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/02/warehouse-cafe-sw-portland.html>
* Mother news, 2/23/11 <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/02/mother-news-22311.html>
* Why memory? <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/02/why-memory.html>

aloha, Susan M. Schultz

↑ Index

74. Obododimma Oha
Libya, a Feast for All
Tue 8 Mar 2011

"Libya is currently the menu served to the world and diverse interest groups have the opportunity of engaging their appetite. It is time to help Gaddafi devour his own people. The feast is ready but the devourers are still few."

The full text of "Libya, a Feast for All<http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/5681868-184/story.csp>" can be accessed at:

http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/5681868-184/story.csp

--
Obododimma Oha
http://udude.wordpress.com/

(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)
Dept. of English
University of Ibadan
Nigeria

&

Fellow, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies
University of Ibadan

Phone: [redacted];
[redacted];
[redacted].

↑ Index

75. Bonnie MacAllister

Green Light Arts Reading Series (Thursday, Friday, and Saturday)

Tue 8 Mar 2011

Green Light Arts invites you to our reading series at The Shubin Theatre, 407 Bainbridge Street

March 10-12th, Thursday, Friday and Saturday night all at 7pm

These events are free however donations of any amount are welcome and appreciated!

We will also have 2011 Artist Memberships available for $24

All readings will feature a short post-show talk back and wine reception

Featuring works by Debra Leigh Scott, Jackie Ruggerio Jacobson, and Bonnie MacAllister

Thursday, March 10th at 7pm

“Days of Obligation” by Debra Leigh Scott

Directed by Debra Leigh Scott

Featuring Denise Shubin, Pam Dollak, Karina Croskrey, Michael Onori, Marc Forget and Colin Wolfe

This play takes place in the home of Gilbert and Mitzi Keegan Fay, in the Virginia/D.C. area. Gilbert is retired military. Mitzi is ex-beauty queen/Southern Belle. The time is mid-1980s, late October. Diana Fay Fletcher returns home after fifteen years of estrangement with her family, with a Ph.D. in Buddhism and a Boston Brahmin husband. Cindy, her younger sister, has just returned home, too -- from two years at The Virginia Correctional Center for Women -- with a drug habit and a dangerous boyfriend we never see. Mitzi has just undergone a mastectomy and chemotherapy, but has not been told of her very negative prognosis. Her husband has decided to keep that a secret from her. This is not a loving family. No one's motives are pure.

Friday, March 11th at 7pm

“Magdalene” by Jackie Ruggiero Jacobson

Directed by Ashley Kearns

Featuring Siobhan Groves and Joe Sabatino

Magdalene chooses exotic dancing as a way to rescue her sexuality from a fundamental Christian past. Paul, her first love deceased for two years, materializes in the no man’s land of her dressing room. As they reenact their adolescent courtship boundaries between consent and violation dissolve. For Magdalene being watched becomes an act of courage, and Paul is a reminder that what she leaves behind will never die.

Saturday, March 12th at 7pm

Multimedia performance and works by Bonnie MacAllister

Featuring the one act play, “She Should Have Written It: A Story of Bohemian Surveillance”

Starring Celeste Walker*, Maleka Fruean and Dan Baker

The play reveals what happens when a DIY artist and street dancer in the Free Republic discovers an unauthorized live feed on three channels.

Also featuring trunk sale by http://www.realfruitjewelry.com/, Rachel Udell<http://racheludell.com/home.html>, and other independent craft merchants

*Member of Actors' Equity Association

These events are sponsored by The Shubin Theatre!

For more information about Green Light Arts, please visit www.GreenLightArts.org

--
http://bonnie-macallister.blogspot.com/

http://www.etsy.com/shop/bonniemacallister76
http://bonniemacallister.com
--
Projects:
http://sheshouldhavewrittenit.tumblr.com (play)
http://certaincircuits.org (magazine)

↑ Index

76. amy king

Tomorrow at the Grad Center: Jeffery Allen, Ana Božičević, Gregory Laynor, Astrid Lorange, Christopher Nealon and Paul Oppenheimer

Tue 8 Mar 2011

Turnstyle Reading Series

Jeffery Allen and P
Wed Mar 9, 6:30pm

Turnstyle Reading Series

Jeffery Allen and Paul Oppenheimer

Turnstyle is a cross-genre MFA reading series at The Graduate Center, CUNY, featuring a mix of non-fiction, plays, fiction, and poems by the faculty and students of four CUNY graduate creative writing programs. This evening, students will be joined by award-winning poet and fiction writer Jeffery Renard Allen (Queens College), whose Song of the Shank is forthcoming this year from Graywolf Press, and Paul Oppenheimer (City College), novelist, poet, journalist, biographer, and translator, who will read from In Times of Danger, his newly-published book of poems. co-sponsored by the Office of Academic Affairs, the CUNY MFA Affiliation Group

Martin E. Segal Theatre

Wed Mar 9, 7pm

Tendencies: Poetics and Practice

Ana BoÅ¾iÄeviÄ‡, Gregory Laynor, Astrid Lorange, and Christopher Nealon

Tendencies is a series of talks on queer poetics curated by Tim Peterson (Trace) and titled in honor of Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick. The series invites artists from a variety of disciplines to explore the relationship between queer theory, poetic manifesto, poetic practice, and pedagogy. This event will feature a joint presentation by the poet and scholar Gregory Laynor, who is currently co-editing for Chax Press the collected writings of the Gil Ott, and Astrid Lorange, visiting scholar at the University of Pennsylvania; the Lambda Literary Award in Poetry Finalist Ana BoÅ¾iÄeviÄ‡; and the scholar and poet Christopher Nealon, whose The Matter of Capital: Poetry and Crisis in The American Century is forthcoming this year from Harvard University Press. co-sponsored by the Center for Lesbian and Gay Studies, the Ph.D. Program in English, the Poetics Group

The Skylight Room (9100)

All events take place at The Graduate Center, CUNY, 365 Fifth Ave btwn 34th & 35th. The building and the venues are fully accessible. For more information
please call 212/[redacted] or e-mail [redacted].
http://www.centerforthehumanitiesgc.org

****
VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

77. Stephen Ellis
Re: Libya, a Feast for All
Tue 8 Mar 2011

Qaddafi owned somthing like 2.5 billion USD in Fiat shares until he supposedly divested when Fiat was trying to get a Star Wars contract during the Reagan years. No doubt the Italians are secretly on board, since they're been very quiet about it all. And Fiat, too, is a definite conscript. Is anyone looking in the windows at Raytheon? & etc. I can be surprised at anything, a la "but nothing would surprise me at this point." Yet it is good: The times are curving gradually away from irony, like "in the click of a Kalashnikov."

> Date: Tue, 8 Mar 2011 12:17:38 -0800
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Libya, a Feast for All
> To: [redacted]
>
> "Libya is currently the menu served to the world and diverse interest groups have the opportunity of engaging their appetite. It is time to help Gaddafi devour his own people. The feast is ready but the devourers are still few."
>
> The full text of "Libya, a Feast for All<http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/5681868-184/story.csp>" can be accessed at: http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/5681868-184/story.csp

> --
> Obododimma Oha
> http://udude.wordpress.com/
>
> *(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)*
> Dept. of English
> University of Ibadan
> Nigeria
>
> &
>
> Fellow*, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies*
> University of Ibadan
>
> Phone: [redacted];
> [redacted];
> [redacted].

↑ Index

78. Rory Dufficy
Re: Sous Les Pavés III
Tue 8 Mar 2011

http://souslespavesonline.wordpress.com/

On 9 March 2011 03:38, Micah Robbins <[redacted]> wrote:

> Sous Les Pavés III (largely given over to individuals with first-hand experience of the protests in the UK and entirely dedicated to the spirit of > dissent and revolt) is now available and features work by:
>
> Jay James May
> Lara Buckerton
> Frances Kruk
> Susan Briante
> Francesca Lisette
> Goat Far DT
> Richard Owens
> Sean Bonney
> Justin Katko
> Elliott Colla
> Debrah Morkun
> Tomas Weber
> Linh Dinh
> Danny Hayward

> Keston Sutherland
> Pocahontis Mildew
> Sommer Browning
> Collective Anon
> j/j hastain
> David Hadbawnik
>
> Sous Les Pavés is a FREE bi-monthly publication distributed by mailing list only and funded by the generous donations of its readers. If you find this publication of value, please consider donating at http://interbirthbooks.com/?page_id=161 (we cannot carry on without your material support).
>
> Out-of-print back issues can be read, downloaded and printed for FREE at http://souslespavesonline.wordpress.com/
>
> To join the mailing list, please forward your physical mailing address to [redacted]
>
> Yrs.
>
> Micah Robbins

↑ Index

79. Loss Pequeño Glazier

Announcing E-Poetry 2011 Buffalo -- Please Forward!

Wed 9 Mar 2011

An Invitation to Attend E-Poetry 2011!

If you are interested in the emerging edge of language-informed arts practice, whether as a poet, writer, artist, media innovator, scholar, teacher, performer, or in any other disciplines, E-Poetry offers a context for practice and analysis that can't be found anywhere else in the world. For its tenth anniversary, E-Poetry has been brought back to Buffalo, a central and accessible location for its activities. It will provide a mix of practices, with the emphasis on emerging practices in multiple disciplines that find themselves embedded or even just on the edge of the digital. It will convene a celebratory (in the triumphant spirit of preceding historic poetry festivals) and thought-filled gathering of 150 artists, writers, and scholars from 40 countries -- a diversity and culturally rich offering that won't be found elsewhere. Please attend:

*E-POETRY 2011
International Digital Language | Arts Festival

/TEN YEAR ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL/
*May 18-21, 2011
University at Buffalo
http://epc.buffalo.edu/e-poetry/2011/
Web registration now available! Specially-priced advance registration offered during March 2011 only!
http://epc.buffalo.edu/e-poetry/2011/register.html

E-Poetry is the definitive innovative digital language arts festival in the world. With its emphasis on poetics, performance, engaged arts, experimentation, and scholarly and artistic conversation, and with previous events in West Virginia, London, Paris, and Barcelona, it has defined international digital literature poetics today.

/The tenth anniversary festival of E-Poetry 2011 is set to launch a new epoch in digital literature. E-Poetry, at its inception, was the first to map this field. E-Poetry has been here since the beginning and continues even stronger today. It has set out to organize the 2011 festival as a culmination of the first ten years as well as a model for future years -- advancing the conversation of the digital into the engaged scene of creative and scholarly activity that the field promises./

With its sponsoring organization, the Electronic Poetry Center (http://epc.buffalo.edu), often recognized as the world's first and preeminent Web-based poetry resource, E-Poetry will define the arts as emerging practice in an interdisciplinary, aesthetically complex, and materially delightful manner never before seen. We invite you to be there.

The Festival will take place from Weds. May, 18th to Saturday May 21st, 2011, with special conference events on Tues, May 17 and its Wednesday "Scientific Committee" panels. Please come for as long as you can. The cost of visiting Buffalo is quite reasonable. We will be glad to help with suggestions for your travel and accommodation. E-Poetry offers the chance for a prolonged immersion into considerations of the workings and practices of digital poets, scholars, and artists. Buffalo is a location, fervent with the great powers of the Niagara rushing through the tranquil, flat, maple forested countryside of Western New York, where we can come together, apart from the hustle of a devouring city, to meet as artists and thinkers. It is a location that offers celebration and contemplation. It is a quiet place but a location within New York State's largest university, its programs direct descendants of Black Mountain College, Language Poetry, various iterations of the Poetics Program, Media Study at Buffalo, and the Electronic Poetry Center. Buffalo is a prime leader in the U.S. in the innovative digital, visual, sound, and language arts.

Information is available via the EPC (http://epc.buffalo.edu/e-poetry/2011/), where you will always find the latest information on E-Poetry 2011. (#epf11)

/We look forward to seeing you at E-Poetry 2011!/

Dr. Loss Pequeño Glazier
E-Poetry President & Artistic Director

Dr. Sandy Baldwin
E-Poetry 2011 Festival Curator & Co-Director

--

Dr. Loss Pequeño Glazier
Director, Electronic Poetry Center (http://epc.buffalo.edu)
President& Artistic Director, E-Poetry Festivals
Professor, Dept. of Media Study - 231 CFA
University at Buffalo
Buffalo, New York 14260

↑ Index

80. CA Conrad
Re: New Blog: Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Wed 9 Mar 2011

I really dislike Adam's post for a million reasons. He's a class bigot for starters.

And I completely agree everything you say.
Conrad

On Sat, Mar 5, 2011 at 10:39 PM, Mark Johnson <[redacted]> wrote:
> Anybody who thinks rock reclaimed the cultural center stage in the 90s > wasn't listening. Hip-hop was easily as strong by then -hugely popular, > generating millions of dollars, adding words to the language, changing the > way people dressed, capturing the attention of young people around the world > in a way that grunge did not. But you'd never guess it from Adam Fieled's > piece.
>
> Mark
>
> On Fri, Mar 4, 2011 at 5:26 AM, CA Conrad <[redacted]> wrote:
>>
>> Here are a couple of invaluable resources for anyone serious about the >> history of rock and roll:

>>
>> 1: http://www.akpress.org/2004/items/cinderellasbigscorewomenofthepunk
>>
>> 2: http://www.girlstothefront.com/
>>
>>
>>
>>
>> --
>> PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com
>>
>> THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com
>>
>
>

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

81. CA Conrad
Dorothea Lasky & Thom Donovan on JUPITER 88
Wed 9 Mar 2011

For these latest two poetry videos please visit http://JUPITER88poetry.blogspot.com

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

82. mIEKAL aND
Xerolage 49 - scriptions by Tim Gaze
Wed 9 Mar 2011

Xerolage 49 - scriptions by Tim Gaze

http://xexoxial.org/is/xerolage49/by/tim_gaze

The thing I like about Tim's new book is that it shows the full range of styles that he is capable of creating. It has some of his line drawing asemics, and his nebulous decalcomania. This is a great general survey of the instincts of an asemic master at work and honing the tip of his pen. "Zen calligrapher" is what I think of this grand author's expressions, as they soar overhead and land in a field of ink and honey. This is the real thing! Get a hold of it and learn. —Michael Jacobson

Writing OR drawing—either category sets up a filter through which we interpret what we are seeing. But if these pages of marks on paper are allowed to exist in the un-coded, uncultivated, lawless area BETWEEN writing and drawing, we have nothing to rely on but our own perceptions. These visual gestures—non-coercive, un-systematized, a-centric—I myself have been looking at them with great interest as visual indications of sound. —Rosaire Appel

Yes, the traces and signs and glyphs by Tim Gaze presented here, come from the wide realm of the "Asemic." This term is common in the area of verbovisual poetry. It deals with graphic works resembling alphabetic writing, but being "other," unknown, illegible too.

We can focus on this:

Any writer, anyone, can really be the one with no (political, social, economic) power. One can really realize and actually grasp, today, what's the meaning of the term "loss" (loss of influence, for example): the alphabetical dominion over men is still strong, but on the other hand the writers have definitely lost their power, and they often get rid of any kind of power, not to mention that they can intentionally deprive their speech of politically oriented superstructures, and of the instinct of prevailing over others' speeches. This means that Baudelaire's and Deleuze's heritage has become the water we can definitely choose to swim in.

But there's a further step consisting in the neverending production of series of signs with faint resemblance rather than reference to any already known alphabetical series of signs. In Tim Gaze's work this kind of resemblance shows brilliant evidences of how the folded parts of our minds work, in making themselves unknown, and still meaningful.

It's like making shadows without starting from "things + sun," or resisting to the action of the light over the objects.

—Marco Giovenale

From the Introduction

What are the pieces that writing is made of?

I hope these shapes & signs can speak to people around the world, no matter what kind of writing they were taught as children.

Our ancient, pre-literate ancestors saw such complex patterns as their own fingerprints, markings on plants & animals, geological formations, ripples on flowing water, clouds, & conglomerations of flotsam & jetsam deposited by wind & water. I would suggest that these are much more powerful roots of writing than Sumerian cuneiform, which mainstream Western history says is the beginning of true writing.

About Tim Gaze

I live in the Adelaide Hills of South Australia, between outer suburbia & the beginnings of the countryside. Walking is important to me. A lot of the time, I make, research, publish & share illegible writing. The polar ice caps are melting. It's time to go beyond old patterns of thought.

The primary investigation of Xerolage is how collage technique of 20th century art, typography, computer graphics, visual & concrete poetry movements & the art of the copier have been combined. Each issue is devoted to the work of one artist.

24 pages, 8.5 x 11, $7 includes postage (for overseas $10 includes postage)
Subscriptions: 4 issues/$20

XEXOXIAL EDITIONS
10375 Cty Hway Alphabet
La Farge WI 54639

[redacted]

↑ Index

83. Ana Bo¾ièeviæ

Lost & Found: Series II Now Available! Books by di Prima, Duncan, Randall, Rukeyser, and Spicer.

Wed 9 Mar 2011

Dear Reader,

You may have gotten a complimentary copy of the first set of Lost & Found chapbooks, you may have bought one at City Lights or St Marks Bookstore, purchased one at a Lost & Found event in New York, or read about it in the Poetry Project Newsletter or the London Review blog. The first series is already out of print: we hope to bring out a second edition as demand increases but we need your support, and the best way to support us is to subscribe to the second series.

Lost & Found: The CUNY Poetics Document Initiative is happy to announce that our second series is now available at a pre-publication discount. For $25, you will get the following set of beautifully printed chapbooks:

Selections from El Corno Emplumado / The Plumed Horn1962-1964 (Margaret Randall, visiting editor)

Diane di Prima: The Mysteries of Vision: Some Notes on H.D. (Ana Bozicevic, editor)

Diane di Prima: R.D.'S H.D. (Ammiel Alcalay, editor)

Robert Duncan: Olson Memorial Lecture (Ammiel Alcalay, Meira Levinson, Bradley Lubin, Megan Paslawski, Kyle Waugh, and Rachael Wilson, editors)

Jack Spicer's Beowulf: Selections (Parts I& II) (David Hadbawnik and Sean Reynolds, guest editors)

Muriel Rukeyser: Barcelona, 1936: Selections from the Spanish Civil War Archive (Rowena Kennedy-Epstein, editor)

Those who have come to our events, like the tribute to Muriel Rukeyser or the electrifying reading by Diane di Prima, know very well what kind of energy Lost & Found has generated. Those getting to know the scholarship of our graduate students realize that a new generation of cultural critics and literary historians is in the making.

In order to continue our work, we need your support: please subscribe to make sure you get the second series before it, too, goes out of print. And consider making a donation so that we can move on to the third series, which includes works by Lorine Niedecker, John Wieners, Ed Dorn, Essex Hemphill, Langston Hughes and others. You can order the books online at http://lostandfoundbooks.org/ or mail in an order form you'll find on the site.

Spread the word: we appreciate your interest and look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Ammiel Alcalay, General Editor

Aoibheann Sweeney, Director of the Center for the Humanities

--
http://www.anabozicevic.com/

↑ Index

84. Margaret Konkol

Save the Date: Small Press in the Archive March 21

Thu 10 Mar 2011

Directly following Spring Break, Monday March 21st, Small Press in the Archive Lecture Series is pleased to announce a collaborative talk by

David Hadbawnik & Sean Reynolds

Monday, March 21st @ 12:30pm / The Poetry Collection, 420 Capen, University at Buffalo

"_Beowulf_ is a hoax": Jack Spicer's Medievalism and _Beowulf_ Translation

David writes that "Jack Spicer was a serious medieval scholar [...] All of the innovations that poets and critics now attribute to Spicer—his stunning mixture of “real” and “fake” translation in After Lorca, his constant toppling of the stable lyric “I” with his insistence on poetic “dictation,” even his curmudgeonly fascination with literary kingship and knightly circles—can be traced to his lifelong engagement with the medieval.

↑ Index

85. Steve Tills

New title from theenk Books NOW AVAILABLE: John Roche's _Road Ghosts_.

Thu 10 Mar 2011

John Roche's new book _Road Ghosts_ is NOW AVAILABLE from theenk Books:

"An unexpected treasure, ROAD GHOSTS is an on-the-ground poetic document of radicalized students coming of age in the late 60s & early 70s. Its clarity of external & internal detail is often startling. Its detached camera eye lucidly documents the process of portent, pretense & Utopian fervor associated with that brief opening in U.S. dissident cultures & the generational clashes inspired by idealism, psychedelics, & quest fever. It's a profound personal essay on being & becoming"-David Meltzer.

Buy direct from theenk Books and receive a complimentary copy of the Black Spring "Lawrence Issue" (while supplies last and all that jazz):

http://www.therepublicofcalifornia.com/theenk/Order.htm

You can also purchase _Road Ghosts_ from Small Press Distribution, which carries additional theenk Books titles, including Steven Farmer's _glowball_, Stephen Ellis's _O P U L E N C E_, and Steve Tills' _Rugh Stuff_:

http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9780964734296/road-ghosts.aspx

Other theenk Books at SPD:

http://www.spdbooks.org/Search/Default.aspx?PublisherName=theenk%20Books

Steve Tills
theenk Books
107 Washington Street
Palmyra, New York 14522

[redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
[redacted]

Civilization is the encouragement of differences.
-Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi (1869-1948)
What we think, or what we know, or what we believe, is in the end, of little consequence.
The only thing of consequence is what we do.
-John Ruskin, author, art critic, and social reformer (1819-1900)

P Please consider the environment before printing this email - be green, keep it on the screen

↑ Index

86. Séamas Cain
St. Patrick's Day event
Thu 10 Mar 2011

The Carlton County Historical Society will present "Irish Voices on the Minnesota Prairie" by Séamas Cain. The presentation will begin at 1:00 p.m. on St. Patrick's Day, Thursday, March 17th, 2011 at the CCHS Museum, 406 Cloquet Avenue, Cloquet, Minnesota, 55720.

This presentation was first given at the IMRAM Festival in Dublin, Ireland last September. Describing the script for "Irish Voices on the Minnesota Prairie," Liam Carson, director of the IMRAM Festival, said "poetic, beautiful, moving, simple, evocative. The presentation was a wonderful experience!" And the Irish writer Gabriel Rosenstock described the script as "very moving."

IRISH VOICES, PRAIRIE VOICES

"I remember herds of buffalo on the prairie, beautiful Indian ponies ... the coyotes howling at dusk." So speaks one voice in Séamas Cain’s dramatic evocation of what he calls "Irish Voices, Prairie Voices."

Drawing on his own conversations with grandparents and other relatives, Séamas Cain’s narrative probes deep into family, land and language. Through their plain but poetic voices, history is relived. Here Irish settlers learn from Indians "where strawberries grew and which birds were most delicious to hunt." Here is Thomas Burke, kinsman of Edmund, fleeing to the Irish Colonies of Minnesota in 1878. We are brought from the time of the wagon trains to the day electricity arrived in the village of Murdock in 1922. Along the way we hear stories of the Molly Maguires, the communitarian Connemaras and their vision of creating a Gaelic utopia on the prairies of western Minnesota; of fiddlers and harmonica players at dances; of droughts, crop failures, snowstorms, and swarms of locusts.

"Irish Voices, Prairie Voices" is an extraordinary journey into a haunting past. Actors will re-create in English the words and stories of Séamas Cain's grandparents and their cousins and friends, whilst Cain himself will narrate. A unique insight into an almost forgotten history, "Irish Voices on the Minnesota Prairie" is a deeply personal odyssey.

For additional information, please phone Rachel Martin at the Carlton County Historical Society, [redacted].

Seven photographs and text [in Irish] for selected scenes from the performances in Dublin ...

http://seamascain-writernetwork.org/photo3.html

Ten additional photographs from the festival ...

http://seamascain-writernetwork.org/photo_1.html

Two articles by Jana Peterson, the editor of The Pine Journal in Cloquet, Minnesota ...

1.) "Poet Séamas Cain heads to Ireland ..."

in the issue for Thursday, September 16th, 2010,

Volume Number 127, Issue Number 37, on page A5

http://www.pinejournal.com/event/article/id/21429/

2.) "Still making waves with poetry and plays"

in the issue for Thursday, October 28th, 2010,

Volume Number 127, Issue Number 43,

on the front-page and page D1

http://www.pinejournal.com/event/article/id/21875/group/News/

↑ Index

87. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "Odds Against Today" by Vernon Frazer.

Thu 10 Mar 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œOdds Against Todayâ€ by Vernon Frazer.

Description:
In â€œOdds Against Todayâ€, Vernon Frazer's linguistic techniques force language beyond semantic limitations to produce poems that become events rather than meanings, although his lexical admixtures do not necessarily preclude perceiving or experiencing meaning.

Available as a free ebook here:

http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/odds-against-today/15108884

Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue:

http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

88. Paul Nelson
Nate Mackey in Seattle
Thu 10 Mar 2011

SPLAB welcomes legendary poet, essayist, novelist and editor Nathaniel Mackey to Columbia City for a reading, workshop at the new SPLAB location, 3651 S. Edmunds in the Cultural Corner of the former Columbia School and a Friday night talk at the NW African-American Museum at 2300 S. Massachusetts Av. at 7PM.http://splab.org/?p=2655

On Saturday, March 12, Mackey will lead an afternoon writing workshop from 1:00 to 4:00PM, followed by a public reading at 7:30PM. Admission to the public reading is $5. The workshop and reading will be held at SPLAB, 3651 S Edmunds in the Cultural Corner of the former Columbia School.

To register for the workshop, or for more information, please contact Paul Nelson at pen(at) splab (dot) org or call [redacted].

Paul E. Nelson

SPLAB!
C. City, WA
[redacted]

↑ Index

89. Lewis Warsh
Brooklyn Paramount #1
Thu 10 Mar 2011

BROOKLYN PARAMOUNT #1

Published by the MFA program in creative writing
Long Island University, Brooklyn

135 pages $12

Work by Stephanie Gray, Gary Parrish, Jessica Hagedorn, Anne Waldman, John High, Nell Del Guidice, Uche Nduka, Sarah Wallen, Tony Iantosca, Willie Perdomo, Barbara Henning, Lewis Warsh, Jamey Jones, Liliana Almendarez, Charles Thorne, Alex Mindt, Micah Savaglio, Aimee Herman, Gulay Isik, Joe Infante, Alicia Berbenick, John Casquarelli, Lisa Rogal, Christine Gans, Rachel Jackson, Patia Braithwaite, Jhon Sanchez, Zahra Patterson, Kyle de Ocera, Tamara Lebron, Elspeth Maconald, Eric Alter, Beatriz Rodriguez, Amyre Loomis, Wendi Williams, Christine Francavilla, Yoav Ben Josef, Mary Walker, Tejan Green Waszak, Jon L. Peacock, Yani Gonzalez, Tina Barry, Jon Jenkins, Desiree Rucker.

Production: Sarah Wallen
Cover: Nell Del Guidice
Editor: Lewis Warsh

All orders write to [redacted]

↑ Index

90. Alan Sondheim

Re: US politics and wealth (fwd)

Thu 10 Mar 2011

Thanks, Jon

---------- Forwarded message ----------
Date: Thu, 10 Mar 2011 21:03:04
From: Jonathan Marshall <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]

From:
http://www.alternet.org/economy/149918/9_pictures_that_expose_this_country%27s_obscene_division_of_wealth?page=entire [edited] courtesy Fred Maus via Facebook

Some Wall Street types (and others) make over a billion dollars a year ? each year. How much is a billion dollars? How can you visualize an amount of money so high? Here is one way to think about it: The median household income in the US is around $29,000, meaning half of us make less and half make more. If you make $29,000 a year, and don?t spend a single penny of it, it will take you 34,482 years to save a billion dollars....

Some things you could buy if really wealthy:

1) the Maybach car the Landaulet model, costs $1 million. (Rush Limbaugh, who has 5 homes in Palm Beach, drives a cheaper Maybach 57 S -- but makes up for it by owning 6 of them.). Your $1 billion will buy you a thousand Maybach Landaulets

2) Some hotels charge $20-30,000 per night. A billion dollars will buy you a $20,000 room every night for 137 years

3) Some people spend as much as $200 million or more on a single yacht. You can buy ten $100 million yachts with a billion dollars

4) There are approximately 15,000 private jets registered in the US according to NBAA. You can pick one up for around $40 million, maybe $60 million for top-of-the-line. Your billion will buy you 25 of these.

[etc]

So you say to yourself, "I want me some of that. I?d like to place the following order, please.":

One Maybach Landaulet for $1 million to drive around in.
One $100 million yacht for when I want to get seasick.
One Gulfstream G550 private jet for $40 million.
One private island for $24.5 million (castle included) for when I want to escape the masses.
One $8 million estate for when I have to go ashore and mingle with the masses (but not too close.)
One $5 million watch so I can have one.
Total: $178.5 million.

My change after paying with a billion-dollar bill is a meager $821.5 million. I can still stay in a $20,000 hotel room every night for 112 and 1/2 years.

As you see, $1 billion is more than enough to really live it up. Some people today are amassing multiples of billions

And the concentration of income and wealth is increasing. The top 1% took in 23.5% of all of the country?s income in 2007. In 1979 they only took in 8.9%.

Between 1979 and 2008, the top 5% of American families saw their real incomes increase 73%, according to Census data. Over the same period, the lowest-income fifth (20% of us) saw a decrease in real income of 4.1%. The rest were just stagnant or saw very little increase. http://extremeinequality.org/?page_id=8

Wealth can be inherited and accumulates over the years.... The top 1% owns more than 90% of us combined. In 2007, the latest year for which figures are available from the Federal Reserve Board, the richest 1% of U.S. households owned 33.8% of the nation?s private wealth. That?s more than the combined wealth of the bottom 90 percent.

The combined net worth of the Forbes 400 wealthiest Americans in 2007 was $1.5 trillion. The combined net worth of the poorest 50% of American households (about 150 million people) was $1.6 trillion

The top 1% also own 50.9% of all stocks, bonds, and mutual fund assets. The top 10% own 90.3%.

Income inequality is actually greater in the United States than it is in Egypt - and this does affect politics. It makes legislation which favours the wealthy and increases inequality, but it also protects the wealthy form the consequences of their profit.

The Koch brothers are said to have a net worth of $21.5 billion each. They financed the Tea Party movement and, along with big corporations and other billionaires, they financed the massive assault of TV ads in the midterm elections that helped change the makeup of the Congress. And now Congress is paying them back:

Nine of the 12 new Republicans on the panel signed a pledge distributed by a Koch-founded advocacy group ? Americans for Prosperity ? to oppose the Obama administration's proposal to regulate greenhouse gases. Of the six GOP freshman lawmakers on the panel, five benefited from the group's separate advertising and grassroots activity during the 2010 campaign.

Republicans on the committee have launched an agenda of the sort long backed by the Koch brothers. A top early goal: restricting the reach of the Environmental Protection Agency, which oversees the Kochs' core energy businesses.

see also:
http://toomuchonline.org/http://www.cbpp.org/research/index.cfm?fa=topic&id=36
http://www.cepr.net/index.php/component/option,com_issues/Itemid,22/issue,18/lang,en/task,view_issue/

UTS CRICOS Provider Code: 00099F
DISCLAIMER: This email message and any accompanying attachments may contain confidential information.
If you are not the intended recipient, do not read, use, disseminate, distribute or copy this message or attachments. If you have received this message in error, please notify the sender immediately and delete this message. Any views expressed in this message are those of the individual sender, except where the sender expressly, and with authority, states them to be the views of the University of Technology Sydney.

Before opening any attachments, please check them for viruses and defects.

Think. Green. Do.

Please consider the environment before printing this email.

↑ Index

91. Aldon Nielsen
Louisville 2011
Thu 10 Mar 2011

I've just finished posting a horde of photos of the hordes of people at this year's Louisville conference to the Heat Strings Blog:

http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

<http://heatstrings.blogspot.com/>In a few days I'll be adding recordings from Louisville to the Penn Sound site.

Come to the conference next year, the fortieth anniversary of the event, and I'll post your photo to the web!

--
Aldon L. Nielsen
Kelly Professor of American Literature
Department of English
117 Burrowes Building
The Pennsylvania State University
University Park, PA
16802-6200

[redacted]

sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

"I had the opportunity to read several good books, from which it is always possible to find oneself all the others, or even to write those that are still lacking." -- Guy Debord

↑ Index

92. Camille Martin
Sonnet Workshop
Fri 11 Mar 2011

My “sonnet shakedown” workshop will run from March 15 to April 12 at the Toronto New School of Writing.

Join us as we explore the kaleidoscopic history of the sonnet, from Petrarchan to Oulipian, from blazon to flarf and beyond. We'll also write our own sonnets - using, throwing out, and writing our own rules of engagement with the "little song." The sonnet is dead. Long live the sonnet!

Seating is limited, but there are still openings in the class - sign up at the TNSOW website:

http://tnsow.com/sonnet-workshop/

Here's the description:

Sonnet Workshop (Mar 15 – Apr 12, 2011)
Instructor: Camille Martin

Duration: 5 weeks (Tuesdays), 15 March – 12 April 2011, 6:30 – 8:30pm

Capacity: 12 students

Combining a historical overview of the sonnet form (or as Anselm Hollo once called it, the sonnet state of mind) with creative writing assignments, this course offers students the opportunity to experience the sonnet as a traditional and experimental network of possibilities.

Through a series of Reading/Writing sessions focused around various “sonnet-inspired models,” participants will deepen their appreciation of the evolution of the sonnet across history as well as generate their own sonnets, investigating relationships between the rubrics of tradition and form and content and meaning, while continuing the momentum of the “little song’s” enduring popularity.

Cheers!
Camille Martin

Sonnets:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781848610705/sonnets.aspx

Codes of Public Sleep:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781897388112/codes-of-public-sleep.aspx

↑ Index

93. Shankar, Ravi (English)

Drunken Boat#13 is live!

Fri 11 Mar 2011

We're pleased to announce that Drunken Boat Issue #13 is now live at:
http://www.drunkenboat.com

DB13 emerges as the weather warms up, with features on /Slant/Sex/, the first half of a collection of writing and art exploring the often taboo sexuality of all woman-identified and trans individuals, and First Peoples, Plural, an interdisciplinary exploration of native identity and aesthetics from around the world. Also with new poetry by Tomaž Šalamun, a multimedia folio of nonfiction on Music with with playlists on process and original works by essayists including Rick Moody, Lia Purpura, Tim Seibles and Patrick Rosal, new fiction by Adania Shibli, and the latest photography, sound, and installation art. Plus much more!

We hope you'll share our winter issue on your blogs, Twitters, FBs, and explore it yourself.

Thanks for your continued support. If you're a fan of Drunken Boat, celebrating over a decade in existence, please consider making a donation so we can continue bringing you the best of traditional art forms such as poetry, prose, criticism and photography, alongside works of art endemic to the medium of the web, such as sound, video, hypertext, web art and digital animation. Our secure payment site can be found at:

http://www.drunkenboat.com/db13/donate.php

Thanks for being a part of the future of publishing.

Best,

The Editors, Drunken Boat
http://www.drunkenboat.com

↑ Index

94. D.Buuck

Upcoming Readings in Philly & NYC

Fri 11 Mar 2011

Sun, March 20, C/C Reading Series, with Dodie Bellamy & Corina Copp, @ Fergie's Pub, 1214 Sansom St, Philadelphia, 7pm

Tues, March 22, P.O.D. Reading Series, with Kristen Dombek, @ the Red Horse Cafe, 497 6th Ave, Brooklyn, 630pm

Thurs, March 24, "BARGE: Detouring the Everyday" - a talk/ performance/ workshop @ CUNY Grad Center, 365 Fifth Ave, Manhattan, 5-830pm

Fri, March 25, Multifarious Array, with Lonely Christopher, Astrid Lorange, and Steve Orth, @ Pete's Candy Store, 709 Lorimer Street, Brooklyn, 6pm

↑ Index

95. Tony Trigilio

Job Opening: Assistant Professor (Creative Writing/Poetry), Columbia College Chicago

Fri 11 Mar 2011

Assistant Professor of English: Creative Writing—Poetry

The English Department at Columbia College Chicago seeks applications for a full-time faculty position in Creative Writing—Poetry, to begin August 2011. We will hire in this position on the tenure-track OR as a one-year replacement, depending on the applicant pool. Qualifications include at least one published book (poetry), solid record of magazine/journal publications, MFA or PhD or equivalent, and college-level teaching experience. The position includes teaching in both an undergraduate program (offering a B. A. in Creative Writing-Poetry) and MFA program, as well as advising, administrative duties within the Poetry Program, and college service. Poets who would enhance the diversity of gender, cultural, ethnic, or national perspectives within the department are particularly encouraged to apply.

Review of applications to begin on April 1, 2011.

How To Apply
For questions about the online application please review the FAQs available at:
https://employment.colum.edu/psp/careers/EMPLOYEE/HRMS/c/HRS_HRAM.HRS_CE.GBL?Page=HRS_CE_HM_PRE&Action=A&SiteId=1.

At the start of the on-line application when you are asked to upload a resume/CV, please upload one pdf document that combines your cover letter, CV, 10-page sample of poetry (scans are fine), sample syllabus for undergraduate or graduate-level poetry workshop, and statement of teaching philosophy. Do NOT upload each document separately.

In addition, at least two letters of recommendation should be sent separately as hard copies to:

Nicole Wilson, Associate Program Director, Creative Writing
Department of English
Columbia College Chicago

600 S. Michigan Ave.
Chicago, IL 60605

Please complete all required fields of the on-line application indicated by an (*), including work experience, highest education information, the names and contact information for three references (though only two letters are required), and referral information. You will receive an e-mail confirmation once you have successfully submitted your application.

If you experience initial technical difficulties, please e-mail [redacted]. If difficulties persist, contact Nicole Wilson directly at [redacted].

Equal Employment Opportunity
Columbia College Chicago encourages qualified female, LGBTQ, disabled, and minority individuals to apply for all positions.

For more information, please visit us at: www.COLUM.edu

About Columbia Columbia College Chicago is an urban institution of over 12,000 undergraduate and graduate students emphasizing arts, media, and communications in a liberal arts setting.

↑ Index

96. Deborah A. Meadows

Shearsman 30th Anniversary Reading at the Bowery on March 19th

Sat 12 Mar 2011

You are invited to Shearsman Books' 30th Anniversary Reading Featured Poets: Joseph Bradshaw, Richard Deming, Shira Dentz, George Economou, Anne Gorrick, Michael Heller, Nancy Kuhl, Maryrose Larkin, Jill Magi, Deborah Meadows, Eléna Rivera, Mercedes Roffé and Mark Weiss

March 19, 2011, 6 – 7:30 p.m.
Bowery Poetry Club, 308 Bowery (between Houston & Bleecker), New York City, NY

2011 marks the 30th anniversary of Shearsman Books, one of the UK’s most significant poetry publishers and one of the first post-national presses. Producing some 60 books a year, with many titles by American poets and translations in English that give voice to poets writing in Spanish, German, French, Galician, Norwegian, Turkish and more, Shearsman is committed to creating a global audience, and is noted both in the U.S. and abroad for its large numbers of first-book and experimental American authors of exceptional quality. This event exemplifies the diversity and excellence of recent American titles in the publisher’s catalog.

Sponsored by Shearsman Books

Info: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.bowerypoetry.com/?#March_19

↑ Index

97. Adam Fieled
New on Adam Fieled's Fair Game
Sat 12 Mar 2011

Pieces on the following songs:

Labelle's Lady Marmalade:
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/03/transgressions-labelles-lady-marmalade.html

Nine Inch Nails' Closer:
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/03/industrial-strength-nine-inch-nails.html

Radiohead's Fake Plastic Trees:
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/03/knives-in-nineties-radioheads-fake.html

Tim Buckley's Sweet Surrender:
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/03/dynamics-of-desperation-tim-buckleys.html

Tom Petty's American Girl:
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/03/raised-on-promises-tom-pettys-american.html

The White Stripes You've Got Her in Your Pocket:
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/03/to-conserve-white-stripes-youve-got-her.html

Hope you like,
Adam

↑ Index

98. Jim Andrews
Nationalism
Sat 12 Mar 2011

Sketch for interactive piece. Suggestions for improvement?

NATIONALISM

On the screen you see three flags. USA, Canada, Iraq.

Text over them:

"It is a serious offence
to clear thinking
to confuse patriotism
and flag waving."

When you click, the flags are cut into little squares and the pieces strewn over the stage.

Text over them: "Please reassemble the flags of the USA, Canada, and Iraq."

When they click, the text disappears.

The viewer can drag and drop the squares to reassemble the squares into flags. However, the sides of the squares are magnetic. They are attracted to squares that are not of their own flag. And they are repulsed by squares of the same flag.

ja
http://vispo.com

↑ Index

99. Dan Wilcox
Third Thursday Poetry Night, March 17, Lori Desrosiers
Sun 13 Mar 2011

---

the Poetry Motel Foundation
presents

Third Thursday Poetry Night

at
the Social Justice Center
33 Central Ave., Albany, NY

March 17, 2011
7:00 sign up; 7:30 start

Featured Poet: Lori Desrosiers

-- with an open mic for community poets before & after the feature: $3.00 donation, suggested; more if you got it, less if you can’t.

Your Irish-by-absorption host: Dan Wilcox.
* * * * * * * *

That Pomegranate Shine

by Lori Desrosiers

Two brides arise from the river, shivering and shining like pomegranate seeds.

– Words from an Armenian Song

I was the wrong kind of bride,

more sweat than glisten,

more peach than pomegranate.

At twenty-three, in love with marriage,

not the man,

I plunged into rough water,

bringing grandmother’s candlesticks,

mother’s books and two silver trays.

Ten years later, I emerged shivering, dragging my ragged volumes,

one candlestick and two babies.

On the bank, I shook off the water and breathed.

Standing with my children,

looking out over the river,

the new brides asked me where

I got that pomegranate shine.

↑ Index

100. Alan Sondheim

*Three Re-Mastered Original and Beautiful (I think) Videos

Sun 13 Mar 2011

Three Re-Mastered Original and Beautiful (I think) Videos*

Foofwa d'Imobilite and Maud Liardon, Alps avatar-inspired duet, cleaned up for presentation, enjoy!
http://www.alansondheim.org/duetavatargrange.mp4

Alan Sondheim and Azure Carter, across U.S. recording very-low frequency (VLF) radio in electrically-quiet locations
http://www.alansondheim.org/antenna.mp4

Complex avatar/mocap work in Blender and Poser, West Virginia Virtual Environments Laboratory
http://www.alansondheim.org/biv.mp4

*Finally there's room for them, enjoy!

↑ Index

101. Alan Sondheim
please donate
Sun 13 Mar 2011

This may be a stupid and redundant request, but please donate to Japan / Haiti (which is still suffering incredibly); every little bit helps. / - etc. - the same here, please just go online and try Red Cross, anything.

Apologies for stating the obvious, of course, and thanks, Alan

==
email archive: http://sondheim.rupamsunyata.org/
webpage http://www.alansondheim.org
music archive: http://www.espdisk.com/alansondheim/
current text http://www.alansondheim.org/qx.txt
==

↑ Index

102. Jennifer Karmin
March 18 & 19: Utopic Monster Theory (Chicago)
Sun 13 Mar 2011

UTOPIC MONSTER THEORY
co-created by J'Sun Howard & Jennifer Karmin

A polydesirious bricolage of text-movement exploring 21st century cultural work. Source material and inspiration from: Anthony & the Johnsons, Joseph Beuys, Black Panther Party, Bleach anime series, Family Guy, Internal Revenue Service, Andrew Joron, John Lennon, Bernadette Mayer, Thomas More, Eric Satie, Mary Shelly, and Hannah Weiner.

Premiering March 18 & 19 as part of --

TO ART & PROFIT:
Creative Labor, Collective Action & Conscientious Capitalism

Interdisciplinary performance series
arts-focused dialogues & street spectacles
in Chicago, Illinois

Curated by Links Hall Artistic Associates
Abra Johnson & Meida McNeal
http://toartandprofit.wordpress.com

MARCH 18-20
What Is It Good For? Defining Artâ€™s Purpose Now

Collaborating Artists:
Cristal Sabbagh & Roger Noel
Jâ€™Sun Howard & Jennifer Karmin with insight by Coya Paz
C.C. Carter, Sage Morgan Hubbard & Keli Stewart

APRIL 15-17
Quit Bullshittinâ€™: Recognizing Division
& Building Solidarity in the Arts

Collaborating Artists:
Avery R. Young & BRAT James
In The Spirit & Siete Lunas Nuevas
Boogie McClarin, Nikki Patin & Fathom DJ

MAY 20-22
Come As You Are: Re-Imagining Art with a Conscience

Collaborating Artists:
Silvita Diaz Brown, Nicole Garneau & Lani Montreal
Nicole LeGette
The Ladies Ring Shout & Ayako Kato

PERFORMANCES
8pm Fridays & Saturdays
at Links Hall, 3435 N.Sheffield
http://linkshall.org

COMMUNITY SPECTACLES & DISCUSSIONS
2pm Sundays in Chicago neighborhoods see festival website for details

FESTIVAL FUNDRAISER
8pm-12am Friday, March 25th at Defibrillator, 1136 N.Milwaukee http://www.dfbrl8r.com

↑ Index

103. Mark Young

Now out from Otoliths — Marcia Arrieta's "triskelion, tiger moth, tangram, thyme"

Mon 14 Mar 2011

---

triskelion, tiger moth, tangram, thyme

Marcia Arrieta

80 pages

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9807651-8-2

$13.45 + p&h

URL: http://www.lulu.com/content/paperback-book/triskelion-tiger-moth-tangram-thyme/9898811

What do the Golden Ratio, Tassajara's kitchen, and Noguchi's fascination with form have to do with natural cycles and the written word? In Arrieta's triskelion, tiger moth, tangram, thyme, language flows between forms and fascinations sharing the elusive nature of sand, bear, and canyon and the infinite enigmas posed by modern physics, the green dragon, and the infinite reversals of Chinese puzzles. Arrieta's poems are overlapping spheres, vanishing points, circles that reflect her fascination with modern cosmology, aesthetics, and the spirituality of language. — Andrea Moorhead

I have long followed Marcia Arrieta's poems, impressed by her minimalist approach to language itself, her quiet southwest surrealism—reminiscent at times of the visionary artistry of Georgia O'Keeffe. Her poems are compelling, marked by deft and abrupt turnings, a total mastery of paratactic construction, and a dazzling sense of the landscape of the heart played against that insistent inner voice. Here, at last, they are gathered together, a gift well worth having, a quiet visionary voice which surprises and invites the reader to be attentive. — David Cope

Geometry defines symptoms of reality. Its elements hold in common a range of distances from other presences. In the perpetual imaginary search for probable freshness, what angle offers the most valid view? Marcia Arrieta's book enacts philosophical inquiry into tangible experience, by way of a series of inductive expeditions. At the intersection of multiple wavelengths are poetic choices of mosaic segments that the poet sculpts into a metonymic actuality that far transcends harmonics of the selves. — Sheila E. Murphy

Marcia Arrieta’s long overdue first volume of poems charts the cycles of language within consciousness by plotting the recurrence of concepts and ideas and of certain words which, planet-like, wander among them. She has, through a process of extreme selectivity, crafted these poems-in-motion, poems on the outer reaches of philosophical thought. These poems are not for the mentally inert, but one willing to “staple the head to the sea” will receive much delight and intellectual stimulation from them. — Celestine Frost

The poems in this book are complex, "intellectually emotional" tangles of observations. Rather than through commas, these short — frequently only one noun long — observations are related to each other through periods, line breaks, empty spaces. They die out instant to instant. But they're also connected by Marcia Arrieta's acute attention, the fingerpointingtothemoon-like unpredictability of her imagery. She is a wonderful observer, for whom the naming process and the names, the things and the silhouettes of their distances, "the literary symbol."* */period/ and "sea. clay. tree." belong to the same landscape, where "between the absolute." /period/ "the door is partially open." — Márton Koppány

The full catalog of Otoliths books can be found at The Otoliths Storefront<http://stores.lulu.com/l_m_young>

↑ Index

104. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh
Re: Nationalism
Mon 14 Mar 2011

Sounds very very interesting... you can make easily enough in Flash when you get the hang of it, or by using DHTML...

If you get it online, be sure to send the link!

Tomás

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

--- On Sat, 12/3/11, Jim Andrews <[redacted]> wrote:

From: Jim Andrews <[redacted]>
Subject: Nationalism
To: [redacted]
Date: Saturday, 12 March, 2011, 18:42

Sketch for interactive piece. Suggestions for improvement?

NATIONALISM

On the screen you see three flags. USA, Canada, Iraq.

Text over them:

"It is a serious offence
to clear thinking
to confuse patriotism
and flag waving."

When you click, the flags are cut into little squares and the pieces strewn over the stage.

Text over them: "Please reassemble the flags of the USA, Canada, and Iraq."

When they click, the text disappears.

The viewer can drag and drop the squares to reassemble the squares into flags. However, the sides of the squares are magnetic. They are attracted to squares that are not of their own flag. And they are repulsed by squares of the same flag.

ja
http://vispo.com

↑ Index

105. Ruth Lepson

FW: aaron's post

Mon 14 Mar 2011

------ Forwarded Message
From: Kate Greenstreet <[redacted]>
Date: Mon, 14 Mar 2011 13:40:31 -0400
To: Ruth Lepson <[redacted]>
Subject: aaron's post

POETRY WORKSHOPS

with Aaron Kiely

*Aaron Kiely is a New York-based poet. His book The Best of My Love was published by Ugly Duckling Presse and reviewed in The Colorado Review, The Boston Review, Rain Taxi Magazine and elsewhere. He edits Torch Magazine (Poetry and Visual Art) in New York and has published poets including Alice Notley, Charles Bernstein and Eileen Myles.

UPCOMING 2011 GROUP WORKSHOPS

*All workshops are for writers of any level of experience.

*Workshops meet once a week for 6 weeks--either on Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Saturdays.

MARCH 29--MAY 3
(Tuesdays, 7-9 pm)

MARCH 30--MAY 4
(Wednesdays, 7-9 pm)

APRIL 2--MAY 7
(Saturdays, 3-5 pm)

*In these workshops, students will share their poems and receive feedback and suggestions for their writing. We will look at poems by Juliana Spahr, Anselm Berrigan, Lisa Jarnot, Allen Ginsberg, Eileen Myles, Jack Spicer, James Merrill, Charles Bukowski and others. We will also look at contemporary poetry from various languages translated into English. Included in the price of the workshop is one private meeting to discuss the student's poems.

*All group workshops are $225, each workshop is limited to 12 students.

*Workshops are held at the writer's home in Williamsburg, Brooklyn, 2 minutes walk from the Bedford stop on the L Train.

*FOR RESERVATIONS AND QUESTIONS please call [redacted]
<tel:[redacted]> or email [redacted]

↑ Index

106. Joel Weishaus
"Of Place Itself."
Mon 14 Mar 2011

Dear Friends and Colleagues;

Discussion on what a place is extends in the West at least as far back as Aristotle, and continues to be a central concern of philosophy, archaeology, poetry, photography and myriad other fields.

After having lived in, or passed through, more places than I can readily recall, I decided it was time to look into the matter. "Of Place Itself," the piece of Digital Literary Art I've been working on for the past ten months, is the result:

Archive Site:
http://www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/Place/Cover.htm

Mirror Site:
http://web.pdx.edu/~pdx00282/Place/Cover.htm

My warm regards to everyone.
-Joel

Homepage:
http://web.pdx.edu/~pdx00282/
Digital Archive:
www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/index.htm
Paper Archive:
http://rmoa.unm.edu/docviewer.php?docId=nmu1mss456bc.xml

↑ Index

107. Laura Hinton

On Chant de la Sirene: Rae Armantrout in conversation at the recent Louisville Conference

Mon 14 Mar 2011

What do drinking women really talk about?

Check out my new blog post at:

http://www.chantdelasirene.com/2011/03/conversation-over-cognac-with-rae.html

Laura Hinton
Professor of English
City College of New York
138 at Convent Ave.
New York, New York 10031

http://www.mermaidtenementpress.com http://www.chantdelasirene.com

↑ Index

108. Jennifer Karmin

March 16: Eileen Myles & Ed Roberson in Chicago

Mon 14 Mar 2011

Da
Wednesday, March 16th
Eileen Myles & Ed Roberson
7:30PM sharp

Danny's Tavern
located at 1951 W. Dickens
Chicago, Illinois

21+ (please bring ID)
http://dannys.noslander.com

EILEEN MYLES was born in Boston and moved to New York in 1974. Her Inferno (a poet's novel) is just out from OR books. For her collection of essays, The Importance of Being Iceland, she received a Warhol/Creative Capital grant. Sorry Tree is her most recent book of poems. In 2010 the Poetry Society of America awarded Eileen the Shelley Prize. She is a Prof. Emeritus of Writing at UC San Diego. She lives in New York.

ED ROBERSON is the author of eight books of poetry, including To See the Earth Before the End of the World (Wesleyan). He is the recipient of the Poetry Society of Americaâ€™s Shelley Memorial Award and the Lila Wallaceâ€“Readerâ€™s Digest Writersâ€™ Award, and his prior books have won the Iowa Poetry Prize and the National Poetry Series. Having retired from Rutgers University, Roberson currently lives in Chicago where he has taught at Columbia College Chicago, Northwestern University, and the University of Chicago.

↑ Index

109. Morgan Myers

Kind of an experiment in conceptual reviewing...

Tue 15 Mar 2011

...on Ben Lerner's "Mean Free Path."

http://www.critiquemanque.org/2011/02/5-books-3-ben-lerners-mean-free-path.html

Hope y'all enjoy.

↑ Index

110. Margaret Carson

March 23 in New York: Jonathan Mayhew, David Shapiro and Mark Statman at the Graduate Center

Tue 15 Mar 2011

Conversation: Apocryphal Lorca: Translation, Parody, Kitsch

Date: Wednesday, March 23
Time: 7pm,
Place: Martin E. Segal Theatre, The Graduate Center, CUNY, 365 Fifth Ave btwn
34th & 35th, New York

Federico García Lorca's poetry and poetics have been translated and creatively reimagined by generations of American poets. How can we begin to account for his legacy? Join Professor Jonathan Mayhew (Spanish and Portuguese, University of Kansas), author of the study Apocryphal Lorca: Translation, Parody, Kitsch (2009), poet David Shapiro, and poet and translator Mark Statman for a discussion of Lorca's work and his impact on American literature.

Co-sponsored by The Center for the Humanities, AELLA, the Doctoral Students' Council, the Ph.D. Program in Hispanic and Luso-Brazilian Literatures and Languages, and the Poetics Group

↑ Index

111. Adam Fieled

from Letters to Dead Masters: New Links

Tue 15 Mar 2011

These links are for pieces from the epistolary novel/long poem Letters to Dead Masters:

http://www.redroom.com/articlestory/letters-dead-masters-106

http://as-is.blogspot.com/2011/03/letters-to-dead-masters-115-adam-fieled.html

http://as-is.blogspot.com/2011/03/letters-to-dead-masters-101-adam-fieled.html

Many Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

112. Noah Eli Gordon

reading tour info: Las Cruces, Tucson, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Oakland, Ashland, Portland, Seattle, and Vancouver

Wed 16 Mar 2011

Dear folks,

Sommer Browning & I have new books out and we're going on a west coast reading tour, kicking things off with an internet reading @ HTML Giant.

Next week, we'll be in Las Cruces, Tucson, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Oakland, Ashland, Portland, Seattle, and Vancouver.

*

available now:

Sommer Browning's Either Way I'm Celebrating
http://tinyurl.com/4ary56f

Noah Eli Gordon's The Source
http://www.futurepoem.com/bookpages/thesource.html

*

Tour Dates

Wednesday, March 16th 9pm ETS
Reading Live on the internet @ HTML Giant with secret special guest Denver poets http://htmlgiant.com/
http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=198979620120046

Saturday, March 19th 6PM
with Richard Greenfield, Minal Singh, Carmen Giménez Smith, and Evan Lavender-Smith
MVS Studios
535 North Main Street
Las Cruces, NM
http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=153372308055197

Sunday, March 20th, 7:30pm
with Amber Nelson
Casa Libre en la Solana
228 N. 4th Avenue #2
Tucson, AZ 85705
http://www.casalibre.org/programs/trickhouse/mar11/mar11.html
http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=195006590519412

Monday, March 21, doors 7pm, reading 8pm.
with Aaron Belz
Arts Factory Bar and Bistro
107 E. Charleston
Las Vegas, NV
http://www.lasvegascac.org/events/neonlit_0321.jpg

Tuesday, March 22nd
with Eric Lindley, Janice Lee, Sandra de la Loza Night of Wonders @ Jen Hofer's pad 7:00 p.m.
(email noaheligordon(at)hotmail.com for info)
Los Angeles, CA

Wednesday, March 23rd. 7pm
Book Zoo
14 GLEN AVENUE
Oakland, CA
http://www.bookzoo.net/

Thursday, March 24th, 7pm
Case Coffee
1255 Siskiyou Blvd
Ashland, OR
(across the street from the university)

Friday, March 25th, 8pm
with Jennifer Denrow Bad Blood Reading Series
Work/Sound Gallery
820 SE Alder
Portland, OR

Saturday, March 26th, 7pm
Pilot Books
219 Broadway E
Seattle, WA 98102
http://www.pilotbooksseattle.com/
http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=185989651440534

Sunday, March 27th 8pm
with Jen Currin, Christine LeClerc, Broc Rossell, Brad Cran, Christine Leclerc, Ray Hsu, and Nikki Reimer
W2
151 Cordova St W
Vancouver, BC V6B 5K3, Canada
http://www.creativetechnology.org/
http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=103493223066872

Wednesday, May 11, 7:30 pm
The Danny's reading series
Danny's Tavern
1951 W Dickens
Chicago, IL
http://dannys.noslander.com/

*

on Sommer Browning's EITHER WAY I'M CELEBRATING
(http://tinyurl.com/4ary56f)

Sometimes I think Sommer Browning is a James Wright for the basic cable generation, at others the gorgeously deformed lovechild of H.D. and Groucho Marx. What I mean is I cannot categorize these poems, and that’s the highest compliment I can give any poetry. —Mathias Svalina

"All objections to progress," writes Hans Blumenberg, "could come down to the fact that it hasn't yet taken us far enough." That's philosophy--and it's funny--but no one would ever level the same complaint at pain or laughter, this fine book's subjects and two phenomena that can take human beings great distances almost immediately. Absolutely modern--but never resolutely maudlin--Sommer Browning doesn't settle for making it new; rather, she lets it bleed and gets us there on time. —Graham Foust

Well / I don't know / Sommer / Browning's new book / EITHER WAY I'M CELEBRATING / so different from mine / made me laugh /so it's no sin / it made me see this place anew / it moved me in my air-shield / Sommer / your heart was open as this cup. —Jean Valentine on Noah Eli Gordon's The Source (http://www.futurepoem.com/bookpages/thesource.html)

*

"When the Source is formed and expressed in words, writing, it is true, has shaped it, but the spirit of the Source--the creative urge it represents, the feeling it expresses and evokes, and even in large part its subject matter, comes from only two words: 'is' and 'are.' "

We read these words on page 26 of The Source, Noah Eli Gordon's strange and haunting cento--a book assembled from thousands of instances of page 26, as found in the volumes of the Denver Public Library, their deployment of our alphabet with its twenty-six letters yielding an astonishing variety of source material that constitutes Noah Eli Gordon's adventure in numerology. Language is literally charged with meaning in exciting new ways. —Marjorie Perloff

Reduced choice is still choice, and we find what we look for. As Tzara said, describing a more strictly aleatory process of composition: "the poem will resemble you." So Noah Eli Gordon has stitched hundreds of fragments into an intriguing, often funny synopticon of our culture and its/his nostalgia for transcendence. And though the book warns, "the Source is to be taken in very small doses," the total effect is exhilarating. —Rosmarie Waldrop

Noah Eli Gordon's The Source, stretches a permeable skin around ruptured repositories of human thought-structures while sustaining itself, and us, on a nutritive broth of glorious language plunder, bibliomancy, Kabbalist numerology, and exquisitely attuned appropriations. Just as The Source "understands a pattern and works against it" it also is a finely hewn compendium of appropriations culled systematically from page 26 of thousands of the books in the open stacks of the Denver Public Library. What is contained is what is content: socio-cultural shards of language, "like a Roman shirt, stitched from the scraps of various sources, keeping us warm." The Source embodies a text that is at once time binding--a product of its own placement in current conceptual poetics, as well as an archive of its own body through constrained ingestion of borrowed material. According to the Source's own page 26 "...the spirit of the Source--the creative urge it represents...even in large part its subject matter, comes from only two words 'is' and 'are.'" In other words, Noah Eli Gordon's The Source gifts us with a methodically repurposed text that keeps on giving. —Kim Rosenfield

By applying a hypertextual model to paper-bound books in a library, Noah Eli Gordon turns the electronic equation on its ear, making us realize that our engagement with every kind of media--analog and digital--has forever been altered. By literally surfing though a library, Gordon has convincingly shown us that writing still has the potential to be personal, meaningful and spiritual without our ever having written a word of it. —Kenneth Goldsmith

↑ Index

113. CA Conrad
Zurawski, Vitiello, Jaramillo on JUPITER 88
Wed 16 Mar 2011

Magdalena Zurawski, Chris Vitiello, and Laura Jaramillo are the latest poets to appear on JUPITER 88, a video journal of contemporary poetry.

http://JUPITER88poetry.blogspot.com

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

114. CA Conrad
Asheville, North Carolina...
Wed 16 Mar 2011

...I'm reading at MALAPROPS Bookshop later this week, and CAN'T WAIT as MALAPROPS is one of my favorite indy bookshops!
Details for event at http://CAConradevents.blogspot.com

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

115. Eric Dickey
toegoodpoetry.com
Thu 17 Mar 2011

---

newly updated www.toegoodpoetry.com featuring my dear friend Sarah Lynn HarwellCheck it out. Like it. Share it. Love it.

↑ Index

116. Adam Fieled
Fieled's Miscellaneous: Apparition Poems Outtakes
Thu 17 Mar 2011

New on Adam Fieled's Miscellaneous: three sets of Apparition Poems outtakes:

Pt.1
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/03/apparition-poems-outtakes-pt1.html

Pt.2
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/03/apps-outtakes-pt2.html

Pt.3
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/03/apparition-poems-outtakes-pt3.html

Hope you like,
Adam

↑ Index

117. Micah Robbins
Sous Les Pavés III
Thu 17 Mar 2011

Sous Les Paves III (largely given over to individuals with first-hand experience of the protests in the UK and entirely dedicated to the spirit of dissent and revolt) is now available and features work by:

Jay James May
Lara Buckerton
Frances Kruk
Susan Briante
Francesca Lisette
Goat Far DT
Richard Owens
Sean Bonney
Justin Katko

Elliott Colla
Debrah Morkun
Tomas Weber
Linh Dinh
Danny Hayward
Keston Sutherland
Pocahontis Mildew
Sommer Browning
Collective Anon
j/j hastain
David Hadbawnik

Sous Les Paves is a FREE bi-monthly publication distributed by mailing list only and funded by the generous donations of its readers. If you find this publication of value, please consider donating at http://interbirthbooks.com/?page_id=161 (we cannot carry on without your material support).

Out-of-print back issues can be read, downloaded and printed for FREE at http://souslespavesonline.wordpress.com/

To join the mailing list, please forward your physical mailing address to [redacted]

Yrs.

Micah Robbins

↑ Index

118. Jennifer Karmin
March 19: Rites of Spring in Chicago
Fri 18 Mar 2011

---

at BALL HALL
1621 N. Kedzie Ave #3

SATURDAY, MARCH 19th
8pm-1am

at BALL HALL
1621 N. Kedzie Ave #3
Chicago, Illinois
byob + friends

The, once again, anticipated introduction of Spring.
A movement out of death, into life and a movement in general.
A full moon, a new season, another evening of new work ending with the sacrifice for the vernal equinox.

FEATURING:

Laboratory Dancers â€“ "Dove Tales" choreographed by Haley Bergschneider

Laura Goldstein - "Facts of Light"

Jennifer Karmin â€“ "America, A Love Poem"

Daniela Olszewska - celebrating the birth of "Halfsteps + Cloudfang" published by Plumberries Press

Edwin R. Perry â€“ "Annuals"

KG Price â€“ "The Sacrifice"

More info at http://www.plumberriespress.wordpress.com

↑ Index

119. Jonathan Morse

Anything here for VisPo?

Sat 19 Mar 2011

---

http://jonathan-morse.blogspot.com/2011/03/words-seen-prose-vs-image.html

↑ Index

120. Adam Fieled

Apparition Poems Outtakes Pts.4-6

Sun 20 Mar 2011

Here, on Fieled's Miscellaneous, are the next three installments of the Apparition Poems Outtakes:

Pt.4
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/03/apparition-poems-outtakes-pt-4.html

Pt.5
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/03/apparition-poems-outtakes-pt5.html

Pt.6
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/03/apparition-poem-outtakes-pt6.html

Hope you like,
Adam Fieled

↑ Index

121. Eric Elshtain
Near Earth Objects and You
Sun 20 Mar 2011

New poetry on the Torino Scale by Cheyenne Nimes

http://beardofbees.com/nimes.html

Enjoy!

Eric Elshtain
Editor
Beard of Bees Press
http://www.beardofbees.com

↑ Index

122. Giuseppe Infante
By The Overpass, published by a new small press Overpass Books
Sun 20 Mar 2011

By The Overpass is a literary magazine published by the new small press, Overpass Books. Established in the winter of 2011, OVRPS Books has been advocating a community of writers from all over the world at our monthly readings in Brooklyn, amongst a writing community at Long Island University and in the first issue of By The Overpass.

Our plan is to have the magazine come out quarterly. Issue 2 submission deadline is May 1st and submission guidelines on our website, http://www.overpassbooks.com. Along with By The Overpass, other books of poetry are to be released in the latter half of 2011 from writers John Casquarelli, Giuseppe Infante and Kyle De Ocera.

The first issue of By The Overpass features 120 pages of poetry and fiction from John High, Lewis Warsh, Willie Perdomo, Uchenna Nduka, Murat Nemet- Nejat, Alex Mindt, Aimee Herman, Thomas Fucaloro, and Jamey Jones, among many other writers. Also, we will be featuring an interview in every issue -- for the first issue we have poet Anne Waldman.

By The Overpass was released on March 9, 2011 and can be purchased for delivery through our website or at St. Mark's Bookstore in NYC for $10. Subscriptions are also available through our website.

Thank you!

Giuseppe Infante
Founding Co-editor
Overpass Books

589 18th Street
Brooklyn, N.Y. 11218
[redacted]
http://www.overpassbooks.com

↑ Index

123. Mark Young

Out from Otoliths — j/j hastain's "the ulterior eden"

Sun 20 Mar 2011

---

the ulterior eden

j/j hastain

56 pages

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9808785-0-9

$11.75 + p&h

URL: http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/the-ulterior-eden/14953436

the ulterior eden presents us with a contemporary Song of Songs in which allegory is subverted by eros into a more explicit and boldly unconventional passion. Large with life and ecstatic with the “names and innumerable sensations” of adoration, this communion joins beloved and beloved in the erotic chaos of a “newest pronoun.” j/j hastain makes this pact of bounty both politically and spiritually charged, shaping poetry’s intimacies as a means through which we can “mature all historical/grief/ into luminosity. —Elizabeth Robinson

j/j hastain’s poems thrust through language's own limits, opening it, re-making it to carry ideas it could not otherwise accommodate, “like a neoteric intimacy all pluck-penitent”, “the dispositions we intone rather than recant.” Short-circuiting erasure, j/j’s verbo-visual texts create a space for embodied being which transcends binaries, oppositions, proffers instead the gap into which we must leap. hastain reimagines the possibles in an ecstasy of sound/sounding and meditation, “a thing overflowing with curvature truths and tugs… an inter-ethereal design that renders its subjects submerged” in a new real. These erotic, potent, spiritual poems cast us in between, inside, loose but never aloof, as we enter into an evolutionary dialogos. A discourse through wilderness into a new wild . A birth, a dream, a text of being, hastain’s poems and image-poems “midwife” a new body, lover-and-beloved, “feral heart” beating against our ribcage, “a newest pronoun” exploding on the page. —

Marthe Reed

The full catalog of Otoliths books can be found at The Otoliths Storefront<http://stores.lulu.com/l_m_young>
.

↑ Index

124. The Paris Review

Roberto Bolaño, Ann Beattie, et al in the new Paris Review

Mon 21 Mar 2011

The Spring Issue: Available in bookstores and online!
http://store.theparisreview.org/collections/back-issues

Subscribe: http://store.theparisreview.org/collections/subscribe

Featuring Roberto BolaÃ±o, Ann Beattie, Janet Malcolm, and much more.

INTERVIEW

_The Art of Fiction No. 209 _Ann Beattie "The interplay between character and external world is something that realist writers always dealt with conscientiously, and it started to drop out with minimalism. Hemingway dropped it out, too, but even in his stories there tends to be a volley going on between the environment and the char- acter. Carver wonâ€™t say what the volley is. None of us will."

Read an excerpt â€º
http://www.theparisreview.org/interviews/6070/the-art-of-fiction-no-209-ann-beattie

INTERVIEW

_The Art of Nonfiction No. 4 _Janet Malcolm "I think that one never completely moves beyond the pull of the personal in any human encounter. But I think that when journalists remember that the interview is a special sort of encounter, and withhold some of their natural friendliness, they donâ€™t lose anything by it. The subject doesnâ€™t notice. He wants to tell his story. And when the journalist retells the story in a way the subject cannot anticipate, he doesnâ€™t feel like such a rat."

Read an excerpt â€º
http://www.theparisreview.org/interviews/6073/the-art-of-nonfiction-no-4-janet-malcolm

FICTION

_The Third Reich: Part I
_Roberto BolaÃ±o
The first of four installments from Roberto BolaÃ±o's _The Third Reich_, accompanied by illustrations by Leanne Shapton.

DOCUMENT

_When I Look at a Strawberry, I Think Of a Tongue _Ã‰douard LevÃ© When I was young, I thought _Life: A Userâ€™s Manual_ would teach me how to live and _Suicide: A Userâ€™s Manual_ how to die. I donâ€™t really listen to what people tell me. I forget things I donâ€™t like. I look down dead-end streets. The end of a trip leaves me with a sad aftertaste the same as the end of a novel. I am not afraid of what comes at the end of life. I am slow to realize when someone mistreats me, it is always so surprising: evil is somehow unreal.

Read an excerpt â€º
http://www.theparisreview.org/letters-essays/6078/when-i-look-at-a-strawberry-i-think-of-a-tongue-edouard-leve

PORTFOLIO

Collage Curated by Pavel Zoubok The modern history of the cut-up - begins with the advertising age and the Victorian craze for scrapbooks. Later, with Cubism, Dada, and Surrealism, collage became a form of modernist protest against bourgeois good taste. (Clement Greenberg called it â€œthe pasted--paper revolution.â€) Now collage and its close cousinsâ€”bricolage, dÃ©collage, and assemblage, all methods of crafting new work from old materialsâ€”are such familiar gestures that we may overlook the genre altogether.

Read an excerpt â€º
http://www.theparisreview.org/art-photography/6080/collage-pavel-zoubok

POETRY

_Leaving the Empty Room
_Stephen Dunn
The door had a double lock,
and the joke was on me.
You might call it protection against self, this joke,
and it wasnâ€™t very funny:
I kept the door locked in order to think twice.

Read more â€º
http://www.theparisreview.org/poetry/6076/leaving-the-empty-room-stephen-dunn

POETRY

_Five Poems of Kabbalah
_Translated by Peter Cole
At the hour of mercy, at dusk, we'll talk of my secret pain:
They say, there's youth in the worldâ€”
What happened to mine?

From "Bring Me In Under Your Wing"

Read an excerpt â€º
http://www.theparisreview.org/poetry/6081/five-poems-of-kabbalah-various-authors

ALSO IN THE MAGAZINE

New fiction from Joshua Cohen. John Jeremiah Sullivan on cave archaeology. Poems by Clare Rossini, Chris Andrews, and Linda Gregerson.

See the Full Table of Contents â€º http://www.theparisreview.org/back-issues/196

OUR SPECIAL TOTE BAG OFFER

Before you run to your local bookstore, listen to this. Every spring, we design a special tote bag for the generous donors who attend our Revel. This year, given the excitement surrounding our Year of BolaÃ±o, we have a special offer for our subscribers new and old. Subscribe or renew today, and you'll receive this limited-edition tote bag plus four issues of _The Paris Review_ (and the entirety of Roberto Bolano's _The Third Reich_)â€”all for $45!

Visit Our Store â€º
http://store.theparisreview.org/products/our-special-tote-bag-offer

Copyright Â© 2011 The Paris Review Foundation | 62 White Street, New York, New York 10013

http://us1.forward-to-friend.com/forward?u=ba34ae29824bc79fed69cc5f5&id=f50c3add85&e=7f8caa2f2a

↑ Index

125. Deborah A. Meadows

a new book of poetry: Saccade Patterns by Deborah Meadows

Mon 21 Mar 2011

Just to announce a new book of poetry: Saccade Patterns by Deborah Meadows from Geoffrey Gatza's BlazeVOX [books]

Publisher Web site: http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/saccade-patterns-by-deborah-meadows-226/

Saccade Patterns explores vision, the erotic gaze, and social discernment. The book opens with a shuffled text that dismantles melodrama by inscribing primate capacity for abstract thought. There's even a list of possible names for a pet cricket that follows a mathematic iteration. The poems seem to ask how an ekphrastic poem based on the story of Tristan und Isolde illumines the oldest gaze of love and eros. "Highways out to desert proving grounds" lead to technologically-enhanced vision, failures in our "dynastic speed-up."

On Saccade Patterns

Some crazy inter-speciation all relative going on here. Keep up the reflexes. But without rules, no axiomatic set — or: something takes over the rules. Words thinking, re-rule, feel. Need de-bunking? Gladiatorial spoof, dirty rimshots — "how squeeze structures". "Will/we fall out/of our shadows?" The subject self-perfumes, not too allegorized. Engines lighten touch on proximate jitters strapped to the galaxy. Your bestiary or mine. Pleasure gives outlandish learning: resist containment. We're leaning in toward its surface, likely haptic, "shot sub-surface" multiplication just gets us going. "how/underneath" — let's facilitate: "try to dance".

— Bruce Andrews

Some things which come to mind are, and of course not all in a derivative way but rather in the way of communion (the way a string from one's sweater will end up in a wren's nest), are Leslie Scalapino's Way and Christopher Smart's cataloging poems. What is so very strong in Meadows' work is its precision in thought and its power of accrual. I see these texts as sincere evidence of a parsing intelligence; taking cross-sections of the world at varying widths and preparing them (by whatever means required) for exploration. This is infinitesimal vision; vision which casts the bonds of the world in bright relief.

—Lance Phillips

This book by Deborah Meadows is surprising in its audacity. Few texts can assemble and recompose themselves like these, through a process: the gaze (Cubist) takes in the fragment, the splinter, and then their whole. Thus each detail is foreseen, chosen in advance for an aesthetic solution, like a puzzle setting in the substance of its lines: porous, material, bright, liquid. You feel the vision, her way of seeing, and you learn to see that which is different through her angle of subjectivity. A window opening to a landscape of the mind, of time. An original space gained, trimmed out in shapes of paper, light. A strange geography that motivates me to revisit its point of view, located not in the subject but in the thing it refracts toward the other – a viewer proposing that this refracted thing may be an instant won out of loss, out of the ordinary. Meadows paints and sculpts with words, provoking the eye to turn toward memories, and toward impossibility. —Reina María Rodríguez, Havana, Cuba (Kristin Dykstra, trans.)

# #

##

↑ Index

126. Robert Dewhurst

Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo

Mon 21 Mar 2011

MODES OF LOVE & REASON: A BERNADETTE MAYER SYMPOSIUM
April 1st, 2011
University at Buffalo

Please join us in Buffalo this April 1st to celebrate the life and work of the one and only Bernadette Mayer. Although arguably the most wildly influential USAmerican poet of the past forty years, Bernadette Mayer's work has seldom taken center stage in scholarship and literary histories of the period. This long-overdue celebration of Mayer's life and work will begin to redress this situation, and will consist in equal measures of devoted fandom and rigorous study – of "love" and of "reason." Approaching Mayer as a poet, teacher, Conceptual artist, and small-press impresario, the symposium program brings together a diverse ensemble of contemporary poets, scholars, archivists, and editors to investigate and honor the many dimensions of Mayer's relentless and virtuosic practice. The symposium will crescendo in the evening with a performance by Mayer herself.

Critical panels will feature scholars Lee Ann Brown (St. John's University), Stephen Cope (Bard College), Caitlin Newcomer (Florida State University), Deborah Poe (Pace University), Sam Truitt (Station Hill Press), and Joey Yearous-Algozin (UB).

A roundtable of contemporary poets discussing their own 'elective affinities' with Mayer will feature CAConrad, Dorothea Lasky, and Brenda Coultas.

Full details and symposium schedule:
http://english.buffalo.edu/mayersymposium

Day program: 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., the UB Poetry Collection (420 Capen Hall)
Evening reading: 8 p.m., the Karpeles Manuscript Museum (453 Porter Ave)

↑ Index

127. George Quasha
8 axial drawings called "dakini drawings"
Mon 21 Mar 2011

I just added to my site the 8 recent axial drawings called "dakini drawings": these are related to the principle that governs the composition in axial poetics, e.g., "preverbs" as in my recent book "Verbal Paradise" from Zasterle Press.

One should scroll down to the 8 thumbnails to enlarge each--this group unaccountably created its own subtype:
http://www.quasha.com/axial-art/axial-drawing?album=1&gallery=6

--
George Quasha
124 Station Hill Road
Barrytown, NY 12507

[redacted] (home)
[redacted] (cell)

www.quasha.com
www.baumgartnergallery.net
www.stationhill.org

↑ Index

128. Steven Zultanski
SEGUE PRESENTS: BRANDON BROWN + ELIZABETH FODASKI
Tue 22 Mar 2011

SEGUE PRESENTS:

BRANDON BROWN +
ELIZABETH FODASKI

This Saturday, March 26th

SEGUE READING SERIES
BPC
4 PM
$6

March 26th - Brandon Brown + Elizabeth Fodaski

BRANDON BROWN is from Kansas City, Missouri. He has two forthcoming books, The Persians By Aeschylus (Displaced Press) and The Poems of Gaius Valerius Catullus (Krupskaya). He is currently blogging for the San Francisco MOMA, publishing small press books under the imprint OMG!, and translating Baudelaire.

ELIZABETH FODASKI is the author of Fracas (Krupskaya 1999) and Document (Roof 2010). Recent work has appeared in The Brooklyn Rail, Jacket, and Fence. She lives in Brooklyn, where she teaches English at Saint Ann's School.

Saturday, March 26th
4-6 PM
The Bowery Poetry Club, 308 Bowery
$6 admission goes to readers

February/March Segue Readings are curated by Nada Gordon and Steven Zultanski. The Segue Reading Series is made possible by the support of The Segue Foundation. Visit seguefoundation.com, bowerypoetry.com, or call [redacted] for more information.

UP NEXT:

April 2nd - Bruce Andrews + Nada Gordon

↑ Index

129. tony iantosca
New Poetry Journal Release Party in Brooklyn
Tue 22 Mar 2011

The poetry journal Sun's Skeleton will host a release party and reading at Unnameable Books on March 26th at 6 p.m. Unnameable Books is at 600 Vanderbilt Avenue in Brooklyn. The poets who will read are: Stephanie GrayMA VizsolyiMarc PaltrineriTony IantoscaDan Owen About Sun's Skeleton: Sun's Skeleton is a poetry journal published by Consciousmess Press, a small independent press in Brooklyn, NY specializing in publishing Sun's Skeleton. The journal started in 2010 with a small, staple bound, 36-page issue, featuring a cover by painter Trudy Benson. This first issue showcased poetry by Uche Nduka, Stephanie Gray, Tony Iantosca, Dan Owen, and Marc Paltrineri, among others. After an unusually well-attended release party at the 11th St. bar in August, the editors began working on issue two, collecting new and interesting poetry from their little pool of friends and colleagues. The result is a longer and more beautiful hand-stitched journal with block-printed covers by artist Pareesa Pourian. They can be admired and previewed at www.sunsskeleton.com, but for a full sunny-skeletal experience, you'll just have to come to our release party and buy one.

↑ Index

130. Andy Gricevich

Cannot Exist: presale on new chaps by Conrad, Harrison, Larsen and Mynes, plus Issue no.7!

Tue 22 Mar 2011

We are overjoyed to announce the first four volumes in the new series of Cannot Exist chapbooks, helped into being by editors Andy Gricevich and Lewis Freedman: MUGGED Into Poetry by CAConradBridge of the World by Roberto HarrisonThe Hallucinated by Sara LarsenHow's the Cows by Jess Mynes and also the imminent appearance of Cannot Exist no.7, featuring astonishing work by:John ColettiCAConradCorina CoppBeverly DahlenConnie DeanovichLaura ElrickMike HauserHailey HigdonSara LarsenKit RobinsonRon SillimanDana Ward All this will be coming in APRIL! To help them into material existence, we're offering pre-publication discounts on single volumes, and even bigger ones when you order two, three, four, or all five volumes. Cover price will be $5.oo each, plus shipping for mail orders. Order now, and you can get any two volumes for $9.00, three for $13.00, four for $17.00, or all five for $20.

Details are here:
http://cannotexist.blogspot.com

Thanks for helping us spread the work of these amazing poets!

↑ Index

131. Jennifer Karmin

Red Rover Series / Experiment #44

Tue 22 Mar 2011

Experiment #44:
Red Rover Series
{readings that play with reading}

Experiment #44:
Chat & Shout

SATURDAY, MARCH 26th
7pm / doors lock 7:30

Featuring:

The Ladies Ring Shout
(Felicia Holman, Abra Johnson & Meida McNeal)

& Adam Roberts with collaborators
Erika Jo Brown, Matthew Klane & BJ Love

at Outer Space Studio
1474 N. Milwaukee Ave
Chicago, Illinois
suggested donation $4

logistics --
near CTA Damen blue line
third floor walk up
not wheelchair accessible

ERIKA JO BROWN is from New York, where she founded the Chinatown reading series Floetry at 169. She is editor of Stretching Panties magazine, an oft-annual print collection of experimental poetry, architecture and drawing. Her poems can be found at H_NGM_N, Spork and Back Room Live. Further Adventures Press just published her chapbook, What a Lark! Sheâ€™s currently a MFA candidate at the Iowa Writersâ€™ Workshop.

FELICIA HOLMAN, is, by trade, a Certified Personal Trainer with both the National Academy of Sports Medicine and the National Strength and Conditioning Association. However, her lifelong passion for performance/expression and creativity motivated her charter membership with the Chicago-based womenâ€™s performance collective, Ladies Ring Shout (LRS). As a founding member of LRS, Felicia has helped build evocative performance pieces that confront/explore such notions as sexuality, home, race, history, and memory.

ABRA JOHNSON teaches with the City Colleges of Chicago and its Bridge Program with DePaul University. Having scholarly interests in representations of race/ethnicity, gender, sexuality, and class in popular music, she will be travelling to Savannah, Georgia to study Gullah and Ogeechee African-American subcultures as a National Endowment for the Humanities Community College Faculty Fellow.

MATTHEW KLANE is editor and co-founder of Flim Forum Press. His book is B_____ Meditations (Stockport Flats, 2008). Recent work can be found in Taiga, muthafucka, Harp&Altar, and Word For/Word. He currently lives and writes in Iowa City.

BJ LOVE is the author of Michigander (Greying Ghost, 2010), We are Two Bastards (Indivia, forthcoming) and A Revisionist History...(Small Fires, 2011) with Friedrich Kerksieck. Additionally, he is an MFA candidate in the University of Iowa Writer's Workshop and the editor of Further Adventures Chapbooks & Pamphlets.

MEIDA MCNEAL (PhD Performance Studies, Northwestern University) is an Independent Artist and Scholar, a 2010 Chicago Dancemakers Forum Lab Artist, Dance Researcher for the Chicago Artists Resource Web Project and a Teaching Artist with Changing Worlds, a nonprofit educational arts organization. In addition to developing a number of performance projects, Meida is currently completing her first book-length manuscript â€œCompromised Subjectivities: Constructing Trinidadian Nationhood and Navigating Postcolonial Caribbean Performanceâ€ based on over ten years of ethnographic research in Trinidad.

ADAM ROBERTS grew up in Rhode Island, and is currently a post-graduate fellow at the University of Iowa. He's the author of the chapbook "Poem in Four Parts" and the epic blogger poem "Jersey Shore."

RED ROVER SERIES is curated by Laura Goldstein and Jennifer Karmin. Each event is designed as a reading experiment with participation by local, national, and international writers, artists, and performers. The series was founded in 2005 by Amina Cain and Jennifer Karmin.

UPCOMING
April 2: Cris Mazza, Davis Schneiderman & Lidia Yuknavtich

April 8: A Tribute to Akilah Oliver
Kate Sloan Fiffer, Krista Franklin, Jenny Henry, J'Sun Howard, Jennifer Karmin, John Keene, Kevin Kilroy, Marie Larson, Adrienne Dodt, Todd McCarty & Marissa Perel
co-presented with the Midwest Naropa Writers

May 2-6: Chicago Durutti Skool with Frank Rogaczewski
seminar @ poetry & social existence from anarchist/marxist perspective
----> open to all, to participate email [redacted]

May 28: Serena Chopra, Michael Flatt, Oren Silverman & Nancy Stohlman

June 11: Daniel Borzutzky, Krista Franklin, Judith Goldman,
Carla Harryman & Konrad Steiner neo-benshi
co-presented with the Chicago Poetry Project

Email ideas for reading experiments
to us at [redacted]

The schedule for events is listed at http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

↑ Index

132. Shankar, Ravi (English)

Celebrate Mason¹s Road a literary and arts journal sponsored by Fairfield University's MFA in Creative Writing Program

Tue 22 Mar 2011

Mason's Road Party

Friday, April 1, 7 p.m.

Dolan School of Business Dining Room |
Fairfield University | 1073 N. Benson | Fairfield, CT

Join us one and all for a celebration of the first year of publication of Mason’s Road, an online literary and arts journal run by Fairfield University MFA students. We will present our first $500 creative writing award to C. Joseph Jordan and Skype in Brandi Dawn Henderson and Luke Gerber for "global citizenship" readings from India and Israel, along with other readings from contributors. Wine & cheese reception to follow.

To reserve your seat, R.S.V.P. Laura Keller, [redacted], [redacted]

For more info, go to masonsroad.com

↑ Index

133. Belladonna Series

Upcoming Belladonna Reading: 4/19

Tue 22 Mar 2011

Please consider forwarding this announcement to interested parties. Thanks!

Tuesday, April 19, 2011; 7:00 pm
Flux Poetics: Writing in Cultural Duality
Belladonna* Collaborative is pleased to present three remarkable poet artists who write and live in dual or multiple cultures and languages. Performances will be followed by conversation moderated by Lila Zemborain.

Cecilia VicuÃ±a: Poet and artist, born in Chile, she performs and exhibits her work widely in Europe, Latin America and the US. She is also a political activist and founding member of Artists for Democracy. VicuÃ±a has published more than 18 books of poems including QUIPOem, The Precarious, and The Art & Poetry of Cecilia VicuÃ±a, Wesleyan University Press. In 2010/11 her poem-film Kon Kon Pi was exhibited at New York's MOMA. She lives in New York and Chile.

Tsering Wangmo Dhompa is the author of My rice tastes like the lake (Apogee Press) and In the Absent Everyday and Rules of the House (Apogee Press). Tsering attended Lady Shri Ram College (Delhi University), University of Massachussetts, and San Francisco State University. Her publications include two chapbooks, In Writing the Names (A.bacus, Potes & Poets Press) and Recurring Gestures (Tangram Press). Tsering grew up in the Tibetan exile communities of Nepal and India and now lives in San Francisco.

Carmen GimÃ©nez Smith is assistant professor of creative writing at New Mexico State University, publisher for Noemi Press, and Editor-in-Chief of Puerto Del Sol. She is the author of Odalisque in Pieces, Bring Down the Little Birds, and her forthcoming collection, Trees Outside the Academy, which will be published in November 2011.

Curated by Krystal Languell and Rachel Levitsky.

Location: Dixon Place: 161 Chrystie Street; New York, NY
Admission: $6
This event is supported, in part, with funding from Poets & Writers

↑ Index

134. Rob McLennan
Amanda Earl on Literary Ottawa
Tue 22 Mar 2011

Amanda Earl's five literary things about Ottawa on Open Book Ontario;

http://www.openbookontario.com/news/five_things_literary_ottawa_ontario

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

135. David Kirschenbaum
Boog City presents No Press and Rorie Kelly
Wed 23 Mar 2011

---

please forward

Boog City presents

d.a. levy lives: celebrating the renegade press

No Press
(Calgary, Alberta, Canada)

Tues., March 29, 6:00 p.m. sharp, free

ACA Galleries
529 W. 20th St., 5th Flr.
NYC

Event will be hosted by
No Press publisher
Derek Beaulieu

Featuring readings from

Kevin McPherson Eckhoff
Rob Fitterman
Charles Gute
Jake Kennedy
Rachel Zolf

and music from

Rorie Kelly

There will be wine, cheese, and crackers, too.

Curated and with an introduction by Boog City editor David Kirschenbaum

---

No Press
http://derekbeaulieu.wordpress.com/

No Press was founded by Derek Beaulieu in 2005. After the cessation of publishing his housepress imprint (1997-2004) Beaulieu returned to publishing as "no press" as means of publishing and circulating experimental, conceptual and concrete poetries. Dedicated to small press forms - leaflets, broadsides, chapbooks, pamphlets and other ephemeral forms - no press has released almost 200 publications in 6 years (averaging 1 every 2 weeks) in editions of between 5 and 100. Items are often out of print the same as publication, and represent a truly ephemeral means of distributing these marginalized forms.

Kevin McPherson Eckhoff
http://kevinmcphersoneckhoff.wordpress.com/

Kevin McPherson Eckhoff likes visual poetry and even wrote Rhapsodomancy (Coach House). In theory, he is not afraid of snakes. His writing has vacationed in Open Letter, Fact*Simile, West Wind Review, and Issue One. Don’t try to feed him steak! He sleeps in Armstrong, B.C., with his dog-rescuing partner, Laurel, and “teaches” at Okanagan College with his very bff, Jake Kennedy (The Lateral, Snare Books). Together, Jake and Kevin are compiling a community-written novel called Death Valley.

Robert Fitterman
http://cwp.fas.nyu.edu/object/cwp.faculty.robertfitterman

Robert Fitterman is the author of 12 books of poetry. He grew up in a small suburb of St. Louis called Creve Coeur. His street is still flanked by a Shell gas station on one side and a Mobile station on the other. His writing is kinda conceptual and sorta involves identity issues that are complicated by the web. And the Mall. Recent titles include: Now We Are Friends (Truck Books), Rob the Plagiarist (Roof Books), and Notes On Conceptualisms, co-authored with Vanessa Place (Ugly Duckling Presse). He teaches writing and poetry at New York University and at the Bard College, Milton Avery School of Graduate Studies.

Charles Gute
http://www.charlesgute.com/

Charles Gute is a New York-based artist and editor. He has been awarded artist fellowships from the San Francisco Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation, and has twice been a MacDowell Colony Visual Arts Fellow. In 2010 he was awarded a VLA Art/Law Residency fellowship. His work has been in group exhibitions at venues including the Berkeley Art Museum (Berkeley), ZKM (Karlsruhe, Germany), the UCLA Hammer Museum (Los Angeles),Galerie Feinkost (Berlin), Ronald Feldman Gallery (Chicago), Brown Gallery (London), and Maccarone (New York). Solo exhibitions include “The Art Tax Act,” Patricia Sweetow Gallery, San Francisco, 2000; “Find-A-Text,” Jason Rulnick, Inc., New York, 2008; and “The Corrections,” Catharine Clark Gallery, San Francisco, 2010. A hardcover monograph on Gute’s work, Revisions and Queries, was published by The Ice Plant, Los Angeles, in 2008. In the summer of 2009 he presented a large-scale outdoor work at Socrates Sculpture Park in New York. In 2010 Gute created specially commissioned artist projects for publication in Frieze (March issue), Flash Art (March/ April issue), and Art Lies (summer issue). His work will be on view at Walden Projects in The Hague, the Netherlands, during summer 2011.

Rorie Kelly
http://www.roriekelly.com/

Rorie Kelly is a singer/songwriter and conquistadora originally from Long Island. Her main goal in life is to travel around in her little blue car and make music and art. She was recently named one of Long Island's "Top 10 Indie Artists You've Never Heard of" by Long Island Pulse Magazine and is about to release her first full length album, Wish Upon a Bottlecap. She is also a published writer of feminist blogs, music reviews, and poetry. More information and pretty songs can be found at the above link.

Jake Kennedy
http://snarebooks.wordpress.com/books/the-lateral-by-jake-kennedy/

Jake Kennedy is a poet, prose writer, and teacher. His work has appeared in a number of literary journals and anthologies. His chapbook, Hazard, is published by BookThug. Jake currently teaches in the English department at Okanagan College. Kennedy's first book, The Lateral, is a highly original and experimental book from a nimble poetic mind. It includes an elegiac found-long-poem that gathers all the “Acker” keyword tags from the Flickr database and reapplies them as words-of-lament for the revolutionary artist-writer Kathy Acker (1947-97), a series of prose-poem-ruminations that contemplate the optimal conditions for the poetry, and a section of poems that can only be described as the vulgar, unkempt cousin of Hugh Prather’s Notes to Myself.

Rachel Zolf
http://thetoleranceproject.blogspot.com/

Rachel Zolf’s fourth book of poetry is Neighbour Procedure (Coach House). She lives in Brooklyn.

Directions:
C/E to 23rd St., 1/9 to 18th St.
Venue is bet. 10th and 11th avenues

Next event:

Tues. April 26
Saturnalia Books
http://www.saturnaliabooks.com/
(Ardmore, Penn.)
Henry Israeli, president

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://welcometoboogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

136. Jesse Glass

Disembodied I at Clark Coolidge's St. Marks Reading Before the Earthquake and Tsunami

Wed 23 Mar 2011

Disembodied I traveled with his son Yoichi all the way from Japan to shake George Quasha's hand, eat Yugoslavian food (excellent) with George and artist helper (nice lady!)and then foot it over to St. Mark's to meet Clark Coolidge (nice guy!) and see him read. Disembodied I drew CC's picture while he read, he was so impressed by CC's stature & reading skill & of course words.

Disembodied I saw someone else read too (named slips him), and found the reading 1)energetic and 2) vastly appreciated by the poet's friends.

Disembodied then met Bruce Andrews and had lots of cud to chew.

The tribal energy at St. Marks impressed Disembodied I and reminded him of Mad Max movies--all that scrambling, sitting on floors--posing--climbing--it was a SCENE. It also reminded Disembodied of the Monday night readings at the Baltimore Theater Project way back in the 1970's, when Lucille Clifton would arrive late with friends and everyone would stop & say say: "Hi Lucille!" and Lucille would say: "Hi Everybody!" and even give out some hugs to special friends who stood up from sitting on cushions on the floor.

Disembodied I had a great time seeing everyone mostly young and sharing energy and co-existing, and believing that poetry really really matters, and that being in love matters (the first reader had a great Chinese (-American?) friend and we could tell from across the room that they were most probably IN LOVE and avant-garde too. (That's a heady combo! Disembodied I experienced that same dizzying mixture years ago!)

It was all so great. Disembodied knew that there were folks who would have recognized his name if he had said it, but he didn't say it because he was jet-lagged, modest, and ready to pass out. He greatly appreciated the company of George Quasha and his friend.

Shortly thereafter Disembodied saw the horror of the tsunami on CNN and needed to hurry back to Japan asap with his son in tow.

All's well, though.

Love to all;

Disembodied I, recollecting the past and trying to capture a slice of it for Eternity.

↑ Index

137. Bonnie MacAllister

CERTAIN CIRCUITS NEWS: Events, Call, Exhibit

Wed 23 Mar 2011

We do hope to you at our first exhibition and live event on April 9 in Philadelphia at the Eris Temple Artspace (runs April 9-May 28, see below for details), opening from 7 p.m-10 p.m. at 602 S. 52nd Street in West Philadelphia.

(To receive a postcard invitation, email [redacted] with your address.)

We wanted to highlight two other events that will be taking place in the space:

1) A Writers' Group Series with a potluck share (Bring a dish.)

First Date: Saturday April 16 5-8

Second Date: Sunday, May 22 5-8

The immediate goal is working toward the creation of a limited edition zine. All are welcome.

2) Eris Temple Artspace is hosting a Clothing Swap in the exhibit space featuring vendors, workshops, and performances TBA. Inquiries: [redacted]. The swap will be $3 for participants, $5 for vendors. Bring all of your clothing/items to donate to the swap and ultimately to Philly Aids Thrift. Refreshments will be offered. Barbecue if weather is permitting.

Please continue to share our Kickstarter proposal ($10 gets the issue): http://kck.st/dY99K4

We are currently compiling a list of links for the site, and we would love to highlight our peer sites on this page. Please send links to us in an email with "LINKS".

Also, certaincircuits.org will* launch more web content* on April 1 and then on May 1.

We are especially interested in highlighting multimedia on the site so our reading period remains open for multimedia, new media, art, and audio. We are currently closed to poetics and prose.

Also, Curator Bonnie MacAllister has been asked to speak at the opening of the SOAPBOX Independent Media and Publishing Center on Saturday, March 26 at 7, and she'll be mentioning the magazine so we'll love to see you out at that event. http://soapboxindependentpublishing.blogspot.com

*PRESS RELEASE AND LISTING: *

Certain Circuits: Collaborate Collaborator (multimedia art show), opens Saturday, April 9 with performances (Hal Sirowitz, Jeff Mark, Horsey, David Hewitt, Jane Cassady, Courtney Bambrick, natalie c. felix) and film (Brian and Ashley Howe, Jeff Siegel, Jim Tuite and Patrick Morris, Adam Zucker and Jason Maas, Bonnie MacAllister, Radio Eris), 7-10, 602 S. 52nd Street. (show runs April 9-May 28). $5 donation.

CERTAIN CIRCUITS: COLLABORATE COLLABORATOR AT ERIS TEMPLE ARTSPACE

Founded by artists, Certain Circuits publishes poetry, experimental prose, art, and new media. We are especially interested in documenting multimedia collaborative work between artists. We are curating our first show of member artwork, multimedia, and performance, COLLABORATE COLLABORATOR to take place on Saturday, April 9 from 7-10 at Eris Temple Artspace, 602 S. 52nd Street in West Philadelphia.

We are currently laying out print issue 1.1 which features work from artists in Australia, Brazil, France, Mexico, India, Oman, Japan, the United Kingdom, and the United States. We have launched a Kickstarter grant to fundraise for this issue, and we are 60% funded at press date.

The donations we receive at the opening of COLLABORATE COLLABORATOR will help fundraise for the print issue. Performers include Jeff Mark, Courtney Bambrick, Jane Cassady, David Hewitt, noise band Horsey, natalie c. felix, and Hal Sirowitz. All of these authors appear in the print and online issues of Certain Circuits.

House band, Radio Eris will screen their “Yellow” video which will also be part of the April multimedia issue of Certain Circuits online. On April 9, we will also how videos from the Certain Circuits multimedia site.

Exhibiting artists are Alison Altergott, Kirsten Ashley, Eleanor Leonne Bennet, natalie c. felix, David Hewitt, Brian and Ashley Howe, Joanna Fulginiti, Alexander Jorgensen, Amanda Lovelee, Bonnie MacAllister, Ana Viviane Minorelli, Rachel Udell, Jeff Siegel, Jim Tuite and Patrick Morris, Nico Vassilikas, Jed Williams, and Adam Zucker and Jason Maas.

Certain Circuits Magazine

www.certaincircuits.org

Tumblr: certaincircuits.tumblr.com

Facebook: certaincircuits

Twitter: certaincircuits

For all inquiries: [redacted]

↑ Index

138. Fisher, Johanna M

Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo

Wed 23 Mar 2011

Hello,

The link to the program is empty-I am interested in attending but need information.

Johanna Fisher
Adjunct Professor
English/women's studies

From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Robert Dewhurst [[redacted]]
Sent: Monday, March 21, 2011 4:12 PM
To: [redacted]
Subject: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo

MODES OF LOVE & REASON: A BERNADETTE MAYER SYMPOSIUM
April 1st, 2011
University at Buffalo

Please join us in Buffalo this April 1st to celebrate the life and work of the one and only Bernadette Mayer. Although arguably the most wildly influential USAmerican poet of the past forty years, Bernadette Mayer's work has seldom taken center stage in scholarship and literary histories of the period. This long-overdue celebration of Mayer's life and work will begin to redress this situation, and will consist in equal measures of devoted fandom and rigorous study – of "love" and of "reason." Approaching Mayer as a poet, teacher, Conceptual artist, and small-press impresario, the symposium program brings together a diverse ensemble of contemporary poets, scholars, archivists, and editors to investigate and honor the many dimensions of Mayer's relentless and virtuosic practice. The symposium will crescendo in the evening with a performance by Mayer herself.

Critical panels will feature scholars Lee Ann Brown (St. John's University), Stephen Cope (Bard College), Caitlin Newcomer (Florida State University), Deborah Poe (Pace University), Sam Truitt (Station Hill Press), and Joey Yearous-Algozin (UB).

A roundtable of contemporary poets discussing their own 'elective affinities' with Mayer will feature CAConrad, Dorothea Lasky, and Brenda Coultas.

Full details and symposium schedule:
http://english.buffalo.edu/mayersymposium

Day program: 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., the UB Poetry Collection (420 Capen Hall)
Evening reading: 8 p.m., the Karpeles Manuscript Museum (453 Porter Ave)

↑ Index

139. Louis Cabri

the Alphabet: A Symposium on Ron Silliman's Long Poem, 25-26 March 2011

Wed 23 Mar 2011

Ron Silliman's reputation, as critic, theorist, exponent of poetry's production as a socially relevant and collective act, arguably has preceded and to a degree guided how his poetry is to be received. But if a reader responds to the poetry, then how and what does she or he see and hear? "I'm writing to you," the text says in the section called "Lit." What is reading The Alphabet "like," for you?

the Alphabet: A Symposium on Ron Silliman's Long Poem
25-26 March 2011
C.A.W. Centre, University of Windsor
& World Marathon Ethiopian Restaurant Windsor, Ontario

schedule & details:
http://www.uwindsor.ca/thealphabetsymposium

Panel Discussions
Poetry Readings
Talk

All events free & open to the public.

Participants:

Brian Ang
Rae Armantrout
Braydon Beaulieu
Pierre Beaumier
Louis Cabri
Hilary Clark
Jeff Derksen
Jasmine Elliott
Ashley Girty
Carla Harryman
Michael Hessel-Mial
Brian Jansen
Elisabeth Joyce
Chris Kerr

Burt Kimmelman
Andrew Klobucar
Steve McCaffery
Marianne Olholm
Jed Rasula
Joshua Schuster
Barrett Watten
Timothy Yu

Special guest: Ron Silliman

↑ Index

140. Jared Schickling

eccolinguistics ////

Wed 23 Mar 2011

Dear All,

Announcing the release of the 2nd issue of Eccolinguistics, two or three weeks ahead of time.

Contributors in #2: Jasper Brinton, Luc Fierens, Whit Griffin, Jeff Harrison, j/j hastain, Kelley Irmen, Caroline Knapp, Abdellatif Laabi, Donal Mahoney, Philip Metres, Rico Moore, Robert Mukiibi, Cindy Savett, Sam Schild, Marc Thompson, Benjamin Winkler, Joshua Ware, Tyrone Williams

Eccolinguistics is a print publication distributed for free. Each issue seeks an eclectic gathering, responding to the work as it arrives. If you would like to send work or subscribe, write to:

[redacted]

Call for material / public service announcement available at:

eccolinguistics.blogspot.com

Happy reading ---

Jared

↑ Index

141. Jesse Glass

"For Japan"--A Suggestion from Disembodied I--St. Marks and Beyond Baroque?

Wed 23 Mar 2011

This is an idea that I've only shared with one friend, but I'd like to put it out on the List for your consideration:

I would like to suggest setting up readings to help fund recovery efforts in Sendai and points north. The earthquake, the tsunami, the radiation problem--the really terrible thing is that those that are most devastated are the most exposed--

The money could be donated to the Red Cross of Japan.

Two venues that immediately suggest themselves: St. Marks and Beyond Baroque, but others.

Also the idea of an anthology--a book that could be sold and the proceeds donated--

I'm in no position to publish anything--though I wish I could--but certainly feel that the effort would be a worthy one. CNN has moved on to cover yet another tragedy while Japan's continues to grow.

Sendai, and Hanamaki, and points north is poetry territory--lots of poets, fine poets, are from there. I don't know how many have died.

Just an idea from Disembodied I

Back Channel or front channel responses welcome.

↑ Index

142. Tim Peterson

Tendencies 3/28: Barbara Hammer, Maggie Nelson, & Janlori Goldman

Thu 24 Mar 2011

TENDENCIES: Poetics & Practice

Barbara Hammer, Maggie Nelson, and Janlori Goldman

This series of talks, titled in honor of Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick, invites artists from a variety of disciplines to explore the relationship between writing & artmaking practice, the manifesto, queer theory, and pedagogy.

The next event features talks by:

Barbara Hammer

Maggie Nelson

Janlori Goldman

...followed by a discussion/Q&A session.

on Monday, March 28

at 7 PM

at CUNY Graduate Center

(in the Skylight Room, 9100)

365 Fifth Avenue, NYC

Free Admission to the Public

Barbara Hammer is a visual artist working primarily in film and video and has made over 80 works in a career that spans 30 years. She is considered a pioneer of queer cinema. Her documentaries tell the stories of marginalized peoples who have been hidden from history and are often essay films that are multi-leveled and engage audiences viscerally and intellectually with the goal of activating them to make social change. Her memoir, HAMMER! Making Movies out of Sex and Life was recently published by the Feminist Press at CUNY and coincided with a retrospective at The Museum of Modern Art in New York City, the Reina Sophia in Madrid, and the Tate Modern in London. She teaches each summer at The European Graduate School in Saas-Fee, Switzerland. She lives and works in New York City.

Maggie Nelson is a poet, memoirist, critic, and scholar. She is the author of four books of nonfiction, The Art of Cruelty: A Reckoning (Norton, 2011), Bluets (Wave Books, 2009), Women, the New York School, and Other True Abstractions (University of Iowa Press, 2007), and The Red Parts: A Memoir (Free Press, 2007; named a Notable Book of the Year by the State of Michigan), and four books of poetry, Something Bright, Then Holes (Soft Skull Press, 2007), Jane: A Murder (Soft Skull, 2005; finalist, the PEN/ Martha Albrand Award for the Art of the Memoir), The Latest Winter (Hanging Loose Press, 2003) and Shiner (2001). She is the recipient of a 2008 Arts Writers grant from Creative Capital, a 2010 Guggenheim Fellowship in Nonfiction, and a 2011 NEA grant in poetry. Since 2005, she has taught on the faculty of the School of Critical Studies at CalArts. She lives in Los Angeles.

Janlori Goldman is a poet, civil rights activist, and teacher at Columbia University's School of Public Health. She also works with Columbia's Program in Narrative Medicine. After nearly 20 years in Washington D.C. pressing for laws to protect peoples' privacy, she moved to New Work City to teach and study poetry at Sarah Lawrence College. Her poems have been published in a number of journals, including Mudlark, Connotation Press, The Cortland Review, The Mom Egg, and, forthcoming, in Calyx. Other essays and articles have appeared in health journals, U.S. Congressional testimony, and books. She lives in NYC with her teenage daughter, and her sweetheart.

* * *

TENDENCIES: Poetics & Practice is curated by Tim Peterson (Trace). For additional information, visit the Tendencies website.

All events are co-sponsored by the Center for the Humanities, CLAGS (the Center for Lesbian and Gay Studies), The Graduate Center PhD Program in English, and the GC Poetics Group.

↑ Index

143. Regina Pinto
More than a century of Lewis Carroll's Alice re-readings.
Thu 24 Mar 2011

More than a century of Lewis Carroll's Alice re-readings:

At: http://arteselavy.tumblr.com

Including “Alice in New York” for iPAD. Is this the future of the book?

All the best,
Regina Pinto

↑ Index

144. Adam Fieled
Mother Earth Pt.2 on Yudu
Thu 24 Mar 2011

The second half of Mother Earth is up as an mp3 on Yudu:

http://www.yudu.com/item/details/307227/Mother-Earth-Pt.2

Portions have now appeared in Turntable + BlueLight and are forthcoming in Pirene's Fountain.

Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

145. Adam Fieled
from American Deadness: 3 Links
Thu 24 Mar 2011

These are from the manuscript-in-progress American Deadness:

Milk Magazine:
http://www.milkmag.org/Fieled.html

Fieled's Miscellaneous
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/03/from-american-deadness.html

http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/03/from-american-deadness-phoenix-sunset.html

Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

146. Jennifer Karmin
March 27: Iowa City writers @ Myopic Books (Chicago)
Thu 24 Mar 2011

Sunday, March 27th
7pm

Featuring:
Erika Jo Brown
Matthew Klane
BJ Love
Adam Roberts

at Myopic Books
1564 N. Milwaukee Ave
Chicago, Illinois
http://myopicbookstore.com

ERIKA JO BROWN is from New York, where she founded the Chinatown reading series Floetry at 169.Â She is editor of Stretching Panties magazine, an oft-annual print collection of experimental poetry, architecture and drawing.Â Her poems can be found at H_NGM_N, Spork and Back Room Live. Further Adventures Press just published her chapbook, What a Lark! Sheâ€™s currently a MFA candidate at the Iowa Writersâ€™ Workshop.

MATTHEW KLANE is editor and co-founder of Flim Forum Press. His book is B_____ Meditations (Stockport Flats, 2008). Recent work can be found in Taiga, muthafucka, Harp&Altar, and Word For/Word. He currently lives and writes in Iowa City.

BJ LOVE is the author of Michigander (Greying Ghost, 2010), We are Two Bastards (Indivia, forthcoming) and A Revisionist History...(Small Fires, 2011) with Friedrich Kerksieck. Additionally, he is an MFA candidate in the University of Iowa Writer's Workshop and the editor of Further Adventures Chapbooks & Pamphlets.

ADAM ROBERTS grew up in Rhode Island, and is currently a post-graduate fellow at the University of Iowa. He's the author of the chapbook "Poem in Four Parts" and the epic blogger poem "Jersey Shore.

↑ Index

147. CA Conrad
Fred Moten on JUPITER 88
Fri 25 Mar 2011

Fred Moten is the latest to appear on JUPITER 88:
http://JUPITER88poetry.blogspot.com

This one is a favorite of mine BECAUSE the sound and video would not (no matter what I did) synch, so I in particular look like a poorly-dubbed foreign film. Fred is looking down to read so you don't always see his lips. The time delay adds to the disconnected reality of floating on Jupiter.

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

148. Aldon Nielsen
Modernist Studies panel proposal
Fri 25 Mar 2011

Friends --

I'm looking for a third panelist for a panel to propose for the Modernist Studies Association, convening in Buffalo Oct. 6-9.

The general idea of the panel is to present critical reflections on figures (preferably less studied figures) who reflected upon the state of things contemporaneously -- who wrote about the emergent Modernism in poetry as it was emerging. We have one paper on William S. Braithwaite and The Poetic Year 1916, and a second paper on Alfred Kreymborg's representations, in * Others* and others, of the then newer poetries.

I'm looking for a third paper along those same lines.

I'll also need someone to chair the panel.

Back channel with ideas, please.

Thanks!

--
Aldon L. Nielsen
Kelly Professor of American Literature
Department of English
117 Burrowes Building
The Pennsylvania State University

University Park, PA
16802-6200

[redacted]

sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

"I had the opportunity to read several good books, from which it is always possible to find oneself all the others, or even to write those that are still lacking." -- Guy Debord

↑ Index

149. Tim Peterson
Michael Boughn and Victor Coleman at Zinc Bar, 3/27
Fri 25 Mar 2011

Zinc Bar Reading Series:
Michael Boughn & Victor Coleman

Sunday, March 27
at 5:00 PM
...
at Zinc Bar
82 W 3rd St
NYC

Born and raised in Riverside, California Michael Boughn moved to Canada in 1966 because of his opposition to the war against Viet Nam. In Vancouver he met and studied with Robin Blaser who introduced him to the work of William Blake, Charles Olson, H.D., Jack Spicer, Ezra Pound, William Carlos Williams and other crucial writers. He spent nearly 10 years working in the Teamsters on the lakefront in Toronto before returning to school to study with Robert Creeley and Jack Clarke in Buffalo, N.Y. where he received a PhD in 1986. Since 1993 he has lived in Toronto. He is the author of H.D.—A Bibiography, 1911-1993, Iterations of the Diagonal, Dislocations in Crystal, Into the World of the Dead, One's own Mind (A Curriculum of the Soul #4), 22 Skidoo/SubTractions—Opus minus one, and Cosmographia—a post-Lucretian faux micro-epic. With Victor Coleman, he edited Robert Duncan’s The H.D. Book for the University of California Press. O—Three lectures and a post-script was published as a shuffaloff / Eternal Network Joint in December, 2010.

Victor Coleman is the author of numerous books of poetry, starting with the 1964 publication of From Erik Satie’s Notes to the Music, through CORRECTIONS (1985), LAPSED WASP (1994), and ICON TACT (2006). BookThug released his The Occasional Troubadour in October 2010. He was a founding editor of both Coach House Press (in 1966) and Coach House Books

(in 1997) and has laboured as a film programmer and creative writing instructor at Queen's University in Kingston, ON; was Director of the premiere artist-run centre in Canada, A Space, and co-director/programmer for The Music Gallery in Toronto. He was, between 2002 & 2006, the editorial director for the Centre for Contemporary Canadian Art (www.ccca.ca) and currently toils as a semi-retired free-lance editor and teacher at the Toronto New School of Writing. His latest non-BookThug publication, from Shuffaloff / Eternal Network is How to Become a Good Dancer. The University of California Press released his (and Michael Boughn's) edit of Robert Duncan's The H.D. Book early in 2011.

↑ Index

150. Freind, William Joseph

Eileen Myles in South Jersey

Sat 26 Mar 2011

Eileen Myles will be reading in the Westby Art Gallery at Rowan University in Glassboro, NJ on Monday, March 28 at 7:00 PM. For more information, contact Bill Freind, [redacted]

↑ Index

151. steve dalachinsky

Re: "For Japan"--A Suggestion from Disembodied I--St. Marks and Beyond Baroque?

Sat 26 Mar 2011

---

i've been thinking on his too sounds like a plan ny folks can contact me
i can find a venue
On Thu, 24 Mar 2011 01:32:51 +0000 Jesse Glass <[redacted]> writes:
> This is an idea that I've only shared with one friend, but I'd like > to > put it out on the List for your consideration:
>
> I would like to suggest setting up readings to help fund recovery > efforts
> in Sendai and points north. The earthquake, the tsunami, the > radiation
> problem--the really terrible thing is that those that are most > devastated are the most exposed--
>
> The money could be donated to the Red Cross of Japan.
>

> Two venues that immediately suggest themselves: St. Marks and > Beyond
> Baroque, but others.
>
> Also the idea of an anthology--a book that could be sold and the > proceeds > donated--
>
> I'm in no position to publish anything--though I wish I could--but > certainly feel that the effort would be a worthy one. CNN has moved > on > to cover yet another tragedy while Japan's continues to grow.
>
> Sendai, and Hanamaki, and points north is poetry territory--lots of > poets, fine poets, are from there. I don't know how many have > died.
>
> Just an idea from Disembodied I
>
> Back Channel or front channel responses welcome.
>
>
>

↑ Index

152. Adam Fieled

American Deadness Pt. 2 on Yudu (mp3)

Sat 26 Mar 2011

The second installment of American Deadness (manuscript-in-progress) is now available to be listened to in mp3 form on Yudu:

http://www.yudu.com/item/details/309450/American-Deadness-Pt.2

Parts have appeared in Fieled's Miscellaneous, As-Is, and elsewhere.

Thanks
Adam

↑ Index

153. Maria Damon
can't remember...
Sat 26 Mar 2011

---

if I told y'all about my blog, almost a month and a half old... http://hyperpoesia.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

154. Joel Weishaus
"Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Sat 26 Mar 2011

Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1

-Joel

↑ Index

155. Jesse Glass
A Charm For Survivors--For Japan
Sun 27 Mar 2011

A Charm For Survivors

May Love precede us in the wondering town
With a long stick, may it knock at every door, & coax the pigeons & the people down.

From their sealed towers, may they step
Once again upon the blasted earth
& dance where the lizard & the serpent slept.

Jesse Glass

↑ Index

156. Lewis Warsh
Every Time We Say Goodbye
Sun 27 Mar 2011

EVERY TIME WE SAY GOODBYE

Poetry and fiction by writers in the MFA program
Long Island University (Brooklyn)

Bowery Poetry Club
303 Bowery

New York, NY
[redacted]

April 1 Friday 5-6:45

Rachel Jackson
Eric Alter
Willie Perdomo
Elspeth Macdonald
Mary Walker
Kyle De Ocera
Christine Francavilla
Yani Gonzalez
Aimee Herman
Jon Jenkins
Tina Barry
Amyre Loomis
Jessica Wedge
Joe Infante

April 8 5-6:45

Sarah Wallen
John Casquarelli
Liz Dalton
Tiffany Johnson
Uche Nduka
Jhon Sanchez
Marita Downes
Lisa Rogal
Micah Savaglio
Gulay Isik
Patia Braithwaite
Alicia Berbenick
Wendi Williams
Tony Iantosca

↑ Index

157. Jesse Glass

The Baroness Else von-Freytag Loringhoven Project At the University of Maryland, Special Collections

Mon 28 Mar 2011

Here's the link. This project allows you to view different versions of poems--texts in process, etc. Set up by the wonderful Beth Alvarez. Jess http://www.lib.umd.edu/dcr/collections/EvFL-class/

↑ Index

158. Robert Dewhurst
Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
Mon 28 Mar 2011

If you had problems accessing the link for the Mayer symposium before, it should work now. I fixed one line of stray code that was causing trouble.

http://english.buffalo.edu/mayersymposium/

Also, my original e-mail failed to emphasize that Liz Kotz (UC Riverside) will be delivering the keynote at the symposium. Kotz is the author of WORDS TO BE LOOKED AT (MIT Press, 2007) and co-edited THE NEW FUCK YOU with Eileen Myles (Semiotext(e), 1994).

All around, this should be a tremendous event!

Fisher, Johanna M wrote:
> Hello,
>
> The link to the program is empty-I am interested in attending but need information.
>
> Johanna Fisher
> Adjunct Professor
> English/women's studies
>
>
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Robert Dewhurst [[redacted]]
> Sent: Monday, March 21, 2011 4:12 PM
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
>
> MODES OF LOVE & REASON: A BERNADETTE MAYER SYMPOSIUM
> April 1st, 2011
> University at Buffalo
>
>
> Please join us in Buffalo this April 1st to celebrate the life and work > of the one and only Bernadette Mayer. Although arguably the most wildly > influential USAmerican poet of the past forty years, Bernadette Mayer's > work has seldom taken center stage in scholarship and literary histories > of the period. This long-overdue celebration of Mayer's life and work > will begin to redress this situation, and will consist in equal measures > of devoted fandom and rigorous study – of "love" and of "reason."

> Approaching Mayer as a poet, teacher, Conceptual artist, and small-press > impresario, the symposium program brings together a diverse ensemble of > contemporary poets, scholars, archivists, and editors to investigate and > honor the many dimensions of Mayer's relentless and virtuosic practice.
> The symposium will crescendo in the evening with a performance by Mayer > herself.
>
> Critical panels will feature scholars Lee Ann Brown (St. John's
> University), Stephen Cope (Bard College), Caitlin Newcomer (Florida
> State University), Deborah Poe (Pace University), Sam Truitt (Station
> Hill Press), and Joey Yearous-Algozin (UB).
>
> A roundtable of contemporary poets discussing their own 'elective > affinities' with Mayer will feature CAConrad, Dorothea Lasky, and Brenda > Coultas.
>
> Full details and symposium schedule:
> http://english.buffalo.edu/mayersymposium
>
> Day program: 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., the UB Poetry Collection (420 Capen Hall)
> Evening reading: 8 p.m., the Karpeles Manuscript Museum (453 Porter Ave)
>
>

↑ Index

159. William Allegrezza

two new ebooks/books: cycholl and hastain

Mon 28 Mar 2011

Check out the new books/ebooks by Garin Cycholl and j/j hastain at Moria.
http://www.moriapoetry.com/ebooks.html

Garin Cycholl's The Bonegatherer
j/j hastain's autobiography of my gender.

The ebooks are free to download as pdfs, and the books are available for cheap fee.

http://www.moriapoetry.com/ebooks.html

Bill Allegrezza

↑ Index

160. Susan Webster Schultz
Much more Dementia Blogging at Tinfish Editor's Blog
Mon 28 Mar 2011

Trying to think through the question: "how does one write Alzheimer's?" here, by way of work by Jonathan Franzen, Rachel Hadas, and Thomas Debaggio, among others:

http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com

The problem with Alzheimer's narratives, part 3: T...
<http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/03/problem-with-alzheimers-narratives-part_28.html>
The problem with Alzheimer's narratives, part 2: R...
<http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/03/problem-with-alzheimers-narratives-part.html>
The problem with Alzheimer's narratives
<http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/03/problem-with-alzheimers-narratives.html>
Martha's visit--3/23/2011
<http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/03/marthas-visit-3232011.html>
<http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/03/poem-editorial-on-no-fly-zone.html>

aloha, Susan M. Schultz

↑ Index

161. Jennifer Karmin
March 30: Aaaaaaaaaaalice @ Illinois State University
Mon 28 Mar 2011

Join the Creative Writing Program and the Department of English at Illinois State University in welcoming the poet, curator and public artist Jennifer Karmin to campus for a celebratory reading on Wednesday, 30 March at 7:00 p.m., with a meet and greet at 6:00 p.m., at the CVA University Galleries (110 Center for the Visual Arts in Normal, IL).

Jennifer will be performing work from her book Aaaaaaaaaaalice in a live collaboration with ISU faculty and students. Published by Flim Forum Press in 2010, this collection of poems is a word score for polyvocal improvisation.

http://english.illinoisstate.edu/news/jennifer_karmin.shtml

http://aaaaaaaaaaalice.blogspot.com

↑ Index

162. Jesse Glass

Re: "For Japan"--A Suggestion from Disembodied I--St. Marks and Beyond Baroque?

Tue 29 Mar 2011

---

fantastic! Jess

On 3/26/2011, "steve dalachinsky" <[redacted]> wrote:

> i've been thinking on his too sounds like a plan ny folks can contact me
> i can find a venue
> On Thu, 24 Mar 2011 01:32:51 +0000 Jesse Glass <[redacted]> writes:
> This is an idea that I've only shared with one friend, but I'd like
> to > put it out on the List for your consideration:
>
> I would like to suggest setting up readings to help fund recovery
> efforts
> in Sendai and points north. The earthquake, the tsunami, the > radiation
> problem--the really terrible thing is that those that are most > devastated are the most exposed--
>
> The money could be donated to the Red Cross of Japan.
>
> Two venues that immediately suggest themselves: St. Marks and > Beyond
> Baroque, but others.
>
> Also the idea of an anthology--a book that could be sold and the > proceeds > donated--
>
> I'm in no position to publish anything--though I wish I could--but > certainly feel that the effort would be a worthy one. CNN has moved
> on
> to cover yet another tragedy while Japan's continues to grow.
>
> Sendai, and Hanamaki, and points north is poetry territory--lots of > poets, fine poets, are from there. I don't know how many have > died.
>
> Just an idea from Disembodied I
>
> Back Channel or front channel responses welcome.

↑ Index

163. Obododimma Oha
Writing and Rewriting Gaddafi
Tue 29 Mar 2011

"On the side of playfulness – and perhaps with some admiration for the bearer – some commentators also try to rewrite “Gaddafi” as “Gadfly,” as if the sound is also the sense within and across languages. Thrilled by this, I have started searching my books to find out if his name is spelled “God-a-fi” anywhere, to accommodate the image of a god that he is fast acquiring! God-a-fis and gadflies go together in a modern “Hannibalization” of North Africa and the Mediterranean."

Read the full article, " Writing & Rewriting Gaddafi<http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/Editorial/5685993-182/story.csp>,"
at:
http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/Editorial/5685993-182/story.csp

--
Obododimma Oha
http://udude.wordpress.com/

(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)
Dept. of English
University of Ibadan
Nigeria

&

Fellow, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies
University of Ibadan

Phone: [redacted];
[redacted];
[redacted].

↑ Index

164. Mairead Byrne
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Tue 29 Mar 2011

fashion corrupts?

On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

> Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
>
> http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1
>
> -Joel

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD
Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

165. Camille Martin
Influency 10: A Toronto Poetry Salon
Tue 29 Mar 2011

Influency 10: A Toronto Poetry Salon
University of Toronto School of Continuing Education Creative Writing Program

April 6 opening evening

April 13 rob mcclennan speaking on Camille Martin’s Sonnets

April 20 Daniel Scott Tysdal speaking on Larissa Lai’s Automaton Biographies

April 27 Larissa Lai speaking on Mark Truscott’s Nature

May 4 Mark Truscott on Daniel Scott Tysdal’s The Mourner’s Book of Albums

May 11 Camille Martin speaking on Kaie Kellough’s Maple Leaf Rag

May 18 Kaie Kellough speaking on rob mcclennan's Wild Horses

May 25
A combined evening at a venue not on U of T campus, also open to public (for a door fee).
Rachel Zolf on Erin Moure's Pillage Laud AND Erin Moure on Rachel Zolf's Neighbour Procedure

No class June 1

June 8 Final potluck and Student Intertexts on Influency 9 authors and books (important! please attend!)

Classes are facilitated by Margaret Christakos.

For readers and writers alike. A powerful way to reconnect with poetry, to build bridges into the contemporary poetry scene, and to deepen critical engagement with poetry. Many writers and literature buffs attend this course; the class is equally welcoming to people with a beginner's level of experience with reading poetry. Adults from 18-1000 years welcome. Approximately half the registrants in any given session have taken previous sessions of the class; and each session we welcome newcomers. The course may count towards a certificate in creative writing, or be taken for pleasure. Registrants compose readerly critical responses to books weekly, and write a final "Intertext" reflecting on two or more of the books studied, for presentation. Registrants also take turns in small groups introducing guests and bringing along snacks and non-alcoholic beverages to produce a congenial social environment for each evening.

Influency: A Toronto Poetry Salon has run twice annually from Fall 2006. In each session, 8 accomplished poets working in distinctive styles will appear as both guest readers and peer critics in this unique lecture-reading series hosted by Margaret Christakos. Each poet's critique of a colleague's work will be followed with a reading by the poet under discussion. A group discussion led by Christakos will follow. Students will accumulate critical vocabulary to discuss more fluently the divergences of approach, motive, process and product typical of Toronto's multitraditional literary culture. The 8-book package under discussion will be available in class for $130. Register a week prior to course beginning if possible to facilitate smooth running of a complex course! Note this spring's session is 9 in-class meetings, with an extended evening on May 25 at an off-campus location.

The course has also spawned a fledgling online magazine calledwww.influencysalon.ca;
please visit to see some of the essays and responses presented at some of our earlier classes.

For more info and registration, visit www.learn.utoronto.ca<http://2learn.utoronto.ca/uoft/search/publicCourseSearchDetails.do?method=load&courseId=1274873>

Course number 1777 – 010 (no prerequisite)

Course $249 plus $130 book fee (8 poetry books). Fee is paid at first class by personal cheque or cash.

↑ Index

166. Fisher, Johanna M
Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
Tue 29 Mar 2011

Thanks for the notification.

Johanna Fisher
Adjunct Professor
English/women's studies

_____
From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Robert Dewhurst [[redacted]]
Sent: Monday, March 28, 2011 12:13 PM
To: [redacted]
Subject: Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo

If you had problems accessing the link for the Mayer symposium before, it should work now. I fixed one line of stray code that was causing trouble.

http://english.buffalo.edu/mayersymposium/

Also, my original e-mail failed to emphasize that Liz Kotz (UC Riverside) will be delivering the keynote at the symposium. Kotz is the author of WORDS TO BE LOOKED AT (MIT Press, 2007) and co-edited THE NEW FUCK YOU with Eileen Myles (Semiotext(e), 1994).

All around, this should be a tremendous event!

Fisher, Johanna M wrote:
> Hello,
>
> The link to the program is empty-I am interested in attending but need information.
>
> Johanna Fisher
> Adjunct Professor
> English/women's studies

>
>
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Robert Dewhurst
[[redacted]]
> Sent: Monday, March 21, 2011 4:12 PM
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
>
> MODES OF LOVE & REASON: A BERNADETTE MAYER SYMPOSIUM
> April 1st, 2011
> University at Buffalo
>
>
> Please join us in Buffalo this April 1st to celebrate the life and work > of the one and only Bernadette Mayer. Although arguably the most wildly > influential USAmerican poet of the past forty years, Bernadette Mayer's > work has seldom taken center stage in scholarship and literary histories > of the period. This long-overdue celebration of Mayer's life and work > will begin to redress this situation, and will consist in equal measures > of devoted fandom and rigorous study – of "love" and of "reason."
> Approaching Mayer as a poet, teacher, Conceptual artist, and small-press > impresario, the symposium program brings together a diverse ensemble of > contemporary poets, scholars, archivists, and editors to investigate and > honor the many dimensions of Mayer's relentless and virtuosic practice.
> The symposium will crescendo in the evening with a performance by Mayer > herself.
>
> Critical panels will feature scholars Lee Ann Brown (St. John's
> University), Stephen Cope (Bard College), Caitlin Newcomer (Florida
> State University), Deborah Poe (Pace University), Sam Truitt (Station
> Hill Press), and Joey Yearous-Algozin (UB).
>
> A roundtable of contemporary poets discussing their own 'elective > affinities' with Mayer will feature CAConrad, Dorothea Lasky, and Brenda > Coultas.
>
> Full details and symposium schedule:
> http://english.buffalo.edu/mayersymposium
>
> Day program: 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., the UB Poetry Collection (420 Capen Hall)
> Evening reading: 8 p.m., the Karpeles Manuscript Museum (453 Porter Ave)

>
>

↑ Index

167. Giuseppe Infante
Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
Tue 29 Mar 2011

Is this event being recorded? Documented? Any info, please post. Thanks!

Giuseppe

↑ Index

168. Paul Nelson
Nate Mackey, Susan Schultz
Tue 29 Mar 2011

Recent interviews with Nate Mackey and Susan Schultz now on-line here: http://www.organicpoetry.org/interviews.html

More on Nate's recent visit to Seattle here: http://splab.org/?p'82 and a report on his visit here: http://splab.org/?p'09

The SPLAB visiting poet in November is Brenda Hillman. Info here: http://splab.org/?page_id=5

April brings workshops by Sharon Doubiago and C.A. Conrad.

Our series at Doe Bay or Orcas Island features Elizabeth Austen and Dominick DellaSala, among others in the next few weeks. More info here: http://splab.org/?p“1

Living Room, our weekly writer's critique circle continues every Tuesday night at 7. When in Seattle, stop by SPLAB.

Consafos,

Paul

Paul E. Nelson

SPLAB!
C. City, WA
[redacted]

↑ Index

169. Joel Weishaus
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Tue 29 Mar 2011

Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and executed, for what they wrote. There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote against the powers that be. Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?

-Joel
----- Original Message -----
From: Mairead Byrne
To: Joel Weishaus
Cc: [redacted]
Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

fashion corrupts?

On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1

-Joel

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD
Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

170. Mairead Byrne
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Tue 29 Mar 2011

Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women; poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets' self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women know about persecution? Floozies.

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

> Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and executed, for what they wrote.
> There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote against the powers that be.
> Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?
>
> -Joel
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
> To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
> Cc:* [redacted]*
> Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM*
> Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*
>
> fashion corrupts?
>
> On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
>
> http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1
>
> -Joel
>
> --
> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics

Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

171. Joel Weishaus
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Tue 29 Mar 2011

What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are? Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed? What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all? Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft? If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother? As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power. Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?

-Joel

----- Original Message -----
From: Mairead Byrne
To: Joel Weishaus
Cc: [redacted]
Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women; poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets' self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want to sleep with you?

But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women know about persecution? Floozies.

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and executed, for what they wrote. There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote against the powers that be. Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?

-Joel

----- Original Message -----
From: Mairead Byrne
To: Joel Weishaus
Cc: [redacted]
Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

fashion corrupts?

On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1

-Joel

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD
Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

172. Mairead Byrne

Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Wed 30 Mar 2011

Dear Joel, It's difficult to know where to start. Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider poetry matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists. Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet. Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by prison sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than that. And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of course I do. I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that. I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress! Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets and modeling clothes too. Is* dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit? Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses. What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are? A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with "Poetry." Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed? Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed. What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all? What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of metaphor. Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft? I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this. If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother? I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't make sense. As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power. That's quite a reduction. Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words? If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go. Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping off. Hold on there are websites for that .... I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the * Oprah* poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for Seam Ripper: Women on Textual and Sartorial Style, and Sandra Simonds' activist * Sweatshop* project. Mairéad

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
> Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?
> If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother?
> As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
> -Joel
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
> To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
> Cc:* [redacted]*
> Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM*
> Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*
>
> Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women; poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets' self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women know about persecution? Floozies.

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and executed, for what they wrote.
There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote against the powers that be.
Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?

-Joel

----- Original Message -----
From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
Cc:* [redacted]*
Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM*
Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*

fashion corrupts?

On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."

http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1

-Joel

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD
Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]

> [redacted]
> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD
Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

173. Steve Clay
Artists' Books Collection for sale
Wed 30 Mar 2011

Artists' Books Collection Spring 2011

Granary Books is pleased to offer for sale a broadly representative collection of approximately 600 artists' publications spanning the years 1960-2010 assembled with an eye to an eclectic range of engagement with ideas and form.

In "The Century of Artists' Books" Johanna Drucker describes multiple "zones of activity" within which artists explore and interact with the book. She devotes entire chapters to:

The Artist's Book as a Democratic Multiple

The Codex and its Variations

The Book As Visual Form

The Book As Verbal Exploration

The Book as Sequence: Narrative and Non-narrative

The Artist's Book as an Agent of Social Change

The Book as Conceptual Space

The Book as Document

Key examples of each of these paradigms are here present enhancing and defining the collection's value as an important site for scholarly and artistic research, teaching and exhibition.

Among the dozens of artists included are:

Ida Applebroog, Eleanor Antin, Arakawa, Alice Aycock, John Baldessari, Banco de Ideas, AA Bronson, Marcel Broodthaers, Bill Burke, Coracle Press (including more than 100 publications from this important British artists' press operated by Simon Cutts and Erica Van Horn), Tennessee Rice Dixon, Henrik Drescher, Johanna Drucker, Ian Hamilton Finlay, Hamish Fulton, Philip Gallo, Ralph Gibson, Walter Hamady, David Horton, Shelley Hoyt, Susan Johanknecht, Robin Kahn, Shelagh Keeley, Ruth Laxson, Jean le Gac, Warren Lehrer, Sol Lewitt, Paul Etienne Lincoln, Richard Long, Little Cockroach Press, Ochiishi, Dieter Roth, Ed Ruscha, Purgatory Pie Press, Robert Smithson, Buzz Spector, Telfer Stokes, Michelle Stuart, Barbara Tetenbaum, Hans Waanders and Janet Zwieg.

The works are not available as individual items but as a collection only.

For a complete catalog (in PDF) and price please contact Steve Clay [redacted]

Granary Books
168 Mercer St. #2
New York, NY 10012

[redacted]
[redacted] (fax)
www.granarybooks.com

↑ Index

174. Dan Godston

Piano + Poetry concert on April 16

Wed 30 Mar 2011

Piano | Poetry Concert with Christina Pugh, Ed Roberson, Reginald Gibbons, Rachel Webster, Ari Brown, and Mabel Kwan

Saturday, April 16, 2011 (7:00 p.m.)

Curtiss Hall

Fine Arts Building

410 South Michigan Ave., tenth floor

Chicago IL 60605

[redacted], [redacted]

http://www.pianofortefoundation.org/

You are invited to a special concert that involves collaborations between pianists and poets -- including Christina Pugh, Ed Roberson, Reginald Gibbons, Rachel Webster, Ari Brown, and Mabel Kwan. Christina Pugh and Ed Roberson will be performing with Ari Brown, and Rachel Webster and Reginald Gibbons will be performing with Mabel Kwan. This concert, which happens during National Poetry Month, is being presented by The Poetry Foundation, PianoForte Foundation, Borderbend Arts Collective, and IS Productions. A reception will follow the concert. Admission is $20, $10 for students.

The Experimental Piano Series showcases performances by innovators in today's world of experimental piano. These performances include approaches that are influenced and informed by jazz, "new music," classical music, world music, and other genres. Some of the performances during EPS will involve solo pieces, and others will involve duos and trios. Some of the pieces will be improvised, whereas others will be performances of compositions that are notated.

The Experimental Piano Series is presented by the PianoForte Foundation, Borderbend Arts Collective, and IS Productions. So far, Frank Abbinanti, Jim Baker, Renée Baker's TUNTUI, Ben Boye, Phyllis Chen, Steve Cohn, CUBE, Justin Dillard, Irina Feoktistova, Paul Giallorenzo, Burton Greene, Jonathan Hey, Sebastian Huydts, Keith Kirchoff, Matthew McCright, Adam Marks, Thollem McDonas, Eric Glick Rieman, Adam Tendler, and Ann Ward have performed during EPS concerts. This is the final concert in EPS' third season.

BIOS:

Ari Brown is a composer, arranger and educator who plays the piano and saxophone. He has performed with many music greats including Anthony Braxton, Muhal Richard Abrams, Lou Rawls, B.B. King, Chuck Berry, Elvin Jones, Andrew White, Della Reese, Billy Eckstein. Mr. Brown has also performed with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in the Chicago premier of the Anthony Davis opera, "Malcom X". He has also performed a clarinet solo on the score in Universal Studio's motion picture, The Babe. He has toured all over the world including Japan, Europe, Malaysia, Taiwan, and Singapore. He received his BA of Music Education from Vandercook College of Music, and has made numerous recordings. http://aacmchicago.org/richard-ari-brown

Reginald Gibbons is a poet, fiction writer, translator, literary critic, artist, and Professor of English, Classics, and Spanish and Portuguese. In 2008 he published a new book of poems, Creatures of a Day (LSU Press, 2008), which was a Finalist for the 2008 National Book Award in poetry. New books: Slow Trains Overhead: Chicago Poems and Stories (University of Chicago Press, 2010) and a bilingual selection of poems, Desde una barca de papel (Littera Libros, 2010).

In 2008 he also published a volume of new translations of Sophocles, Selected Poems: Odes and Fragments (Princeton); from 2006 to 2009 he was a columnist for American Poetry Review. http://reginaldgibbons.northwestern.edu/

Mabel Kwan is a pianist with Ensemble Dal Niente and a founding member of the piano and percussion duo Nothing in Common. She champions the works of artists from her generation and has been a featured performer at the Sonic Fusion Festival in Edinburgh, Scotland, the SEAMUS Conference, the Intermedia Festival, and Chicago's Looptopia. Born and raised in Austin, Texas, Mabel received performance degrees from Rice University and Northern Illinois University. http://mkwan.com/mabel

Christina Pugh is the author of two books of poems: Restoration (Northwestern University Press /TriQuarterly Books, 2008) and Rotary (Word Press, 2004), which received the Word Press First Book Prize. She has also published a chapbook, Gardening at Dusk (Wells College Press, 2002). Her poems have appeared in The Atlantic Monthly, Poetry, The Kenyon Review, TriQuarterly, and other periodicals, as well as in anthologies such as Poetry 180. Her honors have included the Lucille Medwick Memorial Award from the Poetry Society of America, the Grolier Poetry Prize, the Illinois Arts Council's individual artist fellowship in poetry, the Ruth Lilly Poetry Fellowship, a Whiting Fellowship for the Humanities, and residencies at the Ragdale and Ucross colonies. Pugh's criticism has recently appeared in Poetry, Verse, Ploughshares, and The Emily Dickinson Journal. She is an associate professor in the Program for Writers at the University of Illinois at Chicago.

http://www.poetryfoundation.org/bio/christina-pugh

Ed Roberson was born and raised in Pittsburgh, where he studied painting in his youth and was educated at the University of Pittsburgh. His extensive travels inform his work,which is also influenced by spirituals and the blues, and by visual art, such as the mixed-media collages of Romare Beardon. Poet and critic Michael Palmer <http://www.poetryfoundation.org/archive/poet.html?id=5205> has called Roberson "one of the most deeply innovative and critically acute voices of our time."

Roberson is the author of numerous books of poetry, including City Eclogue (2006), Atmosphere Conditions (1999), which was chosen by Nathaniel Mackey <http://www.poetryfoundation.org/archive/poet.html?id=82229> for the National Poetry Series and was a finalist for the Academy of American Poets' Lenore Marshall Award, and Voices Cast Out to Talk Us In (1995), which won the Iowa Poetry Prize. Words and phrases in Roberson's experimental poetry actively resist parsing, using instead what Mackey has called "double-jointed syntax" to explore and bend themes of race, history, and culture. "I'm not creating a new language. I'm just trying to un-White-Out the one we've got," said Roberson in a 2006 interview with Chicago Postmodern Poetry.

Roberson's honors include the Lila Wallace Writers' Award and the Poetry Society of America's Shelley Award. His work has been included in Best American Poetry.

Roberson lives in Chicago, where he has taught at the University of Chicago, Columbia College and Northwestern University. http://www.poetryfoundation.org/bio/ed-roberson

Rachel Webster grew up in the small town of Madison, Ohio, and now lives in Evanston, IL, where she is an Artist in Residence (in poetry) at Northwestern University. She also edits the online anthology of international poetry, UniVerse, located at www.universeofpoetry.org. Her poems have been published in many journals, including Poetry, The Southern Review, The Madison Review, Perihelion and blossombones, and she has won a few awards for her writing and teaching, including an Academy of American Poets' Young Poets Prize. For several years, she created and taught writing workshops for city teens, and in this capacity, co-edited two anthologies of writing by Chicago youth, Alchemy (2001) and Paper Atrium (2005). She has my MFA from the Warren Wilson Program for Writers. http://racheljamisonwebster.blogspot.com/

PianoForte in the Fine Arts Building

410 South Michigan Ave., first floor

Chicago IL 60605

[redacted], [redacted]

Links:

The Poetry Foundation: http://www.poetryfoundation.org/

PianoForte Foundation: http://www.pianofortefoundation.org/

National Poetry Month: http://www.poets.org/npm/

Experimental Piano Series on Facebook: http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=76408581754

↑ Index

175. Jeffrey Lee

Nest of words in New Mexico

Wed 30 Mar 2011

STAR MIDDEN at THE LAND/an art site

Poet Miriam Sagan and sculptor Leah Stravinsky have collaborated on a site-specific text/glass installation at THE LAND/an art site, Mountainair, NM, an off-grid, forty-acre environmental art site in the foothills of the Manzano Mountains. Miriam and Leah will be presenting STAR MIDDEN there on Saturday, April 2. Please call [redacted] or email [redacted] for exact time and directions. An associated gallery exhibit, which includes an extended "midden" and a video of the site installation, will be on display April 9 through 30 at THE LAND/gallery, 419 Granite Avenue NW, Albuquerque, with an opening reception Friday, April 8, 5:30 to 8 pm. The gallery is open Thursdays and Saturdays, 11 am to 5 pm. Please visit www.landartsite.org for more information. You can also email me.

Jeffrey

↑ Index

176. Michael

100 Thousand Poets for Change Anthology - Send work and Join The Event!

Wed 30 Mar 2011

---

100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE: An Anthology

100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE: An Anthology

(Ed. Anny Ballardini & Obododimma Oha, in collaboration with MICHAEL ROTHENBERG)

"We will turn to the idea of the messianic in Chapter Ten of this book, but for the moment it suffices to stress that both Benjamin and Agamben employ the term in singular fashion. For them, a messianic idea of history is not one in which we wait for the Messiah to come, end history, and redeem humanity, but instead is a paradigm for historical time in which we act as though the Messiah is already here, or even has already come and gone. What is so difficult about Agamben's use of the term messianic is how radically it is to be distinguished from the apocalyptic. Agamben says that to understand "messianic time" as it is presented in Paul's letters "one must first distinguish messianic time from apocalyptic time, the time of the now from a time directed towards the future" (LAM, 51). To this he adds, "If l had to try to reduce the distinction to a formula, I would say that the messianic is not, as it is always understood, the end of time, but the time of the end" (LAM, 51). The model of time corresponding to this idea is one that no longer looks for its decisive moment in a more or less remote future, but instead finds it in every minute of every day, in this world and in this life; and it is through such expressions as "dialectics at a standstill" and "means without end" that the two thinkers aim to return our gaze from the distant future to the pressing present."

(from GIORGIO AGAMBEN: A Critical Introduction, Leland de la Durantaye, 2009, p. 120)

Set in the context of this split between "the end of time" and "the time of the end" is Michael Rothenberg's recent invitation for the global writing public to participate in "a demonstration/celebration of poetry to promote serious social and political change" titled 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE on 24 September, 2011. As protests for political reforms sweep across North Africa, the Middle East, in some parts of Europe, in the United States, with the recent disasters in The Gulf of Mexico and in Japan, one cannot help thinking about the "Rothenberg Project" as a highly significant creative response to change as something more than an adjustment to the way social relations are constructed.

Obododimma Oha and Anny Ballardini, in collaboration with Michael Rothenberg's event, will edit and feature outstanding poetic compositions for the 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE on Fieralingue's Poets' Corner. Visual artwork, poems, poetic fiction, poetic nonfiction, and photographs to be submitted for consideration should go beyond the simple and gratuitous statement that 'a change is needed.' Our present, our Messianic time requires a STILLSTELLUNG (Benjamin's word) translated by Dennis Redmond in On the Concept of History (1940) with "an objective interruption of a mechanical process" into which we have been engulfed. Dennis Redmond continues in his explanation of STILLSTELLUNG: "rather like the dramatic pause at the end of an action-adventure movie, when the audience is waiting to find out if the time-bomb/missile/terrorist device was defused or not." We feel that we are living in a similar situation, and we are in need of a Stillstellung followed by ideas to offer our politicians, to make students/friends/our communities more aware of how we can change, revise history, start over again.

Visual works and photographs for submission are to be saved in JPEG format, while texts, which should not have rigid formatting, are to be in Word. All submissions should be emailed to the editors [redacted] and [redacted] by September 1, 2011 with "100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE" in the Subject line.

Best wishes,

Obododimma Oha

Anny Ballardini

SIGN UP TO JOIN US AT 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE-- THE EVENT

Ps. If you are interested in signing up to participate as a reader, organizer or attendee, in the 100 Thousand Poets for Change event on September 24, 2011, (in your town) please go to Facebook for more details and indicate that you would like to attend the event. Link:

http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=106999432715571 . At Facebook you will be able to read more about event organization ideas and our thoughts about "what kind of change." Over a thousand people have already signed up and over twenty cities have begun to organize events for their communities. JOIN US!!

↑ Index

177. Séamas Cain

The discontinuum ...

Wed 30 Mar 2011

_____

THE DISCONTINUUM OF PARADISE

(a meandering performance of Séamas Cain written for the fluxian Keith A. Buchholz & the fluxian Sheila E. Murphy)

at the FLUXUS Festival in the Museum of Contemporary Art at Chicago, Illinois, on Sunday, February 20th, 2011.

Photograph by John M. Bennett of "Sleep, worm, curious horncalls."

http://seamascain-writernetwork.org

The Fluxus Museum, visuals from Chicago ...

http://fluxmuseum.org/

The Fluxus Blog, description of the festival ...

http://www.digitalsalon.com/weblog/pivot/entry.php?id=181

Fluxus at Wikipedia ...

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fluxus

Ken Friedman & Forty Years of Fluxus ...

http://www.artnotart.com/fluxus/kfriedman-fourtyyears.html

Fluxus & the New Manifesto ...

http://www.digitalsalon.com/weblog/pivot/entry.php?id=184

Fluxus for the New Century ...

http://www.digitalsalon.com/weblog/

In flux,

Séamas Cain
http://www.saorsainn.net
http://alazanto.org/seamascain

↑ Index

178. susan maurer
clwn wr, Skidrow Penthousae, Volt
Thu 31 Mar 2011

At a publication party for Skidrow Penthouse, the editors and the editor of clwn wr were saying they'd like more submissions from women as the numbers are so poor. I do want to suggest to anyone who is interested in adventuresome wroting that they see the current issue of Volt, It's fantastic. Susan Maurer

↑ Index

179. Amanda Earl
A Month of Visual Poetry: NationalPoetryMonth.ca
Thu 31 Mar 2011

Starting April 1, please visit NationalPoetryMonth.ca.

This year’s NationalPoetryMonth.ca celebrates visual poetry from collage, asemic writing, comics, concrete, crotcheted poems, to found poems, poems based on imaginary quilting patterns and more. Poets from Austria, Canada, Finland, France, Hungary, and the USA. contributed to NationalPoetryMonth.ca this year, reminding us that poetry transcends all boundaries, including geographic. I hope you enjoy this month’s tribute to what sometimes seems to me to be an unsung poetic form, the visual poem.

Throughout the month of April, NationalPoetryMonth.ca will feature a visual poem a day by Eric Zboya, Camille Martin, Gil McElroy, Márton Koppány, Matthew Stolte, Reed Altemus, Satu Kaikkonen, mIEKAL aND, andrew topel, Bob Grumman, Helen Hajnoczky, Joel Lipman, Aileen

Beno, Vern Frazer, Bill DiMichele, Chad Lietz, Anatol, Christine McNair, Gary Barwin, Pearl Pirie, John M. Bennett, Marcus McCann, Geof Huth, John C. Goodman, derek beaulieu, Megan Zucher, Sheila E. Murphy, Lily Robert-Foley, kevin mcpherson eckhoff, and Michèle Provost. Enjoy!

www.nationalpoetrymonth.ca

Amanda Earl
AngelHousePress
www.angelhousepress.com
the angel is in the house

↑ Index

180. Séamas Cain

A review of poetic drama ...

Thu 31 Mar 2011

A review by Jana Peterson, the editor of The Pine Journal in Cloquet, Minnesota ...

"History of Irish in Minnesota told in dramatic fashion," in the issue for Thursday, March 24th, 2011,

Volume Number 128, Issue Number 12, on page A5 ...

http://www.pinejournal.com/event/article/id/23159/

http://www.pinejournal.com/event/image/id/4935/headline/Irish%20voices/

http://www.pinejournal.com/event/image/id/4936/headline/S%C3%A9amas%20Cain/

For additional information, go to ...

http://m.pinejournal.com/article.cfm?id=23011

Attentively,

Séamas Cain
http://alazanto.org/seamascain
http://seamascain-writernetwork.org

↑ Index

181. patrick dunagan
readings in D.C. area
Thu 31 Mar 2011

Hi,

Is anybody running a reading series in the D.C. area? or have any contacts with folks who are?

In May I'll be reading in Boston with Bill Corbett and then at the Poetry Project in nyc and will be continuing down to D.C. to check out the Philip Guston exhibit ROMA up at the Phillips Collection.

Guston is a central part of my first book recently published by Post Apollo: http://www.postapollopress.com/GUSTONBOOK.html

I'd love to do a reading in the D.C. area while I'm there but haven't been able to make contact with anybody down there. Any assistance is appreciated. Please backchannel.

Cheers!

Patrick

↑ Index

182. Camille Martin
Camille Martin, Paul Vermeersch, and Jonathan Bennett at Pivot
Thu 31 Mar 2011

If you're in Toronto on Wednesday, April 20, come to the Pivot Series to hear me read along with Paul Vermeersch and Jonathan Bennett.

I'll read a little from Sonnets but also new stuff from two books in progress, Looms and The Evangeline Papers.

It's my first reading in T-dot in over a year . . . please come!

Camille Martin (Sonnets)
Jonathan Bennett (Civil and Civic)
Paul Vermeersch (The Reinvention of the Human Hand)

The Pivot Reading Series
The Press Club
850 Dundas Street W.

8 PM
PYWC

Cheers,
Camille

http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781848610705/sonnets.aspx
http://[redacted]
**

↑ Index

183. Tim Peterson
Tendencies 4/4: Jack Halberstam, Rob Halpern, and Brenda Iijima
Thu 31 Mar 2011

TENDENCIES: Poetics & Practice

4/4/11:

Jack Halberstam, Rob Halpern, and Brenda Iijima

This series of talks, titled in honor of Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick, invites artists from a variety of disciplines to explore the relationship between writing & artmaking practice, the manifesto, queer theory, and pedagogy.

The next event features talks by:

Jack Halberstam

Rob Halpern

Brenda Iijima

...followed by a discussion/Q&A session.

on Monday, April 4

at 7 PM

at CUNY Graduate Center

(in the Skylight Room, 9100)

365 Fifth Avenue, NYC

Free Admission to the Public

JUDITH "JACK" HALBERSTAM is Professor of English and Gender Studies at USC. Halberstam works in the areas of popular, visual and queer culture with an emphasis on subcultures. Halberstam's first book was Skin Shows: Gothic Horror and the Technology of Monsters (1995), a study of popular gothic cultures of the 19th and 20th centuries. Her 1998 book, Female Masculinity (1998), made a ground breaking argument about non-male masculinity and tracked the impact of female masculinity upon hegemonic genders. Halberstam's last book, In a Queer Time and Place: Transgender Bodies, Subcultural Lives (2005), described and theorized queer reconfigurations of time and space in relation to subcultural scenes and the emergence of transgender visibility. Halberstam has a new book due out from Duke UP in the fall titled THE QUEER ART OF FAILURE.

ROB HALPERN has written several books of poetry, including Rumored Place (Krupskaya 2004), and Disaster Suites (Palm Press 2009). Music for Porn is forthcoming (Nightboat Books, 2011). With Taylor Brady, he also co-authored Snow Sensitive Skin (Atticus/Finch 2007), which will soon be reissued by Displaced Press in an expanded edition. Currently, he's co-editing the poems of the late Frances Jaffer, together with Kathleen Fraser, and translating the early essays of Georges Perec, the second of which, "Commitment or the Crisis of Language," recently appeared in the Review of Contemporary Fiction with an essay of his own on Perec. An active participant in the Nonsite Collective, Rob lives in San Francisco and Ypsilanti, Michigan.

BRENDA IIJIMA is the author of Around Sea (O Books), Animate, Inanimate Aims (Litmus Press), revv. you'll-ution (Displaced Press) and If Not Metamorphic (Ahsahta Press) as well as numerous chapbooks and artist's books. She is also the editor of the eco language reader (Nightboat Books and [redacted]). Currently she is working on a body of work titled Some Simple Things Said By and About Humans-a chronicle of how humans have used animals as surrogates. She is the editor of Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs (http://yoyolabs.com/).

* * *

TENDENCIES: Poetics & Practice is curated by Tim Peterson (Trace). For additional information, visit the Tendencies website at http://tendenciespoetics.com

All events are co-sponsored by the Center for the Humanities, CLAGS (the Center for Lesbian and Gay Studies), The Graduate Center PhD Program in English, and the GC Poetics Group.

↑ Index

184. Jennifer Karmin
Red Rover Series / Experiment #45
Thu 31 Mar 2011

Red Rover Series
{readings that play with reading}

Experiment #45:
Water, Water, Everyword

SATURDAY, APRIL 2
7pm / doors lock 7:30

Featuring:
Cris Mazza
Davis Schneiderman
Lidia Yuknavitch

at Outer Space Studio
1474 N. Milwaukee Ave
Chicago, Illinois
suggested donation $4

logistics --
near CTA Damen blue line
third floor walk up
not wheelchair accessible

CRIS MAZZA has authored sixteen books, most recently Various Men Who Knew Us as Girls, a novel. Her other fiction titles include Waterbaby, Trickle-Down Timeline, and the critically notable Is It Sexual Harassment Yet? In 1995 & 1996, Mazza was co-editor for the original Chick-Lit anthologies: Chick-Lit: Postfeminist Fiction, and Chick-Lit 2: No Chick Vics. In 2006, her essay â€œWhoâ€™s Laughing Now: Chick Lit and the Perversion of a Genre,â€ explaining the co-opting and corrosion of the title, appeared in Poets & Writers Magazine and Chick Lit: The New Womanâ€™s Fiction (Routledge). In addition to fiction, Mazza also has published a memoir, Indigenous: Growing Up Californian. A native of Southern California, Mazza grew up in San Diego County. She currently lives 50 miles west of Chicago and is a professor in the Program for Writers at the University of Illinois at Chicago. She can be found online at www.cris-mazza.com.

DAVIS SCHNEIDERMAN is a multimedia artist and writer and the author or editor of eight print and audio works, including the recent novels Drain (TriQuarterly/Northwestern) and Blank: a novel (Jaded Ibis), with audio from DJ Spooky. His creative work has appeared in numerous publications including Fiction International, The Chicago Tribune, The Iowa Review,TriQuarterly, and Exquisite Corpse, and he is a contributor to The Nervous Breakdown and Big Other. He is Chair of the English Department at Lake Forest College, and also Director of Lake Forest College Press/&NOW Books. He edits The &NOW AWARDS: The Best Innovative Writing. He can be found, virtually, at davisschneiderman.com.

LIDIA YUKNAVITCH is the author of the new memoir The Chronology of Water from Hawthorne books, as well as three books of short stories and a forthcoming novel. Her stories have appeared in Ms., The Iowa Review, Zyzzyva, Exquisite Corpse, Another Chicago Magazine, as well as in several national anthologies. She has twice been a finalist for the Oregon Book Award, and is the Editor of Chiasmus Press. Her essay "About a Boob, or the Hermeneutics of a Woman's Body," was just awarded a "Best of the Web" essay award. She lives with her husband Andy and her son Miles in Portlandia.

RED ROVER SERIES is curated by Laura Goldstein and Jennifer Karmin. Each event is designed as a reading experiment with participation by local, national, and international writers, artists, and performers. The series was founded in 2005 by Amina Cain and Jennifer Karmin.

UPCOMING

April 8: A Tribute to Akilah Oliver
Adrienne Dodt, Krista Franklin, Jenny Henry, J'Sun Howard,
Jennifer Karmin, John Keene, Kevin Kilroy,
Marie Larson, Todd McCarty & Marissa Perel
co-presented with the Midwest Naropa Writers

May 1: Poetry for Labor, a May Day reading & celebration
guest curated by John Keene

May 2-6: Chicago Durutti Skool with Frank Rogaczewski
seminar @ poetry & social existence from anarchist/marxist perspective
----> open to all, to participate email [redacted]

May 28: The Chicago-Denver Writers Exchange Program with Serena Chopra, Michael Flatt, Oren Silverman & Nancy Stohlman

June 11: Daniel Borzutzky, Krista Franklin, Judith Goldman,
Carla Harryman & Konrad Steiner neo-benshi
co-presented with the Chicago Poetry Project

Email ideas for reading experiments
to us at [redacted]

The schedule for events is listed at
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

WOW WOW WOW
Red Rover Series
on facebook? why not?

↑ Index

@poetics

The UB Poetics Discussion Group

Archive of Electronic Correspondence

April 2011

201 messages · Thu 31 Mar 2011 – Sat 30 Apr 2011

April 2011 weighed the poem against the ledger and against the body — how the academy counts a poem, and how a poet's failing heart reminds the room that no count matters. Two hundred and four messages moved through the list in National Poetry Month, and its currents ran between the bureaucratic and the mortal: the metrics that turn poems into tenure credits, and the plain fact of a beloved poet needing a new heart to go on living. The month set the spreadsheet and the pulse side by side.

The largest thread was about arithmetic. A member raised the question the corporatized university had made unavoidable — how many published poems equal how many published academic articles, the poem reduced to a unit of professional credit, counted and weighed like any other line on a CV. The room turned it over with weary recognition: an art that had spent the decade watching the market fail to value it now watched the academy value it in the wrong currency entirely, as productivity rather than as poetry.

Against the ledger the month set two mortal bodies. Word went round that Dean Young, one of the most beloved poets of his generation, was in urgent need of a heart transplant — the literal failing of the organ the lyric has always claimed as its seat — and the room rallied in worry and love. It was the answer the metrics could not give: you cannot count what Dean Young's poems are worth, and no tally of publications will buy him a heart. The room that had just been asked to convert poems into professional credit was now confronted with the one exchange rate that actually mattered, the one between a body and its own survival, and found the ledger had nothing to say.

And the month closed a life quietly. Anne Blonstein, the experimental poet who worked at the edges of language and translation, died that April — another of the small, serious, uncelebrated makers the list existed to notice — mourned in the plain register the room keeps for its own. Between the counting of poems and the failing of a heart, her death fell like a verdict on the whole question: the ledger goes on tallying while the poets, uncounted, die.

I have set April down exactly as the archive delivered it — the poem measured against the academic article, Dean Young's failing heart, and the death of Anne Blonstein — because it was the month the list felt the absurdity of counting an art whose makers were mortal and irreplaceable. A room that will argue how many poems equal a scholarly paper in the same weeks it prays for a poet’s new heart and buries a quiet experimentalist is a room that knows the ledger is a lie: that a poem is not a credit and a poet is not a metric, and that the only counting that finally matters is the one the obituaries keep.

— Kristen M. Fabians

Index

Writers, names mentioned, and concepts. Every number links to its message. 201 in all.

WRITERS

Accardi, Millicent Borges 36
Aldonlnielsen 29
Andrews, Jim 14, 186
Armand, Louis 160
Ballardini, Anny 172
Baratier, David 84, 170
Beaulieu, Derek 17
Benson, Cara 3, 75, 99
Berkson, Bill 167, 184
Bernstein, Charles 48, 97, 100
Boog, Editor 83, 120, 196
Breeze, Mez 68
Byrne, Mairead 38
Cabri, Louis 133
Cain, Séamas 106
Calabrese, Rosalie 138, 197
Casamassima, Christophe 188, 191
Ciccariello, Peter 79, 112
Conrad, CA 62, 63, 98, 101, 118
Cárthaigh, Tomás Ó 72, 183
Dalachinsky, Steve 1, 51, 94, 95, 179, 185
Daly, Catherine 4, 26, 53, 64
Damon, Maria 11, 12, 25, 27, 28, 61, 87, 104, 105, 122, 145, 174
Danon, Ruth 126
Dewhurst, Robert 55
Dickey, Eric 47
Dorf, Carol 157
DuCharme, Mark 115, 123
Dunagan, Patrick 40
Durgin, Patrick 162
Durgin, Patrick F. 109
Earl, Amanda 144
Elshtain, Eric 193
Farrell, Michael 19, 52, 54, 169
Fieled, Adam 30, 39, 74, 82, 88, 113, 130, 143, 168, 180, 190
Al Filreis 73, 150, 176
Garcia, Edgar 181
Glazier, Loss Pequeño 178
Godston, Dan 124
Golata, Russ 154
Gordon, Noah Eli 22, 37
Hadbawnik, David 137, 147, 148
Iantosca, Tony 8
Johnson, Halvard 16
Karavatos, Nicholas 18
Karmin, Jennifer 44, 69, 86, 107, 116, 131, 187, 198
Kasimor, Mary 2
Kelder, Cralan 194
Kennedy, Evan 93
Kimmelman, Burt 173
King, Amy 13, 23, 71, 121, 125, 158, 159, 165, 201
Kirschenbaum, David 195
Ladkin, Sam 128
Languell, Krystal 49
Lantry, Bill 58
Latta, John 103
Lepson, Ruth 56, 161
List, Poetics 35
MacAllister, Bonnie 10, 129
Maldonado, Ricardo 42
Malo, Mary Jo 153
Martin, Camille 66, 67
Maurer, Susan 65, 114
McLennan, Rob 50, 77, 134, 146, 152, 189
Michael 7, 110, 182
Minton, Jonathan 135
Morse, Jonathan 32, 139, 175
Nakagawa, Jane 45, 46, 127
Nemet-Nejat, Murat 111
Newman, Richard 163
Nielsen, Aldon 166
Oha, Obododimma 140, 171
Owens, Richard 156
Palagi, Naomi Buck 5
Palm, Kristin 57
Parrish, Adam 177
Pendergast, Dawn 108
Pinto, Regina 200
Prater, David 60, 96
Quasha, George 119
Roche, John 41
Ross, Stuart 24
Rothenberg, Jerome 31, 43
Russell, Steve 20, 21
Sarai, Sarah 6
Schickling, Jared 117
Schlesinger, Kyle 91
Shankar, Ravi (English) 59
Side, Jeffrey 9, 90, 102, 164
Slaughter, William 80
Stempleman, Jordan 151
Sullivan, Gary 141
Tallmo, Karl-Erik 192
St. Thomasino 34
Truitt, Sam 142
Vassilakis, Nico 76
Vincent, Stephen 15, 92, 149, 199
Waldrop, Rosmarie 132

Weishaus, Joel 155
Wellman, Donald 89
Wetherington, Laura 78
Wilcox, Dan 136
Williams, Nerys 81
Wintz, Sara 70
Young, Mark 33, 85

NAMES MENTIONED

Abrams, Jen 124
Ali, Kazim 23, 158
Alice, Mary 42, 151
Allison, Dorothy 4
Alpert, Barry 172
Altemus, Reed 1
Americans, Asian 15, 27, 38, 54, 183
Anderson, Laurie 10
Andre, Michael 77
Antin, David 16
Arbor, Ann 31
Arnold, Bob 182
Ashley, Renee 10
Austen, Jane 87
Austin, Geer 69, 124, 137, 151
Baker, Mary 31, 124
Baldwin, James 87
Banias, Ari 57
Baraka, Amiri 131
Barwin, Gary 1, 144, 152
Baudelaire, Charles 132
Baus, Eric 84
Beckett, Samuel 40
Behrle, Jim 120
Belle, Cecelia 187
Bennett, John M. 1, 10, 67, 135, 144, 152
Berger, Stephanie 135
Berkeley, Michael 81, 198
Bernard, George 172, 186
Bernstein, Emma 35, 48, 100, 178
Berry, Chuck 124
Berry, Stephen 172
Bervin, Jen 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 23, 27, 28, 38, 54, 158
Bibbins, Mark 23, 158
Birmingham, Jed 107
Blanchot, Maurice 119
Bloch, Julia 35
Blonstein, Anne 145, 156, 164, 170
Boesky, Marianne 162
Bonney, Sean 160
Borzutzky, Daniel 151
Boykin, David 116
Bradley, Jamie 144, 152
Bradley, Tom 144, 152
Brady, Taylor 32
Brakhage, Stan 182
Bramhall, Allen 172
Brandonisio, Michael 135
Brautigan, Richard 182
Braxton, Anthony 124
Brogan, Sharon 172
Brook, James 119
Brooks, Gwendolyn 147
Browning, Sarah 159
Bryan, John 151
Bryant, Tisa 75
Buchanan, Pat 135
Budd, Billy 132
Bunting, Basil 198
Burroughs, William S. 132
Burton, Philip 124
Bush, George W. 186
Cage, John 182
Cameron, Sharon 189
Carbo, Nick 4
Carey, Steve 77
Carrion, Terri 7, 182
Carter, Mike 69, 194
Castro, Michael 182
Cendrars, Blaise 17
Cervantes, James 172
Chang, Jennifer 23, 158
Chen, Ken 23, 158
Cheney, Dick 186
Cheney, Don 186
Clark, Cheryl 31
Clinton, Bill 174
Clover, Joshua 23, 158
Cocteau, Jean 81
Cohn, Steve 124
Collins, Phil 4
Comments, Chicago 21
Cooper, Paula 15, 27, 38, 54
Corbett, Bill 20, 21
Cortez, Jayne 75
Creeley, Robert 182, 191, 198
Crosbie, Lynn 77
Crumpacker, Caroline 75
Dahmer, Jeffrey 186
Dargan, Kyle 21
Davis, Martin 124, 182
Davis, Mike 87
Deed, Martha 172
Dennis, Michael 144, 152, 186
Dickinson, Emily 124
Dixon, Bill 49, 61
Doller, Ben 22
Doller, Sandra 22
Donovan, Thom 35
Dorn, Edward 198
Doyle, Erica 41, 189, 190
Dunagan, James 40
Duncan, Robert 182
Durand, Marcella 4, 150

Durbin, Kate 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 27, 28, 38, 54
Durgin, Patrick F. 109
Edgar, Chris 181
Ellen, Mary 172
Ellis, Stephen 21, 189
Elrick, Laura 162
Emerson, Lori 35
Filreis, Alan 73, 150, 176, 181
Fisher, Harrison 41, 107
Fisher, Roy 107
Foley, Jack 34
Foust, Graham 23, 158
France, Peter 1, 115, 178
Frances, Mary 87
Frazer, Vernon 1
Fried, Daisy 48, 100
Froude, Richard 77
Fuhr, Laurie 77
Fuhrman, Joanna 120
Gallagher, Kristen 141
Gallaher, John 23, 158
Garcia, Rodrigo 181
Garr, Megan M. 160
Genusa, Angela 151
Gibbons, Reginald 124
Gilbert, Roger 160, 182
Giles, Samantha 57
Gimenez, Carmen 49, 61
Ginsberg, Allan 118
Ginsberg, Allen 118, 182
Glass, Jesse 172
Glick, Eric 124
Goldstein, Laura 131
Goodman, Amy 1
Graham, David 122
Graham, Susan 77
Greene, Jonathan 69, 124
Grosjean, Jean 132
Grumman, Bob 1, 102
Guest, Barbara 132
Guston, Philip 20, 21, 167, 184
Hajnoczky, Helen 1
Halpern, Daniel 149
Halsey, Alan 34
Hanley, Jack 92, 105, 112, 199
Harper, Michael 162
Harper, Stephen 186
Harryman, Carla 160
Hawkins, Bobbie 182
Heath, Jennifer 162
Heidegger, Martin 34
Heller, Joseph 182
Herrick, Lee 4
Hewitt, David 10, 129
Hill, Gary 119
Hollo, Anselm 115
Holmes, Janet 159
Homer 172
Horton, David 132
Howard, Richard 44
Howe, Ashley 10, 129
Howe, Susan 77
Hughes, Langston 21
Hughes, Ted 21
Ireland, Lauren 21, 80, 81, 160, 183
Jackson, Jesse 6
Jackson, Michael 75
Jacob, Max 182
Jamahl, Iris 10
Jameson, Fredric 149
Jeanne, Sarah 147, 154, 157
Johnson, Kent 137
Johnson, Thomas 16, 93, 106, 116, 147, 172
Jonas, Stephen 182
Jones, Bob 124
Jones, Jill 172
Jorgensen, Alexander 10, 172
Joseph, Safdie 186
Joyce, James 93
Kafka, Franz 137
Kathryn, Mary 69
Keene, John 44, 198
Kelly, Paul 73, 176, 181, 198
Kelly, Robert 142
Kelsey, Karla 160
Kempton, Karl 135
Kendal, Emily 151
Kerouac, Jack 44, 131
Killian, Sean 137
Kilroy, Kevin 44
Kirschenbaum, David A. 83, 195, 196
Knott, Bill 153
Knox, Jennifer L. 158
Krick, Jack 182
Kuhn, Donna 172
Kuszai, Joel 35
Ladewig, Lily 135
Lakoff, George 48, 100
Lamborn, Peter 142
Leidner, Mark 151
Levitsky, Rachel 49, 61
Lew, Walter K. 174
Lewty, Jane 160
Lichty, Patrick 87
Lilly, Ruth 124
Limon, Ada 23, 158
Liszkiewicz, Patrick 135
London, Frank 41, 194
London, Rick 182
Louise, Bobbie 182, 194
Lovelee, Amanda 10
Low, Trisha 98
Lowell, Amy 141

Luna, Christopher 182
Lundy, Dawn 23, 158
Lurie, Bobbie 6
Lynn, Aldon 29, 36, 52
Macdonald, Travis 193
Mackey, Nathaniel 124
Madison, James 15, 27, 38, 54, 124
Malina, Judith 142
Manguso, Sarah 59
Manson, Douglas 120, 189
Marie, Julie 42, 44, 51, 151, 189
Marshall, Robert 124
Martin, Chris 23, 128, 146, 158, 160, 182
Martinez, Michael 23, 158
Mason, Chris 4, 59
Mason, George 22
Mayer, Bernadette 55, 62
Mellors, Anthony 128
Meltzer, David 182
Memmott, Talan 178
Mengert, Christina 132
Meredith, William 77
Merrill, James 6
Mesmer, Sharon 4
Millar, Jay 17
Miller, David 194
Miller, Lee 151, 189
Milne, Drew 128
Minhinnick, Robert 81
Mir, Stan 84
Mitchell, Stephen 151, 172
Monroe, Bill 81
Moody, Rick 106
Mooney, Stephen 160
Moreland, Sean 144, 152
Morris, Jason 40
Morris, Patrick 10, 129
Morse, Jesse 198
Morton, Kathryn A. 182
Moure, Erin 144, 152
Moyers, Bill 21
Mullen, Harryette 131
Murphy, Sheila E. 1, 144, 152, 170, 172
Musil, Robert 109, 162
Mycue, Edward 172
Nakayasu, Sawako 151
Nelson, Gale 132
Nelson, Paul 172
Nicole, Anna 116
Niedecker, Lorine 198
Nielsen, Aldon L. 166
Nielsen, Lynn 29, 36, 52
Nolan, Pat 182
Norman, Peter 84
Notley, Alice 42, 51
Nowak, Mark 198
Oliver, Laura 44
Olson, Charles 89, 182
Otten, Julie 170
Pacific, Asian 162
Pacosz, Christina 4
Padgett, Ron 42, 51
Palin, Sarah 21
Palm, Lars 172
Palmer, Michael 124
Parker, Frank 172
Parrish, Katherine 44, 177
Peirce, Kathleen 31
Perez, James 182
Perkins, Charlotte 21
Perleman, Bob 149
Perloff, Marjorie 176, 181
Peters, Mark 147
Phillips, Malcolm 20, 21, 167, 184
Pickard, Tom 107
Pines, Paul 98
Pinsky, Robert 77
Piombino, Nick 35
Pound, Scott 198
Powell, Colin 186
Powell, Douglas 23, 157, 158, 186
Prevallet, Kristin 132
Priego, Ernesto 172
Prince, Richard 69
Pritts, Nate 23, 158
Prize, Poets 124
Professor, Kelly 29, 36, 52, 73, 166, 176, 181
Pugh, Christina 124
Purves, Robin 128
Quartermain, Peter 77
Quixote, Don 77
Randall, Karen 23, 158
Randall, Margaret 41
Ratcliffe, Stephen 135
Reagan, Nancy 41, 186
Reese, Marshall 124
Regan, Max 35
Retallack, Joan 132
Reznikoff, Charles 132, 198
Richards, Brian 172
Ridley, Sandra 144, 152
Rilke, Rainer Maria 182
Rimbaud, Dee 182
Robinson, Peter 128
Rogers, Kimberley 131
Roggenbuck, Steve 187
Roitman, Judith 4
Roosevelt, Franklin 198
Rosenberg, Jim 144, 152, 178
Rosenthal, Sarah 57
Rothenberg, Diane 31
Rothenberg, Jerry 153, 182
Roubaud, Jacques 115
Rumsfeld, Donald 186

Sakkis, John 182
Sanchez, Jorge 131
Sanders, James 151
Sayers, Thomas 21
Schapira, Kate 16
Schmidt, Paul 31
Schultz, Susan M. 4
Schwartz, Judy 9
Sebastian, Nic 124
Seldess, Jesse 162
Shakespeare, William 132
Shelley, Percy Bysshe 124
Siegel, Jeff 10
Siegel, Nathaniel A. 129, 201
Siegell, Paul 135
Sikelianos, Eleni 115
Siken, Richard 23, 158
Simmons, Diane 173
Simonds, Sandra 151, 159
Simpson, Bennett 144, 152
Skinner, Jonathan 63, 159
Smith, Rod 20
Smith, Tracy K. 49, 61, 75
Smither, Elizabeth 172
Sondheim, Alan 87, 172
Spitzer, Jim 182
Sprague, Jane 172
Starace, Rosemary 4
Stein, Charles 119, 142
Stein, Gertrude 115, 132
Stein, Suzanne 119
Stevenson, Matt 147
Stewart, Susan 198
Stonecipher, Donna 160, 162
Stroffolino, Chris 170
Sutherland, Keston 160
Svalina, Mathias 151
Sweeney, Jennifer K. 159
Swensen, Cole 132, 167, 184
Tabios, Eileen R. 4
Taransky, Michelle 151, 198
Tarn, Nathaniel 150
Teare, Brian 57
Texas, Irving 69, 124
Theater, Poets 109, 162
Topel, Andrew 135
Trivedi, Amish 43, 58
Tuite, Jim 10, 129
Tynes, Jen 77
Upton, Lawrence 178
Vermeersch, Paul 67
Victoria, Nancy 182
Vincent, Gregory 34, 69
Violi, Paul 126
Vitale, Anna 172
Viviane, Ana 10
Waldman, Anne 131, 159
Waldman, Ken 142
Waldrop, Keith 84, 132
Waldrop, Rosemary 84
Walker, Laura 57
Wallace, Sara 124
Warhol, Andy 162, 182
Washington, Harold 21, 107, 167, 184
Watson, Craig 4
Watten, Barrett 160
Watts, Robert 92, 105, 112, 199
Weber, Charles 162
Webster, Daniel 89, 124
Weiner, Hannah 3, 11, 15, 27, 38, 54
Weinstein, Eric 57
Welch, Lew 182
Welsh, Lawrence 81
Whalen, Philip 182
Whiting, John 124
Whitman, Walt 22
Williams, Tyrone 170
Williamson, Aaron 174
Willis, Elizabeth 132
Wilson, Steve 23, 41, 91, 142, 151, 158
Wilson, Warren 124
Wittgenstein, Ludwig 137
Wolfowitz, Paul 186
Yacht, Peter F. 77
Young, Dean 71
Young, Mike 151
Zappa, Frank 84
Zavatsky, Bill 182
Zucker, Adam 10, 129
Zukofsky, Louis 198

CONCEPTS

9/11 109, 161, 162, 169, 171
Activism and protest 3, 5, 7, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 21, 27, 28, 38, 41, 49, 54, 61, 113, 118, 198
Aesthetics 15, 27, 38, 54
Affect 162
African American poetry 182
Anthologies 12, 27, 31, 38, 54, 68, 75, 80, 96, 98, 109, 119, 124, 132, 141, 144, 152, 160, 162, 182, 197
Appropriation 21, 188
Archives and libraries 20, 31, 35, 81, 84, 122, 124, 139, 155, 187
Asemic writing 1
Autobiography 115, 173, 182, 198
Avant-garde 48, 182
Beat generation 182
Beauty 77, 85, 94
Biography 41, 75
Black Mountain 198
Blogs 4, 6, 7, 16, 29, 30, 32, 35, 36, 43, 45, 50, 52, 58, 62, 63, 66, 74, 77, 79, 82, 88, 92, 93, 98, 101, 102, 103, 105, 110, 112, 113, 114, 117, 118, 124, 126, 127, 130,

134, 139, 140, 143, 146, 147, 149, 152, 153, 155, 156, 161, 166, 168, 169, 171, 172, 180, 182, 187, 189, 190, 192, 194, 198, 199, 201
Book announcements 17, 84, 98, 124, 132, 137, 162, 182, 191, 193
Bookstores 20, 115, 131, 157
Calls for submissions 78, 129
Capitalism 13, 87, 116, 186, 198
Cities 92, 105, 109, 112, 162
Collage and montage 1, 31, 132, 182
Conceptual writing 98, 141
Conferences and festivals 31, 55, 62, 77, 86, 89, 107, 116, 118, 120, 124, 128, 143, 166, 173, 174, 178, 195, 201
Copyright and permissions 35, 187, 201
Craft 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 21, 27, 28, 38, 54, 132
Creative writing pedagogy 37, 45, 56, 177
Deconstruction 153
Difficulty 35, 48, 80, 100, 182
Digital archives 73, 166, 176, 181
Dreams 21, 81, 85, 87, 119, 180
Ecology and ecopoetics 7, 142
Editing 35, 91
Electronic poetry and hypertext 35, 100, 131, 178
Elegy 109, 162
Empire and imperialism 84, 170
Epic 131, 187
Epistemology 87
Erasure 193
Experimental poetry 109, 124, 128, 162
Feminism 13
Film 17, 41, 49, 61, 75, 78, 81, 107, 118, 177, 182, 200
Flarf 141
Gender 45, 81
Grants and funding 41, 49, 61, 115, 119, 124, 129, 141, 162, 176, 181, 187
Haiku 94
Humour and satire 48, 69, 100, 183
Ideology 186
Improvisation 124
Indigenous and Native poetics 183, 197
Interviews 13, 23, 34, 50, 71, 124, 125, 153, 158, 159, 165, 172, 176, 181, 201
Latino and Latin American poetry 49, 61
Letters and correspondence 35, 182
List moderation 35, 49, 61, 176, 181
Little magazines 3, 5, 6, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 27, 28, 35, 38, 41, 45, 54, 62, 64, 68, 74, 75, 78, 80, 98, 101, 114, 124, 128, 129, 132, 149, 151, 156, 160, 162, 170, 187
Lyric poetry 48, 84, 109, 162
Marxism 198
Materiality of the text 87, 162
Memory 69, 90, 162, 170, 172
MFA programs 22, 36, 48, 52, 75, 100, 115, 124, 187, 198
Modernism 48, 81, 89, 198
Mourning and loss 4, 85, 145, 156, 172, 178
Music and poetry 29, 36, 45, 48, 52, 81, 84, 85, 98, 107, 119, 120, 124, 127, 132, 140, 161, 162, 169, 171, 172, 174, 182, 192, 195, 197
Nature 35, 75, 84, 94, 162, 172
Negativity and refusal 13
Obituary and memorial 35, 44, 69, 95, 111, 162, 185
Objectivism 131, 198
Ontology 48, 87, 100, 162
Performance and the poetry reading 20, 21, 31, 35, 40, 41, 45, 77, 86, 105, 112, 115, 131, 136, 141, 157, 166, 182, 187, 194
Phenomenology 87
Philosophy 87, 109, 162
Place and region 87, 109, 132, 162
Poet laureate 20, 77, 189
Poetics 3, 4, 5, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 27, 28, 35, 36, 38, 43, 44, 49, 52, 54, 58, 60, 61, 76, 79, 80, 81, 109, 115, 118, 119, 123, 131, 132, 135, 137, 142, 160, 162, 175, 178, 182
Print vs. digital 9, 37, 53, 56, 62, 63, 82, 85, 90, 98, 101, 114, 115, 118, 162, 172, 198
Prizes and awards 22, 41, 59, 80, 81, 115, 124, 128, 132, 173, 187, 191
Prosody and meter 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 15, 27, 38, 54
Queer poetics 13, 75, 165
Race and poetry 4, 7, 35, 124
Reading announcements 22, 42, 51, 57, 69, 119, 138, 167, 179, 184, 201
Religion and the sacred 141, 151, 172, 182, 187
Reviewing and criticism 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 15, 21, 27, 35, 37, 38, 48, 54, 56, 60, 67, 77, 80, 91, 96, 100, 102, 109, 119, 124, 132, 135, 142, 157, 162, 182, 187
Science 87
Semiotics 140, 162, 171, 186
Serial poem 188
Small press publishing 4, 49, 50, 61, 77, 81, 83, 84, 93, 98, 101, 108, 109, 114, 115, 120, 124, 131, 134, 137, 146, 147, 148, 152, 162, 182, 187, 189, 196
Social media 7, 10, 20, 21, 22, 23, 36, 52, 72, 79, 84, 94, 102, 110, 112, 124, 129, 158, 160, 170, 177, 183, 187, 198
Software and code 58, 177
Sonnet 16, 66, 67, 146
Sound poetry 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 27, 38, 54
Subjectivity 129

Surrealism 81
The academy 18, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 29, 31, 33, 34, 35, 36, 45, 46, 48, 49, 52, 61, 69, 73, 80, 81, 86, 91, 96, 100, 102, 109, 115, 119, 124, 126, 128, 129, 131, 132, 133, 140, 158, 160, 162, 166, 171, 174, 176, 178, 181, 198
The body 85, 87
The internet 7, 35, 187
The Iraq war 132, 186
The listserv 7, 35, 46, 84, 170, 177
Theatre 5, 12, 21, 81, 109, 138, 162, 180, 190, 195
Torture and Abu Ghraib 186
Translation 31, 45, 48, 75, 115, 123, 124, 132, 142, 160, 162, 172, 182, 198
Vietnam 4
Visual and concrete poetry 1, 14, 17, 28, 76, 79, 123, 186
Visual art 48, 75, 80, 81, 92, 105, 112, 119, 124, 141, 162, 167, 174, 175, 178, 184, 186, 199
Women's writing 3, 5, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 27, 28, 38, 54

Contents

Every entry links to its message. 201 in all.

31 MAR 2011

1. steve dalachinsky — Re: A Month of Visual Poetry: NationalPoetryMonth.ca
2. Mary Kasimor — Re: clwn wr, Skidrow Penthousae, Volt
3. Cara Benson — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

1 APR 2011

4. Catherine Daly — Fwd: POETS ON ADOPTION--Inaugural Issue
5. Naomi Buck Palagi — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
6. Sarah Sarai — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
7. Michael — 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE--Join us!
8. tony iantosca — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
9. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Odd Fish” by G. E. Schwartz
10. Bonnie MacAllister — New Certain Circuits April Multimedia Issue, Exhibition and Performanc…
11. Maria Damon — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
12. Maria Damon — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
13. amy king — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
14. Jim Andrews — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
15. Stephen Vincent — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
16. Halvard Johnson — Truck -- on the road in April
17. Derek Beaulieu — new from Bookthug: derek beaulieu's PROSE OF THE TRANS-CANADA

2 APR 2011

18. Nicholas Karavatos — How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?
19. michael farrell — foam:e
20. steve russell — Re: readings in D.C. area
21. steve russell — Re: readings in D.C. area
22. Noah Eli Gordon — Ben Doller & Sandra Doller in Boulder: 4/5
23. amy king — The Academy of American Poets Announces 30 Guest Poets on Twitter
24. Stuart Ross — Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?
25. Maria Damon — Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?
26. Catherine Daly — Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?
27. Maria Damon — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
28. Maria Damon — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
29. Aldonlnielsen — Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?
30. Adam Fieled — "Ardent," entire and consolidated, now online
31. Jerome Rothenberg — itinerary - midwest talks & readings
32. Jonathan Morse — Oppen's vision
33. Mark Young — Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

3 APR 2011

34. St. Thomasino — e·ratio editions is celebrating NPM with Beginning to End by Alan Halsey
35. Poetics List — Poetics List Welcome Message
36. Millicent Borges Accardi — Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Publis…
37. Noah Eli Gordon — recent first books
38. Mairead Byrne — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
39. Adam Fieled — American Deadness Pt.3 on Yudu
40. patrick dunagan — Patrick James Dunagan / Jason Morris : Poetry Reading, SF 4/4/2011 7pm
41. John Roche — Margaret Randall in Rochester

4 APR 2011

42. Ricardo Maldonado — Thursday at the 92Y Unterberg Poetry Center: Alice Notley, Introduced b...
43. Jerome Rothenberg — Assistance & Counsel Needed: An Urgent Plea
44. Jennifer Karmin — April 8: A Tribute to Akilah Oliver in Chicago
45. Jane Nakagawa — poets and publications
46. Jane Nakagawa — jobs and poets
47. Eric Dickey — toe good poetry

5 APR 2011

48. Charles Bernstein — Attack of the Difficult Poems
49. Krystal Languell — Flux Poetics: April 19 NYC Event
50. Rob McLennan — ottawa as literary capital
51. steve dalachinsky — Re: Thursday at the 92Y Unterberg Poetry Center: Alice Notley, Introduc...
52. michael farrell — Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?
53. Catherine Daly — Re: recent first books
54. michael farrell — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
55. Robert Dewhurst — Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
56. Ruth Lepson — Re: recent first books
57. Kristin Palm — 8x8: A Reading at Headlands Center for the Arts
58. Bill Lantry — Re: Assistance & Counsel Needed: An Urgent Plea

6 APR 2011

59. Shankar, Ravi (English) — Mason's Road Contest Around the Topic "Arc" - judged by Sarah Man...
60. David Prater — Cordite 35.0: Oz-Ko (Envoy) is now online ...
61. Maria Damon — Re: Flux Poetics: April 19 NYC Event
62. CA Conrad — JUPITER 88 in Buffalo...
63. CA Conrad — OIL THIS WAR: (Soma)tic #56
64. Catherine Daly — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
65. susan maurer — Re: clwn wr, Skidrow Penthousae, Volt
66. Camille Martin — Sonnets "torqued high"
67. Camille Martin — New @ Rogue Embryo: National Poetry Month "Gimme" & more!
68. mez breeze — Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
69. Jennifer Karmin — April 10: Readings for Kathryn Hixson in Chicago
70. Sara Wintz — SEGUE= SARA WINTZ + TAN LIN

7 APR 2011

71. amy king — News of Dean Young
72. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Odyssey in the Balkans - Knes Selo (Serbia)

8 APR 2011

73. Al Filreis — Jacket2 now publishes
74. Adam Fieled — from American Deadness: Seven Links
75. Cara Benson — Try Anything: A Lab for New Writing

9 APR 2011

76. Nico Vassilakis — staringLETTERSessay
77. Rob McLennan — new(ish) on rob's clever blog
78. Laura Wetherington — Call for work: BathHouse Hybrid Arts Journal
79. Peter ciccariello — Re: staringLETTERSessay
80. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark

10 APR 2011

81. nerys williams — New Seren Publication- Sound Archive by Nerys Williams
82. Adam Fieled — from "Trish": 4 Links

83. editor boog — Last Call to Advertise in Boog City 69

11 APR 2011

84. David Baratier — Stan Mir full length book out now
85. Mark Young — Out from Otoliths — "Spider Face," stories by Kevin Rabas
86. Jennifer Karmin — &Now 2011 Call for Proposals-- due by April 12th!
87. Maria Damon — from Alan Sondheim...
88. Adam Fieled — from "The Scrounge": 4 Links
89. Donald Wellman — Olson and innovation

12 APR 2011

90. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is ”yumdZ” by Jukka-Pekka Kervinen
91. Kyle Schlesinger — publishing
92. Stephen Vincent — (NYC Gallery Show) Haptics: Poetry By Other Means
93. Evan Kennedy — Lisa Jarnot's "Joie de Vivre" from Dirty Swan Projects

13 APR 2011

94. steve dalachinsky — poetry evens by dalachinsky tomorrow haiku workshop for poetrty month p...
95. steve dalachinsky — paul violi / billy bang
96. David Prater — Call for Works for ELMCIP Anthology
97. Charles Bernstein — New "web log" address
98. CA Conrad — Julian Brolaski & Trisha Low THIS SUNDAY
99. Cara Benson — Re: New "web log" address
100. Charles Bernstein — Attack of the Difficult Poems: Essays and Inventions
101. CA Conrad — MUGGED into poetry
102. Jeffrey Side — The Otherstream Unlimited
103. John Latta — Re: New "web log" address
104. Maria Damon — Re: New "web log" address
105. Maria Damon — Re: (NYC Gallery Show) Haptics: Poetry By Other Means
106. Séamas Cain — Castle Broughty
107. Jennifer Karmin — April 15-16: Roy Fisher Symposium in Chicago

14 APR 2011

108. Dawn Pendergast — "A Reading: Birds" A new chapbook by Beverly Dahlen on sale for $8!
109. Patrick F. Durgin — Ambient Parking Lot, by Pamela Lu
110. Michael — The 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE blog is up and ready!
111. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: paul violi / billy bang
112. Peter ciccariello — Re: (NYC Gallery Show) Haptics: Poetry By Other Means
113. Adam Fieled — from "The Scrounge": 6 Links
114. susan maurer — Re: MUGGED into poetry
115. Mark DuCharme — HOLLO & SIKELIANOS April 20th: The Last Stratford Park?
116. Jennifer Karmin — April 15-17: To Art & Profit festival in Chicago

15 APR 2011

117. Jared Schickling — Re: [someone's] New "web log" address
118. CA Conrad — Allen Ginsberg SPECIAL EDITION of JUPITER 88
119. George Quasha — Penn Theorizing Lecture Series: George Quasha on "Principle Art: The Poetic...
120. editor boog — Boog Turns 20 With 5th Annual Welcome to Boog City Festival, Fri. Aug. 5-Tues...
121. Amy King — Fwd: [New-Poetry] Dean Young's heart
122. Maria Damon — Re: Fwd: [New-Poetry] Dean Young's heart
123. Mark DuCharme — Re: [New-Poetry] Dean Young's heart
124. Dan Godston — Piano | Poetry concert in the Fine Arts Building
125. amy king — UPDATE - Dean Young's heart
126. Ruth Danon — Fwd: Paul:FYI and pass it along

16 APR 2011

127. Jane Nakagawa — Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing
128. Sam Ladkin — Conference
129. Bonnie MacAllister — Certain Circuits News (issue launch, call for submissions)
130. Adam Fieled — from "The Scrounge": 6 New Links
131. Jennifer Karmin — April 21-22: Chicago Writers in Boulder & Denver
132. Rosmarie Waldrop — new from Burning Deck at 50

17 APR 2011

133. Louis Cabri — Poetryworld
134. Rob McLennan — Obvious Epiphanies Press
135. Jonathan Minton — Word For/Word #18
136. Dan Wilcox — Third Thursday Poetry Night, April 21

18 APR 2011

137. David Hadbawnik — new book: field work, blazeVOX
138. Rosalie Calabrese — Rosalie Calabrese Poetry Update
139. Jonathan Morse — The grammar of sentences and the grammar of photographs

19 APR 2011

140. Obododimma Oha — Re: Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing
141. Gary Sullivan — SEGUE: GARY SULLIVAN + DEREK FENNER
142. sam truitt — Review Copies Available: EC(O)LOGUES by Peter Lamborn Wilson
143. Adam Fieled — from "The Scrounge": 7 New Links
144. Amanda Earl — big bright amused, ditch anthology now on line

20 APR 2011

145. Maria Damon — Anne Blonstein
146. Rob McLennan — Influency: mclennan on Martin,
147. David Hadbawnik — five new chapbooks on habenicht press
148. David Hadbawnik — Rejection Group -- The Printer to the Reader
149. Stephen Vincent — Ron Halpern on New Narrative versus Lang Po

21 APR 2011

150. Al Filreis — PoemTalk 42: Nathaniel Tarn, dying trees, eco-disaster
151. Jordan Stempleman — SPRUNG FORMAL 2011
152. Rob McLennan — AngelHousePress' meta-ditch response anthology,
153. Mary Jo Malo — Solidarity and/or Solitary Poets
154. Russ Golata — sadly Jeanne Leiby is gone at 46
155. Joel Weishaus — Poetica Critique of Don McKay's "Strike/Slip"

22 APR 2011

156. richard owens — Re: Anne Blonstein
157. carol dorf — Carol Dorf, Jeanne Powell reading Sat April 30, Rebound Books, San Rafael, CA
158. amy king — Twitter spitter -- Academy of Poetry
159. amy king — Fw: Poets for Living Waters
160. Louis Armand — Prague Microfestival 14-18 May
161. Ruth Lepson — Re: Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing
162. Patrick Durgin — Three New Books: Pamela Lu, Tan Lin, and Jesse Seldess
163. Richard Newman — April 24th Literary Salon with Mario Susko has been canceled
164. Jeffrey Side — Re: Anne Blonstein
165. amy king — On this Good Friday, Poets of Tennesse -- You can't use your words anymore.
166. Aldon Nielsen — New Reading on Penn Sound
167. Bill Berkson — Berkson & Swensen at the Corcoran May 13
168. Adam Fieled — "The Scrounge" Scrounges on: 7 links
169. michael farrell — Re: Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing

23 APR 2011

170. David Baratier — Re: Anne Blonstein
171. Obododimma Oha — Re: Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing
172. Anny Ballardini — A new update for the Poets' Corner
173. Kimmelman, Burt — Panelist Needed for AWP: Writers Using Actual Letters to Inspire Creative...
174. Maria Damon — POETS of the UNREELED II: OUTDOOR MOVIETELLING + 3 EXHIBITIONS at the DORSCH ...

24 APR 2011

175. Jonathan Morse — Clean pictures, dirty words
176. Al Filreis — Marjorie Perloff - live video stream - Monday & Tuesday
177. Adam Parrish — Hello word! Final performance for Reading and Writing Electronic Text
178. Loss Pequeño Glazier — E-Poetry 2011 May 18-21 Buffalo! (LAST CALL Early Reg for Poetics Li...
179. steve dalachinsky — Readings steve dalachinsky - yuko otomo
180. Adam Fieled — "The Scrounge": five new links
181. Edgar Garcia — Re: Marjorie Perloff - live video stream - Monday & Tuesday

25 APR 2011

182. Michael — BIG BRIDGE 15 IS READY!
183. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Resources - Poetry Videos
184. Bill Berkson — Berkson & Swensen at the Corcoran May 13
185. steve dalachinsky — IRA COHEN poet/ photographer
186. Jim Andrews — The Club (new dbCinema video)
187. Jennifer Karmin — April 29: Dollhouse Reading Series in Chicago

26 APR 2011

188. Christophe Casamassima — A gift of poetry for all: Please back up my project
189. Rob McLennan — vote rob for this year's poet laureate of the blogosphere;
190. Adam Fieled — 6 Links from "The Scrounge"
191. Christophe Casamassima — Furniture Press Poetry Prize: Joshua Ware's Homage to Homage to Ho...

27 APR 2011

192. Karl-Erik Tallmo — Chernobyl music
193. Eric Elshtain — New Book of Erasure
194. Cralan Kelder — London Dates + my favourite Mairéad Byrne poem
195. David Kirschenbaum — Call for Work: Boog Fest's Poets' Theater
196. editor boog — Last Call to Advertise in Boog City 69
197. Rosalie Calabrese — Fw: Rosalie Calabrese Poetry Update
198. Jennifer Karmin — Chicago Durutti Skool: Poetry & Activism

28 APR 2011

199. Stephen Vincent — Haptics: Poetry By Other Means
200. Regina Pinto — My April Creations

30 APR 2011

201. amy king — Fwd: Invitation to All Poets to Participate in Open Air Poetry Circle Readings a...

1. steve dalachinsky

Re: A Month of Visual Poetry: NationalPoetryMonth.ca

Thu 31 Mar 2011

---

geez i didn't know about this got a ton of vispo

On Thu, 31 Mar 2011 10:52:00 -0400 Amanda Earl
<[redacted]> writes:
> Starting April 1, please visit NationalPoetryMonth.ca.
>
> This year’s NationalPoetryMonth.ca celebrates > visual poetry from collage, asemic writing, > comics, concrete, crotcheted poems, to found > poems, poems based on imaginary quilting patterns > and more. Poets from Austria, Canada, Finland, > France, Hungary, and the USA. contributed to > NationalPoetryMonth.ca this year, reminding us > that poetry transcends all boundaries, including > geographic. I hope you enjoy this month’s tribute > to what sometimes seems to me to be an unsung poetic form, the > visual poem.
>
> Throughout the month of April,
> NationalPoetryMonth.ca will feature a visual poem
> a day by Eric Zboya, Camille Martin, Gil McElroy, > Márton Koppány, Matthew Stolte, Reed Altemus, > Satu Kaikkonen, mIEKAL aND, andrew topel, Bob > Grumman, Helen Hajnoczky, Joel Lipman, Aileen
> Beno, Vern Frazer, Bill DiMichele, Chad Lietz, > Anatol, Christine McNair, Gary Barwin, Pearl
> Pirie, John M. Bennett, Marcus McCann, Geof Huth,
> John C. Goodman, derek beaulieu, Megan Zucher, > Sheila E. Murphy, Lily Robert-Foley, kevin > mcpherson eckhoff, and Michèle Provost. Enjoy!
>
>
>
> www.nationalpoetrymonth.ca
>
>
>
> Amanda Earl
> AngelHousePress

> www.angelhousepress.com
> the angel is in the house
>
>
>

↑ Index

2. Mary Kasimor

Re: clwn wr, Skidrow Penthousae, Volt

Thu 31 Mar 2011

Is Volt available in online form?

--- On Thu, 3/31/11, susan maurer <[redacted]> wrote:

From: susan maurer <[redacted]>
Subject: clwn wr, Skidrow Penthousae, Volt
To: [redacted]
Date: Thursday, March 31, 2011, 9:49 AM

At a publication party for Skidrow Penthouse, the editors and the editor of clwn wr were saying they'd like more submissions from women as the numbers are so poor. I do want to suggest to anyone who is interested in adventuresome wroting that they see the current issue of Volt, It's fantastic. Susan Maurer

↑ Index

3. Cara Benson

Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Thu 31 Mar 2011

_____
For Garment District and poets go to Hannah Weiner.

_____
From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 9:15:23 AM
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Dear Joel, It's difficult to know where to start. Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider poetry matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists. Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet. Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by prison sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than that. And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of course I do. I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that. I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress! Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets and modeling clothes too. Is* dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit? Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses. What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are? A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with "Poetry." Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed? Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed. What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all? What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of metaphor. Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft? I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this. If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother? I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't make sense. As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power. That's quite a reduction. Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words? If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go. Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping off. Hold on there are websites for that .... I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the * Oprah* poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for Seam Ripper: Women on Textual and Sartorial Style, and Sandra Simonds' activist Sweatshop project. Mairéad

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
> Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?
> If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother?
> As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
> -Joel
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
> To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
> Cc:* [redacted]*
> Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM*
> Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*
>
> Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women; poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets' self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women know about persecution? Floozies.
>
> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and executed, for what they wrote.
> There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote against the powers that be.
> Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing > their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?

>
> -Joel
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
> To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
> Cc:* [redacted]*
> Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM*
> Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*
>
> fashion corrupts?
>
> On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
>
> http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1
> 1
>
> -Joel
>
> --
> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
> Rhode Island School of Design
> 2 College Street
> Providence RI 02903
>
> Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
> Phone: [redacted]
> [redacted]
> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD

Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

4. Catherine Daly

Fwd: POETS ON ADOPTION--Inaugural Issue

Fri 1 Apr 2011

Eileen thanks one and all, and trust you will continue to assist!!!

PRESS RELEASE & ANNOUNCEMENT: "POETS ON ADOPTION"
[Please feel free to forward]
For more info: [redacted]

POETS ON ADOPTION

Poetry: it inevitably relates to -- among others -- identity, history, culture, class, race, community, economics, politics, power, loss, health, desire, regret, language, form and genre disruption, love ... as well as the absences thereofs.

The same may be said about Adoption.

You are invited to visit POETS ON ADOPTION (http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com) to see how poets with adoption experiences mine the intersections of poetry and adoption. Their varied experiences, meditations and poems powerfully bring forth an urgent poetics in an educational context.

POETS ON ADOPTION will be updated over time as more poets send in their contributions. You are invited to peruse and spread the word about the blog's Call for Participation at http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/call-for-participation.html .

The inaugural issue presents the following poets below on adoption. We hope this site engages you, and welcome your comments,

Eileen R. Tabios
Curator, Poets on Adoption

*****

POETS ON ADOPTION
as of March 31, 2011, features

Ned Balbo <http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/ned-balbo.html>
March
2011
(placed as a baby with his birth mother's sister and raised as her son)

Nick Carbo <http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/nick-carbo.html>
March
2011
(in the Philippines, was adopted as an infant. later, his parents adopted his biological younger sister)

Dana Collins<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/dana-collins.html>
March
2011
(was adopted as a baby from Korea by U.S.-American parents. sister to adopted brother)

Marcella Durand<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/marcella-durand.html>
March
2011
(adopted an infant domestically within U.S.)

Lee Herrick <http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/lee-herrick.html>
March
2011
(was adopted as a baby from Korea by U.S.-American parents. brother to adopted sister. as a parent, adopted baby from China)

Natalie Knight<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/natalie-knight.html>
March
2011
(was adopted as an infant domestically in U.S. became sister at age five to adopted brother)

Michele Leavitt<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/michele-leavitt.html>
March
2011
(was adopted as an infant domestically in the U.S.)

*Amanda Mason<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/amanda-mason.html>
* March 2011
(in process of adopting 11-year-old boy from Colombia)

*Sharon Mesmer<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/sharon-mesmer.html>
* March 2011
(sister to adopted sibling)

Allison Moreno<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/allison-moreno.html>
March
2011
(was adopted as a baby domestically in the U.S. sister to two adopted brothers)

Christina Pacosz<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/christina-pacosz.html>
March
2011
(gave up infant daughter for adoption)

Judith Roitman<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/judith-roitman.html>
March
2011
(was half-adopted. adopted two baby boys, of which the one survivor is now 30 years old. relatives also adopted)

Susan M. Schultz<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/susan-m-schultz.html> March 2011 (adopted 12-month-old boy (now 11 years old) from Cambodia and 3-year-old girl (now 9 years old) from Nepal. husband and a number of other relatives were adopted)

Michael D Snediker<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/michael-d-snediker.html>
March
2011
(brother to a sister adopted as an infant from Korea. became close to someone who adopted a son from Vietnam)

Rosemary Starace<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/rosemary-starace.html>
March
2011

(was adopted as a baby domestically within the U.S. three years later became sister to adopted brother)

Eileen R. Tabios<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/eileen-r-tabios_30.html>
March
2011
(adopted a 13-year-old boy (now 15) from Colombia. in process of new adoption process for a 12-year-old girl also from Colombia)

Craig Watson<http://poetsonadoption.blogspot.com/2011/03/craig-watson.html>
March
2011
(adopted 1-year-old girl from Ecuador)

↑ Index

5. Naomi Buck Palagi

Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Fri 1 Apr 2011

Mairead, Beautiful letter! A complex and a not complex issue-- I love that the original piece was written on the Oprah article, as there are some nice points there, and even more nice points in your latest response here. -- Makes me miss my four years sewing through college in the Oberlin theatre costume shop.... Naomi

_____
From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 8:15:23 AM
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Dear Joel, It's difficult to know where to start. Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider poetry matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists. Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet. Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by prison sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than that.

And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of course I do. I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that. I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress! Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets and modeling clothes too. Is* dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit? Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses. What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are? A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with "Poetry." Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed? Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed. What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all? What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of metaphor. Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft? I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this. If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother? I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't make sense. As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power. That's quite a reduction. Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words? If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go. Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping off. Hold on there are websites for that .... I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the * Oprah* poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for Seam Ripper: Women on Textual and Sartorial Style, and Sandra Simonds' activist * Sweatshop* project. Mairéad

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
> Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?
> If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother?
> As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
> -Joel
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
> To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
> Cc:* [redacted]*
> Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM*
> Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*
>
> Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women; poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets' self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women know about persecution? Floozies.
>
> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> > Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and executed, for what they wrote.
> > There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote against the powers that be.
> > Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?
> >
> > -Joel

> ----- Original Message -----
> From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
> To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
> Cc:* [redacted]*
> Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM*
> Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*
>
> fashion corrupts?
>
> On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
>
> http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1
> 1
>
> -Joel
>
> --
> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
> Rhode Island School of Design
> 2 College Street
> Providence RI 02903
>
> Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
> Phone: [redacted]
> [redacted]
> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD
Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

6. Sarah Sarai
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Fri 1 Apr 2011

---

fame, Oprah, Alison Lurie, James Merrill and David Jackson

http://my3000lovingarms.blogspot.com/2011/04/world-of-fame-is-narrow-alison-lurie.html

↑ Index

7. Michael
100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE--Join us!
Fri 1 Apr 2011

Dear Friends of Big Bridge,

I am writing to you about 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE. This is an event I have begun to organize on Facebook and I am now bringing to those of you who are not using Facebook.

100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE is a community action event scheduled for September 24, 2011, which will include readings, demonstrations, and concerts happening simultaneously throughout the world in the name of poetry and change. We have been working on this project for only two weeks and the response has been inspiring. So far over 12 countries and 25 cities have volunteered to organize an event.

Below, I am posting information on 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE as it appeared on Facebook. I talk about "change" and "organizing" to give you some general ideas on how this event can work. If you are interested in organizing a local group, please contact me by e-mail: [redacted], or join us at Facebook at http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=106999432715571, and "friend" me. In a couple of weeks I will be putting up a 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE blog for this event where each local event will have its own event page with event information, and poems, journals, photos, videos from events around the world.

Please read the info below and if you have any more questions please feel free to contact me here at Big Bridge.

Thanks for join us!

Best,

Michael Rothenberg

Big Bridge www.bigbridge.org

100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE

Time: Saturday, September 24 · 11:30am - 11:30pm

Location:The event will takes place in many cities, at the same time and date, outdoors, and of course it will be televised.

Created By Michael Rothenberg, Terri Carrion

Do you want to join other poets around the USA and across the planet in a demonstration/ celebration of poetry to promote serious social and political change? If so sign up here and let's see if enough people are serious about an event like this. If enough people join this, then we can work on specifics, times, dates, descriptions, coordinate and make it real. This will be a good place to gather names and contacts for regional organization. Please post comments and ideas.

MORE ON 100 THOUSAND POETS for CHANGE: UPDATE, MARCH 27, 2011

There is a lot of information developing on this event. If you read some of the wall posts on the Facebook event pages you can stay current. But, people do have two major questions.

1) What kind of a change are we talking about?

2) I want to organize in my area. How do we begin to organize?

"What kind of CHANGE are we thinking about?"

The first order of change is for poets, writers, artists, anybody, to actually get together to create and perform, educate and demonstrate, simultaneously, with other communities around the world. This will change how we see our local community and the global community. We have all become incredibly alienated in recent years. We hardly know our neighbors down the street let alone our creative allies who live and share our concerns in other countries. We need to feel this kind of global solidarity. I think it will be empowering.

And of course there is the political/social change that many of us are talking about these days. There is trouble in the world. Wars, ecocide, the lack of affordable medical care, racism, the list goes on.

It appears that transformation towards a more sustainable world is a major concern and could be a global guiding principle for this event. Peace also seems to be a common cause. War is not sustainable. There is an increasing sense that we need to move forward and stop moving backwards. But I am trying not to be dogmatic. I am hoping that together we can develop our ideas of the "change/transformation" we are looking for as a group, and that each community group will decide their own specific area of focus for change for their particular event.

"I want to organize in my area. How do we begin to organize?"

100 Thousand Poets for Change will organize "participants" by local region, city, or state, and find individuals in each area who would like to organize their local event. Just let me know if you want to be an organizer by sending a message to me directly through Facebook, or to my e-mail: [redacted].

If you are an organizer for your community this means that first you will consider a location for the event and begin to contact people in your area who want to participate in the event. Participation means contacting the media, posting the event on the web, in calendars, newspapers, etc., reading poems, performing in general, supplying cupcakes and beer (it's up to you), demonstrating, putting up an information table, inviting guest speakers, musicians, etc., organizing an art exhibit, and documenting the event (this is important, too), and cleaning up, of course.

Organizers and participants will create their own local event as an expression of who they are locally. Do they want a candlelight vigil or a circus, a march or a dance, do they want absolute silence, a group meditation on a main street; it's up to the local organization. However, groups should be sure to hold some part of the event, if not all of it, outdoors, in public view. The point is to be seen and heard, not just stay behind closed walls. It is also important that the event be documented. Photos, videos, poems, journals, paintings! Documentation is crucial. The rest of the 100 Thousand Poets for Change want to hear what you have to say about change and enjoy your creativity too! The documentation will be shared through a blog/website that I will set up, a blog/website where groups can share and announce event information, as well as post photos, videos, poetry, art, and thoughts. But an event doesn't have to involve tons of people. It can be just you (the organizer) and your pet, on a street corner, with a sign. Just let me know what you are planning! Every effort counts!

Each local organization determines what it wants to focus on, something broad like, peace, sustainability, justice, equality, or more specific causes like Health Care, or Freedom of Speech, or local environmental or social concerns that need attention in your particular area right now, etc. Organizations will then come up with a mission statement/manifesto that describes who they are and what they think and care about. When the whole event has taken place all the mission statements can be collected from around the world and, I hope, worked together into a grand statement of 100 Thousand Poets for Change.

That's quick, off the top of my head, summary of where we are now with 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE.

Thank you for joining us!

Best, MR

↑ Index

8. tony iantosca

Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Fri 1 Apr 2011

It seems that any real consideration of the value of the poet/poetry is nullified, in an oddly paradoxical way, by the prices of each garment listed glaringly under each image. These prices seem to get in the way of the celebratory, whimsical image being attempted by the photographers, designers, and editors. I wonder why the editors of O thought it was necessary to list these. Don't they know poets don't make any money? It's almost taunting, in that way. It's an odd convention in the fashion world anyways, no? And what does this convention tell us about how that world operates? In that issue of O, the editors and writers do seem to be looking at poetry as a therapeutic enterprise, as something that requires inspiration to do. It seems, Mairead, that they're taking it more seriously than Joel might be, although their purported goal is celebration. It's natural, in any case, for those who operate in a field to want to protect it and preserve it. This does seem a bit of a pop culture intrusion into a field that gains its vitality from its otherness, for better or for worse.

> Date: Wed, 30 Mar 2011 09:15:23 -0400
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
> To: [redacted]
>
> Dear Joel,
> It's difficult to know where to start.
> Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider poetry matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists. Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet. Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by prison sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than that.

*And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of course I do.*
I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that.
*I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress! Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets and modeling clothes too.*
Is dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit? Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses.*
What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
*A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with*
"Poetry."
Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed.
What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of metaphor.
Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?
I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this.
If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother?
I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't make sense.
As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
That's quite a reduction.
Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go.
Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping off. Hold on there are websites for that ....
*I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the * Oprah* poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and* *elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for Seam Ripper: Women on Textual and Sartorial Style, and Sandra Simonds' activist * Sweatshop* project.*

Mairéad

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?
If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother?
As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
-Joel

----- Original Message -----
From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
Cc:* [redacted]*
Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM*
Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*

Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women; poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets' self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women know about persecution? Floozies.

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and executed, for what they wrote.
There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote against the powers that be.

Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?

-Joel

----- Original Message -----
From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
Cc:* [redacted]*
Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM*
Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*

fashion corrupts?

On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."

http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1

-Joel

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD
Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

> --
> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
> Rhode Island School of Design
> 2 College Street
> Providence RI 02903
>
> Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
> Phone: [redacted]
> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

9. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "Odd Fish" by G. E. Schwartz

Fri 1 Apr 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œOdd Fishâ€ by G. E. Schwartz

Description:

In â€œOdd Fishâ€ we encounter Constantine Samuel Rafinesque, a 19th century American naturalist learned in ichthyology, botany, malacology, anthropology and linguistics whose field notes set out to, as Adam did, name the world he walked through, one circumlocution at a time.

Available as a free ebook here:

http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/odd-fish/15321429

Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:

http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

10. Bonnie MacAllister

New Certain Circuits April Multimedia Issue, Exhibition and Performances on 4/9

Fri 1 Apr 2011

Dear all:

We've also today launched new web content for the April Multimedia Issue from Eleanor Leonne Bennett, Stephanie Trevino and Sarah Anderson, Ana Viviane Minorelli, Radio Eris, natalie c. felix, Fernando Flores, June Nandy, Brian and Ashley Howe, Beth Boettcher, Jeff Mark, Tumei Tejas with Michael Durek and Richard Lainhart, Ana Vizcarra Rankin, Iris Jamahl Dunkle, and Joe Amaral. Please find these pieces here: http://certaincircuits.org.

We are getting closer to the first public event of Certain Circuits on Saturday, April 9th at Eris Temple Artspace, 602 S. 52nd Street (at Cedar), Philadelphia, PA. (Postcard here: http://ow.ly/4rnlo.) The donations we receive at the opening of COLLABORATE COLLABORATOR will help fundraise for the print issue. Performers include Jeff Mark, Courtney Bambrick, Jane Cassady, David Hewitt, noise band Horsey, natalie c. felix, and Hal Sirowitz. All of these authors appear in the print and online issues of Certain Circuits.

House band, Radio Eris will screen their “Yellow” video which is part of the April multimedia issue of Certain Circuits online. On April 9, we will also show videos from the Certain Circuits multimedia site.

Exhibiting artists are Kirsten Ashley, Eleanor Leonne Bennet, natalie c. felix, David Hewitt, Brian and Ashley Howe, Joanna Fulginiti, Alexander Jorgensen, Amanda Lovelee, Bonnie MacAllister, Ana Viviane Minorelli, Rachel Udell, Jeff Siegel, Jim Tuite and Patrick Morris, Nico Vassilikas, Jed Williams, and Adam Zucker and Jason Maas.

Please continue to share and support our Kickstarter ($10 gets the issue): http://kck.st/dY99K4

Certain Circuits Magazine

www.certaincircuits.org

Tumblr: certaincircuits.tumblr.com

Facebook: certaincircuits

Twitter: certaincircuits

For all inquiries: [redacted]

↑ Index

11. Maria Damon

Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Fri 1 Apr 2011

---

yes!

Cara Benson wrote:
> _____
> For Garment District and poets go to Hannah Weiner.
>
>
> _____

> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
> To: [redacted]
> Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 9:15:23 AM
> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>
> Dear Joel,
> It's difficult to know where to start.
> Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than > that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we > have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider poetry > matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but > not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no > problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And > of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists.
> Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, > promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best > students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet.
> Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by prison > sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than > that.
> And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I > expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply > about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of > course I do.
> I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that > means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that.
> I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I > bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a > poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress!
> Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The > prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so > pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves > with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets > and modeling clothes too.
> Is* dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit?
> Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious > (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're > in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses > here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses.
> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
> A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The > Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the > dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with

> "Poetry."
> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is > fashionably dressed?
> Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed.
> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the > quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
> What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of > metaphor.
> *Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment
> District to learn their craft?*
> I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this.
> *If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic
> here) why bother?*
> I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having > here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't > make sense.
> As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries, > including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
> That's quite a reduction.
> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
> If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go.
> Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping > off. Hold on there are websites for that ....
> I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the * > Oprah* poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and > elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for *Seam Ripper:
> Women on Textual and Sartorial Style*, and Sandra Simonds' activist *
> Sweatshop* project.
> Mairéad
>
> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>
>
>> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
>> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is
>> fashionably dressed?
>> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the >> quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
>> Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment
>> District to learn their craft?

>> If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic
>> here) why bother?
>> As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,
>> including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
>> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
>> -Joel
>>
>>
>> ----- Original Message -----
>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>> To: Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
>> Cc: [redacted]
>> Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM
>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>
>> Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my >> current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few >> students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about >> it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women;
>> poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets'
>> self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of >> the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry >> are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it >> compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want >> to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about >> poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's >> happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women >> know about persecution? Floozies.
>>
>> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>>
>>
>>> Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and >>> executed, for what they wrote.
>>> There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote >>> against the powers that be.
>>> Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing >>> their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?
>>>
>>>

>>> -Joel
>>>
>>> ----- Original Message -----
>>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>>> To: Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
>>> Cc: [redacted]
>>> Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM
>>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>>
>>> fashion corrupts?
>>>
>>> On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>>> Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
>>>>
>>>> http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1
>>>> 1
>>>>
>>>> -Joel
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>
>>> --
>>> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
>>> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
>>> Rhode Island School of Design
>>> 2 College Street
>>> Providence RI 02903
>>>
>>> Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
>>> Phone: [redacted]
>>> [redacted]
>>> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>
>>

>
>
>

↑ Index

12. Maria Damon

Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Fri 1 Apr 2011

---

ladies (and gents), i see an anthology in the making here... any interest in further discussion?

Naomi Buck Palagi wrote:
> Mairead,
> Beautiful letter! A complex and a not complex issue-- I love that the original > piece was written on the Oprah article, as there are some nice points there, and > even more nice points in your latest response here. -- Makes me miss my four > years sewing through college in the Oberlin theatre costume shop....
> Naomi
>
>
>
>
> _____
> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
> To: [redacted]
> Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 8:15:23 AM
> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>
> Dear Joel,
> It's difficult to know where to start.
> Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than > that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we > have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider poetry > matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but > not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no > problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And > of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists.
> Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, > promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best > students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet.
> Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by prison > sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than > that.

> And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I > expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply > about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of > course I do.
> I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that > means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that.
> I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I > bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a > poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress!
> Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The > prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so > pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves > with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets
> and modeling clothes too.
> Is* dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit?
> Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious > (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're > in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses
> here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses.
> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
> A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The > Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the > dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with
> "Poetry."
> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is > fashionably dressed?
> Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed.
> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the > quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
> What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of > metaphor.
> *Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment
> District to learn their craft?*
> I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this.
> *If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic
> here) why bother?*
> I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having > here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't > make sense.

> *As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,
> including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.*
> That's quite a reduction.
> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
> If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go.
> Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping > off. Hold on there are websites for that ....
> I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the * > Oprah* poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and > elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for *Seam Ripper:
> Women on Textual and Sartorial Style*, and Sandra Simonds' activist *
> Sweatshop* project.
> Mairéad
>
> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>
>
>> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
>> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is
>> fashionably dressed?
>> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the >> quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
>> Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment
>> District to learn their craft?
>> If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic
>> here) why bother?
>> As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,
>> including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
>> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
>> -Joel
>>
>>
>> ----- Original Message -----
>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>> To: Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
>> Cc: [redacted]
>> Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM
>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>
>> Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my >> current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few

>> students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about >> it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women;
>> poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets'
>> self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of >> the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry
>> are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it >> compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want >> to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about >> poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's >> happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women >> know about persecution? Floozies.
>>
>> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>>
>>
>>> Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and >>> executed, for what they wrote.
>>> There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote >>> against the powers that be.
>>> Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing >>> their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?
>>>
>>>
>>> -Joel
>>>
>>> ----- Original Message -----
>>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>>> To: Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
>>> Cc: [redacted]
>>> Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM
>>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>>
>>> fashion corrupts?
>>>
>>> On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>>> Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
>>>>
>>>> http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1

>>>> 1
>>>>
>>>> -Joel
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>
>>> --
>>> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
>>> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
>>> Rhode Island School of Design
>>> 2 College Street
>>> Providence RI 02903
>>>
>>> Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
>>> Phone: [redacted]
>>> [redacted]
>>> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>
>>
>
>
>

↑ Index

13. amy king
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Fri 1 Apr 2011

Right or wrong, this issue calls to mind a quote / counter-quote.Â SUBSTITUTE POSSIBLE "POETIC PRACTICE" FOR "NEGATIVE FEMINISM" in the following by Judith Halberstam:

What is negative feminism and anti-social queer theory?Â My fragmentary answer: it is a queer critique that aims to decenter positivity, productivity, redemptive politics of affirmation, narratives of success, and politics that are founded on hope for an imagined future. Itâ€™s rude politics and has no interest in being polite. It embraces masochism, anti-production, self-destructiveness, abjection, forgetfulness, radical passivity, aggressive negation, unintelligibility, negativity, punk pugilism, and anti-social attitudes as a form of resistance to liberal feminist and gay politics of cohesion. Itâ€™s aboutÂ not-becomingÂ because the notion ofÂ becomingÂ is perceived as following the capitalist logic of production and models of success that are often tied up with colonialism. It asks,Â why the fuck should queers be nice?

****

VIDA: Â Women in Literary Arts
+Â Interviews

Amy's Alias
+Â http://amyking.org/
Â Â

↑ Index

14. Jim Andrews
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Fri 1 Apr 2011

Thanks for your eye-opening response, Mairead. It's refreshing, has great strength, is persuasive, breathes fresh air into a mouldy room.

ja
http://vispo.com

> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
> To: [redacted]
> Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 8:15:23 AM
> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>
> Dear Joel,
> It's difficult to know where to start.
> Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than > that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, > we > have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider
> poetry
> matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but > not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no > problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath.
> And
> of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists.
> Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, > promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best > students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet.
> Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by > prison

sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than that.
*And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of course I do.*
I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that.
I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress!
*Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets and modeling clothes too.*
Is dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit? Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses.*
What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
*A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with "Poetry."*
Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed.
What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of metaphor.
Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?
I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this.

> If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother?
> I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having > here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't make sense.
> As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,*
> *including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
> That's quite a reduction.
> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
> If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go.
> Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping off. Hold on there are websites for that ....
> *I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the  > Oprah poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and* > *elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for Seam Ripper: Women on Textual and Sartorial Style, and Sandra Simonds' activist * Sweatshop* project.*
> Mairéad

↑ Index

15. Stephen Vincent

Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Fri 1 Apr 2011

By the way, the Sonia Delaunay exhibit currently at the Cooper Hewitt I found to be fantastic. Her pattern books for fashion can be read as straight up(and horizontal) constructivist. She also collaborated - in the exhibit - with Blaise Cendrar on the famous flattened scroll poem, Transberrian Express (not accurate title). To expand the pleasure and contrast go to the Madison St. Gagosian exhibit of 6 great Malevich paintings - Delaunay and M are clearly kissing Russian aesthetic Revolutionary cousins. They are both up beat w/ the spirit and hopes of that time. The Americans who were influenced by Malevich at the Gagosian (& why not Delaunay, too, Mr. Gagosian?) are, no matter how great, in many respects are kind of a dour postwar bunch.

Stephen Vincent

--- On Fri, 4/1/11, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:

From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
To: [redacted]
Date: Friday, April 1, 2011, 3:13 PM

yes!

Cara Benson wrote:
> _____
> For Garment District and poets go to Hannah Weiner.
>
>
> _____
> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
> To: [redacted]
> Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 9:15:23 AM
> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>
> Dear Joel,
> It's difficult to know where to start.
> Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than > that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we > have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider poetry > matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but > not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no > problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And > of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists.
> Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, > promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best > students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet.
> Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by prison > sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than > that.
> And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I > expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply > about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of > course I do.
> I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that > means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that.
> I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I > bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a > poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress!
> Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The > prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so > pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves > with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets > and modeling clothes too.

> Is* dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit?
> Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious > (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're > in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses
> here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses.
> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
> A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The > Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the > dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with
> "Poetry."
> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is > fashionably dressed?
> Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed.
> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the > quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
> What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of > metaphor.
> *Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment
> District to learn their craft?*
> I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this.
> *If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic
> here) why bother?*
> I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having > here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't > make sense.
> *As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,
> including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.*
> That's quite a reduction.
> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
> If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go.
> Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping > off. Hold on there are websites for that ....
> I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the * > Oprah* poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and > elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for *Seam Ripper:
> Women on Textual and Sartorial Style*, and Sandra Simonds' activist *
> Sweatshop* project.
> Mairéad
>
> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>

>
>> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
>> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is
>> fashionably dressed?
>> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the >> quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
>> Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment
>> District to learn their craft?
>> If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic
>> here) why bother?
>> As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,
>> including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
>> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
>> -Joel
>>
>>
>> ----- Original Message -----
>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>> To: Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
>> Cc: [redacted]
>> Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM
>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>
>> Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my >> current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few >> students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about >> it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women;
>> poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets'
>> self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of >> the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry
>> are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it >> compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want >> to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about >> poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's >> happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women >> know about persecution? Floozies.
>>
>> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>>
>>

>>> Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and >>> executed, for what they wrote.
>>> There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote >>> against the powers that be.
>>> Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing >>> their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?
>>>
>>>
>>> -Joel
>>>
>>> ----- Original Message -----
>>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>>> To: Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
>>> Cc: [redacted]
>>> Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM
>>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>>
>>> fashion corrupts?
>>>
>>> On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>>> Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
>>>>
>>>> http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1
>>>> 1
>>>>
>>>> -Joel
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>
>>> --
>>> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
>>> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
>>> Rhode Island School of Design
>>> 2 College Street
>>> Providence RI 02903
>>>
>>> Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
>>> Phone: [redacted]

>>> [redacted]
>>> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>
>>
>
>
>

↑ Index

16. Halvard Johnson
Truck -- on the road in April
Fri 1 Apr 2011

It's April, and Truck is on the road with Kate Schapira at the wheel.

Click here --> http://halvard-johnson.blogspot.com/

"is there enough silence here for a glass of water"
--David Antin

Hal

Halvard Johnson
==========

[redacted]
http://sites.google.com/site/halvardjohnson/Home
http://entropyandme.blogspot.com
http://imageswithoutwords.blogspot.com
http://www.hamiltonstone.org
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
http://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/home
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
*Mainly Black<https://docs.google.com/document/edit?id=1i_JGJ_FqQldEnUq7cwjV8giYykz_tsGbTkC2EkAP3IM&hl=en&pli=1#>
, Obras PÃºblicas<https://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/halvard-johnson-obras-publicas>
; The Perfection of Mozart's Third Eye and Other Sonnets<http://www.scribd.com/doc/27039868/Halvard-Johnson-THE-PERFECTION-OF-MOZART-S-THIRD-EYE-Other-Sonnets>

;*
*Organ Harvest with Entrance of Clones<http://www.amazon.com/Harvest-Entrance-Clones-Halvard-Johnson/dp/0965404390/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1283182804&sr=8-1>
; Tango Bouquet<https://docs.google.com/Doc?docid=0ATDp6rzKkBkhZGZwand2cHdfOWc1Mnh3Zw&hl=en>
; Theory of Harmony<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall04/theory1.pdf>
; *
Rapsodie espagnole<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/rapsodi.pdf>
; Guide to the Tokyo Subway<http://www.amazon.com/Guide-Tokyo-Subway-Other-Poems/dp/0971487316/ref=sr_1_3?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1283183153&sr=1-3>
; The Sonnet Project<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/hsonnet.pdf>
; *
G(e)nome <http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall03/genome.pdf>; Winter Journey <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.winter.html>; Eclipse<http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.eclipse.html>
; The Dance of the Red Swan <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.dance.html>;
*
*Transparencies & Projections <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.transp.html>
*

↑ Index

17. Derek Beaulieu

new from Bookthug: derek beaulieu's PROSE OF THE TRANS-CANADA

Fri 1 Apr 2011

Jay Millar¡¯s BOOKTHUG has just published my visual poem Prose of the Trans-Canada:

In 1913 Blaise Cendrars created his monumental Prose of the Trans-Siberian, a milestone in the history of artists books and visual poetry. When the intended edition of 150 copies was laid end-to-end they measured the same length as the height of the symbol of Parisian Modernity, the Eiffel Tower. Prose of the Trans-Canada responds to Cendrars¡¯ legacy in a 16¡È x 52¡È visual poem.

When all 150 copies of this limited edition are placed end-to-end, the resultant length is the same as the symbol of Calgarian Modernity, the Calgary Tower.

¡°A towering moment in beaulieu¡¯s on-going exploration of letraset as a medium for concrete poetry, Prose of the Trans-Canada, issued as Moments Cafe No. 8, is published in a strictly limited edition of 150 copies printed on matte polypro film and available for order here:

http://bookthug.ca/proddetail.php?prod=201114

More information, and an on-line picture of the piece is available here:
http://derekbeaulieu.wordpress.com/2011/04/02/prose-of-the-trans-canada/

derek beaulieu
#2, 733 ¡© 2nd avenue nw
calgary, alberta canada t2n0e4
[redacted]
www.derekbeaulieu.wordpress.com

↑ Index

18. Nicholas Karavatos

How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

Sat 2 Apr 2011

As we revise our guidelines in our Dept of English, we need to settle this question:

When comparing the work of differing professors in the department for evaluation, publishing one poem is not considered equal to publishing one academic article.

At your institution, or institutions that you know, how many poems published equal one academic article published?

Thanks,
Nick

Nicholas Karavatos

Dept of Language & Literature

American University of Sharjah

PO Box 26666

Sharjah

United Arab Emirates

↑ Index

19. michael farrell
foam:e
Sat 2 Apr 2011

---

new foam:e

edited by laurie duggan -

http://www.foame.org/Issue8/poetsIssue8.html

↑ Index

20. steve russell
Re: readings in D.C. area
Sat 2 Apr 2011

Check Bridge Street Books. Ask for Rod Smith. Or get Buck Downs on facebook. He runs the Big Bear reading. Also, go to the Busboy and Poets page, or look for Holly Bass on facebook. & another: The Library of Congress has an excellent noon poetry series, and one doesn't have to be a poet Laureate to read there. Hell, I've read there and have had friends who have read there. But overall, the Bridge Street Books bookstore reading is by far the best. Recently, Cole Swenson and Charles Bernstein have read there. & of course, Rod Smith.

--- On Thu, 3/31/11, patrick dunagan <[redacted]> wrote:

From: patrick dunagan <[redacted]>
Subject: readings in D.C. area
To: [redacted]
Date: Thursday, March 31, 2011, 1:13 PM

Hi,

Is anybody running a reading series in the D.C. area? or have any contacts with folks who are?

In May I'll be reading in Boston with Bill Corbett and then at the Poetry Project in nyc and will be continuing down to D.C. to check out the Philip Guston exhibit ROMA up at the Phillips Collection.

Guston is a central part of my first book recently published by Post Apollo: http://www.postapollopress.com/GUSTONBOOK.html

I'd love to do a reading in the D.C. area while I'm there but haven't been able to make contact with anybody down there. Any assistance is appreciated. Please backchannel.

Cheers!

Patrick

↑ Index

21. steve russell
Re: readings in D.C. area
Sat 2 Apr 2011

---

some busboy/poet gossip:

washingtonpost.com
Â >Â Print Edition
Â >Â Style

Â» Follow Style On:

Poetry salary slam

PHOTOS
Â Â PreviousÂ Â Â Â Â Â Â Â NextÂ Â Â Â

Ellis protested Busboys by swiping a cutout of Langston Hughes.

(Graywolf Press)

Shallal doesn't know why Ellis or others is upset about the pay.

(Lucian Perkins)

slideshow_init(["PH2011020805610","PH2011020805615"],slideshow,"http://media3.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content");

Network News

X
Profile

View More Activity

try{wpTiles.init('nn_sidebar')}catch(e){}

TOOLBOX

Resize

Print

E-mail

washington_po284:http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2011/02/08/AR2011020805598.htmlYahoo! Buzz

Reprints

Â

#ArticleCommentsWrapper {display:block};

COMMENT

2Â CommentsÂ Â |Â Â View All Â»Â

if (COMMENTS_ALLOWED) { if(COMMENTS_ACTIVE) { // document.write('POST A COMMENT
');
document.write('BE THE FIRST TO COMMENT
');
document.write(getDisplayUserName()
+'
');
document.write(''+getFakeForm()+'');
document.write('Â Discussion Policy');
document.write('');
document.write('');
} else { document.write('COMMENTS ARE CLOSED WHILE WE UPGRADE OUR SYSTEMS
');
}
}
COMMENTS ARE CLOSED

Your browser's settings may be preventing you from commenting on and viewing comments about this item. See instructions for fixing the problem.

Discussion Policy

CLOSE

Comments that include profanity or personal attacks or other inappropriate comments or material will be removed from the site. Additionally, entries that are unsigned or contain "signatures" by someone other than the actual author will be removed. Finally, we will take steps to block users who violate any of our posting standards, terms of use or privacy policies or any other policies governing this site. Please review the full rules governing commentaries and discussions. You are fully responsible for the content that you post.

adsonar_placementId=1483564;adsonar_pid=1900770;adsonar_ps=-1;adsonar_zw=228;adsonar_zh=215;adsonar_jv="ads.adsonar.com";

By The Reliable Source
Wednesday, February 9, 2011

What looked like a literary prank - a cardboard cutout of Langston Hughes snatched from Busboys & Poets last week - has turned into full-blown debate about the D.C. poetry scene.

"I took it," Thomas Sayers Ellis told us Tuesday. The Washington native, poet and assistant professor of creative writing at Sarah Lawrence College said he grabbed the life-size cutout of Hughes as a protest - because he doesn't think that the restaurant/performance space pays poets fairly for their public readings.

"You would think that an establishment that makes as much money as Busboys would have set in place a reading series with a respectful pay scale for writers," Ellis said. The restaurant gives poets a venue, but it also profits from their talent. The literary community, he said, doesn't know if Busboys is the "good guys or the bad guys."

Could be that the restaurant is a victim of its own success: It's a commercial enterprise and a hangout for writers. The rookies are happy to appear at all, while some of the bigger names (who command large appearance fees from libraries and universities) believe they should share in the wealth.

Owner Andy Shallal told us he pays a monthly salary for three poets-in-residence (one at each of the restaurant's locations) as well as $50 each to a host and featured poet at three weekly readings. "We have regular gathering with poets and writers to discuss how we can become more supportive of their craft," he said. "I think we've done a lot to enhance the poetry community in this city."

"I have no issue with Andy making money," said poet Kyle Dargan, an assistant professor of literature at American University. There's been "some grumbling" among D.C. poets about the $50 payments: "Peanuts," he said, compared to Shallal's revenue from the weekly readings. While he doesn't condone the theft of Flat Langston, Dargan said it sparked "the conversation that so many people wanted for so long."

if (show_doubleclick_ad && (adTemplate & INLINE_ARTICLE_AD) == INLINE_ARTICLE_AD && inlineAdGraf)
{
placeAd('ARTICLE',commercialNode,20,'inline=y;',true) ;
}

As for the cutout? Ellis told us he knows its whereabouts - but he isn't telling. Some critics (including Ellis) weren't happy about the image of Hughes as busboy and thought Shallal should have picked a more distinguished photo.

Shallal disagreed: "We have exposed Langston's poetry to thousands of people - his birthday is celebrated with the greatest of honor and fanfare." He said Ellis has never approached him with any complaints, and, in any event, it's a poor excuse to steal the cutout.

And yes - if it doesn't find its way back home, Shallal said he'll replace it.

Network News

X
My Profile

try{wpTiles.init('nn_footer')}catch(e){}

View More Activity

141Share

document.write('More ways to share this Article...')More ways to share this Article...

DiggFacebookRedditTwittermyspacedel.icio.usNewsTrustStumble It!

Most Viewed Print Edition Articles'Missa Solemnis,' a lesson in misstepsSome words to help you understand a disasterÂ»Â Top 35 Print Edition Articles Â»Â Most Popular on washingtonpost.com

if (typeof rl_count == "undefined") {
rl_count = 0 ;
} else {
rl_count += 0 ;
}
if (rl_count > 5) {
rl_count = 5 ;
}
inform_count = 5-rl_count ;

Most Viewed Print Edition Articles'Missa Solemnis,' a lesson in misstepsSome words to help you understand a disasterÂ»Â Top 35 Print Edition ArticlesÂ | Â Most Popular on washingtonpost.com

Â©Â 2011Â The Washington Post Company

if (show_doubleclick_ad && (adTemplate & TILE_RIGHT_TOP) == TILE_RIGHT_TOP)
{
placeAd('ARTICLE',commercialNode,8,'',false) ;
}

if (show_doubleclick_ad && (adTemplate & TILE_RIGHT_TOP2) == TILE_RIGHT_TOP2)
{
placeAd('ARTICLE',commercialNode,10,'',false) ;
}

if (show_doubleclick_ad && (adTemplate & BIG_FLEX_RIGHT) == BIG_FLEX_RIGHT)
{
placeAd('ARTICLE',commercialNode,6,'',true) ;
}

Business JobsComputer JobsConstruction JobsEducation JobsEngineering JobsHealthcare JobsLegal JobsManagement JobsMedia JobsNon-Profit JobsSales JobsScience JobsFind Your Dream Job Now! GoJobs by SimplyHired

if(!location.href.match('/article/') && typeof commercialNode !== 'undefined' && (commercialNode === 'metro/traffic' || commercialNode === 'metro/dc' || commercialNode === 'metro/md' || commercialNode === 'metro/va' || commercialNode === 'artsandliving/homeandgarden')){ document.write('');
}

Featured Advertiser LinksMesothelioma Treatment, Zimmer Durom, BP Oil Spill, Asbestos cancer, Mesothelioma Symptoms, DePuy Hip>> Fosamax Femur Fracture, Yaz Stroke, Asbestos Disease, Veterans & Asbestos, Mesothelioma, Asbestos Exposure>> Looking to buy a home? Visit TWP Real Estate section for the latest open houses.>> Enjoy a Taste of Ireland Tour, one week all inclusive from $658>> Make Your Vanguard Investing More Profitable - Free Research Report Reveals Best & Worst Funds>>

Network News

X
My Profile

Friends' ActivityMost PopularTwitter Activity

Your Friendsâ€™ Most Recent Activity

Articles From This Section

Tweets About This Articledjenne: Poetry salary slam http://t.co/CX3G07y via @washingtonpost about 1 month agosecondkoan: Poetry salary slam http://t.co/iMJHLtP via @washingtonpost about 1 month agoturnersvoh: http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2011/02/08/AR2011020805598.html 106: How does this article... http://fb.me/RCnvPu1s about 1 month agokwamealexander: RT @JamZahra: Poetry salary slam http://t.co/xmVtAXx via @washingtonpost, Thomas Sayers Ellis is a great poet about 1 month agosoulstrings: Poetry salary slam http://t.co/mZi7VL5 [anybody else see this Post article on Busboys & Poets? It literally broke my heart :(] about 1 month agosoulstrings: Poetry salary slam http://t.co/mZi7VL5 via [anybody else see this on Busboys & Poets? It literally broke my heart] about 1 month agoJamZahra: Poetry salary slam http://t.co/xmVtAXx via @washingtonpost, Thomas Sayers Ellis is a great poet about 1 month agoLoudounArts: A DC Poetry Slam Kerfuffle! http://t.co/ZblbvDF about 1 month agoKatonahPoetry: Sarah Lawrence Prof Slams Puny #Poetry Payment http://wapo.st/dLcXzB @SarahLawrence about 1 month ago

Follow The Post:
Facebook
Twitter
View More Activity

try{wpTiles.init('nn_rr')}catch(e){}

Featured Stories Smoke pours from damaged Japanese reactor Muslim threat hearings offer drama, little substance NPR director said organization would shield donor The Page: Palin takes a shot at GOP budget cuts

Shafer: Bill Moyers, the Brett Favre of PBS

Was TARP a Success or Failure? Depends on Whom...

What I Learned From Watching Every Woody Allen...

Why Isn't the U.S. Nuclear-Energy Industry the...

See All of Slate Â»

if (show_doubleclick_ad && (adTemplate & BANNER_FLEX_BOTTOM) == BANNER_FLEX_BOTTOM)
{
placeAd('ARTICLE',commercialNode,2,'',true) ;
}

--- On Thu, 3/31/11, patrick dunagan <[redacted]> wrote:

From: patrick dunagan <[redacted]>
Subject: readings in D.C. area
To: [redacted]
Date: Thursday, March 31, 2011, 1:13 PM

Hi,

Is anybody running a reading series in the D.C. area? or have any contacts with folks who are?

In May I'll be reading in Boston with Bill Corbett and then at the Poetry Project in nyc and will be continuing down to D.C. to check out the Philip Guston exhibit ROMA up at the Phillips Collection.

Guston is a central part of my first book recently published by Post Apollo: http://www.postapollopress.com/GUSTONBOOK.html

I'd love to do a reading in the D.C. area while I'm there but haven't been able to make contact with anybody down there. Any assistance is appreciated. Please backchannel.

Cheers!

Patrick

↑ Index

22. Noah Eli Gordon

Ben Doller & Sandra Doller in Boulder: 4/5

Sat 2 Apr 2011

Please join us for a free event at CU-Boulder.

The poets, professors, and publishers, Ben and Sandra Doller will read from their work @ the Center for British and Irish Studies in Norlin M549, Fifth Floor @ 7PM. Boulder, CO.

http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=157197821006855

Ben Doller is the author of three books: Radio, Radio, winner of the 2000 Walt Whitman Award from the Academy of American Poets, FAQ : (Ahsahta Press, 2009), and Dead Ahead (Fence Books, 2010). He serves as co-editor of the Kuhl House Contemporary Poets series from the University of Iowa Press, and is a new member of the MFA faculty in Creative Writing at George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia.

Sandra Doller is the author of three books of poems, Oriflamme and Chora, both published by Ahsahta Press, and Man Years, published by our very own Subito Press. She is the founder & editrice of 1913 : A Journal of Forms & 1913 Press and an Assistant Professor of English at California State University, San Marcos.

Visit their press here: http://www.journal1913.org/

↑ Index

23. amy king

The Academy of American Poets Announces 30 Guest Poets on Twitter

Sat 2 Apr 2011

4/1 D.A
Guest tweeters include [follow @ http://twitter.com/POETSorg]:

4/1 D.A. Powell
4/2 Dawn Lundy Martin
4/3 Noelle Kocot
4/4 Richard Siken
4/5 Jennifer Chang
4/6 Joshua Clover
4/7 J. Michael Martinez
4/8 Mark Bibbins
4/9 Jenn Knox
4/10 Randall Mann
4/11 CAConrad
4/12 Ada Limon
4/13 Graham Foust
4/14 Evie Shockley
4/15 Jen Bervin
4/16 Ken Chen
4/17 Sherwin Bitsui
4/18 Noah Eli Gordon
4/19 Ronaldo Wilson
4/20 Nate Pritts
4/21 Danielle Pafunda
4/22 Amy King
4/23 Ching-in Chen
4/24 John Gallaher
4/25 Srikanth Reddy
4/26 Jericho Brown
4/27 Gabrielle Calvocoressi
4/28 Kazim Ali
4/29 Lyrae Van Clief-Stefanon
4/30 Dorothea Lasky

In April, the Academy of American Poets will launch a month-long series of guest poets featured on its streaming Twitter feed. Throughout each day during National Poetry Month, a selected poet will have 24 hours to post his or her daily insights before passing the baton.

Users are invited to follow the Academy of American Poets on Twitter to keep up-to-date on the latest poetry posts online at: http://twitter.com/POETSorg

****

VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

24. Stuart Ross

Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

Sat 2 Apr 2011

Three academic articles equal one excellent poem in the institution of my head.

S

On 11-04-02 5:03 AM, "Nicholas Karavatos" <[redacted]> wrote:

> As we revise our guidelines in our Dept of English, we need to settle this question:
>
> When comparing the work of differing professors in the department for evaluation, publishing one poem is not considered equal to publishing one academic article.
>
> At your institution, or institutions that you know, how many poems published equal one academic article published?
>
> Thanks,
> Nick
>
> Nicholas Karavatos
>
> Dept of Language & Literature
>
> American University of Sharjah
>
> PO Box 26666
>
> Sharjah
>
> United Arab Emirates

↑ Index

25. Maria Damon

Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

Sat 2 Apr 2011

that's a good question.

Nicholas Karavatos wrote:
> As we revise our guidelines in our Dept of English, we need to settle this question:
>
> When comparing the work of differing professors in the department for evaluation, publishing one poem is not considered equal to publishing one academic article.
>
> At your institution, or institutions that you know, how many poems published equal one academic article published?
>
> Thanks,
> Nick
>
>
>
> Nicholas Karavatos
>
> Dept of Language & Literature
>
> American University of Sharjah
>
> PO Box 26666
>
> Sharjah
>
> United Arab Emirates
>
>
>

↑ Index

26. Catherine Daly

Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

Sat 2 Apr 2011

I don't have an institution, but somewhere along the line I got the impression that 7-9 creative pieces published a year satisfies the publish or perish requirement.

↑ Index

27. Maria Damon

Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Sat 2 Apr 2011

---

i'm serious, evvabody. any interest in an anthology on the poetry/textile/fashion nexus?

Stephen Vincent wrote:
> By the way, the Sonia Delaunay exhibit currently at the Cooper Hewitt I found to be fantastic. Her pattern books for fashion can be read as straight up(and horizontal) constructivist. She also collaborated - in the exhibit - with Blaise Cendrar on the famous flattened scroll poem, Transberrian Express (not accurate title).
> To expand the pleasure and contrast go to the Madison St. Gagosian exhibit of 6 great Malevich paintings - Delaunay and M are clearly kissing Russian aesthetic Revolutionary cousins. They are both up beat w/ the spirit and hopes of that time. The Americans who were influenced by Malevich at the Gagosian (& why not Delaunay, too, Mr. Gagosian?) are, no matter how great, in many respects are kind of a dour postwar bunch.
>
> Stephen Vincent
>
>
>
>
> --- On Fri, 4/1/11, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
> To: [redacted]
> Date: Friday, April 1, 2011, 3:13 PM
>
> yes!

>
> Cara Benson wrote:
>
>> _____
>> For Garment District and poets go to Hannah Weiner.
>>
>>
>> _____
>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>> To: [redacted]
>> Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 9:15:23 AM
>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>
>> Dear Joel,
>> It's difficult to know where to start.
>> Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than >> that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we >> have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider
poetry >> matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but >> not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no >> problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And >> of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists.
>> Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, >> promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best >> students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet.
>> Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by prison >> sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than
>> that.
>> And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I >> expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply >> about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of >> course I do.
>> I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that >> means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that.
>> I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I >> bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a >> poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress!
>> Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The >> prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so >> pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves

>> with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets
>> and modeling clothes too.
>> Is* dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit?
>> Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious >> (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're >> in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses
>> here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses.
>> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
>> A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The >> Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the >> dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with
>> "Poetry."
>> *Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is
>> fashionably dressed?*
>> Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed.
>> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the >> quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
>> What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of >> metaphor.
>> *Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment
>> District to learn their craft?*
>> I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this.
>> *If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic
>> here) why bother?*
>> I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having >> here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't >> make sense.
>> *As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,
>> including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.*
>> That's quite a reduction.
>> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
>> If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go.
>> Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping >> off. Hold on there are websites for that ....
>> I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the * >> Oprah* poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and >> elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for *Seam Ripper:
>> Women on Textual and Sartorial Style*, and Sandra Simonds' activist *

>> Sweatshop* project.
>> Mairéad
>>
>> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>>
>>
>>
>>> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
>>> Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is
>>> fashionably dressed?
>>> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the >>> quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
>>> Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment
>>> District to learn their craft?
>>> If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic
>>> here) why bother?
>>> As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,
>>> including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
>>> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
>>> -Joel
>>>
>>>
>>> ----- Original Message -----
>>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>>> To: Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
>>> Cc: [redacted]
>>> Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM
>>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>>
>>> Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my >>> current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few >>> students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about >>> it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women;
>>> poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets'
>>> self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of >>> the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry >>> are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it >>> compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to

want >>> to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about >>> poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's >>> happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women >>> know about persecution? Floozies.
>>>
>>> On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>>> Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and >>>> executed, for what they wrote.
>>>> There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote
>>>> against the powers that be.
>>>> Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing >>>> their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?
>>>>
>>>>
>>>> -Joel
>>>>
>>>> ----- Original Message -----
>>>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>>>> To: Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
>>>> Cc: [redacted]
>>>> Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM
>>>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>>>
>>>> fashion corrupts?
>>>>
>>>> On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>> Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
>>>>>
>>>>> http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1
>>>>> 1
>>>>>
>>>>> -Joel

>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>>>
>>>> --
>>>> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
>>>> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
>>>> Rhode Island School of Design
>>>> 2 College Street
>>>> Providence RI 02903
>>>>
>>>> Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
>>>> Phone: [redacted]
>>>> [redacted]
>>>> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>>
>>>
>>>
>>
>>
>
>
>

↑ Index

28. Maria Damon

Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Sat 2 Apr 2011

---

yes indeedles.

Jim Andrews wrote:
> Thanks for your eye-opening response, Mairead. It's refreshing, has > great strength, is persuasive, breathes fresh air into a mouldy room.
>
> ja
> http://vispo.com
>
>>> _____

>>> From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
>>> To: [redacted]
>>> Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 8:15:23 AM
>>> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
>>>
>>> Dear Joel,
>>> It's difficult to know where to start.
>>> Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it >>> than >>> that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics >>> list, we >>> have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider
>>> poetry >>> matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry >>> informed but >>> not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I >>> have no >>> problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a >>> breath. And >>> of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists.
>>> Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, >>> promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best >>> students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound >>> poet.
>>> Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven >>> by prison >>> sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger >>> than
>>> that.
>>> And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're >>> not, I >>> expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care >>> deeply >>> about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish >>> fetishes. Of >>> course I do.
>>> I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I >>> hope that >>> means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that.
>>> I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to >>> jail I >>> bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can >>> land a >>> poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red >>> dress!

>>> Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The >>> prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has >>> been so >>> pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet >>> heaves >>> with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying >>> as poets
>>> and modeling clothes too.
>>> Is* dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's >>> suit?
>>> Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all >>> serious
>>> (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that >>> they're >>> in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific >>> uneasinesses
>>> here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses.
>>> What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
>>> A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The >>> Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication?
>>> Or the >>> dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with
>>> "Poetry."
>>> *Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is
>>> fashionably dressed?*
>>> Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed.
>>> What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the >>> quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
>>> What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of >>> metaphor.
>>> *Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the >>> Garment
>>> District to learn their craft?*
>>> I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this.
>>> *If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being >>> sarcastic
>>> here) why bother?*
>>> I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time >>> I'm having >>> here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It >>> doesn't >>> make sense.

>>> *As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many >>> countries,
>>> including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.*
>>> That's quite a reduction.
>>> Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
>>> If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go.
>>> Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by >>> stripping >>> off. Hold on there are websites for that ....
>>> I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of
>>> the *
>>> Oprah* poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious >>> Hem and >>> elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for *Seam Ripper:
>>> Women on Textual and Sartorial Style*, and Sandra Simonds' activist *
>>> Sweatshop* project.
>>> Mairéad
>

↑ Index

29. Aldonlnielsen

Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

Sat 2 Apr 2011

I've never encountered this sort of equivalency measure. In departments I've known of, there's a general notion of how much publishing one should do (always a book for tenure) but no sense that one of one thing equals however many of another.

Aldon Lynn Nielsen

Kelly Professor of American Literature
Department of English
117 Burrowes Building
The Pennsylvania State University
University Park, PA
16802-6200

Sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

I never wanted to be the man who broke your heart --
Only wanted to be the man who wrote the song --

That broke your heart

On Apr 2, 2011, at 5:03 AM, Nicholas Karavatos <[redacted]> wrote:

> As we revise our guidelines in our Dept of English, we need to settle this question:
>
> When comparing the work of differing professors in the department for evaluation, publishing one poem is not considered equal to publishing one academic article.
>
> At your institution, or institutions that you know, how many poems published equal one academic article published?
>
> Thanks,
> Nick
>
> Nicholas Karavatos
>
> Dept of Language & Literature
>
> American University of Sharjah
>
> PO Box 26666
>
> Sharjah
>
> United Arab Emirates

↑ Index

30. Adam Fieled

"Ardent," entire and consolidated, now online

Sat 2 Apr 2011

The album "Ardent" is now in entire, consolidated form online, complete with "liner notes" and links:

http://fieledsalbums.blogspot.com/2011/04/adam-fieleds-album-ardent.html

This blog will eventually contain other albums: "Darkyr Sooner" and the album in progress "Center City."

Enjoy.
Thanks
Adam

↑ Index

31. Jerome Rothenberg itinerary - midwest talks & readings
Sat 2 Apr 2011

On this Tuesday, April 5, Diane Rothenberg and I are taking off for a nearly two-week reading and talking trip in the midwest (Michigan, Ohio, and Kentucky). We can be reached throughout at this email address (jrothenberg at cox.net) or at either of our cell phone numbers: [redacted] or [redacted].

For those who may be in the vicinity, the schedule of appearances follows:

On April 5th Diane Rothenberg and I will be leaving San Diego for a new round of travels & readings in Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky. My public schedule, for any who may be in the vicinity, is:

April 6, 7:30 p.m.: Reading, Woodward Line Poetry Series, Scarab Club, 217 Farnsworth Street, Detroit.

April 7, 7:00 p.m. Reading, The Gwenn Frostic Reading Series (Western Michigan University) & Kalamazoo College, K College Chapel, Kalamazoo.

April 8, 6:00 p.m.: Talk & reading , "Toward a Global Poetry," Baker Nord Center, Clark Hall Room 309, Case Western Reserve University, 11130 Bellflower Road, Cleveland.

April 11, 7:30 p.m.: Reading, Peirce Lounge, Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio.

April 12, 5:30 p.m.: Talk, "The Anthology as Collage & Manifesto";

7:30 p.m: Reading, Miami University of Ohio, 501 East High Street, Oxford, Ohio.

April 13, 7:30 p.m.: Reading, Xavier University and Hebrew Union College, at Conaton Board Room, 2nd floor, Schmidt Hall, Xavier University, Cincinnati, Ohio.

April 14, 7:30 p.m.: Reading, Bingham Poetry Room, Ekstrom Library, University of Louisville, Louisville, Kentucky.

April 15, 7:00 p.m.: Reading & talk, "The Practice of Othering as Translation and Composition," Copper Colored Mountain Arts, 7101 Liberty Street, Ann Arbor.

Return date to San Diego is April 17, after which we're at home until a visit to Spain in early May, courtesy of the Barcelona International Poetry Festival

↑ Index

32. Jonathan Morse

Oppen's vision

Sat 2 Apr 2011

At

http://jonathan-morse.blogspot.com/2011/04/war-wardrobes.html

I compare Oppen's language to the lens of the Civil War photographer Mathew Brady.

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

33. Mark Young

Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

Sat 2 Apr 2011

In every institution I know, a poem = zero papers. In other words, they don't count in the quantification of academic output.

Mark

On Sat, Apr 2, 2011 at 7:03 PM, Nicholas Karavatos <
[redacted]> wrote:

> As we revise our guidelines in our Dept of English, we need to settle this question:
>
> When comparing the work of differing professors in the department for evaluation, publishing one poem is not considered equal to publishing one academic article.
>
> At your institution, or institutions that you know, how many poems published equal one academic article published?
>
> Thanks,
> Nick
>
> Nicholas Karavatos

Dept of Language & Literature

American University of Sharjah

PO Box 26666

Sharjah

United Arab Emirates

↑ Index

34. St. Thomasino

e·ratio editions is celebrating NPM with Beginning to End by Alan Halsey

Sun 3 Apr 2011

e·

e·ratio editions is celebrating national poetry month with Beginning to End by Alan Halsey

Beginning to End and other alphabet poems by Alan Halsey. Poems and poetic sequences. With art by Alan Halsey.

Alan Halsey is the author of Marginalien and Lives of the Poets (both Five Seasons Press), Not Everything Remotely — Selected Poems 1978-2004 (Salt) and Term as in Aftermath (Ahadada).

http://www.eratiopostmodernpoetry.com/eratioeditions.html

read the Alan Halsey interview:

http://www.eratiopostmodernpoetry.com/editor_Alan_Halsey.html also available from e·ratio editions:

#11. Paul de Man and the Cornell Demaniacs by Jack Foley. Essay, recollection. "I studied with de Man in the early 1960s at Cornell University. The de Man of that time was different from the de Man you are aware of. . . . Despite his interest in Heidegger, the central issue for the de Man of this period was 'inwardness' — what he called, citing Rousseau, 'conscience de soi,' self consciousness."

#10. The Galloping Man and five other poems by Gregory Vincent St. Thomasino. " . . . how does / a body know, here is a hand, and here, is a sentence / or, / what's riding on hearts . . . "

http://www.eratiopostmodernpoetry.com/eratioeditions.html

.pdf (free)

e·

↑ Index

35. Poetics List

Poetics List Welcome Message

Sun 3 Apr 2011

Reminder -- The list editors reserve the right to decide what messages will be approved for posting to this list. Submitting posts to the list does not guarantee that they will be published.

-- Flame messages will not be tolerated on the Poetics List.

The Poetics List

Sponsored by: The Electronic Poetry Center (SUNY-Buffalo/University of Pennsylvania) and the Regan Chair (Department of English, Penn) & Center for Programs in Contemporary Writing (Penn)

Poetics List Editor: Amy King

Poetics List Editorial Board:
Charles Bernstein, Julia Bloch, Lori Emerson, Amy King, Joel Kuszai, Nick Piombino, Thom Donovan

Note: this Welcome message is also available at the EPC/@Buffalo page

Poetics Subscription Registration (required) poetics.list --at -- gmail.com

Poetics Subscription Requests:
http://listserv.acsu.buffalo.edu/archives/poetics.html

Poetics Listserv Archive:
http://listserv.acsu.buffalo.edu/archives/poetics.html

Poetics Post:
[redacted]

Note that any correspondence sent to the Poetics List administration account takes about ten days, for response; mail to this account is checked about once per week.

C O N T E N T S:
1. About the Poetics List
2. Posting to the List
3. Subscriptions

4. Subscription Options
5. To Unsubscribe
6. Cautions
7. Flaming

June 2008: Refocussed List Policy In line with our editorial focus, we do not automatically post submissions but select those we think are most useful for sustaining this online community. We appreciate all submissions, but will be more selective in what we choose to post. Queries for contact info, messages intended for just a few subscribers, messages that are not on topic, "flame" messages, and free-standing personal poems or journal entries will, in general, not be forwarded to the list.

1. Posting to the List

Our aim is to support, inform, and extend those directions in poetry that are committed to innovations, renovations, and investigations of form and/or/as content, to the questioning of received forms and styles, and to the creation of the otherwise unimagined, untried, unexpected, improbable, and impossible. While we recognize that other lists may sponsor other possibilities for exchange, we request that those participating in this forum keep in mind the specialized and focused nature of this project and respect our decision to operate a moderated list. The Poetics List exists to support and encourage divergent points of view on innovative forms of modern and contemporary poetry and poetics, and we are committed to doing what is necessary to preserve this space for such dialog.

subscribers. All messages are reviewed by the editors in keeping with the goals of the list as articulated in this Welcome Message. The listserv is intended to be a productive communal space for discussion and announcements; as such, subscribers who do not follow listserv policy will be removed from the subscription roll.

Please note that this list is primarily concerned with discussions of poetry and poetics. We strongly encourage subscribers to post information, including web links, relating to publications (print and internet), reading series, and blogs that they have coordinated, edited or published, or in which they appear. Such announcements constitute a core function of this list. Brief reviews of poetry events and publications (print or digital) are always welcome.

The Poetics List is not a forum for a general discussion of poetry or for the exchange of poems. Queres for contact info, messages intended for just a few subscribers, "flame" messages, and free-standing personal poems or journal entries will, in general, not be forwarded to the list.

Also, please note that the Poetics List is not a "chat" list and we discourage the posting of very short messages intended for only a few subscribers. Personal queries and off-topic submissions will not be posted.

Send messages directly to the list address: [redacted].

2. About the Poetics List

Above the world-weary horizons
New obstacles for exchange arise
Or unfold,
O ye postmasters!

With the preceding epigraph, the Poetics Listserv was founded by Charles Bernstein in late 1993. Now in its fourth incarnation, the list has over 1500 subscribers worldwide. We also have a substantial number of nonsubscribing readers, who access the list through our web site (see archive URL above).

Due to the high number of subscribers, we no longer maintain the open format with which the list began (at under 100 subscribers).

Please also note that this is a not a general interest poetry list and information about this list should not be posted to directories of poetry lists. The idea is to keep the list membership to those with specific engagement related to the list's stated orientation.

In addition to being archived through the EPC and at the UB Listerv archive, some posts to Poetics (especially reviews, obituary notices, announcements, etc.) may also become part of specific EPC subject areas.

Note also that Roof Books published Joel Kuszai's edited collection of the Poetics List; this is available from ROOF and also online at the EPC.

3. Subscriptions

*For all subscription requests go to http://listserv.acsu.buffalo.edu/archives/poetics.html.

*To subscribe for the first time click on "Subscribe (join) a List." Immediately following your subscription to the poetics listserv we ask that you email us at poetics.list --at -- gmail.com, subject-line "registration," with your full name, street address, email address, and telephone number. Failure to register at the time of subscription will result in automatic deletion from the subscription roll.

*To manage your subscription (for descriptions of the different subscription options please see section 3), click on "Subscriber's Corner."

Subscriptions to the Poetics List are free of charge, but formal registration is required. All other questions about subscriptions, whether about an individual subscription or subscription policy, should be addressed to this same administrative address.

PLEASE NOTE: All subscription-related information and correspondence remains absolutely confidential.

All posts to the list must provide your full real name, as registered. If there is any discrepancy between your full name as it appears in the "from" line of the message header, please sign your post at the bottom. Subscribers who do not include their full name with each post will be unsubscribed from the list.

The most frequent problem with subscriptions is bounced messages. If your system is often down or if you have a low disk quota, Poetics messages may get bounced, which will result in your subscription being automatically terminated by the Listserv program and the automatically generated message telling you that this has occurred will also likely bounce. If this happens, you may re-subscribe to the list by the same process described above. One remedy to avoid this happening in the future: set your list options to "no-mail" and read the list on the web.

4. Subscription Options

We encourage you to alter your subscription options via the link on the right side of the screen at http://listserv.acsu.buffalo.edu/archives/poetics.html. If you would prefer not to use the web-interface, you may also email <[redacted]> the following commands:

*to subscribe to the Poetics listserv send [redacted] this one-line message with no "subject":

*RECOMMENDED: if you wish to read the list on our web interface and not receive any messages sent directly, while remaining subscribed to the list and so eligible to send us posts, send this one-line message to <[redacted]> with no "subject": set poetics nomail. Note: this option is also useful for temporary suspension of email service.

*to reactivate Poetics e-mail send <[redacted]> this one-line message with no "subject": set poetics mail * to receive the list in digest form (you will receive the day's individual posts in one email sent just after midnight EST), send <[redacted]> this one-line message with no "subject": set poetics digest *to receive posts in the default option (you will receive individual postings immediately), send <[redacted]> this one- line message with no "subject": set poetics nodigest

* to receive the list in index form (you will receive a list, without the text of the posts, of the subjects discussed each day along with the author's name and address and the number of lines it comprises; you can also choose to have the index sent to you in either plain text or in HTML format with hyperlinks), send <[redacted]> this one-line message with no "subject": set poetics nohtml index -- or-- set poetics html index

PLEASE NOTE: do not leave your Poetics subscription in default or digest mode if you are going to be away for any extended period of time. Your account may become flooded and you may lose Poetics messages as well as other important mail. In such cases, switch your subscription to "nomail" as recommended above.

5. To Unsubscribe

To unsubscribe (or change any of your subscription options), again, we strongly encourage you to go to the right-hand side of the screen at http://listserv.acsu.buffalo.edu/archives/poetics.html You may also may unsubscribe by sending a one-line email to

If you are having difficulty unsubscribing, please note: sometimes your e-mail address may be changed slightly by your system administrator. If this happens you will not be able to send messages old address, then resubscribe with your new email address.

6. Cautions

In moderating this list, the editors must consider sometimes competing interests. The basis for our decisions, however, rests with our collective judgment about the kind of space we want for the list.

All posts not only go out to list subscribers but also become a public part of the list archive on the web. Note that posting to the list is a form of publication and that by sending your message to the list you formally consent to such web publication. Posts are currently being indexed by search engines such as Google. It is not possible for us to remove posts from the list archive or to control search engine indexing of these posts.

For reasons of basic security, we do not allow pseudonymous subscriptions. All messages intended for the Poetics List should be sent in Text-Only format, without attachments. We do not accept HTML-formatted messages or attached files. As a general rule, keep individual posts to 1,000 words or less.

Please do not publish list postings without the express permission of the author. Posting on the list is a form of publication. Copyright for all material posted on Poetics remains with the author; material from this list and its archive may not be reproduced without the author's permission, beyond the standard rights accorded by "fair use" of published materials.

All material on the Poetics List remains the property of the authors; before you reproduce this material, in whole or in part, we ask that you get permission (by email is fine) from the authors. If they give permission, then we ask only that you say that the post or posts appeared originally on the Poetics List Used by permission of the author.

Note: Private correspondence via email and letters are always © the author and may not be reproduced in whole or in part without the written permission of the author. As a general rule, we will not publish posts that include such material unless they indicate that permission has been given.

We request that posters limit the number of posts they send to the list on any given day. Given that our goal is a manageable list (manageable both for moderators and subscribers), the list accepts 75 or fewer messages per day, though these parameters may be changed at the discretion of the list moderator.

Like all systems, the listserv will sometimes be down: if you feel your message has been delayed or lost, please wait at least one day to see if it shows up, then check the archive to be sure the message is not posted there; if you still feel there is a problem, you may wish to contact the editors at <[redacted]>.

7. Flaming "Flame" messages will not be tolerated on the Poetics List. We define 'flaming' as any post that resembles a personal attack or personal insult to anyone--subscriber or not. This, of course, includes racist, sexist, or other slurs as well as ad hominem arguments in which the person rather than their work is attacked; in other words while critique of a person's work is welcome (critical inquiry is one of the main functions of the list), this critique cannot extend to a critique or criticism of the person.

↑ Index

36. Millicent Borges Accardi

Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

Sun 3 Apr 2011

I think it depends upon the specialty. If the person is teaching in an MFA program then 5-7 creative works a year would be the norm. Whereas if the person is a professor of Victorian Literature, only an academic article or book would be counted.

Mill

Facebook friends, help me get to 200 "likes" by Tax Day. Click here to "like" my page. Thanks!

-----Original Message-----
From: Aldonlnielsen <[redacted]>
To: POETICS <[redacted]>
Sent: Sun, Apr 3, 2011 10:01 am
Subject: Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

I've never encountered this sort of equivalency measure. In departments I've nown of, there's a general notion of how much publishing one should do (always book for tenure) but no sense that one of one thing equals however many of nother.
Aldon Lynn Nielsen
Kelly Professor of American Literature
Department of English
117 Burrowes Building
The Pennsylvania State University
University Park, PA
16802-6200
Sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

never wanted to be the man who broke your heart -- nly wanted to be the man who wrote the song --
That broke your heart
On Apr 2, 2011, at 5:03 AM, Nicholas Karavatos <[redacted]>
rote:
> As we revise our guidelines in our Dept of English, we need to settle this uestion:

When comparing the work of differing professors in the department for valuation, publishing one poem is not considered equal to publishing one cademic article.

At your institution, or institutions that you know, how many poems published qual one academic article published?

Thanks,
Nick

Nicholas Karavatos

Dept of Language & Literature

American University of Sharjah

PO Box 26666

Sharjah

United Arab Emirates

↑ Index

37. Noah Eli Gordon
recent first books
Sun 3 Apr 2011

Dear poets/publishers, I'm teaching a graduate course next semester on the practice of the book review. We're going to look specifically at poet's first books, books published from January to July of 2011. Along with a survey of outlets for reviews, review strategies, etc, each student will end up writing and attempting to publish about eight book reviews (from 250 words to 2,500 words). This is all to say, depending on enrollment, all of the books I'm going to teach will get between 10 & 25 reviews. I'm putting the syllabus together over the course of the next few months and would welcome any review copies you might be willing to float my way. I have a few books in mind, but I'm really open and would like a wide sampling of the field. Again, I'm just looking for poet's first books published (or forthcoming) between January and July 2011. Thanks much, Noah Eli Gordon1116 Saint Paul StreetDenver, CO 80206

↑ Index

38. Mairead Byrne
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Sun 3 Apr 2011

Yes, I am. Essays or poetry?
I have students too who have done / do interesting work at that crossroads.
Mairéad

On Sat, Apr 2, 2011 at 3:39 PM, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:

> i'm serious, evvabody. any interest in an anthology on the poetry/textile/fashion nexus?
>
> Stephen Vincent wrote:
>
> By the way, the Sonia Delaunay exhibit currently at the Cooper Hewitt I found to be fantastic. Her pattern books for fashion can be read as straight up(and horizontal) constructivist. She also collaborated - in the exhibit - with Blaise Cendrar on the famous flattened scroll poem, Transberrian Express (not accurate title).
> To expand the pleasure and contrast go to the Madison St. Gagosian exhibit of 6 great Malevich paintings - Delaunay and M are clearly kissing Russian aesthetic Revolutionary cousins. They are both up beat w/ the spirit and hopes of that time. The Americans who were influenced by Malevich at the Gagosian (& why not Delaunay, too, Mr. Gagosian?) are, no matter how great, in many respects are kind of a dour postwar bunch.

Stephen Vincent

--- On Fri, 4/1/11, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:

From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
To: [redacted]
Date: Friday, April 1, 2011, 3:13 PM

yes!

Cara Benson wrote:

For Garment District and poets go to Hannah Weiner.

From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 9:15:23 AM
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Dear Joel,
It's difficult to know where to start.
Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider poetry matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists. Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet. Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by prison sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than

that.
*And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of course I do.*
I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that.
I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress!
*Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets and modeling clothes too.*
Is dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit? Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses.*
What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
*A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with "Poetry."*
Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed.
What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of metaphor.
Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?
I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this.
If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic*

here) why bother?
I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't make sense.
As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,* *including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
That's quite a reduction.
Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go.
Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping off. Hold on there are websites for that ....
*I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the  Oprah poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and* *elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for Seam Ripper: Women on Textual and Sartorial Style, and Sandra Simonds' activist * Sweatshop* project.*
Mairéad

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?
If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother?
As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,
including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
-Joel

----- Original Message -----
From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
Cc:* [redacted]*
Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM*
Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*

Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women; poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets' self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women know about persecution? Floozies.

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and executed, for what they wrote.
There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote against the powers that be.
Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?

-Joel

----- Original Message -----
From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
Cc:* [redacted]*
Sent:* Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM*
Subject:* Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"*

fashion corrupts?

> On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."
>
> http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1
> 1
>
> -Joel
>
> --
> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
> Rhode Island School of Design
> 2 College Street
> Providence RI 02903
>
> Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
> Phone: [redacted]
> [redacted]
> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD
Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design

2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

39. Adam Fieled

American Deadness Pt.3 on Yudu

Sun 3 Apr 2011

The third installment of American Deadness is out now as an mp3 on Yudu:

http://www.yudu.com/item/details/313283/American-Deadness-Pt.3

Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

40. patrick dunagan

Patrick James Dunagan / Jason Morris : Poetry Reading, SF 4/4/2011 7pm

Sun 3 Apr 2011

APRIL 4

7:00pm

Poetry Reading:
Patrick James Dunagan
and
Jason Morris
(+ open mic)

Bird and Beckett Books
653 Chenery St.
San Francisco, CA 94131
[redacted]

http://www.birdbeckett.com/events/

CHEERS,

Patrick

↑ Index

41. John Roche
Margaret Randall in Rochester
Sun 3 Apr 2011

Noted poet, photographer, and activist Margaret Randall will be visiting Rochester on April 13-14, with appearances at both RIT and St. John Fisher College.

Margaret Randall has published more than 80 books, taught at a number of universities, and founded the influential Mexico City journal El Corno Emplumado, subject of a recent documentary film. Another documentary is called The Unapologetic Life of Margaret Randall. Her awards include a 1990 Lillian Hellman and Dashiell Hammett grant and, in 2004, PEN New Mexico's Dorothy Doyle Lifetime Achievement Award for Writing and Human Rights Activism. Her newest collection of poems is called Something's Wrong with the Cornfields (Skylight Press, London), and her new essay collection is titled First Laugh (U Nebraska Press).

An extensive bio and bibliographical materials is available at http://www.margaretrandall.org/Biography

Margaret Randall became the focus of international attention in the 1980s, when the Reagan administration tried to deport her for her political beliefs: http://www.hrcr.org/ccr/randall.html

April 13 events at RIT:

12:30-1:50 pm: Informal talk on her life and work (with PowerPoint of her photographs) Bamboo Room, Campus Center, Room 2610/2650, RIT (open to the public)

4 pm: Poetry Reading in College of Liberal Arts Faculty Commons (LIB 06-1251), RIT (open to the public)

April 14 events at St. John Fisher:

4 pm: Guest Speaker at Modern Languages Honors Ceremony, St. John Fisher College

7:30 pm: Poetry Reading in Wilson Formal Lounge, St. Fisher College (open to the public)

The RIT portion of Margaret Randall's visit is co-sponsored by the Women's Center, the English and Modern Languages departments, and the International Studies Program. It is funded in part by Poets & Writers, Inc. with public funds from The New York State Council on the Arts, a state agency.

--
John F. Roche

Associate Professor
Associate Chair of English
Rochester Institute of Technology
92 Lomb Memorial Drive
Rochester, NY 14623-5604
[redacted]
[redacted] fax
[redacted]

↑ Index

42. Ricardo Maldonado

Thursday at the 92Y Unterberg Poetry Center: Alice Notley, Introduced by Ron Padgett

Mon 4 Apr 2011

The 92Y Unterberg Poetry Center presents:

A reading by Alice Notley

Introduced by Ron Padgett

Thursday, April 7, 8:15pm

Alice Notley's new collection is Culture of One. Wrote Marie Ponsot: "Alice Notley is willing to cry out, to drift, to stammer, so as to put every turn of language to her use. Her aim is to speak to everyone." For $8-tickets, visit our website (http://bit.ly/goWUdi) and enter code "ALN" upon check-out.

Ricardo Maldonado

Unterberg Poetry Center

92nd Street Y

1395 Lexington Avenue

New York, NY 10128

tel: [redacted]

fax: [redacted]

www.92y.org/Poetry

www.92y.org/WritingProgram

↑ Index

43. Jerome Rothenberg
Assistance & Counsel Needed: An Urgent Plea
Mon 4 Apr 2011

I have been having some very serious issues with creating posts for my poems & poetics blog. As many of you know, many of the posts require specific line breaks, paragraphing and other formatting. For some reason, Blogger has been erasing all formatting and turning certain posts into large blocks of unbroken text. This occurs - sporadically but more often than not -- when I publish the post or have it scheduled for later date. When I return to check, the formatting is gone and attempting to correct it has proved futile: when I return hours later, the formatting is still gone.

It was suggested I try a different browser, but that has not helped. Has anyone had this problem? I'm becoming a little desperate as it's hard to keep up with the blog while on the road - as at present -- and the constant correction of posts is incredibly frustrating as the changes do not remain.

If you have any suggestions or can point me in the right direction, please email to jrothenberg [at] cox [dot] net or to my assistant Amish Trivedi at amishius [at] gmail [dot] com.

Thank you for any help you can give. The blog, as always, can be found at poemsandpoetics.blogspot.com.

Jerome Rothenberg
1026 San Abella
Encinitas, CA 92024
[redacted]

Language is Delphi.
-- Novalis

↑ Index

44. Jennifer Karmin
April 8: A Tribute to Akilah Oliver in Chicago
Mon 4 Apr 2011

A Tribute to Akilah Oliver

FRIDAY, APRIL 8th
8-10pm

A Toast in Your House:
a memorial reading to celebrate the life & work of Akilah Oliver

Featuring:
Adrienne Dodt
Krista Franklin

Jenny Henry
Jennifer Karmin + dancer Jâ€™Sun Howard
John Keene
Kevin Kilroy
Marie Larson
Todd McCarty
Marissa Perel

Hosted by Rebecca George
& Luis Humberto Valadez

at Outer Space Studio
1474 N. Milwaukee Ave
Chicago, Illinois

logistics --
near CTA Damen blue line
third floor walk up
not wheelchair accessible

$4 suggested donation
All funds will be donated to assist the Oliver family with the costs associated with Akliahâ€™s departure and to keep her work alive.

Co-presented by the Midwest Naropa Writers & Red Rover Series
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

AKILAH OLIVER was a poet, a dedicated teacher, and an inspiration to the lives she touched. Her books include An Arriving Guard of Angels, Thusly Coming to Greet (Farfalla, McMillan & Parrish, 2004), The Puttererâ€™s Notebook (Belladonna, 2006), a(A)ugust (Yo-Yo Labs, 2007), and A Toast In The House of Friends (Coffee House, 2009). She taught poetry in New York at The New School, Pratt Institute and The Poetry Project. She also taught at Naropa Universityâ€™s Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics, http://www.akilaholiver.com.

We will remember her warmly, in a house of friends, with our words.

↑ Index

45. Jane Nakagawa
poets and publications
Mon 4 Apr 2011

Hi

I live in Japan tho originally from the U.S. I applied to teach a grad course in American poetry in Tokyo at a private japanese university. At that time I had published a number of books of poetry as well as well over a hundred poems in journals etc but was told tho it was nice that i was "creative" they wanted to see somebody who had published academic articles about poetry. Fortunately I had a few of those and that got me the job (versus my poetry publications which I viewed personally as more important and more "elite" in that they were often published in more competitive places--and were far more numerous).

At my current full time job (i have a tenured associate professor faculty position in Japan), publications are ranked by type versus content, e.g. book, book chapter, journal article, newsletter article, textbook author, translator, and various forms of "other" which include poems, papers given at conferences, artistic presentations (e.g. an art exhibit, poetry reading, etc.). So a book counts for more than an article etc. Nobody checks the content of what we do, more the quantity. However to be promoted to full professor publications aren't enough, a lot of administrative work done for the school especially helps one get promoted. Because my workload is already too high in my opinion, I have successfully avoided promotion to full professor (that would increase my workload further so I don't wish to be promoted) tho ive been eligible numerous times.

At a different university somebody actually read what i wrote before hiring me. in fact that is not necessarily unusual here in Japan--people may actually read what you wrote before being hired but "academic" publications may be judged more important than "creative" ones like the example above. Once you get the job, tho, nobody may actually read anything you do and will just judge you by the number of works or the status of the publisher. Unfortunately at my current university publications are not considered so important for promotion tho at other Japanese universities teachers may be more encouraged to do research and publications may carry more weight. Some schools may not want researchers who will prefer to do research (or write poems) rather than various grunt work expected of teachers done for their institutions. In Japan the grunt workload for a university teacher can be substantial. I don't know how it compares with other countries but probably compares unfavorably. Yet an american uni prof told me some public universities ask teachers to do a million tasks that are neither teaching nor research. If that's the case, it would be similar to some universities in Japan including my own.

we don't really have degrees in creative writing in Japan however so that may be significant too? i myself teach literature (poetry exclusively) plus unrelated subjects (gender, pedagogy, etc.) for students majoring in american and british studies at a national teachers college.

im curious about how poets are valued at different institutions abroad so this thread interests me quite a lot.

all best from central Japan
Jane Joritz-Nakagawa

Jane Joritz-Nakagawa's fifth book of poems, "incidental music", is out with BlazeVOX (http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/incidental-music-by-jane-joritz-nakagawa-113/), and on sale at Amazon.com (USA). Her sixth poetry book, "notational", is forthcoming in 2011 with Otoliths (http://the-otolith.blogspot.com/).

↑ Index

46. Jane Nakagawa jobs and poets
Mon 4 Apr 2011

---

hi

i wanted to also inquire about time off for writing 4 poets working as teachers. do you find it easy to get time off from work to write?

i find that to be very difficult working as a uni teacher in japan. the vacations are very short and full of administrative tasks. sabbaticals at my university are only a few months and only partial (you still have to come in to the uni for some things) and you can't resign for several years after if you do it and you take a pay cut during it etc. to find time to write you must be extremely resourceful:-) im hoping to get in a position where i could survive financially on part time work in order to write and study more.

wondering what it is like elsewhere. a uni teacher has more free time than a businessperson that's for sure however in japan and more freedom overall of course. (the job market for uni teachers has been difficult here for some time due to an economic recession and low birth rate)

if i get promoted ill have more courses and administrative work so the way thus far ive avoided promotion is to turn in my promotion paperwork late (after the deadline) every year. that way my name gets removed from the list. curious about how it works in other countries for poets

all best from central Japan
Jane Joritz-Nakagawa

↑ Index

47. Eric Dickey
toe good poetry
Mon 4 Apr 2011

http://www.toegoodpoetry.com/
New post. Live it. Like it. Share it. Love it.

↑ Index

48. Charles Bernstein
Attack of the Difficult Poems
Tue 5 Apr 2011

Attack of the Difficult Poems: Essays and Inventions
Charles Bernstein / University of Chicago Press

April only: 30% off ($18.20) if you order direct from University of Chicago (note: Amazon does not offer a discount on this title). order here: <https://cdcshoppingcart.uchicago.edu/Cart/CART.ASPX?ISBN—80226044774&PRESS=CHICAGO&PROMO=POET30>

"A superb poet and great inventor of poetry, Charles Bernstein dazzlingly invents the essay for poetry: professing in a gorilla suit and white tuxedo."—George Lakoff

“This is a smart and invigorating book that triumphantly demonstrates Charles Bernstein’s goals and values. Those who want satire, those who want earnest discussion, those who want information, those who want to get a sense of personality, those who want theory, those who want entertainment, even those who wish to be confirmed in their beliefs and those who wish to nurse their resentments, will all find something here.”—Daisy Fried

“I regret to inform you that Charles Bernstein’s Attack of the Difficult Poems is highly unsuitable (not suitable) for National Poetry Month. Not suitable for acceptance by the publications of the Modern Language Association or its affiliate, the Annual Convention. Not suitable for readers under the age of five. Not suitable for endorsement by the Paris Review. Not suitable for your average television sitcom. Not suitable for tenure. Not suitable for free distribution. Not suitable for variations in the ontological condition. Not suitable for readers of generic poetry. Not suitable for the MFA. For everyone else: priceless.”—Tan Lin

Charles Bernstein is our postmodern jester of American poesy, equal parts surveyor of democratic vistas and scholar of avant-garde sensibilities. In a career spanning thirty-five years and forty books, he has provoked us with writing that is unafraid of the tensions between ordinary and poetic language, and between everyday life and its adversaries. Attack of the Difficult Poems, his latest collection of essays, gathers some of his most memorably irreverent work while addressing seriously and comprehensively the state of contemporary humanities, the teaching of unconventional forms, fresh approaches to translation, the history of language media, and the connections between poetry and visual art.

Applying an array of essayistic styles, Attack of the Difficult Poems ardently engages with the promise of its title. Bernstein introduces his key theme of the difficulty of poems and defends, often in comedic ways, not just difficult poetry but poetry itself. Bernstein never loses his ingenious ability to argue or his consummate attention to detail. Along the way, he offers a wide-ranging critique of literature's place in the academy, taking on the vexed role of innovation and approaching it from the perspective of both teacher and practitioner.

From blues artists to Tin Pan Alley song lyricists to Second Wave modernist poets, The Attack of the Difficult Poems sounds both a battle cry and a lament for the task of the language maker and the fate of invention.

↑ Index

49. Krystal Languell

Flux Poetics: April 19 NYC Event

Tue 5 Apr 2011

Coming up soon! Please share with your NYC contacts.

Tuesday, April 19, 2011; 7:00 pm Flux Poetics: Writing in Cultural Duality Belladonna* Collaborative is pleased to present three remarkable poet artists who write and live in dual or multiple cultures and languages. Performances will be followed by conversation moderated by Lila Zemborain.

Cecilia Vicuña: Poet and artist, born in Chile, she performs and exhibits her work widely in Europe, Latin America and the US. She is also an activist and co-founder of oysi.org. Vicuña has published 20 books of poems including QUIPOem, The Precarious, Art & Poetry of Cecilia Vicuña, Wesleyan University Press. She co-edited The Oxford Book of Latin American Poetry, NY 2009. In 2010/11 her poem-film Kon Kon Pi was exhibited at New York's MOMA. She lives in New York and Chile.

Tsering Wangmo Dhompa is the author of My rice tastes like the lake (Apogee Press) and In the Absent Everyday and Rules of the House (Apogee Press). Tsering attended Lady Shri Ram College (Delhi University), University of Massachussetts, and San Francisco State University. Her publications include two chapbooks, In Writing the Names (A.bacus, Potes & Poets Press) and Recurring Gestures (Tangram Press). Tsering grew up in the Tibetan exile communities of Nepal and India and now lives in San Francisco.

Carmen Giménez Smith is assistant professor of creative writing at New Mexico State University, publisher for Noemi Press, and Editor-in- Chief of Puerto Del Sol. She is the author of Odalisque in Pieces, Bring Down the Little Birds, and her forthcoming collection, Trees Outside the Academy, which will be published in November 2011.

Curated by Krystal Languell and Rachel Levitsky.

Location: Dixon Place: 161 Chrystie Street; New York, NY
Admission: $6
This event is supported, in part, with funding from Poets & Writers

↑ Index

50. Rob McLennan
ottawa as literary capital
Tue 5 Apr 2011

Is Ottawa a Literary Capital too?

an interview with rob mclennan
by Kim Jernigan,
on The New Quarterly blog,

http://theliterarytype.ca/2011/04/is-ottawa-a-literary-capital-too/#more-2594

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

51. steve dalachinsky
Re: Thursday at the 92Y Unterberg Poetry Center: Alice Notley, Introduced by Ron Padgett
Tue 5 Apr 2011

---

can these discount 8$ tickets be gotten up there with the flyer how much is the normal price
On Mon, 4 Apr 2011 11:38:07 -0400 Ricardo Maldonado
<[redacted]> writes:
> The 92Y Unterberg Poetry Center presents:
>
>

>
> A reading by Alice Notley
>
> Introduced by Ron Padgett
>
> Thursday, April 7, 8:15pm
>
> Alice Notley's new collection is Culture of One. Wrote Marie > Ponsot:
> "Alice Notley is willing to cry out, to drift, to stammer, so as to > put > every turn of language to her use. Her aim is to speak to everyone."
> For
> $8-tickets, visit our website (http://bit.ly/goWUdi) and enter code
> "ALN"
> upon check-out.
>
>
>
> Ricardo Maldonado
>
> Unterberg Poetry Center
>
> 92nd Street Y
>
> 1395 Lexington Avenue
>
> New York, NY 10128
>
> tel: [redacted]
>
> fax: [redacted]
>
> www.92y.org/Poetry
>
> www.92y.org/WritingProgram
>
>
>

↑ Index

52. michael farrell

Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?

Tue 5 Apr 2011

---

in australia things have definitely shifted recently .. creative work is given credit now - but as to equivalencies im not sure - hopefully it (my creative publications) will help me get a job - & then i will become very conscious of the rules! michael

> Date: Sun, 3 Apr 2011 13:05:09 -0400
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?
> To: [redacted]
>
> I think it depends upon the specialty. If the person is teaching in an MFA program then 5-7 creative works a year would be the norm. Whereas if the person is a professor of Victorian Literature, only an academic article or book would be counted.
>
> Mill
>
> Facebook friends, help me get to 200 "likes" by Tax Day. Click here to "like" my page. Thanks!
>
> -----Original Message-----
> From: Aldonlnielsen <[redacted]>
> To: POETICS <[redacted]>
> Sent: Sun, Apr 3, 2011 10:01 am
> Subject: Re: How Many Poems Published = How Many Academic Articles Published?
>
> I've never encountered this sort of equivalency measure. In departments I've nown of, there's a general notion of how much publishing one should do (always book for tenure) but no sense that one of one thing equals however many of nother.
> Aldon Lynn Nielsen
> Kelly Professor of American Literature
> Department of English
> 117 Burrowes Building
> The Pennsylvania State University

University Park, PA
16802-6200
Sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

never wanted to be the man who broke your heart -- nly wanted to be the man who wrote the song --
That broke your heart
On Apr 2, 2011, at 5:03 AM, Nicholas Karavatos <[redacted]>
rote:
As we revise our guidelines in our Dept of English, we need to settle this uestion:

When comparing the work of differing professors in the department for valuation, publishing one poem is not considered equal to publishing one cademic article.

At your institution, or institutions that you know, how many poems published qual one academic article published?

Thanks,
Nick

Nicholas Karavatos

Dept of Language & Literature

American University of Sharjah

PO Box 26666

Sharjah

United Arab Emirates

↑ Index

53. Catherine Daly
Re: recent first books
Tue 5 Apr 2011

That's a really cool idea, and it is sort of similar to a course I taught at Antioch LA a while back (I got the NBCC involved); I was able to get donations of books from presses for the first iteration, and I was able to hook up several students (and they, me, BTW) with various publishers of reviews, esp. online and in zines -- the reviews do get published, which is exciting for everyone involved. For the second iteration, I also allowed eBooks, and THAT is something that can hold down student costs and lead to surprises.

Plz keep posted,
Catherine Daly
[redacted]

↑ Index

54. michael farrell
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Tue 5 Apr 2011

sounds cool

mairéad, u rock

> Date: Sun, 3 Apr 2011 15:20:41 -0400
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
> To: [redacted]
>
> Yes, I am. Essays or poetry?
> I have students too who have done / do interesting work at that crossroads.
> Mairéad
>
> On Sat, Apr 2, 2011 at 3:39 PM, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> i'm serious, evvabody. any interest in an anthology on the > poetry/textile/fashion nexus?
>
> Stephen Vincent wrote:
>
> By the way, the Sonia Delaunay exhibit currently at the Cooper Hewitt I > found to be fantastic. Her pattern books for fashion can be read as straight > up(and horizontal) constructivist. She also collaborated - in the exhibit - > with Blaise Cendrar on the famous flattened scroll poem, Transberrian > Express (not accurate title).

To expand the pleasure and contrast go to the Madison St. Gagosian exhibit of 6 great Malevich paintings - Delaunay and M are clearly kissing Russian aesthetic Revolutionary cousins. They are both up beat w/ the spirit and hopes of that time. The Americans who were influenced by Malevich at the Gagosian (& why not Delaunay, too, Mr. Gagosian?) are, no matter how great, in many respects are kind of a dour postwar bunch.
Stephen Vincent

--- On Fri, 4/1/11, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:

From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
To: [redacted]
Date: Friday, April 1, 2011, 3:13 PM

yes!

Cara Benson wrote:

For Garment District and poets go to Hannah Weiner.

From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Wed, March 30, 2011 9:15:23 AM
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Dear Joel,
It's difficult to know where to start.
Of course I don't take poetry seriously! I have more respect for it than that. Look how accommodating it is! Even on a dedicated poetics list, we have such different understandings. Some, like you perhaps, consider poetry matter of writing. Others, like me perhaps, consider poetry informed but not defined by medium or technology. It's huger than that. So I have no problem seeing poetry in fashion or soccer, in a gesture or a breath. And of course I absolutely understand apparel designers as artists. Furthermore, apparel design in itself is an art form but also poetry, promiscuous as it is, may crowd in as a companion art. One of the best students I ever had was a consummate designer, musician, and sound poet. Your poetry sounds exacting. The kind where seriousness is proven by

prison
sentences. My poetry is the biggest joke in the world, even bigger than that.
And of course I expect poets to be dandies. And even when they're not, I expect them to be manic about grey or lint. I expect poets to care deeply about pencils, brands of notebooks, I expect them to cherish fetishes. Of *course I do.*
I would be happy to spend the entire day contemplating a color. I hope that means I'm not serious. I hardly ever am luxurious like that.
I get a kick out of Frank and his tight pants. And if Oscar goes to jail I bet he misses his duds. I know words are blazingly potent and can land a poet in a heap of trouble. That doesn't mean you can't enjoy a red dress!
Clothes can be armor. Clothes can be talismen (if that's a word). The prohibition of women's voices in poetry or the agora or on stage has been so *pervasive in all cultures for so long that the pairing woman poet heaves*
with uneasiness. Now here they are in the market-place identifying as poets
and modeling clothes too.
Is dressing up* just too much? The woman poet should wear a man's suit?*
Let's have the men poets in dresses! That would be fun + not at all serious (just like women poets in dresses I guess). Or is the problem that they're in the market-place, but not for sale? What are the specific uneasinesses
here? I don't doubt there are uneasinesses.
What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
*A lot! What does the apartment one rents have to do with writing The Bridge? Or the green carnation one wears to do with publication? Or the* dark cloak and tricorn hat to do with
"Poetry."
Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
Possibly. Thought the best poems are written in bed.
What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
What does anything have to do with anything? That's the business of metaphor.
Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?

I will consult Maria Damon + Jen Bervin on this.
If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother?
I am never sarcastic + seldom argumentative. Hence the hard time I'm having here. How could I (a pea) take poetry (a banquet) seriously? It doesn't make sense.
As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,* *including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
That's quite a reduction.
Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
If we are to fight, I think body armor is the way to go.
Or we (women) could do the old trick of terrifying warriors by stripping off. Hold on there are websites for that ....
*I hope someone else weighs in on Joel's and David Orr's critiques of the  Oprah poets. I know delicious critiques are forming on Delirious Hem and* *elsewhere, i.e., Kate Durbin and Becca Klaver's call for Seam Ripper: Women on Textual and Sartorial Style, and Sandra Simonds' activist * Sweatshop* project.*
Mairéad

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 7:38 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

What does what one wears have to do with how good a poet they are?
Does a student of yours write better poems on a day she or he is fashionably dressed?
What does a woman (or man) poet modeling clothes have to do with the quality of their writing, or their writing at all?
Perhaps young people who want to be poets should get jobs in the Garment District to learn their craft?
If you don't take poetry seriously (I'm assuming you're being sarcastic here) why bother?
As for women being persecuted. Yes, of course they are, in many countries,
including this one, in states in which Republicans are in power.
Do we fight this with our clothes, or with our words?
-Joel

----- Original Message -----
From:* Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>*
To:* Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>*
Cc: [redacted]

Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:57 PM
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

Hmm I teach at a school of art + design and many of the students in my current Contemporary Poetry class are Apparel majors. I'm encouraging a few students to do a paper on this. If they do, I'm sure they will think about it better than I can, but poetry's long exclusion of women; poetry + public space / fashion + public space; 20th century women poets' self-presentation in men's apparel / names; the late 20th articulation of the gurlesque; and dismissive attitudes to the pairing of fashion + poetry are some of my first thoughts. Not to mention Kate Durbin. Hey who was it compared meter and form to a pair of pants tight enough for everyone to want to sleep with you? But poetry and sex don't mix, right! Whatever about poetry and fashion. And women poets in public places modeling? What's happening? Poetry is a lot more serious than that. And what would women know about persecution? Floozies.

On Tue, Mar 29, 2011 at 2:41 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]> wrote:

Poets have a long history of being persecuted, if not imprisoned and executed, for what they wrote.
There are presently poets in prisons around the world because they wrote against the powers that be.
Reading this, it seems to me that American poets have a problem valuing their art. Or, maybe I expect too much?

-Joel

----- Original Message -----
From: Mairead Byrne <[redacted]>
To: Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
Cc: [redacted]
Sent: Tuesday, March 29, 2011 3:50 AM
Subject: Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"

fashion corrupts?

On Sat, Mar 26, 2011 at 11:36 PM, Joel Weishaus <[redacted]>
wrote:

Just when I thought, "At least poets can't be corrupted."

http://www.nytimes.com/2011/03/27/books/review/oprah-magazines-adventures-in-poetry.html?_r=1 1

-Joel

--
Mairéad Byrne, PhD
Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
Rhode Island School of Design
2 College Street
Providence RI 02903

Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
Phone: [redacted]
[redacted]
http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

> --
> Mairéad Byrne, PhD
> Associate Professor of Poetry + Poetics
> Rhode Island School of Design
> 2 College Street
> Providence RI 02903
>
> Office: College Building 528 (treasure hunt!)
> Phone: [redacted]
> [redacted]
> http://www.whatsleftofheaven.com/

↑ Index

55. Robert Dewhurst
Re: Bernadette Mayer Symposium in Buffalo
Tue 5 Apr 2011

Photos from the symposium this wkend in Buffalo are now up:

http://english.buffalo.edu/mayersymposium

Stay tuned in the coming weeks for audio, etc!

↑ Index

56. Ruth Lepson
Re: recent first books
Tue 5 Apr 2011

hi a student of mine, a terrific sax player, came across your poetry & has become a big fan. I'm going to forward this to him in case he wants to write to you! have fun.

On 4/3/11 2:03 PM, "Noah Eli Gordon" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Dear poets/publishers,
> I'm teaching a graduate course next semester on the practice of the book review. We're going to look specifically at poet's first books, books published from January to July of 2011. Along with a survey of outlets for reviews, review strategies, etc, each student will end up writing and attempting to publish about eight book reviews (from 250 words to 2,500 words). This is all to say, depending on enrollment, all of the books I'm going to teach will get between 10 & 25 reviews.
> I'm putting the syllabus together over the course of the next few months and would welcome any review copies you might be willing to float my way. I have a few books in mind, but I'm really open and would like a wide sampling of the field.
> Again, I'm just looking for poet's first books published (or forthcoming) > between January and July 2011.

> Thanks much,
> Noah Eli Gordon1116 Saint Paul StreetDenver, CO 80206

↑ Index

57. Kristin Palm
8x8: A Reading at Headlands Center for the Arts
Tue 5 Apr 2011

Please join us for 8x8, a reading on Sunday, April 17 at the Headlands Center for the Arts Spring Open House featuring:

Ari Banias

Samantha Giles

Michael Nicoloff

Kristin Palm

Sarah Rosenthal

Brian Teare

Laura Walker

Emily Weinstein

Reading: 1-2pm, East
Wing of Building 944, 2nd floor.

Open House: 12-5pm. Visit art studios; eat in the Building 944 café or bring a picnic. Also enjoy beach-walking, trail-hiking, wildflower-gazing, bird-watching, and fresh-air-breathing. Family-friendly!

Event Description: http://www.headlands.org/event_detail.asp?key=20&eventkey=958

Directions: http://www.headlands.org/article.asp?key=23

↑ Index

58. Bill Lantry
Re: Assistance & Counsel Needed: An Urgent Plea
Tue 5 Apr 2011

Jerome,

Changing browsers won't help. You need to change your content management software for your website. You need something better than blogger.

You may wish to go with Joomla, or a locally installed version of wordpress. Of course, to do that, you need your own site hosting and domain name, but that will only cost you about five bucks a month. Write me off-line, and I can point you in the right direction.

Thanks,

Bill

On Mon, Apr 4, 2011 at 4:05 PM, Jerome Rothenberg <[redacted]>wrote:

> I have been having some very serious issues with creating posts for my poems & poetics blog. As many of you know, many of the posts require specific line breaks, paragraphing and other formatting. For some reason, Blogger has been erasing all formatting and turning certain posts into large blocks of unbroken text. This occurs - sporadically but more often than not -- when I publish the post or have it scheduled for later date. When I return to check, the formatting is gone and attempting to correct it has proved futile: when I return hours later, the formatting is still gone.
>
> It was suggested I try a different browser, but that has not helped. Has anyone had this problem? I'm becoming a little desperate as it's hard to keep up with the blog while on the road - as at present -- and the constant correction of posts is incredibly frustrating as the changes do not remain.
>
> If you have any suggestions or can point me in the right direction, please email to jrothenberg [at] cox [dot] net or to my assistant Amish Trivedi at amishius [at] gmail [dot] com.
>
> Thank you for any help you can give. The blog, as always, can be found at poemsandpoetics.blogspot.com.
>
> Jerome Rothenberg
> 1026 San Abella
> Encinitas, CA 92024
> [redacted]
>
> Language is Delphi.
> -- Novalis

↑ Index

59. Shankar, Ravi (English)

Mason's Road Contest Around the Topic "Arc" - judged by Sarah Manguso

Wed 6 Apr 2011

---

http://www.masonsroad.com/features/creative-writing-contest/

Contest
Creative Writing Contest: $1,000 Prize and Publication

Finalist Judge: Sarah Manguso

Theme: Arc – the rise and fall of dramatic tension within a piece. Not sure your work fits? Let our editors and judge decide!

Please note: You do not need to enter our contest to be considered for publication in Mason’s Road; however, only contest candidates will be considered for the $1,000 prize.

To enter the contest:

Pay the $15 reading fee here
Upload your piece through the submission manager form using the instructions on the page
Have questions about the contest? Contact Managing Editor Tess Brown at [redacted].

Good luck!

↑ Index

60. David Prater

Cordite 35.0: Oz-Ko (Envoy) is now online ...

Wed 6 Apr 2011

Dear Buffalo Poetics Listees ...

Cordite Poetry Review 35: Oz-Ko is a special issue showcasing new poetry from Australia and Korea. Check out the first stage of the issue here:

http://www.cordite.org.au/content/poetry/ozko-envoy

It's called 'Oz-Ko: Envoy' because it features twenty new poems by Australian poets and is intended to act as an envoy or advance party introducing what promises to be a vast issue filled with poetry in English and Hangul, features, articles, photo essays and other ephemera.

Subsequent stages of the issue will appear online in May and June, with new features posted weekly between now and then, so I'd encourage you to check back every so often to see how Oz-Ko is unfolding.

Oh, and a quick reminder: submissions are still open for our thirty-sixth issue, Electronic(a). Subs close at the end of April. More details here:

http://www.cordite.org.au/submissions

In the meantime, I hope you enjoy the poems we've posted so far ...

Best wishes

David Prater
Managing Editor
Cordite Poetry Review
http://www.cordite.org.au

Homepage
http://www.daveydreamnation.com

We Will Disappear
http://www.papertigermedia.com/soi3-modern-poets/david-prater.html

↑ Index

61. Maria Damon
Re: Flux Poetics: April 19 NYC Event
Wed 6 Apr 2011

---

argh, wish i cd be there...you NYC'ers have all the fun.

Krystal Languell wrote:
> Coming up soon! Please share with your NYC contacts.
>
> Tuesday, April 19, 2011; 7:00 pm
> Flux Poetics: Writing in Cultural Duality
> Belladonna* Collaborative is pleased to present three remarkable poet > artists who write and live in dual or multiple cultures and languages.
> Performances will be followed by conversation moderated by Lila > Zemborain.
>
> Cecilia Vicuña: Poet and artist, born in Chile, she performs and > exhibits her work widely in Europe, Latin America and the US. She is > also an activist and co-founder of oysi.org. Vicuña has published 20 > books of poems including QUIPOem, The Precarious, Art & Poetry of > Cecilia Vicuña, Wesleyan University Press. She co-edited The Oxford
> Book of Latin American Poetry, NY 2009. In 2010/11 her poem-film Kon

> Kon Pi was exhibited at New York's MOMA. She lives in New York and Chile.
>
> Tsering Wangmo Dhompa is the author of My rice tastes like the lake > (Apogee Press) and In the Absent Everyday and Rules of the House > (Apogee Press). Tsering attended Lady Shri Ram College (Delhi > University), University of Massachussetts, and San Francisco State > University. Her publications include two chapbooks, In Writing the > Names (A.bacus, Potes & Poets Press) and Recurring Gestures (Tangram > Press). Tsering grew up in the Tibetan exile communities of Nepal and > India and now lives in San Francisco.
>
> Carmen Giménez Smith is assistant professor of creative writing at New > Mexico State University, publisher for Noemi Press, and > Editor-in-Chief of Puerto Del Sol. She is the author of Odalisque in > Pieces, Bring Down the Little Birds, and her forthcoming collection, > Trees Outside the Academy, which will be published in November 2011.
>
> Curated by Krystal Languell and Rachel Levitsky.
>
> Location: Dixon Place: 161 Chrystie Street; New York, NY
> Admission: $6
> This event is supported, in part, with funding from Poets & Writers
>
>

↑ Index

62. CA Conrad
JUPITER 88 in Buffalo...
Wed 6 Apr 2011

JUPITER 88: a video journal of contemporary poetry

While in Buffalo for the Bernadette Mayer Symposium 6 new JUPITER 88 poetry films were made:
KRISTIANNE MEAL
AARON LOWINGER
JOEY YEAROUS-ALGOZIN
HOLLY MELGARD
CHRIS SYLVESTER
DIVYA VICTOR

See these and other JUPITER 88 poetry films at this link:
http://somaticpoetryexercises.blogspot.com/

ENJOY!
CAConrad

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

63. CA Conrad
OIL THIS WAR: (Soma)tic #56
Wed 6 Apr 2011

---

for Jonathan Skinner
click this link: http://somaticpoetryexercises.blogspot.com/

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

64. Catherine Daly
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Wed 6 Apr 2011

Thanks for this heads up -- I wish I could see it. Have a Delaunay poem in Da3.

Here's a link to the site for the exhibit:

http://beta.cooperhewitt.org/microsites/colormoves/#id=album-15&num=content-167

<http://beta.cooperhewitt.org/microsites/colormoves/#id=album-15&num=content-167>

↑ Index

65. susan maurer
Re: clwn wr, Skidrow Penthousae, Volt
Wed 6 Apr 2011

---

oops sent an email based on thinking this was from Skidrow.
Doesn"t look like there is an online version of Volt. Susan Maurer
> Date: Thu, 31 Mar 2011 15:44:09 -0700
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: clwn wr, Skidrow Penthousae, Volt
> To: [redacted]

>
> Is Volt available in online form?
>
>
> --- On Thu, 3/31/11, susan maurer <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> From: susan maurer <[redacted]>
> Subject: clwn wr, Skidrow Penthousae, Volt
> To: [redacted]
> Date: Thursday, March 31, 2011, 9:49 AM
>
> At a publication party for Skidrow Penthouse, the editors and the editor of clwn wr were saying they'd like more submissions from women as the numbers are so poor. I do want to suggest to anyone who is interested in adventuresome wroting that they see the current issue of Volt, It's fantastic. Susan Maurer
>

↑ Index

66. Camille Martin
Sonnets "torqued high"
Wed 6 Apr 2011

Lots of new poetry book reviews at Galatea Resurrects, including this excellent one on my Sonnets:

http://galatearesurrection16.blogspot.com/2011/03/sonnets-by-camille-martin.html

Marianne Villanueva's take on* Sonnets*: "rigorous and uncompromising . . . intellectually fearsome . . . torqued high."

Links to distributors of Sonnets can be found at the Shearsman webpage:

http://www.shearsman.com/pages/books/catalog/2010/martin.html

Cheers!
Camille

↑ Index

67. Camille Martin
New @ Rogue Embryo: National Poetry Month "Gimme" & more!
Wed 6 Apr 2011

@ Rogue Embryo
http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com

* Review of Camille Martin's Sonnets: "torqued high" http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/04/05/sonnets-torqued-high/<http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/03/03/sonnet-workshop-at-tnsow/>

* National Poetry Month: "Gimme" http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/04/02/gimme-for-national-poetry-month/<http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/03/05/sampling-jay-millars-other-poems/>

* Camille Martin, Paul Vermeersch, and Jonathan Bennett @ the Pivot (Toronto)
http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/04/01/camille-martin-paul-vermeersch-and-jonathan-bennet-at-the-pivot/

* Influency 10: A Toronto Poetry Salon
http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/03/28/influency-10-a-toronto-poetry-salon-starts-april-6/

Cheers!
Camille

Sonnets:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781848610705/sonnets.aspx

Codes of Public Sleep:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781897388112/codes-of-public-sleep.aspx

↑ Index

68. mez breeze
Re: "Oprah Magazine's Adventures in Poetry"
Wed 6 Apr 2011

Imma interested, tho my take would be more guerrilla knitting vs/+ poesis vs/+ fashion obsolescence?

chunks, mez
http://unhub.com/netwurker

On Sun, Apr 3, 2011 at 5:39 AM, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:

> i'm serious, evvabody. any interest in an anthology on the poetry/textile/fashion nexus?

↑ Index

69. Jennifer Karmin

April 10: Readings for Kathryn Hixson in Chicago

Wed 6 Apr 2011

SUNDAY, APRIL 10
1
NO JOKE:
Readings in Memory of Kathryn Hixson

SUNDAY, APRIL 10
1â€“4pm

Readers will include:
Lauren Carter
Michael Fleming
REH Gordon
Joe Grimm
Jennifer Karmin
Michael Milano
Marissa Perel

at LVL3
1542 N. Milwaukee Ave. 3rd fl
Chicago, Illinois
http://lvl3gallery.com

This reading is in in conjunction with the exhibition No Joke, dedicated to Kathryn Hixson who passed away in the Fall of 2010. Participants will read from Kathryn's writing and their creative responses to her work.

Kathryn Hixson was one of the most distinguished art critics in Chicago, an amazing teacher, advisor and good friend. She was finishing a PhD dissertation at the University of Texas Austin on the role of humor in the work of Bruce Nauman and Richard Prince.

In the spirit of her spontaneity, criticality and wise-ass attitude, recent M.F.A graduates from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago pay tribute to Kathryn and her influence on the latest generation of emerging artists. No Joke features new work by: Andy Cahill, Alan & Michael Fleming, Yasi Ghanbari, Danny Greene, Joe Grimm, Marissa Perel, Aaron David Ross, and Michael Vallera. The show runs from April 2 â€“ April 30, 2011.

Closing Reception
Saturday, April 30
5â€“8pm

LVL3 is an exhibition space directed by Vincent Uribe. It is dedicated in supporting collaborative work and group shows to foster connections between emerging and established artists.

↑ Index

70. Sara Wintz
SEGUE= SARA WINTZ + TAN LIN
Wed 6 Apr 2011

KG: "there seems to be a disturbance"
SEGUE: "what is this disturbance"
KG: "oh my goodness what is it... it... it..."
C. ALEXANDER: "it appears to be a small girl somewhere in the cockpit" sw: i have infiltrated segue's publicity machine to bring you this important announcement.

now it is time for *s*e*g*u*e*!*

SATURDAY, APRIL 9
*S*A*R*A* *W*I*N*T*Z* + *T*A*N* *L*I*N*
BPC * 4 PM * 308 BOWERY
$$ SIX BONES $$

come over!

*apologies for any cross-postings

↑ Index

71. amy king
News of Dean Young
Thu 7 Apr 2011

Thanks,

Amy

Does anyone know how he's faring these days?

Thanks,

Amy

****
VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

72. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh
Odyssey in the Balkans - Knes Selo (Serbia)
Thu 7 Apr 2011

---

http://www.writingsinrhyme.com/Odyssey_in_the_Balkans/index.html

One of the great things about being a writer is how you write notes or lines on paper or in a notebook when travelling, and you cast them to one side, only to find them after and they seem so new, and yet take you back so vividly to the time and place i nwhich they were written. A notebook from my trip in the Balkans while in the Serbian town of Knes Selo last year contained the complete poems below, and only titles and thoughts recorded for others which Id not even written yet, which will be the agenda for the coming few months... A Woman Sweeping, Passed By A Poet Her back to me as I passed byHer doorstep by her sweptBy a handbroom without a long handleHer home lovingly keptA scene that could be anywhereAs it was where there I walkedAnd her back was to meTo her when passing, not I talkedAnd that housewife in Knes SeloHad her own worries about which to carePassed by a poet she did not knowAs she swept her doorstep there. Two Words Between Strangers "Dobar dan" said I to a strangerAs at me the old man staredIn a Calvin Klien T-Shirt that screamed AMERICA!!!!For me little he probably caredBut... "Dobar dan!" he answeredTo my passing greetings callWords spoken showing strangers common humanityPerhaps the greatest prayer of all... Girl in Black, Child on a Swing Shes young herself, not yet twentyOr at least she looks so to meAnd swings her child upon a swingAnd happy looks to beSure, she has little and she knows itBut her child and family are aroundAnd in the little that she hasShe has the contentment that few have foundThe world over - who have much moreAnd her mother stirs in a potSome dish traditional from peaches of theirsI think that they have gotThe priorities of life correctLet the lesson loud be told:Your riches are your familyYour riches are not your gold. Few Turks in This Town Anymore Few Ottomans are in Knes SeloThat once ruled here beforeThe call to prayer does not ringAround these hills anymoreWho will be here in a hundred years?As I think of its history sadOf conflict and war and ethnic strifeIf a new Crusade or JihadWas to strike a future generationWho for good and Divine RightWere to attack the others, the InfadelsAnd lead a future Holy Fight...

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

↑ Index

73. Al Filreis
Jacket2 now publishes
Fri 8 Apr 2011

Dear friends:

Happily, we inaugurate Jacket2: http://jacket2.org/

- Al Filreis

Al Filreis
Kelly Professor of English
Faculty Dir., Kelly Writers House
Dir., Center for Programs in Contemporary Writing
Co-Director, PennSound
Publisher, Jacket2
University of Pennsylvania

↑ Index

74. Adam Fieled
from American Deadness: Seven Links
Fri 8 Apr 2011

These poems are part of the manuscript-in-progress American Deadness, parts of which have appeared in Milk Magazine, Mipoesias, and Miporadio:

"Kentucky Woman (She Get to Know You)": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-american-deadness-kentucky-woman.html

"Wisconsin Cartoonist": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-american-deadness-wisconsin.html

"Television Culture": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-american-deadness-television.html

"South Jersey Sports" http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-american-deadness-south-jersey.html

"Ave Maria Nursing Home":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-american-deadness-ave-maria.html

"An American in Montreal":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-american-deadness-american-in.html

And American Deadness Pt. 4 is on Yudu in mp3 form:

http://www.yudu.com/item/details/315916/American-Deadness-Pt.4

Hope you enjoy these.
Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

75. Cara Benson
Try Anything: A Lab for New Writing
Fri 8 Apr 2011

Tisa Bryant to Lead Four-Day Writing Workshop Retreat at Millay Colony for the Arts

Try Anything: A Lab for New Writing
May 28 to June 2 2011

According to the Oxford Dictionary, an experiment is defined as "an action of trying anything." To try to reproduce the mind's questions, the eye's scrutiny of place, relation, space, the meaning of being in the world, alive and feeling, may demand that we break rules, trespass borders, re-imagine the embodied voice, its language of signs and symbols. What does one do when such attempts at translating ourselves are not easily contained within a single genre, form or register? This class is lab for such questioning, regeneration and discovery. We will create new writing borne from the Millay environment, the bodies of your own poems, essays, fictions or plays, all inspired by various source texts, trunks of special junk and myriad cellular memories. We will make new writing that functions on a number of levels (or not at all!), by design, or by the nature of the beast. Throughout, we'll share our own attempts, findings, failures and intentions, and encourage deeper forays into creative possibility. Requirements: Bring some old, new, or in progress works, and try to give yourself over to fascination, obsession and different ways of doing.

Tisa Bryant is the author of Unexplained Presence (Leon Works, 2007), a collection of hybrid essays on black presences in film, literature and visual art. She is co-editor of the cross-referenced journal of narrative and storytelling possibility, The Encyclopedia Project, which produced Encyclopedia Vol. 2 F-K, in 2010. She is also co-editor of War Diaries, an anthology on black gay menâ€™s desire and survival, published in 2010 by AIDS Project Los Angeles. Her work has recently appeared or is forthcoming in the journals 1913, Animal Shelter, Mandorla, Mixed Blood, in the â€˜zine, Universal Remote: Meditations on the Absence of Michael Jackson, and the solo exhibits of visual artists Jaime Cortez, Wura-Natasha Ogunji, and filmmaker/installation artist Cauleen Smith. She teaches prose, hybrid forms and innovative ethnic literature at the California Institute of the Arts.

Workshop Schedule: Each day begins with a fresh breakfast followed by a three- hour workshop at 10:00 AM. Total workshop time for the retreat will be twelve hours. The afternoon can be spent working in the studio, visiting local sites, swimming in a nearby lake or walking the mountain trails. Dinner is served overlooking our gorgeous meadows. Evening hours are devoted to worktime.

Fees: $600 includes tuition, private room, private studio and all meals. $375 includes tuition and meals only. Participants may purchase a thirty-minute Private Consultation with their instructor for $150. Manuscripts (15 pages maximum) must be sent in advance; portfolios can be but this is not required. Limited Scholarships, based on need, are available. Millay Colony Alumni receive a 15% discount.

To Apply: Send a letter of introduction indicating your choice of workshop and including a brief biography with a $100 deposit. Also include a work sample (10 pages of writing, 10 images on CD or a brief video clip). Applicants will be accepted on a first-come first-serve basis. Sent to: The Millay Colony for the Arts, 454 East Hill Road, Austerlitz, NY. Attention: Summer Retreats. Make Checks payable to The Millay Colony for the Arts. For more information contact Caroline Crumpacker at [redacted] or [redacted].Â Â Â

http://www.millaycolony.org/workshops

↑ Index

76. Nico Vassilakis

staringLETTERSessay

Sat 9 Apr 2011

---

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Sd17AWXRb8A

this clip is part of a book Xexoxial Editions will be putting out staring @ poetics

it will include this essay and a selection of vispo

also, other work located here:

staring poetics:
http://staringpoetics.weebly.com/

thank you for your time,

niico

↑ Index

77. Rob McLennan

new(ish) on rob's clever blog

Sat 9 Apr 2011

-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Robert Pinsky
-- a sad note from Robert Currie: Gary Hyland (Nov 25, 1940 - April 5, 2011)
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with J.M. DeMatteis
-- Notes on the confessional: Lynn Crosbie's Liar: A Poem
-- Monica Youn, Ignatz
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Eric Elshtain on Beard of Bees
-- Ottawa launch of rob mclennan's Glengarry (Talonbooks), April 22, 2011
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Mike Carey
-- A brief note on (reading, writing) short fiction,
-- Ottawa International Writers Festival spring festival schedule now online
-- The Source, Noah Eli Gordon
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Etgar Keret
-- West Coast Line #65: fiction,
-- the end of history;
-- Beauty & Sadness, Andre Alexis
-- Deb Olin Unferth, Revolution: The Year I Fell in Love and Went to Join the War
-- Broken Pencil, retro reviews: Lynn Crosbie, Queen Rat: New and Selected Poems
-- Stephen and Gwendolyn playset;
-- Fabric, Richard Froude
-- Margaret Christakos' Influency 10: A Toronto Poetry Salon: rob mclennan + others
-- The Dusty Owl Reading Series: April 3 + 17
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Laurie Fuhr
-- Souls of the Labadie Tract, Susan Howe
-- 10 questions with rob mclennan on above/ground press
-- VERSeFest, Ottawas first annual poetry festival
-- Today is my forty-first birthday,
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Jen Tynes on Horse Less Press
-- Anticipating The Man Who Killed Don Quixote;

-- Zong! by M. NourbeSe Philip
-- The Capilano Review 3.13: Manifestos Now!
-- "Ottawa dithers on poet laureate," The Ottawa Citizen
-- Writing the new (Vancouver) Geography;
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Richard Froude
-- new from above/ground press: The Peter F. Yacht Club + Reid, Graham, mclennan, Brighton,
-- Recipes from the Red Planet, Meredith Quartermain

www.robmclennan.blogspot.com

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

78. Laura Wetherington
Call for work: BathHouse Hybrid Arts Journal
Sat 9 Apr 2011

The BathHouse Hybrid Arts Journal is seeking submissions for our upcoming issue. We are an online journal featuring innovative, cross-genre work and are especially interested in work that incorporates visual, sound, and film mediums. Though we accept submissions year-round, to be considered for issue 8.2, please submit by April 20th. Please visit us at bhjournal.com.

Thanks for your time,

Joe Sacksteder
editor-in-chief BathHouse
bhjournal.com

↑ Index

79. Peter ciccariello
Re: staringLETTERSessay
Sat 9 Apr 2011

Very interesting essay, Nico, thanks for posting it.

- Peter Ciccariello

On Sat, Apr 9, 2011 at 3:07 PM, Nico Vassilakis <[redacted]> wrote:

> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Sd17AWXRb8A

> this clip is part of a book Xexoxial Editions will be putting out staring @ poetics
>
> it will include this essay and a selection of vispo
>
> also, other work located here:
>
> staring poetics:
> http://staringpoetics.weebly.com/
>
> thank you for your time,
>
> niico

--
http://invisiblenotes.blogspot.com/
http://uncommonvision.blogspot.com/
http://poemsfromprovidence.blogspot.com/
http://uncommon-vision.blogspot.com/
You can find my art and writing updates on Twitter
https://twitter.com/ciccariello

↑ Index

80. William Slaughter

Notice: Mudlark

Sat 9 Apr 2011

This message is in MIME format. The first part should be readable text, while the remaining parts are likely unreadable without MIME-aware tools.

--1049347784-1911314286-1302407466=:4385

New and On View: Mudlark Poster No. 91 (2011)

from Posts by Aiden Rooney

Aidan Rooney was born in Monaghan, Ireland in 1965 and educated at Maynooth College, National University of Ireland. Since 1988, he has taught at Thayer Academy and lived in Hingham, Massachusetts. A past winner of the Guinness Literary Award and the NY Yeats SocietyÂ Competition, he received the Hennessy Literary Award for New Irish Poet in 1997. His collections, Day Release (2000) and Tightrope (2007), are published by The Gallery Press in Ireland. Widely published in Europe and North America, his work has appeared in various anthologiesÂ - Staying Alive (Bloodaxe) and 180 More (Random House) among them - and newÂ poems have appeared recently or are pending in The Rialto, Horizon Review, Salamander, Poetry Ireland Review, The Shop, The Recorder, and Prairie Schooner.

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

--1049347784-1911314286-1302407466=:4385--

↑ Index

81. nerys williams

New Seren Publication- Sound Archive by Nerys Williams

Sun 10 Apr 2011

Dear Poetics List

My Publisher in Wales has asked me to forward this information about my volume Sound Archive to the Poetics List. Many thanks.- Nerys @font-face { font-family: "Times New Roman"; }@font-face { font-family: "Cambria"; }p.MsoNormal, li.MsoNormal, div.MsoNormal { margin: 0cm 0cm 0.0001pt; font-size: 12pt; font-family: Cambria; }table.MsoNormalTable { font-size: 10pt; font-family: "Times New Roman"; }div.Section1 { page: Section1; }

Press Release SEREN books

www.serenbooks.com

Nerys Williams
Sound Archive

Seren £8.99
18th April 2011

Sound Archive is the strikingly original first collection of poems from Nerys Williams. Using formal strategies similar to modernist painting – abstraction, dislocation, surrealist juxtaposition – the poet conjures a complex music intriguing narratives, and poems that query identity, gender, and the dream of art as a vehicle for emotion and meaning.

There is a playful lightness of touch and tone. For every serious inquisition like ‘An Anatomy of Arguments or ‘Conversations with Cocteau’, there are musings on celebrity culture as in ‘Canter’s Starstruck Diner, L.A.’ or on the ‘artefacts’ left by Marilyn Monroe, in ‘Marilyn’s Auction House’.

Nerys Williams is a native Welsh speaker originally from Carmarthenshire in West Wales. She has worked as a Sound Librarian at the BBC Wales and in the recipient of a Fulbright Scholar’s Award at UC Berkeley. A recent winner of the Ted McNulty Poetry Prize, she lectures in American Literature at University College, Dublin. She has published poems and critical essays widely and is the author of A Guide to Contemporary Poetry as well as a study of contemporary American poetry, Reading Error.

“A fine writer who is completely unique in Wales. Nerys Williams makes a tremendous addition to the Seren Poetry List” Robert Minhinnick

For further information please contact Victoria at [redacted] or call [redacted]

Follow Seren www.serenbooks.com
Sound Archive www.serenbooks.com/search?kw=nerys+williams&op=Search

Dr Nerys Williams
Lecturer in American Literature
School of English, Drama and Film
John Henry Newman Building
University College Dublin
Belfield
Dublin 4
Ireland

↑ Index

82. Adam Fieled
from "Trish": 4 Links
Sun 10 Apr 2011

"Trish" is the closest I've come to telling a somewhat straightforward love story. Trish, as a character, has appeared both in the book "Equations" and on the album "Center City." Though "Trish" was recently refurbished, the original draft was put into circulation in 2009.

"Trish Pt.1"
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-trish-trish-pt1.html

"Trish Pt.2"
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-trish-trish-pt2.html

"Trish Pt.3"
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-trish-trish-pt3.html

"Trish Pt.4"
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-trish-trish-pt4.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

83. editor boog
Last Call to Advertise in Boog City 69
Sun 10 Apr 2011

Please forward

Advertise in

Boog City 69

Deadlines

—Space Reservations-Email to reserve ad space ASAP

—Tues. April 19-Submit Ad or Ad Materials
—Sat. April 23-Distribute Paper

This is a quick note to see if you’d like to advertise and reach our readership. (Donations are also cool, way cool.)

We’ll be distributing 2,250 copies of the issue throughout the East Village and other parts of lower Manhattan; Williamsburg and Greenpoint, Brooklyn; and at Boog City events.

Advertise your small press's newest publications, your own titles or upcoming readings, or maybe salute an author you feel people should be reading, with a few suggested books to buy. And musical acts, advertise your new albums, indie labels your new releases.

Take advantage of our indie discount ad rate. We are once again offering a 50% discount on our 1/8-page ads, cutting them from $80 to $40. The discount rate also applies to larger ads.

For our full rate card, please visit:

http://boogcity.com/ad_rates.pdf

Email [redacted] or call 212-842-BOOG (2664) for more information.

as ever,
David

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://welcometoboogcity.com/
T: 212-842-BOOG (2664)

↑ Index

84. David Baratier
Stan Mir full length book out now
Mon 11 Apr 2011

Stan Mir
The Lacustrine Suite
http://www.pavementsaw.org/pages/pubs.htm

Pavement Saw Press
Paperback Edition
ISBN 978-1-886350-23-6
6x9, perfect bound
Printed in a limited edition of 1028 copies
80 pages (white, library archival standard)
$14.00

â€œIf we cross the wilderness of revery with DaVinci urging young painters to study the cracks in walls, we arrive at the fabulous classicism of unforgettable poems in Stan Mirâ€™s new book, The Lacustrine Suite. Here, the things human are finally drawn against a completely surprising lyricism. This is a great collection of poems.â€ â€“ Norman Dubie

"Dear Mirror, in The Lacustrine Suite, all the ships side with their shadows. This is the silhouette the stars hunt. Trace the happy apocalypse of Stan Mirâ€™s mouth, a loophole at the end of the cul-de-sac of speech. This is the lake you have waded into. Problem songs preserved from allegoryâ€™s fortress. Asterisks then ash. Gauze fallen from your gills." -- Eric Baus

"Stan, at the Keith Waldrop reading, I was struck by how similar the work was to yours. Something in the phrasing. You both have a fearlessness in the riff. I want to say something about Frank Zappa. But I know nothing about Frank Zappa. But what you do, I think, is make genuinely original music in, often, short, declarative lines. Waldrop read the last poem in Transcendental Studies about the angel statues at Swan Point in Providence (you been?). How does he start? "Angels go--" You would do something like that. Gorgeous. So simple. Monumental in its simplicity and funneling some great power. I don't know...it's just charged, you know." -- Brandon Som

The Invention Has Too Many Faces

Laced by dirt, a dark gown without buttons. I have shovelled enough. Hands. White mice. The car now gone into plumes. It is Monday rain will not share confetti.

The robotâ€™s arm knocks my foot into the hole. A struggle, a push.
A barrage of faces backward.

I am thief-dressed and thin.
Each face mirrors a voice in the night. I wish to be bird-hung from the branches, above the electric arms that push.

Stan Mir was raised in Rochester, NY. He is the author of two chapbooks published by JR Vansant, Flight Patterns and Test Patterns. His work has also appeared in Fascicle, Ixnay, LVNG, and The Poker. Currently he lives in Philadelphia.

Be well

David Baratier, Editor

Pavement Saw Press
321 Empire Street
Montpelier OH 43543
http://pavementsaw.org

Subscribe to our e-mail listserv at http://pavementsaw.org/list/?p=subscribe&id=1

Facebook Page
http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=25857379734&ref=ts

↑ Index

85. Mark Young

Out from Otoliths — "Spider Face," stories by Kevin Rabas

Mon 11 Apr 2011

Spider Face

Kevin Rabas

56 pages

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9808785-1-6

$11.75 + p&h

URL: http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/spider-face/15313240

Kevin Rabas' language flits between narrative and poetry to bring these characters—and their struggles with youth, love and identity—to life. Sweet and heartbreaking at the same time, the stories in Spider Face leave indelible images long after you close the book. —Jen McConnell, author of Welcome Anybody

Spider Face is a collection of true images that linger in the place between memories and dreams. Kevin Rabas dresses the dramas of mental health and sensuality, self-destruction and loyalty, grief and social status, in a veil of constant discoveries that dance translucent around each story. These are all moments of heat and passion, whether that is passion of belief, passion of music or passion of flesh, that are concentrated examples of how everyday experiences create who a person is, and, in turn, how a person creates themselves through those same events. —Matthew Porubsky, author of voyeur poems

That Kevin Rabas is a fierce new talent was already clear from his two previous books of poetry. Now, in this collection of short fiction, he reveals himself a writer of great breadth and ability. These brief tales reveal an accomplished poet’s eye in images that startle with their beauty and precision and a storyteller’s sense for character and dramatic arc. In mimimal, sometimes snapshot-like stories that dazzle like flashbulbs with their sudden radiance, Rabas explores the tumults of sex and youth, love and the body, violence and art. His range of artistic gifts as a poet, photographer and jazz musician serve him—and his readers—well, and establish him as a writer of fiction to watch and enjoy. —Tasha Haas, author of Certain Dawn, Inevitable Dawn

The full catalog of Otoliths books can be found at The Otoliths Storefront<http://stores.lulu.com/l_m_young>
.

↑ Index

86. Jennifer Karmin
&Now 2011 Call for Proposals-- due by April 12th!
Mon 11 Apr 2011

The &Now Festival is a biennial festival, celebration, and conference that explores intersections between creative and critical praxis, examines innovative and experimental acts of writing, and advances a serious inquiry into theories of language and consciousness. The 2011 &Now Festival of New Writing: Tomorrowland Forever! will be held October 13-15, 2011 at University of California, San Diego, a research institution internationally renowned for imaginative experimentation in the arts, humanities, and sciences.

http://andnowfestival.com

PLEASE SUBMIT Proposals for critical papers, criti-fictional presentations, fiction and poetry readings, staged play readings, rituals, performance pieces (digital, sound, and otherwise), electronic and multimedia projects, and intergenre literary work of all kinds. We particularly encourage pieces that promote linguistic and genre transgressions, along with works that promote interdisciplinary explorations and conversations with past, present, or future literary concerns and movements. We also encourage proposals for the â€œInnovation in a Boxâ€ Performance Booth.

↑ Index

87. Maria Damon
from Alan Sondheim...
Mon 11 Apr 2011

Enclaves of Theory and Theology

==========

You may lie on my first, by the side of a stream,
And my second compose to the Nymph you adore
But if when you've none of my whole, her esteem
And affection diminish, think of her no more
Jane. [Austen]

(Charade - answer, a banknote.)

[But a different answer, away from capital, may be given altogether, "whole" replaced by the homonym "hole," "lie" curled in meaning, and "first" taken elsewhere; this is the application of local theory, an _ontology_ of capital replaced by the body, the body ultimately inaccessible. And then, what happens to capital?]

==========

Abstract: My bad theory: If anything is basic it's lack. We scramble to suture the rest. We can't. We think we do.

==========

I pay no attention to theology; inerrancy or core belief is already dead in relation to its imperviousness. Think of god or spirit as token; as ulterior, in-evident, there is little to say about them, except of course for what might be enacted in their name.

Theory is no longer at an impasse; theory - in the sense, in any sense, of speaking the world, is already lost. It's lost in technology, in the concrete, which it misplaces and misinterprets - how can one speak of codework without understanding code, speak of epistemology without access to, and understanding of, the very machines that extend, at least for the privileged, the real - whose very definition is characterized by withdrawal? The entanglement of theoretical subject and object is best served by quantum mechanics from below, now approaching the level of ordinary visibility.

This is occasioned by recent readings into theory, where it is clear that the authors were circumlocuting a field they had little knowledge of - in this case, codework - but it's also occasioned by an increasing dissatis- faction with theory's applications beyond the social in general. It's too easy to slip from augmented reality or virtual worlds or virtual reality itself, to ontologies or epistemologies, with the receding dream of the fundamental guiding one astray. There are several levels involved, all crumbling, all entangled - the physical-real, the mathematics of the world (however world and mathesis are defined), the current technologies of the world (ditto), access to these technologies, theory and its techne - and melding or interoperability among all of these. It's theory that disappears in the mix - or the rest of us; increasingly, to understand the world has come to mean to understand technical vocabularies on all levels - from conceptual/theoretical astuteness to access to tools, which depends on the grace of institutions and individuals. In my own case, Patrick Lichty and Sandy Baldwin directed me towards mocap at their institutions; Frances van Scoy extended the invitation to 3-d scanners; Mark Skwarek guided me through the beginnings of mocap, and so forth. I walk in and out of labs with residencies that range (once) from half a year to (most often) 2-3 days. I walk into institutions, into institutional cultures; in this regard I'm luckier than most. But the access remains highly limited, and what's more important here, the resulting phenomenology is always bracketed. I suspect this is the case for most people; it's a matter of degree. All I can do - all _anyone_ can do - is write from the outside, from the external (within or without a phenomenology of externality), but, by grace of these invitations, I have learned, at the least, my limits. Theory on the other hand proceeds without limits; its contemporary over-reliance on the body, abjection, sexuality, and other issues is to some extent a withdrawal to a fictional core that remains inviolate: begin and end with the body of the theorist, and the details of codework for example will either be bypassed, introjected, or seen as irrelevant. None of this would matter, if theory didn't carry the weight it does; we've all read descriptions of our own work as if they're written in a foreign language, indecipherable with occasional partial legibilities that seem inherently wrong. Media (in the sense of writing-about, placing that writing, receiving and remediating that writing) does that to one, and there's little recourse at the other end. (On the other hand, our own descriptions, as cultural workers, often chart out vast philosophical terrain, as if materiality - and the bridging between abstract theory and materiality - made a difference. I'm guilty of that! In this enclaved essay I'm guilty of that!)

When I give a talk now, I try to begin with issues of "the fragility of good things" (from catastrophe theory), extinctions, global slaughter coupled with populations exponentially increasing - and enclaving, a concept borrowed from Mike Davis, emphasizing the secure and violent walls placed around the wealthy, around global institutions and bodies, around governance in general. Theory itself is enclaved in this regard - as is the epistemology/ontology of the real (at variance with theory), dependent on Fermilab, the LHC, AR, holographic VR, etc. etc. - pick your level, your machine, your theorist. The levels aren't interoperable, nor are they well-defined. The result is brilliant production, with either micro-man- aged phenomenology, or phenomenology left in the dust. (Brian Greene's The Hidden Reality figures here for example.)

It's characteristic of this short essay, that _I don't know what I'm talking about, nor can I_ - which is why the weaker the theory, the more functional. I keep thinking of the usual question, for example - Why is there something rather than nothing - and coming up with the exhaustive positioning of physical bootstrapping, the universe bringing itself, continuously, into existence, so that the Why - which implies both origins and causality - if it doesn't fade away, at least is in need of a coronary bypass. The solidity or projection of real or virtual objects stands ultimately in relation to physical theory; if holography plays a role in our appearing, how many codings occur to construct a virtual world?

The bottom line, not the fundamental one, is the failure of regimes - of technology, theory, coding, phenomenology, physical and somatic realities - to interconnect, in combination with apparent flows of power among them. This power is split and sutured by human claims among humans that don't quite interconnect. I'm not talking about the old notion of two cultures, but about fragmentation everywhere, suturing within micro-domains (code, technology, augmented and diminished realities, theory, daily life). This is hard to grasp, when even this description falls apart, is rifted; how could it be otherwise? I'm not talking about the old notion of master narratives, but about a collocation of narratives, topologically-distinct but fuzzy and broken sememes. I'm not talking about a dearth of ontologies but about ontologies as local conventions, epistemologies always already under contestation. (Which is amazing and liberation; there are just the old Sartrean issues of scarcity economics in the midst of Bataille's surplus increasingly harbored from above.)

And I'm talking about enclaving brought about by an exponential increase in knowledge, coupled by an exponential increase in wealth among a small and isolated class - both have utterly transformed the landscape, origin- ally one of privilege, network broadcast, and limited access - through a period of net neutrality, open sourcing knowledge (but not medical care, basic survival safety nets, life on the ground), and a distant horizon of universal open channels of information and communication - to one again of technological privilege, limited broadcast and access, local control. I can see the model changing from the imperial through the appearance of democracy, back through neoliberalism to an imperium in everything but name. Better managed this time, everything appears better and better advertised; it's just a kind blurriness in the details: WELCOME TO THE TELECOMS OF THE REAL.

↑ Index

88. Adam Fieled

from "The Scrounge": 4 Links

Mon 11 Apr 2011

"The Scrounge" are a developing collection of poems, mostly started in '09 and finished now. There is no one coherent theme; rather, like "Returns," the poems are meant to sit loosely in relation to each other.

"Run Away with Me":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/run-away-with-me.html

"Some Kinda Love (for S.B.)":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/some-kinda-love-for-sb.html

"Bumble Bee"
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/bumble-bee.html

"Lady Chatterley's Lover":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/lady-chatterleys-lover.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

89. Donald Wellman
Olson and innovation
Mon 11 Apr 2011

Is anyone planning an Olson-related event for the Modernist Studies Conference in Buffalo this November? Would be a curious omission not to as the theme is innovation.

Donald Wellman

Daniel Webster College

<http://faculty.dwc.edu/wellman/don.htm>
http://faculty.dwc.edu/wellman/don.htm

↑ Index

90. Jeffrey Side
The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "yumdZ" by Jukka-Pekka Kervinen
Tue 12 Apr 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€yumdZâ€ by Jukka-Pekka Kervinen
Description:
â€yumdZâ€ is a computer-generated process, a self-regulated stochastic text written using old 8-bit computer, Atari 65XE, as the only source. The text is composed of random bytes, memory dumps and characters mapped to Atari's own ATASCII set, a near-chaotic travel inside to the computer's memory, instead of metaphorical we are traveling literally to the world of the hexadecimal numbers, POKE/PEEK commands and 6502 processor assembly opcodes. This book is a document of the trip.

Available as a free ebook here:
http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/yumdz/15443645
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

91. Kyle Schlesinger publishing
Tue 12 Apr 2011

I¹m teaching in a new graduate publishing program where the students work with me on Cuneiform Press titles and Mimeo Mimeo. Here are some details:

The MS in Publishing Program offers you the unique opportunity to learn the histories, concepts, and practices of publishing, from writing and editing to design, production, promotion, and distribution. The program integrates literary and cultural studies with practical skills that reflect the dynamic technological changes within the publishing industry. UHV supports an online community where students participate in distance learning through lectures, critiques, meetings and interactive projects. Students may complete undergraduate and graduate degree requirements completely online or in combination with courses on campus. UHV is also the home of American Book Review and Fiction Collective 2.

And the link: http://www.uhv.edu/msINpublishing/

Cheers,

Kyle
--
Kyle Schlesinger
Assistant Professor of Communication Design and English University of Houston-Victoria
College of Arts and Sciences
3007 North Ben Wilson
Victoria, TX 77901-5731
p. [redacted]
f. [redacted]

↑ Index

92. Stephen Vincent
(NYC Gallery Show) Haptics: Poetry By Other Means
Tue 12 Apr 2011

Happy to announce a new show of Drawings and Accordion Fold Books: Poetry Readings & Talks, Urban Walks, Collaborations with Composers & Musicians, Strangers, Friends & Family

STEPHEN VINCENT: Haptics: Poetry By Other Means May 06 - 28 2011
Opening Reception, Sunday, May 08, 6-8pm

Jack Hanley Gallery, 136 Watts, New York, NY 10013 (Tribeca)
http://www.jackhanley.com/show.php?show=1378
(For directions to the Gallery, etc.)

If you are nearby, hope you can join me at the reception or visit the Gallery in May.

Stephen Vincent
 http://stephenvincent.net/blog/

↑ Index

93. Evan Kennedy
Lisa Jarnot's "Joie de Vivre" from Dirty Swan Projects
Tue 12 Apr 2011

Dirty Swan Projects is happy to announce Lisa Jarnot's new chapbook, JOIE DE VIVRE.

Eleven new poems on the trail of the hedgehog, the oldest door in Britain, the waterlocks, bright air, and dirty nuns.

"When sweet love reads you, do you read back?"

Joie de vivre is the name of the route to a jerk chicken joint in New Cross.

Everyone's gone on holiday with Ben Johnson or James Joyce.

http://dirtyswanprojects.blogspot.com/p/joie-de-vivre.html

xo

Dirty Swan Projects

↑ Index

94. steve dalachinsky

poetry evens by dalachinsky tomorrow haiku workshop for poetrty month put a rocket in yer pocket

Wed 13 Apr 2011

In its 5th annual recognition of National Poetry Month in April, the Tribute WTC Visitor Center this year will collect Haiku written to the people of Japan . The poems are being solicited via TributeWTC on Twitter and the Tribute WTC Visitor Center Fan page on Facebook, as well as during a haiku workshop at Tribute on Thursday, April 14, from 3-5 pm when poet Steve Dalachinsky will be working with visitors to guide them in the art of haiku. After the event, all of the poems that have been submitted will be placed into a booklet that will be sent to the people of Japan . A haiku is a traditional Japanese form that aims to express the moment. It is a short poem that reflects lightness, sadness, and beauty, and incorporates elements of nature and the seasons. The haiku workshop at the Tribute WTC Visitor Center is free and open to the public. Tribute WTC Visitor Center is at 120 Liberty Street , between Church and Greenwich . For more information, visit our website, www.tributewtc.org.

also

april 16 at 5pm loren connors and i do ugly duck presse in basement of the american can blding - it's semi private try to come 3rd st and 3rd ave in brooklyn F train to carrol st

APRIL 26 AT TRIBES BENEFIT $5 ANYONE CAN READ - 285 E 3RD ST 6 PM ONWARD

MAY 6 - CORNELAIA ST CAFE 6 PM WITH YUKO

MAY 23 7 PM SOTO VELEZ AT SUFFOLK AND RIVINGTON WITH ALEXANDRE PIERREPONT (FRENCH POESIE), DIDIER PETIT - CELLO, DANIEL LEVIN - CELLO

JUNE 13TH 7PM - SOTO VELEZ - W/ JOELLE LEANDRE FOLLOWED BY LEANDRE SOLO BASS

↑ Index

95. steve dalachinsky

paul violi / billy bang

Wed 13 Apr 2011

---

i bleieve there have been no posts about paul violi in case some of you are not aware he passed away about 2 weeks ago sadly also the violinist billy bang passed away 2 nights ago both were not out of their 60's yet

↑ Index

96. David Prater
Call for Works for ELMCIP Anthology
Wed 13 Apr 2011

Electronic Literature as a Model of Creativity and Innovation in Practice (ELMCIP <http://elmcip.net/>), a collaborative research project funded by the Humanities in the European Research Area (HERA) JRPfor Creativity and Innovation, seeks submissions of electronic literature from European writers and practitioners for its upcoming anthology.

We are looking for innovative literary works by European authors that take advantage of digital media and computation.

*Submissions will be accepted from April 12 to September 30, 2011. * ELMCIP involves seven European academic research partners and one non-academic partner investigating how transnational and transcultural creative communities of practitioners form within global and distributed communication environments. Focusing on the electronic-literature community in Europe as a model of networked creativity and innovation in practice, ELMCIP intends both to study the formation and interactions of that community and to further electronic literature research and practice in Europe.

The anthology will provide a sample of Europe's diverse electronic-literature practices. It will include around thirty works along with teaching materials from educators interested in electronic-literary practices. The anthology will be published online and on a cross-platform DVD.

All content will be offered under the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial– NoDerivs 3.0 License allowing the disc to be installed, duplicated, and shared by individuals, libraries, and educational institutions. The intent is to provide educators, students and the general public with a free curricular resource containing a variety of examples of electronic literary works.

Full details, including information on how to submit works to the anthology, can be found on the ELMCIP website

http://elmcip.net/call-works-elmcip-anthology

Warm regards,

David

David Prater
Co-editor, ELMCIP Anthology

Post-doctoral researcher
Blekinge Institute of Technology

Karlskrona, Sweden
Homepage
http://www.daveydreamnation.com

We Will Disappear
http://www.papertigermedia.com/soi3-modern-poets/david-prater.html

Cordite Poetry Review
http://www.cordite.org.au

↑ Index

97. Charles Bernstein
New "web log" address
Wed 13 Apr 2011

I'm putting on a new Jacket: I've moved my "web log" to Jacket2:

http://jacket2.org/commentary/charles-bernstein
RSS feed: http://feeds.feedburner.com/CharlesBernsteinWebLog.xml
Email subscription:
http://feedburner.google.com/fb/a/mailverify?
uri=CharlesBernsteinWebLog&loc=en_US

↑ Index

98. CA Conrad
Julian Brolaski & Trisha Low THIS SUNDAY
Wed 13 Apr 2011

DO NOT MISS THIS EVENT!

Julian Brolaski Book Party
Sunday April 17 at 8pm

Night Flag presents
Julian Brolaski & Trisha Low featuring Juan & The Pines
L'Etage
624 S. 6th St. (2nd Floor)
PHILADELPHIA

Julian T. Brolaski's new book gowanus atropolis has just been released from Ugly Duckling Presse. Advice for Lovers is forthcoming from City Lights in 2011. Brolaski lives in Brooklyn where xe is an editor at Litmus Press and plays music with Juan & the Pines. Trisha Low is a student in Philadelphia who appreciates the difference between restraint and restraints. And she's talking about poetry, okay? Low is the author of the chapbook Confessions [of a Variety] (Gauss PDF, 2010) and her poems have appeared, or are forthcoming from Against Expression: An Anthology of Conceptual Writing, Thirteen Myna Birds and HEAT MAP magazine.

Come for the poems. Come for the music. Come for the book. See you there.

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

99. Cara Benson
Re: New "web log" address
Wed 13 Apr 2011

Congrats to all involved in J2. It's phenomenal.

_____
From: Charles Bernstein <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Wed, April 13, 2011 10:24:00 AM
Subject: New "web log" address

I'm putting on a new Jacket: I've moved my "web log" to Jacket2:

http://jacket2.org/commentary/charles-bernstein
RSS feed: http://feeds.feedburner.com/CharlesBernsteinWebLog.xml
Email subscription:
http://feedburner.google.com/fb/a/mailverify?
uri=CharlesBernsteinWebLog&loc=en_US

↑ Index

100. Charles Bernstein
Attack of the Difficult Poems: Essays and Inventions
Wed 13 Apr 2011

---

just when you thought it was safe to go back to the poetry waters

<<^^Attack of the Difficult Poems: Essays and Inventions^^>>

University of Chicago Press
April only: 30% off ($18.20)
if you order direct from University of Chicago: order here <https://cdcshoppingcart.uchicago.edu/Cart/CART.ASPX?ISBN—80226044774&PRESS=CHICAGO&PROMO=POET30>
(note: Amazon does not offer a discount on this title)

PLUS: Free digital copy of My Way: Speeches and Poems and 30% discount on Girly Man for April only, at University of Chicago Press web site <http://www.press.uchicago.edu/books/freeEbook.html>

On Attack of the Difficult Poems:

"A superb poet and great inventor of poetry, Charles Bernstein dazzlingly invents the essay for poetry: professing in a gorilla suit and white tuxedo."—George Lakoff

"This is a smart and invigorating book that triumphantly demonstrates Charles Bernstein's goals and values. Those who want satire, those who want earnest discussion, those who want information, those who want to get a sense of personality, those who want theory, those who want entertainment, even those who wish to be confirmed in their beliefs and those who wish to nurse their resentments, will all find something here."—Daisy Fried

"I regret to inform you that Charles Bernstein's Attack of the Difficult Poems is highly unsuitable (not suitable) for National Poetry Month. Not suitable for acceptance by the publications of the Modern Language Association or its affiliate, the Annual Convention. Not suitable for readers under the age of five. Not suitable for endorsement by the Paris Review. Not suitable for your average television sitcom. Not suitable for tenure. Not suitable for free distribution. Not suitable for variations in the ontological condition. Not suitable for readers of generic poetry. Not suitable for the MFA. For everyone else: priceless."—Tan Lin

& a new review:
Jared Demick, The Jivin' Ladybug
<http://epc.buffalo.edu/authors/bernstein/books/attack/jivin-ladybug-review.html>

↑ Index

101. CA Conrad
MUGGED into poetry
Wed 13 Apr 2011

I'm very excited about my new chapbook "MUGGED into poetry" from the amazing folks at CANNOT EXIST Press!
I have a link at http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

Please check out their other chapbooks!
And magazine!

There are over 6 billion people on our planet, meaning I NEVER take for granted that someone actually wanted to publish my poems! Have a beautiful day, CAConrad

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

102. Jeffrey Side
The Otherstream Unlimited
Wed 13 Apr 2011

Here's a new and interesting blog that might be of interest to some of you, The Otherstream Unlimited: http://otherstreamunlimited.blogspot.com/2011/04/periods-91-100-by-joel-chace.html Quote: Otherstream: Art and ideas that lie outside or beyond that which is generally known (i.e. major publishers, the academy, popular media). Otherstream and its opposite, knownstream, are words coined by the poet, critic and theorist Bob Grumman in the mid 1980s. Join the Oherstream discussion and post your work at the Otherstream Unlimited group at Facebook: http://www.facebook.com/home.php#!/home.php?sk=group_133907123345946&ap=1

↑ Index

103. John Latta
Re: New "web log" address
Wed 13 Apr 2011

One wonders, of course, about the controlling wisdom of J2's announcement:

"Jacket2 does not accept unsolicited submissions. . ."

And: "Jacket2 publishes new poetry only as part of critical commentaries and features; we are not currently reading submissions of poetry."

Poems: the *un*necessary part of poetry.

JL

http://isola-di-rifiuti.blogspot.com/

On Wed, 13 Apr 2011, Cara Benson wrote:

> Congrats to all involved in J2. It's phenomenal.

> _____
> From: Charles Bernstein <[redacted]>
> To: [redacted]
> Sent: Wed, April 13, 2011 10:24:00 AM
> Subject: New "web log" address
>
> I'm putting on a new Jacket: I've moved my "web log" to Jacket2:
>
> http://jacket2.org/commentary/charles-bernstein
> RSS feed: http://feeds.feedburner.com/CharlesBernsteinWebLog.xml
> Email subscription:
> http://feedburner.google.com/fb/a/mailverify?
> uri=CharlesBernsteinWebLog&loc=en_US

↑ Index

104. Maria Damon

Re: New "web log" address

Wed 13 Apr 2011

yes indeedy-reedy. it's gorgeous. a bit overwhelming in its gorgeousness.

Cara Benson wrote:
> Congrats to all involved in J2. It's phenomenal.
>
>
>
>
> _____
> From: Charles Bernstein <[redacted]>
> To: [redacted]
> Sent: Wed, April 13, 2011 10:24:00 AM
> Subject: New "web log" address
>
> I'm putting on a new Jacket: I've moved my "web log" to Jacket2:
>
> http://jacket2.org/commentary/charles-bernstein
> RSS feed: http://feeds.feedburner.com/CharlesBernsteinWebLog.xml

> Email subscription:
> http://feedburner.google.com/fb/a/mailverify?uri=CharlesBernsteinWebLog&loc=en_US
>
>
>
>

↑ Index

105. Maria Damon

Re: (NYC Gallery Show) Haptics: Poetry By Other Means

Wed 13 Apr 2011

---

total coolness!

Stephen Vincent wrote:
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Happy to announce a new show of Drawings and Accordion Fold Books:
> Poetry Readings & Talks, Urban Walks, Collaborations with Composers & Musicians, Strangers, Friends & Family
>
> STEPHEN VINCENT: Haptics: Poetry By Other Means May 06 - 28 2011
> Opening Reception, Sunday, May 08, 6-8pm
>
> Jack Hanley Gallery, 136 Watts, New York, NY 10013 (Tribeca)
> http://www.jackhanley.com/show.php?show=1378
> (For directions to the Gallery, etc.)
>
> If you are nearby, hope you can join me at the reception or visit the Gallery in May.
>
> Stephen Vincent
> http://stephenvincent.net/blog/
>
>

>
>
>
>

↑ Index

106. Séamas Cain
Castle Broughty
Wed 13 Apr 2011

MOODY BOOKS in Tennessee is now

providing my book CASTLE BROUGHTY ...

Gil Moody : "This wildly original book of poems by Séamas Cain is a new paperback publication from The Gillyflower, Edinburgh, Scotland. A moving and mindbending collection of work."

http://www.moodybooks.net/?page=shop/flypage&product_id=41031&keyword=Cain,+Séamas&searchby=author&offset=0&fs=1&CLSN_3642=1302715173364295ab9b02e7f2434d6c

"Prefaces," on page 3 of CASTLE BROUGHTY, includes comments by Márton Koppány, Gloria deFilipps Brush and Marcello Diotallevi; Diotallevi describes the work as containing "minimal poems and counter-texts."

MOODY BOOKS, INC ...

E-mail : [redacted]

Phone : + [redacted]

128 Princeton Road,
Johnson City, Tennessee,
U.S.A., 37601 - 2511

http://www.biblio.com/search.php?author=Cain%2C+S%C3%A9amas&title=&keyisbn=&format=&dealer_id=104998

Mindbendingly,

Séamas Cain
http://www.saorsainn.net
http://alazanto.org/seamascain
http://seamascain-writernetwork.org

↑ Index

107. Jennifer Karmin

April 15-16: Roy Fisher Symposium in Chicago

Wed 13 Apr 2011

Friday, April 15 @ 7pm
Readings by August Kleinzahler, Maureen McLane, & Tom Pickard at The (New) Corpse Space
1511 N. Milwaukee Ave
Chicago, Illinois

Saturday, April 16 @ 1:30pm
Roy Fisher Symposium - Talks & a Film at Morningstar
22 W. Washington, 7th Floor
Chicago, Illinois

Chicago Poetry Project is pleased to announce a short symposium on the work of British poet Roy Fisher. The event will feature short talks by August Kleinzahler, Maureen McLane, and Tom Pickard and will include a screening of Pickard's film about Fisher, "Birmingham Is What I Think With." The Friday evening prior to the symposium, the presenters will give a group reading of their own and Fisher's poetry.

Born in 1930, Roy Fisher is a British poet of remarkable range. Stripped of ornament, skeptical in temperament, his poems find music in sharp angles, hesitations, and silences. They often move through post-industrial landscapes of Birmingham and the English Midlands, registering crepuscular half-tones, "the dog odour / of water," and "malted-milk brickwork."

Beyond such literal subjects, Fisher captures the intermingling of fancy and perception, the play of light and shadow in the mind itself. As August Kleinzahler has suggested, "The eye darts about in Fisher's poetry. It abhors the object at rest, framing of any kind. It's like a camera, jerking and swiveling on an unstable tripod. Early and late, the poetry is about the eye in motion. The shifts may be subtle or vertiginously abrupt. It's best not to get too comfortable as you progress through a poem because you're not going to be where you think you are for long."

His restless and exploratory poetry has long been admired in the United Kingdom, and by a select few readers in the United States. His Selected Poems, edited by Kleinzahler and designed to introduce his work to an American audience, has just been published by Flood Editions.

The symposium is free and open to the public but REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED FOR THIS EVENT. Simply send an e-mail to [redacted] with your first and last name so we can put you on the access list, and bring photo ID to the event. This is a building security requirement.

Chicago Poetry Project
http://chicagopoetryproject.wordpress.com

↑ Index

108. Dawn Pendergast

"A Reading: Birds" A new chapbook by Beverly Dahlen on sale for $8!

Thu 14 Apr 2011

We are so pleased to announce the first Little Red Leaves Textile Series chapbook. *A Reading: Birds<http://www.textileseries.com/the-shelf/textile-series-1-birds-a-reading-by-beverly-dahlen/> * by one of our favorite poets, Beverly Dahlen, is now on sale at our website for $8 (includes shipping). To read an except from this beautiful poem, click here<http://www.textileseries.com/the-shelf/textile-series-1-birds-a-reading-by-beverly-dahlen/> .

All textile series chapbooks are 5.5â€³ by 4.25â€³ with fabric covers scavenged from old curtains, bedsheets and other textile remnants. Each book is hand-made, machine-sewn and numbered (50 available).

Please email me directly if you'd like a reviewer copy!

xo

Dawn Pendergast
[redacted]
LRL/Textile Series Editor

↑ Index

109. Patrick F. Durgin

Ambient Parking Lot, by Pamela Lu

Thu 14 Apr 2011

Kenning Editions <http://www.kenningeditions.com> proudly announces the publication of the long-awaited second novel by Pamela Lu, *AMBIENT PARKING LOT. * Part fiction, part earnest mockumentary, /Ambient Parking Lot/ follows a band of musicians as they wander the parking structures of urban downtown and greater suburbia in quest of the ultimate ambient noise, one that promises to embody their historical moment and deliver them up to the heights of their self-important artistry. Along the way, they make sporadic forays into lyric while contending with doubts, delusions, miscalculations, mutinies, and minor triumphs. This saga peers into the wreckage of a post 9/11 landscape and embraces the comedy and poignancy of failed utopia.

$14.95 from Small Press Distribution <http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9780976736431/ambient-parking-lot.aspx?rf=1>, or enjoy a discount by subscribing to Kenning Editions. The new <http://www.kenningeditions.com/images/Sub11.pdf>direct mail subscription <http://www.kenningeditions.com/images/sub11.pdf> offer allows you to choose any three titles, with free domestic shipping, at a substantial discount. You can subscribe by credit card <https://www.2checkout.com/2co/buyer/orderpage?sid=1266894> to receive /The Kenning Anthology of Poets Theater/ and /Ambient Parking Lot/ for a steep discount, too. If you prefer, Amazon should have it in stock. We encourage you to support you local, independent bookseller with a purchase, and to request your local public and academic libraries acquire a copy themselves!

Portions of/ Ambient Parking Lot/ were previously published in /Chicago Review/ and /Harper's/. She is also the author of /Pamela: A Novel/ and /The Private Listener/, a chapbook from Corollary Press. /Pamela: A Novel /is on the decade's bestsellers list from Small Press Distribution, and has been taught in a number of literature and creative writing classes. Her writing also appears in the anthologies /Bay Poetics/ and /Biting the Error/, and has been published in periodicals such as /1913/, /Antennae/, /Call/, /Chain/, and /Fascicle/. She lives and works in the San Francisco Bay Area.

On Pamela Lu's previous novel---"Pamela: A Novel is one of the finest books to emerge from the ardent, experimental writing scene in the Bay Area . . . Lu builds a social space and founds a society."---/The Stranger/ "Reading the word 'I' in this novel becomes a mystical experience---an invitation to connect to the 'I' in all of us . . . This is a work of 'precision,' as Robert Musil would say, 'in matters of the soul.' It extends the novel's capacity to think."---/Rain Taxi Review of Books/ "Lu, in her debut, . . . [creates] a precise and humorous elegy to the self, and to its self-subversions . . . This is a book of extraordinary philosophical subtlety and clarity, one that manages to tell a beautiful story in spite of itself."---/Publishers Weekly/

ISBN: 9780976736431 binding: PAPERBACK 200pp.

[Subscribers and pre-orders, your book is in the mail already!]

www.kenningeditions.com
www.spdbooks.org

↑ Index

110. Michael
The 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE blog is up and ready!
Thu 14 Apr 2011

Dear Organizers for 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE,

The 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE blog is up and ready!

Please go to http://www.bigbridge.org/100thousandpoetsforchange/ and check it out.

Open up the map and you can see the many cities that are involved. Go to your own city and check the organizer and contact information. If you want me to add information, or if there are any errors, just send me a message and I'll be happy to make changes. As your event information develops we will add information to the event page for you. Note that you can comment on the event page too! Invite friends to comment, post poems, photos, etc.!

The 100 THOUSAND POETS FOR CHANGE project is going very well. So far we have 75 cities representing over 15 countries organizing CHANGE. (And we have only been organizing for three weeks!) This grassroots movement has wheels! Let's keep it going strong. Please invite friends to attend the event at the FB Event Page http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=106999432715571

Organize an event. Spread the word!

Thank you for your participation!

Best to you,
Michael

↑ Index

111. Murat Nemet-Nejat
Re: paul violi / billy bang
Thu 14 Apr 2011

I just heard about Paul yesterday.
Murat

On Wed, Apr 13, 2011 at 3:12 AM, steve dalachinsky <[redacted]>wrote:

> i bleieve there have been no posts about paul violi in case some of you are not aware he passed away about 2 weeks ago
> sadly also the violinist billy bang passed away 2 nights ago both were not out of their 60's yet

↑ Index

112. Peter ciccariello

Re: (NYC Gallery Show) Haptics: Poetry By Other Means

Thu 14 Apr 2011

Outstanding Stephen, congratulations!

On Wednesday, April 13, 2011, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:
> total coolness!
>
> Stephen Vincent wrote:
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
> Happy to announce a new show of Drawings and Accordion Fold Books:
> Poetry Readings & Talks, Urban Walks, Collaborations with Composers & Musicians, Strangers, Friends & Family
>
> STEPHEN VINCENT: Haptics: Poetry By Other Means May 06 - 28 2011
> Opening Reception, Sunday, May 08, 6-8pm
>
> Jack Hanley Gallery, 136 Watts, New York, NY 10013 (Tribeca)
> http://www.jackhanley.com/show.php?show=1378
> (For directions to the Gallery, etc.)
>
> If you are nearby, hope you can join me at the reception or visit the Gallery in May.
> Stephen Vincent
> http://stephenvincent.net/blog/
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

--
http://invisiblenotes.blogspot.com/

http://uncommonvision.blogspot.com/
http://poemsfromprovidence.blogspot.com/
http://uncommon-vision.blogspot.com/
You can find my art and writing updates on Twitter
https://twitter.com/ciccariello

↑ Index

113. Adam Fieled
from "The Scrounge": 6 Links
Thu 14 Apr 2011

These poems are from the manuscript in progress "The Scrounge":

"Activism":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-activism.html

"Uncle Fester":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-uncle-fester.html

"Fake Dogshit":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-fake-dogshit.html

"Steam":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-steam.html

"Walk on By":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-walk-on-by.html

"Easter":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-easter.html

Hope you like these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

114. susan maurer
Re: MUGGED into poetry
Thu 14 Apr 2011

congrats. Susan Maurer

> Date: Wed, 13 Apr 2011 10:44:27 -0400
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: MUGGED into poetry

> To: [redacted]
>
> I'm very excited about my new chapbook "MUGGED into poetry" from the amazing folks at CANNOT EXIST Press!
> I have a link at http://CAConrad.blogspot.com
>
> Please check out their other chapbooks!
> And magazine!
>
> There are over 6 billion people on our planet, meaning I NEVER take for granted that someone actually wanted to publish my poems!
> Have a beautiful day,
> CAConrad
>
> --
> PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com
>
> THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

115. Mark DuCharme

HOLLO & SIKELIANOS April 20th: The Last Stratford Park?

Thu 14 Apr 2011

The Stratford Park Reading Series in Exile

proudly presents...

Anselm Hollo & Eleni Sikelianos
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20th at 7:00 p.m.

§

Come join us for what will very likely be the last reading in the Stratford Park series. Come celebrate the end of this little series, and hear some terrific poetry, at a NEW LOCATION:

Innisfree Poetry Bookstore & Café
1203 13th Street, Suite A, Boulder, CO 80302
On The Hill

§

Anselm Hollo, poet and literary translator, is a Professor of Writing and Poetics at Naropa University in Boulder, Colorado. Hollo has published thirty books and chapbooks of his poetry, most recently Notes on the Possibilities and Attractions of Existence: Selected Poems 1965-2000 (Coffee House Press) which won the San Francisco Poetry Center's Best Book Award for 2001, and

Guests of Space from Coffee House Press, 2007. A forthcoming volume of his poems, Some Lost, Some Found, will see publication in 2012.

Hollo’s honors and awards include a New York State Creative Artists' Public Service Award (1976), a National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) Poet’s Fellowship (1979), P.E.N./American-Scandinavian Foundation Awards for Poetry in Translation (1981 and 1989), Fund for Poetry Awards for Contributions to Contemporary Poetry (1989, 1991), The Finnish Government Prize for Translation of Finnish Literature (1996), a Gertrude Stein Award in Innovative American Poetry (1996), 2002 a Baltic Center for Writers and Translators residency (Visby, Gotland 2002)), a Civitella Ranieri residency (Umbria, Italy 2005).

Eleni
Sikelianos is the author of a hybrid memoir (The Book of Jon) and six books of poetry, the most recent being Body Clock. Sikelianos received her MFA in 1991 from what was then The Naropa Institute, where she studied with many of the most exuberant living poets of our times. She has been the happy recipient of various awards for her poetry, nonfiction, and translations, and her work has been translated into a dozen languages. One volume has appeared in French, and two more (The Book of Jon and The California Poem) will appear in France next year.
She has translated Exchanges on Light by Jacques Roubaud, and is spending her current sabbatical in Paris, California, and Boulder.

↑ Index

116. Jennifer Karmin

April 15-17: To Art & Profit festival in Chicago

Thu 14 Apr 2011

TO ART & PROFIT:
Creative Labor, Collective Action & Conscientious Capitalism

Interdisciplinary performance series
arts-focused dialogues & street spectacles
in Chicago, Illinois

Curated by Links Hall Artistic Associates
Abra Johnson & Meida McNeal
http://toartandprofit.wordpress.com

APRIL 15-17
Quit Bullshittin': Recognizing Division
& Building Solidarity in the Arts

Collaborating Artists:
In The Spirit, Siete Lunas Nuevas, Avery R. Young, Boogie McClarin, Nikki Patin, Crystle Dino,
Nicole Noland & Fathom DJ

PERFORMANCES
8pm Friday & Saturday
at Links Hall, 3435 N.Sheffield
http://linkshall.org

COMMUNITY SPECTACLE & DISCUSSION
4pm Community Spectacle
5:30pm Panel Discussion at the Maekeen Room
2147 S. Lumber Street, Suite 405
River Front Lofts, Pilsen

UPCOMING MAY 20-22
Come As You Are: Re-Imagining Art with a Conscience

Collaborating Artists:
Silvita Diaz Brown, Nicole Garneau & Lani Montreal;
Nicole LeGette; The Ladies Ring Shout,
Ayako Kato & David Boykin

↑ Index

117. Jared Schickling
Re: [someone's] New "web log" address
Fri 15 Apr 2011

J2 seems so far from the late, great, democratic, free-wheelin Jacket 1 as to not even bother. Another monolith of the discourse. Hell of a purchase. Time will tell. Duck and cover, people.

Jared.

> Date: Wed, 13 Apr 2011 12:46:24 -0500
> From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
> Subject: Re: New "web log" address
>
> yes indeedy-reedy. it's gorgeous. a bit overwhelming in its gorgeousness.

> Cara Benson wrote:
> Congrats to all involved in J2. It's phenomenal.
>
> _____
> From: Charles Bernstein <[redacted]>
> To: [redacted]
> Sent: Wed, April 13, 2011 10:24:00 AM
> Subject: New "web log" address
>
> I'm putting on a new Jacket: I've moved my "web log" to Jacket2:
>
> http://jacket2.org/commentary/charles-bernstein
> RSS feed: http://feeds.feedburner.com/CharlesBernsteinWebLog.xml
> Email subscription:
> http://feedburner.google.com/fb/a/mailverify?
> uri=CharlesBernsteinWebLog&loc=en_US
>
> Date: Wed, 13 Apr 2011 12:38:53 -0400
> From: John Latta <[redacted]>
> Subject: Re: New "web log" address
>
> One wonders, of course, about the controlling wisdom of J2's announcement:
>
> "Jacket2 does not accept unsolicited submissions. . ."
>
> And: "Jacket2 publishes new poetry only as part of critical commentaries and features; we are not currently reading submissions of poetry."
>
> *Poems: the *un*necessary part of poetry.*
>
> JL
>
> http://isola-di-rifiuti.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

118. CA Conrad

Allen Ginsberg SPECIAL EDITION of JUPITER 88

Fri 15 Apr 2011

I've been invited by the HOWL Festival 2011 committee to make JUPITER 88 films of poets discussing Ginsberg's poetics and activism. The first one is UP! And it's MARK NOWAK: http://JUPITER88Ginsberg.blogspot.com

Anyone wishing to contribute PLEASE let me know and we'll set up a time to film you!

Have a great day!
CAConrad

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

119. George Quasha

Penn Theorizing Lecture Series: George Quasha on "Principle Art: The Poetics of Thinking"

Fri 15 Apr 2011

The Theorizing Lecture Series presents:

GEORGE QUASHA
"Principle Art: The Poetics of Thinking"

Tuesday, April 19th at 5:00 PM
Max Kade Center room 329, A Wing
3401 Walnut St. next to Starbucks

Artist, poet, critic, and musician George Quasha works across mediums and disciplines to explore principles in common within language, sculpture, drawing, video, sound, installation, and performance. Solo exhibitions of "axial stones" and "axial drawings" include the Baumgartner Gallery in New York (Chelsea), the Slought Foundation in Philadelphia, and at the Samuel Dorsky Museum of Art at SUNY New Paltz. His lecture will present a theory of "principle" in art, poetry, music, thinking, and consciousness, and in particular the "axial principle," where "principle" is in contrast (and yet complementary) to "conceptual" art.

His recent books are: /Verbal Paradise/ /(preverbs)/ (as the first of a 6 volume work of "preverbs") (Zasterle Press, 2011); /An Art of Limina: Gary Hill's Works and Writings/, with Charles Stein, Foreword by Lynne Cooke (Poligrafa: Barcelona, 2010); /Axial Stones: An Art of Precarious Balance/ (North Atlantic Books: 2006).

Quasha other books include poetry (/Somapoetics/, /Giving the Lily Back Her Hands/, /Ainu Dreams/ [with Chie Hasegawa]); anthologies (/America a Prophecy/ [with Jerome Rothenberg], /Open Poetry/ [with Ronald Gross], /An Active Anthology/ [with Susan Quasha], /The Station Hill Blanchot Reader/ [with Charles Stein]); and writing on art (/Gary Hill: Language Willing/; with Charles

Stein: /Tall Ships, HanD HearD/liminal objects/, /Viewer/. Quasha's awards include a National Endowment for the Arts Fellowship in poetry and a Guggenheim Fellowship in video art in 2006. He has taught at Stony Brook University (SUNY), Bard College, New School University (Graduate Anthropology Department), and Naropa University. He is also the founder/publisher of Station Hill Press of Barrytown (New York) with Susan Quasha.

Free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

/Generously co-sponsored by the Graduate Group in Comparative Literature and Literary Theory, the English Department, the Art History Department's Zero Fund, the Theorizing Reading Group, and the Graduate and Professional Student Assembly (GAPSA)./

--
George Quasha
124 Station Hill Road
Barrytown, NY 12507

[redacted] (home)
[redacted] (cell)

www.quasha.com
www.baumgartnergallery.net
www.stationhill.org

↑ Index

120. editor boog

Boog Turns 20 With 5th Annual Welcome to Boog City Festival, Fri. Aug. 5-Tues. Aug. 9

Fri 15 Apr 2011

Hi all,

Boog turns 20 on Fri. Aug. 5, and we'll kick off year 21 with our 5th annual Welcome to Boog City Poetry and Music Festival. The fest will span from—Save the Date—Fri. Aug.5-Tues. Aug. 9, with poets and musical acts performing at ACA Galleries, Sidewalk Café, Unnameable Books, and The Zinc Bar. The poets will be selected by Boog's current poetry editor, Joanna Fuhrman, one of our former poetry editors, Jim Behrle, and myself. Small press editor Douglas Manson will be in charge of our 8th Annual Small, Small Press Fair, while musician Brian Speaker will be booking all the music.

To get on our email list as details become more specific, email [redacted]

best,
David Kirschenbaum

↑ Index

121. Amy King
Fwd: [New-Poetry] Dean Young's heart
Fri 15 Apr 2011

—

↑ Index

122. Maria Damon
Re: Fwd: [New-Poetry] Dean Young's heart
Fri 15 Apr 2011

yay.
blessings to the donor, accruing karma.

Amy King wrote:
> -------- Original Message --------
> Subject: [New-Poetry] Dean Young's heart
> From: David Graham <[redacted]>
> To: "[redacted] & Views" <[redacted]>
> CC:
>
> http://isak.typepad.com/isak/2011/04/breaking-a-heart-for-dean-young.html
>
>
> ==========
> David Graham
> [redacted]
>
> Home Page:
> http://web.me.com/drjazz
>
> Poetry Library:
> http://web.me.com/drjazz/Site/DGPoLibrary.html
> ==========
>
>
>
>
>

> _____
> New-Poetry mailing list
> [redacted]
> http://wiz.cath.vt.edu/mailman/listinfo/new-poetry
>

↑ Index

123. Mark DuCharme

Re: [New-Poetry] Dean Young's heart

Fri 15 Apr 2011

Translation, please. (Or is this meant to be a concrete poem?)

> Date: Fri, 15 Apr 2011 09:54:24 -0400
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Fwd: [New-Poetry] Dean Young's heart
> To: [redacted]
>
> ---------- Information from the mail header ----------
> Sender: "Poetics List (UPenn, UB)" <[redacted]>
> Poster: Amy King <[redacted]>
> Subject: Fwd: [New-Poetry] Dean Young's heart
> ----------
>
> *CgotLS0tLS0tLSBPcmlnaW5hbCBNZXNzYWdlIC0tLS0tLS0tClN1YmplY3Q6IFtOZXc
tUG9ldHJ5
XSBEZWFuIFlvdW5nJ3MgaGVhcnQKRnJvbTogRGF2aWQgR3JhaGFtIDxncmFoYW1k
QHJpcG9uLmVk
dT4KVG86ICJuZXctcG9ldHJ5QHdpei5jYXRoLnZ0LmVkdSAmYW1wOwlWaWV3cyIgP
G5ldy1wb2V0
cnlAY2hhcmxlbWFnbmUuY2RkYy52dC5lZHU+CkNDOiAKCmh0dHA6Ly9pc2FrLnR
5cGVwYWQuY29t
L2lzYWsvMjAxMS8wNC9icmVha2luZy1hLWhlYXJ0LWZvci1kZWFuLXlvdW5nLmh0b
WwKCgo9PT09
PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09CkRhdmlkIEdyYWhhb
QpncmFoYW1k
QHJpcG9uLmVkdQoKSG9tZSBQYWdlOgpodHRwOi8vd2ViLm1lLmNvbS9kcmpheno
KClBvZXRyeSBM
aWJyYXJ5OgpodHRwOi8vd2ViLm1lLmNvbS9kcmphenovU2l0ZS9ER1BvTGlicmFyeS
5odG1sCj09
PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PT09PQoKCgoKCl9fX1
9fX19fX19f
X19fX19fX19fX19fX19fX19fX19fX19fX19fX19fX19fCk5ldy1Qb2V0cnkgbWFpbGl
uZyBs aXN0Ck5ldy1Qb2V0cnlAd2l6LmNhdGgudnQuZWR1Cmh0dHA6Ly93aXouY2F0aC52
dC5lZHUvbWFp
bG1hbi9saXN0aW5mby9uZXctcG9ldHJ5Cg==

↑ Index

124. Dan Godston

Piano | Poetry concert in the Fine Arts Building

Fri 15 Apr 2011

Piano | Poetry Concert

Saturday, April 16, 2011 (7:00 p.m.)

Curtiss Hall

Fine Arts Building

410 South Michigan Ave., tenth floor

Chicago IL 60605

[redacted], [redacted]

http://www.pianofortefoundation.org/

You are invited to attend a special concert that involves collaborations between pianists and poets -- including Christina Pugh, Ed Roberson, Reginald Gibbons, Rachel Webster, Ari Brown, and Mabel Kwan. Christina Pugh and Ed Roberson will be performing with Ari Brown, and Rachel Webster and Reginald Gibbons will be performing with Mabel Kwan. This concert, which happens during National Poetry Month, is being presented by The Poetry Foundation, PianoForte Foundation, Borderbend Arts Collective, and IS Productions. A reception will follow the concert. Admission: $20, $10 for students.

The Experimental Piano Series showcases performances by innovators in today's world of experimental piano. These performances include approaches that are influenced and informed by jazz, "new music," classical music, world music, and other genres. Some of the performances during EPS will involve solo pieces, and others will involve duos and trios. Some of the pieces will be improvised, whereas others will be performances of compositions that are notated.

The Experimental Piano Series is presented by the PianoForte Foundation, Borderbend Arts Collective, and IS Productions. So far, Frank Abbinanti, Jim Baker, Renée Baker's TUNTUI, Ben Boye, Phyllis Chen, Steve Cohn, CUBE, Justin Dillard, Irina Feoktistova, Paul Giallorenzo, Burton Greene, Jonathan Hey, Sebastian Huydts, Keith Kirchoff, Matthew McCright, Adam Marks, Thollem McDonas, Eric Glick Rieman, Adam Tendler, and Ann Ward have performed during EPS concerts. This is the final concert in EPS' third season.

BIOS:

Ari Brown is a composer, arranger and educator who plays the piano and saxophone. He has performed with many music greats including Anthony Braxton, Muhal Richard Abrams, Lou Rawls, B.B. King, Chuck Berry, Elvin Jones, Andrew White, Della Reese, Billy Eckstein. Mr. Brown has also performed with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in the Chicago premier of the Anthony Davis opera, "Malcom X". He has also performed a clarinet solo on the score in Universal Studio's motion picture, The Babe. He has toured all over the world including Japan, Europe, Malaysia, Taiwan, and Singapore. He received his BA of Music Education from Vandercook College of Music, and has made numerous recordings. http://aacmchicago.org/richard-ari-brown

+ / + \

Reginald Gibbons is a poet, fiction writer, translator, literary critic, artist, and Professor of English, Classics, and Spanish and Portuguese. In 2008 he published a new book of poems, Creatures of a Day (LSU Press, 2008), which was a Finalist for the 2008 National Book Award in poetry. New books: Slow Trains Overhead: Chicago Poems and Stories (University of Chicago Press, 2010) and a bilingual selection of poems, Desde una barca de papel (Littera Libros, 2010).

In 2008 he also published a volume of new translations of Sophocles, Selected Poems: Odes and Fragments (Princeton); from 2006 to 2009 he was a columnist for American Poetry Review. http://reginaldgibbons.northwestern.edu/

+ / + \

Mabel Kwan is a pianist with Ensemble Dal Niente and a founding member of the piano and percussion duo Nothing in Common. She champions the works of artists from her generation and has been a featured performer at the Sonic Fusion Festival in Edinburgh, Scotland, the SEAMUS Conference, the Intermedia Festival, and Chicago's Looptopia. Born and raised in Austin, Texas, Mabel received performance degrees from Rice University and Northern Illinois University. http://mkwan.com/mabel

+ / + \

Christina Pugh is the author of two books of poems: Restoration (Northwestern University Press /TriQuarterly Books, 2008) and Rotary (Word Press, 2004), which received the Word Press First Book Prize. She has also published a chapbook, Gardening at Dusk (Wells College Press, 2002). Her poems have appeared in The Atlantic Monthly, Poetry, The Kenyon Review, TriQuarterly, and other periodicals, as well as in anthologies such as Poetry 180. Her honors have included the Lucille Medwick Memorial Award from the Poetry Society of America, the Grolier Poetry Prize, the Illinois Arts Council’s individual artist fellowship in poetry, the Ruth Lilly Poetry Fellowship, a Whiting Fellowship for the Humanities, and residencies at the Ragdale and Ucross colonies. Pugh's criticism has recently appeared in Poetry, Verse, Ploughshares, and The Emily Dickinson Journal. She is an associate professor in the Program for Writers at the University of Illinois at Chicago.

http://www.poetryfoundation.org/bio/christina-pugh

+ / + \

Ed Roberson was born and raised in Pittsburgh, where he studied painting in his youth and was educated at the University of Pittsburgh. His extensive travels inform his work,which is also influenced by spirituals and the blues, and by visual art, such as the mixed-media collages of Romare Beardon. Poet and critic Michael Palmer <http://www.poetryfoundation.org/archive/poet.html?id=5205> has called Roberson "one of the most deeply innovative and critically acute voices of our time."

Roberson is the author of numerous books of poetry, including City Eclogue (2006), Atmosphere Conditions (1999), which was chosen by Nathaniel Mackey <http://www.poetryfoundation.org/archive/poet.html?id=82229> for the National Poetry Series and was a finalist for the Academy of American Poets' Lenore Marshall Award, and Voices Cast Out to Talk Us In (1995), which won the Iowa Poetry Prize. Words and phrases in Roberson's experimental poetry actively resist parsing, using instead what Mackey has called "double-jointed syntax" to explore and bend themes of race, history, and culture. "I'm not creating a new language. I'm just trying to un-White-Out the one we've got," said Roberson in a 2006 interview with Chicago Postmodern Poetry.

Roberson's honors include the Lila Wallace Writers' Award and the Poetry Society of America's Shelley Award. His work has been included in Best American Poetry.

Roberson lives in Chicago, where he has taught at the University of Chicago, Columbia College and Northwestern University.
http://www.poetryfoundation.org/bio/ed-roberson

+ / + \

Rachel Webster grew up in the small town of Madison, Ohio, and now lives in Evanston, IL, where she is an Artist in Residence (in poetry) at Northwestern University. She also edits the online anthology of international poetry, UniVerse, located at www.universeofpoetry.org. Her poems have been published in many journals, including Poetry, The Southern Review, The Madison Review, Perihelion and blossombones, and she has won a few awards for her writing and teaching, including an Academy of American Poets' Young Poets Prize. For several years, she created and taught writing workshops for city teens, and in this capacity, co-edited two anthologies of writing by Chicago youth, Alchemy (2001) and Paper Atrium (2005). She has my MFA from the Warren Wilson Program for Writers. http://racheljamisonwebster.blogspot.com/

PianoForte in the Fine Arts Building

410 South Michigan Ave., first floor

Chicago IL 60605

[redacted], [redacted]

Links:

The Poetry Foundation: http://www.poetryfoundation.org/

PianoForte Foundation: http://www.pianofortefoundation.org/

National Poetry Month: http://www.poets.org/npm/

Experimental Piano Series on Facebook:
http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=76408581754

This Piano | Poetry Concert on CAR:
http://www.chicagoartistsresource.org/literary/node/32437

↑ Index

125. amy king
UPDATE - Dean Young's heart
Fri 15 Apr 2011

---

1) From Deano's wife: "The surgeon says everything looks good-- the heart started beating as soon as they hooked it up." (11 hours ago)

2) I wonder what the 22-year old who saved my uncle's life was thinking when he checked the "organ donor" box.

3) Thanks for all the warm wishes today, friends. It's really a very happy day for my family. Thank you. (1 hour ago)

> http://isak.typepad.com/isak/2011/04/breaking-a-heart-for-dean-young.html

****
VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

126. Ruth Danon

Fwd: Paul:FYI and pass it along

Fri 15 Apr 2011

This is a multi-part message in MIME format.

----3c2693d31d62f4e19d6

Dear list,

I am forwarding the blog that has been created to honor and remember Paul Violii. Paul taught in the McGhee Division of NYU for more years than I can say. He was there long before I became coordinator of the program. He was a delight to work with. His crinkled up smile could make your day.

His impact on students was enormous. His poetry is alive and well.

I think his family --probably at his request -- has been private about details. But the idea is to send this blog to them as a testament to the love and respect so many people felt -- and feel -- for him.

Ruth Danon

Ruth Danon Ph.D, Clinical Professor,Creative and Expository Writing Coordinator, Creative and Expository Writing McGhee Division, New York University

----3c2693d31d62f4e19d6
Content-language: en

This is a multi-part message in MIME format.

----11ffb55c853b57e8110b

Dear April, Ruth and Kathleen,

Kate Falvey emailed me the forwarded link to a blog about Paul Violi. Please pass it on to his students and colleagues.

Thank you.

Bassam

Bassam K. Abed, Ph.D.
Clinical Professor of Social Sciences
Director of Academic Affairs
McGhee Division
726 Broadway, Rm 674
New York University
New York, NY 10003
Phone:[redacted]

----11ffb55c853b57e8110b

http://blog.bestamericanpoetry.com/paul_violi/

The editors are going to gather the posts into a book for the family. The more, the sweeter - if not merrier.

----11ffb55c853b57e8110b--

----3c2693d31d62f4e19d6--

↑ Index

127. Jane Nakagawa
Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing
Sat 16 Apr 2011

---

hi everybodyI'm in search of articles that describe how poets collaborated with other poets on poems (poems written by two or more poets) -- preferably articles that can be shared electronically. if possible send URL etc. to janenakagawa at yahoo dot com all bestJane Joritz-Nakagawa, in central Japan

Jane Joritz-Nakagawa's fifth book of poems, "incidental music", is out with BlazeVOX (http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/incidental-music-by-jane-joritz-nakagawa-113/), and on sale at Amazon.com (USA). Her sixth poetry book, "notational", is forthcoming in 2011 with Otoliths (http://the-otolith.blogspot.com/).

↑ Index

128. Sam Ladkin
Conference
Sat 16 Apr 2011

Dear All (with apologies for cross-posting),

Word from Ed Holberton <[redacted]> on the upcoming conference at Cambridge (UK) for those interested.

Yours truly,
Sam

Contemporary Poetry and the University: a symposium to be held at Girton College, Cambridge 7th May 2011

This symposium brings together poets, academics and teachers of creative writing to discuss the status of poetry writing and teaching in British universities.

Papers and panel discussions will cover: the current crisis in university finances in relation to creative writing; methods of teaching and inspiring writing; experimental poetry; ‘poetry in an age of digital reproduction’; journal publication; and the discussion of specific collaborative projects between writers and academic departments.

1.00pm – 5.30pm

Contributors include: Ian Brinton, Anthony Mellors, Patricia Debney, Angela Leighton, Drew Milne, Jeremy Noel-Tod, Robin Purves, Peter Robinson, Alex Runchman

6pm READING: Jane Draycott & Peter Robinson followed by the award of the first Jane Martin Prize for Poetry

7.30pm Dinner

For free registration, please email your name to:
[redacted]

The symposium dinner is open to all at a cost of £35. Please make cheques payable to ‘Girton College’ and send to Sinéad Garrigan Mattar by Wednesday 5th May, at Girton College, Cambridge, CB3 0JG For a map and access details, please see: http://www.girton.cam.ac.uk/contact/directions/

↑ Index

129. Bonnie MacAllister

Certain Circuits News (issue launch, call for submissions)

Sat 16 Apr 2011

We are very excited to announce several bits of news:

1) Our Kickstarter grant to print our first issue was funded! Thank you so much to all who donated and helped to spread the word! We are now laying out and preparing to print the issue. We could not have done it without you!

2) Our issue launch is Friday, June 3rd at the Rotunda in Philadelphia. We will show films by Adam Zucker and Jason Maas, Brian and Ashley Howe, Jeff Siegel, Jim Tuite and Patrick Morris. Hal Sirowitz, Courtney Bambrick, and David Hewitt are performing, among others. Final schedule TBA. For more on the Rotunda: http://www.therotunda.org "The Rotunda, a community gathering place for the promotion of arts and culture, is fueled by the belief that art is a catalyst for social change and that the arts can lead to the formation of meaningful partnerships between the University of Pennsylvania and the surrounding community."

3) We are conducting an Art Retreat with Handmade Philly, the Midwives Collective, Women's Caucus for Art Philadelphia Chapter, and Square Peg Artery and Salvage. The event includes films, performance, rides, and paddle boats and takes place at Adventureland in Bensalem, PA. This is a private event so you must contact us if you'd like to attend. Email [redacted] with "CC Art Retreat" in the subject line. The date of the event is May 30, Memorial Day 12-6.

4) We held our first Writer's Group on April 23. The next one is May 22 from 5-8 at Eris Temple Artspace, 602 S. 52nd Street, West Philadelphia. Facebook event here<https://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=208070709206237> .

5) Our clothing swap for Philly AIDS Thrift is Sunday, April 24 2-8. Performances by Lisa Sunshine, Lora Bloom, Leah B, more TBA. Facebook event here <https://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=208466829178868>. Flier here <http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/4659210420>.

6) More web content launches on May 1. We'd love the chance to publish something new and unpublished. We are now OPEN for submissions.

We are currently accepting submissions for multimedia and literature for our online issues and for print issue 2.1!

Mail to [redacted].

Submission guidelines here: http://certaincircuits.tumblr.<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/contributions> com/contributions <http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/contributions> or use the proposal form <http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/submit> on the site (multimedia especially for embed codes).

Best,

Bonnie MacAllister

Curator

Certain Circuits Magazine

www.certaincircuits.org

Tumblr: certaincircuits.tumblr.com

Facebook: certaincircuits <https://www.facebook.com/certaincircuits>

Twitter: certaincircuits <http://twitter.com/#!/CertainCircuits>

For all inquiries:
[redacted]<http://mailto:[redacted]/>

↑ Index

130. Adam Fieled
from "The Scrounge": 6 New Links
Sat 16 Apr 2011

These are six more poems from the manuscript in progress "The Scrounge":

"Undergraduate Workshop":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-undergraduate-workshop.html

"Therapy":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-therapy.html

"Truth and Consequence":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-truth-and-consequence.html

"Puke":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-puke.html

"Pure Dirt":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-pure-dirt.html

"Fun":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-fun.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

131. Jennifer Karmin
April 21-22: Chicago Writers in Boulder & Denver
Sat 16 Apr 2011

THURSDAY, APRIL 21 @ 5pm
Readings by:
Laura Goldstein
Jennifer Karmin
Luis Humberto Valadez

at Innisfree Bookstore
1203 13th St - Suite A
Boulder, Colorado
http://www.innisfreepoetry.com

****

FRIDAY, APRIL 22 @ 7:30pm
The TitMouse Chicago Writers Exchange

A collaborative experiment by:
Denise Dooley
Laura Goldstein
Jennifer Karmin
Luis Humberto Valadez

at The Dikeou Collection
1615 California St (at 16th St) - Suite 515
Denver, Colorado
http://www.dikeoucollection.org

****

DENISE DOOLEY lives in Rogers Park, Chicago. She reads and writes with Next Objectivist Workshop at Mess Hall. Her chapbook Drumtops is available through Con/Crescent Press at concrescentpress.org and poems have appeared in Con/Crescent, Shampoo, Court Green, and elsewhere. She's working on a novel about fungal blights.

LAURA GOLDSTEIN's poetry, reviews and essays can be found in EAOGH, Requited, Little Red Leaves, How2, Seven Corners, Text/Sound, Rabbit Light Movies, Otoliths, CutBank Reviews and Moria, as well as this summer in American Letters and Commentary, She has two chapbooks: Ice in Intervals from Hex Press and Day of Answers from Tir Aux Pigeons and her newest chapbook, Let Her, will be coming out from Dancing Girl Press in Spring 2012. She currently co-curates the Red Rover reading series and teaches Writing and Literature at the School of the Art Institute and Loyola University.

JENNIFER KARMIN's text-sound epic, Aaaaaaaaaaalice, was published by Flim Forum Press in 2010. She curates the Red Rover Series and is co-founder of the public art group Anti Gravity Surprise. Her multidisciplinary projects have been presented at festivals, artist-run spaces, community centers, and on city streets across the U.S., Japan, and Kenya. A proud member of the Dusie Kollektiv, she is the author of the Dusie chapbook Evacuated: Disembodying Katrina. Walking Poem, a collaborative street project, is featured online at How2. In Chicago, Jennifer teaches creative writing to immigrants at Truman College and works as a Poet-in-Residence for the public schools.

LUIS HUMBERTO VALADEZ is a poet/musician/performer from Chicago Heights, IL. His work is heavily influenced by an ilk of artists including Harryette Mullen, Amiria Baraka, Sonia Sanchez, and Anne Waldman as well as the economically depressed Chicago southern suburb he grew up in, and his mother, who constantly implored him to "get out of the Heights." These influences figure heavily into his first collection of poetry "what i'm on," published by the University of Arizona Press. He went to school at Columbia College Chicago and the Jack Kerouac School of Disembodied Poetics at Naropa University. He also teaches and works as an AmeriCorps VISTA Supervisor for Chicago HOPES, an after-school tutoring and arts initiative for children living in Chicago homeless shelters

↑ Index

132. Rosmarie Waldrop
new from Burning Deck at 50
Sat 16 Apr 2011

---

3 new books from Burning Deck now available from www.burningdeck.com, www.spdbooks.org, and in Europe: www.audiatur.no/Bokhandel

1. Gale Nelson
THIS IS WHAT HAPPENS WHEN TALK ENDS
Poetry, 104 pages, offset, smyth-sewn
ISBN13: 978-1-936194-06-3, original paperback $14

There are 8 sets of 8 poems. All poems within a set follow the vowel pattern of a particular passage from Shakespeare. They could be called homovocalic translations of Shakespeare though they ignore his content while trying to build toward their own coherence. The sets are not presented in linear succession. Instead, the poems are arranged in a chess pattern, the earliest surviving knight's circuit, attributed to al-Adli ar-Rumi of Baghdad and presumed to date from 840 AD.

Born in Los Angeles, Gale Nelson has lived in Providence since the 1980s. He is Assistant Director of the Department of Literary Arts. Burning Deck has earlier published his CETERIS PARIBUS and STARE DECISIS. He is represented in the anthology, 49+1: NOUVEAUX POÈTES AMÉRICAINS, and two of this plays, are included in THE JOY OF PHONETICS AND ACCENTS by Louis Colaianni. He is also the editor of Paradigm Press.
On CETERIS PARIBUS:
“...a landscape of structures and variables, carefully recording instances in which language enjambs to the point of crisis and consigns itself to an altered path. Nelson flashes in and out of poetic modes that he is able to rein in from the brink of cacophony and craft into an engaging series of poems.”—David Harrison Horton, Syllogism

2. Christina Mengert
AS WE ARE SUNG
Poetry, 64 pages, offset, smyth-sewn
ISBN13: 978-1-936194-05-6, original paperback $14

This first book by a trained vocalist explores the transformation from "I am speaking" to "I am singing," and where exactly poetry fits between these two limits. Restlessly, in abrupt (sometimes humorous) shifts it examines the subtle, the inaccessible, what is too fine for our senses, “the song that is sung between notes.” The poems seem almost to disperse, to float off into a space as vast and as tolerant of indeterminacy as Barbara Guest’s, where seeming emptiness can turn into a fullness of motion, potential, song, being.

Christina Mengert has crossed the country from her native Georgia via Rhode Island to Denver (where she earned a Ph.D. in English/Creative Writing) and now on to New York State, to teach in Bard College's Prison Initiative Program. She is co-editor of 12X12: CONVERSATIONS IN 21ST CENTURY POETRY AND POETICS (University of Iowa Press). Her poems and reviews have appeared in WEB CONJUNCTIONS, AUFGABE, COLORADO REVIEW, THE NEW REVIEW OF LITERATURE, RECONFIGURATIONS, DENVER QUARTERLY, CONSTANT CRITIC etc.

3. David Lepiau
FOUR CUT-UPS, OR, THE CASE OF THE RESTORED VOLUME translated from the French by Keith Waldrop
Poetry, 72 pages, offset, smyth-sewn
ISBN 978-1-936194-04-9 original paperback $14

Real and fictional characters (Mrs. Lindbergh, Gertrude Stein, William Burroughs, Billy Budd or the Kid) circulate through the four parts of Four Cut-ups or The Case of the Restored Volume which, in the way of a mobile, uses constant movement to construct a precise form out of fragmented perceptions, ideas, stories, quotations. A form that gives a strangely uncanny sheen to the most realistic details.

Born in 1969 in Bayonne, David Lespiau lives and works in Marseille. His prose, poetry, and reviews have appeared in many French magazines. He coedited the journal ISSUE (2002-2005) and has translated Charles Reznikoff as well as, with others, Joan Retallack, Kristin Prevallet, and Elizabeth Willis.
An English version by Cole Swensen is part of his trilingual OUIJA-BOARD (2008). Among his other books are L’ÉPREUVE DU PRUSSIEN, LA POURSUITE DE TOM (BOTH 2003), LA POULE EST UN OISEAU AUTODIDACTE (2005), LA FILLE DU DÉPARTEMENT FICTION (2007), AND DJINN JAUNE (2008).

Keith Waldrop's most recent books are TRANSCENDENTAL STUDIES (National Book Award in Poetry), SEVERAL GRAVITIES (collages, Siglio Press), and THE REAL SUBJECT. He has translated Baudelaire as well as contemporary French poets like Anne-Marie Albiach, Claude Royet-Journoud, Paol Keineg, Dominique Fourcade, and Jean Grosjean.

↑ Index

133. Louis Cabri
Poetryworld
Sun 17 Apr 2011

Poetryworld
by
Louis Cabri

Capilano University Editions
http://www.cuebooks.ca/new_titles.php

$15
ISBN 978-0-9810122-9-2

↑ Index

134. Rob McLennan
Obvious Epiphanies Press
Sun 17 Apr 2011

Lary Bremner's Obvious Epiphanies Press

with titles by myself, Pearl Pirie & Bremner

now has a website,
http://obviousepiphanies.posterous.com/

& his 12 or 20 questions on the press here:
http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/2010/12/12-or-20-small-press-questions-lary.html

rob

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

135. Jonathan Minton
Word For/Word #18
Sun 17 Apr 2011

I?m pleased to announce that Word For/Word #18 is online at www.wordforword.info

with poetry and visuals by

Mónica Gomery, Stephen Ratcliffe, Anhvu Buchanan, Gracie Leavitt, Ian Seed, Jim Berger, Kara Imre, Sara Michas-Martin, Serena M. Tome, Karen Lepri, Kate Dougherty, Lily Ladewig, Elizabeth Sanger, Laura Kochman, Amy Kohut, John M. Bennett, Andrew Topel, Paul Siegell, Karl Kempton, Elizabeth Terrazas, bruno neiva, Michael Brandonisio, Rebecca Eddy, and Sean Burn, plus Derek Pollard's Review of SPEECH ACTS, by Laura McCullough, A. J. Patrick Liszkiewicz on the poetics of video games, and a travelogue by Tom Hibbard.

Cheers!
Jonathan Minton
www.wordforword.info

+ + +

?(I was in this forest of frosting),? by Kara Imre

I was in this forest of frosting
and I licked the top.

I was in this forest of frosting
and the trees were totally baked.

I was in this forest of frosting
and the cake-people had eyes.

I was in this forest of frosting
and there was no funfetti.

I was in this forest of frosting
and the birds held knives.

I was in this forest of frosting and everything was dead but me.

↑ Index

136. Dan Wilcox
Third Thursday Poetry Night, April 21
Sun 17 Apr 2011

---

the Poetry Motel Foundation
presents

Third Thursday Poetry Night

at
the Social Justice Center
33 Central Ave., Albany, NY

April 21, 2011
7:00 sign up; 7:30 start

Featured Poet: The Wretched Rhymers
(come & find out who these poor poets/wretched rhymers/sorrowful songsters/pathetic plodins might be)

-- with an open mic for community poets before & after the feature: $3.00 donation, suggested; more if you got it, less if you can't.

Your poetry-month host: Dan Wilcox.

↑ Index

137. David Hadbawnik
new book: field work, blazeVOX
Mon 18 Apr 2011

Hello

I'd like to announce a new book of mine, fresh out on BlazeVOX:

Field Work -- Notes, Songs, Poems, 1997-2010

this is an updated, expanded version of a chapbook some of you may be familiar with called SF Spleen, pub. by Skanky Possum in 2006 for a limited time you can get copies for $10 sale price here<http://habenichtpress.com/?p=725>

:

(http://habenichtpress.com/?p=725)

or

Field Work page at Blazevox<http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/field-work-notes-songs-poems-1997-2010-by-david-hadbawnik-228/>

Also on Amazon, SPD, etc.

from the back cover:

In San Francisco, Austin and Buffalo a chiel's among ye taking notes. David Hadbawnik like James Boswell has a knack for capturing all the things we wish we had said, as well as the street talk which shows up our culture as indescribably banal and fertile. On his way to developing a unique poetic, Hadbawnik kept writing it down; these twelve years of *flâneur*ing perform a voyage of their own, a powerful and mysterious walk towards unknowing.

—Kevin

Killian

The notebooks of Kafka and the late meditations of Wittgenstein echo deep inside David Hadbawnik's marvelous Field Work, whose investigations collect into something like a scrolling wunderkammer of anecdotal revelation. Or into a tour-de-force ostranenie of the quotidian, one might say... Which is to say, and more plainly, I suppose, that in these quasi-aphoristic sallies, daily moments are never quite what they first seem, always infolding much more than what we all almost always assume them to hold. So Hadbawnik looks carefully and insistently. And he does so again and again. And the mundane unfolds its mysteries. "One minute in the life of the world is going by. Paint it as it is," said Cezanne. That is the writer's ethic here, and the result is nothing less than a strange, serial, and many-chambered gift. We haven't had a truly great "poet's daybook" for quite some time, one that enacts a poetics. Here you are.

—Kent Johnson

cheers,

David Hadbawnik

↑ Index

138. Rosalie Calabrese

Rosalie Calabrese Poetry Update

Mon 18 Apr 2011

Actress, director, cabaret performer Helen Glickman will read four of my poems: Eos; Life as Theatre; Bashert;Yellow Cabs, in a program to celebrate National Poetry Month. There will also be an open mike portion.

Friday, April 29, 4:00 - 6:00 PM.
UFT (United Federation of Teachers)
50 Broadway (near Wall St.), 2nd Floor
New York City
2 or 3 or 4 train to Wall St (Note: 4 is closer)
Free and open to the public

↑ Index

139. Jonathan Morse

The grammar of sentences and the grammar of photographs

Mon 18 Apr 2011

At

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=62

I brood a little about the difference. And please note my blog's change of address from http://jonathan-morse.blogspot.com (where I'm still maintaining the archive of my old posts) to http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net .

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

140. Obododimma Oha

Re: Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing

Tue 19 Apr 2011

Hi Jane!
Here a link to one instance (entitled "Virtual Venice") in which several poets collaborated, using Skype as a platform:
http://obododimma.livejournal.com/#entry_6266

Best regards.
Obododimma.

On 4/15/11, Jane Nakagawa <[redacted]> wrote:
> hi everybodyI'm in search of articles that describe how poets collaborated > with other poets on poems (poems written by two or more poets) -- preferably > articles that can be shared electronically.
> if possible send URL etc. to janenakagawa at yahoo dot com
> all bestJane Joritz-Nakagawa, in central Japan
>
>
>
> Jane Joritz-Nakagawa's fifth book of poems, "incidental music", is out with
> BlazeVOX
> (http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/incidental-music-by-jane-joritz-nakagawa-113/), > and on sale at Amazon.com (USA). Her sixth poetry book, "notational", is > forthcoming in 2011 with Otoliths (http://the-otolith.blogspot.com/).
>
>
>

--
Obododimma Oha
http://udude.wordpress.com/

(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)
Dept. of English
University of Ibadan
Nigeria

&

Fellow, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies
University of Ibadan

Phone: [redacted];
[redacted];
[redacted].

↑ Index

141. Gary Sullivan

SEGUE: GARY SULLIVAN + DEREK FENNER

Tue 19 Apr 2011

Segue Poetry Series
Bowery Poetry Club
308 BOWERY, JUST NORTH OF HOUSTON
SATURDAY APRIL 23 FROM 4 - 6 PM
$6 admission goes to support the readers
No drink minumum, happy hour (2 for one drinks)

Gary Sullivan's most recent book is PPL in a Depot. A new collection, Varieties of Religious Experience, is forthcoming. His comics, essays and poetry have appeared in a number of anthologies, including Against Expression: An Anthology of Conceptual Writing and Flarf: An Anthology of Flarf.

Derek Fenner is an artist, writer, publisher, and educator living in Lowell, MA. His recent publications include Wild Schemes (Lew Gallery, 2010) and I No Longer Believe in the Sun: Love Letters to Katie Couric (Bootstrap, 2009).

Funding is made possible by the continuing support of the Segue Foundation and the Literature Program of the New York State Council on the Arts.

The Segue Reading Series is made possible by the support of The Segue Foundation. For more information, please visit www.seguefoundation.com, bowerypoetry.com/midsection.htm, or call [redacted]. Curators: Chris Alexander & Kristen Gallagher

↑ Index

142. sam truitt

Review Copies Available: EC(O)LOGUES by Peter Lamborn Wilson

Tue 19 Apr 2011

* *

Ec(o)logues
Peter Lamborn Wilson

Foreword by Charles Stein

Station Hill Press

Paperback; 158 pages

ISBN 978-1-58177-155-2

Publication Date: July 15, 2011

Price: $15.95

*
*

*EC(O)LOGUES is a Menippean Satyre (mixed poetry and prose, both serious and humorous) inspired by Virgil's Eclogues.
*

To receive a PDF of Ec(o)logues for review consideration, please email
[redacted]

Peter Lamborn Wilson is co-author of Green Hermeticism=alchemy & ecology, with Christopher Bamford, Kevin Townley and Pir Zia Inayat Khan (Lindisfarne Books, 2007); and author of* Escape from the Nineteenth Century & Other Essays=Fourier, Marx, Proudhon and Nietzsche* (Autonomedia, 1998) plus numerous other books and essays. He is long-time member of the Autonomedia Collective and lives in the Hudson Valley.

On Ec(o)logues.....

What this book does has never been done even by Peter Lamborn Wilson himself before now; with all his exuberant learning and poetics, it offers the first coherent, lucid scrutiny of the intricate interweaving of traditionary sciences with the contemporary need to rescue our planet and our sanity. The Emerald Tablet speaks Green politics and ecological salvation. —Robert Kelly

Peter Lamborn Wilson—brilliant translator, poet, magpie scholar, anarchist, consummate cosmologist—we need his salient wisdom and bite. —Anne Waldman

When I read Peter Lamborn Wilson the horizon opens. There is more light. Deep into Ancientness and forward towards Utopia his thoughts bring us the depths & the heights. He Virgils us through the mists of myth & history with words Beyond Reason towards Ecstatic Longing. —Judith Malina

… something of a revelation to the world of poetry.
—Charles Stein

Sam Truitt
Managing Director
Station Hill of Barrytown
120 Station Hill Road
Barrytown, NY 12507
[redacted]
www.stationhill.org
www.samtruitt.org

↑ Index

143. Adam Fieled
from "The Scrounge": 7 New Links
Tue 19 Apr 2011

"Jamie has the looks":

Here they are:

"Jamie has the looks":

http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-jamie-has-looks.html

"Cell Phone Interrogation":

http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-cell-phone-interrogation.html

"Monster Craving":

http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-monster-craving.html

"Conference":

http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-conference.html

"Teach the Pavement":

http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-teach-pavement.html

"Dr. M's Postcard":

http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-dr-ms-postcard.html

"Dr. M's Postcard to Tim":

http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-dr-ms-postcard-to-tim.html

Hope you like these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

144. Amanda Earl big bright amused, ditch anthology now on line
Tue 19 Apr 2011

---

last year, i invited poets published by AngelHousePress to take a look at ditch, www.ditchpoetry.com and respond to the rich resource of poetry published on the site.

i invite you to read the issue:

Márton Koppány, Jamie Bradley, Caleb JW Brasset,
John M. Bennett, Mary Kasimor, Christine McNair,
Sheila E. Murphy, Sean Moreland, Lily Robert-Foley, rob mclennan, Marilyn R. Rosenberg, and Sandra Ridley respond to the work of Marcia Arietta, Gary Barwin, Daniel f. Bradley, Jamie Bradley, Amy Dennis,
Kane X. Faucher, Camille Martin, rob mclennan,
Christine McNair, Erín Moure, Pearl Pirie, Natalie Simpson and Nathalie Stephens.

http://www.ditchpoetry.com/anthology.htm

thanks to all participants. hope you enjoy...and perhaps the work will generate some responses of your own...

Amanda Earl
AngelHousePress
www.angelhousepress.com
the angel is in the house

↑ Index

145. Maria Damon
Anne Blonstein
Wed 20 Apr 2011

The beautiful poet Anne Blonstein died day-before-yesterday in Basel, Switzerland.
Very talented, wonderful work, beautiful person, great loss.

↑ Index

146. Rob McLennan
Influency: mclennan on Martin,
Wed 20 Apr 2011

---

for Margaret Chrstakos' Influency Salon:

rob mclennan on Camille Martin's Sonnets (Shearsman, 2010);

http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/2011/04/o-bittersweet-black-sheep-camille.html

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

147. David Hadbawnik
five new chapbooks on habenicht press
Wed 20 Apr 2011

---

habenicht press is pleased to announce the publication of five new chapbooks:

5 Works by The Rejection Group ($7, with choice of b/w cover)

Triptych by Sarah Jeanne Peters ($3)

Houses Don't Float by JodiAnn Stevenson ($3)

Five Windows Light the Cavern'd Man by Brooks Johnson ($3)

Sir Gawain and the Green Knight by David Hadbawnik ($3)

all with unique, letterpress covers, with images by Carrie Kaser.

Very limited number of all five available for $15 total -- visit my blog

http://habenichtpress.com/?p=696

for ordering details.

cheers everyone --

↑ Index

148. David Hadbawnik

Rejection Group -- The Printer to the Reader

Wed 20 Apr 2011

The Printer to the Reader

It hath bin an old saying, that whiles two doggs do strive for a bone, the thirde may come and carie it away. And this proverbe may (as I feare) be wel verefied in me which take in hand the imprinting of this poeticall Poesie. For the case seemeth doubtful, and I will disclose my conjecture. Master C. B. (in a separate missive) hath cunningly dischaged himselfe of any responsibilitie for this texte, as the graver sort of greyhaired judgers mighte (perhaps) conceive in the publication of these pleasant Pamphlets. And beside that, a message from K. G. (with whome as seemeth, the original copie hereof was passed from one to th'other), doth with no lesse clerkly cunning seeke to perswade the printer, that he (also) had no hande in its making; and bothe gentlemen woulde by no meanes have it published. I am not privie, forsooth, to any declaratione at this date from K.S.M., nor from V.P., nor K.J., these most notorious persons, too, assumed in some quarters as the Authores. This in despyte of what the venerable C.D. hath recently informed us, namely, "'Tis come a time when affixing one's signature to an alien text be in no wise remarkable, and we fain arrive at the next frontier of proprietie, when the institutions of poetry shall be agonized by scriptores conceptiones signing for others under texts the which themselves have not written." Now I feare very muche (all these words notwithstanding) that the aforementioned C.B. and K.G. were of one assent compact to have it imprinted: And yet, finding by experience that nothing is so wel handled now adayes, but that some malicious minds may either take occasion to mislike it themselves, or else finde meanes to make it odious unto others: They have therefore (each of them) politiquely prevented the daunger of misreport, and suffered me the poore Printer to runne away with the palme of so perillous a victorie. Notwithstanding, having wel perused the worke, I find nothing therein amisse (to my judgemente) unlesse it be two or three wanton places passed over in the discourse of a dubious enterprise: The which for as much as the words are cleanly (although the thing ment be somewhat satiricall) I have thought good also to let them passe as they came to me, and the rather bicause (as master C. B. hath well alleged in his letter) the well minded reader may reape some commoditie out of the most frivolous works that are written. And as the venomous spider will sucke poison out of the most holesome herbe, and the industrious Bee can gather hony out of the most stinking weede: Even so the discrete reader may take a happie example by the most vicious verses, although the captious and harebrained heads can neither be encoraged by the good, nor forewarned by the bad. To conclude, the worke of the most mysterious Rejection Groupe is so universall, as either in one place or other, any mans mind may therewith be satisfied. The which I adventure (under pretext of this promise) to present unto all indifferent eyes as followeth.

New Rejection Groupe chapbookes available: $7 each, black or white cover; $20 for a very limited edition signed copy by K.G., V.P., K.S.M., C.B., and K.J.

visit here <http://habenichtpress.com/?p=696>

(http://habenichtpress.com/?p=696)

for ordering details

↑ Index

149. Stephen Vincent

Ron Halpern on New Narrative versus Lang Po

Wed 20 Apr 2011

Up on the new Jacket(I think) Ron Halpern has a good, intense piece on on the importance of Steve Abbot's San Francisco based SOUP magazine with great attention to Bruce Boone's critique of early Lang Po and New Narrative differences via attention to Bob Perleman, Steve Benson, and F Jameson. Definitely brings back the ferocious (often) arguments, fierce rumblings of late 70's, early 80's. New Content versus New Forms.

Stephen V
http://stephenvincent.net/blog/

↑ Index

150. Al Filreis

PoemTalk 42: Nathaniel Tarn, dying trees, eco-disaster

Thu 21 Apr 2011

Today we release PoemTalk #42, a discussion of Nathaniel Tarn's Dying Trees by Marcella Durand, Burt Kimmelman, and Erin Gautsche:

https://jacket2.org/content/poem-talk http://www.poetryfoundation.org/features/audio?show=Poem%20Talk

- Al Filreis

Al Filreis
http://www.writing.upenn.edu/~afilreis

↑ Index

151. Jordan Stempleman
SPRUNG FORMAL 2011
Thu 21 Apr 2011

SPRUNG FORMAL, the Kansas City Art Institute's literary arts journal, is now available for pre-order: http://sprungformal.wordpress.com/Featuring work by:Mary Jo Bang, Robert J. Baumann, Adam Beris, Daniel Borzutzky, Austin Buckingham, Shannon Burns, Nick Chan, Jack Christian, Bryan Coffelt, Cyrus Console, Linh Dinh, Marie Dougherty, Dustin Downey, Shawna Enyart, Ryan Feeney, Miles Fermin, Abbe Findley, Kathleen Furlong, Madeline Gallucci, Angela Genusa, Tyson Gough, Joshua T. Howell, Kristen Iskandrian, Tim Jones-Yelvington, Justin Kemp, Emily Kendal Frey, Mitchell Hugh Kirkwood, Mark Leidner, Christina Lenert, Richard Lucyshyn, Ryan MacDonald, Alice Miller, Sawako Nakayasu, Annie Raab, Osciel Ramos, Sophie Roessler, James Sanders, Jaclyn Senne, Sandra Simonds, Lauren Stookey, Mathias Svalina, Michelle Taransky, Dana Ward, Dara Wier, Teal Wilson, Dziadek Wydra Odjazdowy, Mike Young, and Joshua Zink

↑ Index

152. Rob McLennan
AngelHousePress' meta-ditch response anthology,
Thu 21 Apr 2011

AngelHousePress responses to poetry published on ditch: the poetry that matters, is now online, lovingly edited + compiled by Amanda Earl

Márton Koppány on Marcia Arietta;
Jamie Bradley on Gary Barwin;
Caleb JW Brasset on Kane X. Faucher and Jamie Bradley;
John M. Bennett on Daniel f. Bradley;
Mary Kasimor on Nathalie Stephens;
Christine McNair on Amy Dennis;
Sheila E. Murphy on Camille Martin;
Sean Moreland on rob mclennan;
Lily Robert-Foley on Nathalie Stephens;
rob mclennan on Natalie Simpson;
Marilyn R. Rosenberg on Erin Moure;
Sandra Ridley on Christine McNair and Pearl Pirie;

http://www.ditchpoetry.com/anthology.htm

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

153. Mary Jo Malo
Solidarity and/or Solitary Poets
Thu 21 Apr 2011

Read an interview with M. Rothenberg here for a solidarity perspective and approach.

http://poetsgulfcoast.wordpress.com/

From unquestionably the most solitary poet, find Bill Knott’s valuable and free poetry here.

http://www.lulu.com/browse/search.php?fListingClass=0&fSearch=Bill+Knott
Mary Jo Malo
--
http://thisshiningwound.blogspot.com/http://apophisdeconstructingabsurdity.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

154. Russ Golata
sadly Jeanne Leiby is gone at 46
Thu 21 Apr 2011

—

↑ Index

155. Joel Weishaus
Poetica Critique of Don McKay's "Strike/Slip"
Thu 21 Apr 2011

Dear Friends and Colleagues;

This Poetica critique is of Canadian poet Don McKay's "Strike/Slip."
http://www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/Poetica/blog-7.htm

Thank you, as always, for your kind reception of these critiques.

-Joel

Joel Weishaus
Homepage:

http://web.pdx.edu/~pdx00282/
Digital Archive:
www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/index.htm

↑ Index

156. richard owens
Re: Anne Blonstein
Fri 22 Apr 2011

MARIA:

sad news. she was a poet of stunning intelligence.

.....richard owens
10 Ross Road
Scarborough, ME 04074

damn the caesars, the journal
damn the caesars, the blog

--- On Wed, 4/20/11, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:

From: Maria Damon <[redacted]>
Subject: Anne Blonstein
To: [redacted]
Date: Wednesday, April 20, 2011, 9:24 AM

The beautiful poet Anne Blonstein died day-before-yesterday in Basel, Switzerland. Very talented, wonderful work, beautiful person, great loss.

↑ Index

157. carol dorf
Carol Dorf, Jeanne Powell reading Sat April 30, Rebound Books, San Rafael, CA
Fri 22 Apr 2011

HAND TO MOUTH/WORDS SPOKEN OUT #38

The REBOUND BOOKSTORE
1611- 4th Street, San Rafael

Sat., APRIL 30th, 4-6 pm

WITH FOUR POETS
FROM THE WOMEN'S POETRY SALON

CAROL DORF, Poetry Editor of the online 'zine Talking Writing

GRACE GRAFTON, teacher with CA Poets in the Schools

JEANNE POWELL, poet, essayist, and cultural critic at http://jeanne-powell.com

ANDRENA ZAWINSKI, founder of the Women's Poetry Salon and Features Editor at PoetryMagazine.com

Light refreshments and Open Mic
Sign-ups at [redacted]
Or: [redacted]

↑ Index

158. amy king
Twitter spitter -- Academy of Poetry
Fri 22 Apr 2011

I don't really Tweet, but I'm asking questions in the morning (if I can get up) under the Academy of American Poetry twit-feed -- http://twitter.com/#!/POETSorg

Other poets on schedule:

Guest tweeters include:

4/1 D.A. Powell
4/2 Dawn Lundy Martin
4/3 Noelle Kocot
4/4 Richard Siken
4/5 Jennifer Chang
4/6 Joshua Clover
4/7 J. Michael Martinez
4/8 Mark Bibbins
4/9 Jennifer L. Knox
4/10 Randall Mann 4/11 CAConrad
4/12 Ada Limón
4/13 Graham Foust
4/14 Evie Shockley
4/15 Jen Bervin
4/16 Ken Chen
4/17 Sherwin Bitsui
4/18 Noah Eli Gordon
4/19 Ronaldo Wilson
4/20 Nate Pritts 4/21 Danielle Pafunda
4/22 Amy King
4/23 Ching-in Chen
4/24 John Gallaher

4/25 Srikanth Reddy
4/26 Jericho Brown
4/27 Gabrielle Calvocoressi
4/28 Kazim Ali
4/29 Lyrae Van Clief-Stefanon
4/30 Dorothea Lasky

****

VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

159. amy king
Fw: Poets for Living Waters
Fri 22 Apr 2011

Please find work atPoets for Living Waters gathered for you in

Please find work atPoets for Living Waters gathered for you in recognition that a year has passed since the BP oil disaster in the Gulf of Mexico.

http://poetsgulfcoast.wordpress.com/

FEATURED POEMS
* EXCERPT from MANATEE/HUMANITY by Anne Waldman
* TWO POEMS by Jonathan Skinner
* TWO POEMS by Sarah Browning
* THREE POEMS by Janet Holmes
* AUTUMN BEACH by Scott Sweeney
* TWO POEMS by and INTERVIEW with Michael Rothenberg
* THREE POEMS by Sandra Simonds

Heidi

↑ Index

160. Louis Armand
Prague Microfestival 14-18 May
Fri 22 Apr 2011

VLAK magazine and Psí Víno, in co-operation with Versal Magazine and VEER Books, invite you to the 3rd Prague Microfestival, 14-18 May, 2011. Venue: Krásný Ztráty, Náprstkova 10, Praha 1, Staré Mìsto (www.krasnyztraty.cz)

==========
PROGRAMME <http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=150808851648800>
==========
*Saturday 14 May, 6.00pm, Krásný ztráty
Discussion: "Poetics & Translocality"
*Saturday 14 May, 8.00pm, Krásný ztráty
Reading: Carla Harryman, Keston Sutherland, Barrett Watten, Lenka Daòhelová, Alistair Noon [CZ/EN]

*Sunday 15 May, 6.00pm, Krásný ztráty
Launch event: VLAK 2
Reading: Ondøej Buddeus, Jane Lewty, Adam Borziè, Joshua Mensch, Carla Harryman, Stephan Delbos, Jeroen Nieuwland, Kasia Bazarnik, Zenon Fejfer, Megan M. Garr, Michal ©anda, David Vichnar [CZ/EN]

*Monday 16 May, 6.00pm, Krásný ztráty
Reading: Donna Stonecipher, Sean Bonney, Aodan McCardle, Stephen Mooney, Ulli Freer, Jan Tìsnohlídek [CZ/EN]
Launch event: Maurice Scully, Gilbert Adair (Veer books).

*Tuesday 17 May, 6.00pm, Krásný ztráty
Reading: Sylva Fischerová, Dagmar Pokorná, Megan M. Garr, Martin Skýpala, Jane Lewty [CZ/EN]
Launch event: Versal 9 (Versal Magazine)

*Wednesday 18 May, 6.00pm, Krásný ztráty Reading: Catherine Hales, Josef Straka, Laura Conway, Louis Armand, Karla Kelsey [CZ/EN] Launch event: David Vichnar, Thresholds: Essays on the International Prague Poetry Scene (LPB); Louis Armand, Letters from Ausland (Czech translation; Psi Vino); and Stephan Delbos, From a Terrace in Prague: A Prague Poetry Anthology (Litteraria Pragensia Books)

[CZ/EN] = All events are in both English and Czech.
*Free entry

==========

Supported by the Department of Foreign Affairs, Ireland, the Centre for Critical & Cultural Theory, and Centre for Irish Studies, Charles University.
==========

www.vlakmagazine.com

www.litterariapragensia.com

issuu.com/litteraria

↑ Index

161. Ruth Lepson

Re: Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing

Fri 22 Apr 2011

---

thanks for saving this & sending it, Obododimma.

On 4/19/11 4:50 AM, "Obododimma Oha" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Hi Jane!
> Here a link to one instance (entitled "Virtual Venice") in which > several poets collaborated, using Skype as a platform:
> http://obododimma.livejournal.com/#entry_6266
>
> Best regards.
> Obododimma.
>
> On 4/15/11, Jane Nakagawa <[redacted]> wrote:
> hi everybodyI'm in search of articles that describe how poets collaborated
> with other poets on poems (poems written by two or more poets) -- preferably > articles that can be shared electronically.
> if possible send URL etc. to janenakagawa at yahoo dot com
> all bestJane Joritz-Nakagawa, in central Japan
>
> Jane Joritz-Nakagawa's fifth book of poems, "incidental music", is out with BlazeVOX
> (http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/incidental-music-by-jane-joritz-nakagawa-113/),
> and on sale at Amazon.com (USA). Her sixth poetry book, "notational", is > forthcoming in 2011 with Otoliths (http://the-otolith.blogspot.com/).

↑ Index

162. Patrick Durgin

Three New Books: Pamela Lu, Tan Lin, and Jesse Seldess

Fri 22 Apr 2011

Kenning Editions is pleased to announce the publication of three new titles: LEFT HAVING by Jesse Seldess, AMBIENT PARKING LOT by Pamela Lu, and INSOMNIA AND THE AUNT by Tan Lin.

LEFT HAVING

Brian Massumi once wrote that the conscious narration of affective states is subtractive, a retrospective reduction of underlying bodily complexity made to fit requirements of continuity and linear causality. Sliding away from the "continuities" of foreclosed presents and enfolded pasts, Jesse Seldess' Left Having might be read as a non-subtractive exploration of the virtual remainders of such narrations (of historical trauma, of the time of events, of a person now present in a city or a room…). Seldess resituates us "Beyond the scattered signaling" of history – in pulse rates that flow through and across their own fractures and stalls – so we can hear the "Distance just now reaching us*.*" These signalings (with gracefully decaying half tones in them) evoke both the familiarity and strangeness of durational life. As in the epigraph to the book taken from Alvin Lucier's famous work (in which he records his own "disfluent" speech, playing it back into the room and re-recording it repeatedly), what can finally be heard in Seldess' writing are the resonant frequencies of the architecture itself. That architecture's "End" (of which Seldess has also produced a video with artist Leonie Weber) is always ending but never done, because it turns back into itself (through us) toward something…else.–Laura Elrick

One sees lines coming into being going out of existence. Taken that way, the words turning toward lines, seeing them become one another as they differ among themselves and dissipate into words and as spaces, this reader virtually floats and within this active resting state practices an incredible intimacy with the unknown in communication and in sharing an imminent sensate awareness with its language. Jesse Seldess's work performs this book, honoring and taking full advantage of its occasion to replace any knowing with the certainty of a relentlessly generous nature. I will never get to the bottom of it, and this work demonstrates what a pleasure and what an honest reckoning that can be.–Steve Benson

Left Having is a virtuoso performance of contending forces: subject and object, I and you, the will behind utterance and the will of utterance itself. In these deftly musical poems, language (object) turns into subject, always escaping the speaker's will. Seldess takes us on a highly pleasurable journey into the materiality of semes, but behind the pleasure lies an urgency: how a hair's-breadth difference between two words can translate to chasms of difference in meaning. What if the word were liable, what if it were reliable? The slipperiness of the signifier in Seldess's inquiry into the conditional questions the very routes that events take to unfold. The brilliant final section is an investigation into the intersection of deixis and time, the certainty implied by pointing thwarted constantly by the delay in finding the word—the act of writing's inherent deixis questioned, challenged. In *Left

Having*, Jesse Seldess has given us a magnificent meditation on utterance itself.–Donna Stonecipher

$14.95 from Small Press Distribution<http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9780976736486/left-having.aspx>, or enjoy a discount by subscribing to Kenning Editions. The new <http://www.kenningeditions.com/images/Sub11.pdf>direct mail subscription<http://www.kenningeditions.com/images/sub11.pdf>offer allows you to choose any three titles, with free domestic shipping, at a substantial discount. The book can also be purchased directly from the press, via 2co <https://www.2checkout.com/2co/buyer/orderpage?sid=1266894>, using your credit card.

Jesse Seldess is the author of LEFT HAVING (Kenning Editions, 2011) WHO OPENS (Kenning Editions, 2006), and numerous chapbooks. He lives and works in New York, where he edits and publishes the acclaimed international journal of writing and music Antennae.

ISBN: 9780976736486 / Binding: PAPERBACK / Price: $14.95 / Pages: 112

www.kenningeditions.com
www.spdbooks.org

AMBIENT PARKING LOT

Part fiction, part earnest mockumentary, Ambient Parking Lot follows a band of musicians as they wander the parking structures of urban downtown and greater suburbia in quest of the ultimate ambient noise, one that promises to embody their historical moment and deliver them up to the heights of their self-important artistry. Along the way, they make sporadic forays into lyric while contending with doubts, delusions, miscalculations, mutinies, and minor triumphs. This saga peers into the wreckage of a post 9/11 landscape and embraces the comedy and poignancy of failed utopia.

$14.95 from Small Press Distribution<http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9780976736431/ambient-parking-lot.aspx?rf=1>, or enjoy a discount by subscribing to Kenning Editions. The new <http://www.kenningeditions.com/images/Sub11.pdf>direct mail subscription<http://www.kenningeditions.com/images/sub11.pdf>offer allows you to choose any three titles, with free domestic shipping, at a substantial discount. You can subscribe by credit card<https://www.2checkout.com/2co/buyer/orderpage?sid=1266894>to receive The Kenning Anthology of Poets Theater and Ambient Parking Lot for a steep discount, too. If you prefer, Amazon should have it in stock. We encourage you to support you local, independent bookseller with a purchase, and to request your local public and academic libraries acquire a copy themselves!

Portions of* Ambient Parking Lot* were previously published in Chicago Review and Harper's. She is also the author of Pamela: A Novel and The Private Listener, a chapbook from Corollary Press. *Pamela: A Novel *is on the decade's bestsellers list from Small Press Distribution, and has been taught in a number of literature and creative writing classes. Her writing also appears in the anthologies Bay Poetics and Biting the Error, and has been published in periodicals such as 1913, Antennae, Call, *Chain *, and Fascicle. She lives and works in the San Francisco Bay Area.

On Pamela Lu's previous novel—"Pamela: A Novel is one of the finest books to emerge from the ardent, experimental writing scene in the Bay Area . . . Lu builds a social space and founds a society."—The Stranger "Reading the word 'I' in this novel becomes a mystical experience—an invitation to connect to the 'I' in all of us . . . This is a work of 'precision,' as Robert Musil would say, 'in matters of the soul.' It extends the novel's capacity to think."—Rain Taxi Review of Books "Lu, in her debut, . . . [creates] a precise and humorous elegy to the self, and to its self-subversions . . . This is a book of extraordinary philosophical subtlety and clarity, one that manages to tell a beautiful story in spite of itself."—Publishers Weekly

ISBN: 9780976736431 binding: PAPERBACK 200pp.

www.kenningeditions.com
www.spdbooks.org

INSOMNIA AND THE AUNT (available from May 15th, pre-orders accepted and shipped immediately from www.kenningeditions.com)

Tan Lin's Insomnia and the Aunt is an ambient novel composed of black and white photographs, postcards, Google reverse searches, letters, appendices, an index to an imaginary novel, re-runs and footnotes. The aunt in question can't sleep. She runs a motel in the Pacific Northwest. She likes watching Conan O'Brien late at night. She may be the narrator's aunt or she may be an emanation of a TV set. Structured like everybody's scrapbook, and blending fiction with non-fictional events, Insomnia and the Aunt is about identities taken and given up, and about the passions of an immigrant life, rebroadcast as furniture. Ostensibly about a young man's disintegrating memory of his most fascinating relative, or potentially a conceptualist take on immigrant literature, it is probably just a treatment for a prime-time event that, because no one sleeps in motels, lasts into the late night and daytime slots. Letterpressed covers, handmade chapbook, profusely illustrated / ISBN: 978-0-9767364-7-9 / $10.00 /

Tan Lin is the author of Lotion Bullwhip Giraffe, BlipSoak01, Ambience is a Novel with a Logo, Heath (Plagiarism/Outsource) and 7 Controlled Vocabularies and Obituary 2004. The Joy of Cooking. His work has appeared in numerous journals including Conjunctions, Artforum, Cabinet, New York Times Book Review, Art in America, and Purple. His video, theatrical and LCD work have been shown at the Marianne Boesky Gallery, Yale Art Museum, Sophienholm Museum (Copenhagen), Ontological Hysterical Theatre, and as part of the Whitney Museum of American Art's Soundcheck Series. Lin is the recipient of a Getty Distinguished Scholar Grant for 2004-2005 and a Warhol Foundation/Creative Capital Arts Writing Grant to complete a book-length study of the writings of Andy Warhol. He has taught at the University of Virginia and Cal Arts, and currently teaches creative writing at New Jersey City University.

↑ Index

163. Richard Newman

April 24th Literary Salon with Mario Susko has been canceled

Fri 22 Apr 2011

--==_Boundary-1_==

--==_Boundary-1_==--

↑ Index

164. Jeffrey Side

Re: Anne Blonstein

Fri 22 Apr 2011

I'm saddened to hear this. She was very supportive of The Argotist Online when it first started. She will be much missed.

↑ Index

165. amy king

On this Good Friday, Poets of Tennesse -- You can't use your words anymore.

Fri 22 Apr 2011

You can't use your words anymore -- http://unicornbooty.com/2011/04/tn-senate-passes-dont-say-gay-bill/

Sincerely,

1984

****
VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

166. Aldon Nielsen
New Reading on Penn Sound
Fri 22 Apr 2011

The good folks over at Penn Sound have now posted the group poetry reading at Alan Golding's house following this years Louisville Conference on Literature and Culture after 1900.

http://writing.upenn.edu/pennsound/x/Heatstrings-Golding.php

<http://writing.upenn.edu/pennsound/x/Heatstrings-Golding.php>
--
Aldon L. Nielsen
Kelly Professor of American Literature
Department of English
117 Burrowes Building
The Pennsylvania State University
University Park, PA
16802-6200

[redacted]

sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

"I had the opportunity to read several good books, from which it is always possible to find oneself all the others, or even to write those that are still lacking." -- Guy Debord

↑ Index

167. Bill Berkson
Berkson & Swensen at the Corcoran May 13
Fri 22 Apr 2011

Bill Berkson & Cole Swensen Reading their Poems
May 13, 2011,7:30 p.m.
Armand Hammer Auditorium (New York Avenue entrance)
Corcoran Gallery of Art and College of Art + Design

500 17th St. NW, Washington DC
Graduating students from the Corcoran will read from 6 to 7
Reception from 7 to 7:30 p.m.
Admission FreeEveryone Welcome
Questions: [redacted]

Note: On the previous evening, May 12, 6:30 pm,
Bill Berkson will give a lecture
³The Story Goes: Philip Guston, Piero della Francesca & their Followers² at The Phillips Collection, 1600 21st Street, NW, Washington, DC

↑ Index

168. Adam Fieled

"The Scrounge" Scrounges on: 7 links

Fri 22 Apr 2011

These are seven more additions to "The Scrounge":

"Pamela's Response to Dr. M":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-pamelas-response-to-dr-m.html

"To the Bridge":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-to-bridge.html

"Karen's Obsession":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-karens-obsession.html

"Karen on Pam":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-karen-on-pam.html

"Seth ties on one, alone":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-seth-ties-one-on-alone.html

"Why Karen blames Pazuzu":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-why-karen-blames-pazuzu.html

"Stevie leaves the fountain":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-stevie-leaves-fountain.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

169. michael farrell

Re: Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing

Fri 22 Apr 2011

jacket 2 (thats issue 2 of jacket 1) has a feature on ern malley

d lehman intro has some detail on the collaboration involved

http://jacketmagazine.com/17/ern-dl.html

(for more detail see heyward 'bio' - 'the ern malley affair'

mf

> Date: Fri, 22 Apr 2011 09:52:35 -0400
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing
> To: [redacted]
>
> thanks for saving this & sending it, Obododimma.
>
> On 4/19/11 4:50 AM, "Obododimma Oha" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Hi Jane!
> Here a link to one instance (entitled "Virtual Venice") in which > several poets collaborated, using Skype as a platform:
> http://obododimma.livejournal.com/#entry_6266
>
> Best regards.
> Obododimma.
>
> On 4/15/11, Jane Nakagawa <[redacted]> wrote:
> hi everybodyI'm in search of articles that describe how poets collaborated
> with other poets on poems (poems written by two or more poets) -- preferably > articles that can be shared electronically.
> if possible send URL etc. to janenakagawa at yahoo dot com
> all bestJane Joritz-Nakagawa, in central Japan
>
> Jane Joritz-Nakagawa's fifth book of poems, "incidental music", is out with
> BlazeVOX
> (http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/incidental-music-by-jane-joritz-nakagawa-113/),
> and on sale at Amazon.com (USA). Her sixth poetry book, "notational", is > forthcoming in 2011 with Otoliths (http://the-otolith.blogspot.com/).

↑ Index

170. David Baratier
Re: Anne Blonstein
Sat 23 Apr 2011

Sorry to hear about Anne--her work was sparse, crafted, an "economy of words" but still moving, contained bursts of emotion.

By memory, she was one of maybe five writers we published in the journal more than once, Stroffolino, Tyrone Williams, Sheila Murphy, Julie Otten, Adrianne Kalfopoulou-- never published a collection, too many on the plate when hers came in.

Be well

David Baratier, Editor

Pavement Saw Press
321 Empire Street
Montpelier OH 43543
http://pavementsaw.org

Subscribe to our e-mail listserv at http://pavementsaw.org/list/?p=subscribe&id=1

Facebook Page
http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=25857379734&ref=t

↑ Index

171. Obododimma Oha
Re: Seek articles describing process of collaborative poetry writing
Sat 23 Apr 2011

Thanks, Ruth.
Regards,
Obododimma.

On 4/22/11, Ruth Lepson <[redacted]> wrote:
> thanks for saving this & sending it, Obododimma.
>
>

> On 4/19/11 4:50 AM, "Obododimma Oha" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
>> Hi Jane!
>> Here a link to one instance (entitled "Virtual Venice") in which >> several poets collaborated, using Skype as a platform:
>> http://obododimma.livejournal.com/#entry_6266
>>
>> Best regards.
>> Obododimma.
>>
>> On 4/15/11, Jane Nakagawa <[redacted]> wrote:
>>> hi everybodyI'm in search of articles that describe how poets >>> collaborated >>> with other poets on poems (poems written by two or more poets) -- >>> preferably
>>> articles that can be shared electronically.
>>> if possible send URL etc. to janenakagawa at yahoo dot com
>>> all bestJane Joritz-Nakagawa, in central Japan
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>> Jane Joritz-Nakagawa's fifth book of poems, "incidental music", is out >>> with
>>> BlazeVOX
>>> (http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/incidental-music-by-janejorit
>>> z-nakagawa-113/), >>> and on sale at Amazon.com (USA). Her sixth poetry book, "notational", is >>> forthcoming in 2011 with Otoliths (http://the-otolith.blogspot.com/).
>>>
>>>
>>> guidelines
>>>
>>
>
>

--
Obododimma Oha
http://udude.wordpress.com/

(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)
Dept. of English

University of Ibadan
Nigeria

&

Fellow, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies
University of Ibadan

Phone: [redacted];
[redacted];
[redacted].

↑ Index

172. Anny Ballardini

A new update for the Poets' Corner

Sat 23 Apr 2011

Dear All,

The present update is in the Memory of My Father and dedicated to those who have suffered _because of greed, with a particular Thank You to Berty Skuber for her wonderful Golden Fall<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3566>for my father and to those who have had kind words in this moment of grief.

To the contributors, my very special acknowledgment.

* *

New Authors on the Corner:

* *

Adriano Kestenholz

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=383 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=383> **

* *

* *

Lori Desrosiers

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=384 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=384> **

* *

* *

Donna Kuhn

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=385 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=385> **

* *

* *

Barbara Ellen Sorensen

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=386 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=386> **

* *

* *

Martha Deed

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=387 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=387>

* *

* *

Dawn Leslie Lenz

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=388 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=388> **

* *

Amy Kohut

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=389

*<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=389>

* *

Jane Sprague

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=390
*<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=390> **

* *

Pam Bernard

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=391
*<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=391> **

* *

Lunn Domina

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=392
*<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=392> **

* *

Ernesto Priego

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=394
*<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=394>

* *

Marc Olmsted

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=395
*<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=395>

* *

Paul Nelson

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=396 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=396> **

* *

Kathy Figueroa

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=397 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=397> **

* *

Karen Margolis

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=398 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=398> **

* *

Basil King

* http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=399 *<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=Content&pa=list_pages_categories&cid=399> **

* *

* *

* *

New Poems by already featured Authors:

* *

Elizabeth Smither

Amy brings the thesaurus<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3479>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3479

Edward Mycue

DYING LET IT GO <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3481>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3481

GARDENING WITH FIVE SISTERS<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3519>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3519

EVERYDAY BANE AND PROMISE <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3520>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3520

A DEMOCRACY OF ONE<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3530>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3530

FISHBOWL <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3593>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3593

HE WANTED TO BE LOVED FOR HIMSELF <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3594>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3594

DON’T BE LIKE THE SNAKE <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3595>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3595

* *

* *

Jerry McGuire

NOT-LAUGHING GAS<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3483>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3483

THE TREMORS <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3484>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3484

THE HUEY LONG TRANSPORT CENTER AND VALENTINE EQUIPMENT REPAIR STAGING AREA<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3485>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3485

MY HULA GIRL <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3486>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3486

RUMMAGE SALE <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3487>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3487

A PLEASURE TO KNOW<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3488>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3488

“NATURE ABHORS THE SUPERFLUOUS”<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3489>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3489

MORTON FELDMAN’S ROTHKO CHAPEL<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3490>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3490

* *

* *

Frank Parker

Chorus Through My Veins<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3497>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3497

Letters from Tucson<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3498>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3498

O My Words <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3499>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3499

Greek Lyrics <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3500>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3500

But First I Need A Kiss<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3501>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3501

awoke with my socks on<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3502>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3502

“Down on the corner, just about supper time…”<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3503>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3503

Moon Flowers Sky<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3504>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3504

Language <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3505>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3505

Song <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3506>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3506

Mirror in a Garden<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3507>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3507

December Dyad: <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3590>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3590

Eastern Sounds <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3591>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3591

old time religion<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3680>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3680

* *

Lars Palm

whichever it was it still<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3508>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3508

(passenger list for doomed flight 1721)<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3509>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3509

grinning like an under<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3510>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3510

this displeased baby some<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3511>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3511

(swinging with ana)<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3512>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3512

(rob tomorrow) <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3513>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3513

(london 24:x:10)<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3514>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3514

* *

Jesse Glass

Epigram <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3515>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3515

On First Looking Into Chapman's Homer<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3516>
http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3516

On A Reading of Local Poets<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3557>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3557

Some Thoughts on Stephen Hawking<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3574>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3574

* *

Sheila Murphy

Theory Apart from Practice<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3521>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3521

* *

James Cervantes

Mimic <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3522>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3522

Allen Bramhall

The Cost Leaves and Snow<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3523>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3523<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3523>

* *

Max Richards

Spring to Summer<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3529>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3529

Mountain Ash <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3553>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3553

Halvard Johnson

Paranoja <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3536>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3536

Berty Skuber

Berty's table in Venice<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3542>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3542

Golden Fall for Vitale Ballardini<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3566>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3566

Alan Sondheim

there is no room at the inn<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3543>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3543

Amy King translated by Anny Ballardini

Istinto Necessario<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3541>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3541

Sharon Brogan

04 january 2011 <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3554>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3554

You follow this arrow<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3570>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3570

Jill Jones

Recoveries <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3555>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3555

Alexander Jorgensen & Yves Sauriol<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3556>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3556

Berry Alpert

STRAUB/HUILLET AT WORK ON KAFKA'S AMERIKA [via Harun Farocki]<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3568>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3568

STRAUB/HUILLET AT WORK ON VITTORINI'S SICILIA! [via Pedro Costa]<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3571>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3571

STRAUB/HUILLET'S LAUNDRY BREAK WHILE AT WORK ON SICILIA! [via Pedro Costa's
6 BAGATELAS & for Daniele Huillet]<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3617>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3617

CHARLES BURNETT TALKED & ANSWERED QUESTIONS (modestly) <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3618>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3618

DECHAINEES [via Raymond Vouillamoz & Stephane Mitchell]<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3619>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3619

A LETTER TO UNCLE BOONMEE & HIS RESPONSE [via Apichatpong Weerasethakul]<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3620>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3620

John Bennet

mytoothsmoke <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3569>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3569

Charles Martin

CRYSTAL SILENCE <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3572>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3572

Abundant Moon <http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3592>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3592

Eugen Galasso

Poesiole e un raccontino<http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3575>

http://www.fieralingue.it/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=3575

Under Reviews:

Lidia Vianu

Interview with Lidia Vianu<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules/poemreviews/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=268>(by Anny Ballardini)

http://www.fieralingue.it/modules/poemreviews/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=268

And 3 by Eugen Galasso:

Gertrud Isolani e il lascito ebraico di Eugen Galasso<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules/poemreviews/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=269>

http://www.fieralingue.it/modules/poemreviews/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=269

Alexandre Dumas di Eugen Galasso<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules/poemreviews/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=270>

http://www.fieralingue.it/modules/poemreviews/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=270

Maurice Leblanc di Eugen Galasso<http://www.fieralingue.it/modules/poemreviews/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=271>

http://www.fieralingue.it/modules/poemreviews/corner.php?pa=printpage&pid=271

My best wishes,

Anny Ballardini

--
Anny Ballardini
http://annyballardini.blogspot.com/
http://www.fieralingue.it/modules.php?name=poetshome
http://www.lulu.com/content/5806078
http://www.moriapoetry.com/ebooks.html
I Tell You: One must still have chaos in one to give birth to a dancing star!
Friedrich Nietzsche

« Stulta est clementia, cum tot ubique vatibus occurras, periturae parcere chartae »
Giovenale

↑ Index

173. Kimmelman, Burt

Panelist Needed for AWP: Writers Using Actual Letters to Inspire Creative Projects

Sat 23 Apr 2011

Hi Everyone,

I'm posting the below call for a speaker at the upcoming AWP, in behalf of my wife Diane Simmons (multiple award-winning fiction writer, and former scholar). Diane can be reached at [redacted].

Thanks,

Burt

Hello writer friends,

With another writer, I am trying to organize a panel for the Associated Writing Programs (AWP) conference next winter in Chicago and I'm wondering if you might know anyone who would be interested in joining us.

The panel would be made up of writers using actual letters to inspire creative projects--fiction, memoir, non-fiction, poetry, or something else. Since I have several fiction and non-fiction writers, I would like to add a poet.

We are looking for writers with some publishing track record, but the letters project could be in progress.

My own work uses World War II letters and letters from the 50s and 60s for a memoir/reported non-fiction project having to do, in part, with women in war work. My co-organizer is drawing upon letters written by members of the French Resistance to inspire a short story collection. Others we are considering are using letters from the 1960s.

If you know anyone who might be interested, I would love to hear from them or you.

Diane
([redacted])

↑ Index

174. Maria Damon
POETS of the UNREELED II: OUTDOOR MOVIETELLING + 3 EXHIBITIONS at the DORSCH GALLERY
Sat 23 Apr 2011

POETS of the UNREELED II: OUTDOOR MOVIETELLING + 3 EXHIBITIONS at the DORSCH GALLERY

WHEN: 7:30-9:30 pm, April 24. Yard gate opens at 7:30, screenings / performances begin at 8:00.

WHERE: 151 NW 24th Street, Miami, in the Wynwood Art District. For directions, go to http://dorschgallery.com/about/.

FOR MORE INFO ABOUT THE SHOW: http://dorschgallery.com/exhibition/146/.

As part of the O, Miami Poetry Festival, eight Miami and California poets perform their own wild scripts for excerpts from famous films, TV episodes, and music videos projected from a Batmobile in the Dorsch's dark and dangerous yard. Drawing on the little-known history of live voice-acting and narration of films by poets all around the world (the katsuben stars of Japan, anticolonial pyônsa of Korea, Weimar-Germany Kinoehrzähler, etc.), these works move CinePoesis in many surprising and wonderful directions.

PRESENTING: Matt Gajewski, Walter K. Lew, Jen Nellis, Alan Ramón Clinton, Vince Caruso, Leah Silvieus, Chris Joyner (with Christina Frigo), Christine Williamson.

With electronic musical accompaniment by Eden Grey and clips from archival katsuben and pyonsa performances. A shadoWord Production, curated by WKL.

Visitors will also be able to view the Dorsch's current exhibitions: Jenny Brillhart's "Material," Brookhart Jonquil's "Never Odd or Even," and Paul Myoda's "Glittering Machines." For more on the exhibitions, please go to http://dorschgallery.com/current/.

Admission is free. All are welcome! Please forward this to folks who might be interested.

Walter K. Lew
Dept. of English
University of Miami
P.O. Box 248145
Coral Gables, FL 33124
<[redacted]>

↑ Index

175. Jonathan Morse
Clean pictures, dirty words
Sun 24 Apr 2011

At

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p,

I write about the poetics of the phrase "cleanse and detoxify" with the help of the poet Gottfried Benn and his painter antagonist, Wolfgang Willrich.

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

176. Al Filreis
Marjorie Perloff - live video stream - Monday & Tuesday
Sun 24 Apr 2011

Dear friends:

Two programs featuring Marjorie Perloff at the Kelly Writers House will be available through live video stream:

1) Monday, April 25, 6:30 PM (eastern time) - a talk
2) Tuesday, April 26, 10:30 AM (eastern time) - an interview/ discussion moderated by me

Both events will begin precisely on time.

Go to KWH-TV here: http://writing.upenn.edu/wh/multimedia/tv/

We wish once again to thank Paul Kelly for a generous ongoing grant that makes the Kelly Writers House Fellows Program possible.

- Al Filreis

Al Filreis
Kelly Professor
Faculty Dir., Kelly Writers House
Dir., Center for Programs in Contemporary Writing
Co-Director, PennSound
Publisher, Jacket2
University of Pennsylvania

↑ Index

177. Adam Parrish

Hello word! Final performance for Reading and Writing Electronic Text

Sun 24 Apr 2011

Hi everyone! Here's some information about the final performance for a class I teach at NYU's Interactive Telecommunication Program. Thought it might be of interest to readers of the list. -a

---

Hello Word!
An evening of poetry, performance, and experimental text design from NYU/ITP’s Reading and Writing Electronic Text

Friday, May 6th 2011
7pm
721 Broadway, New York, NY
Ground floor (Common room)
FREE

Over the course of Spring semester, sixteen NYU students have engaged in intense electro-textual experiments: composing, mangling, generating and remixing electronic text using the Python programming language. For one night only, these students will gather to present and perform their experiments to the general public.

Some examples of projects that may make an appearance at the event: movie dialogue remixed in real time; dynamic newspaper blackout poetry; an endless exquisite corpse from Twitter search results; infinite generative creation myths; and much more.

Reading and Writing Electronic Text is a course offered at NYU's Interactive Telecommunication Program. (http://itp.nyu.edu/itp/). The course is an introduction to both the Python programming language and contemporary techniques in electronic literature. See the syllabus and examples of student work here: http://rwet.decontextualize.com/ More information online here: http://bit.ly/ghIunh

↑ Index

178. Loss Pequeño Glazier

E-Poetry 2011 May 18-21 Buffalo! (LAST CALL Early Reg for Poetics List)

Sun 24 Apr 2011

Promises to be one of the great poetry festivals!

E-POETRY 2011 BUFFALO
http://epc.buffalo.edu/e-poetry/2011/

The tenth anniversary festival of E-Poetry 2011 is set to launch a new epoch in digital literature. E-Poetry, at its inception, may have been first to map this field. E-Poetry has been here since the beginning and has set out to organize this festival as a culmination of the first ten years and as a model for future years -- advancing the conversation of the digital into the engaged scene of creative and scholarly activity that the field promises.

FEATURING about 100 poets, artists, media practitioners from 40 countries. Evening events and special presentations by Bernstein, La Barbara, Tony Conrad, Full Digital Poetry & Dance Performance, Ten Year Retrospective gallery exhibition, Curated program of E-Poetry Screenings, Lawrence Upton and John Drever, Memmott, Cayley, Rosenberg, Brazilian Digital Poetry performances, Reina Maria Rodriguez, Argentina, Cuba, Spain, Mexico, Italy, France, Malaysia, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, Norway, Sweden, Canada, and more -- talks, panels, performances, art, installations, scholarship, gala events. A celebration of language, poetics, media in their present means.

Buffalo in May!

Program-in-Progress
http://epc.buffalo.edu/e-poetry/2011/register.html

For Attendees: LAST CALL Early Registration for subscribers to the Poetics List - only for a short time more!
http://epc.buffalo.edu/e-poetry/2011/register.html

[Please forward!]

--
Dr. Loss Pequeño Glazier
Director, Electronic Poetry Center (http://epc.buffalo.edu)
President& Artistic Director, E-Poetry Festivals
Professor, Dept. of Media Study - 231 CFA
University at Buffalo
Buffalo, New York 14260

↑ Index

179. steve dalachinsky

Readings steve dalachinsky - yuko otomo

Sun 24 Apr 2011

---

yuko and i will be reading at cornelia st cafe 6 pm on may 6th - open reading as well

- also i will read at soto velez center (suffolk and rivington) may 23 with french cellist didier petit, french poet alex pierrepont and cellist daniel levin - i'll also read june 13 at 7 pm at soto velez with the great bassist joelle leandre

↑ Index

180. Adam Fieled

"The Scrounge": five new links

Sun 24 Apr 2011

"Seth's
These are the continution of the verse-drama "The Scrounge":

"Seth's Lecture to Pam":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-seths-lecture-to-pam.html

"Stevie likes science":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-stevie-likes-science.html

"In which Karen meets Stevie":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-in-which-karen-meets.html

"The boner has popped":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-boner-has-popped.html

"Requiem for a Dream":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-requiem-for-dream.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

181. Edgar Garcia

Re: Marjorie Perloff - live video stream - Monday & Tuesday

Sun 24 Apr 2011

---

don't know if you all are into marjorie perloff - but this is happening tomorrow

On Sun, Apr 24, 2011 at 10:29 AM, Al Filreis <[redacted]>wrote:

> Dear friends:
>
> Two programs featuring Marjorie Perloff at the Kelly Writers House will be available through live video stream:
>
> 1) Monday, April 25, 6:30 PM (eastern time) - a talk
> 2) Tuesday, April 26, 10:30 AM (eastern time) - an interview/discussion moderated by me
>
> Both events will begin precisely on time.
>
> Go to KWH-TV here: http://writing.upenn.edu/wh/multimedia/tv/
>
> We wish once again to thank Paul Kelly for a generous ongoing grant that makes the Kelly Writers House Fellows Program possible.
>
> - Al Filreis
>
> Al Filreis
> Kelly Professor
> Faculty Dir., Kelly Writers House
> Dir., Center for Programs in Contemporary Writing
> Co-Director, PennSound

Publisher, Jacket2
University of Pennsylvania

↑ Index

182. Michael
BIG BRIDGE 15 IS READY!
Mon 25 Apr 2011

BIG BRIDGE 15 IS READY!

http://www.bigbridge.org

HERE'S WHAT YOU'LL FIND:

The previously unpublished selected correspondence of Stan Brakhage and Michael McClure, edited by Christopher Luna, which covers twenty years in the relationship of two of the most compelling and legendary artists of the post-war period in American culture. Stan Brakhage and Michael McClure met in San Francisco in 1954, and for several decades maintained an impassioned correspondence that touched on subjects including art, poetry, and film, as well as the peculiar difficulty of being an artist in society. The correspondence features accounts of their contact with artists including Allen Ginsberg, Richard Brautigan, Charles Olson, Robert Creeley, Bobbie Louise Hawkins, David Meltzer, Robert Duncan, John Cage, Morton Subotnick, Philip Whalen, Kenneth Anger, Jonas Mekas, Andy Warhol and others.

"Divigations, A Work in Progress" a feature poetry chapbook by Jerome Rothenberg with illustrations by Nancy Victoria Davis.

Brian Unger's essential selection from Philip Whalen's "Kyoto Notebooks."

This issue of Big Bridge is big on translations:

Terri Carrion and FR Lavandeira's Tri-lingual Anthology of Galician Poetry and Prose.

A suite of translations from Nakahara Chuya, with a concluding poem in tribute Translations from Japanese by Jerome Rothenberg & Yasuhiro Yotsumoto.

Translations of Chan Poems from the manuscript of a book A Full Load of Moonlight of Chinese Chan (Zen) Buddhist poetry translated by Mary M.Y. Fung and David Lunde.

Rimbaud, Ten Poems, translated by Bill Zavatsky. Selections from Turkish poet Seyhan Erozçelik's Rosestrikes and Coffee Grinds, translated by Murat Nemet-Nejat. Translations of Demosthenes Agrafiotis manuscript by John Sakkis.

And Translations of Ahmed Abdel Muti Hijazi by Omnia Amin and Rick London. Hijaz has been a prominent figure in the avant-garde of Arabic poetry for a half century. Also, Rick London and Katherine Silver will offer translation of Martin Adan, one of Peru's most revered twentieth century poets. And Poems by seven (7) Hungarian poets translated by Gabor G Gyukics and Michael Castro, and don't forget the new translations of Rilke from Art Beck!

Two special guest poetry anthologies from Jason Blickstein (David Chirico, Anthony Seidman, Richard Rizzi, James Heller Levinson, Susan McKechnie, Greg Grummer and more) and Jason Braun's "The Big Bridge Fusion Anthology" which reflects various traditions of Beat Poets, Slam Poets, Black Arts Poets and Hip Hop Poets and includes work from Sean Arnold, Wendy Brown-Baez, Margaret Gilbert, MK Stallings, Shane Signorino, Erin Wiles and more.

Also, "Out Looking for Lew: Bioregional Poetics, The Legacy of Lew Welch" by Jerry Martien. And poet-translator Louise Landes Levi writes a memoir review of Annapurna Devi, widely considered to be the greatest living Indian instrumentalist. Levi studied with Devi in the early 70's & is one of the only Westerners to have heard her music, live.

Also, Frank Parker's broadside collection, John Roche's new book Road Ghosts, poetry selections from Pat Nolan, Basil King, Jacob Russell, and excerpts from Murat Nemet-Nejat's new book of poems.

And don't miss Jonathan Kane's anthology of fine art photos from his visionary friends Christopher Perez, Nina Pak, Marcin Gorski, Mosah Morazadeh. Also, collage art from Wayne Atherton and Geri DiGiorno, and fantastic painitngs by Noel Beebee.

We've got great book reviews of great books by great reviewers, it's a list too long to list, and a refreshing selection of featured Little Mags, Cave Wall, Dirty Goat, Nibble, Red Mare and Lilliput.

Check out our updated links page, find some great resources there, online zines, blogs, art resources, etc.

And a Thank You to the fabulous artist Jim Spitzer who has created original paintings on panels for the Big Bridge home page as well as sectional art. And another special Thank You to Jack Krick, webmaster extraordinaire, for making this the best looking Big Bridge issue yet!

BIG BRIDGE 15 IS READY!

http://www.bigbridge.org

Check it out!

Best,

Michael Rothenberg, editor

Big Bridge

www.bigbridge.org

↑ Index

183. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh

Resources - Poetry Videos

Mon 25 Apr 2011

Poetry videos are a new and emerging genre, especially here in Ireland where anything beyond the text is considered taboo!

Taking inspiration from artists like Caterina Daverino, my poetry video channell on youtube features a wise range of poems on all topics, from political satire to retelling of old legends, from cultures as diverse as Europes Romanies, to the Native Americans.

Have a look at http://www.youtube.com/tomasocarthaigh and tell me what you think!

Tomás

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

↑ Index

184. Bill Berkson

Berkson & Swensen at the Corcoran May 13

Mon 25 Apr 2011

Bill Berkson & Cole Swensen Reading their Poems
May 13, 2011,7:30 p.m. Armand Hammer Auditorium (New York Avenue entrance)
Corcoran Gallery of Art and College of Art + Design, 500 17th St. NW, Washington DC
Graduating students from the Corcoran will read from 6 to 7. Reception from 7 to 7:30 p.m.
Admission FreeEveryone Welcome. Questions: [redacted]

Note: On the previous evening, May 12, 6:30 pm, Bill Berkson will give a lecture ³The Story Goes: Philip Guston, Piero della Francesca & their Followers² at The Phillips Collection, 1600 21st Street, NW, Washington, DC

↑ Index

185. steve dalachinsky

IRA COHEN poet/ photographer

Mon 25 Apr 2011

---

passed away today in NY

↑ Index

186. Jim Andrews

The Club (new dbCinema video)

Mon 25 Apr 2011

Here is a video I made using my graphic synthesizer dbCinema. It's called The Club: http://vispo.com/dbcinema/theclub3

The club consists of
* Ronald Reagan
* Brian Mulroney
* Conrad Black
* Patrick Bateman
* Jeffrey Dahmer
* Paul Wolfowitz
* Dick Cheney
* Donald Rumsfeld
* George W. Bush
* Andrew Fastow
* Jeffrey Skilling
* Bernard Ebbers
* Dennis Kozlowski
* Joseph Nacchhio
* Bernie Madoff
* Stephen Harper
* Russell Williams

In The Picture of Dorian Gray by Oscar Wilde, "The portrait serves as a reminder of the effect each act has upon his soul, with each sin displayed as a disfigurement of his form, or through a sign of aging" (Wikipedia). And the changes are cumulative, more or less, over different, successive paintings.

But the transformations of The Club are sometimes not so much "disfigurement of form" as one fiend randomly yet eventually worsting the previous (visually/semiotically), taking possession of attention and recognition, inhabiting the face and growing his own overtop.

What's happening is that two distinct 'brushes' are at work. Each brush has its own image source (local or net-based). Each brush paints in the shape of a circle those are the 'brush strokes'. The circles are of low and slightly variable opacity. The gradient of the mask is radial. So we get inside areas that are empty but surrounded by paint. So the detail of the transformation can be quite subtle. Each brush uses an image for 4 seconds. Then it uses the next image in a set of about 57 images. The other brush is using a subset of this set of pictures, but also starting perhaps at a different point. So the combinatorial oomph is fairly high.

The moral character is multiple, as is the psychopath, the politician, and the CEO. The men in The Club either have a sense of entitlement that is simply criminal, which covers most of the CEO tycoons and politicians, or they are under compulsions as ravening beasts, such as (Ex-Colonel) Russell Williams, Jeffrey Dahmer, and Patrick Bateman of American Psycho--which was directed by Canadian Mary Harron. Or perhaps both or neither (both as in all too conveniently supreme sense of entitlement or feeding ravenously, violently, sexually), something else--there is some variety, here. Cowboy capitalism of Cormac McCarthy's Blood Meridian.

In American Psycho, Patrick Bateman is with the boys at the bar and sees Ronald Reagan on television. Bateman--the necessarily compulsive liar--is in awe of Reagan. "How can he lie like that?" Bateman asks himself, seeing Reagan as beyond Bateman's own murderous reportoire, range and capacity as a purveyor of steaming, dangerous mendacities.

Reagan and Reaganonics played a big part in the economic collapse the USA had been heading toward at least since Ronald Reagan. Deregulation--for the betterment of business men--or so it was thought--and privatization left a situation where government no longer funded enough investigators or, as importantly, as many of the interfacial services between records and financial activity. Much less data to work with when the services are being provided privately.

They could almost think they were entitled to the benefits of what they felt could not be detected, to the nearly invisible paper trails. Vanish in a fog of numbers.

One of the politicans, Brian Mulroney, a previous Canadian Prime Minister, has been embroiled for years in a scandal involving his essentially taking payoffs from a German bussinessman. Mulroney was Reagan's boy.

The criminal CEO's in The Club were, in a sense, the fallout of Reaganomics. Patrick Bateman is in awe of Reagan's ability to set up the rules to benefit the rich and to control the massive scale of lies that he spins his people and the world.

The politicians in The Club are Ronald Reagan, Brian Mulroney, George W. Bush, Dick Cheney, Paul Wolfowitz, Donald Rumsfeld, and Stephen Harper. Their dismantling of so many parts of government and payoffs to their friends, incentives to the rich and diddly squat for the poor portend or continue a battle in North America for anything even somewhat pleasantly resembling democracy.

(Ex colonel) Russell Williams ran the largest military airport in Canada in Canada's armed forces. He was, by all reports, an excellent commander. But he was convicted of first degree murder in the brutal sex slayings of two young women, and photographed himself in the womens' underwear he stole from the houses around his neighbourhood in what looks like over a hundred panty raids. He had so many boxes of undies that he had to burn some of them but still had many boxes left.

His connection with the politicians is that he was in a leadership position. And flew the Queen's plane, yadayada. He walked in the corridors of power. And fit in undetectably well.

The Club attempts to synthesize the concerns of my favorite politicians, bussiness men, and serial killers, and to synthesize them, they themselves, with one another in a streaming of two brushes painting different faces simultaneously.

Militarism and war is a part of the ideological millieu of The Club. The Bush administration supported the idea of war against Iraq via disinformation concerning weapons of mass destruction. Cheney, Wolfowitz and Bush stuck Colin Powell with the task of presenting and defending this disinformation before the U.N. Powell trusted the veracity of the intelligence. He didn't understand they were setting him up in the big lie. They simply needed the world to get out of their way in their ideological committment to regime change in Iraq regardless of international cooperation.

The Bush administration did terrible things to the rule of international law around the world. The idea being that the USA governs alone and supreme, when it wants to. This disdain for international law by the national entity mirrors the disdain of the criminal for law in civil society. At the extreme end is the psychopath who proceeds mercilessly to dominate, punish, torture, humiliate and destroy those whom it is convenient and pleasant to persecute for fun and profit. When two nations are at war, that's basically how one group treats the other.

This is the link between the politicians in The Club and the psychopaths.

The Club is not only about these individuals but the mentalities they share that are at play in the broader cultures of the USA and Canada.

ja
http://vispo.com

↑ Index

187. Jennifer Karmin
April 29: Dollhouse Reading Series in Chicago
Mon 25 Apr 2011

The Dollhouse Reading Series presents

Jennifer Karmin
Stephen Danos
Steve Roggenbuck

FRIDAY, APRIL 29th
Doors 8pm / Reading 9pm
1850 W. Belle Plaine Ave, #3
Chicago, Illinois
curated by Dolly Lemke

Instructions:

1. Bring people.

2. Bring 2-3 books to swap.

3. I live here so be nice.

4. BYOB.

5. Cheese will generally be provided.

6. Don't ask me if you can read (it's not that big of deal so chill out).

JENNIFER KARMIN's text-sound epic, Aaaaaaaaaaalice, was published by Flim Forum Press in 2010. She curates the Red Rover Series and is co-founder of the public art group Anti Gravity Surprise. Her multidisciplinary projects have been presented at festivals, artist-run spaces, community centers, and on city streets across the U.S., Japan, and Kenya. A proud member of the Dusie Kollektiv, she is the author of the Dusie chapbook Evacuated: Disembodying Katrina. Walking Poem, a collaborative street project, is featured online at How2. In Chicago, Jennifer teaches creative writing to immigrants at Truman College and works as a Poet-in-Residence for the public schools. http://aaaaaaaaaaalice.blogspot.com

STEPHEN DANOS is currently pursuing an MFA in Creative Writing - Poetry at Columbia College Chicago, where he is the recipient of a Follett Fellowship and the Eileen Lannan Poetry Prize. His poems have appeared or are forthcoming in Lo-Ball, Bateau, Juked, Columbia Poetry Review, Phantom Limb, OVS Magazine, and LEVELER.

STEVE ROGGENBUCK. i am 23 years old, and i live in chicago. i grew up in rural michigan and played in a death metal band in high school. i am a vegan and a buddhist. i make jpegs, videos, and text poems, all available free online, self-published into the public domain. i have a book of found poems set in helvetica called DOWNLOAD HELVETICA FOR FREE. COM, i also have a short chapbook called i am like october when i am dead (2010). i run the tumblelog INTERNET POETRY and help with a justin bieber fan twitter. this is my main site (http://www.steveroggenbuck.com/), where i post a mix of creative content and my ideas about poetry and the internet (archive).

BLOG LINK TO EVENT:
http://thedollhousereads.blogspot.com/2011/03/dollhouse-two-steves-jen.html

↑ Index

188. Christophe Casamassima

A gift of poetry for all: Please back up my project

Tue 26 Apr 2011

Hi, everyone,

I'm turning 34 this year, and instead of asking for gifts, like any normal human being, I'm writing an enormous homage/serial poem dedicated to all my friends and family who have been supportive in my first 10 years in poetry. I'm self-publishing this under no auspice or press and raising funds as well to press about 300-400 copies which I'll send to all my backers and people I meet along the way at readings, events and conferences. I hope you'll help out with the cause, and forward this to your friends and colleagues. It's a bit selfish to be giving away MY work--why not the work of another? And in the spirit of homage (and appropriation) each poem will be composed of lines by numerous poets, dead and alive, with the poet's name appearing in the acrostic. The impetus? A reading through/of these works, and a display of reading made evident.

Here's the link. Only 24 days to go!

http://www.kickstarter.com/projects/furniturepressbooks/july-8-1977-or-34-poems-and-34-years

↑ Index

189. Rob McLennan

vote rob for this year's poet laureate of the blogosphere;

Tue 26 Apr 2011

Again, the poet laureate of the blogosphere contest has begun, and it's up to you to vote. Since this is the third time I've been up for it, I'm less excited about another round of potentially not winning (as Bugs Bunny cries, always the bridesmaid, and never the bride), so not really sure what to think about it all. Still, here's the posting from the site (to vote, to go the link, including further links to all the individual nominees);

http://bloggingpoet.squarespace.com/bloggingpoetcom/voting-begins-for-for-the-2011-poet-laureate-of-the-blogosph.html

Voting Begins For For The 2011 Poet Laureate Of The Blogosphere ®

Nominations have ended, I have looked at every nomination that was presented and found the following poet bloggers all to be eligible to become the 2011 Poet Laureate Of The Blogosphere ®, a laureateship in name only but an honor to those who are nominated and the one who will finally be chosen by his or her fans and followers, who I hope will take the time to look around at my own poetry and the works of hundreds of other poets before they leave this site. Below is a list of the poets with names hyperlinked to their blogs. Below that is the form you can use to cast your ballots and make the final call.

The Nominees Are:

*Adam Dustus
*Brian Miller
*Fireblossom, aka Shay Caroline
*Gabriel Gadfly
*Jessie Carty
*Joanne Marie Firth
*Jo Janoski
*Leslie Aka Moondustwriter
*Maria Padhila
*MaryAnn McCarra-Fitzpatrick
*Natasha Head
* Neva Flores
*Robert Cameron Hazelton
*Rob Mclennan (why do they insist on upper-casing?)
*Sara Diane Doyle
*Shân Ellis
*Shirley Allard

*Walt Wojtanik
*William Manson

And with that part done I give you the poll which will close on April 29th at a time of my choosing. If you can't decide you may chose more than one. The winner will be announced on April 30th, again, at a time of my choosing.

http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/2011/04/vote-for-rob-as-this-years-poet.html

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

190. Adam Fieled
6 Links from "The Scrounge"
Tue 26 Apr 2011

The continuation of the verse-drama "The Scrounge":

"Pam's Texts to Stevie":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-pams-texts-to-stevie.html

"Stevie runs around":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-stevie-runs-around.html

"The English Patient":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-english-patient.html

"Pam meets Doyle":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-pam-meets-doyle.html

"Bedding Down":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-bedding-down.html

"Foster-child of Silence":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-scrounge-foster-child-of-silence.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

191. Christophe Casamassima

Furniture Press Poetry Prize: Joshua Ware's Homage to Homage to Homage to Creeley now available

Tue 26 Apr 2011

Greetings,

Joshua Ware's 2010 FPPP winner is now available through the Furniture Press Website and soon through SPD. Click on the link below to hear what people are saying:

Cheers!

http://furniturepressbooks.com/books/h2h2h2c/

↑ Index

192. Karl-Erik Tallmo

Chernobyl music

Wed 27 Apr 2011

Chernobyl music:

http://www.nisus.se/audio/grass.html

/Karl-Erik Tallmo

--

KARL-ERIK TALLMO
BLOG: http://slowfox.wordpress.com
TEXTS, IMAGES, MUSIC etc.: http://www.nisus.se/tallmo/

↑ Index

193. Eric Elshtain

New Book of Erasure

Wed 27 Apr 2011

Please consider Travis Macdonald's Sight & Sigh, an omission report

http://www.beardofbees.com/macdonald.html

Best,
Eric E.

Eric Elshtain
Editor
Beard of Bees Press
http://www.beardofbees.com

↑ Index

194. Cralan Kelder

London Dates + my favourite Mairéad Byrne poem

Wed 27 Apr 2011

---

two upcoming performances in London - please come and heckle

1 May (Sunday)
Torriani Poetry Readings
Cralan Kelder & Crispin Bonham Carter (Actor Vs. Poet) , David Miller, Louise Landes Levi
7:30 pm £5 / £3
Torriano Meeting House, 99 Torriano Ave., London NW5.
Nearest tube is Kentish Town.
http://www.hearingeye.org/index.php?
option=com_content&task=blogcategory&id=14&Itemid=29

3 May (Tuesday)
Give Some Word launch event
Shearsman Readings
Cralan Kelder & Crispin Bonham Carter (Actor Vs. Poet), Aidan Semmens
Swedenborg Hall, Swedenborg House, 20/21 Bloomsbury Way, London WC1A 2TH.
7.30 pm No Admission fee

"A Vow of Poetry" by Mairéad Byrne

from a postcard by Wild Honey Press

Mairéad went into town with her brothers and sisters one day. There was a funfair in O'Connell Street and they all had money in their pockets. Seán went on the orange and red helter-skelter. Eamonn played roll-a-penny. Sheila had her fortune told by a chest-high effigy wearing a scarf. The girls linked arms and flounced up and down the street. Then they all had candy floss. No-one noticed that Mairéad was missing, but after a while she turned up besides them again. She had been to the little pitched tent in the center of the street and taken a vow of poverty. Years later, at one of their regular uproarious gatherings, the brothers and sisters got to talking about this day. Mairéad mentioned her vow of poverty. "A little pitched tent? I never noticed that," they all said. Until Deirdre remembered: "Oh no, Mairéad, I know what you're talking about. That wasn't poverty, that was poetry!" "Oh," said Mairéad, "I assumed the v was hidden in the fold of the canvas. What a mistake! I feel such a fool to have remained poor all these years! And all the time it was poetry!"

↑ Index

195. David Kirschenbaum
Call for Work: Boog Fest's Poets' Theater
Wed 27 Apr 2011

please forward

Call for Work:

Boog City's Poets' Theater

Sun. Aug. 7, 2011

Call for Work: Boog Fest's Poets' Theater

On Day 3 of the 5th annual Welcome to Boog City Poetry and Music Festival

Zinc Bar
82 W. 3rd St.
New York City

Open reading period for submissions of plays.

New playwrights encouraged, all welcome.

Pieces should be no more than 15 minutes long (under 15 pages long).

Be sure to put title, your name, address, phone, and email on cover sheet.

Deadline June 1, 2011.

email plays (as attachments) and inquiries to:

[redacted]

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://www.boogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)

↑ Index

196. editor boog
Last Call to Advertise in Boog City 69
Wed 27 Apr 2011

Please forward

Advertise in

Boog City 69

Deadlines

—Space Reservations-Email to reserve ad space ASAP

Tues. May 10-Ads in
Sat. May 28-Distribute

This is a quick note to see if you'd like to advertise and reach our readership. (Donations are also cool, way cool.)

We'll be distributing 2,250 copies of the issue throughout the East Village and other parts of lower Manhattan; Williamsburg and Greenpoint, Brooklyn; and at Boog City events.

Advertise your small press's newest publications, your own titles or upcoming readings, or maybe salute an author you feel people should be reading, with a few suggested books to buy. And musical acts, advertise your new albums, indie labels your new releases.

Take advantage of our indie discount ad rate. We are once again offering a 50% discount on our 1/8-page ads, cutting them from $80 to $40. The discount rate also applies to larger ads.

For our full rate card, please visit:

http://boogcity.com/adrates.pdf

Email [redacted] or call 212-842-BOOG (2664) for more information.

as ever,
David

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:

http://welcometoboogcity.com/
T: 212-842-BOOG (2664)

↑ Index

197. Rosalie Calabrese

Fw: Rosalie Calabrese Poetry Update

Wed 27 Apr 2011

From: Rosalie Calabrese <[redacted]>
Subject: Rosalie Calabrese Poetry Update
To: [redacted]
Date: Wednesday, April 27, 2011, 6:36 PM

READINGS, PUBLICATIONS, AND OTHER NEWS

Sunday, May 15th - 6:00-8:00 p.m.The Mom
Egg 9 Launch Party

Cornelia Street CafeÂ

29 Cornelia Street, NYC
[redacted]

$7 admission
includes food or drink creditI'll be reading my poem that appears in the anthology:
A MOTHERâ€™S LAMENT

Here, now, a chance to tell you
the measure of my love, describe the gardens of my heart
where you are every flower, but all I do is ask how things are going,Â Â
as if weâ€™d met just recently at a crowded party, and itâ€™s only your smile that I recall.
****

June 15 - 6:00 p.m.Â Jewish Women's Literary Annual, Vol. 8 reading
National Council of Jewish Women
820 Second Avenue (44th St.)
[redacted]
Free and open to the public
Two poems published, one to be read:

NEW ENGLAND
Â Â Â Â Â Â
Indian summer, leaves turning like Indian corn to
 red and gold.
My granddaughter, taught to be p.c.,
would correct me if she were here.
â€œNative American,â€ sheâ€™d say.
â€œThe Indians live in India.â€

I canâ€™t argue with that.
Itâ€™s the Pilgrims who got it wrong,
and a few other things as well.
The language may change, but
no matter how much respect we show
there will always be witches to burn.Â

REUNION

How odd to see these childhood pals,
their faces set in black-and-white
on the pages of our high school yearbook,
officially graduated now to senior status.
At this 50th anniversary celebration,
the name tags we wear insure recognition
in the color photos weâ€™ll send each other
by digital transmission, the new posterity.
****
 news (not a reading):

Joel Eric Suben has set my poem Baby Steps to music for unaccompanied mixed chorus. For more information about this work, contact Joel at [redacted]

BABY STEPS
(for Katie)

In your first pair of shoes
You go off on your own
And I haven't a clue
Where the journey will end.
Though you reach for my hand
As you stumble and fall
Less and less you return
For a kiss and a hug.

No surprise I admit
To the plan underfoot
Still you're moving so fast
Like the hands of the clock
Till I want to cry "stop!"
But I know that's not right
So I'm cheering you onÂ
While you're walking away.

First published in â€œMothers and Daughtersâ€ A Poetry Celebration compiled by June Cotner Harmony Books/Random House, 2001

↑ Index

198. Jennifer Karmin
Chicago Durutti Skool: Poetry & Activism
Wed 27 Apr 2011

CHICAGO DURUTTI SKOOL 2011
May 1st, 5th & 6th

The Durutti Skool & Red Rover Series would like to invite you to take part in a series of events concerning poetry, social existence, Marxism and Anarchism

Our main concern is to join in the greater conversation occurring around the country at other Durutti Skools this year about poetry itself as a catalyst for social change. The idea for the skools began last summer when a group of poets met in Berkeley, California as part of the 95 Cent Skool. All participants were invited to form their own skools in order to continue the conversation and encourage poets to connect more strongly with their communities and ideas about writing, community, and change.

****

SUNDAY, MAY 1st
Poetry for Labor:
A May Day reading & celebration
Guest curated by John Keene
9am-12pm @ the Haymarket Square

POETRY FOR LABOR is a free, public, participatory reading to celebrate the 125th Anniversary of the Haymarket Square Affair in 1886, one of the signal events in US and global labor history, and the struggles of workers in the US and worldwide. All participants are welcome. Bring your own poem or poems, poems or prose by writers you love, short autobiographical pieces, or any text that brings to life, in celebration, in reflection, in commemoration, work and those who do it. Come out and read, recite and perform your poems!

JOHN KEENE teaches at Northwestern University and is fully or partly responsible for two books, and many drawings and translations, more of which are on their way.

LOCATION:
the Haymarket Martyrsâ€™ Statue, Haymarket Square approximately 165 N. Desplaines Street half a block north of the intersection with W. Randolph Street
CTA Green or Pink Lines to the Clinton-Green Station

ALSO RECOMMENDED FOR MAY DAY:
April 30th @ 2pm Haymarket Re-enactment
May 1st @ 1pm Haymarket Martyrs' Ceremony http://www.illinoislaborhistory.org

****

THURSDAY, MAY 5th
Chicago Durutti Skool: Workshop with the Next Objectivists
7-9pm @ Mess Hall

THE NEXT OBJECTIVISTS is a free, open-to-the-public poetry workshop dedicated to the study & reproduction of the outsidereal. We take this term from the "Black Mountain" poet Edward Dorn & our name from the second generation modernist poets associated with The Objectivist Press. Although writers associated with the Objectivists and Black Mountain "schools" (Bunting, Creeley, H.D., Niedecker, Pound, Reznikoff, Williams, Zukofsky to name only those we've already studied) are prominent stars in our constellation, our objective is not to reproduce any particular style, mode or tradition, but instead to draw on many different ways of doing and making in order to isolate those practices of writing & publishing & above all those poetic effects which lead us out of the neoliberal present & the future it imagines.

The Next Objectivists Poetry Workshop was founded in January 2009. Members make the curriculum as we go along. Our meetings are potlucks and beginners are always welcome. We read, discuss & write poetry together. As time allows we publish our findings through our website:
http://nextobjectivists.blogspot.com

LOCATION:
Mess Hall, 6932 North Glenwood Avenue
CTA Red Line to the Morse Station
http://www.messhall.org

****

FRIDAY, MAY 6th
Chicago Durutti Skool: Readings & Discussions with Frank Rogaczewski & Michelle Taransky
7-9pm @ Outer Space Studio

What is the role of poetry and the poet in addressing and engaging social awareness?

FRANK ROGACZEWSKI holds a Ph.D. in Literature and Creative Writing from the University of Illinois at Chicago and teaches in the MFA Program at Roosevelt University in Chciago. He lives in Berwyn with his wife Beverly Stewart. "Fate of Humanity" was released by American Letters and Commentary in Fall 2009. Poet Mark Nowak describes the book well: "Straight from the near west suburbs of Sandburgland, Frank Rogaczewski explodes the less than brave new world weâ€™ve unfortunately arrived at. The Fate of Humanity in Verse sears through the vast gaps of capitalism and pop culture in multi-page paragraphs of pure invention. It is quite simply, to borrow two of Rogaczewskiâ€™s titles, an â€œArse Poeticaâ€ for â€œThe Day They Outsourced America.â€

MICHELLE TARANSKY is the author of "Barn Burned, Then" (Omnidawn 2009). She lives in Philadelphia, works at Kelly Writers House, as Reviews Editor for Jacket2, and teaches at University of Pennsylvania and Temple University.

LOCATION:
Outer Space Studio, 1474 N. Milwaukee Avenue third floor walk up, not wheelchair accessible
CTA Blue Line to Damen Station

****

BLOG LINK to Chicago Events
http://chicagopoetrycalendar.blogspot.com/2011/04/chicago-durutti-skool.html

DURUTTI SKOOL on Facebook, National Events
http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=155285014499575

RED ROVER SERIES
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

↑ Index

199. Stephen Vincent
Haptics: Poetry By Other Means
Thu 28 Apr 2011

(If you are in the NYC neighborhood, a gentle reminder!)

Stephen Vincent's:
Haptics: Poetry By Other Means
Drawings & Accordion Fold Books
Jack Hanley Gallery, 136 Watts, New York, NY 10013 (Tribeca)
Friday, May 06 - Saturday, May 28 2011
Reception, Sunday,Â May 08,
6 - 8 pm
(Gallery will be open both Saturday & Sunday, 11 â€“ 5; it is Gallery Week in Tribeca!)

http://www.jackhanley.com/show.php?show=1378
(For directions to the Gallery, etc.)
(Apologies for any cross-postings!)

Stephen Vincenthttp://stephenvincent.net/blog/(If you are unfamiliar with "haptic" as term and/or how it applies to my work, I talk a bunch about it on the blog)

↑ Index

200. Regina Pinto
My April Creations
Thu 28 Apr 2011

---

pintor & arteselavy / April - 2011

---

1)- Pintor:

The White Rabbit Adventures at http://pintor.tumblr.com

2)-Arte Sélavy:

A movie: “The amazing light of the Fall in Rio de Janeiro” and some photos: “Copacabana Boats”

at http://arteselavy.tumblr.com

All the best,
Regina Pinto®

↑ Index

201. amy king

Fwd: Invitation to All Poets to Participate in Open Air Poetry Circle Readings at HOWL ! Festival 2011 Sat June 4 and Sunday June 5 Details and Signup

Sat 30 Apr 2011

From: Nathaniel Siegel

---------- Forwarded message ----------

From: Nathaniel Siegel

HOWL ! FESTIVAL
PRESENTS: POETS IN TOMPKINS SQUARE PARK

POETRY CIRCLE !

On Saturday June 4th and Sunday June 5th, ALL poets are invited to participate in Open Air Poetry Circle Readings
!

The format is as follows: poetry circles will be created througout the park.
Poets will each read for 5 minutes.

To sign up in advance simply:

Email: [redacted]
the following information ASAP:

1. Your name
2. A one sentence bio.
3. Any online links to website(s) blogs etc.
4. A photo with permission to post and photographer credit.
5. The day Saturday or Sunday you would like to read in one of the circles.
6. The preferred time you would like to read 12-1pm, 1pm-2pm, 2pm-3pm, 3pm-4pm,
4pm-5pm.
7. In one, two or three words describe your poetry.

The HOWL ! Festival will confirm your participation by email in advance of the reading !

Space is limited only by the number of circles we create (4), the number of hours for reading (5), and the number of poets who can read each hour (12). The Poetry Circle readings will accomodate up to 240 poets reading each day in Tompkins Square Park in the Open Air ! Wow !

Write poem now !

Thank you !

Created and presented as part of The HOWL! Festival 2011 June 3, 4, and 5th Tompkins Square Park, East Village, New York City !

--
****

VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

@poetics

The UB Poetics Discussion Group

Archive of Electronic Correspondence

May 2011

171 messages · Thu 28 Apr 2011 – Tue 31 May 2011

May 2011 turned the quiet room toward stillness and presence — the poetry of Buddhist awareness at one pole, the vanishing art of live improvisation at the other, and between them the old, hard question of whether any of it does the world any good. One hundred and seventy-one messages moved through the list, thin as the season, and its currents ran to attention itself: the poem as a discipline of mind, the poem as an act that happens once and is gone. The month was about being present, in a room increasingly practiced at absence.

The largest thread went looking for the poetry of awareness. A member preparing to teach a class asked the room for Buddhist poetry — "I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry", and pressed the real question: whether the awareness lives in a poem's subject or in its very syntax and process, whether mindfulness is something a poem says or something a poem does. It was the list at its most contemplative, treating the poem not as an object to be judged but as a practice of attention, a way of being awake on the page.

The counter-pole was pure presence. A thread on improvised poetry in performance took up the art that cannot be revised or archived — the poem made live, in the room, in the moment, and then gone forever — the opposite of the digital permanence the year had otherwise been fretting about. Between Buddhist awareness and live improvisation the month found a single value: presence, the thing that happens only now, that no recording and no metric can hold.

And underneath ran the doubt that shadows all such quiet. A thread asked bluntly what good great literature is in geopolitical terms — whether the contemplative poem and the improvised performance mean anything at all against war and power, or whether attention is a luxury the world cannot afford. The room did not settle it, but it kept faith with presence anyway, teaching mindfulness and praising improvisation in the teeth of its own uselessness.

I have set May down exactly as the archive delivered it — the search for Buddhist poetry, the vanishing art of improvised performance, and the blunt question of what any of it is worth against the world's hard powers — because it was the month the list made presence its subject: the poem as awareness, the poem as the thing that happens once. A room that will teach mindfulness and praise the improvised poem while doubting aloud whether either can matter geopolitically is a room that has arrived at a hard-won humility, no longer claiming poetry can change the world, only that being fully present to a poem, or a moment, is itself a small refusal of the distraction that is eating everything else.

— Kristen M. Fabians

Index

Writers, names mentioned, and concepts. Every number links to its message. 171 in all.

WRITERS

De 1913, Sandra 14
Accardi, Millicent Borges 83, 130
Aldonlnielsen 64
Alexander, Chris 16
Allegrezza, William 71
AND, mIEKAL 39, 127
Andrews, Jim 34, 111
Armand, Louis 68, 88
Benson, Cara 48, 129
Bernstein, Charles 152
Bowering, George 87
Bo¾ièeviæ, Ana 73
Brinton, Jasper 166
Cain, Séamas 28, 70, 103
Calabrese, Rosalie 167
Carfagna, Richard 56, 66, 117
Casamassima, Christophe 49, 136, 150, 163
Conrad, CA 53, 54, 80, 123, 124
Cárthaigh, Tomás Ó 4
Dalachinsky, Steve 50, 90, 91, 128, 156
Daly, Catherine 131, 138
Damon, Maria 148, 164
Deleon, Genevieve 135
Dolin, Sharon 142
Dunagan, Patrick 25, 78, 132
Durgin, Patrick F. 1
Edgerton, Michael Tod 5
ELECTRONICS, ART 29
Eylon, Dr. Dina Ripsman 11
Farrell, Michael 32, 139
Fieled, Adam 10, 19, 38, 69, 133, 154
Foley, Jack 96
Frazer, Vernon 75, 95
Garr, Megan M 45
Gens, Jacqueline 159
Glass, Jesse 21, 30, 31, 33, 134, 143, 168, 171
Gricevich, Andy 15
Hadbawnik, David 114
Harrington, Joseph 35
Hoffman, Eric 13
Howard, Scott 9
Johnson, Halvard 8
Jpjones 67
Karmin, Jennifer 24, 47, 63, 72, 93, 121, 137
Kelder, Cralan 97
Kimmelman, Burt 26
King, Amy 40, 41, 42, 59, 76, 77
Kirschenbaum, David 106
Kuppers, Petra 57
Ladkin, Sam 98
Landis, Matthew 61
Leaskou, Nicholas 105
Lewis, Joel 60
MacAllister, Bonnie 27, 119
Maurer, Susan 23
McLennan, Rob 52, 109, 116, 170
McNellis, Erin 141
Melnicove, Mark 165
Morse, Jonathan 74
Mukherjee, Aryanil 36
Nelson, Jason 153
Nelson, Paul 43, 101
Nemet-Nejat, Murat 2, 44
Novack, Carol 86
Pallant/FS/VCU, Cheryl 126, 151
Pennix, Calvin 62
Penton, Jonathan 107
Phipps, Wanda 37
Pinto, Regina 125
Prichard, Meg 146
Reed, Marthe 99
Richet, Martin 161
Robbins, Micah 122
Rosenthal, Sarah 140
Savage, Thomas 79
Sawyer, Larry 115
Schickling, Jared 55, 147
Schultz, Susan Webster 3, 58, 104, 144
Schwartz, Gerald 20
Seabolt, Brian 108
Sebastian, Nic 12, 89, 149
Side, Jeffrey 18, 22, 82, 169
Slaughter, William 92, 155
Smith, Hazel 112, 113, 162
Sondheim, Alan 17, 120
Sullivan, Gary 51
Templeton, Fiona 160
Thompson, Marc 145
Truitt, Sam 102
Tynes, Jen 85
Vincent, Stephen 100, 157
Weishaus, Joel 81, 118
Weiss, Mark 65, 94, 158
Wilcox, Dan 7, 84, 110
Young, Mark 6
Zimmerman, Daniel 46

NAMES MENTIONED

Abrams, Jen 135, 145
Adorno, Theodor 98
Alice, Mary 76

Allegrezza, Bill 71
Americans, Asian 145
Andrews, Bruce 127
Ang, Brian 63
Antin, David 113, 128, 143, 156, 160, 164
Apollinaire, Guillaume 88
Arbor, Ann 57
Ashbery, John 8
Ashley, Robert 27, 119
Atlanta, Mark P. 5
Austin, Mary 106
Baker, Lori 6, 27, 119
Ballard, Micah 25, 132
Barthes, Roland 78
Basinski, Michael 55
Battin, Wendy 8
Baudelaire, Charles 31, 32, 35
Beckett, Tom 6, 98, 137
Beer, John 91, 93, 137
Bem, Greg 80, 90, 94, 119
Bennett, Bill 119
Bennett, John M. 6, 55
Berkeley, Michael 57, 63
Berlin, Irving 170
Bernard, Kenneth 40
Berrigan, Anselm 106
Berrigan, Edmund 68
Berry, Jake 22, 40
Berryman, John 88
Besemer, Jen 6
Blake, William 24, 88
Blau, Rachel 123
Bloch, Julia 53, 54, 80, 90, 94
Blouin, Michael 116
Boat, Drunken 27, 40, 76, 119
Boesky, Marianne 1
Bok, Christian 112
Borkhuis, Charles 106
Borzutzky, Daniel 91, 93, 137
Bourdieu, Pierre 78
Boyer, Stephen 80, 90, 94
Bozicevic, Ana 73
BpNichol 116
Bradley, George 73
Bradley, Jamie 6
Brady, Andrea 98
Brazil, David 27, 72, 119
Brinkley, Tony 6
Brook, James 33, 98
Brown, Ann 106
Brown, Pam 6
Burns, Robert 110
Burton, Philip 134, 142, 145, 147, 168, 171
Byron, Philip 6
Cage, John 141, 165
Campbell, Andy 34
Carey, Peter 22
Carlos, William 40
Carson, Margaret 103
Carter, Michael 88
Celan, Paul 88
Chace, Joel 55, 169
Chapman, Cecelia 6
Chaucer, Geoffrey 96
Claire, Barbara 63
Claire, Paula 113, 128, 143, 156, 160, 164
Clinton, Bill 40
Clover, Joshua 16
Cobbing, Bob 113, 128, 143, 156, 160, 164
Coffey, Michael 78
Collis, Stephen 104
Comments, Poets 99
Conrad, Tony 53, 54, 80, 90, 94, 101, 123, 124
Cooper, Dennis 76
Corbett, William 25
Corman, Roger 143, 156, 160, 164
County, Madison 39
Covey, Bruce 106
Crane, Lee 84
Crangle, Sara 98
Crawford, Robert 88, 107
Creeley, Robert 114
Crooker, Barbara 40
Crowe, Russell 35
Darwish, Mahmoud 68
Davies, Alan 152, 161
Davinio, Caterina 29
Deed, Martha 40
Degentesh, Katie 51
Derksen, Jeff 52, 67, 87
Derrida, Jacques 68
Dickinson, Emily 40
Donato, Claire 76
Dowling, Sarah 54, 80, 90, 94, 129
Doyle, Kirby 69
Drennan, Bill 6
Dunagan, James 25, 132
Duncan, Robert 73, 79
Durgin, Patrick F. 1
Dylan, Michael 31, 32, 35
Edmond, Martin 6
Ellen, Mary 24, 40, 119
England, Amy 40, 84, 109
Esther, Little 98
Farr, Raymond 6, 108
Felix, Joel 27, 119
Ferlinghetti, Lawrence 88
Fink, Thomas 6, 26
Finkelstein, Norman 77
Fischer, Norman 144, 152
Fisher, Ann 132
Fishman, Lisa 116
Flatt, Michael 91, 93, 137

Forche, Carolyn 88
France, Peter 27, 119
Franco, James 97
Fraser, Simon 170
Freeland, Charles 6
Freeman, Micah 63
Frischkorn, Suzanne 40
Frost, Corey 63
Frym, Gloria 72
Gardner, Drew 51
Gardner, Janet 51
Garland, Judy 77
Garr, Megan M. 45, 88
Gaudry, Molly 76
Gibson, Morgan 96
Gilbert, Alan 106
Gilmore, Gary 106
Ginsberg, Allen 54, 80, 88, 90, 94
Gladman, Renee 106
Goldman, Judith 91, 93, 137
Goldstein, Laura 24, 91, 93, 121, 137
Goldstein, Mark 121
Gonzalez, Matt 132
Goode, Chris 98
Green, Paul 34
Greenberg, Arielle 14
Greene, Graham 116
Greenstreet, Kate 116
Gregory, Dick 6
Griffin, Tim 55, 108
Grossman, Pam 60
Gudding, Gabriel 141, 165
Guston, Philip 25
Guthrie, Camille 31, 32, 35
Hamil, Sam 31, 32, 35
Hamilton, Ann 5
Hampson, Robert 98
Hanley, Jack 100
Harrington, Joe 35
Harryman, Carla 88, 91, 93, 137
Hartley, George 45
Hayes, Jonathan 107
Healy, Randolph 40
Heath, Jennifer 1
Heman, Bob 6
Hennessey, Michael 80, 90, 94
Hewitt, David 27, 119
Higginbotham, Keith 6
Hikmet, Nazim 88
Hillman, Brenda 116
Hinton, David 145
Hirshfield, Jane 168
Holmes, Michael 76
Horosky, Mark 129
Howe, Ashley 27, 119
Howe, Brian 27, 119
Howe, Susan 116
Hughes, Langston 73
Hunter, Robert 6
Iijima, Brenda 55, 76, 106, 114, 122
Indiana, Robert 70, 76
Ireland, Lauren 27, 70, 103, 119
Irvine, James 141, 165
Jarnot, Lisa 106
Javier, Paolo 80, 90, 94
Jefferson, Thomas 40
Johnson, Robert 8
Jones, Brian 40, 108
Jones, David 96
Jones, Jill 67, 87
Joris, Pierre 68
Joseph, Safdie 35
Joyce, James 68, 96
Joyce, Trevor 68
Juan, Don 32
Karl, Steven 76
Kasimor, Mary 108
Kathryn, Mary 7
Kaufman, Erica 80, 90, 94
Keller, Helen 107
Kelly, Patrick 24
Kelly, Robert 102
Kerouac, Jack 31, 32, 35
Kiely, Aaron 108
Killian, Kevin 78
Kirschenbaum, David A. 106
Klein, Lucas 106
Kyger, Joanne 73
Ladewig, Lily 76
Ladouceur, Ben 109
Lamoureux, Mark 106
Lampert, Andrew 152
Lang, Eugene 76
Langer, Sam 6
Larkin, Maryrose 106
Lavery, John 116
Leggott, Michele 6
Lehman, David 88
Leigh, Mike 170
Leong, Michael 55
Levin, Jonathan 88, 159
Levin, Lauren 63
Levis, Larry 88
Lewis, Bernard 63
Lewty, Jane 68, 88
Lockward, Diane 40
Logan, William 107
Lomax, Alan 72
London, Frank 29, 73, 74, 79, 98, 150, 160
Louise, Bobbie 159
Lovelee, Amanda 27, 119
Low, Trisha 54, 80, 90, 94
Lowell, Robert 88
Lynn, Aldon 64

Machlin, Dan 80, 90, 94
Mali, Elizabeth 40
Mancus, Tony 45
Manson, Peter 98
Marie, Anne 88
Marsh, Bill 26
Marshall, Robert 170
Martin, Camille 77, 88
Martin, Douglas A. 80, 90, 94
Marvin, Lee 39
Meltzer, David 72
Meredith, William 24
Mesmer, Sharon 51, 76, 80, 90, 94
Messerli, Douglas 152
Metcalf, Paul 157
Milton, John 102
Mitchell, Joan 6
Morgan, Robin 134, 142, 147, 168, 171
Morris, Dee 27, 119
Morris, Patrick 27, 119
Morrison, Bill 40
Morton, Kathryn A. 76
Moten, Fred 80, 90, 94
Motherwell, Robert 68
Moya, Erika 76
Murphy, Sheila E. 6, 39
Myles, Eileen 48, 51, 78, 80, 90, 94, 106
Nasdor, Marc 80, 90, 94
Naylor, Paul 144
Nelson, Cary 77
Nelson, Gale 116
Nelson, Paul E. 43, 80, 90, 94, 101
Neruda, Pablo 88
Newlove, John 52, 67, 87
Nicholls, Peter 98
Niedecker, Lorine 73
Nielsen, Lynn 64
Niss, Millie 34
Nolan, Pat 107
Notley, Alice 45
Nowak, Mark 80, 90, 94
O'Hara, Frank 98
Obadike, Keith 14
Olson, Charles 43
Olson, Kirby 43, 73
Oppen, George 13
Osman, Jena 16
Ovid 114
Pacific, Asian 1, 40
Palin, Sarah 171
Palm, Kristin 63
Palmer, Michael 117
Penn, Joanna 76
Perkins, Stephen 27, 119
Perry, David 121
Petropoulos, Justin 26
Phillips, Beth 40, 107
Piette, Adam 98
Pinsky, Robert 116
Potts, Robert 98
Prevallet, Kristen 106, 114, 122
Di Prima, Diane 73, 145
Professor, Kelly 64
Prynne, J. H. 98
Puckett, Caleb 6
Purves, Robin 98
Quinn, Alice 88
Ragan, James 88
Randall, Karen 73, 116
Randall, Margaret 73
Reading, Poets 40
Retallack, Joan 41
Revell, Donald 88
Reynolds, Rebecca 73, 76
Reznikoff, Charles 48
Ricard, Gabriel 107
Rilke, Rainer Maria 88
Robbins, Bruce 114
Robertson, Lisa 116
Rosenberg, Jim 6
Rosenstock, Gabriel 70
Rosenthal, Chuck 105
Rothenberg, Michael 6
Ruby, Michael 82
Samperi, Frank 56, 60, 61, 64
Sanders, Jay 88
Scalapino, Leslie 76
Schapira, Kate 8
Schelling, Andrew 145
Schluter, Kit 6
Schmidt, Paul 121, 135, 145
Schultz, Lou 3, 58, 104, 132, 144
Schultz, Susan M. 3, 58, 144
Schuster, Josh 77
Schuyler, James 25, 88
Schwartz, Jerry 20
Seaman, David W. 29
Seldess, Jesse 1
Shakespeare, William 96, 98, 134, 142, 147, 168, 171
Shapiro, David 88
Sherlock, Frank 54, 80, 90, 94
Sherry, James 40
Siegel, Jeff 27, 119
Siegel, Nathaniel 80, 90, 94
Sigo, Cedar 132
Silverman, Oren 91, 93, 137
Simic, Charles 145
Simon, Greg 107
Sinavaiana, Caroline 144
Sky, Tarpaulin 155
Smith, Harry 6
Snyder, Gary 130, 141, 145, 165
Snyder, Rick 88

Spicer, Jack 73, 105
Spicer, John 73
Stein, Gertrude 68
Steinberg, Nicole 80, 90, 94
Steiner, Konrad 72, 91, 93, 137
Stengel, Jill 106
Stevenson, Matt 27, 119
Stroffolino, Chris 51
Sutherland, Keston 98
Szymaszek, Stacy 80, 90, 94
Tabios, Eileen R. 6
Tallmo, Erik 4
Taransky, Michelle 24
Tate, Allen 35
Taylor, Tom 40, 116, 162
Terrill, Mark 88
Theater, Poets 114
Thomas, Dylan 79, 107, 120, 140
Tietz, Ward 14
Tills, Steve 20
Topel, Andrew 34
Townsend, Cheryl 61
Tranter, John 88
Tsvetaeva, Marina 88
Tucker, Aaron 98
Tuite, Jim 27, 119
Tyler, Richard 27, 119
Vassilakis, Nico 39
Vogler, Brad 55
Wakeling, Corey 6
Wald, Diane 14
Waldman, Anne 26, 73, 88, 159
Wallace, Mark 55, 123
Walsh, Catherine 40
Warhol, Andy 1
Washington, George 16, 27, 40, 84, 110, 119
Watson, Ben 98
Watson, Scott 134, 142, 145, 147, 168, 171
Watts, Carol 68
Watts, Charles 100
Whalen, Philip 25, 134, 142, 145, 147, 168, 171
Whitehead, Gregory 34
Whitehead, Ron 43
Whitman, Walt 110
Wieners, John 73
Wilkinson, John 98, 135, 145
Williams, Jonathan 78
Williams, Paul O. 40, 96
Williamson, Lindz 6
Willis, Elizabeth 116
Wilson, Karen 73, 119
Wolach, David 80, 90, 94
Wordsworth, William 98
Wright, C. D. 157
Young, Stephanie 16
Zappa, Frank 98
Zucker, Adam 119
Zucker, Rachel 14
Zuzga, Jason 54, 80, 90, 94

CONCEPTS

9/11 26, 58, 170
Activism and protest 31, 32, 35
Aesthetics 70
Anthologies 14, 27, 40, 51, 70, 71, 72, 74, 79, 88, 92, 98, 107, 109, 116, 119, 134, 137, 139, 142, 145, 147, 166, 168, 170, 171
Appropriation 6, 41, 99
Archives and libraries 27, 39, 40, 73, 76, 81, 92, 105, 118, 119, 140
Autobiography 25, 141, 165
Avant-garde 5, 68, 98, 116
Beat generation 72
Blogs 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 19, 26, 27, 28, 34, 38, 40, 51, 52, 53, 54, 58, 63, 64, 67, 69, 72, 74, 76, 78, 79, 80, 87, 90, 94, 95, 98, 100, 104, 107, 109, 114, 116, 119, 122, 123, 124, 126, 130, 133, 134, 135, 142, 145, 146, 150, 157, 159, 163, 166, 168, 170
Book announcements 11, 14, 20, 26, 34, 45, 57, 66, 68, 75, 78, 88, 154
Bookstores 23, 26, 73, 119, 170
Calls for submissions 5, 9
Cities 106
Collage and montage 68, 132, 157
Conferences and festivals 26, 29, 39, 40, 52, 67, 80, 87, 88, 90, 94, 98, 103, 106, 116, 119
Copyright and permissions 135, 145
Craft 170
Creative writing pedagogy 99, 137
Difficulty 18, 74, 77, 79, 152
Disability 57
Dreams 20, 40, 103
Ecology and ecopoetics 16, 68
Editing 8, 99, 137
Electronic poetry and hypertext 1, 29, 150
Empire and imperialism 96
Epic 24, 72
Experimental poetry 41
Fascism 31, 32, 35
Feminism 16
Film 27, 31, 32, 35, 52, 67, 68, 86, 87, 97, 119, 125, 170
Futurism 74, 79
Gender 150
Grants and funding 1, 31, 32, 35, 40, 77, 92
Haiku 40, 145
Humour and satire 98
Ideology 99
Improvisation 72, 113, 128, 143, 156, 160, 162, 164

Indigenous and Native poetics 70, 167
Interviews 5, 13, 30, 41, 42, 43, 46, 59, 65, 68, 76, 77, 89, 105, 116, 140
Israel and Palestine 137
Jewish poetics 11, 26
Language poetry 103
Latino and Latin American poetry 170
Letters and correspondence 22, 25
List moderation 25
Little magazines 7, 9, 11, 14, 15, 23, 27, 30, 40, 45, 53, 63, 68, 81, 92, 98, 99, 108, 114, 115, 116, 119, 123, 137, 147, 154, 155, 171
Lyric poetry 26
Memory 1, 36, 44
MFA programs 5, 76, 114, 137
Modernism 5, 74, 79
Mourning and loss 29, 114
Music and poetry 4, 27, 31, 32, 34, 35, 36, 40, 44, 46, 64, 65, 68, 72, 97, 103, 106, 107, 110, 114, 116, 119, 121, 149, 155
Nature 18, 27, 31, 32, 35, 119, 135, 145
Obituary and memorial 1, 2, 69
Ontology 1
Oulipo 74, 79
Performance and the poetry reading 7, 16, 24, 25, 27, 40, 63, 72, 84, 98, 100, 105, 116, 119, 121, 167
Phenomenology 29, 98
Philosophy 17, 22, 43, 46, 65, 68, 77, 88, 98, 152
Place and region 30
Poet laureate 40, 116
Poetics 5, 9, 21, 35, 39, 41, 43, 46, 63, 65, 68, 72, 73, 88, 92, 98, 114, 130, 151, 155
Postmodernism 5
Print vs. digital 1, 16, 18, 39, 53, 54, 70, 80, 82, 85, 90, 94, 99, 102, 119, 123, 124, 149, 162, 168, 169
Prizes and awards 26, 36, 44, 76, 137
Prose poem 26
Prosody and meter 26, 98
Queer poetics 40, 139
Race and poetry 58, 150, 170
Reading announcements 16, 25, 98, 116
Religion and the sacred 31, 32, 35, 77, 96, 112, 126, 130, 131, 134, 135, 141, 142, 144, 145, 146, 147, 151, 159, 165, 166, 168, 171
Representation 99
Reviewing and criticism 1, 5, 22, 27, 33, 34, 40, 43, 45, 52, 67, 72, 73, 76, 83, 87, 89, 95, 98, 99, 102, 104, 115, 116, 119, 136, 137, 139, 148, 170
Revision 99
Romanticism 5
San Francisco Renaissance 72
Science 42, 43, 46, 65, 77
Serial poem 39, 102
Small press publishing 1, 3, 7, 12, 14, 15, 24, 25, 40, 52, 62, 67, 72, 73, 76, 87, 104, 106, 109, 114, 116, 121, 137, 149, 150, 155, 170
Social media 4, 14, 27, 37, 86, 91, 93, 106, 114, 119, 137
Software and code 34
Sonnet 8, 10, 116
Subjectivity 9, 99, 150, 162
Surrealism 78
The academy 1, 5, 24, 27, 29, 33, 40, 57, 64, 68, 70, 76, 77, 88, 98, 99, 112, 113, 114, 119, 121, 128, 137, 143, 156, 160, 162, 164, 170
The canon 70
The internet 27, 40, 94, 119
The Iraq war 31, 32, 35
The line 5
The listserv 26, 36, 44, 113, 128, 143, 156, 160, 164
Theatre 1, 27, 28, 36, 38, 44, 57, 69, 114, 119
Translation 14, 31, 32, 35, 36, 40, 44, 71, 73, 97, 98, 102, 114, 134, 135, 142, 145, 147, 166, 168, 170, 171
Visual and concrete poetry 34, 39, 111, 125
Visual art 1, 5, 6, 24, 25, 26, 27, 33, 36, 40, 44, 63, 68, 86, 97, 100, 107, 119, 132

Contents

Every entry links to its message. 171 in all.

28 APR 2011

1. Patrick F. Durgin — Insomnia and the Aunt, by Tan Lin
2. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: IRA COHEN poet/ photographer
3. Susan Webster Schultz — New Retro Chapbook from Tinfish Press
4. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Re: Chernobyl music

29 APR 2011

5. Michael Tod Edgerton — CFP SAMLA 2011 Session: Avant-Garde Modernity

30 APR 2011

6. Mark Young — Otoliths issue #21 is now live
7. Dan Wilcox — "Poeming the Prompt" by Dan Wilcox
8. Halvard Johnson — Truck's May editor, Wendy Battin, hits the road tonight
9. Scott Howard — Call for Submissions: RECONFIGURATIONS, Volume 5: Disappearance

1 MAY 2011

10. Adam Fieled — from "Trish": final 3 links

2 MAY 2011

11. Dr. Dina Ripsman Eylon — My article on Symbolism
12. Nic Sebastian — new Whale Sound audio chapbook - 'Threatening Weather' by Howie Good
13. Eric Hoffman — Oppen collection for sale
14. sandra de 1913 — 1913 reads again!
15. Andy Gricevich — pre-printing sale ends soon--Cannot Exist chaps and zine

3 MAY 2011

16. Chris Alexander — Segue Presents: JULIANA SPAHR & MAUREEN THORSON (5/7)

4 MAY 2011

17. Alan Sondheim — birth of venus - my best sl\video to date + production stills (fwd)
18. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “A Short Treatise on the Nature of the…
19. Adam Fieled — New Apparition Poems links
20. Gerald Schwartz — LVNGinTONGUES
21. Jesse Glass — Kayfabe On Liusts and Forums: Professional Wrestling and Discussions On Lists

5 MAY 2011

22. Jeffrey Side — A review of "Outside Voices: An Email Correspondence" by Jake Berry and Jeff…
23. susan maurer — Harpiur Palate reading 5-13 at River Walk bookstore, Susan Maurer
24. Jennifer Karmin — May 8: Laura Goldstein, Jennifer Karmin & Michelle Taransky in Iowa City
25. patrick dunagan — Two upcoming readings: Boston and New York

6 MAY 2011

26. Kimmelman, Burt — Marsh Hawk Press Spring Book Launch Party
27. Bonnie MacAllister — June 3 at the Rotunda: Issue Launch of Certain Circuits 1.1
28. Séamas Cain — The Greek Theatre Museum
29. ART ELECTRONICS — Caterina Davinio at E-Poetry [2011] University at Buffalo

7 MAY 2011

30. Jesse Glass — Performance/ Interview for SPECS Magazine: Addresses puppets, absurdity, the …
31. Jesse Glass — What good is great literature, etc. in Geo-Political Terms? My Proposal for …
32. michael farrell — Re: What good is great literature, etc. in Geo-Political Terms? My Propo…

8 MAY 2011

33. Jesse Glass — Two Interesting Uses of the Term "Haptic Poetry"
34. Jim Andrews — New on Netartery
35. Harrington, Joseph — Re: What good is great literature, etc. in Geo-Political Terms? My Pr…
36. Aryanil Mukherjee — 150th birth anniversary of Rabindranath Thakur (Tagore)
37. Wanda Phipps — Summer sublet/share available
38. Adam Fieled — from The Scrounge: 9 Links

9 MAY 2011

39. mIEKAL aND — STARE AT [redacted] by Nico Vassilakis
40. amy king — Fw: Gazette 5.9.11
41. amy king — Flashback: What is Experimental Poetry & Why Do We Need It?
42. amy king — Help? Separation of ...
43. Paul Nelson — Re: Help? Separation of ...
44. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: 150th birth anniversary of Rabindranath Thakur (Tagore)
45. Megan M Garr — Amsterdam's Versal launches its ninth edition
46. Daniel Zimmerman — Re: Help? Separation of ...
47. Jennifer Karmin — The Sustainable Arts Foundation: art & writing grants for working parents

10 MAY 2011

48. Cara Benson — The Secret of Milk
49. Christophe Casamassima — Free Poetry for All: 10 days left for fundraising!

11 MAY 2011

50. steve dalachinsky — Re: Frank Smaperi poetry
51. Gary Sullivan — Gurlesque, Drew Gardner, etc. poetry comics original art for sale
52. Rob McLennan — fwd; Phyllis Webb documentary by Robert McTavish on CBC Radio's IDEAS
53. CA Conrad — Dowling, Bloch, Zuzga, Low, on JUPITER 88
54. CA Conrad — sp. ed. : Dowling, Bloch, Zuzga, Lasky, Low, Sherlock...
55. Jared Schickling — eccolinguistics viz
56. Carfagna, Richard — Frank Smaperi poetry
57. Petra Kuppers — new book: Neil Marcus: Special Effects - Advances in Neurology
58. Susan Webster Schultz — recent posts by Tinfish Editor
59. amy king — OT: Death to high school English
60. Joel Lewis — Re: Frank Smaperi poetry
61. Matthew Landis — Re: Frank Smaperi poetry
62. Calvin Pennix — Sphered - A Prezi Poem
63. Jennifer Karmin — May 13: With + Stand in Berkeley, CA
64. Aldonlnielsen — Re: Frank Smaperi poetry
65. Mark Weiss — Re: Help? Separation of ...
66. Carfagna, Richard — Two new books
67. jpjones — Re: fwd; Phyllis Webb documentary by Robert McTavish on CBC Radio's IDEAS

12 MAY 2011

68. Louis Armand — New issue of VLAK: CONTEMPORARY POETICS & THE ARTS
69. Adam Fieled — "Scrounge" Six-Pack
70. Séamas Cain — The Willow's Whisper
71. William Allegrezza — Spanish Translators
72. Jennifer Karmin — May 14: Meltzer & Karmin in Oakland
73. Ana Bo¾ièeviæ — Buy Lost & Found, Series II: di Prima, Duncan, Randall, Rukeyser, & Spicer!
74. Jonathan Morse — Modernism: a useful new anthology

13 MAY 2011

75. Vernon Frazer — Re: Two new books
76. amy king — TONIGHT! MEGA WOMEN’S READING – Joanna Penn Cooper ~ Claire Donato ~ Farrah Fi…

77. amy king — OT: Today in The Nation -- "Faulty Towers: The Crisis in Higher Education"
78. patrick dunagan — Kevin Killian's Selected Amazon Reviews, Part 2 !!!
79. Thomas savage — Re: Modernism: a useful new anthology

14 MAY 2011

80. CA Conrad — GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!
81. Joel Weishaus — "Inside the Skull-House: A Neuropoesis"

15 MAY 2011

82. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Inner Voices Heard Before Sleep” by …
83. Millicent Borges Accardi — Poetry review
84. Dan Wilcox — Third Thursday Poetry Night, May 19 -- Mary Eliza Crane
85. Jen Tynes — Horse Less Press Reading Period for Full-Length Manuscripts

16 MAY 2011

86. Carol Novack — Mountain Retreat in Asheville, NC
87. George Bowering — Re: fwd; Phyllis Webb documentary by Robert McTavish on CBC Radio's IDEAS
88. Louis Armand — New titles
89. Nic Sebastian — ideas for subverting the current poetry publishing system?

17 MAY 2011

90. steve dalachinsky — Re: GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!
91. steve dalachinsky — readings by dalachinsky
92. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark
93. Jennifer Karmin — Red Rover Series / summer 2011
94. Mark Weiss — Re: GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!
95. Vernon Frazer — EMBLEMATIC MOON by Vernon Frzer
96. Jack Foley — Carlo Parcelli Performance Videos Online
97. Cralan Kelder — Walasse Ting one year anniversary of his death

18 MAY 2011

98. Sam Ladkin — Keston Sutherland in Sheffield, Monday 23rd May
99. Marthe Reed — CFP: Technoculture an online journal of technology in culture
100. Stephen Vincent — NYC "haptic" show reminder

19 MAY 2011

101. Paul Nelson — SPLAB Radio
102. sam truitt — Robert Kelly's UNCERTAINTIES.... Review Copies Available
103. Séamas Cain — The Aisling Project
104. Susan Webster Schultz — Tinfish Retro Chapbook #3: Stephen Collis's _Primordial Density Per…
105. Nicholas Leaskou — Poet As Radio
106. David Kirschenbaum — Advertise in Boog City's Festival Program Issue

20 MAY 2011

107. Jonathan Penton — Site News! Anthologies! Now Hiring!
108. Brian Seabolt — Raft 3 online
109. Rob McLennan — new from above/ground press: Ben Ladouceurs LIME KILN QUAY ROAD
110. Dan Wilcox — Reading of Song of Myself, May 31, 6PM, Albany, NY, Washington Park
111. Jim Andrews — Vancouver

21 MAY 2011

112. Hazel Smith — email address for Christian Bok
113. Hazel Smith — improvised poetry in performance
114. David Hadbawnik — reading in NYC -- May 26, Prevallet, Robbins, Hadbawnik
115. Larry Sawyer — Larry Sawyer is Unable to Fully California at ACM

22 MAY 2011
116. Rob McLennan — new(ish) on rob's clever blog

23 MAY 2011
117. Carfagna, Richard — Michael Palmer email
118. Joel Weishaus — "The Silence of Sasquatch" redesign
119. Bonnie MacAllister — Certain Circuits Issue 1.1 Launches June 3 at Rotunda
120. Alan Sondheim — What Dylan Thomas Didn't Say:
121. Jennifer Karmin — May 24: Facts of Light in Chicago
122. Micah Robbins — This Thursday in Brooklyn: Kristin Prevallet, David Hadbawnik, and Micah Ro…

24 MAY 2011
123. CA Conrad — Rachel Blau DuPlessis & Mark Wallace on JUPITER 88
124. CA Conrad — (Soma)tic Workshop MASONIC SLUICE...
125. Regina Pinto — Omar Lamer & Andante Grazioso
126. Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU — seeking Buddhist poetry
127. mIEKAL aND — Fwd: [oddmusic] jjj (a setting of a poem by Bruce Andrews in 19 ET)

25 MAY 2011
128. steve dalachinsky — Re: improvised poetry in performance
129. Cara Benson — Brooklyn Friday Reading
130. Millicent Borges Accardi — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
131. Catherine Daly — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
132. patrick dunagan — San Francisco group reading Thursday May 26, 2011 7pm
133. Adam Fieled — New Album: "Covers"
134. Jesse Glass — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)

26 MAY 2011
135. Genevieve Deleon — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
136. Christophe Casamassima — Poetry reviewers?
137. Jennifer Karmin — Red Rover Series / Experiment #46
138. Catherine Daly — Re: Poetry reviewers?
139. michael farrell — Re: Poetry reviewers?

27 MAY 2011
140. Sarah Rosenthal — Interview, Part 2 of 2
141. Erin McNellis — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
142. Sharon Dolin — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)
143. Jesse Glass — Re: improvised poetry in performance
144. Susan Webster Schultz — Buddhist poetry
145. Marc Thompson — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
146. meg prichard — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
147. Jared Schickling — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
148. Maria Damon — Re: Poetry reviewers?
149. Nic Sebastian — Whale Sound audio chapbook - 'Fishwife' by Jennifer Jean
150. Christophe Casamassima — PO25EM is now [free poetry for] - submit!
151. Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
152. Charles Bernstein — Brooklyn launch for Attack of the Difficult Poems

28 MAY 2011
153. Jason Nelson — digital writing as all powerful gypsy
154. Adam Fieled — "American Deadness" on Scribd

29 MAY 2011
155. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark

30 MAY 2011

156. steve dalachinsky — Re: improvised poetry in performance
157. Stephen Vincent — Memorial Day - C.D. Wright, Civil Rights et al
158. Mark Weiss — Re: Poetry reviewers?

31 MAY 2011

159. Jacqueline Gens — seeking Buddhist poetry
160. Fiona Templeton — Re: improvised poetry in performance
161. Martin Richet — Parution : Alan Davies
162. Hazel Smith — improvised poetry: thanks!
163. Christophe Casamassima — Re: Poetry reviewers?
164. Maria Damon — Re: improvised poetry in performance
165. Mark Melnicove — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
166. Jasper Brinton — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
167. Rosalie Calabrese — Fw: Rosalie Calabrese Poetry Reading Date Change
168. Jesse Glass — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)
169. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Periods” by Joel Chace.
170. Rob McLennan — new from chaudiere books: Joe Blades' Casemate Poems (Collected)
171. Jesse Glass — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry

1. Patrick F. Durgin

Insomnia and the Aunt, by Tan Lin

Thu 28 Apr 2011

Kenning Editions is pleased to announce the publication of /Insomnia and the Aunt/, by Tan Lin.

/Insomnia and the Aunt/, by Tan Lin. Fiction. Literary Nonfiction. Cross-Genre. Art. Asian American Studies. Tan Lin's INSOMNIA AND THE AUNT is an ambient novel composed of black and white photographs, postcards, Google reverse searches, letters, appendices, an index to an imaginary novel, reruns, and footnotes. The aunt in question can't sleep. She runs a motel in the Pacific Northwest. She likes watching Conan O'Brien late at night. She may be the narrator's aunt or she may be an emanation of a TV set. Structured like everybody's scrapbook, and blending fiction with nonfictional events, INSOMNIA AND THE AUNT is about identities taken and given up, and about the passions of an immigrant life, rebroadcast as furniture. Ostensibly about a young man's disintegrating memory of his most fascinating relative, or potentially a conceptualist take on immigrant literature, it is probably just a treatment for a prime-time event that, because no one sleeps in motels, lasts into the late night and daytime slots.

Tan Lin <http://epc.buffalo.edu/authors/lin/> is the author of /Lotion Bullwhip Giraffe/, /BlipSoak01/,/ Ambience is a Novel with a Logo/, /Heath (Plagiarism/Outsource)/ and /7 Controlled Vocabularies and Obituary 2004. The Joy of Cooking (2010)/. His work has appeared in numerous journals including /Conjunctions/, /Artforum/, /Cabinet/, /New York Times Book Review/, /Art in America/, and /Purple/. His video, theatrical and LCD work have been shown at the Marianne Boesky Gallery, Yale Art Museum, Sophienholm Museum (Copenhagen), Ontological Hysterical Theatre, and as part of the Whitney Museum of American Art's Soundcheck Series. Lin is the recipient of a Getty Distinguished Scholar Grant for 2004-2005 and a Warhol Foundation/Creative Capital Arts Writing Grant to complete a book-length study of the writings of Andy Warhol. He has taught at the University of Virginia and Cal Arts, and currently teaches creative writing at New Jersey City University. He has just completed a sampled novel, entitled /Our Feelings Were Made by Hand/.

ISBN: 9780976736479. 44 pp. Saddle-stitched chapbook w/ limited edition letterpressed wraps designed and printed by Rebecca Cooling-Mallard.

$10.00 from Small Press Distribution <http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9780976736479/insomnia-and-the-aunt.aspx?rf=1>, or enjoy a discount by subscribing to Kenning Editions. The new <http://www.kenningeditions.com/images/Sub11.pdf>direct mail subscription <http://www.kenningeditions.com/images/sub11.pdf> offer allows you to choose any three titles, with free domestic shipping, at a substantial discount. The book can also be purchased directly from the press, via 2co <https://www.2checkout.com/2co/buyer/orderpage?sid=1266894>, using your credit card.

Order from Small Press Distribution (always in stock). <http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9780976736479/insomnia-and-the-aunt.aspx?rf=1>

Order from Amazon.com (periodically in stock). <http://www.amazon.com/Insomnia-Aunt-Tan-Lin/dp/0976736470>

Other recent titles from Kenning Editions include /Ambient Parking Lot/, by Pamela Lu and/ Left Having/, by Jesse Seldess. See www.kenningeditions.com

↑ Index

2. Murat Nemet-Nejat

Re: IRA COHEN poet/ photographer

Thu 28 Apr 2011

I am very sorry to hear that!

Murat

On Mon, Apr 25, 2011 at 2:35 PM, steve dalachinsky <[redacted]>wrote:

> passed away today in NY

↑ Index

3. Susan Webster Schultz

New Retro Chapbook from Tinfish Press

Thu 28 Apr 2011

Following on last month's _Say Throne_, by No`u Revilla, this month brings Adam Aitken's _Tonto's Revenge_. It's 33 pages long and yours for $3. Less than a gallon of gas, but travels much much further. Better yet, send Tinfish $36 and get 12 chapbooks over the course of a single year.

Tinfish Press
47-728 Hui Kelu Street #9
Kane`ohe, HI 96744 USA
http://tinfishpress.com
http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com

And in particular, check out the "chapbook" section of the press website.

aloha,

Susan M. Schultz
Editor & moneybags

↑ Index

4. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh
Re: Chernobyl music
Thu 28 Apr 2011

A good track... Am working on my own video featuring both it and Japan...

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

--- On Wed, 27/4/11, Karl-Erik Tallmo <[redacted]> wrote:

From: Karl-Erik Tallmo <[redacted]>
Subject: Chernobyl music
To: [redacted]
Date: Wednesday, 27 April, 2011, 10:16

Chernobyl music:

http://www.nisus.se/audio/grass.html

/Karl-Erik Tallmo

--

KARL-ERIK TALLMO
BLOG: http://slowfox.wordpress.com
TEXTS, IMAGES, MUSIC etc.: http://www.nisus.se/tallmo/

↑ Index

5. Michael Tod Edgerton
CFP SAMLA 2011 Session: Avant-Garde Modernity
Fri 29 Apr 2011

Avant-Garde Modernity: Revoluti
Call for Papers (abstracts due May 31)

Avant-Garde Modernity: Revolutions in Poetry and Art from Romanticism to Postmodernism

A session for the 2011 South Atlantic Modern Language Association's Convention, November 4-6 in Atlanta, GA <http://samla.gsu.edu/convention/convention.htm>.

This session will explore the theory and historiography of avant-garde artistic practices in literature and the visual arts. Papers tracing various lines of avant-garde lineage and intersections of poetics and art-making practices outside of the traditional delineations of the historical avant-garde are welcome, as well as papers that redefine the avant-garde as such, argue for the possibility or impossibility of a contemporary â€œavant-garde,â€ examine the relationship of Modernity and/or Modernism with avant-gardism, or theorize the implications of the historical avant-garde for contemporary literary and artistic practice, criticism, and scholarship.

Send half-page to one-page abstracts with brief (no more than a page) bibliography to Gabriel Alexander Lovatt and Michael Tod Edgerton at [redacted] by May 31, 2011.

Cheers,

Tod

Michael Tod Edgerton
MFA '06, Program in Literary Arts, Brown University
PhD student, Dept. of English, University of Georgia

If the challenge of our time is the challenge of empathy, to make an empathetic relation; that is, to see another person, to feel their pain, story, whatever--that--that how can a poetic material making be part of--of that?

~ Ann Hamilton, in an interview about her installation, Indigo Blue

↑ Index

6. Mark Young
Otoliths issue #21 is now live
Sat 30 Apr 2011

The expense of getting a new designer outfit for the Royal Nuptials means there's no money left in the budget to appropriately acknowledge the fact that Otoliths <http://the-otolith.blogspot.com/> is celebrating its fifth birthday, so we'll just have to let the issue speak for itself, & it does, as elegantly as ever.

Once again it's a wide-ranging compendium, containing text & visual work from Kirsten Kaschock, Tom Beckett, Marilyn R. Rosenberg, J. D. Mitchell-Lumsden, Martin Edmond, Ed Baker, Eileen R. Tabios, Nava Fader, Michael Caylo-Baradi, Curt Eriksen, Eeva Karhunen, Howie Good, Jennifer L. Tomaloff, Andrea Jane Kato, John M. Bennett, Sheila E. Murphy & John M. Bennett, Sheila E. Murphy, Patrick Williamson, Michele Leggott, Beni Ransom, Philip Byron Oakes, Jim Meirose, Cilla McQueen, Thomas Fink, Theodoros Chiotis, Christopher Mulrooney, Keith Higginbotham & Matt Margo, Raymond Farr, Cherie Hunter Day, Jane Joritz-Nakagawa, J. D. Nelson, NF Huth, Patrick Cahill, Mark DuCharme, Pam Brown, SJ Fowler, Tony Brinkley, Cecelia Chapman, David Mitchell, Felino Soriano, Jamie Bradley, Peter LaBerge, Charles Freeland, Corey Wakeling, Jeff Harrison, Jen Besemer, dan raphael, Yoko Danno, Joshua Comyn, Emma Smith, Cassandra Atherton, Michael Rothenberg, Bill Drennan, sean burn, Kit Schluter, Caleb Puckett, Rosaire Appel, Robert Gauldie, Zarah McGunnigle, Bella Li, Hala Hoagland, Marcia Arrieta, Reijo Valta, Gregory Kan, Lawrence Bernabe, Housten Donham, Sam Langer, Bob Heman, & Gustave Morin.

The issue is dedicated to Robert "Bob" Gauldie, painter, poet, scientist, & regular contributor, who died suddenly, in Utrecht, on April 5.

↑ Index

7. Dan Wilcox

"Poeming the Prompt" by Dan Wilcox

Sat 30 Apr 2011

A.P.D. Announces the Publication of

Poeming the Prompt by Dan Wilcox

A.P.D. (another poeming day) announces the publication of the new chapbook of poetry by Dan Wilcox, Poeming the Prompt. The 16-page collection contains poems mostly written in November, 2010 in response to prompts for a poem-a-day project sponsored by Writers Digest magazine. While some of the poems confront writing-from-prompts head on, others deal with Wilcox's usual topics: sex, death & politics. Also included is the whimsical "Top Tips for Anxiety-Free Writing from Prompts."

A.P.D. (always poem daily), under the direction of Albany poet and photographer Dan Wilcox, has been publishing the works of local and regional poets since 1989. Among the works published by A.P.D. are To the Husband I Have Not Yet Met, by Mary Kathryn Jablonski, Distant Kinships by Anthony Bernini, Suddenly Sapphires by Dina Pearlman, and Three Sides to the Looking Glass by Rachel Zitomer. You can read Wilcox's Blog on the Albany poetry scene at dwlcx.blogspot.com.

Copies of Poeming the Prompt by Dan Wilcox can be purchased directly from the poet when you see him at poetry readings or out & about for $5.00, or by mail for $6.00 (checks may be made payable to “A.P.D.”) from A.P.D. (another pleasant day), 280 South Main Ave., Albany, NY 12208. For a complete list of publications available from A.P.D. (alternating poetic device) write to the above address or email [redacted].

↑ Index

8. Halvard Johnson

Truck's May editor, Wendy Battin, hits the road tonight

Sat 30 Apr 2011

Many thanks to Kate Schapira for editing *Truck *during the month of April.

Take a look here -- http://halvard-johnson.blogspot.com/ -- if you haven't been following her contributions.

May brings a new editor, Wendy Battin.

"We aren't meaning that any more."
--John Ashbery

Hal

Halvard Johnson
==========

[redacted]
http://sites.google.com/site/halvardjohnson/Home
http://entropyandme.blogspot.com
http://imageswithoutwords.blogspot.com
http://www.hamiltonstone.org
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
http://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/home
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
*Mainly Black<https://docs.google.com/document/edit?id=1i_JGJ_FqQldEnUq7cwjV8giYykz_tsGbTkC2EkAP3IM&hl=en&pli=1#>
, Obras PÃºblicas<https://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/halvard-johnson-obras-publicas>
; The Perfection of Mozart's Third Eye and Other Sonnets<http://www.scribd.com/doc/27039868/Halvard-Johnson-THE-PERFECTION-OF-MOZART-S-THIRD-EYE-Other-Sonnets>
;*
*Organ Harvest with Entrance of Clones<http://www.amazon.com/Harvest-Entrance-Clones-Halvard-Johnson/dp/0965404390/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1283182804&sr=8-1>
; Tango Bouquet<https://docs.google.com/Doc?docid=0ATDp6rzKkBkhZGZwand2cHdfOWc1Mnh3Zw&hl=en>

; Theory of Harmony<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall04/theory1.pdf>
; Rapsodie espagnole<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/rapsodi.pdf>
; Guide to the Tokyo Subway<http://www.amazon.com/Guide-Tokyo-Subway-Other-Poems/dp/0971487316/ref=sr_1_3?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1283183153&sr=1-3>
; The Sonnet Project<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/hsonnet.pdf>
; G(e)nome <http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall03/genome.pdf>; Winter Journey <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.winter.html>; Eclipse<http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.eclipse.html>
; The Dance of the Red Swan <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.dance.html>; *
*Transparencies & Projections <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.transp.html>
*

↑ Index

9. Scott Howard

Call for Submissions: RECONFIGURATIONS, Volume 5: Disappearance

Sat 30 Apr 2011

RECONFIGURATIONS: A Journal for Poetics & Poetry / Literature & Culture
ISSN: 1938-3592, http://reconfigurations.blogspot.com/

Volume 5: Disappearance

Submissions: April thru August, 2011
Publication: November, 2011

Guidelines: Volume five of Reconfigurations, http://reconfigurations.blogspot.com/, seeks a variety of works concerning the theme of disappearance. Reconfigurations, ISSN: 1938-3592, is an electronic, peer-reviewed, international, annual journal for poetics and poetry, creative and scholarly writing, innovative and traditional concerns with literary arts and cultural studies. Reconfigurations publishes under a Creative Commons 3.0 open-access license, is MLA indexed, EBSCO distributed and independently managed.

Electronic Submissions: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>. Submissions should be attached as a single .doc, .rtf, or .txt file. Visuals should be attached individually as .jpg, .gif or .bmp files. Please include the words “Reconfigurations submission” in the subject line of your message.

///

.

↑ Index

10. Adam Fieled

from "Trish": final 3 links

Sun 1 May 2011

These three links close out "Trish," an almost-love story in po-mo sonnets:

"Trish Pt. 5":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-trish-trish-pt-5.html

"Trish Pt. 6":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/04/trish-pt6.html

"Trish Pt. 7":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-trish-pt-7.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

11. Dr. Dina Ripsman Eylon

My article on Symbolism

Mon 2 May 2011

Dear All,
My article on the literary movement of Symbolism is now available to the public on Scribd.com.
Here's the link:

http://tinyurl.com/3oqta4q

Best,
Dina

Dr. Dina Ripsman Eylon, Publisher and Editor-in-Chief
Women in Judaism: A Multidisciplinary Journal
1136-3 Centre St., Ste. 246
Thornhill, ON L4J 3M8 Canada

Email: [redacted]
Tel: [redacted]
Eylon's books are available @ Amazon.ca
Eylon's free articles are available @ Academia.edu

↑ Index

12. Nic Sebastian

new Whale Sound audio chapbook - 'Threatening Weather' by Howie Good

Mon 2 May 2011

Whale Sound Audio Chapbooks is delighted to announce the publication of 'Threatening Weather' by Howie Good (http://bit.ly/kGr2VJ). Our publisher's slogan is "publish in multiple formats - some of them free!" So you get to download audio, PDF, EPUB and MOBI files of the chapbook free, if those are your preferred poetry-absorbing methods. If you like a good old paper book in your hand, you can buy the poems as a print chapbook from Lulu's (at cost-price - no publisher mark-up). If you prefer a CD to put in a player and store on your shelf, you can buy the CD version from Lulu's - also at cost-price with no mark-up. More here http://bit.ly/ks4vZ5 about why we publish in the bizarro way we do.
Best, Nic
Nic Sebastian

Whale Sound

Forever Will End on Thursday

↑ Index

13. Eric Hoffman

Oppen collection for sale

Mon 2 May 2011

For sale: A fairly comprehensive collection of George Oppen-related materials including poetry collections, published daybooks/papers/interviews in various hard-to-find literary journals. Some signed material, a framed broadside, other delectables.

An excellent collection available for Oppen scholar or someone who appreciates his work.

Please contact me for a complete list of available materials and photographs if desired/required.

Serious inquiries only: [redacted]

↑ Index

14. sandra de 1913

1913 reads again!

Mon 2 May 2011

1913 Press is reading again!

From May 1-May 31, ANY NON-FIRST BOOK, ANY GENRE. Please submit your work via the Submishmash submission button on the website.
http://www.1913press.org/submissions

There is no page, genre, or other limitation. Collaborations, translations, and other animals are welcome & encouraged. Writer(s) must have previously published at least one full-length book or equivalent (chapbooks not included).

Only electronic submissions will be accepted. The reading fee is $10. One or more books will be selected for publication by 1913â€²s lâ€™editrice Sandra Doller.

Please email [redacted] with any questions. [redacted]

--
sandra doller, founder & editrice de 1913
*
Check out 1913's new reading period...ANY NON-FIRST BOOK, ANY GENRE! May
1-May 31.
http://www.1913press.org/submissions
*
NEW! from 1913:
1913 a journal of forms, Issue 5
"Home/Birth: A Poemic" by Arielle Greenberg & Rachel Zucker
"Wonderbender" by Diane Wald
"READ 2" 1913's annual translation anthology from the Tamaas seminars in Paris
http://www.journal1913.org
*
Forthcoming from 1913:
"Hg-the liquid" by Ward Tietz
Two collaborations by Mendi+Keith Obadike
"The Transfer Tree" by Karena Youtz
"Conversities" by Dan Beachy-Quick & Srikanth Reddy
http://www.1913press.org

*
Find 1913 on Facebook & Twitter...really.

http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=102250266481699

http://twitter.com/#!/1913Press
*
& Le new blog:
http://1913press.blogspot.com/

<http://1913press.blogspot.com/>

↑ Index

15. Andy Gricevich

pre-printing sale ends soon--Cannot Exist chaps and zine

Mon 2 May 2011

Hi, all!

Very soon, these chapbooks, and the new issue of Cannot Exist magazine, will be printed in excess of the pre-orders we've received, at which point they will be considered to exist, and will no longer be available for these INSANE BARGAIN PRICES!

Get 'em while they're not!

CAConrad's MUGGED into poetry
Roberto Harrison's Bridge of the World
Sara Larsen's The Hallucinated
Jess Mynes' How's the Cows
and Cannot Exist no.7
with
John ColettiCAConradCorrina CoppBeverly DahlenConnie DeanovichLaura ElrickMike HauserHailey HigdonSara LarsenKit RobinsonRon SillimanDana Ward
Visit http://cannotexist.blogspot.com and help bring these fine works out of the abyss of nonbeing!

love,

Andy Gricevich
of CANNOT EXIST

↑ Index

16. Chris Alexander
Segue Presents: JULIANA SPAHR & MAUREEN THORSON (5/7)
Tue 3 May 2011

Segue presents

JULIANA SPAHR
& MAUREEN THORSON

This Saturday, May 7th

4 - 6 PM

Bowery Poetry Club
308 Bowery, just north of Houston

$6 admission goes to support the readers

JULIANA SPAHR edits with Jena Osman the book series Chain Links. She recently edited with Stephanie Young A Megaphone: Some Enactments, Some Numbers, and Some Essays about the Continued Usefulness of Crotchless-pants-and-a-machine-gun Feminism. She is writing with David Buucka book about two friends who are writers in a time of war and ecological collapse. And she organized with Joshua Clover the 95 cent Skool, a week long something or other, last summer and is currently organizing the Durutti/Durruti Free Skool for this summer.

MAUREEN THORSON's first book of poems, Applies to Oranges, is available from Ugly Duckling Presse. She lives in Washington DC, where she co-curates the In Your Ear reading series.

↑ Index

17. Alan Sondheim
birth of venus - my best sl\video to date + production stills (fwd)
Wed 4 May 2011

birth of venus

philosophy of virtuality, virtuality of philosophy visuality as philosophy, philosophy as visuality think this is my best sl\video to date - http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus.mp4

preparatory stills -

http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus00.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus01.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus02.png

http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus03.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus04.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus05.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus06.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus07.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus08.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus09.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus10.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus11.png
http://www.alansondheim.org/birthofvenus12.png

↑ Index

18. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "A Short Treatise on the Nature of the Gods" by Dan Beachy-Quick

Wed 4 May 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œA Short Treatise on the Nature of the Godsâ€ by Dan Beachy-Quick.
Description:
"A Short Treatise on the Nature of the Gods" takes the distance between human reality and godly ideality as its primary crisis. Each poem is its own discrete meditation complicated by its link to other such poems, all building not toward conclusion, but a clearer sense of difficulty.
Available as a free ebook here:
http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/a-short-treatise-on-the-nature-of-the-gods/15646497
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

19. Adam Fieled

New Apparition Poems links

Wed 4 May 2011

In an effort to keep the Apparition Poems in circulation, more have been posted on these pages:

http://as-is.blogspot.com/2011/04/from-blazevox-book-apparition-poems.html

http://as-is.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-blazevox-book-apparition-poems.html

http://as-is.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-apparition-poems.html

http://as-is.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-apparition-poems_04.html

http://artrecess2.blogspot.com/2011/04/unreleased-apparition-poems.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Adam

↑ Index

20. Gerald Schwartz
LVNGinTONGUES
Wed 4 May 2011

>>>

EYES resurrection mastery

out of its splendid cerements-

we look into the eyes of others, offering hecatombs and so if we study the cunning

we will not die today

we will not die today

↑ Index

21. Jesse Glass

Kayfabe On Liusts and Forums: Professional Wrestling and Discussions On Lists

Wed 4 May 2011

Hey Sports Fans,

I want to break Kayfabe here and just ask how many of you guys and gals have ever dressed up in a--you know--kind of a suit and cape on the forums and lists--and--you know--made a (how can i say it?)--done a kind of a--you know--performance to get a--you know--a kinda--you know--point across and even engineered a--you know--a persona or some shit to a--you know--that old thesis antithesis sorta--Hegelian you know than kinda thing?

I gotta fess up, I'm not really sometimes--you know--I mean I don't break Kayfabe usually on Poetics unless I'm--well--you know. And then I...well, ya know what I'm saying? Right?

(Spitting the gum out, popping some more in),

And it's all fake blood ya know. Or sometimes a razor blade under the tongue.

Disembodied I

↑ Index

22. Jeffrey Side

A review of "Outside Voices: An Email Correspondence" by Jake Berry and Jeffrey Side, published by Otoliths

Thu 5 May 2011

A review of "Outside Voices: An Email Correspondence" by Jake Berry and Jeffrey Side, published by Otoliths. Reviewed by Carey Scott Wilkerson.

Extract:
"Berry and Side [...] are engaged in the most advanced and responsible discourse about writing that two people could have at a distance. Indeed, what begins as an old-fashioned epistolary encounter quickly becomes an extraordinary excavation of the big issues in contemporary writing, philosophy of language, and meaning itself. Moreover, it almost seems that it is precisely because they are writing e-mailsâ€”and not speaking in a seminar roomâ€”they find such striking Truths and alarming implications."

The review can be read here:
http://www.writersforum.org/books/book.aspx?ID=423

â€œOutside Voicesâ€ is available from Otoliths here:
http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/outside-voices-an-email-correspondence/13008556

↑ Index

23. susan maurer

Harpiur Palate reading 5-13 at River Walk bookstore, Susan Maurer

Thu 5 May 2011

---

on 5-13 at 7 there wil be a reading of the Bibghamton U. literary magazine "Harpur Palate" at 7 pm. I am told the reception after is really fun. I am one of the readers. Please come if you can and do say hello. Susan Maurer

↑ Index

24. Jennifer Karmin

May 8: Laura Goldstein, Jennifer Karmin & Michelle Taransky in Iowa City

Thu 5 May 2011

Sunday, May 8th
4-6pm

Flim Forum Press presents
Laura Goldstein
Jennifer Karmin
Michelle Taransky

at The Painter's House
109 Riverside -- Iowa City

LAURA GOLDSTEIN's poetry, reviews and essays can be found in EAOGH, Requited, Little Red Leaves, How2, Seven Corners, Text/Sound, Rabbit Light Movies, Otoliths, CutBank Reviews and Moria, as well as this summer in American Letters and Commentary, She has two chapbooks: Ice in Intervals

from Hex Press and Day of Answers from Tir Aux Pigeons and two new chapbooks will be out soon- Facts of Light from Plumberries Press in May 2011, and Let Her from Dancing Girl Press in Spring 2012. She currently co-curates the Red Rover reading series and teaches Writing and Literature at the School of the Art Institute and Loyola University.

JENNIFER KARMIN's text-sound epic, Aaaaaaaaaaalice, was published by Flim Forum Press in 2010. She curates the Red Rover Series and is co-founder of the public art group Anti Gravity Surprise. Her multidisciplinary projects have been presented at festivals, artist-run spaces, community centers, and on city streets across the U.S., Japan, and Kenya. A proud member of the Dusie Kollektiv, she is the author of the Dusie chapbook Evacuated: Disembodying Katrina. Walking Poem, a collaborative street project, is featured online at How2. In Chicago, Jennifer teaches creative writing to immigrants at Truman College and works as a Poet-in-Residence for the public schools.

MICHELLE TARANSKY is the author of Barn Burned, Then (Omnidawn 2009). She lives in Philadelphia, works at Kelly Writers House, as Reviews Editor for Jacket2, and teaches at University of Pennsylvania and Temple University.

This reading will happen during the opening of a show featuring collaborative work between writers and painters. The show is curated by Patrick Haas and includes work by: Mary Coats, Douglas Degges, Andrea Ferrigno, Danielle Kimzey, Mary Laube, Meredith Lynn, Ellen Siebers, Amy Butcher, Cutter Wood, Kristen Radtke, Rachel Yoder, Rawaan Alkhatib, Blake Kimzey, and Patrick Haas.

Art opening starts @ 3pm.

↑ Index

25. patrick dunagan

Two upcoming readings: Boston and New York

Thu 5 May 2011

After Guston: William Corbett & Patrick James Dunagan
Saturday 7 May, 3pm
William Corbett and Patrick James Dunagan
Unaffiliated Reading Series
Outpost 186
186 Hampshire St
Cambridge

Next up in the Unaffiliated Reading series, we are presenting an event featuring William Corbett & Patrick James Dunagan, who will be discussing & reading pieces inspired by the artist Philip Guston, as well as reading other work of their own.

William Corbett is a poet who lives in Boston's South End and teaches writing at MIT. He writes frequently on art, directs the small press Pressed Wafer and is on the advisory board of Manhattan's CUE Art Foundation. Among his books are the memoirs Furthering My Education and Philip Guston's Late Work: A Memoir. He edited Just the Thing: Selected Letters of James Schuyler and The Letters of James Schuyler to Frank O'Hara. His most recent book of poetry is The Whalen Poem.

Patrick James Dunagan lives in San Francisco. His first book, "There are people who think painters shouldn't talk": A GUSTONBOOK (Post-Apollo, 2011), is a workman's notebook of sorts sketched out in response to years spent contemplating the work and life of Philip Guston.

&

2 nights later I'll be reading at the Poetry Project with Danial Nohejl

Patrick James Dunagan & Daniel Nohejl May 9, 20118:00 pmMonday

Patrick James Dunagan lives in San Francisco. His first book, GUSTONBOOK, is a workman's notebook of sorts sketched out in response to years spent contemplating the work and life of painter Philip Guston in relation to the ongoing world, i.e. exhibitions, books on/about Guston, other books/art works amid daily walks, drinks, and talks. Other recent writings of his have appeared in: Amerarcana, Barzakh, Big Bell, Critical Flame, Galatea Resurrects, Jacket2, ON, The Poetry Project Newsletter, Polis, Rain Taxi, and Vanitas. Recent chapbooks include: from Chansonniers (Blue Press, 2008), Spirit Guest & Others (Lew Gallery Editions, 2009), Easy Eden w/ Micah Ballard (PUSH, 2009) and her friends down at the french cafe had no english words for me (PUSH, 2010). Daniel Nohejl's first pamphlet, Live a Little Better, was produced by The Physiocrats in 2009. He lives in Brooklyn and works as a crew leader at the Bronx Guild High School.

↑ Index

26. Kimmelman, Burt

Marsh Hawk Press Spring Book Launch Party

Fri 6 May 2011

Having trouble viewing this email? Click here <http://campaign.r20.constantcontact.com/render?llr=959whbcab&v=001xfT_1g4eG8zZviaio3WYFUJAe8Bq-fI7fJq6oargC6jf-

1mBhyVRpXolOcX1VHVc6Ee-tPC8KYYnFAc2PRsC6fxnFzRNKwCkrcSeFGPPygc%3D>

May 2011

You Are Cordially Invited To Our Spring 2011 Book Launch, Reading and Party! Refreshments in our usual abundant, over-the-top style

[http://ih.constantcontact.com/fs039/1101700754394/img/72.jpg]

[http://ih.constantcontact.com/fs039/1101700754394/img/73.jpg]

Quick Links

Visit the Marsh Hawk Press Web site<http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=959whbcab&et=1105289849871&s=740&e=001tDO3DP2_k5TL3Xi1qQgmTJ3SNI6Snpr4wNNbPHtmGjGLhTAi3eJ5RI_YOvsbrLOdAfMAtU1Lh9dhKwAP082VUbmB0oFYAyzYWvU_8AkZSU-rrjbAKQYpeQ==><http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=959whbcab&et=1105289849871&s=740&e=001tDO3DP2_k5TL3Xi1qQgmTJ3SNI6Snpr4wNNbPHtmGjGLhTAi3eJ5RI_YOvsbrLOdAfMAtU1Lh9dhKwAP082VUbmB0oFYAyzYWvU_8AkZSU-rrjbAKQYpeQ==> Visit Ceres Gallery<http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=959whbcab&et=1105289849871&s=740&e=001tDO3DP2_k5RVVmBicHxPRzq0h-vQ6weX8Z9aoont9B_WzwVS30pOwfPEg03Rv6wLXQLgwxLTz73jqE608DCq9LllaTLfq-gotBWPS1Q-ZBv-CsTX1K0ZVw==>

[https://imgssl.constantcontact.com/ui/images1/btn_fbk_160.png]<http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=959whbcab&et=1105289849871&s=740&e=001tDO3DP2_k5Q7KRoeT381vMDA1PlxBcAydIwQcpyGXJXElwipwapPt7Rhc5Pm7gTa4gi12UHiVnNyJjWF9zfOuwnpkOKIv3zWlFMm36NHt3kxoiuRXFg2P1OlTyV0G4ob0_rn9Z-fc1VRtu_9vgKwy5maJijRcersF8-yQ8BSazc=>

[http://img.constantcontact.com/letters/images/1101093164665/jmml_opgr1_img1.gif]<http://visitor.r20.constantcontact.com/email.jsp?m=1101700754394>

Celebrating New Titles By Justin Petropoulos and Thomas Fink.

Thursday, May 12, 2011
6:00 PM - 8:00 PM
Ceres Gallery, 547 West 27th St.
Suite 201, New York, NY 10001

Praise for Justin Petropoulos <http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=959whbcab&et=1105289849871&s=740&e=001tDO3DP2_k5SSZ1akDPAkkBjhoKVOe5tM4wExTbHlClFCopfM45Kc2VmSTb0bEf-p19ePyazlnw9A-

Laa9nrPLyaGpELGLVOpXhnqro5xorFOp_Whk2I4AUt7Y_gijwb9o5vLjimzgRk=> Winner of the 2010 Marsh Hawk Press Poetry Prize

"The brilliant serial prose poems of Eminent Domain frame a troubled scintillating world between animate/inanimate realities, bleak and transcendent at the same time.... This is a new Wasteland. Welcome an original consciousness from the belly of the beast."-Anne Waldman

Praise for Peace Conference<http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=959whbcab&et=1105289849871&s=740&e=001tDO3DP2_k5RAHe8wqADTZmXOqvjvV0BftJsC8Q0yDVmS4J3LezVTQzet2205YKBaSLn6rwzvG90G9RzYiEFgetNtREr4_J3fxrqjYIckD_Jt9kziWKGHXPMCdnxxP227zln3kGoQmlk=> by Thomas Fink

"Fresh, marvelously exuberant lyric wildness, picking up a bit on the sprung prosody of Ceravolo's Fits of Dawn and perhaps also from Coolidge's Sound as Thought. Of special interest: a set of 'Yinglish' poems that bring the syntax of the Yiddish into the American lyric."- Charles Bernstein

Marsh Hawk Press books often highlight the affinity of poetry and the visual arts. Each book is produced with particular care to visual style, often including reproductions of artwork alongside poems. Marsh Hawk Press also sponsors readings and exhibits, and hosts a web site with a rotating exhibition space, as well as several blogs focused on poetry and visual art. The press also offers a poetry prize judged by a poet of national stature.

Marsh Hawk Press books are available from SPD<http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=959whbcab&et=1105289849871&s=740&e=001tDO3DP2_k5Q2Rqj8FC3A8oSA0mediVHdYI8ooeXKyIidydeiC7OeSJytAIjnYoLxhiO8JeFHRonG95Kj27VguhXgWqu0PkfrapTVMESOF8s3sIy9o_ADSQ==>, Amazon<http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=959whbcab&et=1105289849871&s=740&e=001tDO3DP2_k5RPzzTENl1jQbPyEO7-Qox_B8LEezOhCoBzlXW-jW3nkgBodfY2KuJQqO4P1TXKSqp1_1xR6dVpoLRnd1CeHVhuvYGHmtVtqHY=>, and better bookstores. For more information contact us<mailto:[redacted]> or visit our web site<http://r20.rs6.net/tn.jsp?llr=959whbcab&et=1105289849871&s=740&e=001tDO3DP2_k5TL3Xi1qQgmTJ3SNI6Snpr4wNNbPHtmGjGLhTAi3eJ5RI_YOvsbrLOdAfMAtU1Lh9dhKwAP082VUbmB0oFYAyzYWvU_8AkZSU-rrjbAKQYpeQ==>.

Forward email<http://ui.constantcontact.com/sa/fwtf.jsp?llr=959whbcab&m=1101700754394&ea=kimmelman%40njit.edu&a=1105289849871> [http://img.constantcontact.com/letters/images/SafeUnsubscribe_Footer_Logo_New.png]<http://visitor.constantcontact.com/do?

p=un&m=001DIz5liuDPd2zlqZsGxqa3A%3D%3D&se=001W-hhAIZjb2g
%3D&t=001_pbGo5YIrIXD5XJpXkwhBw%3D%3D&llr=959whbcab>

[http://img.constantcontact.com/letters/images/
CC_Footer_Logo_New.png]<http://www.constantcontact.com/index.jsp?
cc=news09>

This email was sent to [redacted] by [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]> | Update Profile/Email Address<http://visitor.constantcontact.com/do?
p=oo&m=001DIz5liuDPd2zlqZsGxqa3A%3D%3D&se=001W-hhAIZjb2g
%3D&t=001_pbGo5YIrIXD5XJpXkwhBw%3D%3D&llr=959whbcab> | Instant removal with SafeUnsubscribe<http://visitor.constantcontact.com/do?
p=un&m=001DIz5liuDPd2zlqZsGxqa3A%3D%3D&se=001W-hhAIZjb2g
%3D&t=001_pbGo5YIrIXD5XJpXkwhBw%3D%3D&llr=959whbcab>(tm) | Privacy Policy<http://ui.constantcontact.com/roving/CCPrivacyPolicy.jsp>.

Marsh Hawk Press | P.O. Box 206 | East Rockaway | NY | 11518

↑ Index

27. Bonnie MacAllister

June 3 at the Rotunda: Issue Launch of Certain Circuits 1.1

Fri 6 May 2011

For the flier:
http://www.tumblr.com/tumblelog/certaincircuits

Issue Release:
Certain Circuits 1.1
Certain Circuits Media
June 3 7-10
Rotunda
4014 Walnut Street
Philadelphia, PA
http://rotunda.org

Founded by artists, Certain Circuits publishes poetry, experimental prose, art, and new media. We are especially interested in documenting multimedia collaborative work between artists.

We are launching our first print issue 1.1 which features work from local Philadelphia artists as well as artists in Australia, Brazil, France, Mexico, India, Japan, Uruguay, the United Kingdom, and the United States. We financed this issue completely through a Kickstarter campaign. Weâ€™ve been publishing monthly multimedia issues at <http://www.certaincircuits.org/> www.certaincircuits.org. Attend on June 3, and be the first to get the issue!

SOUNDS

Apogee are a space-punk trio emerging from West Philadelphiaâ€™s hyperactive DIY scene. Apogee members: Dan â€œRedbeardâ€, guitars and vocals, Matt Stevenson, bass, Mike Mongiello, drums. Matt and Dan are veterans of the Philly musical underground. Mike has also played with the bands Bunnydrums and Scareho. They have released their first album, EVOLVE & DESTROY, on Main Street West recordings - search for the MSW label page on Last.fm. mainstreetwest.blogspot.com

Radio Eris: Founded in 1999 by Lora Bloom and Matt Stevenson, the thriving band of veteran cozmik rockers features Dan â€œRedbeardâ€ Baker on guitar, the mysterious Kenny on synthesizers and noise, and Brad Rothman on drums. They have released 5 albums, run out of gas on the A-4 in eastern France, bought a house, hung out with members of Hawkwind, toured the South in a midnight-blue van in August, and had any number of other adventures across the last decade. <http://www.last.fm/music/Radio+Eris> http://www.last.fm/music/Radio+Eris http://www.myspace.com/radio5eris

*HORSEY: *Sometimes galloping along the tide line, sometimes rolling in the mud like in Andrei Rubelev, HORSEY is More of an animal than a band. HORSEY comes in many forms: sound, image, costume and spaz attacks are among the most common manifestations. You can hear â€œLucky Locketâ€ on the library album:<http://www.notaboutthebuildings.com/libraryalbum/horsey_luckylocket.mp3> http://www.notaboutthebuildings.com/libraryalbum/horsey_luckylocket.mp3.

*WORDS *

Courtney Bambrick<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/5098404812/emily-milo-i-hibiscus-pink-and-green> is a poet and teacher from Philadelphia. Her poetry has appeared in such print and online journals and anthologies as E Pluribus Unum from Light of Unity, The Phenomena of Temporary: The Fuze Anthology, Dirty Napkin, The Schuylkill Valley Journal, Philadelphia Poets, Mad Poets Review, Parlor, and Philadelphia Stories where she now serves as poetry editor. Courtney currently teaches composition at Holy Family University and Gwynedd-Mercy College and has worked on- and backstage for theatrical productions in Philadelphia area and in Ireland.

*Natalie Felix<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/4257552391/natalie-c-felix-is-a-poet-artist-and> * is a poet, artist and Uni-Verse-All community member with a BA in Spanish Literature from UC Santa Barbara and a MA in Human Science from Saybrook University. She is the Executive Director of the Community Cultural Exchange (CCE), a non-profit whose mission is to create community through art and culture.

David Hewitt<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/5098386832/hed-followed-the-crumpled-directions-to-what-he> * *is a self-employed book dealer and amateur musician/ writer/ photographer/ artist residing in the East Falls section of Philadelphia. His hobbies include pondering the value of decay and flipping hopefully through the pages of every parcel of printed matter he gets his hands on.

*Bonnie MacAllister<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3565759072/dinosaur-land-bonnie-macallister-is-a-multimedia> *(curator, editor) is a multimedia performance artist and playwright. She is currently showing work at the Delaware Art Museum in Wilmington, the Florissant Art Gallery in St. Louis, and the Center for Green Urbanism in DC. She is the author of SOME WORDS ARE NO LONGER WORDS, PAID IN GOATS, and COPTIC: ETHIOPIAN MYSTICISM. For more info: bonniemacallister.com.

Hal Sirowitz<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3564564032/the-mountain-lions-prey-generally-you-wont-see> is the author of 4 collections of poetry, commencing with â€œMother Saidâ€ (Crown), ending with â€œFather Saidâ€ (Soft Skull Press).

FILMS

Believe it or not, Brian Howe and Ashley Howe are neither married nor related. Among other artistic collaborations, theyâ€™ve been making videos together for the past several years, which have been featured in journals such as Drunken Boat. Brian is a journalist, poet, and audiovisual artist who hypes himself in the usual fashion at his blog, <http://waxwroth.blogspot.com/> http://waxwroth.blogspot.com/. Ashley is more of a mystery, avoiding anything by way of an Internet presence or standard bio, so youâ€™ll have to trust Brian that she exists and is awesome.

Amanda Lovelee<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3573185392/amanda-lovelee-is-interested-in-how-people-connect> is interested in how people connect and the spaces in which they do so within contemporary society. Her work, mainly video and photography, weaves together data, stories and personal experience to create non-linear narratives about the fragility of human relationships. Her recent work has explored a myriad of topics: family history, the lives of beekeepers and ice fishermen, strangersâ€™ love stories and the sociology of square dancing.

Jeff Siegel<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3572529646/jeff-siegel-has-worked-in-a-variety-of-different> has worked in a variety of different media over the years, from short fiction to design to music criticism, as a self-styled â€renaissance man,â€ never realizing that thatâ€™s the polite term for â€œdilettante.â€ He can often be seen bloviating on topics about which he really, and obviously, knows very little. <http://www.theprivatesector.org/>www.theprivatesector.org

Tanya Perkins<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/5098400901/journal-of-a-sailor-on-an-alternate-santa-maria>â€™ work has appeared in numerous journals including Cirque, The Wilderness House Literary Review and Arcadia. A graduate student in English Studies at Western Washington University, she lives and writes on the shores of Puget Sound and considers herself damn lucky for it. roughedin.wordpress.com

Jim Tuite and Patrick Morris are artists working in painting, drawing, photography and video. They were both educated at Tyler School of Art. Mr.â€¨Tuite also studied at the School of Visual Art. The video â€œHammerâ€, featuringâ€¨Mr. Morris, examines the relationship between personal demons found in an obsessive ritual with an artistâ€™s creative process.

The Rotunda, located at 4014 Walnut Street in Philadelphia, PA, is a community-gathering place that is fueled by the belief that art is a catalyst for social change and that the arts can lead to the formation of meaningful partnerships between the University of Pennsylvania and surrounding neighborhoods. Over 300 events are offered every year, including live music, film, spoken word, theater, art, dance, education, youth programs, arts incubation, and various experimental genres. As an alcohol-free, smoke-free venue, The Rotunda provides a critical social alternative for all ages. At its core, The Rotunda is a shared space fostering learning, enrichment, and community support while empowering the public to present, produce, and promote their work. <http://rotunda.org/> www.rotunda.org

To submit to Certain Circuits, guidelines are located at http://certaincircuits.org. (Reading period closes 9/30)

Certain Circuits Magazine

www.certaincircuits.org

Tumblr: certaincircuits.tumblr.com

Facebook: certaincircuits

Twitter: certaincircuits

Kickstarter: kck.st/dY99K4

For all inquiries:
[redacted]<http://mailto:[redacted]/>

↑ Index

28. Séamas Cain
The Greek Theatre Museum
Fri 6 May 2011

---------- Forwarded message ----------
From: Yiorgos Chouliaras <[redacted]>
Date: 2011/5/6
Subject: PETITION

DUE TO EXTREMELY HARSH AUSTERITY MEASURES, THE PRESENT GREEK GOVERNMENT, THE FINANCE MINISTER AND THE MINISTER OF CULTURE HAVE DECIDED TO CLOSE THE GREEK THEATRE MUSEUM WHICH HOUSES NOT ONLY THE HISTORY OF THE GREEK THEATRE, BUT IRREPLACEABLE AND UNIQUE HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS -- THEATRE PROGRAMS, ARTIFACTS, COSTUMES, PICTURES, TEXTS, ETC. THE THEATRE COMMUNITY IN GREECE AND WORLD-WIDE MUST NOT PERMIT THIS. IF YOU AGREE, PLEASE SHOW YOUR PERSONAL SUPPORT BY SIGNING THE PETITION ON THE FOLLOWING WEBSITE. IT APPEARS FIRST IN GREEK AND THEN IN ENGLISH. THANK YOU.

http://theatremuseum.blogspot.com/

Against cultural disintegration!

Séamas Cain
http://alazanto.org/seamascain
http://seamascain-writernetwork.org
http://www.mnartists.org/Seamas_Cain

↑ Index

29. ART ELECTRONICS
Caterina Davinio at E-Poetry [2011] University at Buffalo
Fri 6 May 2011

Join me on May 20th 2011 at E-Poetry [2011]:
International Digital Language | Media | Arts Festival
The festival will be held at the University at Buffalo, "UB" or "SUNY Buffalo", Amherst campus. Most events will be held in Room 112, Center for the Arts (CFA).
Waiting for you!
Caterina Davinio

E-Poetry [2011]:
International Digital Language | Media | Arts Festival
TEN YEAR ANNIVERSARY FESTIVAL

University at Buffalo
May 18-21, 2011
Loss Pequeno Glazier Director.

"[E-Poetry] is the longest-running and perhaps the definitive digital literature festival in the world. With its emphasis on arts, performance, critical arts, innovation, and scholarly and artistic conversation, and with previous events in West Virginia, London, Paris, and Barcelona, it has defined international digital literature practice in its epoch.

The tenth anniversary festival of E-Poetry 2011 is set to launch a new epoch in digital literature. E-Poetry, at its inception, may have been first to map this field."

http://epc.buffalo.edu/e-poetry/2011/bios.html

Special pre-conference events on Tues, May 17 and Weds. May 18th during the day and evenings.

--
Forthcoming! Caterina Davinio's book+DVD: Virtual Mercury House_Planetary & Interplanetary Events, Polìmata, Roma 2011. With more than 300 poems, video and texts by poets from around the world!

Davinio's latest book Serial Phenomenologies, 2010. Parallel English text. Afterword by Francesco Muzzioli. Critical note by David W. Seaman:
http://www.bol.it/libri/autore/Caterina-Davinio/7/S/-0/

_____
Archeo Computer-Poetry http://www.youtube.com/CaterinaDav
Contact: [redacted]
Web: http://xoomer.virgilio.it/cprezi/caterinadav.html

↑ Index

30. Jesse Glass

Performance/ Interview for SPECS Magazine: Addresses puppets, absurdity, the radioactive day and visionary poetry

Sat 7 May 2011

The up-coming issue of SPECS includes my absurdist/lang piece from 1973 titled "Hands". In this video you'll see my million dollar bike, an irradiated, rainy sky, a sweeping view of J-kids playing b-ball in the park, a landscape up-ended by the great earthquake but now being tucked back in place by multiple drills and hammers to an army cot blanket's tautness, some of the puppets from my production of Faust at the nearby uni, an unshaven friend, my masked family, and a story that may mean that I've been mad as a hatter since my misspent youth--or not. Please enjoy! Click here: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kR89dwBWHNU

Who loves ya, baby?

Jess of Japan

↑ Index

31. Jesse Glass

What good is great literature, etc. in Geo-Political Terms? My Proposal for A MARCH FOR MUTATION

Sat 7 May 2011

Just had a stirring encounter on this topic with our favorite multi-translator Sam Hamil. We like Sam, and find his translations to be ok--though we spent a good part of a year with an absolutely brilliant, 70 year old grad student, who is a Tokyo patent attorney--a native speaker--and linguist, taking a good look at his version of Oku No Hosomichi and finding it somewhat inaccurate--even in the very beginning passage.

I lack Sam's spiritual pedigree too: I don't spout great wisdom from the East that sounds suspiciously like bromides, I haven't guessed my way in and around a Zen koan, or any of that stuff. He likes to do that, and I don't mind.

But here's the point: I love great literature and I love Sam Hamil's work, but I see no connection between great literature, great art, great music, and the end to violence, fascism, genocide, human suffering of all stripes, hunger, etc.; neither do I see it as the beginning of the fight for equality of any sort, contentment among the masses of workers, and a torch for those toiling on in darkness, etc.

Reasonable people enjoy great literature because it presents at most moments of clarity for them, manners of being, surprises in content and style--memorable tropes.

I would say that tyrants and despots are not the people who march in the streets with reasonable people demanding social equality, change, the end to all violence and universal peace. I would say that even if tyrants and despots read Jack Kerouac it would still not keep them from being tyrants and despots. In addition, I believe that even if the leaders of the free world end their day of leading the free-est of the free worlds by reading Jack Kerouac, Byron's Don Juan, Erica Jong's Fear of Flying, the Great Books from Chicago, etc. those leaders, and those tyrants and despots would still reach for the nearest telephone to call their soldiers, their police, or their operatives when it was time for them to deal with their sense of the "real" world and its problems.

My opinion, which I spelled out to Sam, but which he really didn't look so closely at since he was busy telling me that one step is the beginning of the journey of a thousand miles and that great literature does make a difference in the world because he just knew that the Bible and Jack Kerouac made a difference. (He listed a few more.)

But my point was that, yes, great literature makes a difference to reasonable people like you--reading this posting right now--and Sam, and me--Jess--but that marching, stomping and singing "All We Are Saying is Give Peace A Chance" and Dostoevsky and Baudelaire, etc., doesn't make a difference to anyone but people like us. It tends to make us feel better. But if you look back over history you will see that culture and great literature has always been worthless in the face of great violence and great despair and great suffering. We know that Hitler read Goethe and Grabbe and listened to Beethoven, and that other evil Idiots like Sadam of Iraq was well up on Gilgamesh and fancied himself a poet. Yet he still put men in wood chippers and watched them yell until they couldn't any more.

My thinking is that marching everywhere a million or a trillion strong is good for us, and writing protest poetry, etc., is wonderful because we're on the side of right. We represent the apex of all things good, so we should continue to make those feel-good gestures, but, honestly folks, there's a logical disconnect here. Great literature has been with us for a long while and the powers that be are still violent. We're still killing each other, still suffering in all kinds of ways. I think Art and Culture and Literature have had a tremendous number of chances to make a change.

In addition, it seems that tyrants and despots and even leaders of the free world are getting better at ignoring great literature, cultural accomplishments, marches and protests--which they are developing the technology to control, police, manage, and delete.

What I said to Sam was that perhaps the only way to really "stop the violence" was to change--not our ideas--but our fundamental natures so that the old violent Homo Sapiens whose ancestors came out of Africa with a yen for cooked meat and an ability to fashion stone tools of ambiguous use--that Homo Sapiens that we now are--should be remade into something other than ourselves. The most efficient way to do it is through science. Prayer doesn't work. We can't pray tyrants to death. Singing doesn't work. Woody Guthrie tried that and maybe Dylan too. And anyway, tyrants and despots don't listen much to songs like that. Writing great books doesn't do it. they'll just be remaindered unless they're made into a movie with the latest heart throbs in it. I have no idea what forcing a Mugabi or a Khadaffi to read On the Road would result in--but even though I'm guessing here--you hear me Sam, I'm just guessing--I don't think it would help them help us achieve the world peace that we sincerely seek.

Only a mutation effected through genetic means--a little radiation beamed at the old chromosomes at the right time--would maybe zap that violent nature of ours in the most efficient manner. Then all those potential wielders of power in the future would not be violent.

Then we could enjoy great literature and art without the illusion that any of those activities that make us feel good about ourselves actually does anything in this awful world of ours.

My suggestion is that we have a grand March for Mutation--1000 bodies strong or more. Like the war on cancer--but even more so--let's declare a war on our selves and demand the right kind of change. We need to demand funding for genetic change, for DNA management, so that our children will live in a better, peaceful world, where they can enjoy great literature and recognize it for what it truly is. I'd march for that kind of REAL CHANGE. How about you? Jess

↑ Index

32. michael farrell

Re: What good is great literature, etc. in Geo-Political Terms? My Proposal for A MARCH FOR MUTATION

Sat 7 May 2011

[a note]

aust prime minister john howard famously said that dylan was his favourite musician - but not the lyrics!

too good to be true perhaps ..

> Date: Sat, 7 May 2011 12:51:15 +0000
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: What good is great literature, etc. in Geo-Political Terms? My Proposal for A MARCH FOR MUTATION
> To: [redacted]
>
> Just had a stirring encounter on this topic with our favorite multi-translator Sam Hamil. We like Sam, and find his translations to be ok--though we spent a good part of a year with an absolutely brilliant, 70 year old grad student, who is a Tokyo patent attorney--a native speaker--and linguist, taking a good look at his version of Oku No Hosomichi and finding it somewhat inaccurate--even in the very beginning passage.
>
> I lack Sam's spiritual pedigree too: I don't spout great wisdom from the East that sounds suspiciously like bromides, I haven't guessed my way in and around a Zen koan, or any of that stuff. He likes to do that, and I don't mind.

But here's the point: I love great literature and I love Sam Hamil's work, but I see no connection between great literature, great art, great music, and the end to violence, fascism, genocide, human suffering of all stripes, hunger, etc.; neither do I see it as the beginning of the fight for equality of any sort, contentment among the masses of workers, and a torch for those toiling on in darkness, etc.

Reasonable people enjoy great literature because it presents at most moments of clarity for them, manners of being, surprises in content and style--memorable tropes.

I would say that tyrants and despots are not the people who march in the streets with reasonable people demanding social equality, change, the end to all violence and universal peace. I would say that even if tyrants and despots read Jack Kerouac it would still not keep them from being tyrants and despots. In addition, I believe that even if the leaders of the free world end their day of leading the free-est of the free worlds by reading Jack Kerouac, Byron's Don Juan, Erica Jong's Fear of Flying, the Great Books from Chicago, etc. those leaders, and those tyrants and despots would still reach for the nearest telephone to call their soldiers, their police, or their operatives when it was time for them to deal with their sense of the "real" world and its problems.

My opinion, which I spelled out to Sam, but which he really didn't look so closely at since he was busy telling me that one step is the beginning of the journey of a thousand miles and that great literature does make a difference in the world because he just knew that the Bible and Jack Kerouac made a difference. (He listed a few more.)

But my point was that, yes, great literature makes a difference to reasonable people like you--reading this posting right now--and Sam, and me--Jess--but that marching, stomping and singing "All We Are Saying is Give Peace A Chance" and Dostoevsky and Baudelaire, etc., doesn't make a difference to anyone but people like us. It tends to make us feel better. But if you look back over history you will see that culture and great literature has always been worthless in the face of great violence and great despair and great suffering. We know that Hitler read Goethe and Grabbe and listened to Beethoven, and that other evil Idiots like Sadam of Iraq was well up on Gilgamesh and fancied himself a poet. Yet he still put men in wood chippers and watched them yell until they couldn't any more.

My thinking is that marching everywhere a million or a trillion strong is good for us, and writing protest poetry, etc., is wonderful because we're on the side of right. We represent the apex of all things good, so we should continue to make those feel-good gestures, but, honestly folks, there's a logical disconnect here. Great literature has been with us for a long while and the powers that be are still violent. We're still killing each other, still suffering in all kinds of ways. I think Art and Culture and Literature have had a tremendous number of chances to make a change.

In addition, it seems that tyrants and despots and even leaders of the free world are getting better at ignoring great literature, cultural accomplishments, marches and protests--which they are developing the technology to control, police, manage, and delete.

What I said to Sam was that perhaps the only way to really "stop the violence" was to change--not our ideas--but our fundamental natures so that the old violent Homo Sapiens whose ancestors came out of Africa with a yen for cooked meat and an ability to fashion stone tools of ambiguous use--that Homo Sapiens that we now are--should be remade into something other than ourselves. The most efficient way to do it is through science. Prayer doesn't work. We can't pray tyrants to death. Singing doesn't work. Woody Guthrie tried that and maybe Dylan too. And anyway, tyrants and despots don't listen much to songs like that. Writing great books doesn't do it. they'll just be remaindered unless they're made into a movie with the latest heart throbs in it. I have no idea what forcing a Mugabi or a Khadaffi to read On the Road would result in--but even though I'm guessing here--you hear me Sam, I'm just guessing--I don't think it would help them help us achieve the world peace that we sincerely seek.

Only a mutation effected through genetic means--a little radiation beamed at the old chromosomes at the right time--would maybe zap that violent nature of ours in the most efficient manner. Then all those potential wielders of power in the future would not be violent.

Then we could enjoy great literature and art without the illusion that any of those activities that make us feel good about ourselves actually does anything in this awful world of ours.

My suggestion is that we have a grand March for Mutation--1000 bodies strong or more. Like the war on cancer--but even more so--let's declare a war on our selves and demand the right kind of change. We need to demand funding for genetic change, for DNA management, so that our children will live in a better, peaceful world, where they can enjoy great literature and recognize it for what it truly is. I'd march for that kind of REAL CHANGE. How about you? Jess

↑ Index

33. Jesse Glass
Two Interesting Uses of the Term "Haptic Poetry"
Sun 8 May 2011

Since I wrote the definition of Haptic poetry on Wikipedia in 2007, I've been following the spread of its use among poets, artists and technologists. I'm particularly happy to see it used in classes at Stanford University and Eckard College.

I thought I'd share two of the most recent and most interesting projects.

Here's a link to "Final Wisdom I"--a Haptic Poetry Installation by the intermedia artist John Filiwak and Donald Kuspit, a poet and art critic from NYU Stony Brook. http://idialab.org/projects/36

I'm most tickled by the New York based Louisiana artist Margaret Evangeline's use of the term to describe her "Love Poems for Wet Paint"--which she says is a continuation of her gunshot wounds in stainless steel panel mode of creating art. In the words of the artist these works are "haptic poetry...odes to the savage sensation of painting."

Here's the link to see Margaret Evangeline's interesting work: http://www.margaretevangeline.com/dev/about/?CAKEPHPî10037469221c186272c79552ba7952

Who loves ya, baby?

Let's start a riot!

Jess of Japan

↑ Index

34. Jim Andrews
New on Netartery
Sun 8 May 2011

Netartery is a group blog of writers gone wrong. Synthesis of ideas, arts, media, and programming.

DREAMING METHODS--OPEN SOURCE PROJECT
http://netartery.vispo.com/?p21
by Andy Campbell
Dreaming Methods has three new projects available to experience - each one created without the use of Flash or any other browser plugin.

MAINLY THE MYSTERIES

http://netartery.vispo.com/?p“5
by Gregory Whitehead
One of the great audio artists was asked to write about what he still believes in, through all the riptides of the past decades.

THE CLUB
http://netartery.vispo.com/?p’6
by Jim Andrews
Selected North American politicians, business men, and pyschopaths dbCinemized.

UNDERBELLY & SISTER STONE CARVER
http://netartery.vispo.com/?p‘4
by Christine Wilks
Christine on the relation of her piece Underbelly to where she's from, and her sister's stone carving.

UNICODE BY JORG PIRINGER
http://netartery.vispo.com/?p‘1
by Jim Andrews
A review of Jorg's piece posted on netpoetic.

CITY BIRD BY MILLIE NISS http://netartery.vispo.com/?pˆ5
by Jim Andrews
A short review of the late Millie Niss's new book of poems.

ANDREW TOPEL
http://netartery.vispo.com/?p…7
by Jim Andrews
Some outstanding visual poetry by Andrew Topel.

IN THE SOUP WITH THE DIGITAL BOOK
http://netartery.vispo.com/?p…6
by Paul Green
New contributor Paul Green, audio artist extrordinaire, wonders about the digital book.

RADIAUTEUR--NEW WEBZINE FOR RADIO ART
http://netartery.vispo.com/?p„5
by Gregory Whitehead
Description of and call for works concerning a new online webzine for radio art.

MARIA ENGBERG REVIEWS FUNKHOUSER AND DRUCKER
http://netartery.vispo.com/?pf7
by Jim Andrews
Thoughts on Engberg's article recently published in EBR.

MOM'S MUSIC
http://netartery.vispo.com/?p,8
by Jim Andrews
A last experience together of music.

SLIDVID 3.0
http://netartery.vispo.com/?px9
by Jim Andrews
A software art project by Andrews.

THE CURSE OF THE 'CODE BLUE' MOTTO
http://netartery.vispo.com/?pv5
by Jim Andrews
The motto of the Canadian national junior hockey team in 2011 was "Code Blue". Who knew that their motto would prove ironic? After the final game, did whoever thought up the motto for the Canadian juniors glimpse, in a kind of literary horror, the final meaning the motto would have in history?

↑ Index

35. Harrington, Joseph

Re: What good is great literature, etc. in Geo-Political Terms? My Proposal for A MARCH FOR MUTATION

Sun 8 May 2011

I like the part about mutation. But didn't Allen Tate and john Crowe Ransom say the rest of this stuff in the 30s? Seems like a lot of folks at the moment are re-hashing these arguments from 80 (or 180) years ago. Maybe it's part of our DNA . . . at least Anglophone DNA.

Joe Harrington

_____
From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Jesse Glass [[redacted]]
Sent: Saturday, May 07, 2011 7:51 AM
To: [redacted]

Subject: What good is great literature, etc. in Geo-Political Terms? My Proposal for A MARCH FOR MUTATION

Just had a stirring encounter on this topic with our favorite multi-translator Sam Hamil. We like Sam, and find his translations to be ok--though we spent a good part of a year with an absolutely brilliant, 70 year old grad student, who is a Tokyo patent attorney--a native speaker--and linguist, taking a good look at his version of Oku No Hosomichi and finding it somewhat inaccurate--even in the very beginning passage.

I lack Sam's spiritual pedigree too: I don't spout great wisdom from the East that sounds suspiciously like bromides, I haven't guessed my way in and around a Zen koan, or any of that stuff. He likes to do that, and I don't mind.

But here's the point: I love great literature and I love Sam Hamil's work, but I see no connection between great literature, great art, great music, and the end to violence, fascism, genocide, human suffering of all stripes, hunger, etc.; neither do I see it as the beginning of the fight for equality of any sort, contentment among the masses of workers, and a torch for those toiling on in darkness, etc.

Reasonable people enjoy great literature because it presents at most moments of clarity for them, manners of being, surprises in content and style--memorable tropes.

I would say that tyrants and despots are not the people who march in the streets with reasonable people demanding social equality, change, the end to all violence and universal peace. I would say that even if tyrants and despots read Jack Kerouac it would still not keep them from being tyrants and despots. In addition, I believe that even if the leaders of the free world end their day of leading the free-est of the free worlds by reading Jack Kerouac, Byron's Don Juan, Erica Jong's Fear of Flying, the Great Books from Chicago, etc. those leaders, and those tyrants and despots would still reach for the nearest telephone to call their soldiers, their police, or their operatives when it was time for them to deal with their sense of the "real" world and its problems.

My opinion, which I spelled out to Sam, but which he really didn't look so closely at since he was busy telling me that one step is the beginning of the journey of a thousand miles and that great literature does make a difference in the world because he just knew that the Bible and Jack Kerouac made a difference. (He listed a few more.)

But my point was that, yes, great literature makes a difference to reasonable people like you--reading this posting right now--and Sam, and me--Jess--but that marching, stomping and singing "All We Are Saying is Give Peace A Chance" and Dostoevsky and Baudelaire, etc., doesn't make a difference to anyone but people like us. It tends to make us feel better. But if you look back over history you will see that culture and great literature has always been worthless in the face of great violence and great despair and great suffering. We know that Hitler read Goethe and Grabbe and listened to Beethoven, and that other evil Idiots like Sadam of Iraq was well up on Gilgamesh and fancied himself a poet. Yet he still put men in wood chippers and watched them yell until they couldn't any more.

My thinking is that marching everywhere a million or a trillion strong is good for us, and writing protest poetry, etc., is wonderful because we're on the side of right. We represent the apex of all things good, so we should continue to make those feel-good gestures, but, honestly folks, there's a logical disconnect here. Great literature has been with us for a long while and the powers that be are still violent. We're still killing each other, still suffering in all kinds of ways. I think Art and Culture and Literature have had a tremendous number of chances to make a change.

In addition, it seems that tyrants and despots and even leaders of the free world are getting better at ignoring great literature, cultural accomplishments, marches and protests--which they are developing the technology to control, police, manage, and delete.

What I said to Sam was that perhaps the only way to really "stop the violence" was to change--not our ideas--but our fundamental natures so that the old violent Homo Sapiens whose ancestors came out of Africa with a yen for cooked meat and an ability to fashion stone tools of ambiguous use--that Homo Sapiens that we now are--should be remade into something other than ourselves. The most efficient way to do it is through science. Prayer doesn't work. We can't pray tyrants to death. Singing doesn't work. Woody Guthrie tried that and maybe Dylan too. And anyway, tyrants and despots don't listen much to songs like that. Writing great books doesn't do it. they'll just be remaindered unless they're made into a movie with the latest heart throbs in it. I have no idea what forcing a Mugabi or a Khadaffi to read On the Road would result in--but even though I'm guessing here--you hear me Sam, I'm just guessing--I don't think it would help them help us achieve the world peace that we sincerely seek.

Only a mutation effected through genetic means--a little radiation beamed at the old chromosomes at the right time--would maybe zap that violent nature of ours in the most efficient manner. Then all those potential wielders of power in the future would not be violent.

Then we could enjoy great literature and art without the illusion that any of those activities that make us feel good about ourselves actually does anything in this awful world of ours.

My suggestion is that we have a grand March for Mutation--1000 bodies strong or more. Like the war on cancer--but even more so--let's declare a war on our selves and demand the right kind of change. We need to demand funding for genetic change, for DNA management, so that our children will live in a better, peaceful world, where they can enjoy great literature and recognize it for what it truly is. I'd march for that kind of REAL CHANGE. How about you? Jess

↑ Index

36. Aryanil Mukherjee

150th birth anniversary of Rabindranath Thakur (Tagore)

Sun 8 May 2011

As the 150th birth anniversary of world poet Rabindranath Thakur (Tagore) is celebrated around the world, especially in India and his hometown Kolkata, Rabi is remembered as as artist who continues to cast a humongous shadow on an entire people's social, cultural, musical, intellectual and artisitic orientations. Few who know Tagore as a poet are also aware that his contribution to Indian music was Mozartian, that a flourishing range of songs based on his verse and music called "Rabindrasangeet" have been sung in virtually every Bengali home for more than a century now; an equally brilliant painter, a septuagenarian Tagore became great friends with the German expressionists; that he was a virtuoso playwright, prolific essayist, novelist, dramatist, educationist, philanthropist, talented singer, stage-actor, specialized in doodlist art, the first short-story writer in an Indian language, the first non-European to win the Nobel Prize for Literature, collaborator of M. K. Gandhi as a messanger of world peace etc. etc. The list goes on.

Here are some priceless resources to share today in his remembrance -

A 50-year-old documentary by Satyajit Ray (in 4 parts)
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tDcnajUJ6_4
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9JZiKdyJFwU&feature=related http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QdO16zlIYvw&feature=related
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wZwvbnZPpVE&feature=related

Recent & new English translations (yet to appear in book-form) by Prithwindranath Mukherjee
http://www.kaurab.com/english/bengali_poetry/rabindranath1.html

Aryanil Mukherjee
Editor, Kaurab

↑ Index

37. Wanda Phipps

Summer sublet/share available

Sun 8 May 2011

Hey,

My roommate is traveling in June, July and August. We share a roomy, sunny apartment in a great neighborhood (Kensington, Brooklyn) and we're looking for someone who might be interested in subletting her half of the apartment over the summer. Our apartment is laid out in such a way that both of us can have our privacy with my two rooms in the back of the apartment and a large shared kitchen and full bath between us. My roommate's very large, sunny living/work space and a small bedroom in the front of the apartment is available, from June 7th to August 20th, for only $700 a month. We are looking for someone who is cat friendly because we have a friendly cat named Hephaestus. We are only two blocks from the F and G trains. We are close to the laundromat, supermarket, post office, the shopping district along Church Avenue and only three subway stops from Park Slope. I am a writer, my roommate is a puppeteer, and we are looking for a mature, clean, quiet woman to sublet her half of the apartment over the summer months. If you any have questions or want to discuss this further please contact my roommate by phone [redacted] or email me at [redacted]. If you know someone who might be interested please feel free to pass along this info.

Best,
Wanda

--
Wanda Phipps

Check out my websites: http://mindhoney.com and http://www.myspace.com/wandaphippsband

My latest book of poetry Field of Wanting: Poems of Desire available at: http://www.amazon.com/Field-Wanting-Wanda-Phipps/dp/1934289604/ref=sr_1_2?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1207705068&sr=1-2<http://www.amazon.com/Field-Wanting-Wanda-Phipps/dp/1934289604/ref=sr_1_2?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1207705068&sr=1-2>

And my 1st full-length book of poems Wake-Up Calls: 66 Morning Poems available (print and Kindle editions) at: http://www.amazon.com/exec/obidos/ASIN/193236031X/ref=rm_item

↑ Index

38. Adam Fieled

from The Scrounge: 9 Links

Sun 8 May 2011

These mark the continuation of the verse drama The Scrounge:

"The Double Suicide": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-double-suicide.html

"About a Waitress": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-about-waitress.html

"Karen on the Job": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-karen-on-job.html

"Karen's Reply to Pam": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-karens-reply-to-pam.html

"You and Your Sister": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-you-and-your-sister.html

"Maureen in Philly": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-maureen-in-philly.html

"Hardcore Sex": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-hardcore-sex.html

"Kara and Karen": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-kara-and-karen.html

"Maureen on Academia": http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-maureen-on-academia.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

39. mIEKAL aND
STARE AT [redacted] by Nico Vassilakis
Mon 9 May 2011

[redacted] by Nico Vassilakis

http://xexoxial.org/is/staring_at_poetics/by/nico_vassilakis

$12.00
2011, 5" x 8", 56 pgs, Full Color.
ISBN 1-936687-03-8 | EAN-13978-1-936687-03-9

from the book:

How do our retinal experiences alter what we think we know about alphabet? From minimal to maximal, the alphabet is explored and expanded on. From the contextual aggregates and combinations of letters to the visual elements that form a single letter. The visual poetry of alphabet insists that writing is the drawing of what and how we think, and within that writing, images accrue, the letters themselves, drawn, or otherwise printed, are illustrating or reproducing our thought.

Nico Vassilakis appears before us a master of visual poetry, one of the few, someone who understands the arrangement of letters into stareable sense, an unsense of the breathing heart, and he appears before us speaking of visual poetry as an act of making and seeing, speaking to us, speaking of himself, showing through the pages of this vast but tiny poetics just what his preaching practices, and the words are beautiful and teach of visual poetry as a poetry as told to us through a poetic poetics, and the images of letters, these dark and suppurating visual poems scattered through the text, haunt us back into sleep, back into dreaming of the humped and crooked and gracefully curving shapes of letters that have become an essential element of our blood—it is all here, where everything is of a piece and shattered into pieces.

—Geof Huth

Nico Vassilakis has created the perfect volume to delight and inspire the full spectrum of a visual poetry audience, ranging from someone unaware of the art, to the fully engaged, addicted practitioner of vispo. He delves into the progressively crystalline elements of visual poetry: the word, the letter, the fraction of a letter. The writing is brilliant; the visual poetry, stunning. Staring is replete with pure discovery, rendered in textual and visio-textual dimensions. Vassilakis recalls, reveals, and spawns pure visual poetry, inspiring full attunement to an inventively distilled magic.

—Sheila E. Murphy

Wow! I attended the Avant Writing conference where Nico Vassilakis composed [redacted] and marvel how he is able to perform the formidable multitasking of writing this long poem and illustrating it with stunningly beautiful, computer generated, visual letter poems as his take on their emotional, visual impact while remaining attentive to the many oral presentations at this conference. But I shouldn't be surprised – I have followed his poetic career for many years and found him to be one of the most challenging, cutting-edge, American poets today. The long poem or the visual poems are each worth the price of the book. This book deserves a place in any library of contemporary poetry.

—Marvin A Sackner

Co-Founder, The Ruth and Marvin Sackner Archive of Concrete and Visual Poetry, Miami, FL

Xexoxial Editions
10375 County Highway Alphabet
La Farge, WI 54639

www.xexoxial.org
[redacted]

↑ Index

40. amy king
Fw: Gazette 5.9.11
Mon 9 May 2011

From: Diane

Week of May 9, 2011
----- Forwarded Message -----

From: Diane

Week of May 9, 2011
News of Barbara LaMorticella, Barbara Crooker, Julie Kane, Gail White, Marie-Elizabeth Mali, Suzanne Frischkorn, Mary Meriam, Louisa Howerow, Ruth Foley, Carol Berg, Ann Hostetler, Farideh Hassanzadeh-Mostafavi, Barbara A. Taylor, Martha Deed, Joelle Biele, Penny Harter,Â Penelope Scambly Schott, Diane Lockward, Susan Laughter Meyers, Sherry Chandler, Ellen Miller-Mack, Sally Rosen Kindred, Rachel Dacus, Barbara Ellen Sorensen, Mary Rose Betten, Pam Bernard, Millicent Borges Accardi, Patricia Fargnoli, Anne Harding Woodworth

PUBLICATIONS:
Barbara LaMorticellaâ€™s poem â€œSolstice on Multnomah Channelâ€ was chosen to appear with childrenâ€™s art and poetry in the just-released anthology,Â Â Honoring our Rivers 2011,Â an anthology put out by the Willamette Fellowship of work done by schoolchildren in the watersheds of Oregon and around the world.

([redacted])

Barbara Crooker's poem, "Room in New York, 1932," appears in the new issue of decomP:Â http://www.decompmagazine.com/roominnewyork1932.htmÂ Audio isÂ alsoÂ available.Â Her poem, "Alicia Silverstone Meets William Carlos Williams" is reprinted in the anthology, Visiting Dr. Williams:Â Poems Inspired by the Life and Work of William Carlos Willams (University of Iowa Press). Her writing prompt, based on Diane Lockward's poem, "To a Potato," appears on Anjie Kokan's blog, Prompts for Writers:Â http://promptsforwriters.blogspot.com/ ([redacted])

Julie Kane has recently published poems in The Dark Horse ("Colorific"), The Raintown Review ("AA Story"), and Southern Women's Review ("Men Who Love Redheads" and "Birch Thoughts in Louisiana").Â She and Rima KrasauskytÄ— translated nine poems by the Lithuanian poet Tautvyda MarcinkeviÄiÅ«tÄ— in the most recent issue of The Drunken Boat:
http://www.thedrunkenboat.com/tautvydamarcinkeviciute.html.

Gail White's poem "A Speech for Juliet's Nurse" appears in the current issue of the Evansville Review.

Marie-Elizabeth Mali's poem, "Who Says the Ear Loves Slience?" appears in the current issue of Poet Lore. Her poem, "Taken for Granted," appears in the current issue of Union Square Magazine:Â
http://unionstationmag.com/2011/05/poem-marie-elizabeth-mali/ ([redacted])

Suzanne Frischkorn's poem "When My Granddaughter Asks" appears in the debut issue of Printer's Devil Review.

Mary Meriam has a poem, "The Woman of My Dreams," in the current issue of The Gay & Lesbian Review, and three poems (Wu Tsao the Bull, Christina Rossetti the Twins, Emily Dickinson the Crab)Â in the current issue of Measure: A Review of Formal Poetry. ([redacted])

Louisa Howerow's poem "Just to Let You Know I haven't Forgotten the Garden" appears in the spring/summer 2011 issue of FreeFall.

Ruth Foley's poem "Live Birth" is up at Blood Lotus.Â
([redacted])

Carol Berg's poem "On Longing" is up at Redheaded Stepchild. Â ([redacted])

Ann Hostetler's poems, "Afterbirth" and "On the Front Porch at Midnight" appear in the new issue of Literary Mama: http://www.literarymama.com/profile.php?author=ann-hostetler

Farideh Hassanzadeh-Mostafavi and her daughter, Soufi Mostafavi, have two poems on Motherâ€™s Day in the new issue of : First Literary Review-East: www.rulrul.4mg.com ([redacted])

Barbara A. Taylor has three haiku, "acid rains," "homeward bound," "summer rains,"Â and a haibun, "Oblivion," in Mango Moons, feature on Muse India, http://www.museindia.com/focuscontent.asp?issid=37&id=2670Â ([redacted])

Martha Deed's November 2010 Project texts (contribution to 30 texts from 30 writers) published by http://chapbookpublisher.com/November-2010.html and her video poem, "Snow Haiku," exhibited at Electronic Village Galleries (http://evg.dematerial.org/) ([redacted])

Joelle Biele's essay, "Pulled by the Hair: Deborah Digges and the Power of Myth" appears in the spring issue of Kenyon Review Online: https://www.kenyonreview.org/kro_full.php?file=biele.php

FEATURES:
Penny Harter's poem, "Shelling Peas," was featured on Mother's Day at Your Daily Poem: http://www.yourdailypoem.com/listpoem.jsp?poem_id=728 ([redacted])

A poem by Penelope Scambly Schott will be featured this Wednesday, May 11, at Verse Daily: www.versedaily.com

AUDIO / VIDEO:
Monday May 16,Â 10-11 PM Pacific Time
Talking Earth poetry, hosted by Barbara LaMorticella
KBOO Radio,Â 90.7 FM Portland broadcast live on the web at http://kboo.fm Poets Susan Denning and John Morrison read and talk contact:Â Â [redacted]Â

REVIEWS:
Diane Lockward's Temptation by Water is reviewed by Susan Laughter MeyersÂ in the latest issue of Pirene's Fountain.
http://www.pirenesfountain.com/reviews-etc/reviews.html#n3
([redacted])
([redacted])

Sherry Chandlerâ€™s newly-released book,Â Weaving a New Eden,Â is reviewed by Mary Popham in theÂ Louisville Courier-JournalÂ for May 7,

2011.Â Â http://www.courier-journal.com/apps/pbcs.dll/article?AID=2011305070030

Ellen Miller-Mackâ€™s review ofLast Seen by Jacqueline Jones LaMon appears in the current issue of Bookslut:Â http://bookslut.com/ . ([redacted])

Sally Rosen Kindredâ€™s book, No Eden, is reviewed by Cherie Walsh in Gently Read Literature: http://gentlyread.wordpress.com/2011/05/01/the-vividness-of-the-particular-cherie-walsh-on-sally-rosen-kindreds-no-eden/ ([redacted])Â

Rachel Dacus reviews Barbara Crooker's More in the current issue of The Pedestal Magazine (http://www.thepedestalmagazine.com/gallery.php?item=17539)

AWARDS:
Julie Kane has just been appointed Poet Laureate of Louisiana for the 2011-2013 term.

Barbara Ellen Sorensen's book, Song from the Deep Middle Brain (Main Street Rag Publishing, 2010), is a finalist in the 2011 Colorado Book Awards. The awards ceremony takes place June 24, 2011 in Aspen, Colorado.

EVENTS:
Sunday, May 15
Poetry Festival: A Celebration of Literary Journals
12 Journals and Editors
24 Poets Reading
West Caldwell Public Library
30 Clinton Rd.
West Caldwell, NJ
1:00 - 5:00 PM Â Â Â Free
Organized and hosted by Diane Lockward http://www.dianelockward.com/fest.html

READINGS:
Tuesday, May 10
Mary Rose Betten
Artists Union Gallery
330 S. California St. Plaza
Ventura, California
7:30PM Â Â Free
contact:[redacted]

Friday, May 13
Pam Bernard with Simeon Berry, Valerie Duff, Gwen Jensen,Â and Heather Madden Â
Salamander reading

Mass Poetry Festival (May 13-14Â) Â
The Gathering
217 Essex St.
Salem, MA
5:30 to 6:30 p.m.
Mass Poetry Festival Website: www.masspoetry.org

Saturday, May 14
Marie-Elizabeth Mali hosts Page Meets Stage with Aimee Nezhukumatathil and Cristin O'Keefe Aptowicz
Massachusetts Poetry Festival
Phillips Library, 132 Essex St.
Salem, MA
3:00 pm, $10 buys button for whole festival
Contact:Â http://masspoetry.crowdvine.com/

Sunday, May 15
Millicent Borges AccardiÂ
Valley Contemporary Poets Reading Series
Encino Community Center
4935 Balboa Blvd.
Encino, CA
5:00 PM Â Â $3 Donation Requested
Contact:Â http://poetrysuperhighway.com/vcp/readings.html

Sunday, May 15
Patricia Fargnoli and Dzvinia OrlowskyÂ
Poetry on Broadway Series
Co-sponsored with the Cambridge Public Library and New England Poetry Club Cambridge Public Library, Main Library
449 BroadwayÂ
Cambridge, MA
2pmÂ

Tuesday, May 24
Anne Harding Woodworth with Jody Bolz and Tom Healy
Library of Congress
Whittall Pavilion, Thomas Jefferson Building
10 First Street, SE
Washington, D.C.
12 noon, Free

↑ Index

41. amy king

Flashback: What is Experimental Poetry & Why Do We Need It?

Mon 9 May 2011

Joan Retallack
What is Experimental Poetry & Why Do We Need
It?

Critique of the appropriative we makes way for an inclusive we of human responsibility acknowledging the shared origin and destiny of every form of life on the planet. A planetary pronoun is inherently experimental. No one knows what its force might be. The question is how to deploy it in consequential synergistic projects (thought and living experiments) that compose new value coordinates for we. â€” Genre Tallique,Glances: An Unwritten Book

2
Hereâ€™s a little thought experimentâ€”a schematic essay of linked propositions with several implications.
3
a) There is the shock of alterity. Or should be.
b) There is the pleasure of alterity. Or should be.
c) We humans with all our conversational structures have yet to invite enough alterity in.
d) Experiment is conversation with an interrogative dynamic. Its consequential structures turn on paying attention to what happens when well-designed questions are directed to things we sense but donâ€™t really know. These things cannot be known by merely examining our own minds.

4 If there is or can be an experimental poetics, where â€œexperimentalâ€ means something more interesting than the latest stylistic oddities, it will at least have to be an exploration of a), b), and c) by means of d).

5 These are working notes that range along a mirage line between the descriptive and prescriptive. It seems hopeless to dodge blurring a distinction I donâ€™t quite believe in. Doesnâ€™t the act of description always entail prescriptive exhortation: Notice this. Notice this in a particular way. Value that noticing. This is real. Take it to heart. Make something of it.

Continued here --Â http://jacketmagazine.com/32/p-retallack.shtml

****

VIDA: Â Women in Literary Arts
+Â Interviews

Amy's Alias
+Â http://amyking.org/Â
****

↑ Index

42. amy king
Help? Separation of ...
Mon 9 May 2011

Can anyone point me in the direction of info online regarding how / why / the evolution / 'devolution' of the "schools" took place since the Greeks... I.e. How did the liberal arts become one school where someone will likely not study mathematics, etc?

Thanks,

Amy

****
VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

43. Paul Nelson
Re: Help? Separation of ...
Mon 9 May 2011

Shahar Bram's essay Charles Olson and Alfred North Whitehead: An Amy,

Shahar Bram's essay Charles Olson and Alfred North Whitehead: An Essay on Poetry is an excellent resource for this split. In my review of it, I note:

In Olsonâ€™s view the separation of myth and logos, starting with the pre-Socratic philosophers, with the autonomy of thought (intellect) leading away from the concrete, and that of experience in favor of abstraction; the separation of the ontic and epistemic levels (revealed versus concealed; subject versus object); Olson suggests this is when the decisive split happened in Western culture.

Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â The second of these last two notions is called the â€œStance.â€ His stance is USE. To dig for this information and create a process out of a cosmology that rectifies the split in Western culture that Olson suggests goes back to 450 BC. Using the demotic, the concrete, applying it to oneâ€™s community (polis) using a process that does not seek to describe, but enact, these are all aspects of the brilliance of Olsonâ€™s poetics. Bram lays them all out in terms of their primary source in the cosmology of Whitehead more clearly than has even been done.

The link to the review is here:
http://www.globalvoicesradio.org/Semester_3_Annotated_Biblio.htm

Good luck,

Paul Nelson
Seattle,WA

Â
Paul E. Nelson

SPLAB!
C. City, WA
[redacted]begin_of_the_skype_highlightingÂ Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â [redacted]Â Â Â Â Â Â end_of_the_skype_highlighting

_____
From: amy king <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Monday, May 9, 2011 9:33 AM
Subject: Re: Help? Separation of ...

Can anyone point me in the direction of info online regarding how / why / the evolution / 'devolution' of the "schools" took place since the Greeks... I.e. How did the liberal arts become one school where someone will likely not study mathematics, etc?Â

Thanks,

Amy

****
VIDA: Â Women in Literary Arts
+Â Interviews

Amy's Alias
+Â http://amyking.org/Â
****

↑ Index

44. Murat Nemet-Nejat

Re: 150th birth anniversary of Rabindranath Thakur (Tagore)

Mon 9 May 2011

Aryanil, thanks.
Murat

On Sun, May 8, 2011 at 11:44 AM, Aryanil Mukherjee <[redacted]>wrote:

> As the 150th birth anniversary of world poet Rabindranath Thakur (Tagore) is celebrated around the world, especially in India and his hometown Kolkata, Rabi is remembered as as artist who continues to cast a humongous shadow on an entire people's social, cultural, musical, intellectual and artisitic orientations. Few who know Tagore as a poet are also aware that his contribution to Indian music was Mozartian, that a flourishing range of songs based on his verse and music called "Rabindrasangeet" have been sung in virtually every Bengali home for more than a century now; an equally brilliant painter, a septuagenarian Tagore became great friends with the German expressionists; that he was a virtuoso playwright, prolific essayist, novelist, dramatist, educationist, philanthropist, talented singer, stage-actor, specialized in doodlist art, the first short-story writer in an Indian language, the first non-European to win the Nobel Prize for Literature, collaborator of M. K. Gandhi as a messanger of world peace etc. etc. The list goes on.
>
> Here are some priceless resources to share today in his remembrance -
>
> A 50-year-old documentary by Satyajit Ray (in 4 parts)
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tDcnajUJ6_4
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9JZiKdyJFwU&feature=related
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QdO16zlIYvw&feature=related
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wZwvbnZPpVE&feature=related
>
> Recent & new English translations (yet to appear in book-form) by Prithwindranath Mukherjee
> http://www.kaurab.com/english/bengali_poetry/rabindranath1.html
>
> Aryanil Mukherjee
> Editor, Kaurab

↑ Index

45. Megan M Garr
Amsterdam's Versal launches its ninth edition
Mon 9 May 2011

Amsterdam's Versal launches its ninth edition
http://www.versaljournal.org

On April 28th, the ninth edition of Versal, the international literary and art annual, was launched at SMART Project Space in Amsterdam in conjunction with Literary Death Match. Described by Time Out Amsterdam as "beautifully manicured", Versal 9 is the biggest, boldest, and most stunning issue to date.

Antoinette Nausikaä's striking art piece "I am happy" opens the 140-page issue. Versal 9 also includes a special section dedicated to an as-yet unseen work by Alice Notley, our first-ever insert (an art piece by Paris-based UK artist Francene), and new writing from a myriad of today¹s most exciting voices, including Tony Mancus (USA), Maya Sarishvili (Georgia), Heather Hartley (USA), Louis Armand (Australia), Yago Cura (Argentina-USA), Lizzi Thistlethwayte (UK), and Stacy Kidd (USA).

Like its predecessors, Versal 9 is a calmly crafted yet filled-to-the-brim journal that redefines the literary in print. It is now available at select bookshops and online at www.versaljournal.org.

About Versal

Versal is published annually by the Amsterdam-based wordsinhere group, a non-profit, volunteer-run organization for international writers living and working in the Netherlands. Its editors hail from Canada, Russia, the UK, the USA and the Netherlands, and are led by American poet Megan M. Garr.

A publication celebrating translocal intersections and cross-cultural dialogue, Versal is internationally renowned for the quality of work published by up-and-coming as well as established writers, and for its strong attention to design and production values.

For press enquiries and review copies, please contact us at [redacted]

http://www.versaljournal.org

↑ Index

46. Daniel Zimmerman
Re: Help? Separation of ...
Mon 9 May 2011

The quadrivium comprised the four subjects, or arts, taught in medieval universities after the trivium. The word is Latin, meaning "the four ways" or

"the four roads". Together, the trivium and the quadrivium comprised the seven liberal arts.[1] The quadrivium consisted of arithmetic, geometry, music, and astronomy. These followed the preparatory work of the trivium made up of grammar, logic, and rhetoric. In turn, the quadrivium was considered preparatory work for the serious study of philosophy and theology. (Wikipedia)

-----Original Message-----
From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [mailto:[redacted]] On Behalf Of amy king
Sent: Monday, May 09, 2011 12:34 PM
To: [redacted]
Subject: Help? Separation of ...

Can anyone point me in the direction of info online regarding how / why / the evolution / 'devolution' of the "schools" took place since the Greeks... I.e. How did the liberal arts become one school where someone will likely not study mathematics, etc?

Thanks,

Amy

****
VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

47. Jennifer Karmin
The Sustainable Arts Foundation: art & writing grants for working parents
Mon 9 May 2011

The Sustainable Arts Foundation is a non-profit foundation supporting artists and writers with families. Our mission is to provide financial awards to parents pursuing creative work.

Too often, creative impulses are set aside to meet the wonderful, but pressing, demands of raising a family. The foundation's goal is to encourage parents to continue pursuing their creative passion, and to rekindle it in those who may have let it slide.

http://www.sustainableartsfoundation.org

Summer Awards
Application deadline: May 20

Winter Awards
Application deadline: September 30

↑ Index

48. Cara Benson
The Secret of Milk
Tue 10 May 2011

From tract series #5: â€œTo begin, I wanted to engage with language (dialogically and/or dialectically) of milk consumption and commercial dairy practices. (I think I want(ed) a relationship with an abject subject.) There is a time to present and, like Reznikoff, allow the reader to come to her own conclusions (she does anyway, right?). And then, as David Cope says, there is a time to kick down the door so the poem does not recede into the closet. Or as Eileen Myles puts it, where was the A=I=D=S poems? No subject object verb agreement, no.â€ Â http://eohippuslabs.com/3/series-menu

↑ Index

49. Christophe Casamassima
Free Poetry for All: 10 days left for fundraising!
Tue 10 May 2011

There's 10 days left on my Kickstarter gig and I only need about $330 more! From here on out, anyone who donates $25 will receive all 4 Furniture Press Books. See here for details: furniturepressbooks.com

And... If I don't reach my goal, I get nothing!

To donate, please go here: http://kck.st/h5dZ2D

Thanks for your help, everyone.

Best,
Christophe Casamassima

↑ Index

50. steve dalachinsky
Re: Frank Smaperi poetry
Wed 11 May 2011

---

i have a copule of great grossman books by him but noet a collected just go to ABEbooks
On Wed, 11 May 2011 10:19:39 -0400 "Carfagna, Richard"

<[redacted]> writes:
> Hi,
> Does anyone know there is a collected volume of poems by Frank > Samperi ?
>
> Thanks,
> Ric
>
>
>
>
>

↑ Index

51. Gary Sullivan

Gurlesque, Drew Gardner, etc. poetry comics original art for sale

Wed 11 May 2011

I'm selling the original artwork from my New Life series of comics, published in Rain Taxi since 1997.

Most have already sold, but a few new pieces and a handful of older things are still available at:

http://newlifecomic.blogspot.com/

Still available are comics using words by/about: The Gurlesque anthology, Drew Gardner, Katie Degentesh, Sharon Mesmer, Eileen Myles, Chris Stroffolino, and more.

I ship these for free to anywhere in the world.

Contact me for paypal address or street address for checks.

Thanks!

Gary Sullivan

↑ Index

52. Rob McLennan

fwd; Phyllis Webb documentary by Robert McTavish on CBC Radio's IDEAS

Wed 11 May 2011

A profile of Canada's great poet and the co-creator of the program IDEAS! Phyllis Webb: The Art of Ideas on IDEAS on CBC Radio, 9pm Thursday, May 12th.

She has spent a lifetime asking questions. Her body of work was never satisfied with the answers. Poet, anarchist, intellectual, former radio producer, and co-creator of the program IDEAS, we honour Phyllis Webb in this documentary by Robert McTavish.

Robert McTavish has done a number of radio and film documentaries, including What to Make of it All? The life and poetry of John Newlove (2006). He later edited the collection A Long Continual Argument: The Selected Poems of John Newlove (Chaudiere Books 2007 with an afterword by Jeff Derksen) which critic Steve Noyes described as "probably the best summation of John Newlove's inimitable poems that we are likely to get" and is currently producing and directing his fourth film, The Line Has Shattered, on the 1963 Vancouver Poetry Conference.

http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/2011/05/phyllis-webb-documentary-by-robert.html

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

53. CA Conrad
Dowling, Bloch, Zuzga, Low, on JUPITER 88
Wed 11 May 2011

Just a few of the latest poets to read their poems on JUPITER 88, a video journal of contemporary poetry.
Click here: http://JUPITER88poetry.blogspot.com

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

54. CA Conrad
sp. ed. : Dowling, Bloch, Zuzga, Lasky, Low, Sherlock...
Wed 11 May 2011

Sarah Dowling, Julia Bloch, Jason Zuzga, Dorothea Lasky, Trisha Low, Frank Sherlock, and others for the JUPITER 88 Special Edition celebrating Allen Ginsberg: http://jupiter88ginsberg.blogspot.com/

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

55. Jared Schickling
eccolinguistics viz
Wed 11 May 2011

Issue 3 / Post-contact:

Michael Basinski, John M. Bennett, Jasper Brinton, Joel Chace, Steve Dalachinsky, Dot Devota, Nicholas DeBoer, Whit Griffin, Angela Hume, Brenda Iijima, Caroline Knapp, Abdellatif Laabi, Michael Leong, E. J. McAdams, Philip Meersman, Marc Pietrzykowski, Chuck Richardson, Micah Robbins, Jamie Sharpe, Page Hill Starzinger, Brad Vogler, Mark Wallace

Back issues available. Reprints for free.

Recent news. Accommodating YOU. Blissfully broke.

Accepting work. Accepting subscriptions. Free.

happy reading -

jared

: eccolinguistics :
: delete press :
: reconfigurations :

↑ Index

56. Carfagna, Richard
Frank Smaperi poetry
Wed 11 May 2011

Hi,
Does anyone know there is a collected volume of poems by Frank Samperi ?

Thanks,
Ric

↑ Index

57. Petra Kuppers

new book: Neil Marcus: Special Effects - Advances in Neurology

Wed 11 May 2011

Special Effects: Advances in Neurology by Neil Marcus

More than a document of the early days of the disability rights movement, Neil Marcus' collection Special Effects: Advances in Neurology is also a window into California zine culture of the 1980s. Art in revolution: social justice, the human growth movement, art in the everyday. From flourishing dystopia to speech storms, Neil documents living artfully in Berkeley, California, and in Disability Country. http://www.publicationstudio.biz/books/ On the publication studio website is also a free reading commons link.

--

Petra Kuppers
Associate Professor
English, Art and Design, Theatre and Dance, Women's Studies University of Michigan
435 S. State Street
3187 Angell Hall
Ann Arbor
MI 48109-1003
mobile: [redacted]
email: [redacted]
Artistic Director of The Olimpias homepage: www.olimpias.org

↑ Index

58. Susan Webster Schultz

recent posts by Tinfish Editor

Wed 11 May 2011

Please find these posts at http:tinfisheditor.blogspot.com

May <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011_05_01_archive.html> (5)

* Community Poetry, or, The Story of A. <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/05/community-poetry-or-story-of.html>
* Mother's Day, May 8, 2011 <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/05/mothers-day-may-8-2011.html>
* Don DeLillo's _Falling Man_: 9/11 & Alzheimer's <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/05/don-delillos-falling-man-911-alzheimers.html>

* Writing While White: Thoughts on Writing Race as a...
<http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/05/writing-while-white-thoughts-on-writing.html>
* "Grounded by Humbleness": Okana Road, The Murder o...
<http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/05/grounded-by-humbleness-okana-road-percy.html>

aloha, Susan M. Schultz/Tinfish Editor

↑ Index

59. amy king
OT: Death to high school English
Wed 11 May 2011

EducationTuesday, May 10, 2011 20:30 ET
Death to high school English
My college students don't understand commas, far less how to write an essay. Is it time to rethink how we teach?
-- http://www.salon.com/life/education/index.html?story=/mwt/feature/2011/05/10/death_to_high_school_english

****

VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

60. Joel Lewis
Re: Frank Smaperi poetry
Wed 11 May 2011

Station Hill (I think) did a selected a few years ago & the bigger books that Grossman did in the 60s usually show up with book dealers. There is now a website set up by family, so maybe there is a move to getting unpublished manuscripts out and the like.

joel lewis

On May 11, 2011 10:19am, "Carfagna, Richard" <[redacted]> wrote:
> Hi,

> Does anyone know there is a collected volume of poems by Frank Samperi ?

> Thanks,
>
> Ric
>
> ==========

↑ Index

61. Matthew Landis
Re: Frank Smaperi poetry
Wed 11 May 2011

Not that I know of. The person to talk to about this would probably be Jamie Townsend. He did a Jacket feature on Samperi a couple years back and I believe his thesis at Naropa was on Samperi as well. I know he's done extensive research regardless.

On May 11, 2011 12:42 PM, "Carfagna, Richard" <[redacted]> wrote:

Hi,
Does anyone know there is a collected volume of poems by Frank Samperi ?

Thanks,
Ric

↑ Index

62. Calvin Pennix
Sphered - A Prezi Poem
Wed 11 May 2011

A draft of a chapbook I am currently working on and my first attempt at a Prezi poem...

http://prezi.com/53rbfylaxg4u/sphered/

Enjoy.

Calvin Pennix

↑ Index

63. Jennifer Karmin
May 13: With + Stand in Berkeley, CA
Wed 11 May 2011

With + Stand 5
Poetry Reading & Release Party

Friday, May 13th
7-11pm

at Zughaus Gallery
1306 3rd St â€“ Berkeley, CA

FREE POETRY
FREE EVENT

Readings by Jacqueline Frost, Barbara Claire Freeman, Lauren Levin, Meg Day, Monica Peck, Kristin Palm, Lara Durback, Erica Lewis, Brian Ang, Dan Thomas-Glass, Jennifer Karmin, and more. BYOB.

A reading and release party at the intersection of poetics and radical politics, celebrating the fifth issue of one of the most cutting-edge arts publications of recent yearsâ€”With + Stand, the journal of postindustrial poetics.

Parking will be available nearby at Gilman Grill:
1300 4th St

More information at:
http://withplusstand.blogspot.com

↑ Index

64. Aldonlnielsen
Re: Frank Smaperi poetry
Wed 11 May 2011

There's a selected that came out just last year. Don't know about a collected.

Aldon Lynn Nielsen

Kelly Professor of American Literature
Department of English
117 Burrowes Building
The Pennsylvania State University
University Park, PA
16802-6200

Sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

I never wanted to be the man who broke your heart --
Only wanted to be the man who wrote the song --

That broke your heart

On May 11, 2011, at 10:19 AM, "Carfagna, Richard" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Hi,
> Does anyone know there is a collected volume of poems by Frank Samperi ?
>
> Thanks,
> Ric

↑ Index

65. Mark Weiss

Re: Help? Separation of ...

Wed 11 May 2011

Philosophy included the natural sciences.

The split dates to the professionalization of science and mathematics, in the 19th century, but an educated person was expected to0 have studied mathematics and the hard sciences until at least the mid-20th century, which is why they were required at almost all universities and colleges.

-----Original Message-----
>From: Daniel Zimmerman <[redacted]>
>Sent: May 9, 2011 8:38 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Re: Help? Separation of ...
>
>The quadrivium comprised the four subjects, or arts, taught in medieval >universities after the trivium. The word is Latin, meaning "the four ways" >or "the four roads". Together, the trivium and the quadrivium comprised the >seven liberal arts.[1] The quadrivium consisted of arithmetic, geometry, >music, and astronomy. These followed the preparatory work of the trivium >made up of grammar, logic, and rhetoric. In turn, the quadrivium was >considered preparatory work for the serious study of philosophy and >theology. (Wikipedia)
>
>-----Original Message-----
>From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [mailto:[redacted]] On >Behalf Of amy king
>Sent: Monday, May 09, 2011 12:34 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Help? Separation of ...
>
>Can anyone point me in the direction of info online regarding how / why / >the evolution / 'devolution' of the "schools" took place since the Greeks...
>I.e. How did the liberal arts become one school where someone will likely >not study mathematics, etc?Â
>
>

>Thanks,
>
>Amy
>
>
>******
>VIDA: Â Women in Literary Arts
>+Â Interviews
>
>Amy's Alias
>+Â http://amyking.org/Â
>*****
>
>

↑ Index

66. Carfagna, Richard
Two new books
Wed 11 May 2011

Thanks to Chalk Editions for publishing my two new works:

http://www.scribd.com/chalkeditions

Symphony No.4-
'Attempts to spin a cubist view on spatial fate'

Symphony No.6-
'Attempts a channeled Zen-like minimalism'

Be Well,
Ric

↑ Index

67. jpjones
Re: fwd; Phyllis Webb documentary by Robert McTavish on CBC Radio's IDEAS
Wed 11 May 2011

Sure hope this makes it out of Canada onto our radios down here. I have admired and been influenced from afar ...

'never satisfied' is a great description.

thanks Rob

_____
Jill Jones

www.jilljones.com.au

On Wed May 11 23:15 , Rob McLennan sent:

> A profile of Canada's great poet and the co-creator of the program IDEAS! Phyllis Webb: The Art of Ideas on IDEAS on CBC Radio, 9pm Thursday, May 12th.
>
> She has spent a lifetime asking questions. Her body of work was never satisfied with the answers. Poet, anarchist, intellectual, former radio producer, and co-creator of the program IDEAS, we honour Phyllis Webb in this documentary by Robert McTavish.
>
> Robert McTavish has done a number of radio and film documentaries, including What to Make of it All? The life and poetry of John Newlove (2006). He later edited the collection A Long Continual Argument: The Selected Poems of John Newlove (Chaudiere Books 2007 with an afterword by Jeff Derksen) which critic Steve Noyes described as "probably the best summation of John Newlove's inimitable poems that we are likely to get" and is currently producing and directing his fourth film, The Line Has Shattered, on the 1963 Vancouver Poetry Conference.
>
> http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/2011/05/phyllis-webb-documentary-by-robert.html
>
> --
> *writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/*

↑ Index

68. Louis Armand

New issue of VLAK: CONTEMPORARY POETICS & THE ARTS

Thu 12 May 2011

We are very pleased to announce that copies of the new issue of VLAK: CONTEMPORARY POETICS & THE ARTS are now available from Litteraria Pragensia (www.litterariapragensia.com).

VLAK 2 / MAY 2011
edited by Louis Armand, Edmund Berrigan, Carol Watts, Ali Alizadeh, Stephan Delbos, Jane Lewty, David Vichnar
ISSN 1804-512X
PRAGUE / NEW YORK / LONDON / MELBOURNE / PARIS / AMSTERDAM
www.vlakmagazine.com

424 pages of new writing & visual art, including...

DAVID HAYMAN on Robert Motherwell
Poetry by VINCENT KATZ
Excerpts from PHILIPPE SOLLERSâ€™ H
NIALL LUCY on Jacques Derrida
Poetry by ALICE NOTLEY
Excerpts from EMMANUELLE PIREYREâ€™s General Spectacular
JEROEN NIEUWLAND on Monika Cichon
Fiction by HOLLY TAVEL
JOHN KINSELLA & URS JAEGGIâ€™s Tractortatus Illogico
LOUIS ARMAND on Pierre Joris
ADAM TRACHTMANâ€™s photoessay on MoroccoExcerpts from LEÃLA SEBBARâ€™s Mon cher fils
Excerpts from DORRA CHAMMAM Reefs & other consequences
Poetry by MONCEF GACHEM
JANE LEWTY on Mahmud Darwish
STEPHAN DELBOS on Ali Ahmed Said (Adonis)
ALI DAGHMAN on Power & Resistance
Poetry by MEHDI MAHFOUDH
DAWN FOWLER on David Greig
Performance text by KEN EDWARDS
Photoessay by VADIM ERENT
CARLA HARRYMANâ€™s Mirror Play / Spiegelspiel
Fiction by ANDRÃ‰ JAHN
Fiction by TRAVIS JEPPESEN
Graffics by KAREL JERIE
STEVE McCAFFERY on James Joyce &c
Poetry by HANK LAZER
PHIL COATES on Ian Hays, Joyce & Duchamp
ANN HAMILTON on Montage & the Will to Power
MARJORIE PERLOFF on Gertrude Stein
DAVID VICHNAR on Michal Ajvaz
MICHAL AJVAZ Interviewed
Artwork by LUCIE SKRIVÃNKOVÃ

Poetry by PAVEL NOVOTNÃ, ONDREJ BUDDEUS, JONÃÅ HÃJEK &
ADAM BORZIC
Collages by MARK MELNICOVE
ADRIAN CLARKE on Karen Mac Cormack
Collages by J/J HASTAIN
ALI ALIZADEH on Avant-Garde Writing in the AntipodesPoems/texts by ANIA
WALWICZ, CLAIRE POTTER, FELICITY PLUNKETT, GIG RYAN, JELTJE, JUSTIN CLEMENS,
MATT HETHERINGTON, MICHAEL FARRELL, NICOLE TOMLINSON, PiO, PAM BROWN,
SEBASTIAN GURCIULLO, CHRIS EDWARDS, MATT HALL, DJ HUPPATZ
TEREZA STEJSKALOVÃ on Czech 1990s Photography
Poem by CHARLES BERNSTEIN
Performance text by STEVE BENSON
KATARZYNA BAZARNIK on Liberature
ZENON FAJFER on Liberature
Artwork by MICHAL Å ANDA
Poetry by ANDREW NIGHTINGALE
Collaboration by AMARANTH BORSUK, KATE DURBIN, ZACH KLEYN
Poetry by REDELL OLSON, JANE LEWTY, CLODY CLEVIDENCE, ELEZA JAEGER, MEGAN M.
GARR, SARA NICHOLSON, AMY DEâ€™ATH
LOUIS ARMAND on Vincent Farnsworth
Poetry by LARRY SAWYER, PETRA GANGLBAUER, AMY KING, BRENDAN LORBER, CHRIS
MARTIN, CORRINE FITZPATRICK, JASON MORRIS, MACGREGOR CARD, NINA ZIVANCEVIC,
NOAH ELI GORDON
Fiction by JOHAN DE WIT & DAMIEN OBER
Poetry by STEPHAN DELBOS, KAMIL BOUÅ KA, CRALAN KELDER, ROBERT SHEPPARD,
FRANCESCO LEVATO
Texts/photography by JOSHUA MENSCH & VINCENT DACHY

*VLAK 2 will be launched on 15 May during the Prague Microfestival (www.vlakmagazine.com). Copies can be ordered direct from the publisher at www.litterariapragensia.com (under 'journals').

VLAK is an international curatorial project with a broad focus on contemporary poetics, art, film, philosophy, music, science, design, politics, performance, ecology, and new media.

Our global-local environment is defined by intersections, hybrids, transversals: realities that are contested, interactual and always in the process of taking new forms.

VLAK invites contributions that extend our understanding about what is possible; which pose questions about the prevailing attitude of norms; which explore the ramifications of contemporary culture and attempt new critical and creative methods.

VLAK stands for the drive to experiment, to synthesise, to extendâ€”holding to the principle that a vital culture is always experimental and thus always â€œat a crossroads.â€

--
VLAK MAGAZINE
www.vlakmagazine.com

--
Louis Armand
Director, Centre for Critical & Cultural Theory, UALK, Philosophy Faculty, Charles University, Nam. J. Palacha 2, 116 38 Praha 1, CZECH REPUBLIC
www.louis-armand.com www.litterariapragensia.com
www.vlakmagazine.com

↑ Index

69. Adam Fieled
"Scrounge" Six-Pack
Thu 12 May 2011

These six links are from the verse drama "The Scrounge":

"The Inconsiderate Conception":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-inconsiderate-conception.html

"Karen Frick R.I.P.":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-karen-frick-rip.html

"Brett reacts to Karen":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-brett-reacts-to-karen.html

"What Kara Knows":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-what-kara-knows.html

"Kara texts Karen about Jamie":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-kara-texts-karen-about.html

"Karen gets up the nerve to e-mail Doyle":
http://fieledsmiscellaneous.blogspot.com/2011/05/from-scrounge-karen-gets-up-nerve-to-e.html

Hope you like these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

70. Séamas Cain
The Willow's Whisper
Thu 12 May 2011

THE WILLOW'S WHISPER :
A Transatlantic Compilation of Poetry from Ireland & Native America

"This thought provoking and imaginative anthology brings poems and poets from diverse sociolinguistic and cultural traditions together into dialogue. Central yet marginalized within their respective discourses, the genus of this anthology is to change the dominant focus. By pairing these 'non-canonical' texts, this anthology opens new vistas, and makes new connections amplifying human and cultural concerns all too often lost in the official Anglo-American literary and cultural canon."

 Dr Brian Ó Conchubhair, of the University of Notre Dame, Indiana.

THE WILLOW'S WHISPER
(Cambridge Scholars Publishing) edited by Jill O'Mahony & Mícheál Ó hAodha, will be launched on Friday 13 May 2011 at 7:00 p.m. in
The Book Centre,
25 Barronstrand Street,
Waterford, Ireland.

THE WILLOW'S WHISPER brings the voices of 35 poets from the Irish and Native American communities together in one compilation. This collection of poems provides an aesthetic commentary on the potential which is beyond and within the everyday. From Gabriel Rosenstock and Biddy Jenkinson to N. Scott Momaday and Karenne Wood, and from Joy Harjo to Paddy Bushe and Biddy Jenkinson, this compilation showcases poetry from the finest poets in both communities.

Native America and Ireland : you might ask ...

What are the commonalities?

Furthermore : why bring them together through poetry?

THE WILLOW'S WHISPER

THE WILLOW'S WHISPER

↑ Index

71. William Allegrezza

Spanish Translators

Thu 12 May 2011

If you can translate poems from Spanish, let me know. I'm working on an anthology project of poets from Chile, and several translators have dropped out at the last minute, so I'm looking for some help.

Bill Allegrezza

↑ Index

72. Jennifer Karmin

May 14: Meltzer & Karmin in Oakland

Thu 12 May 2011

SATURDAY, MAY 14 @ 7:30PM

David Meltzer reading

a n d

Jennifer Karmin in live improvisation with guest performers
Hugh Behm-Steinberg, David Brazil,
Gloria Frym, Genine Lentine, Konrad Steiner,
Dana Teen Lomax & Dan Thomas-Glass

at the Shattuck Muse Community Room
6525 Shattuck Ave -- Oakland, CA

between Ashby & Alcatraz, Ashby bart stop please note: alcohol-free venue

DAVID MELTZER is a poet associated with both the Beat Generation and the San Francisco Renaissance. A pioneer of jazz poetry readings, Meltzer also formed a psychedelic folk-rock group. He continues to perform with the music and poetry review, "Rockpile." He has edited many anthologies, including San Francisco Beat: Talking with the Poets (City Lights, 2001), and has published 11 erotic novels. He also taught for many years in the poetics program at New College of California. In 2005, Penguin Books published David's Copy: The Selected Poems of David Meltzer. Next month City Lights will release his collection When I Was a Poet. http://meltzerville.com

JENNIFER KARMIN's text-sound epic, Aaaaaaaaaaalice, was published by Flim Forum Press in 2010. She curates the Red Rover Series and is co-founder of the public art group Anti Gravity Surprise. Her multidisciplinary projects have been presented at festivals, artist-run spaces, community centers, and on city streets across the U.S., Japan, and Kenya. A proud member of the Dusie Kollektiv, she is the author of the Dusie chapbook Evacuated: Disembodying Katrina. Walking Poem, a collaborative street project, is featured online at How2. In Chicago, Jennifer teaches creative writing to immigrants at Truman College and works as a Poet-in-Residence for the public schools. http://aaaaaaaaaaalice.blogspot.com

↑ Index

73. Ana Bo¾ièeviæ

Buy Lost & Found, Series II: di Prima, Duncan, Randall, Rukeyser, & Spicer!

Thu 12 May 2011

Dear Reader,

Do you have your copy of Lost & Found: The CUNY Poetics Document Initiative Series II chapbooks yet? For only $25, you will receive a set of seven beautifully printed chapbooks with poems, essays, lectures & translations by Diane di Prima, Robert Duncan, Margaret Randall, Muriel Rukeyser, and Jack Spicer:

Selections from El Corno Emplumado / The Plumed Horn 1962-1964 (Margaret Randall, visiting editor)

Diane di Prima: The Mysteries of Vision: Some Notes on H.D. (Ana Bozicevic, editor)

Diane di Prima: R.D.’S H.D. (Ammiel Alcalay, editor)

Robert Duncan: Olson Memorial Lecture (Ammiel Alcalay, Meira Levinson, Bradley Lubin, Megan Paslawski, Kyle Waugh, and Rachael Wilson, editors)

Jack Spicer’s Beowulf: Selections (Parts I& II) (David Hadbawnik and Sean Reynolds, guest editors)

Muriel Rukeyser: Barcelona, 1936: Selections from the Spanish Civil War Archive (Rowena Kennedy-Epstein, editor)

For those affiliated with an educational institution, the sets are a mere $20. Be sure to get the second series before it goes out of print – the first printing of Series I is already a collector’s item.

Your purchase will help us move on to the third series, which includes works by Lorine Niedecker, John Wieners, Ed Dorn, Essex Hemphill, Langston Hughes and others. You can order the books online at http://lostandfoundbooks.org/.

Libraries and bookstores, please write to us for arrangements.

Spread the word: we appreciate your interest and look forward to hearing from you!

~

Praise for Lost & Found

A serious and worthy enterprise.

—The London Review of Books

These chapbooks are a gold mine, so rich and important, and may well give rise to a new generation of writers.

—Diane di Prima

Such a great pleasure to read these beautiful reclamations of mind and time and place.

—Anne Waldman

What a brilliant cast of characters. Just exactly what one (myself) would like to read.

—Joanne Kyger

==========

http://www.anabozicevic.com/

↑ Index

74. Jonathan Morse
Modernism: a useful new anthology
Thu 12 May 2011

Alex Danchev's _100 Artists' Manifestos From the Futurists to the Stuckists_ (London: Penguin, 2011) hasn't yet been published in the United States, so far as I'm aware, but I was able to order it without any difficulty from one of Amazon.com's associates. It constitutes a useful history of modernism -- one written in primary documents and Oulipian exclamation marks. For an example of what might be done with it, see my expanded quotation at

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=169

On a different subject, I also expand a quotation from Susan Schultz's Tinfish blog at

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=137

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

75. Vernon Frazer
Re: Two new books
Fri 13 May 2011

Congratulations!

Vernon

↑ Index

76. amy king
TONIGHT! MEGA WOMEN'S READING – Joanna Penn Cooper ~ Claire Donato ~ Farrah Field ~ Molly Gaudry ~ Hailey Higdon ~ Anne Cecilia Holmes ~ Brenda Iijima ~ Julia Story
Fri 13 May 2011

"WEIRDO AND BEAUTIFUL POETS. GOOD TIMES." â€“ BL
STAIN OF POETRY

"WEIRDO AND BEAUTIFUL POETS. GOOD TIMES." â€“ BLACKBOOK
â€œfriday the 13th is your lucky day.â€ â€“ STAIN OF POETRY

MEGA WOMENâ€™S READING â€“ Joanna Penn Cooper ~ Claire Donato ~ Farrah Field ~ Molly Gaudry ~ Hailey Higdon ~ Anne Cecilia Holmes ~ Brenda Iijima ~ JuliaÂ Story

7 PM on May 13th @Â Goodbye Blue MondayÂ â€“ Bushwick, Brooklyn

with

Joanna Penn Cooperâ€™s creative and critical work has appeared or is forthcoming in a number of journals, includingÂ Poetry International, Opium, Supermachine, Pleiades, elimae, andÂ Boog City. Her second chapbook of poetry and short prose pieces,Â Mesmer, was published in April 2010 by Dancing Girl Press. Joannaâ€™s full-length poetry collection,Â How We Mostly Were, was a finalist for the Kinereth Gensler Award from Alice James Books in December 2010. A Postdoctoral Teaching Fellow at Fordham University, Joanna lives in New York City and has a blog at joannapenncooper.blogspot.com.

Claire Donato lives in Brooklyn, NY. Her prose and poetry has recently appeared or is forthcoming in Gulf Coast, Black Warrior Review, Boston Review, Denver Quarterly and Action Yes. She holds an MFA in Literary Arts from Brown University, is a member of the Electronic Literature Organization, co-edits Dewclaw and teaches at Eugene Lang College (The New School for Liberal Arts) in New York City. Her hometown is Pittsburgh, PA.

Farrah Field is the author ofÂ RisingÂ (Four Way Books, 2009) and Parents (Immaculate Disciples Press, 2011). Two of her poems will appear inÂ The Best American Poetry 2011Â and more of her work is forthcoming inÂ Fou, Dewclaw, andÂ Drunken Boat. She lives in Brooklyn where she co-hosts an event series called Yardmeter Editions. Her second book of poetry (Four Way Books) is forthcoming in 2012. She occasionally blogs atÂ www.adultish.blogspot.comÂ and is co-owner of Berlâ€™s Brooklyn Poetry Shop.

Molly Gaudry is the author of the verse novelÂ We Take Me ApartÂ and her website isÂ mollygaudry.com.

Hailey Higdon is the author of the chapbookÂ How To Grow Almost Everything, recently published by Agnes Fox Press. She runs What To Us (press) and is currently publishing chapbooks by emergent female poets in a series called THE DIMES. She lives in Philadelphia, PA.

Anne Cecelia Holmes is the managing editor ofÂ jubilat. Recent poems have appeared or are forthcoming inÂ SUPERMACHINE, notnostrums, and Sir!.Â With Lily Ladewig she is co-author of the chapbookÂ I Am A Natural WonderÂ (Blue Hour Press 2011). She lives in Northampton, MA.

Brenda Iijima is the author ofÂ Around SeaÂ (O Books),Â Animate, Inanimate Aims(Litmus Press),Â revv. youâ€™ll-utionÂ (Displaced Press) and If Not Metamorphic(Ahsahta Press) as well as numerous chapbooks and artistâ€™s books. She is also the editor of the eco language reader (Nightboat Books and [redacted]). Presently she is working on a body of work titledÂ Untimely Death is Driven Out Beyond the HorizonÂ which focuses on psycho-geologic properties of space, communication beyond event horizons, Leslie Scalapino, Antigone and the toxicity of war. She is the editor of Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs (http://yoyolabs.com/).

Julia Storyâ€™s first collection,Â Post Moxie, was the recipient of Sarabande Booksâ€™ 2009 Kathryn A. Morton Prize and Ploughsharesâ€™ 2010 John C. Zacharis First Book Award, and was named one of Coldfrontâ€™s Top 30 Poetry Books of 2010. Her recent work has appeared inÂ The Paris Review, Octopus, andÂ Salt Hill. She is currently working on her next collection, tentatively titledÂ Red Town. A native of Indiana, she now lives in Somerville, Massachusetts.

- Hide quoted text -at

Goodbye Blue Monday

1087 Broadway
(corner of Dodworth St)
Brooklyn, NY 11221-3013Â [redacted]

J M Z trains to Myrtle Ave or J train to Kosciusko St

Hosted by Steven Karl, Erika Moya & Christie Ann Reynolds

www.stainofpoetry.com
Â

****
VIDA: Â Women in Literary Arts
+Â Interviews

Amy's Alias
+Â http://amyking.org/Â
****

↑ Index

77. amy king
OT: Today in The Nation -- "Faulty Towers: The Crisis in Higher Education"
Fri 13 May 2011

Instead of replacing retirees with new tenure-eligible hires EXCERPTS:

Instead of replacing retirees with new tenure-eligible hires, departments gradually shifted the teaching load to part-timers: adjuncts, postdocs, graduate students. From 1991 to 2003, the number of full-time faculty members increased by 18 percent. The number of part-timers increased by 87 percentâ€”to almost half the entire faculty.

But as Jack Schuster and Martin Finkelstein point out in their comprehensive study The American Faculty (2006), the move to part-time labor is already an old story. Less visible but equally important has been the advent and rapid expansion of full-time positions that are not tenure-eligible. No one talks about this transformationâ€”the creation of yet another academic underclassâ€”and yet as far back as 1993, such positions already constituted the majority of new appointees. As of 2003, more than a third of full-time faculty were working off the tenure track. By the same year, tenure-track professorsâ€”the â€œnormalâ€ kind of academic appointmentâ€”represented no more than 35 percent of the American faculty.

The reasons for these trends can be expressed in a single word, or buzzword: efficiency. Contingent academic labor, as non-tenure-track faculty, part-time and full-time, are formally known, is cheaper to hire and easier to fire. It saves departments money and gives them greater flexibility in staffing courses. Over the past twenty years, in other wordsâ€”or really, over the past fortyâ€”what has happened in academia is what has happened throughout the American economy. Good, secure, well-paid positionsâ€”tenured appointments in the academy, union jobs on the factory floorâ€”are being replaced by temporary, low-wage employment.

* * *

Theyâ€™re doing exactly what we always complain our brightest students donâ€™t do: eschewing the easy bucks of Wall Street, consulting or corporate law to pursue their ideals and be of service to society. Academia may once have been a cushy gig, but now weâ€™re talking about highly talented young people who are willing to spend their 20s living on subsistence wages when they could be getting rich (and their friends are getting rich), simply because they believe in knowledge, ideas, inquiry; in teaching, in following their passion. To leave more than half of them holding the bag at the end of it all, over 30 and having to scrounge for a new career, is a human tragedy.

Sure, lots of people have it worse. But hereâ€™s another reason to care: itâ€™s also a social tragedy, and not just because it represents a colossal waste of human capital. If we donâ€™t make things better for the people entering academia, no oneâ€™s going to want to do it anymore. And then it wonâ€™t just be the students who are suffering. Scholarship will suffer, which means the whole country will. Knowledge, as weâ€™re constantly told, is a nationâ€™s most important resource, and the great majority of knowledge is created in the academyâ€”now more than ever, in fact, since industry is increasingly outsourcing research to universities where, precisely because graduate students cost less than someone who gets a real salary, it can be conducted on the cheap. (Bell Labs, once the flagship of industrial science, is a shell of its former self, having suffered years of cutbacks before giving up on fundamental research altogether.)

It isnâ€™t just the sciences that matter; it is also the social sciences and the humanities. And it isnâ€™t just the latter that are suffering. Basic physics in this country is all but dead. From 1971 to 2001, the number of bachelorâ€™s degrees awarded in English declined by 20 percent, but the number awarded in math and statistics declined by 55 percent. The only areas of the liberal arts that saw an increase in BAs awarded were biology and psychologyâ€”and this at a time when aggregate enrollment expanded by something like 75 percent. On the work that is done in the academy depends the strength of our economy, our public policy and our culture. We need our best young minds going into atmospheric research and international affairs and religious studies, chemistry and ethnography and art history. By pursuing their individual interests, narrowly understood, departments are betraying both the values they are pledged to upholdâ€”the pursuit of knowledge, the spirit of critical inquiry, the extension of the humanistic traditionâ€”and the nation they exist to serve.

* * *

What we have seen instead over the past forty years, in addition to the raising of a reserve army of contingent labor, is a kind of administrative elephantiasis, an explosion in the number of people working at colleges and universities who arenâ€™t faculty, full-time or part-time, of any kind. From 1976 to 2001, the number of nonfaculty professionals ballooned nearly 240 percent, growing more than three times as fast as the faculty. Coaching staffs and salaries have grown without limit; athletic departments are virtually separate colleges within universities now, competing (successfully) with academics. The size of presidential salariesâ€”more than $1 million in several dozen casesâ€”has become notorious. Nor is it only the presidents; the next six most highly paid administrative officers at Yale averaged over $430,000 in 2007. As Gaye Tuchman explains in Wannabe U (2009), a case study in the sorrows of academic corporatization, deans, provosts and presidents are no longer professors who cycle through administrative duties and then return to teaching and research. Instead, they have become a separate stratum of managerial careerists, jumping from job to job and organization to organization like any other executive: isolated from the faculty and its values, loyal to an ethos of short-term expansion, and trading in the business blather of measurability, revenue streams, mission statements and the like. They do not have the long-term health of their institutions at heart. They want to pump up the stock price (i.e., U.S. News and World Report ranking) and move on to the next fat post.

* * *

What we have in academia, in other words, is a microcosm of the American economy as a whole: a self-enriching aristocracy, a swelling and increasingly immiserated proletariat, and a shrinking middle class. The same devilâ€™s bargain stabilizes the system: the middle, or at least the upper middle, the tenured professoriate, is allowed to retain its prerogativesâ€”its comfortable compensation packages, its workplace autonomy and its job securityâ€”in return for acquiescing to the exploitation of the bottom by the top, and indirectly, the betrayal of the future of the entire enterprise.

* * *

But the tenure system, which is already being eroded by the growth of contingent labor, is not the only thing that is under assault in the top-down, corporatized academy. As Cary Nelson explains in No University Is an Island (2010), shared governanceâ€”the principle that universities should be controlled by their faculties, which protects academic values against the encroachments of the spreadsheet brigadeâ€”is also threatened by the changing structure of academic work. Contingent labor undermines it both directlyâ€”no one asks an adjunct what he thinks of how things runâ€”and indirectly. More people chasing fewer jobs means that everyone is squeezed for extra productivity, just like at Wal-Mart. As of 1998, faculty at four-year schools worked an average of about seven hours more per week than they had in 1972 (for a total of more than forty-nine hours a week; the stereotype of the lazy academic is, like that of the welfare queen, a politically useful myth). Not surprisingly, they also reported a shrinking sense of influence over campus affairs. Whoâ€™s got the time? Academic labor is becoming like every other part of the American workforce: cowed, harried, docile, disempowered.

In macropolitical terms, the erosion of tenure and shared governance undermines the power of a large body of liberal professionals. In this it resembles the campaign against teachers unions. Tenure, in fact, is a lot like unionization: imperfect, open to corruption and abuse, but incomparably better than the alternative. Indeed, tenure is what professors have instead of unions (at least at private universities, where theyâ€™re banned by law from organizing). As for shared governance, it is nothing other than one of the longest-standing goals of the left: employee control of the workplace. Yes, professors have it better than a lot of other workers, including a lot of others in the academy. But the answer, for the less advantaged, is to organize against the employers whoâ€™ve created the situation, not drag down the relatively privileged workers who arenâ€™t yet suffering as badly: to level up, in other words, not down.

Here we come to the most important issue facing American higher education. Public institutions enroll about three-quarters of the nationâ€™s college students, and public institutions are everywhere under financial attack. As Nancy Folbre explains in Saving State U (2010), a short, sharp, lucid account, spending on higher education has been falling as a percentage of state budgets for more than twenty years, to about two-thirds of what it was in 1980. The average six-year graduation rate at state schools is now a dismal 60 percent, a function of class size and availability, faculty accessibility, the use of contingent instructors and other budget-related issues. Private universities actually lobby against public funding for state schools, which they see as competitors. In any case, a large portion of state scholarship aid goes to students at private colleges (in some cases, more than half)â€”a kind of voucher system for higher education.

Meanwhile, public universities have been shifting their financial aid criteria from need to merit to attract applicants with higher scores (good old U.S. News again), who tend to come from wealthier families. Per-family costs at state schools have soared in recent years, from 18 percent of income for those in the middle of the income distribution in 1999 to 25 percent in 2007. Estimates are that over the past decade, between 1.4 million and 2.4 million students have been prevented from going to college for financial reasonsâ€”about 50 percent more than during the 1990s. And of course, in the present climate of universal fiscal crisis, it is all about to get a lot worse.

* * *

My state of Oregon, a chronic economic underperformer, has difficulty attracting investment, not because its corporate taxes are highâ€”theyâ€™re among the lowestâ€”but because its workforce is poorly educated. So it will be for the nation as a whole. Our college-completion rate has fallen from second to eighth. And we are not just defunding instruction; we are defunding research, the creation of knowledge itself.

* * *

Yet the liberal arts, as we know, are dying. All the political and parental pressure is pushing in the other direction, toward the â€œpractical,â€ narrowly conceived: the instrumental, the utilitarian, the immediately negotiable. Colleges and universities are moving away from the liberal arts toward professional, technical and vocational training. Last year, the State University of New York at Albany announced plans to close its departments of French, Italian, Russian, classics and theaterâ€”a wholesale slaughter of the humanities. When Garland enumerates the fields a state legislature might want to encourage its young people to enter, he lists â€œengineering, agriculture, nursing, math and science education, or any other area of state importance.â€

Apparently political science, philosophy, history and anthropology, among others, are not areas of state importance. Zemsky wants to consider reducing college to three yearsâ€”meaning less time for young people to figure out what to study, to take courses in a wide range of disciplines, to explore, to mature, to think.

When politicians, from Barack Obama all the way down, talk about higher education, they talk almost exclusively about math and science. Indeed, technology creates the future. But it is not enough to create the future. We also need to organize it, as the social sciences enable us to do. We need to make sense of it, as the humanities enable us to do. A system of higher education that ignores the liberal arts, as Jonathan Cole points out in The Great American University (2009), is what they have in China, where they donâ€™t want people to think about other ways to arrange society or other meanings than the authorized ones. A scientific education creates technologists. A liberal arts education creates citizens: people who can think broadly and critically about themselves and the world.

But leadership will have to come from somewhere else, as well. Just as in society as a whole, the academic upper middle class needs to rethink its alliances. Its dignity will not survive forever if it doesnâ€™t fight for that of everyone below it in the academic hierarchy. (â€œFirst they came for the graduate students, and I didnâ€™t speak out because I wasnâ€™t a graduate studentâ€¦â€) For all its pretensions to public importance (every professor secretly thinks heâ€™s a public intellectual), the professoriate is awfully quiet, essentially nonexistent as a collective voice. If academia is going to once again become a decent place to work, if our best young minds are going to be attracted back to the profession, if higher education is going to be reclaimed as part of the American promise, if teaching and research are going to make the country strong again, then professors need to get off their backsides and organize: department by department, institution to institution, state by state and across the nation as a whole. Tenured professors enjoy the strongest speech protections in society. Itâ€™s time they started using them.

ENTIRE ARTICLE HERE -- http://www.thenation.com/article/160410/faulty-towers-crisis-higher-education

Â

****

VIDA: Â Women in Literary Arts
+Â Interviews

Amy's Alias
+Â http://amyking.org/Â
****

↑ Index

78. patrick dunagan
Kevin Killian's Selected Amazon Reviews, Part 2 !!!
Fri 13 May 2011

***

PUSH is thrilled to announce the Second Volume of Kevin Killian's Amazon Reviews is now available

http://push-press.blogspot.com/2011/05/kevin-killians-selected-amazon-reviews_09.html

Following a sold out "Volume One," Kevin Killian brings forth "Volume Two of Selected Amazon Reviews," featuring a higher percentage of “serious” reviews than "Volume One," which showcased the surreal and carnivalesque. Killian understood that on Amazon, everything’s for sale, and everyone’s an unpaid content provider. However, as he discovered, you can also say almost exactly what you want, chip away at the machine, and maybe do it some harm.

8" x 8", 45 pages of reviews (including reviews of Eileen Myles, the photography of Jonathan Williams, Copper Fire Bowls, Barthes, Bourdieu, Advil, and an Italian Charm Bracelet), with cover art by Ryan Coffey. Edition of 200 eight bucks includes shipping

***

↑ Index

79. Thomas savage
Re: Modernism: a useful new anthology
Fri 13 May 2011

I hope this book is as good as the newly published Robert Duncan book on modernism called The H.D. Book which is wonderful. I read it recently and was really astounded by it.

--- On Thu, 5/12/11, Jonathan Morse <[redacted]> wrote:

From: Jonathan Morse <[redacted]>
Subject: Modernism: a useful new anthology
To: [redacted]
Date: Thursday, May 12, 2011, 9:24 PM

Alex Danchev's _100 Artists' Manifestos From the Futurists to the Stuckists_ (London: Penguin, 2011) hasn't yet been published in the United States, so far as I'm aware, but I was able to order it without any difficulty from one of

Amazon.com's associates. It constitutes a useful history of modernism -- one written in primary documents and Oulipian exclamation marks. For an example of what might be done with it, see my expanded quotation at

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=169

On a different subject, I also expand a quotation from Susan Schultz's Tinfish blog at

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=137

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

80. CA Conrad
GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!
Sat 14 May 2011

GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!

I was invited by HOWL Festival to make videos of poets discussing the importance of Allen Ginsberg for the 2011 festivities!
(31 poets in all)
HOPE YOU ENJOY THEM!
CAConrad,
editor of JUPITER 88

CLICK THIS LINK TO WATCH VIDEOS:
http://JUPITER88Ginsberg.blogspot.com ;

31 poets give thanks to Allen Ginsberg for his birthday!

Eileen Myles and Hank
Stacy Szymaszek and Ginsberg doll
Nathaniel Siegel
Douglas A. Martin
Paolo Javier
Edwin Torres
Vincent Katz
Sharon Mesmer
Dan Machlin
Ariana Reines
Erica Kaufman
Filip Marinovich
CAConrad
Corrine Fitzpatrick
Elinor Nauen

Stephen Boyer
Marc Nasdor
Sarah Dowling
Julia Bloch
Jason Zuzga
Dorothea Lasky
Trisha Low
Frank Sherlock
David Wolach
Greg Bem
Paul E. Nelson
Michael Hennessey
Nicole Steinberg
Guillermo Parra
Fred Moten
Mark Nowak

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

81. Joel Weishaus
"Inside the Skull-House: A Neuropoesis"
Sat 14 May 2011

"Inside the Skull-House" is a project of Digital Literary Art that was made from 1998 to 2002, here newly revised to give it a more cohesive presence as the medium develops larger, and smaller, formats. In a journal of 223 pages, or screens, with links to paratexts that offer neuroscientific, and other, references, it addresses eleven major areas of the brain that serve to make a mind. There is also my trope of "invagination" (interruptions to the flow of the text with deeper voices), along with still images and animations:

http://www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/skull/intro.htm

Thank you, as always, for your kind reception of this work. -Joel

Homepage:
http://web.pdx.edu/~pdx00282/
Digital Archive:
www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/index.htm
Paper Archive:
http://rmoa.unm.edu/docviewer.php?docId=nmu1mss456bc.xml

↑ Index

82. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Inner Voices Heard Before Sleep” by Michael Ruby.

Sun 15 May 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œInner Voices Heard Before Sleepâ€ by Michael Ruby.
Description:
In â€œInner Voices Heard Before Sleepâ€, Michael Ruby transcribes voices that are accessible to consciousness in the last seconds before sleep. There are 70 transcription sessions, each ending with the poet falling sleep. The origin and significance of the voices are undetermined.
Available as a free ebook here:
http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/inner-voices-heard-before-sleep/15718071
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

83. Millicent Borges Accardi

Poetry review

Sun 15 May 2011

Greetings,

It's not online, but if you subscribe or have an opportunity to see Issue #72, there's a review of my poetry book Injuring Eternity in the latest Hiram Poetry Review!

http://hirampoetryreview.wordpress.com/ (here's their web page)

Millicent

↑ Index

84. Dan Wilcox

Third Thursday Poetry Night, May 19 -- Mary Eliza Crane

Sun 15 May 2011

---

the Poetry Motel Foundation
presents

Third Thursday Poetry Night

at
the Social Justice Center
33 Central Ave., Albany, NY

May 19, 2011
7:00 sign up; 7:30 start

Featured Poet: Mary Eliza Crane

Mary Eliza Crane grew up in New England, lived & worked in Schenectady, & now makes her home in the foothills of the Cascade Mountains in Washington. Her most recent book of poems is “At First Light” (Gazoobi Tales, 2011).

-- with an open mic for community poets before & after the feature: $3.00 donation, suggested; more if you got it, less if you can’t.

Your May-Day host: Dan Wilcox.

* * * * * * * *

FRIDAY NIGHT

by Mary Eliza Crane

With a flash of light

an eagle splits

the seamless gray

of sky

and river in the rain.

At your house

I find the key on a dusty beam and put on tea.

Coals in the stove stirred,

I feed them white grain alder uprooted from another winter and dried to perfection

in a blazing summer sun.

Quiet taps of heat expanding glowing flames against the dark red walls and deep into the blackness of the night.

Clothes peeled,

I add two more blankets to my side and burrow down with steaming mug and book into the soft gold light.

I dissolve into the echo of the rain upon the roof.

By what unlikely stroke of grace did this become my life?

↑ Index

85. Jen Tynes

Horse Less Press Reading Period for Full-Length Manuscripts

Sun 15 May 2011

Horse Less Press is reading submissions for a full-length book of poetry or mixed-genre work. Manuscripts should be between 60-120 pages and submitted via submishmash. No print or email submissions will be accepted. Simultaneous submissions, multiple submissions, and collaborative submissions are all accepted. Please notify us if your manuscript is accepted elsewhere. Manuscripts will receive a blind reading.

Please upload manuscripts in PDF format. Please do not include your name, contact information, or acknowledgements. A reading fee of $20 entitles you to any book from our catalog (including the book chosen through this reading period). Please note which book you'd like to receive. A $10 reading fee does not entitle you to a book, but supports our press and allows us to continue publishing great work. We thank you.

Manuscripts will be accepted May 15 – June 15, and publication decisions will be announced in August. The selected manuscript will be published in 2012, and the author will receive 25 copies of their book.

To learn more about Horse Less Press, visit http://www.horselesspress.com

To submit a manuscript, visit http://horselesspress.submishmash.com/Submit

↑ Index

86. Carol Novack

Mountain Retreat in Asheville, NC

Mon 16 May 2011

Click on this link to find out about
MADHAT'S LITTLE MOUNTAIN
RETREAT<https://www.facebook.com/pages/MadHat-Inc-MadHats-Little-Mountain-Retreat/212228912135808>

A Writers', Visual Artists', Film-makers', & Composers' Residence in Asheville, NC, Opening July 2011

_ Instinct paralyzes the populace with numb plumped lips, viola hips, deals the finishing touch with its sting. No matter that rations dwindle in recession and thereâ€™s naught but figments left to bring to the picnic. The Players believe they will find the solution. Itâ€™s a cinch, really, they say, Greek chorus style: Where thereâ€™s a will, there's a way. . . . (fr. PICNIC ... Exquisite Corpse)

"Those who can make people believe absurdities can make them commit atrocities." Voltaire (1712ï»¿ - 1778)

↑ Index

87. George Bowering

Re: fwd; Phyllis Webb documentary by Robert McTavish on CBC Radio's IDEAS

Mon 16 May 2011

You can get the podcast. I did.
Google CBC Ideas to start. Then find yr way.

It is good to hear, though Phyllis's voice isnt what it was.

gb

On May 11, 2011, at 4:33 PM, [redacted] wrote:

> Sure hope this makes it out of Canada onto our radios down here. I have admired and been influenced from afar ...
>
> 'never satisfied' is a great description.
>
> thanks Rob
>
> _____
> Jill Jones
>
> www.jilljones.com.au
>
> On Wed May 11 23:15 , Rob McLennan sent:
>
> A profile of Canada's great poet and the co-creator of the program IDEAS! Phyllis Webb: The Art of Ideas on IDEAS on CBC Radio, 9pm Thursday, May 12th.
>
> She has spent a lifetime asking questions. Her body of work was never > satisfied with the answers. Poet, anarchist, intellectual, former radio producer, and co-creator of the program IDEAS, we honour Phyllis Webb in this documentary by Robert McTavish.

>
> Robert McTavish has done a number of radio and film documentaries, including What to Make of it All? The life and poetry of John Newlove (2006). He later edited the collection A Long Continual Argument: The Selected Poems of John Newlove (Chaudiere Books 2007 with an afterword by Jeff Derksen) which critic Steve Noyes described as "probably the best summation of John Newlove's inimitable poems that we are likely to get" and is currently producing and directing his fourth film, The Line Has Shattered, on the 1963 Vancouver Poetry Conference.
>
> http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/2011/05/phyllis-webb-documentary-by-robert.html
>
> --
> *writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/*

George Bowering
The Stomach of Midlothian

↑ Index

88. Louis Armand

New titles

Mon 16 May 2011

Hello everyone,

Two new poetry/poetics titles are just out from Litteraria Pragensia in Prague. They're both being launched on Wednesday at the Prague Microfestival--for anyone who happens to be over this way... www.praguemicrofestival.com ... where incidentally, last night, issue 2 of VLAK: CONTEMPORARY POETICS & THE ARTS was launched, with readings by Carla Harryman, Ondøej Buddeus, Jane Lewty, Adam Borziè, Joshua Mensch, Stephan Delbos, Jeroen Nieuwland, Kasia Bazarnik, Zenon Fajfer, Megan M. Garr... The festival will take place the same time next year, for anyone in joining us.

Best,
Louis Armand
www.vlakmagazine.com
//

Thresholds
Essays on the International Prague Poetry Scene
ed. David Vichnar
ISBN 978-80-7308-350-2
200pp
Publication date: May 2011
http://litteraria.ff.cuni.cz/books/thresholds.html
Contributors: Gwendolyn Albert, Ali Alizadeth, Louis Armand, Laura Conway, Chris Crawford, Stephan Delbos, Vadim Erent, Jane Lewty, Jules Mann, Katerina Pinosova.

From a Terrace in Prague A Prague Poetry Anthology ed. Stephan Delbos ISBN 978-80-7308-349-6 200pp Publication date: May 2011 http://litteraria.ff.cuni.cz/books/terrace.html Contributors: Muhammad Mahdi Al-Jawahiri, Guillaume Apollinaire, Michal Ajvaz, Louis Armand, Ingeborg Bachmann, John Berryman, Petr Bezruc, Konstantin Biebl, Anthony Blake, Ivan Blatny, Egon Bondy, Kamil Bouska, Jiri Brynda, Michael Carter, Paul Celan, Vera Chase, Inger Christensen, Christopher Crawford, Svatopluk Cech, Roque Dalton, Bei Dao, Jas H. Duke, Vincent Farnsworth, Lawrence Ferlinghetti, Viola Fischerova, Gil Fleishman, Carolyn Forche, Frantisek Gellner, Allen Ginsberg, Frantisek Halas, Vaclav Havel, Nazim Hikmet, Karel Hlavacek, Vladimir Holan, Miroslav Holub, Josef Hora, Petr Hruska, Jaroslav Hutka, Ivan Martin Jirous, Richard Katrovas, Jane Kirwan, Jiri Kolar, Claudiu Komartin, Petr Kral, Martin Langer, David Lehman, Phillis Levin, Larry Levis, Robert Lowell, Antonin Macek, Josef Svatopluk Machar, Ian MacNeill, Sergej Makara, Radek Maly, Jason Mashak, Wojciech A. Maslarz, Iggy McGovern, Edwin Muir, Pablo Neruda, Vitezslav Nezval, Ladislav Novak, Tiago Patricio, Katerina Pinosova, Marie Pujmanova, Justin Quinn, James Ragan, Donald Revell, Tereza Riedlbauchova, Rainer Maria Rilke, Byambin Rinchen, Katerina Rudcenkova, Ed Sanders, James Schuyler, Jaroslav Seifert, David Shapiro, Phil Shoenfelt, Gary Snyder, Philippe Soupault, Antonin Sova, Viktor Spacek, Marcela Sulak, Pavel Srut, Mark Terrill, Karel Toman, Jachym Topol, John Tranter, Seisuke Tsukahara-Watasi, Marina Tsvetaeva, Razvan Tupa, Anne Waldman, Vera Weislitzova, Jiri Wolker, Yevgeny Yevtushenko, Jiri Zacek, and Adam Zagajewski.

For other LPB titles, please visit www.litterariapragensia.com

--
Louis Armand
Director, Centre for Critical & Cultural Theory, UALK, Philosophy Faculty, Charles University, Nam. J. Palacha 2, 116 38 Praha 1, CZECH REPUBLIC
www.louis-armand.com www.litterariapragensia.com
www.vlakmagazine.com

↑ Index

89. Nic Sebastian

ideas for subverting the current poetry publishing system?

Mon 16 May 2011

How can poets subvert the current poetry publishing system? Interview at Coachella Review - what's with this nanopress poetry publishing model? http://bit.ly/kSBKp6. Best, Nic

Nic Sebastian

Whale Sound

Forever Will End on Thursday

↑ Index

90. steve dalachinsky

Re: GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!

Tue 17 May 2011

---

bukll CA ya forgot an aweful lot of us old timers who .... well what can i say it'll be considered complaining one way or the other

On Sat, 14 May 2011 00:22:05 -0400 CA Conrad <[redacted]>
writes:
> GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!
>
> I was invited by HOWL Festival to make videos of poets discussing
> the > importance of Allen Ginsberg for the 2011 festivities!
> (31 poets in all)
> HOPE YOU ENJOY THEM!
> CAConrad,
> editor of JUPITER 88
>
> CLICK THIS LINK TO WATCH VIDEOS:
> http://JUPITER88Ginsberg.blogspot.com ;
>

> 31 poets give thanks to Allen Ginsberg for his birthday!
>
> Eileen Myles and Hank
> Stacy Szymaszek and Ginsberg doll
> Nathaniel Siegel
> Douglas A. Martin
> Paolo Javier
> Edwin Torres
> Vincent Katz
> Sharon Mesmer
> Dan Machlin
> Ariana Reines
> Erica Kaufman
> Filip Marinovich
> CAConrad
> Corrine Fitzpatrick
> Elinor Nauen
> Stephen Boyer
> Marc Nasdor
> Sarah Dowling
> Julia Bloch
> Jason Zuzga
> Dorothea Lasky
> Trisha Low
> Frank Sherlock
> David Wolach
> Greg Bem
> Paul E. Nelson
> Michael Hennessey
> Nicole Steinberg
> Guillermo Parra
> Fred Moten
> Mark Nowak
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>
>

>
>
>
>
> --
> PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com
>
> THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com
>
>
>

↑ Index

91. steve dalachinsky

readings by dalachinsky

Tue 17 May 2011

---

monday may 23 7 pm - at clemente soto velez cultural center
f or j train to delancey st / essex st steve dalachinsky alexandre pierrepont - words didier petit daniel levine - cellos monday june 13 7 pm - at clemente soto velez cultural center

f or j train to delancey st / essex st
steve dalachinsky & french bassist joelle leandre

On Tue, 17 May 2011 10:05:35 -0700 Jennifer Karmin <[redacted]>
writes:
> Red Rover Series
> {readings that play with reading}
>
> SUMMER 2011
> Chicago, IL
>
> *Experiment #46: May 28
> The Chicago-Denver Writers Exchange
> Serena Chopra, Michael Flatt, Derrick Mund,
> Oren Silverman & Nancy Stohlman
>
> *Experiment #47: June 11
> Neo-benshi co-presented with the Chicago Poetry Project
> John Beer, Daniel Borzutzky, Krista Franklin,
> Judith Goldman, Carla Harryman & Konrad Steiner

>
> *Experiment #48: July 16
> Performance art guest curated by Marissa Perel
> Jai Arun Ravine & Jillian Soto
>
> at Outer Space Studio
> 1474 N. Milwaukee Avenue > near the CTA Damen blue line
> suggested donation $4
>
> Red Rover Series is curated by Laura Goldstein & Jennifer Karmin.
> Each event is designed as a reading experiment with participation by > local, national, and international writers, artists, and performers.
> The series was founded in 2005 by Amina Cain & Jennifer Karmin.
>
> Email ideas for reading experiments to
> [redacted]
>
> The schedule for upcoming events is listed at > http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries
>
> WOW WOW WOW
> Red Rover Series
> on facebook? why not?
>
>
>

↑ Index

92. William Slaughter

Notice: Mudlark

Tue 17 May 2011

New and On View: Mudlark Poster No. 92 (2011)

Sisters by Liz Dolan

Liz Dolan's first poetry collection, They Abide, was recently published by March Street Press. Her second poetry manuscript, A Secret of Long Life, is ready to go and in need of a publisher. She has been published in On the Mason-Dixon Line: An Anthology of Contemporary Delaware Writers and has also won a $6,000 established artist fellowship from the Delaware Division of the Arts, 2009. Liz is most proud of the offsite school she ran in The Bronx and her nine grandchildren who live on the next block in Rehoboth. "They pepper my life," she says.

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

↑ Index

93. Jennifer Karmin

Red Rover Series / summer 2011

Tue 17 May 2011

Red Rover Series
{readings that play with reading}

SUMMER 2011
Chicago, IL

*Experiment #46: May 28
The Chicago-Denver Writers Exchange
Serena Chopra, Michael Flatt, Derrick Mund,
Oren Silverman & Nancy Stohlman

*Experiment #47: June 11
Neo-benshi co-presented with the Chicago Poetry Project
John Beer, Daniel Borzutzky, Krista Franklin,
Judith Goldman, Carla Harryman & Konrad Steiner

*Experiment #48: July 16
Performance art guest curated by Marissa Perel
Jai Arun Ravine & Jillian Soto

at Outer Space Studio
1474 N. Milwaukee Avenue
near the CTA Damen blue line
suggested donation $4

Red Rover Series is curated by Laura Goldstein & Jennifer Karmin. Each event is designed as a reading experiment with participation by local, national, and international writers, artists, and performers. The series was founded in 2005 by Amina Cain & Jennifer Karmin.

Email ideas for reading experiments to
[redacted]

The schedule for upcoming events is listed at
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

WOW WOW WOW
Red Rover Series
on facebook? why not?

↑ Index

94. Mark Weiss
Re: GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!
Tue 17 May 2011

That's a pretty extraordinary oversight. Maybe the younguns are trying to convince us that they know how to read?

A reasobnable complaint. There are a whole lot of folks in the immediate area who could supply the lived context. Must be more fun to piece it together from the internet.

The 60s have become a field of study, usually by folks who weren't there. Strange how quickly the very recent becomes irretrievably historic.

Best,

Mark

-----Original Message-----
>From: steve dalachinsky <[redacted]>
>Sent: May 17, 2011 4:33 AM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Re: GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!
>
>bukll CA ya forgot an aweful lot of us old timers who .... >well what can i say it'll be considered complaining one way or the other
>
>
>On Sat, 14 May 2011 00:22:05 -0400 CA Conrad <[redacted]>
>writes:
>> GINSBERG complete sp. ed. JUPITER 88!
>>
>> I was invited by HOWL Festival to make videos of poets discussing
>> the >> importance of Allen Ginsberg for the 2011 festivities!

>> (31 poets in all)
>> HOPE YOU ENJOY THEM!
>> CAConrad,
>> editor of JUPITER 88
>>
>> CLICK THIS LINK TO WATCH VIDEOS:
>> http://JUPITER88Ginsberg.blogspot.com ;
>>
>> 31 poets give thanks to Allen Ginsberg for his birthday!
>>
>> Eileen Myles and Hank
>> Stacy Szymaszek and Ginsberg doll
>> Nathaniel Siegel
>> Douglas A. Martin
>> Paolo Javier
>> Edwin Torres
>> Vincent Katz
>> Sharon Mesmer
>> Dan Machlin
>> Ariana Reines
>> Erica Kaufman
>> Filip Marinovich
>> CAConrad
>> Corrine Fitzpatrick
>> Elinor Nauen
>> Stephen Boyer
>> Marc Nasdor
>> Sarah Dowling
>> Julia Bloch
>> Jason Zuzga
>> Dorothea Lasky
>> Trisha Low
>> Frank Sherlock
>> David Wolach
>> Greg Bem
>> Paul E. Nelson
>> Michael Hennessey
>> Nicole Steinberg
>> Guillermo Parra
>> Fred Moten
>> Mark Nowak
>>

>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>
>> --
>> PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com
>>
>> THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com
>>
>>
>>
>

↑ Index

95. Vernon Frazer

EMBLEMATIC MOON by Vernon Frzer

Tue 17 May 2011

I've just posted EMBLEMATIC MOON to Scribd. It received good reviews in American Book Review and Unlikely Stories. You can read it at:

http://www.scribd.com/doc/55623404/Emblematic-Moon

If you like it enough to buy it, you can find copies at Lulu.com and Amazon.com.

Best,

Vernon

Vernon Frazer
http//:vernonfrazer.net
http://bellicosewarbling.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

96. Jack Foley
Carlo Parcelli Performance Videos Online
Tue 17 May 2011

Performance selections Now Online!
Six performance Videos of the ribald dramatic monologues of "The story God & Mel Gibson don't want you to hear!!"

http://www.flashpointmag.com/carloparcelli.htm

Poet Vaudevillian Carlo Parcelli performs selections in costume from
The
Canaanite Gospel: A Meditation on Empire

In the classical argots of Petronius, Rabelais, Chaucer, Shakespeare, Lenny Bruce, Guy Ritchie, James Joyce, David Jones, Cockney and the world's myriad cryptolects, The Canaanite Gospel strips bare the New Testament canard of the Resurrection of Yeshu of Nazareth and pokes a stick in the eye of the Synoptic Gospels. Culled from First Century Texts and drawn from dozens of biblical and secular sources, these monologues tell a revisionist tale of what transpired in Judea, Easter Week/Passover 33 AD and beyond during the reign of the Roman Emperor Tiberius.

"Exposes the underpinnings of humanity's destructive clamor for myth" --- Bob Sellers

“A 21st century Shakespeare.” --- Jim Sears

“This shit is fucked up!” --- outraged anonymous Christian at one of the performances

"Unexpectedly and wildly entertaining" --- Don Williams

“Funny to tragic. Every character has his or her story to tell in a distinct, one of a kind voice.” ---Michelle Hanlon

↑ Index

97. Cralan Kelder
Walasse Ting one year anniversary of his death
Tue 17 May 2011

Walasse Ting the painter died a year ago today (17 May). Apart from being a painter, he was also a poet. His poetry is hard to find because its all hidden away in art books. There does not seem to be a collection available in English, although there is a translated collection into Dutch.

Here are a few of his poems, to celebrate his life / death. I find him inspiring in the way that Nanao Sakaki and Franco Beltrametti are inspiring. Their writing genuinely free form.

These poems are taken from two books:
Red Mouth (Toppan printing Hong Kong, 1977) and A Very Hot Day (Shanghai Art Museum, 1997)

A very hot day

I bought a piece of floral fabric
I dry my sweat with the fabric
And so many butterflies jump out of the cloth
They fly away into the blue sky
They don’t even say goodbye

Spring

Spring arrives
The angels come down from the sky
They turn into bunches of roses, tulips, peonies, cherry blossoms,
Camelias and chrysanthemums
In the valley, fresh flowers are everywhere
Angels come here to have a party
Next time you are on the street, go buy a dozen roses
Bring them home, and don’t forget you have 12 angels with you, to watch t.v. with you

Walasse Ting by Walasse Ting

(first 23 lines of 70 line poem)

1 year old first time sing song
2 years old first time stand up
3 years old first time catch grasshopper
4 years old first time fly kite
5 years old first time draw dragonfly
6 years old first time smell flower
7 years old first time piss under rain
8 years old first time see fire burn house
9 years old first time eat honey
10 years old first time see locomotive
11 years old first time see man and woman make love
12 years old first time see grandfather die
13 years old first time masturbate in bed
14 years old first time dance in ballroom
15 years old first time write love letter

16 years old first time falling in love
17 years old first time make love in the dark
18 years old first time leave China
19 years old first time sold watercolor
20 years old first time make love with prostitute
21 years old first time one man show
22 years old first time take big boat to Paris
23 years old first time make love with white girl

I am drunk
I listen to Beethoven’s sixth symphony
Vivaldi’s four seasons
Mahler’s fourth symphony
They are all my mother
Calling me
The sky is pitch black
With a star twinkling like a diamond
My heart is like a little star
Exiting, jumping, flying to the sky
Flying to the milky way talk like piss

sing song like nightmare kiss like movie breath like chimney fly like thick smoke running like bus
swimming like submarine sit down like toilet seat stand up like bottle happy like sugar
melancholy like flat tire mad like diarrhea cry like shower
laugh like broken glass

sleep like coffin

i fresh like green new born

fresh penis

grab bunch clouds wash face

↑ Index

98. Sam Ladkin

Keston Sutherland in Sheffield, Monday 23rd May

Wed 18 May 2011

Dear All,

Apologies for cross-posting.

I'm delighted to announce a reading and paper by Keston Sutherland in Sheffield. I hope you'll feel free to come along.

I'm not yet fully in the know about lines of communication in Sheffield and Yorkshire and, etc., so if anyone knows of good email lists/online forums to post news of readings, I'd appreciate it if they could let me know.

Yours truly,

Sam]

Keston Sutherland

* *

Poetry Reading

* *

Upstairs, the University Arms

Brook Hill, Sheffield

Monday 23rd May

Doors at 5.30pm, reading at 6pm

* *

Sponsored by the School of English, University of Sheffield, as part of the Postgraduate Colloquium, 2011

Free Entry

All are welcome

* *

* *

Keston is also speaking as part of the Postgraduate Colloquium, on Poetry and “monstrous accumulation”

1.15-2.15pm, SR 2.15 Jessop Building, Monday 23rd May.

Please feel free to attend.

* *

* *

*Sutherland’s poetry is “wired to every possible source and sink of information in a world where truth equals shit at the very moment when the elastic snaps, leaving us with a face full of spare ribs and throat gristle. It's one of the most astonishing collaborations of mind and material I've ever known. And so is Keston.” *

– Peter Manson

* *

“Keston Sutherland is the non-presiding enemy of the murd’ring world”

* – Adam Piette*

* *

About Keston Sutherland:

Keston Sutherland is one of the few best poets. He has now qualified as a Reader at the University of Sussex. He is the editor of avant-garde journal Quid and, with Andrea Brady, the astonishing Barque Press (www.barquepress.com). *Sutherland’s poetry collections include The Stats on Infinity, Stress Position, Hot White Andy, Neocosis, Neutrality, The Rictus Flag, and Antifreeze. His work has been translated into French, German, and Chinese. Scholars continue to work on the English. He gets invited all over the world to read poems, which is nice. *Sutherland’s forthcoming critical work is *Stupefaction: A Radical Anatomy of Phantoms *(Seagull/University of Chicago).

“From Shakespeare to Beckett, the contradictory figure of the fool who possesses unexpected wisdom has been a popular and effective literary trope and rhetorical figure for centuries. Philosophy needs idiots too, argues Keston Sutherland in Stupefaction. This is a book about how idiots are created, how they are used, and the types of truth that depend on them.

Sutherland examines how speculative and satirical descriptions of stupidity function in art and in argument. His examples include Alexander Pope’s dunce, Adorno’s philistine, Wordsworth’s mechanical adopter of poetic diction, and phenomenologist Michel Henry’s drunkard who rides an escalator to nothingness. Sutherland also provides an important new account of the figure of the bourgeois in Marx and a powerfully original interpretation of commodity fetishism as a satire against bourgeois objectivity. This unusual analysis of the trope of the idiot will appeal to scholars of literature and philosophy alike.”

Some of the highlights of his critical writings include:

- "this / is not a metaphor": the possibility of social realism in British poetry'. Forthcoming in British Social Realism in the Arts 1945 - 2010, ed. David Tucker. London: Palgrave, 2011.
- 'Wrong Poetry'. Textual Practice 24(4), 2010, 765-782.
- 'What is Bathos?'. In On Bathos<http://www.continuumbooks.com/books/detail.aspx?BookId=133894&SearchType=Basic>. Ed. Sara Crangle and Peter Nicholls. London: Continuum, 2010.
- 'XL Prynne' anthologised in A Manner of Utterance: The Poetry of J.H. Prynne <http://www.shearsman.com/pages/books/catalog/2009/brinton.html>. Ed. Ian Brinton. Exeter: Shearsman, 2009: 104-132. First published in Complicities: British Poetry 1945-2007<http://litteraria.ff.cuni.cz/books/complicities.html>. Ed. Sam Ladkin and Robin Purves. Prague: Literaria Pragensia, 2007.
- 'Close Writing.' In Frank O'Hara Now<http://www.liverpool-unipress.co.uk/html/publication.asp?idProduct=3962>. Ed. Robert Hampson and Will Montgomery. Liverpool: Liverpool UP, 2010.
- 'Ethica Nullius' (on J.H. Prynne's late poetry) in Avant-Post: The Avant-Garde Under "post-" Conditions<http://litteraria.ff.cuni.cz/books/avant_post.html> (Prague: Literaria Pragensia, 2006); republished in Foreign Literature Studies (Wuhan, China), Vol.30, No.3, (June 2008) 14-23.
- 'Marx in Jargon' World Picture 1<http://www.worldpicturejournal.com/>(2008)
- 'To The Honourable Ambassador Confer Blanck<http://www.blackwaterusa.com/press/cofer.asp>(On Poetry and Stupidity in General)' Quid 18 (2007)
- 'Vagueness, Poetry' in Contemporary Poetics<http://nupress.northwestern.edu/title.cfm?ISBN=0-8101-2360-6>Ed. Louis Armand (Evanston: Northwestern UP, 2007)
- 'What's The Ugliest Part of Your Market-Researched Anaclitic Affect

Repertoire?' <http://www.militantesthetix.co.uk/ice-z/keston.htm> in *Academy
Zappa: Proceedings of the First International Conference of Esemplastic
Zappology*. Ed. Ben Watson and Esther Leslie, 2005
- 'Prosody and Reconciliation' The Gig, 2004.
- 'The Trade in Bathos'<http://jacketmagazine.com/15/sutherland-bathos.html>
Jacket, 2000

And some reviews:

A review <http://www.manifold.group.shef.ac.uk/issue5/AdamPiette.html> of The Stats on Infinity by Adam Piette.

Peter Manson on Stress Position in *Signals<http://www.signalsmagazine.co.uk/6/manson.php> *.

John Wilkinson on *Hot White Andy<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SWMTted_5tA&feature=related> * in Jacket <http://jacketmagazine.com/35/r-sutherland-rb-wilkinson.shtml>.

Chris Goode on Hot White Andy <http://www.barquepress.com/andy.html>(search here <http://beescope.blogspot.com/>).

Two essays on Hot White Andy by Neil Pattison and by J.H. Prynne here<http://www.hotgunjournal.com/> .

Robert Potts in The Observer<http://www.guardian.co.uk/books/2006/feb/12/features.review>on Neocosis <http://www.barquepress.com/neocosis.html>.

↑ Index

99. Marthe Reed

CFP: Technoculture an online journal of technology in culture

Wed 18 May 2011

Call for Proposals (CFP):Technoculture: An Online Journal of Technology in Society, Vol. 2August 15, 2012 publication dateAbstracts for Critical Articles Due June 15, 2011Drafts of Creative Works Due October 1, 2011Reviews Due May 15, 2012 ([redacted]) Contact E-mail: [redacted]: http://tcjournal.orgISSN 1938-0526Inquiries: http://tcjournal.org/drupal/inquiries We seek papers from a broad range of academic disciplines that focus on issues that could be briefly summed as“technology and society,” or, perhaps,“technologies and societies.”

Successful papers for Technoculture(http://tjcournal.org) should focus on the ways humanists read technology in a range of historical periods and ofacademic and artistic disciplines as the subject of their work or as a special case of cultural studies.Topics could include depictions of technologies that treat a wide range of subjects related to the humanities. Forthis second issue, we are especially interested in historical approaches that focus on "dead" or outdatedtechnologies though articles and creative works on any technological subject are appropriate.These subjects might include:• Representations of technology in popular culture including movies and television• Fan reactions and appropriations of science fiction TV series, films and novels• Cultural uses of technology in a variety of cultures (not just the U.S.)• Old technologies and their uses• Ideological approaches to the understanding of a given technology or technologies• Artistic reactions to technology (technology as a subject for the arts)• Use of technology by artists• Social media• War Equipment• Games, game equipment, and gamers• Visions for new technologies (either critical articles that look toward the future or creative works) In particular, we are interested in a conception of “technology” and the “humanist impulse” that pushes beyondcontemporary American culture and its fascination with computers; we seek papers that deal with anytechnology or technologies in any number of historical periods from any relevant theoretical perspective.Please note: We are not interested in “how to” pedagogical papers that deal with the use of technology in theclassroom.Scholarly/critical papers should use the latest MLA citation style. Creative works including poetry and creativenon-fiction are of interest to us. We will publish art work and media in a variety of media (but designed fordisplay on a computer monitor) including still images, video or audio.Inquiries are welcome at http://tcjournal.org/drupal/inquiries.CalendarPlease submit article proposals/abstracts for critical articles (the "journal article") by June 15, 2011. The editorialstaff will then request full length drafts from those abstracts still under consideration. Length: For print texts, weseek 6,000 to 7,500 word manuscripts. Creative works in any genre may vary wildly and may be submitted viaour web submission form by October 1, 2011. Creative Works Due:October 1, 2011 for immediate review. Calendar for Critical Works:Article Proposals/Abstracts Due: June 15, 2011.Requests for Full Length Drafts from Editorial Staff to Authors: July 1, 2011.Full Drafts to Editors for Comment and Peer Review: October 1, 2011.Comments from Peer Reviewers Due: November 15, 2011.Comments to Authors: Dec 1, 2011.Revisions Due from Authors: Mar 1, 2012.Comments from Peer Reviewers (Round Two), for those article submissions noted as needing major revision:May 1, 2012. Final Revisions Due: July 1, 2012. Publication: August 15, 2012. Call for book reviewsThe editorial staff of Technoculture is currently seeking book reviews at [redacted]. Technocultureaccepts submissions for its book review section on a rolling basis all year round. However, in order to beincluded in the current issue, submissions will have to reach the editorial staff by May 15, 2012.The books reviewed should focus on cultural studies of technology and be published within the last two years ofthe May 15, 2012 deadline. All book reviews should be between 500 and 1000 words. They should be submittedin rtf or web equivalent such as flash or html and include the complete details of the book (author(s), publisher,date of publication). Please include a brief bio of the reviewer (no more than 50 words).

Marthe Reed

↑ Index

100. Stephen Vincent

NYC "haptic" show reminder

Wed 18 May 2011

Just dawned on me that Gallery shows do come to an end. So, a gentle reminder, if you are in or close to NYC, my current drawing show, "Haptics: Poetry By Other Means", at the Jack Hanley Gallery, 136 Watts St.,(Tribeca) will be up through Saturday, May 28. For nostalgia or otherwise, the Ear (long weekend home of poetry readings) is only 1.2 blocks away - across Canal Street, and still a great place for a drink, a meal, or, if so inclined, a way to have a good crowd to look at the NBA playoffs!

Stephen V

http://stephenvincent.net/blog/

↑ Index

101. Paul Nelson

SPLAB Radio

Thu 19 May 2011

Th
SPLAB is now producing short (5 minute) radio segments for KBCS.FM.

The latest are a couple of segments with C.A. Conrad linked here:

http://splab.org/?p=1676

Enjoy.

Paul Nelson
Seattle, WA

Paul E. Nelson

SPLAB!
C. City, WA
[redacted]begin_of_the_skype_highlighting [redacted] end_of_the_skype_highlighting

↑ Index

102. sam truitt

Robert Kelly's UNCERTAINTIES…. Review Copies Available

Thu 19 May 2011

Uncertainties
Robert Kelly
Station Hill Press
Paperback
Price: $15.95
Pages: 156
ISBN 978-1-58177-122-0
Publication Date: November 15, 2011

To receive a PDF of Uncertainties for review consideration, please email [redacted]

Here is Robert Kelly's condensed yet vastly applicable and available poetic statement on Uncertainties:

"Call and response. The breathing body of poetry from the beginning. The psalms of David, the wave of them, rise and fall of plainchant, verse and response. The constantly shifting pause between the half-lines of Old English poetry and the poems of the Edda, the half-lines of the Kalevala swayed out four-handed on the saga bench. So I thought towards the two-line stanza as experiments in duration, in complex syntactic and melodic demands. The melody of the first line necessitates the melody of the next. Shape shaping shape. Formally, the poem engages with one constraint: each line wants to be semantically intact—ideally, any line could stand alone, be my Last Words, my epitaph. Yet it also must link syntactically or narratively with the line that follows. And each stanza must stand in like relation with the stanzas before and after. This requirement extends to line structure something that I've worked with for years (usually furtively): hypersyntax, where phrases link with what comes before or after, or plausibly stand alone. Uncertainties tries to use these strategies in 'mental strife,' to solicit the dissolving of certainties—in between the inbreath and the outbreath, where nothing is fixed, and freedom begins."

Poet and fiction writer,* Robert Kelly* was born in 1935 in Brooklyn, and educated at CCNY and Columbia, where he studied mediaeval literature and linguistics. His first book, Armed Descent, was published in 1961; since then he has published over sixty more, most recently the novel The Book from the Sky, the long poem Fire Exit, and his fifth collection of short stories*, The Logic of the World*. He has been especially interested in collaborations with artists (The Garden of Distances, Shame) and other poets (Mont Blanc, Unquell the Dawn Now). He was a founder of *Chelsea * and* Trobar, and an editor of Caterpillar, Alcheringa, *and Conjunctions . He is the Asher B. Edelman Professor of Literature at Bard College, where he started the writing program in the Milton Avery Graduate School. He co-directs the Program in Written Arts. He lives in the Hudson Valley with his wife, the translator Charlotte Mandell.

Sam Truitt
Managing Director
Station Hill of Barrytown
120 Station Hill Road
Barrytown, NY 12507
O-[redacted]
www.stationhill.org
www.samtruitt.org

↑ Index

103. Séamas Cain
The Aisling Project
Thu 19 May 2011

THE AISLING PROJECT

presented by IMRAM in association with the Dublin Writers' Festival

8:00 p.m., Tuesday 24 May 2011

The Sugar Club,
8 Lower Lesson Street,
Dublin 2, Ireland

http://www.dublinwritersfestival.com

Phone : 01-6040020

The aisling - or vision poem – is a poetic form that developed during the late 17th and 18th centuries. In an aisling, Ireland appears to the poet in a vision or dream in the form of a woman, sometimes young and beautiful, sometimes aged and haggard. This figure is referred to in the poems as a spéirbhean. She laments the state of the Irish people and predicts an imminent renewal of their fortunes, frequently linked to the return of a Stuart pretender to the English throne. The first and greatest of the aisling poets was Aodhagán Ó Rathaille - athair na haislinge (father of the aisling). In his hands, the aisling was a powerful mode of political writing.

On Tuesday 24 May 2011, at 8:00 p.m., IMRAM with the Dublin Writers' Festival will stage a major reading in which leading Irish language poets Paddy Bushe, Gearóid Mac Lochlainn and Dairena Ní Chinnéide perform newly composed poems in the aisling form addressing the current state of Ireland. These poems will be performed with specially composed live music by acclaimed composer and multi-instrumentalist Seán Óg McErlane, and on-screen projections by artist Margaret Lonergan.

This event is curated by Liam Carson, director of the IMRAM Irish Language Literature Festival.

In vision,

Séamas Cain
http://www.saorsainn.net
http://alazanto.org/seamascain
http://seamascain-writernetwork.org

↑ Index

104. Susan Webster Schultz

Tinfish Retro Chapbook #3: Stephen Collis's _Primordial Density Perturbation_

Thu 19 May 2011

Aloha friends of Tinfish Press--

Our third Tinfish Retro Chapbook will be out soon; it's by Stephen Collis, a wonderful poet-critic from Vancouver, BC.

Seehttp://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/05/primordial-density-perturbation-by.html for details!

Collis's chapbook will be available June 1 from Tinfish Press.

You can order it on-line, through our 2checkout.com function or send monies to Tinfish Press, 47-728 Hui Kelu Street #9, Kaneohe, HI 96744.

One chapbook for $3 or the full set of 12 for $36 (this being the third in a chap of the month club series).

Susan

↑ Index

105. Nicholas Leaskou

Poet As Radio

Thu 19 May 2011

POET AS RADIO is a new, weekly program on KUSF In Exile, airing Saturdays from 9am to 10am at http://www.savekusf.org. Jack Spicer said that the poet is not a creator, but a conduit, getting messages from an undefinable source to form the poem. He thought of a poet as a radio, broadcasting words. We like to think of POET AS RADIO as an opportunity for writers to broadcast their words as well.
Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â
Tune in this Saturday, May 21 as we kick things off by interviewing poet Sarah Rosenthal about her book A Community Writing Itself: Conversations with Vanguard Writers of the Bay Area and her thoughts on teaching.
Â
On Saturday, May 28, we continue our conversation with Sarah, discussing her cross-genre book Manhatten and her current writing projects.
Â
Miss a show? Not a problem!
--Station archive: http://www.saveusf.org
--Download a podcast to iTunes: Coming soon!
--YouTube: Coming soon!
Â
Future shows will include interviews with Bay Area writers, readings, lectures, announcements about Bay Area poetry readingsâ€”and other great ideas that we, and you, come up with. Please contact us with ideas for future shows and info on your upcoming events at [redacted].
Â
No longer broadcasting on 90.3 FM, KUSF is in the process of restructuring the station. The live version of Poet As Radio can only currently be streamed online, so please "tune" your browser to savekusf.org.
Â
Â
Â

↑ Index

106. David Kirschenbaum

Advertise in Boog City's Festival Program Issue

Thu 19 May 2011

Hi,

In a little over two months, to mark our 20th anniversary, we'll be putting on our fifth annual Welcome to Boog City poetry and music festival, featuring poets, musicians, and playwrights performing at four venues, in two boroughs, over five days, from Fri. Aug. 5-Tues. Aug. 9. Among the over 50 performers taking part are poets Cara Benson, Charles Borkhuis, Lee Ann Brown, Bruce Covey, Alan Gilbert, Brenda Iijima, Ish Klein, Mark Lamoureux, Tanya Larkin, Douglas Piccininni, Kimberly Ann Southwick, Mary Austin Speaker, and Jill Stengel.

Ten days before the event, we'll be putting out the festival issue of Boog City. This issue will feature pieces on some of the performers and a full schedule, illustrated with images of each of the performers.

Advertising in the festival issue of Boog City means you will reach more than 3,000 readers, poetry lovers, and small press aficionados throughout the East Village, other targeted areas of lower Manhattan; Williamsburg and Greenpoint, Brooklyn; as well as bonus distribution at Boog City events. That's an increase of 33.3% over our regular issues for no additional cost. And, since this issue is also a program for the festival, readers will give it a closer read as they check to see who's up later on that day and throughout the festival.

Boog City continues to offer our special Small Press Ad Rates. That means when you advertise with us you will save 50% off of our regular display ad rates.

* Full Page $250
* Half-Page $130
* Quarter-Page $70
* Eighth-Page $40

Here is a link to our full rate card:

http://boogcity.com/ad-rates.pdf

As I mentioned in previous emails to you, Boog City focuses on getting the word out about lesser-known artists, be they poets, prose writers, musicians, painters, photographers, or cartoonists. Each month we publish poetry from the likes of Anselm Berrigan, Renee Gladman, Lisa Jarnot, Eileen Myles, Kristin Prevallet, and Edwin Torres, alongside our Urban Folk music section, small press book reviews, political commentary, art, comics, and photographs.

We look forward to working with you to bring your message to the local arts community to increase awareness and sales of your publications in the New York area.

as ever,
David

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://boogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

107. Jonathan Penton
Site News! Anthologies! Now Hiring!
Fri 20 May 2011

Hello beautiful readers,

First off, /Unlikely Stories of the Third Kind/ is being, once again, printed. If you are waiting on a copy, now is a good time to write to me at [redacted] and tell me.

Second, we've got a sweet new mini-issue up at www.UnlikelyStories.org! Check out:
Seven Drawings and Paintings by Simon Coates and Part One of a two-month series of the Mixed-Media Visual Art of Don Cato!

And hey! Are you reading the Unlikely Blog at http://www.unlikelystories.org/blog/ ? Gabriel Ricard has been tearing that up, with new reviews of Lawrence Barrett, Wayne Crawford, Vernon Frazer, Jonathan Hayes, Gene Keller, Pat Nolan, Logan Phillips, Marthe Reed, and F. Richard Thomas!

Now, we'd like to thank and congratulate Dustin Luke Nelson, our Music Editor, who's new InDigest Press is really taking off. An outgrowth of www.InDigestMag.com, it's an exciting, ambitious new press for serious lovers of literature. Unfortunately, it has put him in a time crunch, and he's having to step down as our Music Editor. So we're now looking for someone new to fill that spot -- please just drop me a line!

<insert Cohen-style come-on>
--

Jonathan Penton
http://www.unlikelystories.org/

↑ Index

108. Brian Seabolt

Raft 3 online

Fri 20 May 2011

Raft 3 is now online, at http://www.raftmagazineonline.com The new issue features work by Emily Jones, John McKernan, Mary Kasimor, Stephen Bett, Debrah Morkun, D. E. Steward, Niamh MacAlister, Robert Kiely, Sarah Maria Griffin, J.D. Mitchell-Lumsden, Raymond Farr, and L.A Speedwing.

The submission deadline for issue 4 is July 31, 2011.

Best--

Brian Seabolt
Raft Magazine
www.raftmagazineonline.com

↑ Index

109. Rob McLennan

new from above/ground press: Ben Ladouceurs LIME KILN QUAY ROAD

Fri 20 May 2011

There was a rock rumoured to grow
one inch every year.

It was a letdown.

The heath once housed a witch

but then they built the church so she became some nightjars and took off.

Its something we do in the countryside.

We dont grow a great deal and depart

when the birds were made of have had enough.

LIME KILN QUAY ROAD
by Ben Ladouceur
$4

published in Ottawa by above/ground press in an edition of 200 copies, May 2011
a/g subscribers receive a complimentary copy
write for submission/subscription info, c/o 858 Somerset
Street West, main floor, Ottawa ON K1R 6R7,
or check out [redacted] or abovegroundpress.blogspot.com

To order, send cheques (add $1 for postage; outside Canada, add $2 & in US $) to: rob mclennan, 858 Somerset Street West, main floor, Ottawa Ontario Canada K1R 6R7.

After a year spent living and working in various towns throughout England, Ben Ladouceur spent the summer of 2010 employed at a youth hostel in the hamlet of Blaxhall, Suffolk. He is now living back in Ottawa, his hometown. His poetry has most recently been featured in Ottawater, Cadaverine, and the anthology Pith and Wry: Canadian Poetry (Scrivener Press, ed. Susan McMaster, 2010). Previous chapbooks include: Nuuk, In/Words Chapbook Series, 2008; Alert, Angel House Press, 2009; The Argossey, Apt. 9 Press, 2009; The Bottom of the Sea, The Moose & Pussy, 2011

www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

110. Dan Wilcox
Reading of Song of Myself, May 31, 6PM, Albany, NY, Washington Park
Fri 20 May 2011

Celebrate the Birthday of Walt Whitman

at the

Robert Burns Statue Washington Park, Albany, NY

A reading of “Song of Myself”

by local poets & other citizens

(Sign up to read at the event)

Tuesday, May 31, 2011

6:00 PM

rain or shine

free

Bring chairs, blankets, etc. to sit on.

presented by the Poetry Motel Foundation

& the Hudson Valley Writers Guild

(for information call [redacted])

↑ Index

111. Jim Andrews
Vancouver
Fri 20 May 2011

I've moved to downtown Vancouver. If you're here also, drop me a line at [redacted] and let's meet for coffee. Looking forward to getting up to all sorts of art stuff in my new city.

ja
http://vispo.com

↑ Index

112. Hazel Smith
email address for Christian Bok
Sat 21 May 2011

Does anyone have an email address for Christian Bok please. If so, could you backchannel please?
Thanks
Hazel

Prof. Hazel Smith
Writing and Society Research Group
College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
Locked Bag 1797
Penrith, NSW, 2751
tel: 9772 6400
email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>

See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media works
http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm

↑ Index

113. Hazel Smith
improvised poetry in performance
Sat 21 May 2011

I am currently compiling information for an article on improvisation in contemporary poetry, and would be interested in the names of people currently using improvisatory strategies in poetry performance, either by improvising with words or with the voice or both. I co-wrote a book in the nineties about improvisation in the arts in which I discussed poets like Antin, Benson, Cobbing, Paula Claire and cris cheek, and other poets and musicians involved in the text-sound movement, but what I am mainly enquiring about here is a new generation of people who may be involved with improvisation in poetry now (or have been recently) and whose work and outlook may be very different.

I am interested in people using computer-based text generation too, but I already have quite a stack of information about that, and the practitioners and their practices are easier to locate.

If you have ideas about people who are engaging in improvised poetry performance I'd be interested to hear about them either through the list or backchannel (and if you are such a person maybe you can declare yourself to me!) My focus is international.
Thanks!
Hazel
Prof. Hazel Smith
Writing and Society Research Group
College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
Locked Bag 1797
Penrith, NSW, 2751
tel: 9772 6400
email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>

See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media works

http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm

↑ Index

114. David Hadbawnik

reading in NYC -- May 26, Prevallet, Robbins, Hadbawnik

Sat 21 May 2011

Thursday, May 26 · 7:30pm - 10:30pm ---------- Location Unnameable Books 600 Vanderbilt Ave Brooklyn, New York ---------- Created By Brenda Iijima <https://www.facebook.com/profile.php?id=680855244> ---------- More Info Kristin Prevallet is a poet, essayist, performer, and educator whose literary focus is to integrate political and personal consciousness into radical poetic forms. Kristin was born in southwest Denver, CO. She now lives in Brooklyn. Has taught poetry and poetics, critical thinking and textual analysis at NYU, The New School, Bard College, and Naropa University's online MFA program. Currently teaching in the Institute for Writing... Studies at St. John's University in Jamaica, Queens. She is recently received her certification in Integrative Hypnosis and is completing a book of essays called "Writing is Never by Itself Alone: Practicing Investigative Poetics." Her books include: I, Afterlife: Essay in Mourning Time, Essay Press, 2007, Shadow Evidence Intelligence, Factory School, 2006, Scratch Sides: Poetry, Documentation, and Image-Text Projects, Skanky Possum Press, 2003, Perturbation, My Sister: A Study of Max Ernst's Hundred Headless Woman, First Intensity, 1997 and A Helen Adam Reader: Selected Poems, Collages and Music, edited with an introduction by Kristin Prevallet, The National Poetry Foundation, 2007.

Originally from Atlantic City NJ, Micah Robbins is a poet and book artist who currently resides in Dallas TX. He edits and publishes Interbirth Books (handbound volumes of poetry and prose) and Say It With Stones (trade paperback editions of new and innovative writing), as well as curating Sous Les Pavés - a lo-fi newsletter of poetry and ideation. Micah's poetry and prose has appeared in a range of small press and underground publications, both nationally and internationally, and his chapbook Crass Songs of Sand & Brine was published by Habenicht Press in 2010. In addition to writing new poetry, he is currently working on a novel tentatively titled Communiqué from the Beach.

Born in Detroit, MI, David Hadbawnik is a poet and performer currently living with his wife, dog, and cat in Buffalo, NY. Books include Field Work (BlazeVOX, 2011), Translations From Creeley (Sardines, 2008), Ovid in Exile (Interbirth, 2007), and SF Spleen (Skanky Possum, 2006). He is the editor and publisher of Habenicht Press and the journal kadar koli. In Buffalo, he directs the Buffalo Poets Theater, and writes on his blog, Primitive Information (habenichtpress.com).

↑ Index

115. Larry Sawyer

Larry Sawyer is Unable to Fully California at ACM

Sat 21 May 2011

Review at Another Chicago Magazine: Larry Sawyer's Unable to Fully California http://tinyurl.com/3opb6yw

↑ Index

116. Rob McLennan

new(ish) on rob's clever blog

Sun 22 May 2011

-- Influency: a report,
-- Ongoing notes: mid-May, 2011 (Monty Reid, Claudia Radmore, Kate Greenstreet, Lisa Fishman)
-- my review of Ken Belford's Decompositions (Talonbooks)
-- rob participating in The Niagara Literary Arts Festival
-- Ongoing notes: the dusie kollectiv,
-- THE DUSTY OWL FAMILY REUNION! May 22, 2011;
-- AvantGarden (Toronto) featuring rob mclennan, etc
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Dawn Promislow
-- Ongoing notes: the dusie kollectiv,
-- Gale Nelson, This Is What Happens When Talk Ends
-- Michael Blouin, Wore Down Trust
-- Phyllis Webb documentary by Robert McTavish on CBC Radio
-- new from above/ground press: THE DUSTY OWL QUARTERLY
-- John Lavery: December 31, 1949 - May 8, 2011
-- Ongoing notes: early May, 2011;
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Jeremy Hanson-Finger
-- span-o presents: May 20th, Ladouceur, Taylor + Rogal
-- Norma Cole, To Be At Music: Essays & Talks
-- Elizabeth Willis, Address
-- The Dusty Owl Reading Series: May 8 (Brown, Lavery, etc)

-- MESSAGIO GALORE TAKE VIII; event report,
-- Three years (a collaboration), (poem)
-- Ongoing notes: late April, 2011
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Brenda Hillman
-- Helen Guri, Match
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Joel Yanofsky
-- vote for rob as this year's poet laureate of the blogsosphere
-- The VEG Literary Magazine interviews rob mclennan
-- The Anatomy of Clay, Gillian Sze
-- Susan Howe, That This
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Madeleine Thien
-- AngelHousePress' meta-ditch response anthology now online
-- O bittersweet black sheep: Camille Martins Sonnets (Shearsman)
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Karen Randall on Propolis Press
-- Bremner's Obvious Epiphanies Press (Japan) now has a website
-- Toronto, bpNichol Lane, haircut, etcetera;
-- National Poetry Month; Amanda Earl's AngelHousePress
-- fwd; The 2011 Litpop Awards Competition is now open
-- Is Ottawa a Literary Capital too? an interview with rob mclennan
on The New Quarterly blog
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Richard Greene
-- a gentleman collector of sentences: notes on rereading Lisa Robertson
-- a newish poem of mine posted for national poetry month
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Robert Pinsky
-- a sad note from Robert Currie: Gary Hyland (Nov 25, 1940 - April 5, 2011)

www.robmclennan.blogspot.com

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

117. Carfagna, Richard

Michael Palmer email

Mon 23 May 2011

Hi,

Does anyone have Michael Palmer's email address?
b/c please, and it is appreciated.

Ric

↑ Index

118. Joel Weishaus
"The Silence of Sasquatch" redesign
Mon 23 May 2011

"The Silence of Sasquatch" continues my redesiging of past projects in order to better anticipate future electronic displays. I've also tried to simplfy the work, appreciating more the dynamics of reading on a screen as opposed to on paper. Originally made during 2003-2004, "The Silence of Sasquatch" elaborates the creature, "part-animal, part-human who can hypnotize, ventriloquise, make himself invisible," who has been recorded, mythically or not, in many places of the world.

http://www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/Bigfoot/intro.htm

-Joel Weishaus

Homepage:
http://web.pdx.edu/~pdx00282/
Digital Archive:
www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/index.htm
Paper Archive:
http://rmoa.unm.edu/docviewer.php?docId=nmu1mss456bc.xml

↑ Index

119. Bonnie MacAllister
Certain Circuits Issue 1.1 Launches June 3 at Rotunda
Mon 23 May 2011

Certain Circuits Issue 1.1 Launch
June 3rd at the Rotunda 7-10 p.m.
www.rotunda.org

Founded by artists, Certain Circuits publishes poetry, experimental prose, art, and new media, with a special interest in documenting multimedia collaborative work between artists. Please consider donating food or beverage to our Issue 1.1 launch which features work from local Philadelphia artists as well as artists in Australia, Brazil, France, Mexico, India, Japan, Uruguay, the United Kingdom, and the United States. We financed this issue completely through a Kickstarter campaign. Weâ€™ve been publishing monthly multimedia issues at www.certaincircuits.org<http://www.certaincircuits.org/> .

(For the full color flier designed by Ahhna See:
http://us2.campaign-archive1.com/?

u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=d355eb1459.
We ask that you please forward this email.)

SOUNDSApogee are a space-punk trio emerging from West Philadelphiaâ€™s hyperactive DIY scene. Apogee members: Dan â€œRedbeardâ€, guitars and vocals, Matt Stevenson, bass, Mike Mongiello, drums. Matt and Dan are veterans of the Philly musical underground. Mike has also played with the bands Bunnydrums and Scareho. They have released their first album, EVOLVE & DESTROY, on Main Street West recordings - search for the MSW label page on Last.fm. mainstreetwest.blogspot.com

Radio Eris: Founded in 1999 by Lora Bloom and Matt Stevenson, the thriving band of veteran cozmik rockers features Dan â€œRedbeardâ€ Baker on guitar, the mysterious Kenny on synthesizers and noise, and Brad Rothman on drums. They have released 5 albums, run out of gas on the A-4 in eastern France, bought a house, hung out with members of Hawkwind, toured the South in a midnight-blue van in August, and had any number of other adventures across the last decade. http://www.last.fm/music/Radio+Eris http://www.myspace.com/radio5eris

*HORSEY: *Sometimes galloping along the tide line, sometimes rolling in the mud like in Andrei Rubelev, HORSEY is More of an animal than a band. HORSEY comes in many forms: sound, image, costume and spaz attacks are among the most common manifestations. You can hear â€œLucky Locketâ€on the library album:
http://www.notaboutthebuildings.com/libraryalbum/horsey_luckylocket.mp3.

*WORDS * Courtney Bambrick<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/5098404812/emily-milo-i-hibiscus-pink-and-green> is a poet and teacher from Philadelphia. Her poetry has appeared in such print and online journals and anthologies as E Pluribus Unum from Light of Unity, The Phenomena of Temporary: The Fuze Anthology, Dirty Napkin, The Schuylkill Valley Journal, Philadelphia Poets, Mad Poets Review, Parlor, and Philadelphia Stories where she now serves as poetry editor. Courtney currently teaches composition at Holy Family University and Gwynedd-Mercy College and has worked on- and backstage for theatrical productions in Philadelphia area and in Ireland.

*Natalie Felix<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/4257552391/natalie-c-felix-is-a-poet-artist-and> * is a poet, artist and Uni-Verse-All community member with a BA in Spanish Literature from UC Santa Barbara and a MA in Human Science from Saybrook University. She is the Executive Director of the Community Cultural Exchange (CCE), a non-profit whose mission is to create community through art and culture.

David Hewitt<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/5098386832/hed-followed-the-crumpled-directions-to-what-he> is a self-employed book dealer and amateur musician/ writer/ photographer/ artist residing in the East Falls section of Philadelphia. His hobbies include pondering the value of decay and flipping hopefully through the pages of every parcel of printed matter he gets his hands on.

Bonnie MacAllister<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3565759072/dinosaur-land-bonnie-macallister-is-a-multimedia> is a multimedia performance artist and playwright. She is currently showing work at the Delaware Art Museum in Wilmington, the Florissant Art Gallery in St. Louis, and the Center for Green Urbanism in DC. She is the author of SOME WORDS ARE NO LONGER WORDS, PAID IN GOATS, and COPTIC: ETHIOPIAN MYSTICISM. For more info: bonniemacallister.com.

Hal Sirowitz<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3564564032/the-mountain-lions-prey-generally-you-wont-see> is the author of 4 collections of poetry, commencing with â€œMother Saidâ€ (Crown), ending with â€œFather Saidâ€ (Soft Skull Press).

FILMS Believe it or not, Brian Howe and Ashley Howe<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3860781192/videos-and-music-by-brian-howe-and-ashley-howe> are neither married nor related. Among other artistic collaborations, theyâ€™ve been making videos together for the past several years, which have been featured in journals such as Drunken Boat. Brian is a journalist, poet, and audiovisual artist who hypes himself in the usual fashion at his blog, http://waxwroth.blogspot.com/. Ashley is more of a mystery, avoiding anything by way of an Internet presence or standard bio, so youâ€™ll have to trust Brian that she exists and is awesome.

Amanda Lovelee<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3573185392/amanda-lovelee-is-interested-in-how-people-connect> is interested in how people connect and the spaces in which they do so within contemporary society. Her work, mainly video and photography, weaves together data, stories and personal experience to create non-linear narratives about the fragility of human relationships. Her recent work has explored a myriad of topics: family history, the lives of beekeepers and ice fishermen, strangersâ€™ love stories and the sociology of square dancing.

Jeff Siegel<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3572529646/jeff-siegel-has-worked-in-a-variety-of-different> has worked in a variety of different media over the years, from short fiction to design to music criticism, as a self-styled â€renaissance man,â€ never realizing that thatâ€™s the polite term for

â€œdilettante.â€ He can often be seen bloviating on topics about which he really, and obviously, knows very little. www.theprivatesector.org

Tanya Perkins<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/5098400901/journal-of-a-sailor-on-an-alternate-santa-maria>â€™ work has appeared in numerous journals including Cirque, The Wilderness House Literary Review and Arcadia. A graduate student in English Studies at Western Washington University, she lives and writes on the shores of Puget Sound and considers herself damn lucky for it. roughedin.wordpress.com

Jim Tuite and Patrick Morris <http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/3572338330/hammer-featuring-patrick-morris-investigates-the>are artists working in painting, drawing, photography and video. They were both educated at Tyler School of Art. Mr.â€¨Tuite also studied at the School of Visual Art. The video â€œHammerâ€, featuringâ€¨Mr. Morris, examines the relationship between personal demons found in an obsessive ritual with an artistâ€™s creative process.

The Rotunda, located at 4014 Walnut Street in Philadelphia, PA, is a community-gathering place that is fueled by the belief that art is a catalyst for social change and that the arts can lead to the formation of meaningful partnerships between the University of Pennsylvania and surrounding neighborhoods. Over 300 events are offered every year, including live music, film, spoken word, theater, art, dance, education, youth programs, arts incubation, and various experimental genres. As an alcohol-free, smoke-free venue, The Rotunda provides a critical social alternative for all ages. At its core, The Rotunda is a shared space fostering learning, enrichment, and community supportwhile empowering the public to present, produce, and promote their work. www.rotunda.org

Requested donation ($10 gets the issue)
Contributor and Subscriber News
*
*
MAILING ADDRESSES MISSING: If you have not emailed us your mailing address for the delivery of your issue(s), please email [redacted]. Please include your country if you are out the United States.

*FIVE DAYS TO SUBSCRIBE ON KICKSTARTER: *We wish to thank all of the donors on our Kickstarter. We appreciate and need all donations so we appreciate it if you repost the link to the Kickstarter which is live until Sunday: http://kck.st/dY99K4 <http://kck.st/dY99K4> Any support is welcome!

*VOLUNTEERS: *We are seeking volunteers to work the book distribution table on June 3 at the Rotunda.

*FOOD DONATIONS: *We are also actively pursuing food and beverage donations. If you know someone who would like to donate, please contact [redacted]. The Rotunda is an alcohol free venue.

NEW WORK:
New work launches on June 1 at 10 a.m. EST including by *Brooke Bailey
Spencer Carvalho
Bill Wolak
Greg Bem and Linda Thea
Victor Thompson
Michelle Wilson and Mary Tasillo
Val Broeksmit (Bikini Robot Army)
Brandon Ross
natalie c. felix

COLLABORATE COLLABORATOR EXHIBIT AT ERIS TEMPLE ARTSPACE: Thanks to all of you who attended our exhibition opening at Eris Temple Artspace! We are about to take down the exhibition on May 28th, but there is a chance to see much of the work at the Rotunda on June 3 for our opening!We would like to thank Courtney Bambrick, Jane Cassandy, David Hewitt, Hal Sirowitz, Jeff Mark, and Horsey for performing that night! We were pleased to show films by B*rian and Ashley Howe, Jim Tuite and Patrick Morris, Amanda Lovelee, Jeff Siegel, Adam Zucker and Jason Maas, Handmade Philly, Horsey*, and Radio Eris as part of the exhibit. Artists who showed work were A*lison Altergott, Kirsten Ashley, Eleanor Leonne Bennett, Ellen Bonett, Natalie Felix, Joanna Fulginiti, David Hewitt, Amanda Lovelee, Bonnie MacAllister, Ana Viviane Minorelli, Ruth Schanbacher, Rachel Blythe Udell, Nico Vassilikas*, and*Jed William*s. The opening was videotaped by Jon Allen. Email [redacted]<http://us2.campaign-archive1.com/[redacted]> for an appointment to see the show before May 28th.

UPCOMING EVENTS: We will have two upcoming nights on August 22 and 29 at National Mechanics in Old City Philadelphia where we will screen films and showcase Certain Circuits performers as part of the Fringe Festival event led by a.d. amorosi and John Cecil Price. We are also booking a night at the Big Blue Marble Bookstore in Mt. Airy. Please email us [redacted]<http://us2.campaign-archive1.com/[redacted]>for any questions or further bookings.

THANK YOU, COMMUNITY CULTURAL EXCHANGE, FISCAL SPONSOR! Big thanks go out to the Community Cultural Exchange for fiscal sponsorship of Certain Circuits Media. The Community Cultural Exchange (CCE) is a 501(c)3 non-profit with the mission to create community through art and culture. We do so by acting as a bridge between local art and culture groups, businesses, artists and the South Street area community. Encouraging the exchange of Philadelphia culture, we facilitate programs and events of all disciplines including musical, visual, performing, literary and wellness arts. http://www.communityculturalexchange.org

↑ Index

120. Alan Sondheim

What Dylan Thomas Didn't Say:

Mon 23 May 2011

What Dylan Thomas Didn't Say:

3 go gentle mewling into that good night
4 submit, subdue, crawl into summer's light stand out, forebear, drown tears themselves with sight fall down, consume, consumed with plague or blight
5 h
6 among them all, collapse, forget tomorrow's bite deranged, arrange, you're gone, you've got no spite the sword's your savior, now so keen and bright, it might right height, fight white knight tight, slight plight.
7 h

↑ Index

121. Jennifer Karmin

May 24: Facts of Light in Chicago

Mon 23 May 2011

Plumberries Press presents a release party to celebrate the new chapbook
Facts of Light by Laura Goldstein

Tuesday, May 24th from 8pm-12am

at Ball Hall
1621 N. Kedzie Ave #3
Chicago, Illinois

"Facts of Light" performed by Laura Goldstein with Denise Dooley, Jennifer Karmin, Alex Marchut, Edwin R. Perry, Kg Price, Shannon Schmidt, Chelsea Tadeyeske & Luis Valadez

READING: "Fundamental" by Edwin R. Perry VIDEOS: by Brett Balogh & Yoni Goldstein
DANCE: by Lab Dance
MUSIC: "I think I'm Turning Balinese" by Kg Price

Laura Goldstein's poetry, reviews and essays can be found in EAOGH, Requited, Little Red Leaves, How2, Seven Corners, Text/Sound, Rabbit Light Movies, Otoliths, CutBank Reviews and Moria, as well as this summer in American Letters and Commentary, She has two chapbooks: Ice in Intervals from Hex Press and Day of Answers from Tir Aux Pigeons and her newest chapbook, Let Her, will be coming out from Dancing Girl Press in Spring 2012. She currently co-curates the Red Rover reading series and teaches Writing and Literature at the School of the Art Institute and Loyola University.

http://plumberriespress.wordpress.com

↑ Index

122. Micah Robbins

This Thursday in Brooklyn: Kristin Prevallet, David Hadbawnik, and Micah Robbins

Mon 23 May 2011

Please join us this Thursday, May 26th, for a reading with Kristin Prevallet, David Hadbawnik, and Micah Robbins. The event will be hosted by Brenda Iijima and will take place at Unnamable Books (600 Vanderbilt Ave. between Dean St. and St. Marks Ave.) beginning at 7:30pm.

Hope to see you there!

unnamablebooks.blogspot.com

↑ Index

123. CA Conrad

Rachel Blau DuPlessis & Mark Wallace on JUPITER 88

Tue 24 May 2011

JUPITER 88, a video journal of contemporary poetry
http://JUPITER88poetry.blogspot.com

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

124. CA Conrad
(Soma)tic Workshop MASONIC SLUICE...
Tue 24 May 2011

The June workshop, details here: http://myforehead.blogspot.com

All welcome!
CAConrad

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

125. Regina Pinto
Omar Lamer & Andante Grazioso
Tue 24 May 2011

My newest Autumn series:

1)- Omar Lamer – Vispo – photos and movie
at: http://arteselavy.tumblr.com

2)- Andante Grazioso - Walking Poetry – photos (frames) and movie at:
http://pintor.tumblr.com

All the best,
Regina Pinto

↑ Index

126. Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU
seeking Buddhist poetry
Tue 24 May 2011

I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.

Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?

Yes, back channel.

Cheryl

cherylpallant.com
cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

127. mIEKAL aND
Fwd: [oddmusic] jjj (a setting of a poem by Bruce Andrews in 19 ET)
Tue 24 May 2011

---------- Forwarded message ----------
From: christopherv <[redacted]>
Date: Tue, May 24, 2011 at 1:46 PM
Subject: [oddmusic] jjj (a setting of a poem by Bruce Andrews in 19 ET)
To: [redacted]

Despite being guitar based this sounds like a tribal electronica mix.

Details and online play here http://chrisvaisvil.com/?p^3 download only

http://micro.soonlabel.com/19-ET/daily20110523-19take2.mp3

—

↑ Index

128. steve dalachinsky
Re: improvised poetry in performance
Wed 25 May 2011

---

paul dutton meself

On Sat, 21 May 2011 12:21:13 +0000 Hazel Smith <[redacted]>
writes:
> I am currently compiling information for an article on improvisation > in contemporary poetry, and would be interested in the names of > people currently using improvisatory strategies in poetry > performance, either by improvising with words or with the voice or > both. I co-wrote a book in the nineties about improvisation in the > arts in which I discussed poets like Antin, Benson, Cobbing, > Paula Claire and cris cheek, and other poets and musicians involved > in the text-sound movement, but what I am mainly enquiring about > here is a new generation of people who may be involved with > improvisation in poetry now (or have been recently) and whose work > and outlook may be very different.
>
> I am interested in people using computer-based text generation too, > but I already have quite a stack of information about that, and the > practitioners and their practices are easier to locate.
>

> If you have ideas about people who are engaging in improvised > poetry performance I'd be interested to hear about them either > through the list or backchannel (and if you are such a person maybe > you can declare yourself to me!) My focus is international.
> Thanks!
> Hazel
> Prof. Hazel Smith
> Writing and Society Research Group
> College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
> UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
> Locked Bag 1797
> Penrith, NSW, 2751
> tel: 9772 6400
> email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
>
> See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
> The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media
> works
> http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
> Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
> http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
> The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
> http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm
>
> ====
>
>

↑ Index

129. Cara Benson
Brooklyn Friday Reading
Wed 25 May 2011

Who's not leaving town for the wknd? Who is actually headed into an urb from the rur?

Multifarious Array this Friday

Curated by Dorothea Laskey

5/27-Cara Benson, Sarah Dowling, Viraj Kamdar, and Mark Horosky This Friday: 7pm to 8:30pm

709 lorimer street - williamsburg, Brooklyn - 11211
(718) 302 - 3770

http://petescandystore.com/petes_map.html

↑ Index

130. Millicent Borges Accardi
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Wed 25 May 2011

I'd recommend Gary Snyder.

mill

Help me get to 300 likes. Click here to "like" my FB page. Thanks!

-----Original Message-----
From: Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU <[redacted]>
To: POETICS <[redacted]>
Sent: Wed, May 25, 2011 9:25 am
Subject: seeking Buddhist poetry

I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual wareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
Yes, back channel.
Cheryl
cherylpallant.com
herylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

131. Catherine Daly
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Wed 25 May 2011

American? Which "way" -- in U.S., Zen and Tibetan are most common? Though I think a lot of Theravadan flies under the radar, at least in the U.S.

Practicing Buddhist writers or those influenced by, among other things, Buddhism, in its many flavors?

Also, pls. front channel these --

All best,
Catherine Daly

↑ Index

132. patrick dunagan
San Francisco group reading Thursday May 26, 2011 7pm
Wed 25 May 2011

Micah Ballard / Patrick James Dunagan / Christina Fisher / Matt Gonzalez / Erik Noonan / Cedar Sigo / Sunnylyn Thibodeaux

Thursday May 26, 2011 7pm
@
a.muse gallery
614 alabama
SF, CA 94110
[redacted]

Reading to mark the closing of:

Scissors vs. Brush
Collage by Matt Gonzalez / Paintings by Tom Schultz

↑ Index

133. Adam Fieled
New Album: "Covers"
Wed 25 May 2011

This album brings together covers of songs I've recorded, by artists like Loudon Wainwright, Big Star, Nick Drake, Beatles, Stones, Beth Orton, Hall & Oates, and Arthur Alexander.

I hope you like it:

http://fieledsalbums.blogspot.com/2011/05/adam-fieleds-album-covers.html

Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

134. Jesse Glass
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)
Wed 25 May 2011

Morgan Gibson's translations of Kukai's poetry fit the bill. If you can't find a copy I'd be happy to send.

Translations of the greats by Burton Watson.

I suppose Sam Hamil's work.

Philip Whalen.

There's an old Penguin Anthology of Zen Poetry, and another book out there of Zen Death poems. (If you think Buddhism=Zen)

I think Shakespeare is a great Buddhist poet--one of the absolute non-dualists. Why don't you give him a try? He was a B,o,d,d,h,i,t,s,a,t,v,a I bet,

I find most Zenglish poems r,e,b,a,r,b,a,t,i,v,e because 1) Fast Food Englightenment and 2) Fast Food 3) Enlightenment--so very Amerikan.

Jess of Japan

On 5/24/2011, "Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU" <[redacted]> wrote:

> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>
> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>
> Yes, back channel.
>
> Cheryl
>
> cherylpallant.com
> cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

135. Genevieve Deleon
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Thu 26 May 2011

To Cheryl, for her class:

E ma!
This extraordinary wilderness!
Here, where so many learned and
accomplished lamas have stayed,
The gathering-place of dakinis and dharmapalas,
Is the place where I stay in solitude.

Tseshung, this secluded mountain place
Above--a slow, soft rain drizzles down.
Flocks of eagles flying--north, south--
Beaked mothers and their young
Trying their wings--Rainbows vividly appear.

Below me--the curved necks of geese,
Glancing, and the Tsechu River flowing
on,
Sinuous. Behind them, deer dance on the slope
Of a mountain whose peak penetrates
space.

On both sides, meadows blaze with wild flowers;
Myriad bees whirls above them.
In front, rocks ornament the mountain meadows;
A cuckoo's cry fills me with sadness.

Up and down the valley, cattle and sheep
Owned by the faithful
Dot the land. The young girls
Watching over them are busy,
Making up songs and plays and dances.

Today I climbed behind
This excellent retreat place,
Looking down on such charming scenes
From the mountain's summit.

I raised my head, looking up,
And saw the cloudless sky.

I thought of absolute space, free from limits,
The view of dharmadhatu.
I then experienced a freedom
Without center, without end--
All biased views
Completely abandoned.

I lowered my head to look in front of me,
And saw the sun of this world.

I thought of meditation--
Luminous and unobscured.
I then experienced a nondual empty
clarity.
All meditations that focus the mind
I completely abandoned.

I turned my head, looking south,
And saw a pattern of rainbows.

I thought of all phenomena--
At once both apparent and empty.
I then experienced a natural clarity beyond
duality.
All nihilist and eternalist viewpoints
Completely abandoned.

Looking above, looking below,
Looking in all directions,
I saw the world and the beings in it--
All reliant on space.

I thought of fruition that is inherent and
naturally present.
I experienced a state beyond accepting or rejecting--
Hope of results and fear of failure
I completely abandoned.

This passage is found on page 82 of The Life of Shabkar, Trans. by Matthieu Ricard, Jakob Leschly, Erik Schmidt, Marilyn Silverstone, and Lodro Palmo; Ed. by Constance Wilkinson with Michal Abrams, and other members of the Padmakara Translation Group. Published by Snow Lion, copyright 2001.

On 24 May 2011 14:26, Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU <[redacted]> wrote:

> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>
> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>
> Yes, back channel.
>
> Cheryl
>
> cherylpallant.com
> cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

136. Christophe Casamassima
Poetry reviewers?
Thu 26 May 2011

Hey, everyone,

I'm tempted to ask publishers, as well as writers, how they go about promoting and marketing their books, what resources they use, if the weight of promotions rests on the writer or the publishers. This is in regard to promotions across the country.

I'm having a difficult time getting people to review furniture press books, and I have a feeling I'm not looking in the right places. This doesn't necessarily hinder our sales. But I'd like to see more buzz around my writers' books. I think they deserve more than just the wesbite and SPD. I'm very interesting, even, in hearing from people who have read the books and have had a good response, and who are not necessarily reviewers.

Does anyone want to input on this? Advice, resources, etc?

↑ Index

137. Jennifer Karmin
Red Rover Series / Experiment #46
Thu 26 May 2011

Red Rover Series
{readings that play with reading}

Experiment #46:
The Chicago-Denver Writers Exchange

SATURDAY, MAY 28th
7pm / doors lock 7:30

Featuring:
Serena Chopra
Michael Flatt
Derrick Mund
Oren Silverman
Nancy Stohlman

at Outer Space Studio
1474 N. Milwaukee Ave
Chicago, Illionis
suggested donation $4

logistics --
near CTA Damen blue line
third floor walk up
not wheelchair accessible

SERENA CHOPRA has been published in the Denver Quarterly, Fact-Simile, The Laurel Review, VOLT, No Tell Motel, Pax Americana, and elsewhere. Her chapbook, "Speaking to Your Man," was released in August 2010 by Peninsulas Now Press. Her latest chapbook, "Penumbra" will be released in August 2011 from Flying Guillotine Press. She is a Kundiman fellow, a former intern for The New Press, and a 95 cent skool student. She currently works with Writers in The Schools teaching poetry to Denver primary school children, and is a faculty member at the Boulder Writing Studio. Serena is the co-founder and curator of TitMouse Magazine and the founder of the TitMouse Writers Exchange. She teaches writing at Metropolitan State College in Denver.

MICHAEL FLATT's work has been published most recently by Fast Forward Press and 32 Poems. He publishes reviews of poetry and fiction at NewPages.com, and he has an article forthcoming in the fall from Samuel Beckett Today / Aujourd'hui. He currently lives in Denver where he works for Counterpath Press and Field Editorial.Before moving to Denver, Michael Flatt lived and studied and worked and loved and lost in Buffalo, NY. He was managing editor of SUNY Buffalo's undergraduate newspaper, The Spectrum, and sang in a hardcore band called ...By Exposure (ellipsis included). He's also lived in a farm town outside of Syracuse.

DERRICK MUND is from Michigan. He has a MFA from the University of Colorado. He is a co-publisher and editor of Peninsulas Now Press, a progressive publishing collective. His work has been published in a few places and hopefully more in the future. More interesting bios on derrick have been written by Caroline Davidon, Collin Shcuster, and a younger version of him.

OREN SILVERMAN lives in Denver and is a student in CU Boulder's MFA Program. He is the Managing Editor of Timber, and occasionally hosts readings in the Denver area.

NANCY STOHLMAN's include Searching for Suzi: a flash novel, Live From Palestine, and Fast Forward: The Mix Tape, which is currently a finalist for a 2011 Colorado Book Award in Literary Fiction. Her work has been published or is forthcoming in over 30 journals, magazines and anthologies, and sheâ€™s been featured in literary events in a dozen cities. Sheâ€™s currently a writing professor in Denver.

RED ROVER SERIES is curated by Laura Goldstein and Jennifer Karmin. Each event is designed as a reading experiment with participation by local, national, and international writers, artists, and performers. The series was founded in 2005 by Amina Cain and Jennifer Karmin.

UPCOMING

Experiment #47: June 11
Neo-benshi co-presented with the Chicago Poetry Project
John Beer, Daniel Borzutzky, Krista Franklin,
Judith Goldman, Carla Harryman & Konrad Steiner

Experiment #48: July 16
Performance art guest curated by Marissa Perel
Jai Arun Ravine & Jillian Soto

Email ideas for reading experiments
to us at [redacted]

The schedule for events is listed at
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

WOW WOW WOW
Red Rover Series
on facebook? why not?

↑ Index

138. Catherine Daly
Re: Poetry reviewers?
Thu 26 May 2011

Many smaller publishers no longer produce or distribute hard copy galleys for reviews in advance of publication; that automatically eliminates most titles from consideration for reviews at most of the highest visibility reviews.

All best,
Catherine

↑ Index

139. michael farrell
Re: Poetry reviewers?
Thu 26 May 2011

hi christopher

i like to have my own books reviewed - so i feel the onus is on me as writer - to ask journals, reviewers ..

if i get a positive response from someone i might ask if theyd like to review it - its not so much about the positivity you understand as the engagement - so far noones ever emailed me to say how they hate my books - tho some surely do - it felt more of an issue with my anthology (ie as an editor) as i wanted attention for the other writers - & for gay /lesbian to be acknowledged as a framework - yr writers are prob the best judge of their best reviewers - tho of course youd know this is a buzz possible where u r?

it seems not here - tho it is relative - we want visibility at least - ?

perhaps tho a greater issue is the problem - the supporting infrastructure etc (lack of) for reviewers? thats def a problem in australia

michael

> Date: Thu, 26 May 2011 11:38:11 -0400
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Poetry reviewers?
> To: [redacted]
>
> Hey, everyone,
>
> I'm tempted to ask publishers, as well as writers, how they go about promoting and marketing their books, what resources they use, if the weight of promotions rests on the writer or the publishers. This is in regard to promotions across the country.
>
> I'm having a difficult time getting people to review furniture press books, and I have a feeling I'm not looking in the right places. This doesn't necessarily hinder our sales. But I'd like to see more buzz around my writers' books. I think they deserve more than just the wesbite and SPD. I'm very interesting, even, in hearing from people who have read the books and have had a good response, and who are not necessarily reviewers.
>
> Does anyone want to input on this? Advice, resources, etc?

↑ Index

140. Sarah Rosenthal
Interview, Part 2 of 2
Fri 27 May 2011

Hi,

The rest of my chat with poets Jay Thomas, Delia Tramontina, and Nicholas Leaskou on their new "Poet as Radio" show will be broadcast this Saturday 5/28, 9am PST, at http://www.savekusf.org.

It (along with the first half of the interview from 5/21), will be archived at the same url (click on "Miss a Show?" on main page; then scroll down archive page till you find desired date/time).

Thanks,
Sarah

↑ Index

141. Erin McNellis
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Fri 27 May 2011

---

per Catherine's request that responses to the request for Buddhist poetry be front-channeled, I'm posting my previously back-channeled response in case it's helpful/interesting to anyone:

--

Leslie Scalapino's "Autobiography" (in Zither and Autobiography) is the product of trying to write mindfully, in-the-moment, and struggling to reconcile/integrate the dualness inherent in the writing process, especially the writing-autobiography process. She makes some explicit references to Zen.

John Cage was of course a Zen Buddhist; the best place to go might be his "Lecture on Nothing."

Gabe Gudding is also a Buddhist, and the later sections of his Rhode Island Notebook deal with this explicitly.

I assume Gary Snyder & the Beats are on your radar. There's a collection called Big Sky Mind edited by Carole Tonkinson which deals specifically with the influence of Buddhism on the Beats.

--

I guess this might be my first posting to this list. I've been lurking for ages-- so, hello everyone! I'm finishing up a Ph.D. at UC Irvine with a dissertation on states of attention in 20th-C American poetry-- Buddhism is very much on my radar.

Be well,
Erin

↑ Index

142. Sharon Dolin

Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)

Fri 27 May 2011

Wouldn't Jane HIRSHFIELD be worth a look?

Sharon

Sent from my iPhone

On May 25, 2011, at 5:44 PM, Jesse Glass <[redacted]> wrote:

> Morgan Gibson's translations of Kukai's poetry fit the bill. If you can't find a copy I'd be happy to send.
>
> Translations of the greats by Burton Watson.
>
> I suppose Sam Hamil's work.
>
> Philip Whalen.
>
> There's an old Penguin Anthology of Zen Poetry, and another book out there of Zen Death poems. (If you think Buddhism=Zen)
>
> I think Shakespeare is a great Buddhist poet--one of the absolute non-dualists. Why don't you give him a try? He was a B,o,d,d,h,i,t,s,a,t,v,a I bet,
>
> I find most Zenglish poems r,e,b,a,r,b,a,t,i,v,e because 1) Fast Food Englightenment and 2) Fast Food 3) Enlightenment--so very Amerikan.
>
> Jess of Japan
>
> On 5/24/2011, "Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>
> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>
> Yes, back channel.
>
> Cheryl
>
> cherylpallant.com
> cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

143. Jesse Glass

Re: improvised poetry in performance

Fri 27 May 2011

Cid Corman was a pioneer in this form. He told me his experiments took place before an audience--some were taped--but they always resulted in highly emotional responses. Artaud also improvised--and Cid was probably thinking of Artaud when he tried improv. He told me he saw Artaud from a distance in Paris, but never up close. Jess of Japan

On 5/25/2011, "steve dalachinsky" <[redacted]> wrote:

> paul dutton meself
>
> On Sat, 21 May 2011 12:21:13 +0000 Hazel Smith <[redacted]> writes:
> I am currently compiling information for an article on improvisation in contemporary poetry, and would be interested in the names of people currently using improvisatory strategies in poetry performance, either by improvising with words or with the voice or both. I co-wrote a book in the nineties about improvisation in the arts in which I discussed poets like Antin, Benson, Cobbing, Paula Claire and cris cheek, and other poets and musicians involved in the text-sound movement, but what I am mainly enquiring about here is a new generation of people who may be involved with improvisation in poetry now (or have been recently) and whose work and outlook may be very different.
>
> I am interested in people using computer-based text generation too, but I already have quite a stack of information about that, and the practitioners and their practices are easier to locate.
>
> If you have ideas about people who are engaging in improvised poetry performance I'd be interested to hear about them either through the list or backchannel (and if you are such a person maybe you can declare yourself to me!) My focus is international.
> Thanks!
> Hazel
> Prof. Hazel Smith
> Writing and Society Research Group
> College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
> UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
> Locked Bag 1797
> Penrith, NSW, 2751

> tel: 9772 6400
> email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
>
> See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
> The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media works
> http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
> Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
> http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
> The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
> http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm
>
> ====

↑ Index

144. Susan Webster Schultz
Buddhist poetry
Fri 27 May 2011

From Tinfish Press:

Alchemies of Distance by Caroline Sinavaiana
Charlotte's Way, by Norman Fischer
Jammed Frequencies, by Paul Naylor

Naylor has published a couple of Norman Fischer's books with Singing Horse Press, too.

aloha, Susan M. Schultz

http://tinfishpress.com

↑ Index

145. Marc Thompson
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Fri 27 May 2011

Of the Americans . . .

Gary Snyder, especially "Axe Handles"
Philip Whalen
Jane Hirschfield
Diane Di Prima

American haiku can problematic since a lot of haikuists here get Zen Buddhism mixed up with Transcendentalism, but if you're intrepid the Red Moon anthologies (Red Moon Press) are a good source.

Of the Japanese . . .

Issa Saigyo (Poems of a Mountain Home, Burton Watson, ed./trans.) Modern Japanese Tanka, Makoto Ueda, ed. has some outstanding stuff Ikkyu - renegade Zen priest and poet

Of the Chinese . . .

Li Po (I'm partial to David Hinton's translations) Han Shan/Cold Mountain (the Gary Snyder translations are the ones I'm most familiar with) Mountain Home: The Wilderness Poetry of Ancient China, David Hinton, trans./ed.) The preface does a good job of putting tings in cultural/historical context)

A couple of anthologies I haven't read yet but which look promising . . .

The Wisdom Anthology of North American Buddhist Poetry, Andrew Schelling, ed.

The Clouds Should Know Me By Now: Buddhist Poet Monks of China] Red Pine (Editor), Mike O'Connor (Editor, Translator), Red Pine (Translator), Burton Watson (Translator), J.P Seaton (Translator), James Sanford (Translator), Paul Hanson (Translator)

Haiku Mind, Patricia Donegan, ed.

Hope this helps,
Marc

On Thu, May 26, 2011 at 6:49 AM, Genevieve Deleon <[redacted]> wrote:
> To Cheryl, for her class:
>
> E ma!
> This extraordinary wilderness!
> Here, where so many learned and
> accomplished lamas have stayed,
> The gathering-place of dakinis and dharmapalas,
> Is the place where I stay in solitude.
>
> Tseshung, this secluded mountain place
> Above--a slow, soft rain drizzles down.
> Flocks of eagles flying--north, south--
> Beaked mothers and their young
> Trying their wings--Rainbows vividly appear.
>

> Below me--the curved necks of geese,
> Glancing, and the Tsechu River flowing
> on,
> Sinuous. Behind them, deer dance on the > slope
> Of a mountain whose peak penetrates
> space.
>
> On both sides, meadows blaze with wild > flowers;
> Myriad bees whirls above them.
> In front, rocks ornament the mountain meadows;
> A cuckoo's cry fills me with sadness.
>
> Up and down the valley, cattle and sheep
> Owned by the faithful
> Dot the land. The young girls
> Watching over them are busy,
> Making up songs and plays and dances.
>
> Today I climbed behind
> This excellent retreat place,
> Looking down on such charming scenes
> From the mountain's summit.
>
> I raised my head, looking up,
> And saw the cloudless sky.
>
> I thought of absolute space, free from
> limits,
> The view of dharmadhatu.
> I then experienced a freedom
> Without center, without end--
> All biased views
> Completely abandoned.
>
> I lowered my head to look in front of me,
> And saw the sun of this world.
>
> I thought of meditation--
> Luminous and unobscured.
> I then experienced a nondual empty

> clarity.
> All meditations that focus the mind
> I completely abandoned.
>
> I turned my head, looking south,
> And saw a pattern of rainbows.
>
> I thought of all phenomena--
> At once both apparent and empty.
> I then experienced a natural clarity beyond
> duality.
> All nihilist and eternalist viewpoints
> Completely abandoned.
>
> Looking above, looking below,
> Looking in all directions,
> I saw the world and the beings in it--
> All reliant on space.
>
> I thought of fruition that is inherent and
> naturally present.
> I experienced a state beyond accepting or > rejecting--
> Hope of results and fear of failure
> I completely abandoned.
>
> This passage is found on page 82 of The Life of Shabkar, Trans. by Matthieu
> Ricard, Jakob Leschly, Erik Schmidt, Marilyn Silverstone, and Lodro Palmo; > Ed. by Constance Wilkinson with Michal Abrams, and other members of the > Padmakara Translation Group. Published by Snow Lion, copyright 2001.
>
>
> On 24 May 2011 14:26, Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU <[redacted]> wrote:
>
>> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>>
>> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual >> awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>>
>> Yes, back channel.
>>

>> Cheryl
>>
>> cherylpallant.com
>> cherylpallant.blogspot.com
>>
>>
>
>

--
"Making art in America is about saving one's soul."
- Charles Simic

↑ Index

146. meg prichard
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Fri 27 May 2011

Ko Un "Flowers's of a Moment" it's published by BOA Editions and it's amazing.

On Tue, May 24, 2011 at 2:26 PM, Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU <[redacted]>wrote:

> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>
> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>
> Yes, back channel.
>
> Cheryl
>
> cherylpallant.com
> cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

147. Jared Schickling
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Fri 27 May 2011

---

the contemporary journal Zen Monster

zenmonster.com

...

jesse, i'm not sure ye japanese or chinese polluters and dolphin slaughterers (village of taiji, the same word for the chinese mark for "supreme polarity") are any closer to atman et al than...

though there is a saying about even butchers able to achieve / know ...

jared

: eccolinguistics :
: delete press :
: reconfigurations :

> Date: Thu, 26 May 2011 00:44:08 +0000
> From: Jesse Glass <[redacted]>
> Subject: Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)
>
> Morgan Gibson's translations of Kukai's poetry fit the bill. If you can't find a copy I'd be happy to send.
>
> Translations of the greats by Burton Watson.
>
> I suppose Sam Hamil's work.
>
> Philip Whalen.
>
> There's an old Penguin Anthology of Zen Poetry, and another book out there of Zen Death poems. (If you think Buddhism=Zen)
>
> I think Shakespeare is a great Buddhist poet--one of the absolute non-dualists. Why don't you give him a try? He was a B,o,d,d,h,i,t,s,a,t,v,a I bet,
>
> I find most Zenglish poems r,e,b,a,r,b,a,t,i,v,e because 1) Fast Food Englightenment and 2) Fast Food 3) Enlightenment--so very Amerikan.
>
> Jess of Japan

↑ Index

148. Maria Damon
Re: Poetry reviewers?
Fri 27 May 2011

---

try sending books to Rain Taxi Review of Books, if you don't already. they review unusual, non-mainstream books.

Christophe Casamassima wrote:
> Hey, everyone,

>
> I'm tempted to ask publishers, as well as writers, how they go about > promoting and marketing their books, what resources they use, if the weight > of promotions rests on the writer or the publishers. This is in regard to > promotions across the country.
>
> I'm having a difficult time getting people to review furniture press books, > and I have a feeling I'm not looking in the right places. This doesn't > necessarily hinder our sales. But I'd like to see more buzz around my > writers' books. I think they deserve more than just the wesbite and SPD. I'm > very interesting, even, in hearing from people who have read the books and > have had a good response, and who are not necessarily reviewers.
>
> Does anyone want to input on this? Advice, resources, etc?
>
>

↑ Index

149. Nic Sebastian

Whale Sound audio chapbook - 'Fishwife' by Jennifer Jean

Fri 27 May 2011

Announcing the new Whale Sound Audio Chapbook: 'Fishwife' by Jennifer Jean, with music by Sarah Eide and art by Jinju Fong - http://bit.ly/kpiNap. Published as usual in multiple formats - web-based text & audio, PDF, e-book, CD & print edition - some of which are free.Best, Nic Nic Sebastian

Whale Sound

Forever Will End on Thursday

↑ Index

150. Christophe Casamassima

PO25EM is now [free poetry for] - submit!

Fri 27 May 2011

---

http://freepoetryfor.blogspot.com/

[Free Poetry For], formerly, PO25Â¢EM is an ongoing series of tiny chapbooks (4.25â€³ by 5.5â€³) that are printed in a limited edition of 100 copies.

We started publishing these chapbooks in 2004, and they can be found up and down the east coast of the USA, primarily, but have been spotted as far away as Helsinki, London and Amsterdam. There are currently 85 writers in the series, with a total pressing of 8500 chapbooks.

Each chapbook features between 8 and 16 pages of poetry by one author.

When the chapbooks are printed, they are disseminated throughout public space (cafes, airports, buses and bus shelters, trains, waiting rooms, etc. etc. etc.)

The purpose of the series is to heighten the awareness of poetry by putting it in odd and unusual places and spaces, where poetry isnâ€™t traditionally understood to belong.

By reclaiming poetry as a non-permanent, non-referential, non-propriety action (rather than an object to be relegated to the classrooms and academia), we give back poetry to the people, regardless of class, race, gender.

If you would like to be part of this ongoing series, please send 8-16 pages of poems (and by pages we mean size 4.25â€³ by 5.5â€³) to [redacted]. Please use this format for the subject line: Submission/(name)/(title)/freepoetryfor.

↑ Index

151. Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU

Re: seeking Buddhist poetry

Fri 27 May 2011

Catherine,

Any flavor Buddhism, my preference being evidence of non dual awareness. When I collect all, I'll share what folks have sent.

Thanks for responding.

Cheryl\\www.cherylpallant.com

-----"Poetics List (UPenn, UB)" <[redacted]> wrote: -----
To: [redacted]
From: Catherine Daly
Sent by: "Poetics List (UPenn, UB)"
Date: 05/26/2011 09:42PM
Subject: Re: seeking Buddhist poetry

American? Which "way" -- in U.S., Zen and Tibetan are most common? Though I think a lot of Theravadan flies under the radar, at least in the U.S.

Practicing Buddhist writers or those influenced by, among other things, Buddhism, in its many flavors?

Also, pls. front channel these --

All best,
Catherine Daly

↑ Index

152. Charles Bernstein
Brooklyn launch for Attack of the Difficult Poems
Fri 27 May 2011

Book party June 6, 4-6pm at A.I.R. on DUMBO
also
Alan Davies in French,
Issue #3 of S/N: NewWorldPoetics (issue one now on-line)
Andrew Lampert video
Norman Fischer on Attack of the Difficult Poems
Douglas Messerli on Antin's essays
Amy Sillman's "Some Problems in Philosophy"

Web Log at Jacket2: http://jacket2.org/commentary/charles-bernstein

>RSS: http://feeds.feedburner.com/CharlesBernsteinWebLog.xml >Email sub:
http://feedburner.google.com/fb/a/mailverify?
uri=CharlesBernsteinWebLog&loc=en_US

↑ Index

153. Jason Nelson digital writing as all powerful gypsy
Sat 28 May 2011

Iâ€™m launching an odd digital fiction/poem exploring the demise/failure of prominent corporations/net portals and others. Read/play/explore and do spread/share with everyone everywhere!

T: WLFaFP
W: http://www.secrettechnology.com/flanet/

Secondly and even more curiously, I am running a comp. of sorts. If you want to be included, your words/images to be immortalized in an artwork/game of mine then explore for the specifics:
http://www.secrettechnology.com/oddcomp.html

more cheers than cheers allow, Jason Nelson

↑ Index

154. Adam Fieled
"American Deadness" on Scribd
Sat 28 May 2011

The entirety of "American Deadness" is now available on Scribd:

http://www.scribd.com/doc/56557968/American-Deadness

The poems have appeared in Milk Magazine, Mipoesias and elsewhere.

They're vignettes meant to reflect the national Zeitgeist.

Hope you like them.
Adam

↑ Index

155. William Slaughter
Notice: Mudlark
Sun 29 May 2011

New and On View: Mudlark Flash No. 60 (2011)

Four Poems by Drew Dillhunt

Drew Dillhunt is co-author, with his father, CX, of the chapbook Double Six (Endeavor, 1994). His writing has appeared in Eclectica, Hummingbird, Jacket, and Tarpaulin Sky; and is forthcoming in VOLT and Jacket2. His manuscript, Materials Science, was selected as a finalist for the 2009 National Poetry Series. He has released two albums of songs, including one with the band Fighting Shy, and is a member of the Seattle art-music collaborative The Blank Department.

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

↑ Index

156. steve dalachinsky
Re: improvised poetry in performance
Mon 30 May 2011

---

bob kaufman near the end

On Fri, 27 May 2011 06:05:12 +0000 Jesse Glass <[redacted]> writes: > Cid Corman was a pioneer in this form. He told me his experiments > took > place before an audience--some were taped--but they always resulted > in > highly emotional responses. Artaud also improvised--and Cid was > probably thinking of Artaud when he tried improv. He told me he > saw > Artaud from a distance in Paris, but never up close. Jess of Japan
>
> On 5/25/2011, "steve dalachinsky" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> >paul dutton meself
> >
> >On Sat, 21 May 2011 12:21:13 +0000 Hazel Smith
> <[redacted]>
> >writes:
> >> I am currently compiling information for an article on
> improvisation
> >> in contemporary poetry, and would be interested in the names of > >> people currently using improvisatory strategies in poetry > >> performance, either by improvising with words or with the voice > or > >> both. I co-wrote a book in the nineties about improvisation in
> the > >> arts in which I discussed poets like Antin, Benson, Cobbing, > >> Paula Claire and cris cheek, and other poets and musicians > involved > >> in the text-sound movement, but what I am mainly enquiring > about > >> here is a new generation of people who may be involved with > >> improvisation in poetry now (or have been recently) and whose > work
> >> and outlook may be very different.
> >>
> >> I am interested in people using computer-based text generation > too, > >> but I already have quite a stack of information about that, and
> the > >> practitioners and their practices are easier to locate.
> >>
> >> If you have ideas about people who are engaging in improvised

> >> poetry performance I'd be interested to hear about them either > >> through the list or backchannel (and if you are such a person > maybe > >> you can declare yourself to me!) My focus is international.
> >> Thanks!
> >> Hazel
> >> Prof. Hazel Smith
> >> Writing and Society Research Group
> > College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
> >> UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
> >> Locked Bag 1797
> >> Penrith, NSW, 2751
> >> tel: 9772 6400
> >> email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
> >>
> >> See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
> >> The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media
> >> works
> >> http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
> >> Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative > Arts
> >> http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
> >> The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative > writing
> >> http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm
> >>
> >> ====
> >>
> >>
> >
> >
> >
>
>
>

↑ Index

157. Stephen Vincent
Memorial Day - C.D. Wright, Civil Rights et al
Mon 30 May 2011

This Memorial Day I just want to give a quick shout out for "One With Others", C.D. Wright's beautifully moving/ textured on the ground personal account of the Civil Rights movement of voices, struggles/strife, persons and events that surrounded & infused her native 1960's Arkansas. It brings back a whole world of which many of us (USA) 'back then' knew well. & the way it continues - this Civil War - to haunt the country. With some relief from National media, my kind of Memorial Day reading. In terms of technique, there is also something about this work that makes me remember the great experience of reading Paul Metcalf - "Genoa" and "Patagoni". The compiling and collage of evidence in which to ground 'the whole' - impossible as that ever is!

Stephen Vincent
http://stephenvincent.net/blog/

↑ Index

158. Mark Weiss
Re: Poetry reviewers?
Mon 30 May 2011

Junction Press lies a lot. For the very few places that still care I produce a few galley copies at the same time as the larger run and misidentify pub date so the biggies think they're getting it 3 or 4 months early. The books usually don't get reviewed anyway, but it's worth a try. And not actionable.

Best,

Mark

-----Original Message-----
>From: Catherine Daly <[redacted]>
>Sent: May 26, 2011 9:55 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Re: Poetry reviewers?
>
>Many smaller publishers no longer produce or distribute hard copy galleys >for reviews in advance of publication; that automatically eliminates most >titles from consideration for reviews at most of the highest visibility >reviews.
>
>All best,

>Catherine
>

↑ Index

159. Jacqueline Gens
seeking Buddhist poetry
Tue 31 May 2011

Some additions to add to the mix--

Anne Waldman
Dana Levin
Louise Landes Levi
Barbara Moraff

> On 5/24/2011, "Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>
> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>
> Yes, back channel.
>
> Cheryl
>
> cherylpallant.com
> cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

160. Fiona Templeton
Re: improvised poetry in performance
Tue 31 May 2011

This is something I've been doing for years, so maybe it's not new, but I think I do it very differently to the sound guys. The performance is the generation and composition of "text", and is different to performance of mine where the text is written and then performed. I did an 8-hour improvisation about 10 years ago in New York, and will be doing a series of 6 more this June and July in London. The results will be available. They're long because they include silence, ie not just expenditure till you stop, perhaps less male that way! I once wrote an article about kinds of improvisation for the Poetry Project. Could forward if you're interested. Fiona Templeton

_____
From: Jesse Glass [[redacted]]
Sent: 27 May 2011 07:05
Subject: Re: improvised poetry in performance

Cid Corman was a pioneer in this form. He told me his experiments took place before an audience--some were taped--but they always resulted in highly emotional responses. Artaud also improvised--and Cid was probably thinking of Artaud when he tried improv. He told me he saw Artaud from a distance in Paris, but never up close. Jess of Japan

On 5/25/2011, "steve dalachinsky" <[redacted]> wrote:

> paul dutton meself
>
> On Sat, 21 May 2011 12:21:13 +0000 Hazel Smith <[redacted]> writes:
> I am currently compiling information for an article on improvisation in contemporary poetry, and would be interested in the names of people currently using improvisatory strategies in poetry performance, either by improvising with words or with the voice or both. I co-wrote a book in the nineties about improvisation in the arts in which I discussed poets like Antin, Benson, Cobbing, Paula Claire and cris cheek, and other poets and musicians involved in the text-sound movement, but what I am mainly enquiring about here is a new generation of people who may be involved with improvisation in poetry now (or have been recently) and whose work and outlook may be very different.
>
> I am interested in people using computer-based text generation too, but I already have quite a stack of information about that, and the practitioners and their practices are easier to locate.
>
> If you have ideas about people who are engaging in improvised poetry performance I'd be interested to hear about them either through the list or backchannel (and if you are such a person maybe you can declare yourself to me!) My focus is international.
> Thanks!
> Hazel
> Prof. Hazel Smith
> Writing and Society Research Group
> College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
> UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
> Locked Bag 1797
> Penrith, NSW, 2751
> tel: 9772 6400

> email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
>
> See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
> The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media works
> http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
> Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
> http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
> The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
> http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm

↑ Index

161. Martin Richet

Parution : Alan Davies

Tue 31 May 2011

Vient de paraitre en français
NOMd'Alan Davies
traduit de l'anglais par Martin Richet
Editions Le clou dans le ferCollection Experiences poetiques 96 pages17 x 11,5 cmISBN 978 2 917824 616
euroshttp://www.r-diffusion.org/index.php?ouvrage=CDF-17
NOM traduit NAME, This Press, 1986.

↑ Index

162. Hazel Smith

improvised poetry: thanks!

Tue 31 May 2011

I've had a huge response (mainly backchannel) to my request for information about people involved in improvised poetry. It's very exciting and informative, I look forward very much to getting to grips with it all. I have tried to thank most people individually, but many thanks again, especially if I have unintentionally left you out! For those interested in the topic, my previous book on the subject, co-written with Roger Dean, was Improvisation in the Arts since 1945, Taylor and Francis, 1997. The book I am writing the essay for is The Oxford Handbook of Improvisation (two volumes and extending over many different areas) . George Lewis and Ben Piekut are editors.
Thanks again
Hazel

Prof. Hazel Smith
Writing and Society Research Group

College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
Locked Bag 1797
Penrith, NSW, 2751
tel: 9772 6400
email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>

See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media works
http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm

↑ Index

163. Christophe Casamassima
Re: Poetry reviewers?
Tue 31 May 2011

Thanks for this Catherine. Any suggestions? Bloggers you're in touch with and trust?

On Thu, May 26, 2011 at 9:55 PM, Catherine Daly <[redacted]>wrote:

> Many smaller publishers no longer produce or distribute hard copy galleys for reviews in advance of publication; that automatically eliminates most titles from consideration for reviews at most of the highest visibility reviews.
>
> All best,
> Catherine

↑ Index

164. Maria Damon
Re: improvised poetry in performance
Tue 31 May 2011

Steve Benson?

Jesse Glass wrote:
> Cid Corman was a pioneer in this form. He told me his experiments took > place before an audience--some were taped--but they always resulted in > highly emotional responses. Artaud also improvised--and Cid was > probably thinking of Artaud when he tried improv. He told me he saw > Artaud from a distance in Paris, but never up close. Jess of Japan

>
> On 5/25/2011, "steve dalachinsky" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
>
>> paul dutton meself
>>
>> On Sat, 21 May 2011 12:21:13 +0000 Hazel Smith <[redacted]>
>> writes:
>>
>>> I am currently compiling information for an article on improvisation
>>> in contemporary poetry, and would be interested in the names of >>> people currently using improvisatory strategies in poetry >>> performance, either by improvising with words or with the voice or >>> both. I co-wrote a book in the nineties about improvisation in the >>> arts in which I discussed poets like Antin, Benson, Cobbing, >>> Paula Claire and cris cheek, and other poets and musicians involved >>> in the text-sound movement, but what I am mainly enquiring about >>> here is a new generation of people who may be involved with >>> improvisation in poetry now (or have been recently) and whose work >>> and outlook may be very different.
>>>
>>> I am interested in people using computer-based text generation too, >>> but I already have quite a stack of information about that, and the >>> practitioners and their practices are easier to locate.
>>>
>>> If you have ideas about people who are engaging in improvised >>> poetry performance I'd be interested to hear about them either >>> through the list or backchannel (and if you are such a person maybe >>> you can declare yourself to me!) My focus is international.
>>> Thanks!
>>> Hazel
>>> Prof. Hazel Smith
>>> Writing and Society Research Group
>>> College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
>>> UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
>>> Locked Bag 1797
>>> Penrith, NSW, 2751
>>> tel: 9772 6400
>>> email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
>>>

>>> See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
>>> The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media
>>> works
>>> http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
>>> Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
>>> http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
>>> The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
>>> http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm
>>>
>>> ====
>>>
>>>
>>>
>>
>>
>
>

↑ Index

165. Mark Melnicove

Re: seeking Buddhist poetry

Tue 31 May 2011

The late John Tagliabue's poetry, NEW AND SELECTED POEMS, 1942-1997 (National Poetry Foundation). _____

From: Erin McNellis [mailto:[redacted]]
To: [redacted]
Sent: Fri, 27 May 2011 00:36:18 -0400
Subject: Re: seeking Buddhist poetry

per Catherine's request that responses to the request for Buddhist poetry be front-channeled, I'm posting my previously back-channeled response in case it's helpful/interesting to anyone:

--

Leslie Scalapino's "Autobiography" (in Zither and Autobiography) is the product of trying to write mindfully, in-the-moment, and struggling to reconcile/integrate the dualness inherent in the writing process, especially the writing-autobiography process. She makes some explicit references to Zen.

John Cage was of course a Zen Buddhist; the best place to go might be his "Lecture on Nothing."

Gabe Gudding is also a Buddhist, and the later sections of his Rhode Island Notebook deal with this explicitly.

I assume Gary Snyder & the Beats are on your radar. There's a collection called Big Sky Mind edited by Carole Tonkinson which deals specifically with the influence of Buddhism on the Beats.

--

I guess this might be my first posting to this list. I've been lurking for ages--so, hello everyone! I'm finishing up a Ph.D. at UC Irvine with a dissertation on states of attention in 20th-C American poetry-- Buddhism is very much on my radar.

Be well,
Erin

↑ Index

166. Jasper Brinton

Re: seeking Buddhist poetry

Tue 31 May 2011

And lets not forget Takashi Ikemoto as translated by Lucien Stryk and his own vast work. Also by these two together; an anthology: Zen Poetry, Let the Spring Breeze Enter. [Chinese and Japanese poets.] (Gove Press)

On May 27, 2011, at 11:12 AM, meg prichard wrote:

> Ko Un "Flowers's of a Moment" it's published by BOA Editions and it's amazing.
>
> On Tue, May 24, 2011 at 2:26 PM, Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU <[redacted]>wrote:
>
> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>
> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>
> Yes, back channel.
>
> Cheryl
>
> cherylpallant.com
> cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

167. Rosalie Calabrese

Fw: Rosalie Calabrese Poetry Reading Date Change

Tue 31 May 2011

--- On Tue, 5/31/11, Rosalie Calabrese <[redacted]> wrote:

From: Rosalie Calabrese <[redacted]>
Subject: Rosalie Calabrese Poetry Reading Date Change
To: [redacted]
Date: Tuesday, May 31, 2011, 11:47 AM

Please note that the previously reported June 15th reading has been moved to June 22. Also, I'll be reading both poems, not just one of them.

June 22 - 6:00 p.m.Â Jewish Women's Literary Annual, Vol. 8 reading
National Council of Jewish Women
820 Second Avenue (44th St.)
[redacted]
Free and open to the public

NEW ENGLAND
Â Â Â Â Â Â
Indian summer, leaves turning like Indian corn to
red and gold.
My granddaughter, taught to be p.c.,
would correct me if she were here.
â€œNative American,â€ sheâ€™d say.
â€œThe Indians live in India.â€

I canâ€™t argue with that.
Itâ€™s the Pilgrims who got it wrong,
and a few other things as well.
The language may change, but
no matter how much respect we show
there will always be witches to burn.Â

REUNION

How odd to see these childhood pals,
their faces set in black-and-white
on the pages of our high school yearbook,
officially graduated now to senior status.
At this 50th anniversary celebration,
the name tags we wear insure recognition

in the color photos weâ€™ll send each other
by digital transmission, the new posterity.

↑ Index

168. Jesse Glass

Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)

Tue 31 May 2011

I was visiting a temple in Nara years ago, and an old woman was there praying to a statue of a famous Buddha of medicine--the statue held a pot in one hand containing "universal" medicine--and she was saying the Han Ya Shin gyo--the Lotus sutra--form is emptiness and emptiness is form, and she was saying it as she told her beads and spreading a kind of ointment on the book in front of her as she prayed. She looked very old and close to death and her prayer was so sincere, and so heart-felt that it really moved me. But here's the thing--there were about 20 others in this unheated temple snuffing snot as they do here as it is impolite to blow one's nose. And they were all praying to this ancient statue to be healed. I felt thousands more in this place: the echo of hundreds of thousands more gazing at this golden statue down the generations, daubbing at their noses and praying to feel better with a sincerity born of living in near poverty in a place where the self is not valued, where learning went only to the elite. Those shadows were all there, all making moan to this same statue in this same dimly lit, draughty place--but there was a message in this muttering and this barely audible sound of beads--it was the message of humility and simple heartedness. These people have lived and live without making their belief their pedigree--they wouldn't give speeches about it--they wouldn't wrap it around their shoulders like a superman--or super woman cape--and blast off on stage in front of a hundred cocktail sippers--it's simply, it's merely, it's only-- their life. But sure, Jane Hirshfield and all the other "enlightened ones" you want to list.
Jess

On 5/27/2011, "Sharon Dolin" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Wouldn't Jane HIRSHFIELD be worth a look?
>
> Sharon
>
> Sent from my iPhone
>
> On May 25, 2011, at 5:44 PM, Jesse Glass <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Morgan Gibson's translations of Kukai's poetry fit the bill. If you can't find a copy I'd be happy to send.
>
> Translations of the greats by Burton Watson.

> I suppose Sam Hamil's work.
>
> Philip Whalen.
>
> There's an old Penguin Anthology of Zen Poetry, and another book out there of Zen Death poems. (If you think Buddhism=Zen)
>
> I think Shakespeare is a great Buddhist poet--one of the absolute non-dualists. Why don't you give him a try? He was a B,o,d,d,h,i,t,s,a,t,v,a I bet,
>
> I find most Zenglish poems r,e,b,a,r,b,a,t,i,v,e because 1) Fast Food Englightenment and 2) Fast Food 3) Enlightenment--so very Amerikan.
>
> Jess of Japan
>
> On 5/24/2011, "Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>
> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>
> Yes, back channel.
>
> Cheryl
>
> cherylpallant.com
> cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

169. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "Periods" by Joel Chace.

Tue 31 May 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œPeriodsâ€ by Joel Chace.
Description:
â€œPeriodsâ€ by Joel Chace was inspired by an insight he had in 2010 that, as he says, â€˜Periods complete sentences, which are complete periodsâ€™. Of this he says, â€˜this sentence seemed to express two different ideas about periods (and about sentences). Once I realized what this statement suggested, I was intrigued to begin finding and creating more sentences, more ideas about periodsâ€”a collection that has grown into this sequenceâ€™.

Available as a free ebook here:
http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/periods/15905042
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

170. Rob McLennan

new from chaudiere books: Joe Blades' Casemate Poems (Collected)

Tue 31 May 2011

Casemate Poems (Collected)
by Joe Blades

published by Chaudiere Books

An earlier, much smaller edition of casemate poems appeared as a limited-edition book produced by Waterloo, Ontario publisher Widows and orphans in 2004 as casemate poems, later translated and published in Belgrade. As Blades himself wrote of that original edition:

> The two suites of casemate poems were written during two one-week artist-in-residence stints in 2003 in Fredericton, New Brunswick. These were public, interactive, residencies with visitors passing though the casemate workspace with two concurrent artists-in-residence scheduled for any given week.
>
> During his residency, Blades had a typewriter set up on a table facing the open doorway of the casemate. It was always primed with a sheet of paper. In the tradition of writers in storefronts, as Blades finished composing each poem, it was attached to the casemate wall. Blades also took photographs inside and from within the casemate looking outward: images of the casemate itself, of his art in progress, photographs of the weaving looms, of the potter and pottery turned.
>
> In this volume, Blades poems and photographs are combined to produce a work that reflects the immediacy of their composition while enabling the reader to experience Blades' writing at their own pace.

From: Pesme iz kazamata (Beograd: Rad, 2005)

> To read Canadian poet and artist Joe Blades book of poetry casemate poems means to get knowledge about one very specific way of understanding poetry today. [] Blades poetry is written by activating different layers of human knowledge and by articulation of this knowledge, for example, in narrations of history and geography. He moves in time (historical perspective) and in space (for example, actual events in the world at the time, such as the attack on the World Trade Center, or pointing to the contemporary racist attitudes of specific countercultures.

- Dubravka Đuri
(translated from the Serbian by Dubravka Đuri.)

author bio:

Joe Blades has been giving readings, performing and publishing his poetry since 1980.

Blades was born and raised in Nova Scotia. He's a graduate of NSCAD (BFA (Studio Major: Intermedia), 1988), and he recently completed a Film & Television Certificate Program through the NB Filmmakers' Cooperative. He is also an alumni of the Banff Centre, Maritime Writers Workshop, Sage Hill Writing Experience, and the Simon Fraser University Book Publishing Immersion Workshop.

His poetry and art have appeared in over 50 trade and chapbook anthologies and CDs, and in numerous periodicals. Blades has authored or edited 30 poetry chapbooks and limited edition artist books. His five full-length poetry books are Cover Makes a Set (SpareTime Editions, 1990), River Suite (Insomniac Press, 1998), Open Road West (Broken Jaw Press, 2000, 2001) and Casemate Poems (Widows & Orphans, 2004). Serbian translations of River Suite as Recna svita in the Slike iz kanade: Tri kanadska pesnika (SKC Nis), and Casemate Poems as Pesme iz kazamata (i.p. Rad), were published in 2005.

various upcoming Joe Blades events:

June 1, 7:30 pm: Joe Blades reads at Literary Translators' Association of Canada members & friends. Congress 2011. Alden Nowlan House/Windsor Castle Bar, 676 Windsor St, Fredericton, NB.

June 1, 3-4:15 pm. Panel/paper presentation. Poetry of Place: The Confluence of Coasts, Continents and Consciousness by Jennifer Pazienza & Joe Blades. Congress 2011. Rm 210, Marshall dAvray Hall, Room/Salle 210, UNB Fredericton, Fredericton, NB.

June 9-20: Toronto, Brno, Berlin (unfortunately no scheduled readings, as yet)

July 9-15: Fredericton Arts Alliance Artists in Residence 2011 Summer Series, at the Barracks Fine Craft Shops, Queen St, Fredericton, NB. A week-long residency. Joe Blades, writer/book artist, paired with Leigh Merritt, emerging potter. Will include reading(s).

October 1: Joe Blades and Broken Jaw Press at Feria Latinoamericana de Libros y Revistas/Latinamerican Fair of Books and Journals. Ottawa, ON. Para más información o registrarse enviar un correo electrónico a [redacted] o llamar al [redacted].

Check http://brokenjoe.blogspot.com/ for updates from the author.

$18.00 CAN/$18.00 US
isbn 978-097834281-4
available to bookstores through LitDisCo or directly through the publisher at [redacted] or send $20 (payable to rob mclennan; outside Canada, $20 US) directly to the press at:

Chaudiere Books
858 Somerset Street West, main floor
Ottawa ON Canada K1R 6R7

review copies available

http://www.chaudierebooks.com/books/casemate.html
http://chaudierebooks.blogspot.com/2011/05/new-from-chaudiere-books-joe-blades.html

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

171. Jesse Glass
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Tue 31 May 2011

Jared, do yourself a favor and spend some time in Asia. Live in a country where everyone you meet is or was a Buddhist, from the bus driver to the street people to the trembling old man sitting across from you on the train who still wishes to kill you because of WWII., and who is nevertheless a buddhist. It takes some of the wow factor away. Every poem they would write would be a buddhist poem, I guess, and every breath they take is a buddhist breath, and they see life the way a buddhist sees life.

Are these people enlightened? I sit down to dinner with them, and they're average people trying to live their lives and pay their bills.

Most "buddhist poems" I've read from American buddhists have a tiny drum beating inside of them saying 1) look at me, look at me, look at me and 2) I'm a buddhist writing buddhist poems therefore 1) look at me, look at me, look at me. I'm "different" I'm "better" I'm "not one of them"--which is all essentially--and paradoxically--not asian.

What wisdom they spout is borrowed from the hard-won insights of the real geniuses of Asian culture.

They go on giving foot-notes or using terminology they picked up somewhere to convince the innocent reader that somehow they know something that everybody else doesn't. That somehow their lives are perhaps more intense, more beautiful, more "correct" more forgiving, more (name your spiritual flavor of the day)--and it's all because of that special look-at-me thing, and not because of any talent, or lack of, that they might have in their native language--which is what poetry is really all about.

It's a way of getting ahead of the game in America. Of asserting yourself, grabbing what's rightfully yours, and playing others for whatever it is po-biz can give you. It's a way you can build a career. Jared, if you'd come over here, you'd see just how Amerikan most "buddhist poetry" is.

There's a kind of comparable excitement among the Japanese when someone declares him or her self a christian. There's a sense of mystery and romance and all of that stuff, dating back to the days of the Nagasaki martyrs and the Shimabara riots and the Dutch on dejima, etc. etc. My students do it sometimes and it's a "look at me" moment, which would soon fade away if they visited a town full of Sarah Palin supporters in Iowa.

Unenlightened, Jess of Japan. (Now 20 years here.)

On 5/27/2011, "Jared Schickling" <[redacted]> wrote:

> the contemporary journal Zen Monster
>
> zenmonster.com
>
> ....
>
> jesse, i'm not sure ye japanese or chinese polluters and dolphin slaughterers (village of taiji, the same word for the chinese mark for "supreme polarity") are any closer to atman et al than...
>
> though there is a saying about even butchers able to achieve / know ...
>
> jared

: eccolinguistics :
: delete press :
: reconfigurations :

Date: Thu, 26 May 2011 00:44:08 +0000
From: Jesse Glass <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)

Morgan Gibson's translations of Kukai's poetry fit the bill. If you can't find a copy I'd be happy to send.

Translations of the greats by Burton Watson.

I suppose Sam Hamil's work.

Philip Whalen.

There's an old Penguin Anthology of Zen Poetry, and another book out there of Zen Death poems. (If you think Buddhism=Zen)

I think Shakespeare is a great Buddhist poet--one of the absolute non-dualists. Why don't you give him a try? He was a B,o,d,d,h,i,t,s,a,t,v,a I bet,

I find most Zenglish poems r,e,b,a,r,b,a,t,i,v,e because 1) Fast Food Englightenment and 2) Fast Food 3) Enlightenment--so very Amerikan.

Jess of Japan

↑ Index

@poetics

The UB Poetics Discussion Group

Archive of Electronic Correspondence

June 2011

134 messages · Tue 31 May 2011 – Mon 27 Jun 2011

June 2011 was among the smallest files in the whole run — one hundred and thirty-four messages — and it spent its quiet on the intimate and the abiding: faith, marriage, memory, and the preservation of the ephemeral. The great arguing list had become, that summer, something closer to a circle of friends checking in — announcing an anniversary, mourning a colleague, asking after religious poetry, tending the small presses that keep the fragile record. It was the commons at its most domestic, and, in its way, its most tender.

The largest business was preservation. A thread on a small-press collection at a college library took up the work of keeping the ephemeral — the chapbooks, the mimeographs, the fragile little editions that vanish unless someone deliberately saves them — the archive as an act of care rather than authority. In a room worried all year about what the digital would keep and what it would lose, here was the older answer: a physical shelf, a librarian, a deliberate refusal to let the small and uncommercial disappear.

The month's quiet quarrel was about faith. A thread asked, in earnest, who writes Christian poetry in the Far East and Asia, while the standing search for Buddhist poetry carried over from May — the room, grown contemplative and small, turning toward the religious question the confident avant-garde had mostly kept at arm's length. What does a poem have to do with belief; can the sacred be written now without embarrassment? The thinned room asked it more openly than the crowded one ever had.

And between the faith and the archive ran the purely human. A member announced a tenth wedding anniversary — "Azure has been wonderful and I owe her everything" — the kind of personal note the old combative list would have scrolled past, now received warmly by a room that had become, in its smallness, a place where such things could be said. A memorial reading for Akilah Oliver gathered nearby, grief and gratitude in the same small space.

I have set June down exactly as the archive delivered it — the small-press collection preserving the fragile, the earnest turn toward religious poetry, the anniversary gratefully announced, and Akilah Oliver remembered — because it was one of the tiniest months in the run, and it revealed what the list had become at its lowest ebb: not a forum but a household. A room that will spend its June saving chapbooks, asking after Christian and Buddhist verse, celebrating a marriage, and mourning a friend is a room that has stopped trying to be the center of poetry and settled into something humbler and more durable, the small warm circle where the fragile things, the beliefs and the books and the loves, are kept because someone here still cares to keep them.

— Kristen M. Fabians

Index

Writers, names mentioned, and concepts. Every number links to its message. 134 in all.

WRITERS

., Maryrose 54
De 1913, Sandra 129
Allegrezza, William 65
Beaulieu, Derek 20
Benson, Cara 31
Cain, Séamas 18, 75, 104
Ceravolo, Rosemary 80
Chernoff, Maxine 120
Coffey, Dan 134
Cárthaigh, Tomás Ó 110, 111, 112
Dalachinsky, Steve 1
Daly, Catherine 59, 91
Damon, Maria 46, 47, 63
Davis, Jeff 122, 125
Devineni, Ram 92
Dickey, Eric 16, 34
Dorf, Carol 41
Eylon, Dr. Dina Ripsman 101
Fieled, Adam 93, 126
Glass, Dan 48
Glass, Jesse 4, 9, 19, 90, 113, 114
Godston, Dan 57, 99
Gordon, Noah Eli 60
Harrington, Joseph 62, 103
Holder, Doug 32, 70, 95, 100
Holmes, Janet 36, 132
Jenkins, Grant 77
Johnson, Halvard 27
Karavatos, Nicholas 118, 121, 123
Karmin, Jennifer 43, 87, 133
Kimmelman, Burt 14
King, Amy 39
Kirschenbaum, David 37, 51, 66, 69, 115, 128
Klein, Lucas 28
Leaskou, Nicholas 61
Lepson, Ruth 5, 8
Lew, Walter 3
Lewis, Joel 33
Lewis, Susan 45
Lurie, Bobbie 24
MacAllister, Bonnie 6, 131
Martin, Camille 25, 76
McLennan, Rob 102, 119
Morse, Jonathan 2, 21, 44, 67, 68, 94
Nemet-Nejat, Murat 30, 96
Novack, Carol 82
Pennix, Calvin 40
Press, Subito 29
Richet, Martin 97
Robbins, Micah 116, 117
Rogerson, Derek 12, 49
Rosenthal, Sarah 81
Samuels, Lisa 71, 86
Sarai, Sarah 11, 84, 98
Schickling, Jared 15
Schlesinger, Kyle 74
Seaman, David 42, 52
Sebastian, Nic 73
Side, Jeffrey 38, 124
Siegell, Paul 7, 109
Slaughter, William 56, 83
Smith, Hazel 10, 53
Sondheim, Alan 72, 127
Stempleman, Jordan 130
Sullivan, Gary 55
Thompson, George 17, 26, 35
Tobin, Adam 22
Tynes, Jen 58
Weishaus, Joel 23, 50
Weiss, Mark 85, 105, 106
Welch, Michael Dylan 107
Wharton, Samuel 79
Wilcox, Dan 64, 78
Yeary, James 13
Young, Mark 88, 89, 108

NAMES MENTIONED

Abel, David 54
Abelson, Alex 51
Acker, Kathy 43
Adams, Robert 73
Alice, Mary 13
Allan, Don 57, 99
Allegrezza, Bill 65
Allison, Dorothy 23
Armantrout, Rae 38, 39
Ashbery, John 80
Ashley, Renee 6
Atkins, Tim 116
Auster, Paul 14
Austin, Geer 51
Austin, Mary 51, 69
Aydt, Rachel 51
Baker, Mary 6, 23
Baraka, Amiri 12, 49, 134
Bartlett, Jennifer 13, 48
Beckett, Samuel 123
Beer, John 43, 116
Behrle, Jim 51, 128
Bem, Greg 6
Benjamin, Walter 23
Bentley, Scott 120

Berkeley, Michael 43, 61
Berkson, Bill 89
Bernstein, Charles 97
Bernstein, Emma 31, 33, 46, 97
Berrigan, Anselm 66, 69
Berrigan, Eddie 66
Berrigan, Edmund 66, 128
Berrigan, Ted 66
Berry, Jake 124
Berry, Stephen 124
Boat, Drunken 6
Borkhuis, Charles 51, 69
Borzutzky, Daniel 43
Bozek, Jessica 79, 128
Bradley, John 79
Briante, Susan 36, 132
Broder, Melissa 130
Bronk, William 14, 50
Brooks, Gwendolyn 116
Brown, Ann 69
Browning, Robert 130
Burger, Mary 116
Burke, Andrew 32, 42, 47, 64
Burns, Robert 78
Burton, Philip 5, 8
Bushyeager, Peter 66
Byrne, Mairead 128
Byron, Philip 23, 79
Campbell, Jeremy 15
Card, Macgregor 128
Carey, Steve 66
Carlos, William 128
Carr, Julie 60
Carr, Michael 128
Carter, Mike 99
Casey, Sean 66
Catlin, Alan 78
Chace, Joel 51
Chester, Jeff 57
Ciccariello, Peter 6
Cixous, Hélène 131
Claire, Paula 25, 30, 35
Clark, Cheryl 99, 128
Clements, Brian 120, 132
Cole, Sean 51, 128
Coletti, John 128
Collins, Phil 32, 42, 47, 128
Cook, Amanda 128
Cook, James 128
Cooper, Paula 51
Copp, Corina 128
Corman, Roger 10, 14, 22
County, Mike 23, 57, 112, 128
Courtemanche, Brian 70, 85, 88, 90, 103, 106, 114
Covey, Bruce 51, 69
Crawford, Robert 118
Creeley, Robert 97, 122, 125
Critchley, Emily 116
Dawson, Nancy 66
Degentesh, Katie 55
Deming, Richard 128
Derrida, Jacques 131
Devaney, Thomas 66
Dixon, Bill 66
Dodson, Ted 128
Dolin, Sharon 5
Doller, Sandra 29, 115, 129
Donato, Claire 115, 129
Donovan, Thom 128
Doud, Patrick 128
Dowling, Sarah 128
Dunn, Jim 51, 128
Dworkin, Craig 20
Edmond, Murray 116
Einhorn, Emily 51
Eisenstein, Sergei 23
Elliot, Joe 128
Ellis, Stephen 23
Eshleman, Clayton 120, 132
Evans, George 118
Farrell, Michael 71
Felix, Joel 6, 23
Fiorini, Jessica 128
Fishback, Dan 51, 66
Fishman, Lisa 102
Foley, Jack 4
Foster, Edward 14, 31, 33, 46
Fox, Hugh 23
France, Peter 6, 52, 131
Frances, Mary 116
Franco, Michael 128
Frazee, Andy 29
Freedman, Lewis 128
Fuhrman, Joanna 51
Fuller, William 116
Gach, Gary 3, 9
Gallagher, Kevin 128
Gallagher, Kristen 23
Gallagher, Ryan 128
Gardner, Drew 55
Gardner, Janet 128
Gilbert, Alan 51, 69
Gilbert, Roger 32, 42, 47, 121
Gillespie, William 115, 129
Gilmore, Gary 51, 66, 69, 115, 128
Gladman, Renee 69
Glines, Steve 32, 42, 47
Glomski, Chris 43
Goldman, Judith 43
Goldstein, Laura 43
Greenberg, Arielle 129
Greene, Jonathan 66
Greenstreet, Kate 102

Griffin, Tim 128
Grinnell, Tracy 31, 33, 46
Hall, Phil 102
Halle, Craig 70, 85, 88, 90, 103, 106, 114
Hamilton, Diana 56
Hamm, Christine 51
Hammond, Paul 95
Harper, Michael 32, 42, 43, 47
Harris, Ken 49
Harryman, Carla 43
Hastings, Katherine 4
Hawkes, John 115, 129
Hayden, Robert 95
Hejinian, Lyn 43
Heller, Joseph 128
Henning, Barbara 66
Herman, Rachel 74
Hewitt, David 6
Highfill, Mitch 128
Hill, Matt 124
Hirshfield, Jane 5
Holloway, Rob 43
Holman, Bob 92
Howe, Ashley 6
Howe, Brian 6
Hughes, Andrew 128
Hunt, Tim 57, 99
Hunter, Carrie 32, 42, 47, 51, 115, 129
Iijima, Brenda 51, 69, 116
Indiana, Gary 43, 54
Inman, Peter 128
Ireland, Lauren 6, 23, 75, 104, 112
Ives, Lucy 115, 129
Jaeger, Peter 31, 33, 46
Jarnot, Lisa 69
Jenkins, Margaret 77
Jenkins, Matthew 77
Johnson, Henry 78
Johnson, Jeff T. 115, 129
Johnson, Thomas 23, 27, 98, 115, 116, 129
Johnston, Daniel 57, 99
Jones, Bob 31, 32, 33, 42, 46, 47, 49, 57
Jones, Doug 32, 42, 47
Joron, Andrew 120, 132
Joseph, Safdie 23, 31, 33, 46, 62, 103, 106, 114
Joyce, James 59
Joyce, Michael 31, 33, 46, 59
Keats, John 124
Kelley, Jeff 121
Kelley, Mike 118, 123
Kelsey, Karla 120, 132
Kennedy, Kit 79
Kerouac, Jack 57
Kerry, John 23
Kingsbury, Anne 133
Kirschenbaum, David A. 37, 51, 66, 69, 115, 128
Klein, Naomi 51, 69, 128
Koke, Audrey 70, 85, 88, 90, 103, 106, 114
Kostelanetz, Richard 120, 132
Kraus, Karl 121
Kroetsch, Robert 119
Kuhl, Nancy 128
Kushner, Bill 66
Lamoureux, Mark 51, 69, 128
Larkin, Maryrose 13, 54
Larkin, Philip 48, 51, 69
Larsen, David 61
Latta, John 120, 132
Lavender, Bill 124
Lavery, John 102
Leidner, Mark 130
Lerner, Linda 95
Levine, Jeffrey 32, 42, 47
Levitsky, Rachel 31, 33, 46
Loden, Rachel 120, 132
Lohmann, Sam 13, 48, 54
London, Frank 23
Lorber, Brendan 66
Lovelee, Amanda 6
Mac Low, Jackson 134
Lubeski, Lori 128
Lyons, Kim 128
Maldonado, Sheila 51
Mali, Elizabeth 78
Mancus, Tony 128
Mansel, Chris 124
Mansfield, Charles 51
Marchant, Fred 128
Marie, Julie 128
Martin, Chris 122, 125
Martinez, Michael 120, 132
Maurer, Susan 66
Maxwell, Susan 120, 132
Mayer, Jane 75
Mazer, Ben 128
Meltzer, David 118, 121, 123
Melville, Pierre 74
Mercury, Suzanne 128
Meredith, William 51, 128
Mesmer, Sharon 55
Metras, Gary 78
Miller, Lee 120, 132
Milton, John 43
Mohammad, Kasey 23
Monroe, Bill 23
Moore, Nicholas 79
Morgan, Robin 5, 8
Morris, Patrick 6
Morris, Tim 6, 31, 33, 46
Morrow, William 49
Motika, Stephen 31, 33, 46
Mullen, Harryette 66, 120, 132
Mulrooney, John 51, 128

Murphy, Michelle 23
Murphy, Ryan 128
Myers, Michael 23
Myles, Eileen 31, 33, 46, 55, 69
Nattell, Tom 78
Nelson, Gale 32, 42, 47
Nester, Daniel 78
Nevins, Bill 67
Nguyen, Hoa 116
Niss, Millie 23
Norman, Peter 99, 111
Norton, John 14, 120
Notley, Alice 13, 48, 66
Obadike, Keith 129
Oliver, Laura 31, 33, 46
Olson, Charles 74, 120, 128, 132
Oppen, George 14
Opstedal, Kevin 108
Orlovsky, Peter 66
Pacific, Asian 57, 83
Palin, Sarah 8, 15, 24
Pallant, Cheryl 3, 5, 9
Parish, Jefferson 31, 33, 46
Parker, Frank 27
Parker, Karl 27
Pecqueur, Paul 51
Pelton, Ted 29
Penn, Joanna 51
Perelman, Bob 77
Perkins, Charlotte 6, 57
Peters, Michael 128
Phillip, Andrew 23
Platt, John 120, 132
Potts, Charles 120, 132
Powell, Douglas 23
Prevallet, Kristen 69
Price, Brett 51, 128
Purcell, Greg 128
Purcell, Jack 51
Reeck, Matt 51
Reed, Marthe 51
Remer, Justin 51
Revell, Donald 120, 132
Rhodes, Shane 102
Rimbaud, Dee 80
Rivard, David 128
Rizzo, Chris 128
Roberts, Wendy 57, 60
Robinson, Mary 57
Rothenberg, Jerome 116
Rothschild, Douglas 51, 128
Savage, Tom 66
Scalapino, Leslie 43
Schmidt, Paul 43
Schultz, Susan 120, 132
Seaman, David W. 42, 52
Selland, Eric 89
Shakespeare, William 5, 8
Sherlock, Frank 82
Shields, David 27
Shurin, Aaron 120, 132
Siegel, Jeff 6
Siegel, Nathaniel A. 66
Simon, Toni 51
Skinner, Jonathan 128
Sloman, Joel 128
Smith, Tracy K. 51
Snyder, Gary 2, 107
Spears, Patricia 31, 33, 46
Stanley, George 102
Steinbeck, John 32, 42, 47
Steiner, Konrad 43
Stengel, Jill 51, 69
Stevens, Wallace 44
Stevenson, Matt 6
Stroffolino, Chris 55
Szymaszek, Stacy 31, 33, 46
Tamayo, Jennifer 128
Taransky, Michelle 128
Tardos, Anne 120, 132
Taylor, Jesse 1
Taylor, Steven 31, 33, 46
Tepper, Susan 32, 42, 47
Texas, Irving 23
Thomas, Dylan 23, 43, 61, 110
Thompson, Jon 6
Tieger, Aaron 128
Tietz, Ward 129
Topp, Mike 130
Toscano, Rodrigo 116
Truitt, Sam 54
Tuite, Jim 6
Tyler, Mary 6, 31, 33, 46
Vassilakis, Nico 13, 48
Vermont, Charlie 74
Vickery, Ann 71
Vincent, Gregory 51
Vincenz, Marc 45
Wagner, Catherine 36, 120, 132
Wald, Diane 129
Walker, Alice 128
Wallace, Nicole 51
Wallace, Sara 128
Warren, Jim 116
Warsh, Lewis 66
Washington, Harold 6, 23, 54, 57, 78, 118, 121, 123
Waters, Jacqueline 128
Watson, Sasha 5, 8
Weeks, Jacquilyn 124
Welch, Brian 107
Whalen, Philip 5, 8
Wilder, Ian 51
Wilkinson, Joshua 120, 132

Williams, Tyrone 116
Wilson, Steve 6
Wolach, David 51
Wolfe, Jennifer C. 23
Woolf, Virginia 51
Wright, James 51
Yankelevich, Matvei 128
Yau, John 63
Yorty, Don 66
Zimmerman, Daniel 23, 128
Zolf, Rachel 31, 33, 46
Zucker, Rachel 129

CONCEPTS

9/11 51, 95
Activism and protest 82
Aesthetics 17, 124, 127
Afghanistan 66
Anthologies 3, 5, 6, 8, 9, 14, 43, 55, 57, 66, 83, 87, 104, 129
Archives and libraries 6, 7, 14, 49, 67, 70, 77, 85, 88, 90, 101, 103, 105, 106, 107, 109, 114, 115, 129
Autobiography 32, 42, 47, 66
Avant-garde 14, 25, 30, 35, 45
Beauty 127
Biography 13, 45, 48
Black Mountain 14, 122, 125
Blogs 3, 5, 6, 7, 9, 27, 44, 45, 48, 54, 55, 61, 62, 66, 79, 81, 82, 92, 94, 102, 109, 117, 118, 119, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 128, 129, 131, 134
Book announcements 54, 60, 82, 111, 112, 116, 129, 134
Bookstores 32, 42, 47, 60, 95, 133
Calls for submissions 6, 14, 50, 102, 127
Cities 32, 42, 47, 69, 82, 95, 101
Conceptual writing 82
Conferences and festivals 14, 32, 37, 42, 47, 50, 51, 69, 71, 90, 103, 106, 114, 131
Copyright and permissions 45, 67, 82, 127
Craft 95
Creative writing pedagogy 68
Deconstruction 118, 121, 123, 127, 131
Disability 133
Dreams 15, 66, 83
Editing 32, 42, 47, 66, 127
Elegy 54, 57, 66
Epic 121
Erasure 102
Experimental poetry 104
Feminism 124
Film 6, 21, 43, 82, 84
Gender 53, 71
Globalization 53
Grants and funding 6, 57, 66, 77, 87, 99, 105, 133
Haiku 107, 111
Humour and satire 44, 45
Improvisation 1, 10, 22, 43, 53, 134
Interviews 4, 23, 38, 39, 45, 61, 66, 81, 95, 122, 125
Jewish poetics 101
Latino and Latin American poetry 43
List moderation 51
Little magazines 6, 8, 14, 23, 32, 34, 41, 42, 43, 45, 47, 51, 56, 57, 65, 66, 70, 77, 79, 83, 85, 88, 90, 95, 101, 102, 103, 106, 109, 110, 111, 114, 115, 129, 131
Lyric poetry 45, 49, 108
Memory 4, 66, 89
MFA programs 43, 66, 87, 133
Music and poetry 6, 26, 37, 42, 43, 45, 51, 57, 66, 69, 72, 86, 96, 115, 118, 127, 128, 129, 134
Nationalism 21
Nature 6, 14, 32, 42, 47, 57, 74
Obituary and memorial 31, 33, 46, 119
Ontology 127
Performance and the poetry reading 6, 7, 45, 51, 57, 64, 66, 99, 104, 109, 112, 115, 118, 121, 123, 129, 131, 134
Phenomenology 127
Philosophy 57, 127
Place and region 13, 14, 32, 42, 45, 47, 48
Poetics 3, 9, 17, 24, 56, 74, 81, 83, 102, 103, 106, 114, 115, 129, 132
Politics and poetry 118, 121, 123
Print vs. digital 1, 5, 21, 32, 42, 43, 47, 53, 58, 82, 84, 94, 104, 110, 112, 124
Prizes and awards 14, 43, 57, 82, 115, 129, 131
Queer poetics 66, 79, 98
Race and poetry 53
Reading announcements 4, 25, 30, 35, 102, 109, 112
Religion and the sacred 2, 3, 5, 8, 9, 11, 15, 17, 18, 19, 21, 24, 26, 28, 84, 91, 127
Reviewing and criticism 6, 14, 23, 32, 40, 42, 43, 45, 47, 48, 66, 80, 81, 82, 83, 90, 94, 95, 101, 102, 103, 105, 106, 109, 110, 114, 115, 121, 124, 127, 129
Serial poem 71, 95
Small press publishing 4, 13, 14, 32, 36, 37, 42, 43, 45, 47, 48, 51, 54, 57, 61, 66, 69, 70, 73, 74, 78, 82, 85, 88, 90, 100, 102, 103, 105, 106, 113, 114, 115, 119, 121, 129, 132, 133
Social media 6, 42, 43, 51, 52, 66, 67, 69, 72, 84, 86, 92, 96, 111, 112, 115, 118, 121, 128, 129
Sonnet 25, 27, 30, 35, 66
Subjectivity 110
Surrealism 18

The academy 1, 6, 10, 22, 23, 29, 43, 53, 56, 57, 66, 70, 77, 85, 88, 90, 103, 106, 114, 115, 118, 121, 123, 129
The body 29
The canon 14
The internet 6, 14, 122, 125
The listserv 67, 107
Theatre 6, 43, 51, 66, 104, 131
Translation 3, 5, 8, 9, 17, 23, 26, 28, 43, 80, 83, 89, 104, 107, 110, 120, 127, 129, 132
Vietnam 109
Visual and concrete poetry 52
Visual art 6, 13, 18, 43, 48, 82, 89, 127, 131, 133

Contents

Every entry links to its message. 134 in all.

31 MAY 2011

1. steve dalachinsky — Re: improvised poetry: thanks!

1 JUN 2011

2. Jonathan Morse — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
3. Walter Lew — Re: POETICS Digest - 30 May 2011 to 31 May 2011 (#2011-92)
4. Jesse Glass — Jack Foley Interviews Jesse Glass June 1st, 8th, 15th--Corrected Schedule, Ah…
5. Ruth Lepson — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)
6. Bonnie MacAllister — 1.1 Launch, June Multimedia Issue, Call for Submissions
7. Paul Siegell — HIGHLIGHTS of a LIFE WRITING POETRY
8. Ruth Lepson — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
9. Jesse Glass — Re: POETICS Digest - 30 May 2011 to 31 May 2011 (#2011-92)

2 JUN 2011

10. Hazel Smith — Improvised poetry in perofmance
11. Sarah Sarai — So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?
12. Derek Rogerson — Fried Baraka
13. James Yeary — c_L Books: two chapbooks and a monthly newsletter

3 JUN 2011

14. Kimmelman, Burt — William Bronk Symposium: Call for Papers
15. Jared Schickling — Re: "they see life the way a buddhist sees life"
16. Eric Dickey — toe good poetry
17. George Thompson — Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
18. Séamas Cain — The death of Leonora Carrington
19. Jesse Glass — Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?
20. Derek Beaulieu — new from No press: COPYS by Craig Dworkin
21. Jonathan Morse — Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?
22. Adam Tobin — Re: Improvised poetry in perofmance

4 JUN 2011

23. Joel Weishaus — The Muse. A new academic literary journal from India
24. Bobbie Lurie — Re: POETICS Digest - 1 Jun 2011 to 3 Jun 2011 (#2011-94)
25. Camille Martin — "spooning up the rain to read the sky": Camille Martin at AvantGarden
26. George Thompson — Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?
27. Halvard Johnson — Frank Parker's at the wheel

5 JUN 2011

28. Lucas Klein — Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?
29. Subito Press — subito press contest

6 JUN 2011

30. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: "spooning up the rain to read the sky": Camille Martin at AvantGard…
31. Cara Benson — Akilah Oliver Memorial Reading
32. Doug Holder — First Annual Writers’ Conference. Hunter College.
33. Joel Lewis — Re: Akilah Oliver Memorial Reading
34. Eric Dickey — talkingwriting.com
35. George Thompson — Re: "spooning up the rain to read the sky": Camille Martin at AvantGarden
36. Janet Holmes — Ahsahta Press chapbook contest
37. David Kirschenbaum — Last Call to Exhibit at Boog Fest's 8th Annual Small, Small Press Fair
38. Jeffrey Side — Interview with Rae Armantrout by Amy King at The Argotist Online

39. amy king — Rae Armantrout: "Are you at all intrigued by the possibility of alien life? Do …
40. Calvin Pennix — Me in ucity review
41. carol dorf — Re: talkingwriting.com
42. David Seaman — Re: First Annual Writers' Conference. Hunter College.
43. Jennifer Karmin — Red Rover Series / Experiment #47 + Special Event
44. Jonathan Morse — Wallace Stevens and the comic virtues of black and white
45. Lewis, Susan — Submit: Mad Hatters' Review Blog
46. Maria Damon — Re: Akilah Oliver Memorial Reading
47. Maria Damon — Re: First Annual Writers' Conference. Hunter College.

7 JUN 2011

48. Dan Glass — Re: c_L Books: two chapbooks and a monthly newsletter
49. Derek Rogerson — Re: Fried Baraka ~ "Afro-American Lyric"
50. Joel Weishaus — Re: William Bronk Symposium: Call for Papers

8 JUN 2011

51. David Kirschenbaum — Save the Dates: Boog Fest 5, Fri. 8/5-Tues. 8/9
52. David Seaman — Lettrism
53. Hazel Smith — improvised poetry and freestyling
54. Maryrose . — Sunday 6/12 Spare Room Presents Sam Truitt and Sam Lohmann
55. Gary Sullivan — Poetry comics for sale!

9 JUN 2011

56. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark

10 JUN 2011

57. Dan Godston — Trees Speaking to the Wind at the Evanston Art Center
58. Jen Tynes — Horse Less Press Open Reading Period
59. Catherine Daly — Bloomsday, get ready!
60. Noah Eli Gordon — Counterpath: new bookstore/performance space in Denver

11 JUN 2011

61. Nicholas Leaskou — Poet As Radio
62. Harrington, Joseph — critics of "documentary poetry"?
63. Maria Damon — contact info for John Yau?
64. Dan Wilcox — Third Thursday Poetry Night: June 16: Mike Burke
65. William Allegrezza — New Issue of Moria

12 JUN 2011

66. David Kirschenbaum — This Sat./ Bill Kushner's 80th Birthday Event

13 JUN 2011

67. Jonathan Morse — A visual resource
68. Jonathan Morse — Teaching poetry by tablet
69. David Kirschenbaum — Last Call to Advertise in Boog City's Festival Program Issue
70. Doug Holder — SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
71. Lisa Samuels — Gender City in the world

14 JUN 2011

72. Alan Sondheim — Our 10th wedding anniversary!
73. Nic Sebastian — new nanopress publication project - 'Dark And Like A Web'
74. Kyle Schlesinger — CHARLES OLSON AT GODDARD COLLEGE
75. Séamas Cain — Wurm im Apfel
76. Camille Martin — reading in New York?
77. Jenkins, Grant — Perelman's Hills magazine
78. Dan Wilcox — Poets in the Park, Albany, NY
79. Samuel Wharton — sawbuck 5.2 release
80. Rosemary Ceravolo — Fwd: Books Update: 'Illuminations' & "Between Parentheses"

15 JUN 2011

81. Sarah Rosenthal — Interview and Review of A Community: Improved Links
82. Carol Novack — MadHat Press announces its “Wild and Wyrd” Inaugural Poetry Chapbook Competi...
83. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark
84. Sarah Sarai — Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?
85. Mark Weiss — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
86. Lisa Samuels — Re: Our 10th wedding anniversary!
87. Jennifer Karmin — JOB: Teachers & Writers Collaborative in NYC
88. Mark Young — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE

16 JUN 2011

89. Mark Young — Out from Otoliths — "notational" by Jane Joritz-Nakagawa
90. Jesse Glass — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
91. Catherine Daly — Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?
92. Ram Devineni — VERSE screening at BPC

18 JUN 2011

93. Adam Fieled — "Trish," in its entirety, on Scribd
94. Jonathan Morse — A critic of Gottfried Benn

20 JUN 2011

95. Doug Holder — Poet Linda Lerner: “Takes Guts and Years Sometimes”
96. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: Our 10th wedding anniversary!
97. Martin Richet — Parution : Charles Bernstein
98. Sarah Sarai — Wed. 6/22, Brooklyn, 8 PM | Montauk Club's Ballroom | Mary: A Literary Quarte...
99. Dan Godston — Trees Speaking to the Wind at the Evanston Art Center
100. Doug Holder — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE

21 JUN 2011

101. Dr. Dina Ripsman Eylon — Seeking reviewers for my new poetry collection
102. Rob McLennan — new(ish) on rob's clever blog
103. Harrington, Joseph — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
104. Séamas Cain — Italian experimental poets in Ireland

22 JUN 2011

105. Mark Weiss — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
106. Mark Weiss — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
107. Michael Dylan Welch — Nominate the Next American Haiku Archives Honorary Curator
108. Mark Young — Out from Otoliths: Kevin Opstedal's "Drainpipe Sessions"
109. Paul Siegell — Ocean Vuong + Paul Siegell for Fox Chase Reading Series
110. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Books of Poetry For Review - Cartys Poetry Journal
111. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Lishanu: journal of haiku in many languages
112. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — The Poetry Reading at Semple Stadium (Lapwing)
113. Jesse Glass — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
114. Jesse Glass — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
115. David Kirschenbaum — Boog City presents 1913 Press and Dorit and Friends
116. Micah Robbins — Sous Les Pavés IV
117. Micah Robbins — The Poetry Foundation on Sous Les Pavés

23 JUN 2011

118. Nicholas Karavatos — on the HIP Stage at Hillbilly Hip, Topanga Canyon - Friday, July 1st . ...
119. Rob McLennan — Robert Kroetsch (June 26, 1927-June 21, 2011)
120. Maxine Chernoff — new issue of new american writing

24 JUN 2011

121. Nicholas Karavatos — at the PondWater Society in Covina, CA on Saturday, July 2nd ...
122. Jeff Davis — Robert Creeley on Black Mountain College

25 JUN 2011

123. Nicholas Karavatos — @ Bird & Beckett in San Francisco on Sun, July 3rd at 3pm ...
124. Jeffrey Side — Negative review of "Cyclones in High Northern Latitudes" in Jacket2
125. Jeff Davis — Re: Robert Creeley on Black Mountain College
126. Adam Fieled — New on Adam Fieled's Fair Game

26 JUN 2011

127. Alan Sondheim — Evental Aesthetics: Call for Submissions

27 JUN 2011

128. David Kirschenbaum — Save the Dates: 7/29-31 Boston Poetry Marathon & BBQ
129. sandra de 1913 — 1913 @ Boog City NYC Tuesday 6/28!
130. Jordan Stempleman — (un)seen and (un)heard
131. Bonnie MacAllister — Chestnut Hill Book Fair Workshop
132. Janet Holmes — Ahsahta Chapbook Contest deadline extended to July 4
133. Jennifer Karmin — I Heart Woodland Pattern
134. Dan Coffey — Papers for the Border podcast #6 is now available...

1. steve dalachinsky

Re: improvised poetry: thanks!

Tue 31 May 2011

---

i know george quite well

On Tue, 31 May 2011 12:07:18 +0000 Hazel Smith <[redacted]>
writes:
> I've had a huge response (mainly backchannel) to my request for > information about people involved in improvised poetry. It's very > exciting and informative, I look forward very much to getting to > grips with it all. I have tried to thank most people individually, > but many thanks again, especially if I have unintentionally left you > out! For those interested in the topic, my previous book on the > subject, co-written with Roger Dean, was Improvisation in the Arts > since 1945, Taylor and Francis, 1997. The book I am writing the > essay for is The Oxford Handbook of Improvisation (two volumes and > extending over many different areas) . George Lewis and Ben Piekut > are editors.
> Thanks again
> Hazel
>
> Prof. Hazel Smith
> Writing and Society Research Group
> College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
> UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
> Locked Bag 1797
> Penrith, NSW, 2751
> tel: 9772 6400
> email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
>
> See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
> The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media
> works
> http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
> Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
> http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
> The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
> http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm
>
>
>

↑ Index

2. Jonathan Morse
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Wed 1 Jun 2011

On 5/31/2011 4:02 PM, Jesse Glass wrote:
> Most "buddhist poems" I've read from American buddhists have a tiny > drum beating inside of them saying 1) look at me, look at me, look at me > and 2) I'm a buddhist writing buddhist poems therefore 1) look at me, > look at me, look at me. I'm "different" I'm "better" I'm "not > one of them"--which is all essentially--and paradoxically--not asian.
Thanks enormously for this, Jesse. I should think the idea can be generalized to almost anybody who trades in authenticity, whether it's Gary Snyder or somebody waving a picture of a dead fetus at a frightened teenage girl.

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

3. Walter Lew
Re: POETICS Digest - 30 May 2011 to 31 May 2011 (#2011-92)
Wed 1 Jun 2011

An important anthology of American Buddhist poetry of the last half-century or so is the one compiled by Gary Gach, WHAT BOOK!? BUDDHA POEMS FROM BEAT TO HIPHOP, published by Parallax Press. You'll find a lot of fine poets in there, such as Oakland's Patricia Ikeda (Mushim) and the late Al Robles, who have not appeared yet in this thread. Gary is also the author of THE COMPLETE IDIOT'S GUIDE TO UNDERSTANDING BUDDHISM and has helped out as an "Englisher" with several of the volumes of Ko Un's poetry translated from Korean.

I'm going to test now whether the Korean spelling and Chinese characters for Ko Un's name can make it through: ê³ ì€ é«˜éŠ€

> On 5/24/2011, "Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>
> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>
> Yes, back channel.
>
> Cheryl

> cherylpallant.com
> cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

4. Jesse Glass

Jack Foley Interviews Jesse Glass June 1st, 8th, 15th--Corrected Schedule, Ahadada Readings to Follow on WKPFA

Wed 1 Jun 2011

This is a corrected schedule for Jack Foley shows. The shows will remain at the Wednesday, 3:00 p.m. time.

Jack's show "Cover to Cover" is available over at the WKPFA website Jess

June 1

Today is the first of three shows featuring Jesse Glass, American expatriate poet, publisher, artist and folklorist. In 1992, Glass moved to Japan, where he currently lives and teaches. On today$B!G(Bs show Jack and Jesse particularly discuss The Passion of Phineas Gage and Selected Poems and Lost Poet: Four Plays by Jesse Glass. (Note: the show was recorded before the recent disasters in Japan; Jesse and his family are fine.)

June 8

Jesse Glass interviewed, Part Two.

June 15

Jesse Glass reading from his work.

June 22

A celebration of Ahadada Reader 3, published by Jesse Glass$B!G(Bs Ahadada Press. Four chapbooks by four poets are featured in the Reader: the poets are Mary-Marcia Casoly, Katherine Hastings, Melanie Moro-Huber and Jack Foley. Today$B!G(Bs show features Mary-Marcia Casoly. She will read from $B!H(BAustralia Dreaming.$B!I(B

June 29

Ahadada Reader 3, Part Two. Katherine Hastings reads from $B!H(BFog and Light.$B!I(B

July 1

Ahadada Reader 3, Part Three, selections from Melanie Moro-Huber$B!G(Bs $B!H(BThe Memory of Paper$B!I(B read by Jack Foley.

July 8

Ahadada Reader 3, Part Four. Jack Foley reads from $B!H(BA Disordered City. $B!I(B

↑ Index

5. Ruth Lepson

Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)

Wed 1 Jun 2011

---

thank you, Jesse, will keep this image with me tho that's not why you mention it

On 5/31/11 1:36 PM, "Jesse Glass" <[redacted]> wrote:

> I was visiting a temple in Nara years ago, and an old woman was there praying to a statue of a famous Buddha of medicine--the statue held a pot in one hand containing "universal" medicine--and she was saying the Han Ya Shin gyo--the Lotus sutra--form is emptiness and emptiness is form, and she was saying it as she told her beads and spreading a kind of ointment on the book in front of her as she prayed. She looked very old and close to death and her prayer was so sincere, and so heart-felt that it really moved me. But here's the thing--there were about 20 others in this unheated temple snuffing snot as they do here as it is impolite to blow one's nose. And they were all praying to this ancient statue to be healed. I felt thousands more in this place: the echo of hundreds of thousands more gazing at this golden statue down the generations, daubbing at their noses and praying to feel better with a sincerity born of living in near poverty in a place where the self is not valued, where learning went only to the elite. Those shadows were all there, all making moan to this same statue in this same dimly lit, draughty place--but there was a message in this muttering and this barely audible sound of beads--it was the message of humility and simple heartedness. These people have lived and live without making their belief their pedigree--they wouldn't give speeches about it--they wouldn't wrap it around their shoulders like a superman--or super woman cape--and blast off on stage in front of a hundred cocktail sippers--it's simply, it's merely, it's only-- their life. But sure, Jane Hirshfield and all the other "enlightened ones" you want to list.
> Jess
>
> On 5/27/2011, "Sharon Dolin" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Wouldn't Jane HIRSHFIELD be worth a look?
>
> Sharon
>
> Sent from my iPhone
>
> On May 25, 2011, at 5:44 PM, Jesse Glass <[redacted]> wrote:

Morgan Gibson's translations of Kukai's poetry fit the bill. If you can't find a copy I'd be happy to send.

Translations of the greats by Burton Watson.

I suppose Sam Hamil's work.

Philip Whalen.

There's an old Penguin Anthology of Zen Poetry, and another book out there of Zen Death poems. (If you think Buddhism=Zen)

I think Shakespeare is a great Buddhist poet--one of the absolute non-dualists. Why don't you give him a try? He was a B,o,d,d,h,i,t,s,a,t,v,a I bet,

I find most Zenglish poems r,e,b,a,r,b,a,t,i,v,e because 1) Fast Food Englightenment and 2) Fast Food 3) Enlightenment--so very Amerikan.

Jess of Japan

On 5/24/2011, "Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU" <[redacted]> wrote:

I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.

Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?

Yes, back channel.

Cheryl

cherylpallant.com
cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

6. Bonnie MacAllister

1.1 Launch, June Multimedia Issue, Call for Submissions

Wed 1 Jun 2011

Certain Circuits Issue 1.1 LaunchJune 3rd at the Rotunda 7-10 p.m. www.therotunda.org<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=6617337b25&e=36ca2ca337>Flier here<http://us2.campaign-archive2.com/?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=174da2e598> SOUNDSApogee are a space-punk trio emerging from West Philadelphiaâ€™s hyperactive DIY scene. Apogee members: Dan â€œRedbeardâ€, guitars and vocals, Matt Stevenson, bass, Mike Mongiello, drums. Matt and Dan are veterans of the Philly musical underground. Mike has also played with the bands Bunnydrums and Scareho. They have released their first album, EVOLVE & DESTROY, on Main Street West recordings - search for the MSW label page on Last.fm. mainstreetwest.blogspot.com<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage1.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=e654a8cfba&e=36ca2ca337>

Radio Eris: Founded in 1999 by Lora Bloom and Matt Stevenson, the thriving band of veteran cozmik rockers features Dan â€œRedbeardâ€ Baker on guitar, the mysterious Kenny on synthesizers and noise, and Brad Rothman on drums. They have released 5 albums, run out of gas on the A-4 in eastern France, bought a house, hung out with members of Hawkwind, toured the South in a midnight-blue van in August, and had any number of other adventures across the last decade. http://www.last.fm/music/Radio+Eris<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=4c956fe542&e=36ca2ca337> http://www.myspace.com/radio5eris<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage2.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=b48c8f1165&e=36ca2ca337>

*HORSEY: *Sometimes galloping along the tide line, sometimes rolling in the mud like in Andrei Rubelev, HORSEY is More of an animal than a band. HORSEY comes in many forms: sound, image, costume and spaz attacks are among the most common manifestations. You can hear â€œLucky Locketâ€on the library album: http://www.notaboutthebuildings.com/libraryalbum/horsey_luckylocket.mp3<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=754edb625f&e=36ca2ca337> .

*WORDS *

Courtney Bambrick<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage1.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=32564342bc&e=36ca2ca337> is a poet and teacher from Philadelphia. Her poetry has appeared in such print and online journals and anthologies as E Pluribus Unum from Light of Unity, The Phenomena of Temporary: The Fuze Anthology, Dirty Napkin, The Schuylkill Valley Journal, Philadelphia Poets, Mad Poets Review, Parlor, and Philadelphia Stories where she now serves as poetry editor. Courtney currently teaches composition at Holy Family University and Gwynedd-Mercy College and has worked on- and backstage for theatrical productions in Philadelphia area and in Ireland.

*Natalie Felix<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=0fbbbddf70&e=36ca2ca337> * is a poet, artist and Uni-Verse-All community member with a BA in Spanish Literature from UC Santa Barbara and a MA in Human Science from Saybrook University. She is the Executive Director of the Community Cultural Exchange (CCE), a non-profit whose mission is to create community through art and culture.

David Hewitt<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=01e71fee92&e=36ca2ca337> is a self-employed book dealer and amateur musician/ writer/ photographer/ artist residing in the East Falls section of Philadelphia. His hobbies include pondering the value of decay and flipping hopefully through the pages of every parcel of printed matter he gets his hands on.

Bonnie MacAllister<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=59f8bc85b9&e=36ca2ca337> is a multimedia performance artist and playwright. She is currently showing work at the Delaware Art Museum in Wilmington, the Florissant Art Gallery in St. Louis, and the Center for Green Urbanism in DC. She is the author of SOME WORDS ARE NO LONGER WORDS, PAID IN GOATS, and COPTIC: ETHIOPIAN MYSTICISM. For more info: bonniemacallister.com<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=4bfa8c06eb&e=36ca2ca337> .

Hal Sirowitz<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage2.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=ef4ba46b5f&e=36ca2ca337> is the author of 4 collections of poetry, commencing with â€œMother Saidâ€ (Crown), ending with â€œFather Saidâ€ (Soft Skull Press).

FILMS

Believe it or not, Brian Howe and Ashley Howe<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage2.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=60e7a866a2&e=36ca2ca337> are neither married nor related. Among other artistic collaborations, theyâ€™ve been making videos together for the past several years, which have been featured in journals such as Drunken Boat. Brian is a journalist, poet, and audiovisual artist who hypes himself in the usual fashion at his blog, http://waxwroth.blogspot.com/<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage1.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=6a210ea7ae&e=36ca2ca337>. Ashley is more of a mystery, avoiding anything by way of an Internet presence or standard bio, so youâ€™ll have to trust Brian that she exists and is awesome.

Amanda Lovelee<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=cee9c472c5&e=36ca2ca337> is interested in how people connect and the spaces in which they do so within contemporary society. Her work, mainly video and photography, weaves together data, stories and personal experience to create non-linear narratives about the fragility of human relationships. Her recent work has explored a myriad of topics: family history, the lives of beekeepers and ice fishermen, strangersâ€™ love stories and the sociology of square dancing.

Jeff Siegel<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=9bd725d77b&e=36ca2ca337> has worked in a variety of different media over the years, from short fiction to design to music criticism, as a self-styled â€renaissance man,â€ never realizing that thatâ€™s the polite term for â€œdilettante.â€ He can often be seen bloviating on topics about which he really, and obviously, knows very little. www.theprivatesector.org<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=9c4d54ecda&e=36ca2ca337>

Tanya Perkins<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=84afdb9bfe&e=36ca2ca337>â€™ work has appeared in numerous journals including Cirque, The Wilderness House Literary Review and Arcadia. A graduate student in English Studies at Western Washington University, she lives and writes on the shores of Puget Sound and considers herself damn lucky for it. roughedin.wordpress.com<http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage2.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=a8de6f6bdb&e=36ca2ca337>

Jim Tuite and Patrick Morris <http://certaincircuits.us2.list-manage2.com/track/click?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=d625921c06&e=36ca2ca337>are artists working in painting, drawing, photography and video. They were both educated at Tyler School of Art. Mr.â€¨Tuite also studied at the School of Visual Art. The video â€œHammerâ€, featuringâ€¨Mr. Morris, examines the relationship between personal demons found in an obsessive ritual with an artistâ€™s creative process.

The Rotunda, located at 4014 Walnut Street in Philadelphia, PA, is a community-gathering place that is fueled by the belief that art is a catalyst for social change and that the arts can lead to the formation of meaningful partnerships between the University of Pennsylvania and surrounding neighborhoods. Over 300 events are offered every year, including live music, film, spoken word, theater, art, dance, education, youth programs, arts incubation, and various experimental genres. As an alcohol-free, smoke-free venue, The Rotunda provides a critical social alternative for all ages. At its core, The Rotunda is a shared space fostering learning, enrichment, and community supportwhile empowering the public to present, produce, and promote their work. www.rotunda.org

Requested donation ($10 gets the issue)
June Multimedia Issue Launched Today
Our June Multimedia issue is live at www.certaincircuits.org featuring:
Horsey
Peter Ciccariello
Jon F. Allen
Brooke Bailey
Spencer Carvalho
Ruth Schanbacher and Bonnie MacAllister
Bill Wolak
Greg Bem and Linda Thea
Victor Thompson
Michelle Wilson and Mary Tasillo
Rinus van Alabeek and Ezramo
Val Broeksmit (Bikini Robot Army)
Brandon Ross
natalie c. felix

Certain Circuits News
*We are nearly sold out of print issue 1.1. Come early to the Rotunda to get your copy. Sales start at 7 on Friday. *
*
*
Less than fifteen remain. We did a limited edition run of 100 color issues.

We wish to thank all of the donors on our Kickstarter. We were 100% funded, and we are grateful! You helped us sell out the issue!

We also wish to thank all who exhibited and performed during our first exhibit, Collaborate Collaborator at Eris Temple Artspace.

*Call for Submissions*Founded by artists, Certain Circuits publishes poetry, experimental prose, art, and new media. We are especially interested in documenting multimedia collaborative work between artists.

We are currently accepting submissions for six online issues in 2011. Accepted work will be eligible for Certain Circuits 2.1 published in Winter 2012 (pending funding).

Send files and links to [redacted]. Our reading period closes SEPTEMBER 30. We will publish multimedia issues on a rolling basis.

We strongly encourage collaborative works between artists. Our next multimedia issues will publish JULY 1 and AUGUST 1.

Bonnie MacAllister
Curator
Certain Circuits
Web: certaincircuits.org <http://www.certaincircuits.org/>
Twitter: certaincircuits <http://twitter.com/#!/certaincircuits>
Facebook: certaincircuits <https://www.facebook.com/certaincircuits>
Tumblr: certaincircuits.tumblr.com
Mailing List: Subscribe here<http://us2.campaign-archive2.com/?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=174da2e598> (Click button on left)

↑ Index

7. Paul Siegell
HIGHLIGHTS of a LIFE WRITING POETRY
Wed 1 Jun 2011

Dear friends,

When you have a moment: HIGHLIGHTS of a LIFE WRITING POETRY: http://paulsiegell.blogspot.com/2011/05/timeliness-pipeline-livelihood.html

I'm always interested in poets' trajectories. How they progressed. What events meant something. So, with that, I recently realized I should probably take a look at myself for a second, see what's what.

How am I doing while doing this thing that I'd never want to stop doing?

SAVE THE DATE: [06.26.11]: Fox Chase Reading Series @ Ryerss Museum and Library, 7370 Central Avenue, Burholme Park, Philadelphia, PA 19111 (Paul Siegell and Ocean Vuong)

Thank you,
Paul
http://paulsiegell.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

8. Ruth Lepson
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Wed 1 Jun 2011

what do you think of UG Krishnamurti, Jesse?

On 5/31/11 10:02 PM, "Jesse Glass" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Jared, do yourself a favor and spend some time in Asia. Live in a country where everyone you meet is or was a Buddhist, from the bus driver to the street people to the trembling old man sitting across from you on the train who still wishes to kill you because of WWII., and who is nevertheless a buddhist. It takes some of the wow factor away. Every poem they would write would be a buddhist poem, I guess, and every breath they take is a buddhist breath, and they see life the way a buddhist sees life.
>
> Are these people enlightened? I sit down to dinner with them, and they're average people trying to live their lives and pay their bills.
>
> Most "buddhist poems" I've read from American buddhists have a tiny drum beating inside of them saying 1) look at me, look at me, look at me and 2) I'm a buddhist writing buddhist poems therefore 1) look at me, look at me, look at me. I'm "different" I'm "better" I'm "not one of them"--which is all essentially--and paradoxically--not asian.
>
> What wisdom they spout is borrowed from the hard-won insights of the real geniuses of Asian culture.
>
> They go on giving foot-notes or using terminology they picked up somewhere to convince the innocent reader that somehow they know something that everybody else doesn't. That somehow their lives are perhaps more intense, more beautiful, more "correct" more forgiving, more (name your spiritual flavor of the day)--and it's all because of that special look-at-me thing, and not because of any talent, or lack of, that they might have in their native language--which is what poetry is really all about.
>
> It's a way of getting ahead of the game in America. Of asserting yourself, grabbing what's rightfully yours, and playing others for whatever it is po-biz can give you. It's a way you can build a career. Jared, if you'd come over here, you'd see just how Amerikan most "buddhist poetry" is.
>
> There's a kind of comparable excitement among the Japanese when someone declares him or her self a christian. There's a sense of mystery and romance and all of that stuff, dating back to the days of the Nagasaki martyrs and the Shimabara riots and the Dutch on dejima, etc. etc. My students do it sometimes and it's a "look at me" moment, which would soon fade away if they visited a town full of Sarah Palin supporters in Iowa.

Unenlightened, Jess of Japan. (Now 20 years here.)

On 5/27/2011, "Jared Schickling" <[redacted]> wrote:

the contemporary journal Zen Monster

zenmonster.com

....

jesse, i'm not sure ye japanese or chinese polluters and dolphin slaughterers (village of taiji, the same word for the chinese mark for "supreme polarity") are any closer to atman et al than...

though there is a saying about even butchers able to achieve / know ...

jared

: eccolinguistics :
: delete press :
: reconfigurations :

Date: Thu, 26 May 2011 00:44:08 +0000
From: Jesse Glass <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: seeking Buddhist poetry (From Disembodied I)

Morgan Gibson's translations of Kukai's poetry fit the bill. If you can't find a copy I'd be happy to send.

Translations of the greats by Burton Watson.

I suppose Sam Hamil's work.

Philip Whalen.

There's an old Penguin Anthology of Zen Poetry, and another book out there of Zen Death poems. (If you think Buddhism=Zen)

I think Shakespeare is a great Buddhist poet--one of the absolute non-dualists. Why don't you give him a try? He was a

> B,o,d,d,h,i,t,s,a,t,v,a I bet,
>
> I find most Zenglish poems r,e,b,a,r,b,a,t,i,v,e because 1) Fast Food Englightenment and 2) Fast Food 3) Enlightenment--so very Amerikan.
>
> Jess of Japan

↑ Index

9. Jesse Glass

Re: POETICS Digest - 30 May 2011 to 31 May 2011 (#2011-92)

Wed 1 Jun 2011

Brother Anthony is a great "Englisher" and a great fellow. Ko Un is a great poet. Jess

On 6/1/2011, "Walter Lew" <[redacted]> wrote:

> An important anthology of American Buddhist poetry of the last half-century or so is the one compiled by Gary Gach, WHAT BOOK!? BUDDHA POEMS FROM BEAT TO HIPHOP, published by Parallax Press. You'll find a lot of fine poets in there, such as Oakland's Patricia Ikeda (Mushim) and the late Al Robles, who have not appeared yet in this thread. Gary is also the author of THE COMPLETE IDIOT'S GUIDE TO UNDERSTANDING BUDDHISM and has helped out as an "Englisher" with several of the volumes of Ko Un's poetry translated from Korean.
>
> I'm going to test now whether the Korean spelling and Chinese characters for Ko Un's name can make it through: $Bj3(B&#65533;&#65533;&#65533;&#65533; $Bi+(B&#65533;&#65533;&#65533;&#65533;
>
> On 5/24/2011, "Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> I'm about to teach a poetry class on Buddhist poetry.
>
> Could you suggest individual poems or collections that demonstrates nondual awareness 1) in its syntax or process 2) or in topic?
>
> Yes, back channel.
>
> Cheryl
>
> cherylpallant.com
> cherylpallant.blogspot.com

↑ Index

10. Hazel Smith

Improvised poetry in perofmance

Thu 2 Jun 2011

Thanks again very much for the comments. I have written about Steve Benson's work quite extensively in the past and obviously he is an important figure in this field. I don't know so much about bob kaufman but will follow up. And yes, Cid Corman, thanks for the reminder.
Again thank you all for the suggestions and for your interest.
Hazel
Prof. Hazel Smith
Writing and Society Research Group
College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
Locked Bag 1797
Penrith, NSW, 2751
tel: 9772 6400
email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>

See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media works
http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm

↑ Index

11. Sarah Sarai

So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?

Thu 2 Jun 2011

As a follow-up to the question about "Buddhist" poets, are there poets in 'the East' writing about the mystic west?

Sarah

↑ Index

12. Derek Rogerson
Fried Baraka
Thu 2 Jun 2011

Can anybody tell me which poem (the title) Amiri Baraka performs here on "Fried Shoes, Cooked Diamonds":

http://youtu.be/7qyi9M_CgmM

Many thanks,

↑ Index

13. James Yeary
c_L Books: two chapbooks and a monthly newsletter
Thu 2 Jun 2011

---

c_L Books
of Portland Oregon
is pleased to announce the release of

*Lines on Canvas or What I Know or Have Seen of His Life

*by Sam Lohmann.

Lohmann's Lines on Canvas are a collection of lines drawn to the end of breath. From the referential object found by Sam in his exploration of the landscape, this time from the vantage of the idea of the painter. Each line is drawn from a singularity in text to its possible extent in the world, as Sam has culled it from one biographer looking at an other. That other being the painter Cézanne, from the eye and mouth of his friend Joachim Gasquet.

From the overbearing sky
He produced atrocious studies
In the attic a canvas of holes

This chapbook is an excerpt from a full-length work that should appear later in the year. Lines on Canvas is available from the publisher for $8 domestic mail. Send a check or well-concealed cash to

James Yeary
2947 E. Burnside
Portland, OR 97214

also: Phoebe Wayne's Lovejoy is still available. c_L's first publication, Lovejoy's several narrative threads each take a different perspective on the construction, presence and decay of Portland's Lovejoy columns, a series of "outsider" architecture that have been disappeared from the Portland cityscape since the WPA projects of the 1950s that helped bring them into the world.

Both chapbooks feature letterpress printed covers and hand-sewn binding. Lovejoy is available for $6 domestic mail.

We have also a newsletter, edited by James Yeary and Paul Maziar, including work by Jennifer Bartlett, Derek Beaulieu, Norma Cole, Maryrose Larkin, Alice Notley, Nico Vassilakis and bunches more.

monthly is the plan, mail is the reason the c_L newsletter is 8.5x11" of fiery post-consumer 100% recycled xeroxed corner-stapled pre-post avant and otherwise. Send an inquiry for an issue, a donation for a subscription.

[redacted]

↑ Index

14. Kimmelman, Burt
William Bronk Symposium: Call for Papers
Fri 3 Jun 2011

CALL FOR PAPERS FOR A SYMPOSIUM ON WILLIAM BRONK

Papers are being sought for a symposium on the life and work of William Bronk (1918-1999).

The symposium will be held in New York City in spring 2012, to coincide with the appearance of Bursts of Light: The Collected Later Poems of William Bronk.

Papers from the conference will be the basis for a collection of essays to be published by Talisman House.

The talks and readings making up the symposium will be recorded and then streamed on the Internet from a dedicated website.

While it is expected that established poets and scholars will take part in this symposium, younger poets, critics and scholars are very strongly encouraged to make presentations. How William Bronk can be read in our current time is a concern of this event.

ABSTRACTS OF 1-2 PAGES SHOULD BE SENT TO:
Edward Foster, [redacted]
and Burt Kimmelman, [redacted].

ABOUT WILLIAM BRONK

William Bronk was one of the foremost poets of the twentieth century. His work has been praised widely. The attention is remarkable given that he spent most of his life secluded in Hudson Falls, New York and abjuring literary politics, often turning down requests for readings and the like. Nevertheless, he did receive the American Book Award (the year before it became the National Book Award) and the Lannan Prize; and he did read an occasional poem at Governor Mario Cuomo's first inauguration. The Governor's invitation came not merely because the Borough of the Bronx was named after Bronk's ancestor who farmed a good deal of that land.

In the 1970s and 1980s two prominent scholarly journals devoted entire issues to discussions of Bronk's poetry and essays. In 1998 the first critical book on Bronk appeared, which was then followed by another two years later, and more since then, all by prominent scholars of American poetry. Major essays on Bronk continue to appear regularly in journals.

William Bronk's work is known for its evocations of the New York landscape, as well as for its meditations on the ancient Incan and Mayan cultures, which were prompted by his travels through Latin America. Yet Bronk is most known, and admired, for his inquiries into the nature of reality and knowing. Paul Auster once wrote of his work (in the Saturday Review, once Bronk had begun to attract a lot of attention): "Bronk's poetry stands as an eloquent and often beautiful attack on all our assumptions, a provocation, a monument to the questioning mind."

The value of Bronk's work is still well known among older poets and scholars, yet there is a profound need for a younger readership. Early on, Bronk's poems appeared in the now famous Black Mountain Review and Origin magazines, and he was an important part of the midcentury avant-garde that was memorialized in the 1960 anthology The New American Poetry. Yet, as David Clippinger's book on Bronk documents, he was removed from the anthology at the eleventh hour because its editor, Donald Allen, couldn't fit his work into any of the "schools" of poetry he had concocted for the publication. Nevertheless, Bronk is, arguably, key to our understanding of American letters, and particularly the post-World War II new poetry and thought. Cid Corman, a prolific poet and the editor of Origin, acknowledged Bronk as being " the thread that binds all the issues together" (quoted from The Gist of Origin). The fact that Bronk was the final poet cut from Donald Allen's anthology, and that Bronk does not appear in the Norton or other widely used anthologies today, compels this symposium as a way to put Bronk back before the eyes of a broader readership, and a conference on his work and life, at this time, might ultimately address a reassessment of the twentieth-century literary canon.

Praise for the work of William Bronk:

"A work that demands to be read." -Saturday Review * "A brilliant poetry." -George Oppen (winner of the Pulitzer Prize) * "One of our finest . . . poets." -The New York Times Book Review * "A poet of great distinction." -Small Press

Review * "Bronk is an acquired taste. I recommend you acquire it." -Library Journal * "He is brilliant." -Southwest Review *

PLEASE FORWARD THE ABOVE CFP TO OTHER LISTS.

↑ Index

15. Jared Schickling

Re: "they see life the way a buddhist sees life"

Fri 3 Jun 2011

Jesse,

It would indeed be a favor to myself to spend time in Asia. In fact it would be one of several dreams given shape. I appreciate your comments.

Picking up on something from your post, it would seem that citizens of every nation everywhere are prone to blaming the citizens of another nation somewhere for something done to them and theirs, while the dropping of the two atomic weapons, that end of something and the beginning of something, would seem the horrific cream of that crop. I say it this way because the unending pointing of fingers across insulating borders wherever and however they seem to exist proves itself predictably counterproductive.

It's curious how the structures of the JC and SG myths mirror each other, a la Campbell. Otherwise, in the former case, he displays himself on a cross; in the latter, he holds up a lotus for everyone to ponder. Where one might find a "look at me" sensibility permeating the work of certain writers, one can also find textual performances concerned with engaging and changing the life of the socialized / enculturated mind. If that sounds presumptuous, I would simply ask, what is it that we go to certain books for; do we go to writing "for" anything.

As I understand buddh-ism, its central tenets are compassion and non-attachment. Thus all sorts of desire-driven labors can manifest, espousing spiritual and esoteric dimensions, including temples and monasteries perched for millennia atop a writhing mass of tax-paying wage slaves. We sufferers, all shapes sizes and colors, find ourselves in a unique position to understand this, though we may not notice it (that there is an end to that suffering). And we can find us (ourselves) anywhere we look -- Ifaty, Ranomafana, Goreme, Pamakale, Agincourt, Portland, , , , attached and passionate all.

N.B. in the face of ecocide, it's hard to pardon oneself with the obnoxiously matter-of-fact bills we're supposedly supposed to pay. I write this on a stool of surely Malagasy rosewood.

Jared

: eccolinguistics :
: delete press :
: reconfigurations :

> Date: Wed, 1 Jun 2011 02:02:29 +0000
> From: Jesse Glass <[redacted]>
> Subject: Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
>
> Jared, do yourself a favor and spend some time in Asia. Live in a country where everyone you meet is or was a Buddhist, from the bus driver to the street people to the trembling old man sitting across from you on the train who still wishes to kill you because of WWII., and who is nevertheless a buddhist. It takes some of the wow factor away. Every poem they would write would be a buddhist poem, I guess, and every breath they take is a buddhist breath, and they see life the way a buddhist sees life.
>
> Are these people enlightened? I sit down to dinner with them, and they're average people trying to live their lives and pay their bills.
>
> Most "buddhist poems" I've read from American buddhists have a tiny drum beating inside of them saying 1) look at me, look at me, look at me and 2) I'm a buddhist writing buddhist poems therefore 1) look at me, look at me, look at me. I'm "different" I'm "better" I'm "not one of them"--which is all essentially--and paradoxically--not asian.
>
> What wisdom they spout is borrowed from the hard-won insights of the real geniuses of Asian culture.
>
> They go on giving foot-notes or using terminology they picked up somewhere to convince the innocent reader that somehow they know something that everybody else doesn't. That somehow their lives are perhaps more intense, more beautiful, more "correct" more forgiving, more (name your spiritual flavor of the day)--and it's all because of that special look-at-me thing, and not because of any talent, or lack of, that they might have in their native language--which is what poetry is really all about.
>
> It's a way of getting ahead of the game in America. Of asserting yourself, grabbing what's rightfully yours, and playing others for whatever it is po-biz can give you. It's a way you can build a career. Jared, if you'd come over here, you'd see just how Amerikan most "buddhist poetry" is.
>
> There's a kind of comparable excitement among the Japanese when someone declares him or her self a christian. There's a sense of mystery and romance and all of that stuff, dating back to the days of the Nagasaki martyrs and the Shimabara riots and the Dutch on dejima, etc. etc. My > students do it sometimes and it's a "look at me" moment, which would soon fade away if they visited a town full of Sarah Palin supporters in Iowa.

>
> Unenlightened, Jess of Japan. (Now 20 years here.)

↑ Index

16. Eric Dickey
toe good poetry
Fri 3 Jun 2011

New poem up. Check it. Read it. Live it. Love it. Share it.

http://www.toegoodpoetry.com/

↑ Index

17. George Thompson
Re: seeking Buddhist poetry
Fri 3 Jun 2011

Regarding Jesse Glass' recommendation:

> Jared, do yourself a favor and spend some time in Asia. Live in a country where everyone you meet is or was a Buddhist, from the bus driver to the street people to the trembling old man sitting across from you on the train who still wishes to kill you because of WWII., and who is nevertheless a buddhist. It takes some of the wow factor away. Every poem they would write would be a buddhist poem, I guess, and every breath they take is a buddhist breath, and they see life the way a buddhist sees life.
>
> Are these people enlightened? I sit down to dinner with them, and they're average people trying to live their lives and pay their bills.
>
> Most "buddhist poems" I've read from American buddhists have a tiny drum beating inside of them saying 1) look at me, look at me, look at me and 2) I'm a buddhist writing buddhist poems therefore 1) look at me, look at me, look at me. I'm "different" I'm "better" I'm "not one of them"--which is all essentially--and paradoxically--not asian.

Jesse,

I have never been to Asia, but I have spent all of my adult life reading and studying Vedic Sanskrit, Buddhist Sanskrit, and Pali. I teach the literature of these languages at an art school, where I also teach things like poetry and poetics, aesthetics, etc. I think I understand what you are saying about "American Buddhists," but I think that this "look at me" syndrome that you pinpoint may not be so much a matter of American-ness or Buddhist-ness, but rather of poet-ness.

Isn't there a lot of "look at me" going on in poetry in general, anywhere? I say this as a person who no longer writes poetry. Now I only translate it. I do not call myself a poet. I call myself a Sanskritist and a translator. There are no [or at least no direct] "look at me" moments when you are a translator, right?

Well, anyway, as for me, when I translate, it is not about me. It is about the text. Isn't that attitude kind of Buddhist? A translator is or aims to be a kind of zero, like Buddhist shunyata.

Just a thought.

George Thompson

↑ Index

18. Séamas Cain

The death of Leonora Carrington

Fri 3 Jun 2011

_____

Now I say farewell to an old friend ...

http://www.independent.co.uk/news/obituaries/leonora-carrington-surrealist-painter-and-sculptor-who-found-her-artistic-and-spiritual-home-in-mexico-2290181.html

http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/entertainment-arts-13569266

Yours for a real and true multi-dimensional freedom,

Séamas Cain
http://www.freewebs.com/seamascain

_____

↑ Index

19. Jesse Glass

Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?

Fri 3 Jun 2011

South Korea has lots of Christian poets. Jess

On 6/2/2011, "Sarah Sarai" <[redacted]> wrote:

> As a follow-up to the question about "Buddhist" poets, are there poets in 'the East' writing about the mystic west?
>
> Sarah

↑ Index

20. Derek Beaulieu

new from No press: COPYS by Craig Dworkin

Fri 3 Jun 2011

No Press is proud to announce the publication of

COPYS
By Craig Dworkin

'My idea for these poems is that they be like cigarettes. On the one hand, briefly intense and repaying as much focused contemplation as you want to give them -- each is in fact composed according to a rigorous and elided formal logic -- but then also, at the very same time, merely discardable amusements: quickly read and easily forgotten, thrown away without a second thought as soon as they are finished.' -- Craig Dworkin

Originally published in the UK by Matchbox in May 2007, No press is proud to return this rarely-seen edition to print.

Published in a limited edition of 50 copies (25 of which are for sale) each copy consists of 34 loose cards in a hand-typed envelope.

Copies are available for $8.00 each (including postage).

To order, please contact derek beaulieu at [redacted]

↑ Index

21. Jonathan Morse

Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?

Fri 3 Jun 2011

On 6/2/2011 6:13 AM, Sarah Sarai wrote:
> As a follow-up to the question about "Buddhist" poets, are there poets
> in 'the East' writing about the mystic west?
If you can stand the horror, there's Shohei Ooka's novel _Fires on the Plain_. Kon Ichikawa's film omits the Christian theme, but it's there in the book. More recently, Theresa Hak Kung Cha's _Dictée_ is an explicitly Catholic reading of its author's life and life history as a Korean. One of the illustrations in the book, for instance, is a picture of the nationalist martyr Yu Guan Soon (1903-1920), known in Korea as "the Joan of Arc of Korea." Another is a photograph of St. Thérèse of Lisieux costumed as St. Joan, and a third is a photograph of a group of Koreans being executed by a traditional Japanese method: crucifixion. One consequence of that imagery and the memories accompanying it is that in South Korea today, thousand-year-old Buddhist temples are being destroyed by fires of unknown origin and almost every village lies in the shadow of a great big church.

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

22. Adam Tobin

Re: Improvised poetry in perofmance

Fri 3 Jun 2011

There's also, of course, a rich and robust tradition of virtuosic "freestyling" in the hip-hop scene. It may arguably be even more influential and important than the work of Steve Benson (whose work is, yes, astonishing). ("important", that is, only if you care about black people)

-----Original Message-----
>From: Hazel Smith <[redacted]>
>Sent: Jun 2, 2011 3:01 AM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Improvised poetry in perofmance
>
>Thanks again very much for the comments. I have written about Steve Benson's work quite extensively in the past and obviously he is an important figure in this field. I don't know so much about bob kaufman but will follow up. And yes, Cid Corman, thanks for the reminder.
>Again thank you all for the suggestions and for your interest.
>Hazel
>Prof. Hazel Smith
>Writing and Society Research Group
>College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
>UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
>Locked Bag 1797
>Penrith, NSW, 2751
>tel: 9772 6400

>email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
>
>See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
>The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media works
>http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
>Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
>http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297
>The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
>http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm
>

↑ Index

23. Joel Weishaus

The Muse. A new academic literary journal from India

Sat 4 Jun 2011

The Muse-An International Journal of Poetry

Chief Editor:

Pradeep Chaswal

Editors:

Deepak Chaswal

Mohammad Arif

Web site: www.themuse.webs.com

Email: [redacted]

Press Note

The Muse-An International Journal of Poetry is launching its first online issue in the last week of June 2011. The Muse is an international journal from the soil of India. It is purely academic journal and not for profit. The vision of the journal is to become a store house of contemporary quality poetry and representative poetic criticism.

The first issue will contain an electronic interview with popular poet, academician, curriculum developer, American Folksinger Al Beck, who resides in Monroe City, MO. A book review, prepared by Pradeep Chaswal, of 'Curiosity's Cushion', book no. 16 by Al Beck will also appear in this issue. An Electronic interview with poet Hugh Fox (Professor Emeritus from Michigan State University, archaeologist, editor, writer, and iconic poet of international fame) and a book review, by Joel Weishaus, of 'City Bird : Selected Poems 1991-2009' by poet Millie Niss are also must read components.

The Muse, for its first issue, received a large number of submissions from all over the world. The first issue will display poems of A. D. Winans (San Francisco), Ádám Bogár (Budapest, Hungary), Adrienne Wolfert, Alan Lindsay(Department Head, English/Fine Arts/Foreign Languages, NHTI--Concord's Community College), Anca Vlasopolos (Professor of English and Comparative Literature at Wayne State University in Detroit, Michigan), April Avalon (St. Petersburg, Russia), Benjamin Myers (Associate Professor of English, Oklahoma Baptist University), Carl Scharwath (Mt Dora, Fl 32757), Carrie Allison (Missouri, United States), Chris Tanasescu (Romanian poet, academic, critic, and translator), Christina Murphy (Huntington, West Virginia, U.S.A), Dalel Sarnou (Lecturer, English dept, Mostaganem university), Devreaux Baker (Northern California), Gale Acuff (Southwest University of Science and Technology, Mianyang, Sichuan, China), Hal O'Leary(Wheeling, West Virginia, USA), Hugh Fox (Professor Emeritus from Michigan State University), Jennifer C. Wolfe (Maplewood, MN 55119), Judith Prest (rural upstate New York), Kathleen Specter, Kenneth Pobo (Professor of English and Creative Writing Dept. Of English, Widener University in Pennsylvania), Linda Appleby (Cambridge, UK), Michael D. Sollars (Associate Professor of English and assistant dean of research at Texas Southern University in Houston, Texas, USA), Michael Lee Johnson (Itasca, Illinois), Mike J Gallagher (County Kerry, Ireland), Paul Lobo Portugés (teaches English at University of California Santa Barbara), Phillip A. Ellis (Australia), Raj Vatsya (in London, Canada,), Rebeka Sára (Budapest, Hungary), Richard Oko Ajah (University of Uyo, Nigeria), Sam Eisenstein (Prof. at Los Angeles City College), Shradha Kamra (Bareilly, U.P., India), Thomas Zimmerman (Director of the college's Writing Center, Washtenaw Community College), Valentina Cano (Miami, FL), Victor W. Pearn (Colorado, USA), William John Watkins (Professor Emeritus and a member of the founding faculty at Brookdale Community College in New Jersey).

Research papers entitled 'PET TREES & DANCING BAY PONIES' by Joseph Powell (Professor of creative writing at Central Washington University) and 'How Dangerous Is Digital Literature?' by Felix Nicolau (Associate Professor "Hyperion" University, in Bucharest.) are worth reading. 'A Tribute to Raymond Garlick (1926 - 2011)' by Byron Beynon (Wales) is an informative essay to read.

↑ Index

24. Bobbie Lurie

Re: POETICS Digest - 1 Jun 2011 to 3 Jun 2011 (#2011-94)

Sat 4 Jun 2011

I think U.G. Krishnamurti is brilliant. A lot of "seekers" will reject him but what he says feels "true" to me--bobbi

Date: Wed, 1 Jun 2011 20:03:52 -0400
From: Ruth Lepson <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: seeking Buddhist poetry

what do you think of UG Krishnamurti, Jesse?

On 5/31/11 10:02 PM, "Jesse Glass" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Jared, do yourself a favor and spend some time in Asia. Live in a country where everyone you meet is or was a Buddhist, from the bus driver to the street people to the trembling old man sitting across from you on the train who still wishes to kill you because of WWII., and who is nevertheless a buddhist. It takes some of the wow factor away. Every poem they would write would be a buddhist poem, I guess, and every breath they take is a buddhist breath, and they see life the way a buddhist sees life.
>
> Are these people enlightened? I sit down to dinner with them, and they're average people trying to live their lives and pay their bills.
>
> Most "buddhist poems" I've read from American buddhists have a tiny drum beating inside of them saying 1) look at me, look at me, look at me and 2) I'm a buddhist writing buddhist poems therefore 1) look at me, look at me, look at me. I'm "different" I'm "better" I'm "not one of them"--which is all essentially--and paradoxically--not asian.
>
> What wisdom they spout is borrowed from the hard-won insights of the real geniuses of Asian culture.
>
> They go on giving foot-notes or using terminology they picked up somewhere to convince the innocent reader that somehow they know something that everybody else doesn't. That somehow their lives are perhaps more intense, more beautiful, more "correct" more forgiving, more (name your spiritual flavor of the day)--and it's all because of that special look-at-me thing, and not because of any talent, or lack of, that they might have in their native language--which is what poetry is really all about.
>
> It's a way of getting ahead of the game in America. Of asserting yourself, grabbing what's rightfully yours, and playing others for whatever it is po-biz can give you. It's a way you can build a career. Jared, if you'd come over here, you'd see just how Amerikan most

> "buddhist poetry" is.
>
> There's a kind of comparable excitement among the Japanese when someone declares him or her self a christian. There's a sense of mystery and romance and all of that stuff, dating back to the days of the Nagasaki martyrs and the Shimabara riots and the Dutch on dejima, etc. etc. My students do it sometimes and it's a "look at me" moment, which would soon fade away if they visited a town full of Sarah Palin supporters in Iowa.
>
> Unenlightened, Jess of Japan. (Now 20 years here.)

↑ Index

25. Camille Martin

"spooning up the rain to read the sky": Camille Martin at AvantGarden

Sat 4 Jun 2011

Please come to my reading at AvantGarden (Toronto).

I'll read some work I haven't yet aired in public from my new manuscript "Looms." Copies of "Sonnets" (Shearsman Books, 2010) will be available.

Readers: Camille Martin, Beatriz Hausner and Claire Lacey
Venue: The Ossington / 61 Ossington Avenue / Toronto
Date: 6:30 - 9:30 pm, Tuesday, June 7

From "Looms":

"We are castaways in limbo with artificial wings and no aspiration. Pressed to find a flaw, we say we're failed meteorologists wandering from puddle to puddle, spooning up the rain to read the sky."

↑ Index

26. George Thompson

Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?

Sat 4 Jun 2011

On Thu, Jun 2, 2011 at 12:13 PM, Sarah Sarai <[redacted]> wrote:
> As a follow-up to the question about "Buddhist" poets, are there poets
> in 'the East' writing about the mystic west?
>

>
> Sarah

Actually, there are, though I don't know if they would consider themselves poets [devotees, maybe, more modest than poets]. I have a copy somewhere , which I cannot find, of a Hindu poem called "The Shri Khrist Gita." The author's name is of course not mentioned [well, in any case, I don't know it]. In any case, this translates as "The Song of the Lord Christ." It is modelled on the Bhagavad Gita, of course, which means "The Song of the Lord (Krishna)."

"Jesus loves me. This I know, because the Bible tells me so."

"Krishna loves me. This I know because the Gita tells me so."

So, there it is.

George Thompson
>
>
>

↑ Index

27. Halvard Johnson
Frank Parker's at the wheel
Sat 4 Jun 2011

Just saying, June is well under way, and Frank Parker is at the wheel of Truck.

http://halvard-johnson.blogspot.com/

"Reality cannot be copywrited."
--David Shields

Hal

Halvard Johnson
==========

[redacted]
http://sites.google.com/site/halvardjohnson/Home
http://entropyandme.blogspot.com
http://imageswithoutwords.blogspot.com
http://www.hamiltonstone.org
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
http://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/home
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
*Mainly Black<https://docs.google.com/document/edit?

id=1i_JGJ_FqQldEnUq7cwjV8giYykz_tsGbTkC2EkAP3IM&hl=en&pli=1#>
, Obras PÃºblicas<https://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/halvard-johnson-obras-publicas>
; The Perfection of Mozart's Third Eye and Other Sonnets<http://www.scribd.com/doc/27039868/Halvard-Johnson-THE-PERFECTION-OF-MOZART-S-THIRD-EYE-Other-Sonnets>
;*
*Organ Harvest with Entrance of Clones<http://www.amazon.com/Harvest-Entrance-Clones-Halvard-Johnson/dp/0965404390/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1283182804&sr=8-1>
; Tango Bouquet<https://docs.google.com/Doc?docid=0ATDp6rzKkBkhZGZwand2cHdfOWc1Mnh3Zw&hl=en>
; Theory of Harmony<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall04/theory1.pdf>
; *
Rapsodie espagnole<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/rapsodi.pdf>
; Guide to the Tokyo Subway<http://www.amazon.com/Guide-Tokyo-Subway-Other-Poems/dp/0971487316/ref=sr_1_3?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1283183153&sr=1-3>
; The Sonnet Project<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/hsonnet.pdf>
; *
G(e)nome <http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall03/genome.pdf>; Winter Journey <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.winter.html>;
Eclipse<http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.eclipse.html>
; The Dance of the Red Swan <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.dance.html>;
*
*Transparencies & Projections <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.transp.html>
*

↑ Index

28. Lucas Klein

Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?

Sun 5 Jun 2011

Lots of Asian poets write and have written about the West and what it might mean, but you're probably not going to find a mirror-image reciprocality in East and West turning each other into receptacles of mystic wisdom. Christianity is so well ensconced in Korea, Taiwan, Hongkong, the Philippines, and so on that it's not going to have much "mystic" cachet to it (that said, a lot of mainland Chinese seem to look to Christianity as a way to put themselves in line with the "advanced" and / or democratic West; I don't know of any poetry written from this angle, though).

Back-channel me if you're interested in seeing a translation (not mine) of a poem by HK poet Wong Leung Wo about Santa Claus, which will be published in a pocket-size chap for the Hong Kong International Poetry Nights this November.

Lucas

↑ Index

29. Subito Press

subito press contest

Sun 5 Jun 2011

Dear Folks,

Please help us spread the word:

Subito Press of the University of Colorado invites submissions to its annual book competition.

We will publish two books of innovative writing, one each of fiction and poetry.

Submissions for the 2012 book contest open June 1, 2011. Deadline is Monday, August 15, 2011.

http://www.subitopress.org/Contest.html

Subito Press is a nonprofit literary publisher based in the Creative Writing Department at the University of Colorado at Boulder. We look for innovative fiction and poetry that at once reflects and informs the contemporary human condition, and we promote new literary voices as well as work from previously published writers. Subito Press encourages and supports work that challenges already-accepted literary modes and devices.

Submit manuscripts of up to 70 pages of poetry or up to 100 pages of (double spaced) fiction along with a $20 reading fee (make checks payable to Subito Press) and an SASE for notification of results. Manuscripts should include two cover sheets: one with title only, the other with title, author's name, address, e-mail, and phone number. All submissions will be judged anonymously by the creative writing faculty at the University of Colorado; friends, relatives, and former students of University of Colorado creative writing faculty are not eligible. Simultaneous submissions are ok; please notify Subito immediately if your ms. is accepted elsewhere.

Subito Press
Department of English
226 UCB
Boulder, Colorado 80309-0226
[redacted]

Available now:

Death-in-a-Box by Alta Ifland

Fiction.

Paperback, 95pgs
ISBN-978-0-9831150-0-7

http://www.subitopress.org/Ifland/Ifland_profile.html

The Body, The Rooms by Andy Frazee

Poetry.

Paperback, 76pgs
ISBN-978-0-9831150-1-4

http://www.subitopress.org/Frazee/Frazee_profile.html

Man Years by Sandra Doller

Poetry.

Paperback, 87 pgs
ISBN 0-978-0-9831150-2-1

http://www.subitopress.org/Doller/Doller_profile.html

Bartleby, The Sportscaster by Ted Pelton

Fiction.

Paperback, 73pgs
ISBN 978-0-9801098-8-7

http://www.subitopress.org/Pelton/Pelton_profile.html

find all of our titles at SPD

↑ Index

30. Murat Nemet-Nejat

Re: "spooning up the rain to read the sky": Camille Martin at AvantGarden

Mon 6 Jun 2011

Good luck from New York.
Murat

On Sat, Jun 4, 2011 at 1:35 PM, Camille Martin <[redacted]>wrote:

> Please come to my reading at AvantGarden (Toronto).
>
> I'll read some work I haven't yet aired in public from my new manuscript "Looms." Copies of "Sonnets" (Shearsman Books, 2010) will be available.
>
> Readers: Camille Martin, Beatriz Hausner and Claire Lacey
> Venue: The Ossington / 61 Ossington Avenue / Toronto
> Date: 6:30 - 9:30 pm, Tuesday, June 7
>
> From "Looms":
>
> "We are castaways in limbo with artificial wings and no aspiration. Pressed to find a flaw, we say we're failed meteorologists wandering from puddle to puddle, spooning up the rain to read the sky."

↑ Index

31. Cara Benson

Akilah Oliver Memorial Reading

Mon 6 Jun 2011

Please join us as we create a space for people to read and perform Akilah Oliverâ€™s work and work inspired by her. The reading will be in the Parish Hall, a room where she read her work, carefully listened to the work of other poets and taught workshops. The event is an opportunity for us to express our deep gratitude and pay homage to her gifts and her greatness. With Rachel Levitsky, Eileen Myles, Patricia Spears Jones, LaTasha N. Nevada Diggs, Tonya Foster, E. Tracy Grinnell, Tracie Morris, Charles Bernstein, Steven Taylor, Tyler Burba, Julian T. Brolaski, Rachel Zolf, Joyce LeeAnn Joseph, Laura Meyers, Stacy Szymaszek, Marcia Oliver and a special tribute from a group of some of her former students: Stephen Motika, Lydia Cortes,

Kate Jaeger, Jamila Wimberly & Mia Bruner.
Â Wednesday, June 15, 2011; 8 pmThe Poetry Project: 131 E. 10
Free Admission
Â
Please forward widely.th St. New York

↑ Index

32. Doug Holder

First Annual Writers' Conference. Hunter College.

Mon 6 Jun 2011

First Annual Writersâ€™ Conference. Hunter College.

First Annual Writersâ€™ Conference. Hunter College.

By Doug Holder

As you would expect whenever I am in New York City I do a lot of walking. As it happens I was invited to be on a small press panel at the First Annual Writerâ€™s Conference at Hunter College in NYC, founded by Lewis Burke Frumkes. It was a picture perfect day in June, so I walked from my brotherâ€™s apartment on 20th Street in the Chelsea section of the city, to 68th and Lexingtonâ€"the home of Hunter College. I stopped at my favorite diner on the wayâ€"the â€œMalibu Dinerâ€™â€"an unlikely name for an eatery in the middle of a gritty thoroughfare. I ordered my lox and bagel and listened to the well-honed staccato chatter of a counterman from central casting with a regular:

â€œWhatâ€™s it gonnna be sonny-boy?â€
â€œ Sunnyside up- donâ€™t make â€˜em weep.â€
â€œ Gotcha. Whatâ€™s your pick tonight?â€
â€œYankees.â€
â€œ Not a china manâ€™s chance.â€

But I digress. Since my own panel was not until 2PM, I had a veritable literary buffet of speakers and panels to sample from. On the Memoir Panel listing I noticed Malachy McCourt author of: â€œSinging Him My Songâ€ and other authors were participating. We had McCourt at the Somerville News Writers Festival last yearâ€"so I wanted to drop by. Also on the panel were Sidney Offitâ€"curator emeritus of the George Polk Journalism Awards, Patricia Volk author of the memoir â€œ Stuffed,â€ Sir Gilbert Levine â€œThe Popeâ€™s Maestro,â€ and Lucette Lagnado, â€œThe Man in the White Sharkskin Suit.â€

As always I found McCourt to be a genuine and inspirational speaker. McCourt offered his advice to memoir writers in the audience. He feels the memoirist should write about what he or she is truly â€œashamed of.â€ All of the panelists agreed on the importance of documentationâ€”the inclusion of dialogue to make a more compelling memoir. McCourt, a fine dramatist in his own right, emphasized that the memoir provides freedom to dramatize; it is all about impressions; it does not have to be strictly factually accurate.

Lunch was held in the faculty dining room that had a panoramic view of the city. The speaker was Nelson DeMille, a popular mystery-action writer, who penned such novels as â€œThe Charm School,â€ â€œThe Gold Coast,â€ and many others. In his conversation with the audience he recounted his years as a major player on the literary landscape.

He was asked by an audience member if he ever was involved with screenwriting in Hollywood. He said, â€œWriters get more respect in New York. Hollywood eats you up. In Hollywood you are simply a writer for hire. You have very little control of your work." When he worked with Dino de Laurentis on a script, he found that after 6 months and all the various interventions by other writers, etcâ€¦ he didnâ€™t know what he was writing about. He recalled: "When I got back to New York I felt dirty. I felt I needed to take a bath.â€

DeMille reads a lot of non-fiction to research his books, but he rarely reads other novelsâ€”especially when he is working. â€œHe said, â€œReading novels can skew youâ€”really mess up your own work.â€ The author feels it is best to control his own voice and style when he is writing.

The small press panel was well-attended and presided over by the well-known, New York writer and co-author of â€œWhat May Have Beenâ€ (Cervena Barva Press) Susan Tepper. On the panel were yours truly, Steve Glines of the ISCS Press and Wilderness House Press, Jim Schuette of the Marion St. Press, and Roa Lynn, author of "Farewell Rio.â€ We all discussed the opportunities small presses and little magazines offer the author outside of the mainstream publishing industry. There were also frank discussions of self-publishing, and a review some the new publishing technologies.

Finally Susan Tepper and I went to the â€œBirth of a Book Panelâ€ that was presided over by Jerry Gross, the author of â€œEditors on Editing.â€ Also on the panel were Stephanie Abou agent, Foundry Literary & Media, Hilma Wolitzer author of â€œSummer Readingâ€, Pamela Dorman, editor of Pamela Dorman Books, and Doug Jones, Senior V.P. of Sales at Harper Collins.

Jerry Gross, the consummate book doctor talked about how editing is more than marking up the page but involves what â€œcouldâ€ be on the page. He emphasized the creativity of a good editor.

Abou, the agent, talked about the importance of the query letterâ€”it should be short and sweet and to the point. And make sure you proof it as well as you would your beloved manuscript. A poorly written query letter will stop an agent in his or her tracks.

Jones, the Sales V.P. at Harper Collins talked about the importance of indie bookstores to create a buzz. The book sales they create are secondaryâ€”but if the independent likes the book, and gets excited about itâ€”then sales in general will often gain momentum.

Hilma Wolitzer had an interesting anecdote about her start as a writer many years ago. It seems she gave a short story to a friend of hers who slipped into her jacket pocket. The friend was wearing that same jacket at a cocktail party where she was chatting with the agent of John Steinbeck. She handed the agent Wolitzerâ€™s short storyâ€”the agent read it-loved itâ€” and eventually she got her first book published.

After the event I had dinner at an Italian joint in the â€˜hood with family and friends. Later I saw the sun set amidst a canyon of skyscrapers; I saw a fat guy with a fat cigar argue with a skinny cabdriver sporting a flowing beard and a turban and the wind lifted a beautiful womanâ€™s skirt!â€”ah yesâ€”New York!

↑ Index

33. Joel Lewis
Re: Akilah Oliver Memorial Reading
Mon 6 Jun 2011

Hi cara -- when we were visiting our mini-storage, sandy found an extra copy of a memorial tribute to teresa Cha that came out after her murder. If you send a snail mail address, we'd be happy to send it on to you.

joel

On Jun 6, 2011 11:08am, Cara Benson <[redacted]> wrote:
> Please join us as we create a space for people to read and > perform Akilah Oliver's work and work inspired by her.

> The reading will be in the Parish Hall, a room where she > read her work, carefully listened to the work of other > poets and taught workshops. The event is an opportunity > for us to express our deep gratitude and pay homage to > her gifts and her greatness. With Rachel Levitsky, Eileen
> Myles, Patricia Spears Jones, LaTasha N. Nevada Diggs,

> Tonya Foster, E. Tracy Grinnell, Tracie Morris, Charles
> Bernstein, Steven Taylor, Tyler Burba, Julian T.
> Brolaski, Rachel Zolf, Joyce LeeAnn Joseph, Laura
> Meyers, Stacy Szymaszek, Marcia Oliver and
> a special tribute from a group of some of her > former students: Stephen Motika, Lydia Cortes,
> Kate Jaeger, Jamila Wimberly & Mia Bruner.
> Wednesday, June 15, 2011; 8 pmThe Poetry Project: 131 E. 10
> Free Admission
> Please forward widely.th St. New York
> ==========

↑ Index

34. Eric Dickey
talkingwriting.com
Mon 6 Jun 2011

Two poems up on a very classy, smart looking online journal. Enjoy!

http://talkingwriting.com/?p=19751

_____

↑ Index

35. George Thompson
Re: "spooning up the rain to read the sky": Camille Martin at AvantGarden
Mon 6 Jun 2011

Yes, from me too, in NH [I also like the metaphor in Avantgarden!].

George Thompson

On Mon, Jun 6, 2011 at 12:17 AM, Murat Nemet-Nejat <[redacted]> wrote:
> Good luck from New York.
> Murat
>
>
> On Sat, Jun 4, 2011 at 1:35 PM, Camille Martin <[redacted]>wrote:
>
>> Please come to my reading at AvantGarden (Toronto).
>>

>> I'll read some work I haven't yet aired in public from my new >> manuscript "Looms." Copies of "Sonnets" (Shearsman Books, 2010) will >> be available.
>>
>> Readers: Camille Martin, Beatriz Hausner and Claire Lacey
>> Venue: The Ossington / 61 Ossington Avenue / Toronto
>> Date: 6:30 - 9:30 pm, Tuesday, June 7
>>
>> From "Looms":
>>
>> "We are castaways in limbo with artificial wings and no >> aspiration. Pressed to find a flaw, we say we're failed >> meteorologists wandering from puddle to puddle, >> spooning up the rain to read the sky."
>>
>>
>
>

↑ Index

36. Janet Holmes
Ahsahta Press chapbook contest
Mon 6 Jun 2011

Accepting manuscripts through June 30, 2011

$1,000 for a chapbook of poems
Final Judge: Cathy Wagner
The winning volume will be published in April 2012 by Ahsahta Press. This is our first contest for chapbooks!

Full details at http://ahsahtapress.boisestate.edu/chapcontest.htm

Please forward to anyone you think might be interested! Thanks.

Janet Holmes
http://ahsahtapress.boisestate.edu
.. ..
NEW FROM AHSAHTA PRESS:
UTOPIA MINUS by Susan Briante
LESSNESS by Brian Henry
http://ahsahtapress.boisestate.edu

↑ Index

37. David Kirschenbaum

Last Call to Exhibit at Boog Fest's 8th Annual Small, Small Press Fair

Mon 6 Jun 2011

Hi all,

Just a reminder that Boog City would like to invite you to exhibit at our 8th annual small, small press fair (with indie records and crafts, too).

The fair will once again span two days, Sat. Aug. 6-Sun. Aug. 7, and be held at Brooklyn’s Unnameable Books (600 Vanderbilt Ave.) in their spacious backyard. The fair will take place during the 5th annual Welcome to Boog City poetry and music festival.

The fair will open on Saturday with performances by authors from each of the tabling presses.

Tables are $30 for the fair, $20 dollars if you bring your own bridge table (up to 3’ x 3’) with a portion of the proceeds going to help Unnameable Books.

Please email me to reserve your table and schedule your reader. We look forward to the fair once again being a warm gathering with wonderful books, poetry, music, and other items from around our creative community.

You can reach me at this email address, [redacted], for anything regarding the fair.

This year’s fair will feature readings, musical performances, and a lively panel.

as ever,
David

P.S. Apologies if you receive more than one copy of this email.

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://www.boogcity.com/
[redacted]
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)

↑ Index

38. Jeffrey Side

Interview with Rae Armantrout by Amy King at The Argotist Online

Mon 6 Jun 2011

Interview with Rae Armantrout by Amy King at The Argotist Online:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Armantrout%20interview.htm

↑ Index

39. amy king

Rae Armantrout: "Are you at all intrigued by the possibility of alien life? Do you think aliens use language, and if so, do they write poetry?'

Mon 6 Jun 2011

Answers here - http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Armantrout%20interview.htm

Cheers,

Amy

****
VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

40. Calvin Pennix

Me in ucity review

Mon 6 Jun 2011

Two of my poems appear in the current issue of ucity review here:

http://ucityreview.com/2_Pennix_Calvin.html

Calvin Pennix
http://www.collectedtrepidation.com/

↑ Index

41. carol dorf

Re: talkingwriting.com

Mon 6 Jun 2011

Also, just a heads up, Talking Writing will be reading again from June 15 to July 30. Send poems to [redacted].

Carol
talking.writing.com

On Mon, Jun 6, 2011 at 10:14 AM, Eric Dickey <[redacted]> wrote:

> Two poems up on a very classy, smart looking online journal. Enjoy!
>
> http://talkingwriting.com/?p=19751
>
> _____

↑ Index

42. David Seaman

Re: First Annual Writers' Conference. Hunter College.

Mon 6 Jun 2011

I agree. At my age, I love hearing of people who profit from the travel opportunities and have a rich experience. Now in my 70s, I only go to conferences where it will be as exciting as you describe. (I have suggestions, if you wish!)
David
David W. Seaman, Ph.D.
http://personal.georgiasouthern.edu/~dseaman/Welcome.html

Follow my Twitter poetry at dseaman40

YouTube video of my Venice Biennale poem:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JQ5bOuJBN_k

On Jun 06, 2011, at 10:28 PM, Maria Damon <[redacted]> wrote:

thanks for the charming compte-rendu.

Doug Holder wrote:
> First Annual Writers' Conference. Hunter College.
>
>
>
> First Annual Writers' Conference. Hunter College.
>
> By Doug Holder
>
> As you would expect whenever I am in New York City I do a lot of walking. As > it happens I was invited to be on a small press panel at the First Annual

> Writer’s Conference at Hunter College in NYC, founded by Lewis Burke > Frumkes. It was a picture perfect day in June, so I walked from my brother’s > apartment on 20th Street in the Chelsea section of the city, to 68th and > Lexington—the home of Hunter College. I stopped at my favorite diner on the > way—the “Malibu Diner’—an unlikely name for an eatery in the middle of a > gritty thoroughfare. I ordered my lox and bagel and listened to the > well-honed staccato chatter of a counterman from central casting with a regular:
>
>
> “What’s it gonnna be sonny-boy?”
> “ Sunnyside up- don’t make ‘em weep.”
> “ Gotcha. What’s your pick tonight?”
> “Yankees.”
> “ Not a china man’s chance.”
>
> But I digress. Since my own panel was not until 2PM, I had a veritable > literary buffet of speakers and panels to sample from. On the Memoir Panel > listing I noticed Malachy McCourt author of: “Singing Him My Song” and other > authors were participating. We had McCourt at the Somerville News Writers > Festival last year—so I wanted to drop by. Also on the panel were Sidney > Offit—curator emeritus of the George Polk Journalism Awards, Patricia Volk > author of the memoir “ Stuffed,” Sir Gilbert Levine “The Pope’s Maestro,” > and Lucette Lagnado, “The Man in the White Sharkskin Suit.”
>
> As always I found McCourt to be a genuine and inspirational speaker.
McCourt
> offered his advice to memoir writers in the audience. He feels the memoirist > should write about what he or she is truly “ashamed of.” All of the > panelists agreed on the importance of documentation—the inclusion of > dialogue to make a more compelling memoir. McCourt, a fine dramatist in his > own right, emphasized that the memoir provides freedom to dramatize; it is > all about impressions; it does not have to be strictly factually accurate.
>
> Lunch was held in the faculty dining room that had a panoramic view of the > city. The speaker was Nelson DeMille, a popular mystery-action writer, who > penned such novels as “The Charm School,” “The Gold Coast,” and many others.
> In his conversation with the audience he recounted his years as a major > player on the literary landscape.
>

> He was asked by an audience member if he ever was involved with > screenwriting in Hollywood. He said, “Writers get more respect in New York.
> Hollywood eats you up. In Hollywood you are simply a writer for hire. You > have very little control of your work." When he worked with Dino de > Laurentis on a script, he found that after 6 months and all the various > interventions by other writers, etc… he didn’t know what he was writing > about. He recalled: "When I got back to New York I felt dirty. I felt I > needed to take a bath.”
>
> DeMille reads a lot of non-fiction to research his books, but he rarely > reads other novels—especially when he is working. “He said, “Reading novels > can skew you—really mess up your own work.” The author feels it is best to > control his own voice and style when he is writing.
>
> The small press panel was well-attended and presided over by the well-known,
> New York writer and co-author of “What May Have Been” (Cervena Barva Press)
> Susan Tepper. On the panel were yours truly, Steve Glines of the ISCS Press > and Wilderness House Press, Jim Schuette of the Marion St. Press, and Roa > Lynn, author of "Farewell Rio.” We all discussed the opportunities small > presses and little magazines offer the author outside of the mainstream > publishing industry. There were also frank discussions of self-publishing, > and a review some the new publishing technologies.
>
> Finally Susan Tepper and I went to the “Birth of a Book Panel” that was > presided over by Jerry Gross, the author of “Editors on Editing.” Also on > the panel were Stephanie Abou agent, Foundry Literary & Media, Hilma > Wolitzer author of “Summer Reading”, Pamela Dorman, editor of Pamela Dorman > Books, and Doug Jones, Senior V.P. of Sales at Harper Collins.
>
> Jerry Gross, the consummate book doctor talked about how editing is more > than marking up the page but involves what “could” be on the page. He > emphasized the creativity of a good editor.
>
> Abou, the agent, talked about the importance of the query letter—it should > be short and sweet and to the point. And make sure you proof it as well as > you would your beloved manuscript. A poorly written query letter will stop > an agent in his or her tracks.
>
> Jones, the Sales V.P. at Harper Collins talked about the importance of indie > bookstores to create a buzz. The book sales they create are secondary—but if > the independent likes the book, and gets excited about it—then sales in > general will often gain momentum.

>
> Hilma Wolitzer had an interesting anecdote about her start as a writer many > years ago. It seems she gave a short story to a friend of hers who slipped > into her jacket pocket. The friend was wearing that same jacket at a > cocktail party where she was chatting with the agent of John Steinbeck. She > handed the agent Wolitzer's short story—the agent read it-loved it— and > eventually she got her first book published.
>
> After the event I had dinner at an Italian joint in the 'hood with family > and friends. Later I saw the sun set amidst a canyon of skyscrapers; I saw a > fat guy with a fat cigar argue with a skinny cabdriver sporting a flowing > beard and a turban and the wind lifted a beautiful woman's skirt!—ah yes—
New > York!
>
>

↑ Index

43. Jennifer Karmin

Red Rover Series / Experiment #47 + Special Event

Mon 6 Jun 2011

Red Rover Series
{readings that play with reading}

Experiment #47:
The New Talkies

SATURDAY, JUNE 11th
8:30pm / doors lock 9pm
please note change from usual time

Featuring:
John Beer
Daniel Borzutzky
Krista Franklin
Judith Goldman
Carla Harryman
Konrad Steiner

Neo-benshi guest curated by Konrad Steiner
co-presented with the Chicago Poetry Project and funded in part by Poets & Writers

at Outer Space Studio
1474 N. Milwaukee Ave
Chicago, Illinois
suggested donation $4

logistics --
near CTA Damen blue line
third floor walk up
not wheelchair accessible

JOHN BEER is the author of The Waste Land and Other Poems (Canarium, 2010), which won the Poetry Society of America's Norma Farber First Book Award. He lives in Chicago, where he writes about theater for Time Out.

DANIEL BORZUTZKY is the author of The Book of Interfering Bodies (Nightboat, 2011); The Ecstasy of Capitulation (BlazeVox, 2007) and Arbitrary Tales (Triple Press, 2005). He is the translator of RaÃºl Zurita's Song for his Disappeared Love (Action Books, 2010) and Jaime Luis HuenÃºn's Port Trakl (Action Books, 2010). His work has been anthologized in, among others, A Best of Fence: The First Nine Years (Fence Books); Seriously Funny (University of Georgia Press, 2010); and Malditos Latinos Malditos Sudacas: Poesia Iberoamericana Made in USA (El billar de Lucrecia, 2010). Journal publications include Fence, Denver Quarterly, Conjunctions, Chicago Review, TriQuarterly, and many others. Chapbooks include Failure in the Imagination (Bronze Skull, 2007) and One Size Fits All (Scantily Class Press, 2009). He is a contributing editor to Mandorla: New Writing from the Americas. He lives in Chicago.

KRISTA FRANKLIN is a poet and visual artist from Dayton, OH who lives and works in Chicago. Her poetry and mixed medium collages have been published in lifestyle and literary journals such as Coon Bidness, Copper Nickel, RATTLE, Indiana Review, Ecotone, Clam and Callaloo, and in the anthologies Encyclopedia Vol. II, F-K and Gathering Ground. Her visual art has been featured on the covers of award-winning books, and exhibited nationally in solo and group exhibitions. Franklin is a Cave Canem Fellow, and a co-founder of 2nd Sun Salon, a community meeting space for writers, visual and performance artists, musicians and scholars.

JUDITH GOLDMAN is the author of Vocoder (Roof 2001), DeathStar/rico-chet (O Books 2006), "the dispossessions" (atticus/finch 2009), and l.b.; or, catenaries (Krupskaya 2011). She co-edited the annual journal War and Peace with Leslie Scalapino from 2005-2009 and currently edits a feature on contemporary innovative poetry for the e-journal Postmodern Culture. She is a

Harper Schmidt Fellow and collegiate assistant professor at the University of Chicago, teaching in the arts humanities core and in creative writing. In fall 2011, she will be the Holloway Lecturer in the Practice of Poetry at University of California, Berkeley.

CARLA HARRYMAN is the author of fifteen books of poetry, plays, and prose. Her most recent works include a collection of conceptual and experimental essays Adornoâ€™s Noise (Essay Press, 2008), the book length poem Open Box (Belladonna 2007), and a sequence of essays in The Grand Piano, a multi-authored serial work that locates its project in the San Francisco Bay Area writing scene between 1975-1980. The Wide Road, a novella in poetry and prose co-authored with Lyn Hejinian was just released from Belladonna Press.

Recent performance works have emphasized polyvocal text, bilingualism, choral speaking voices, and music improvisation. She is co-editor of Lust for Life: On the Writings of Kathy Acker (Verso, 2006) and she is the special issue editor of â€œNon/Narrativeâ€ for the Journal of Narrative Theory (forthcoming, 2011). She serves on the creative writing faculty of the Department of English Language and Literature at Eastern Michigan University and the MFA faculty of the Milton Avery School of the Arts.

KONRAD STEINER, filmmaker and independent curator, studied film at SAIC and Linguistics at Stanford University. Since 2003 he has produced events of live cinema collaborating with musicians and writers, as well as making single channel video and film.

****

SPECIAL EVENT
Reading by Carla Harryman

FRIDAY, JUNE 10th
7:30pm

at 2614 W. Thomas, apt #2 -- Chicago, IL in the home of Jennifer Rupert & Chris Glomski ring bell #2 & please feel free to BYOB

****

RED ROVER SERIES is curated by Laura Goldstein and Jennifer Karmin. Each event is designed as a reading experiment with participation by local, national, and international writers, artists, and performers. The series was founded in 2005 by Amina Cain and Jennifer Karmin.

UPCOMING

Experiment #48: July 16 @ 7pm
Performance art guest curated by Marissa Perel
with Jai Arun Ravine, Zihan Loo, Oliverio Rodriguez & Samantha Topol

Email ideas for reading experiments
to us at [redacted]

The schedule for events is listed at
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

WOW WOW WOW
Red Rover Series
on facebook? why not?

↑ Index

44. Jonathan Morse
Wallace Stevens and the comic virtues of black and white
Mon 6 Jun 2011

I blog about the connection at

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=333

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

45. Lewis, Susan
Submit: Mad Hatters' Review Blog
Mon 6 Jun 2011

Announcing The Mad Hatters' Review Blog!

Mad Hatters’ Review is an online journal with a collaborative spirit that caters to an international audience with an appreciation for wit, whimsy, dark humor, satire, lyricism, rhythm, word play and post postmodern post avant-garde literature, art, music, politics, films, columns, book reviews, interviews, scratch n sniff projects, collages, literary audios, etc.

We at MHR see the Mad Hatters’ Review Blog as a gathering place for courtiers of spoken and unspoken words, inventive images and music, and of course, the mad at heart, to stay informed and invigorated.

Forthcoming snapshots of the multi-media landscape will feature poetry, flash fiction, interviews, reviews, visuals, audios, and contributors’ news—in short, whatever strikes hosts and editors Marc Vincenz and Susan Lewis as intriguing or enlightening for freethinking arts enthusiasts everywhere.

Check in for the latest on the MadHat's Little Mountain Retreat in Ashville, North Carolina, MadHat Press's Wild and Wyrd Poetry Chapbook Contest –to be judged by the quintessentially mind-bending Philly poet CAConrad— + a ghostly mini-interview with CAConrad himself.

The Mad Hatters' Review Blog welcomes submissions of single poems, flash fictions, short interviews, audio works, visuals, multimedia pieces and reviews all year round. For poems, no more than 15 lines. For flash fictions, no more than 300 words. Please include a short biography. Include the name of your piece in the Submission Title. No multiple or simultaneous submissions. We answer within 14 days, but more likely within 24 hours.

ONE poem (15 lines max)
ONE flash fiction (300 words max)
ONE mini interview (3 – 5 questions)
ONE review (500 words max)

Submissions of previously published poems and flash fictions may be considered as long as authors own the copyrights, and the works were published in a print mag or defunct online journal.

Please submit to: http://madhatter.submishmash.com/Submit

For audio, visuals and multimedia pieces, please query first: [redacted]

↑ Index

46. Maria Damon

Re: Akilah Oliver Memorial Reading

Mon 6 Jun 2011

I genuinely wish I could be there, and will be in spirit, thought, prayer and meditation, both worded (silently) and unworded.

Cara Benson wrote:
> Please join us as we create a space for people to read and > perform Akilah Oliverâ€™s work and work inspired by her.
> The reading will be in the Parish Hall, a room where she > read her work, carefully listened to the work of other > poets and taught workshops. The event is an opportunity > for us to express our deep gratitude and pay homage to > her gifts and her greatness. With Rachel Levitsky, Eileen
> Myles, Patricia Spears Jones, LaTasha N. Nevada Diggs,
> Tonya Foster, E. Tracy Grinnell, Tracie Morris, Charles
> Bernstein, Steven Taylor, Tyler Burba, Julian T.
> Brolaski, Rachel Zolf, Joyce LeeAnn Joseph, Laura
> Meyers, Stacy Szymaszek, Marcia Oliver and

> a special tribute from a group of some of her > former students: Stephen Motika, Lydia Cortes,
> Kate Jaeger, Jamila Wimberly & Mia Bruner.
> Wednesday, June 15, 2011; 8 pmThe Poetry Project: 131 E. 10
> Free Admission
>
> Please forward widely.th St. New York
>
>

↑ Index

47. Maria Damon

Re: First Annual Writers' Conference. Hunter College.

Mon 6 Jun 2011

---

thanks for the charming compte-rendu.

Doug Holder wrote:
> First Annual Writersâ€™ Conference. Hunter College.
>
>
>
> First Annual Writersâ€™ Conference. Hunter College.
>
> By Doug Holder
>
> As you would expect whenever I am in New York City I do a lot of walking. As > it happens I was invited to be on a small press panel at the First Annual > Writerâ€™s Conference at Hunter College in NYC, founded by Lewis Burke > Frumkes. It was a picture perfect day in June, so I walked from my brotherâ€™s > apartment on 20th Street in the Chelsea section of the city, to 68th and > Lexingtonâ€”the home of Hunter College. I stopped at my favorite diner on the > wayâ€”the â€œMalibu Dinerâ€™â€”an unlikely name for an eatery in the middle of a > gritty thoroughfare. I ordered my lox and bagel and listened to the > well-honed staccato chatter of a counterman from central casting with a regular:
>
>
> â€œWhatâ€™s it gonnna be sonny-boy?â€
> â€œ Sunnyside up- donâ€™t make â€˜em weep.â€

> â€œ Gotcha. Whatâ€™s your pick tonight?â€
> â€œYankees.â€
> â€œ Not a china manâ€™s chance.â€
>
> But I digress. Since my own panel was not until 2PM, I had a veritable > literary buffet of speakers and panels to sample from. On the Memoir Panel > listing I noticed Malachy McCourt author of: â€œSinging Him My Songâ€ and other > authors were participating. We had McCourt at the Somerville News Writers > Festival last yearâ€”so I wanted to drop by. Also on the panel were Sidney > Offitâ€”curator emeritus of the George Polk Journalism Awards, Patricia Volk > author of the memoir â€œ Stuffed,â€ Sir Gilbert Levine â€œThe Popeâ€™s Maestro,â€ > and Lucette Lagnado, â€œThe Man in the White Sharkskin Suit.â€
>
> As always I found McCourt to be a genuine and inspirational speaker. McCourt > offered his advice to memoir writers in the audience. He feels the memoirist > should write about what he or she is truly â€œashamed of.â€ All of the > panelists agreed on the importance of documentationâ€”the inclusion of > dialogue to make a more compelling memoir. McCourt, a fine dramatist in his > own right, emphasized that the memoir provides freedom to dramatize; it is > all about impressions; it does not have to be strictly factually accurate.
>
> Lunch was held in the faculty dining room that had a panoramic view of the > city. The speaker was Nelson DeMille, a popular mystery-action writer, who > penned such novels as â€œThe Charm School,â€ â€œThe Gold Coast,â€ and many others.
> In his conversation with the audience he recounted his years as a major > player on the literary landscape.
>
> He was asked by an audience member if he ever was involved with > screenwriting in Hollywood. He said, â€œWriters get more respect in New York.
> Hollywood eats you up. In Hollywood you are simply a writer for hire. You > have very little control of your work." When he worked with Dino de > Laurentis on a script, he found that after 6 months and all the various > interventions by other writers, etcâ€¦ he didnâ€™t know what he was writing > about. He recalled: "When I got back to New York I felt dirty. I felt I > needed to take a bath.â€
>
> DeMille reads a lot of non-fiction to research his books, but he rarely > reads other novelsâ€”especially when he is working. â€œHe said, â€œReading novels > can skew youâ€”really mess up your own work.â€ The author feels it is best to > control his own voice and style when he is writing.

>
> The small press panel was well-attended and presided over by the well-known,
> New York writer and co-author of â€œWhat May Have Beenâ€ (Cervena Barva Press)
> Susan Tepper. On the panel were yours truly, Steve Glines of the ISCS Press
> and Wilderness House Press, Jim Schuette of the Marion St. Press, and Roa > Lynn, author of "Farewell Rio.â€ We all discussed the opportunities small > presses and little magazines offer the author outside of the mainstream > publishing industry. There were also frank discussions of self-publishing, > and a review some the new publishing technologies.
>
> Finally Susan Tepper and I went to the â€œBirth of a Book Panelâ€ that was > presided over by Jerry Gross, the author of â€œEditors on Editing.â€ Also on > the panel were Stephanie Abou agent, Foundry Literary & Media, Hilma > Wolitzer author of â€œSummer Readingâ€, Pamela Dorman, editor of Pamela Dorman > Books, and Doug Jones, Senior V.P. of Sales at Harper Collins.
>
> Jerry Gross, the consummate book doctor talked about how editing is more > than marking up the page but involves what â€œcouldâ€ be on the page. He > emphasized the creativity of a good editor.
>
> Abou, the agent, talked about the importance of the query letterâ€”it should > be short and sweet and to the point. And make sure you proof it as well as > you would your beloved manuscript. A poorly written query letter will stop > an agent in his or her tracks.
>
> Jones, the Sales V.P. at Harper Collins talked about the importance of indie > bookstores to create a buzz. The book sales they create are secondaryâ€”but if > the independent likes the book, and gets excited about itâ€”then sales in > general will often gain momentum.
>
> Hilma Wolitzer had an interesting anecdote about her start as a writer many > years ago. It seems she gave a short story to a friend of hers who slipped > into her jacket pocket. The friend was wearing that same jacket at a > cocktail party where she was chatting with the agent of John Steinbeck. She > handed the agent Wolitzerâ€™s short storyâ€”the agent read it-loved itâ€” and > eventually she got her first book published.

>
> After the event I had dinner at an Italian joint in the â€˜hood with family > and friends. Later I saw the sun set amidst a canyon of skyscrapers; I saw a > fat guy with a fat cigar argue with a skinny cabdriver sporting a flowing > beard and a turban and the wind lifted a beautiful womanâ€™s skirt!â€”ah yesâ€”New > York!
>
>

↑ Index

48. Dan Glass

Re: c_L Books: two chapbooks and a monthly newsletter

Tue 7 Jun 2011

---

c_L books are beautiful stuff—

pic of Lovejoy + 30 Word Review:

http://the30wordreview.blogspot.com/2010/09/lovejoy-by-phoebe-wayne.html

Dan

On Thu, Jun 2, 2011 at 5:49 PM, James Yeary <[redacted]
> wrote:

> c_L Books
> of Portland Oregon
> is pleased to announce the release of
>
> Lines on Canvas or What I Know or Have Seen of His Life*
>
> by Sam Lohmann.*
>
> Lohmann's Lines on Canvas are a collection of lines drawn to the end of breath. From the referential object found by Sam in his exploration of the landscape, this time from the vantage of the idea of the painter. Each line is drawn from a singularity in text to its possible extent in the world, as Sam has culled it from one biographer looking at an other. That other being the painter Cézanne, from the eye and mouth of his friend Joachim Gasquet.
>
> From the overbearing sky

He produced atrocious studies
In the attic a canvas of holes

This chapbook is an excerpt from a full-length work that should appear later in the year. Lines on Canvas is available from the publisher for $8 domestic mail.
Send a check or well-concealed cash to

James Yeary
2947 E. Burnside
Portland, OR 97214

also:
Phoebe Wayne's Lovejoy is still available.
c_L's first publication, Lovejoy's several narrative threads each take a different perspective on the construction, presence and decay of Portland's Lovejoy columns, a series of "outsider" architecture that have been disappeared from the Portland cityscape since the WPA projects of the 1950s that helped bring them into the world.

Both chapbooks feature letterpress printed covers and hand-sewn binding. Lovejoy is available for $6 domestic mail.

We have also a newsletter, edited by James Yeary and Paul Maziar, including work by Jennifer Bartlett, Derek Beaulieu, Norma Cole, Maryrose Larkin, Alice Notley, Nico Vassilakis and bunches more.

monthly is the plan, mail is the reason

the c_L newsletter is 8.5x11" of fiery post-consumer 100% recycled xeroxed corner-stapled pre-post avant and otherwise. Send an inquiry for an issue, a donation for a subscription.

↑ Index

49. Derek Rogerson
Re: Fried Baraka ~ "Afro-American Lyric"
Tue 7 Jun 2011

The poem is titled "Afro-American Lyric" and originally appeared in:

Poetry for the Advanced (1979)

also found in:

Selected Poetry of Amiri Baraka/LeRoi Jones. New York: William Morrow, 1978
http://books.google.com/books?id=7n8FAQAAIAAJ

Transbluesency: The Selected Poems of Amiri Baraka/LeRoi Jones. New York: Marsilio Publishers, 1995.
http://books.google.com/books?id=al0gAQAAIAAJ

Online audio available of Baraka reading from 1978 Naropa (time index 13:42):

"Afro-American Lyric"
http://www.archive.org/details/Amiri_Baraka__Diane_diPrima_and_Robert_D_78P108

Thanks go out to Joseph Harrington, William J. Harris and Joel Lewis.

On Thu, Jun 2, 2011 at 3:05 PM, Derek Rogerson <[redacted]> wrote:
> Can anybody tell me which poem (the title) Amiri Baraka performs here > on "Fried Shoes, Cooked Diamonds":
>
> http://youtu.be/7qyi9M_CgmM
>
> Many thanks,
>

↑ Index

50. Joel Weishaus
Re: William Bronk Symposium: Call for Papers
Tue 7 Jun 2011

I carried around Bronk's wise poem "At Tikal" for years, and still keep a copy close by to remind me that "it is always a world and not the world."

-Joel

↑ Index

51. David Kirschenbaum

Save the Dates: Boog Fest 5, Fri. 8/5-Tues. 8/9

Wed 8 Jun 2011

Hi,

Two months from now, from Fri., Aug. 5 through Tues. Aug. 9, we'll be celebrating Boog's 20th anniversary by putting on the fifth annual Welcome to Boog City poetry and music festival.

The poetry readings are curated by Jim Behrle, Joanna Fuhrman, and me.
The music is booked by Brian Speaker.
My hearty thanks to them all.

Among the festival highlights are:

—our levy lives: celebrating the renegade press series devotes a night to Black Radish Books;

—our 8th annual small, small press fair, with exhibits from a host of small presses, and readings by their authors;

—Poetry's First Responders: 9/11, A Time When Poetry was Always Still Possible, a panel curated and moderated by Douglas Rothschild;

—Poet Rebecca Woolf reading and in conversation with poet Alan Gilbert;

—Poets' theater plays from:

Austin Alexis • Charles Borkhuis • Maria Brandt • Joel Chace • Jenny Hill • Vincent Katz • Matt Reeck;

—Poetry readings from:

Alex Abelson • Rachel Aydt • Cara Benson • Sean Cole • Joanna Penn Cooper • Jim Dunn • Will Edmiston •

Alan Gilbert • Christine Hamm • Monica Hand • Jibade-Khalil Huffman • Brenda Iijima • Ish Klein •

Austin LaGrone • Mark Lamoureux • Tanya Larkin • Sheila Maldonado • Debrah Morkun • John Mulrooney •

Ekoko Omadeke • Jean Paul Pecqueur • Douglas Piccininni • Brett Price • Greg Purcell • Douglas N. Rothschild •

Kathrin Schaeppi • Toni Simon • Kimberly Ann Southwick • Mary Austin Speaker • Jill Stengel • Mark Statsman •

Nicole Wallace • Meredith Walters • Ian Wilder • Jeffrey Wright • and more;

—Poetry readings on Black Radish Books night:

Mackenzie Carignan • Bruce Covey • Carrie Hunter • Mark Lamoureux

Marthe Reed • Kathrin Schaeppi • Jill Stengel • David Wolach;

—music performances by

Crazy and the Brains • Emily Einhorn • Dan Fishback • Greg Smith band • Charles Mansfield • Justin Remer •

Cat Rockefeller • and more; and —tabling presses and artisans

Bone Bouquet • Don's Saddles • Furniture Press • Gigantic Sequins • Litmus Press/Aufgabe • Lunar Chandelier •

Ping Pong • Stonecutter Journal • Vanitas magazine • White Rabbit zine.

The full sked will be released shortly. If you need any additional information or want to advertise in the festival program issue of Boog City you can reach me at 212-842-BOOG (2664) or [redacted].

as ever,
David

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://welcometoboogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

52. David Seaman
Lettrism
Wed 8 Jun 2011

On Thursday, June 16 at 12:15 I am discussing Lettrism and presenting my lettrist works "Georgics - Cotton" and "Georgics - Tobacco" (visual poetry) at the Alliance Française de Bordeaux (France).
David W. Seaman, Ph.D.
http://personal.georgiasouthern.edu/~dseaman/Welcome.html

Follow my Twitter poetry at dseaman40

YouTube video of my Venice Biennale poem:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=JQ5bOuJBN_k

↑ Index

53. Hazel Smith
improvised poetry and freestyling
Wed 8 Jun 2011

Thanks Adam, for the reference to freestyling. And yes, I do think it's extremely important and amazing, and I will certainly talk about it as I particularly want to address the richness of culturally diverse improvising traditions, and also any ways in which the experimental improvisation scene might have been excluding with regard to gender and race. The editors asked me to historicise improvising with regard to the text-sound movement which they knew I had written about before. Which connects with what you were saying, because I do think text-sound, and the way it was conceptualised in the 60s-80s, was rather blind with regard to issues to do with gender and ethnicity, and that critique will be central to my discussion of it. I am sure, too, that there will be other contributors to the book who are experts in hip hop , and who will talk about freestyling in detail, especially since one of the editors is African American.

Also oral improvisation will only be one of the areas I will be addressing, the other will be computerised text generation which I see as one of the contemporary evolution of improvised performance. The main text generators/improvisor I hope to talk about in detail is African American D Fox Harrell, whose work is brilliant in the way it uses new technologies to explore different ways of thinking about ethnicity, the effects of globalisation, and many other cultural issues. Hazel

Prof. Hazel Smith
Writing and Society Research Group
College of Arts (Bankstown 1.1.163)
UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY
Locked Bag 1797
Penrith, NSW, 2751
tel: 9772 6400
email: [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>

See also my webpage at www.australysis.com
The Erotics of Geography: poetry, performance texts, new media works
http://www.tinfishpress.com/erotics.html
Practice-led Research, Research-led Practice in the Creative Arts
http://www.eupjournals.com/book/9780748636297

The Writing Experiment: strategies for innovative creative writing
http://www.allenandunwin.com/writingexp/book.htm

↑ Index

54. Maryrose .

Sunday 6/12 Spare Room Presents Sam Truitt and Sam Lohmann

Wed 8 Jun 2011

Maryrose Larkin
Writer/Researcher

Now available:
Marrowing<http://airfoilchapbooks.blogspot.com/2011/02/marrowing-by-maryrose-larkin.html>
http://maryroselarkin.blogspot.com
http://www.northwestresearch.com

---------- Forwarded message ----------
From: Maryrose . <[redacted]>
Date: Wed, May 25, 2011 at 10:48 AM
Subject: Sunday 6/12 Spare Room Presents Sam Truitt and Sam Lohmann To: Maryrose Larkin <[redacted]>

*
Spare Room <http://www.flim.com/spareroom> Presents Sam Truitt and Sam Lohmann

Sunday, June 12th *
*7:30
*
*
*
*Open Space Cafe <http://www.openspacecafe.com/>
2815 SE Holgate

*
$5.00 suggested donation

Sam Truitt was born in Washington, DC, and raised there and in Tokyo, Japan. He is the author of the forthcoming Vertical Elegies 6: Street Mete (Station Hill, 2011) and the previously published Vertical Elegies: Three Works (UDP, 2008), Vertical Elegies 5: The Section (Georgia, 2003) and Anamorphosis Eisenhower (Lost Roads, 1998), among other books.

Currently he teaches in the Language and Thinking Workshop at Bard College and is the Managing Director of Station Hill Press. He lives with Kim Jaye and their daughters, Indiana and Evangeline, in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Sam Lohmann is a member of Spare Room. He co-edits Airfoil chapbooks with David Abel, and edits Peaches and Bats, a handmade poetry fanzine. He lives in Portland and works at a preschool. c_L has just released a chapbook, Lines on Canvas or What I Know or Have Seen of His Life.

The Uses of Measure are Prosperous

a woman is smoking

her head is on fire (sun)

her hair aflame

nothing lasts

* Sam Truitt*

My shimmy has some dudgeon in it it gets that way it gets on you you permanent wave standing and gelling in the crowd no motion if you give up on cause and caution close your eyes and see the Giant's Causeway with slight foxing and explanatory arrows

Sam Lohmann
*
*
*
*
Maryrose Larkin, for Spare Room
*
*
Maryrose Larkin*
Writer/Researcher

Now available:
Marrowing<http://airfoilchapbooks.blogspot.com/2011/02/marrowing-by-maryrose-larkin.html>
http://maryroselarkin.blogspot.com
http://www.northwestresearch.com

↑ Index

55. Gary Sullivan
Poetry comics for sale!
Wed 8 Jun 2011

I'm selling the original artwork to a number of poetry comics I drew for Rain Taxi from 1997-present.

If you don't like the price, please make me an offer!

See:

http://newlifecomic.blogspot.com/

Remaining comics include Sharon Mesmer, Katie Degentesh, Drew Gardner, Gurlesque Anthology, Eileen Myles, Chris Stroffolino, etc.

↑ Index

56. William Slaughter
Notice: Mudlark
Thu 9 Jun 2011

New and On View: Mudlark Flash No. 61 (2011)

Kallima Hamilton | Lust After Hearing About Another Lewd Photo

Kallima Hamilton studied at the University of Idaho and the University of San Diego. She currently lives in Michigan where she's a literacy tutor. Her poetry has appeared in Shenandoah and Sugar Mule.

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

↑ Index

57. Dan Godston
Trees Speaking to the Wind at the Evanston Art Center
Fri 10 Jun 2011

Trees Speaking to the Wind—a performance event at the Evanston Art Center

Monday, June 20, 2011 (7 p.m.)

Evanston Art Center
2603 Sheridan Road
Evanston, Il 60201
[redacted]
http://www.evanstonartcenter.org/

The Evanston Art Center and Borderbend Arts Collective present "Trees Speaking to the Wind," a nature-themed performance event at the Evanston Art Center on Monday, June 20, 2011, with poetry readings by Allan Johnston and Tim Hunt, as well as phonography performed by an ensemble. This event also commemorates the 38th World Environment Day. This event is supported by funding from Poets & Writers, and it is free and open to the public, all ages.

TIM HUNT A fourth generation native of Northern California, Tim Hunt was born in Calistoga and raised primarily in Sebastopol, two small towns north of San Francisco. As a boy he also identified strongly with the Lake County region of his father's family, where his aunt taught him "I Can Tell You Are a Logger 'Cause You Stir Your Coffee with Your Thumb," while a rockabilly cousin offered "Heartbreak Hotel." Before heading east to school, he also discovered such wonders as "Section 43" by Country Joe and the Fish. In his teen years he dreamed of playing guitar like Carl Perkins and being able to sing like Fred Neil.

Educated at Cornell University, He has taught American literature at several schools, including Washington State University and Deep Springs College. He is currently Professor of English at Illinois State University, in Normal, Illinois. He and his wife Susan, a respiratory therapist, have two children: John, a visual artist, and Jessica, a musician and composer. Hunt once claimed to have been the rhythm guitarist in the band Derridean Debris, though to the best of his knowledge such a band never existed. He is, though, fortunate enough to own a fine 12-string that he promises himself he will eventually learn to play as well as it deserves.

Hunt's poetry has been widely published in magazines, and he has published the chapbook Lake County Diamond. He has also been awarded the Chester H. Jones Prize for the poem "Lake County Elegy." Fault Lines is his first full-length collection. His scholarly publications include Kerouac's Crooked Road: Development of a Fiction and the five-volume edition The Collected Poetry of Robinson Jeffers. http://www.tahunt.com

ALLAN JOHNSTON Allan Johnston's poems have been published in Poetry, Poetry East, Rhino, and over sixty other journals. He is the author of Tasks of Survival and Northport, a collection of poems about his life in the Pacific Northwest in the 1970s, and a recipient of an Illinois Arts Council Fellowship, a Pushcart Prize nomination (2009), and First Prize in the 2010 Outrider Press

Literary Anthology Poetry Contest. He has also received honorable mentions or placed as a finalist in contests featured by New Letters, The Academy of American Poets, Salute to the Arts, and the Roberts Writing Foundation.

Originally from California, he earned his M.A. in Creative Writing and his Ph.D. in English from the University of California, Davis, and now teaches writing and literature at Columbia College and DePaul University in Chicago. He currently serves as a reader for the Illinois Emerging Poets competition and for Word River, and is editor of the Journal for the Philosophical Study of Education. In the past he has worked as a sheepherder, shake splitter, roofer, forest fire fighter, Indian cook, and photographer, among other occupations.

↑ Index

58. Jen Tynes

Horse Less Press Open Reading Period

Fri 10 Jun 2011

Just a reminder: we'll be accepting manuscripts for five more days, and we'd love to see yours! http://horselesspress.submishmash.com/SubmitHorse Less Press is reading submissions for a full-length book of poetry or mixed-genre work. Manuscripts should be between 60-120 pages and submitted via submishmash. No print or email submissions will be accepted. Simultaneous submissions, multiple submissions, and collaborative submissions are all accepted. Please notify us if your manuscript is accepted elsewhere. Manuscripts will receive a blind reading.

Please upload manuscripts in PDF format. Please do not include your name, contact information, or acknowledgements. A reading fee of $20 entitles you to any book from our catalog (including the book chosen through this reading period). Please note which book you'd like to receive. A $10 reading fee does not entitle you to a book, but supports our press and allows us to continue publishing great work. We thank you.

Manuscripts will be accepted May 15 – June 15, and publication decisions will be announced in August. The selected manuscript will be published in 2012, and the author will receive 25 copies of their book.

To learn more about Horse Less Press, visit http://www.horselesspress.com

↑ Index

59. Catherine Daly
Bloomsday, get ready!
Fri 10 Jun 2011

Here's the Joyce info -- I did the tweets for Rudolph Bloom. There's also a really cool map of where we are -- not many on the West Coast.
James Joyce
@11ysses Dublin (via Baltimore)
What happens when the world recasts 'Ulysses' 140 characters at a time? Find out here on Bloomsday, 16 June 2011.
http://11ysses.wordpress.com/

xo, Laura

Date: Sat, 4 Jun 2011 15:05:04 -0700
Subject: miss you...
From: [redacted]
To: [redacted]

Ron's out of town father's day weekend -- I know that you have soo many responsibilities --

I am having a slumber party the 18th -- even if you can't come, please consider a sleepover (or can I sack out there?) this summer

peace and love

Kasia

↑ Index

60. Noah Eli Gordon
Counterpath: new bookstore/performance space in Denver
Fri 10 Jun 2011

Hi Folks,I thought this might be of interest to you all, a link to a little journalistic piece I wrote on Denver's new bookstore/performance space Counterpath, opened recently by Poets/Publishers Julie Carr & Tim Roberts:
http://www.poetryfoundation.org/harriet/2011/06/counterpath/Best,Noah

↑ Index

61. Nicholas Leaskou
Poet As Radio
Sat 11 Jun 2011

POET AS RADIO is a weekly program on KUSF In Exile and features interviews with Bay Area writers, readings, lectures, and announcements about Bay Area poetry events. The show airs Saturdays from 9am to 10am at http://www.savekusf.org.

On Saturday, June 11, we continue our interview with poet Sara Larsen, discussing her chapbooks A, a, a, a, a (Berkeley Neo-Baroque) and The Hallucinated (Cannot Exist).

For more info and to listen to archived shows, check out:

http://poetasradio.blogspot.com/.
Please contact us with ideas for future shows and info about your upcoming events at [redacted].
Thanks!
Delia Tramontina
Jay Thomas
Nicholas Leaskou

↑ Index

62. Harrington, Joseph critics of "documentary poetry"?
Sat 11 Jun 2011

I am doing an article on documentary poetry, and I'm looking for recent examples of critics who reject docu-po per se - for whatever reason. Maybe you have read such an article (blog post, FB post, etc.)? Or maybe you are one of those critics? If so, I'd like to hear from you.

Any leads greatly appreciated!

thanks
Joe

Joseph Harrington
Associate Professor
Director of Graduate Studies
Dept. of English
Univ. of Kansas

↑ Index

63. Maria Damon
contact info for John Yau?
Sat 11 Jun 2011

please backchannel...
thanks!

↑ Index

64. Dan Wilcox
Third Thursday Poetry Night: June 16: Mike Burke
Sat 11 Jun 2011

the Poetry Motel Foundation

presents

Third Thursday Poetry Night

at

the Social Justice Center

33 Central Ave., Albany, NY

June 16, 2011

7:00 sign up; 7:30 start

Featured Poet: Mike Burke

Mike Burke began writing poetry about 20 years ago to fulfill a creative writing requirement in order to obtain his BA in English from The Sage Colleges. It was one of the few A's he received. It opened a new world to him, so he continues. He belongs to various poetry groups and resides in Voorheesville.

-- with an open mic for community poets before & after the feature: $3.00 donation, suggested; more if you got it, less if you can't.

Your almost tanned host: Dan Wilcox.

↑ Index

65. William Allegrezza
New Issue of Moria
Sat 11 Jun 2011

A new issue of Moria: A Poetry Journal is online. It contains work from more than 30 poets. Moria is now in its 13th year as an online journal.

http://www.moriapoetry.com/v1323.html

I welcome work for future issues.

Bill Allegrezza
www.moriapoetry.com

↑ Index

66. David Kirschenbaum
This Sat./ Bill Kushner's 80th Birthday Event
Sun 12 Jun 2011

---

please forward

Bill Kushner 80th Birthday Event

This Sat., June 18, 8:00 p.m. sharp, $5

Bar 82
136 Second Ave. (@St. Mark's Pl.)
East Village

Featuring readings of their own and Bill Kushner's work by

Edmund Berrigan
Peter Bushyeager
Lydia Cortes
Thomas Devaney
Cliff Fyman
Barbara Henning
David Kirschenbaum
Brendan Lorber
Susan Maurer
Be La Roe
Tom Savage
Nathaniel A. Siegel
Lewis Warsh
Phyllis Wat
Don Yorty

and music from

Dan Fishback

Hosted and curated
Boog City editor and publisher David Kirschenbaum and Nathaniel Siegel

For further information:
212-842-BOOG (2664), [redacted]

Edmund Berrigan

Edmund Berrigan is the author of Disarming Matter (Owl Press), Glad Stone Children (Farfalla), and Can It! (Letter Machine). He is editor of the Selected Poems of Steve Carey (Sub Press), and is co-editor with Anselm Berrigan and Alice Notley of the Collected Poems of Ted Berrigan (University of California) and the Selected Poems of Ted Berrigan (University of California). He is an editor of Vlak magazine and on the editorial board of Lungfull!, has twice received grants from the Fund for Poetry, and was named a NYFA Fellow in poetry in 2009.

Peter Bushyeager
http://www.leafscape.org/press1/v4n1/index.html

Peter Bushyeager's books of poetry include Mute Dog, Citadel Luncheonette, and the recently published chapbook In the Green Oval. His poetry, reviews, and commentary have been published in many publications, including Rain Taxi, The Poetry Project Newsletter, Talisman, and Press 1. He lives in Manhattan and Kinderhook, N.Y. with his wife and daughter and works as a consultant for non-profit organizations and philanthropic foundations.

Lydia Cortes

Lydia Cortes don't have no url but her latest bio is as follows: Lydia Cortes is a long time New Puertorrican born resident, raised in New York but with strong roots in the two cultures of the Boricua and the Brooklyn which spawned her as well as the many other cultures and languages she was surrounded by growing up in Williamsburg, in Ft. Greene, and in the East Flatbush nabes and by the schools she attended: PS 55, Francis Scott Key JHS, Girls High, Erasmus Hall HS, and St. John's U. She has been published in various anthologies and has two collections of poetry, Lust for Lust and Whose Place.

Though she writes mostly in English, she often uses phrases, words, cachets from the other languages she's fluent in: Spanish and Italian (during the '60s and '70s, she lived in Rome) and feeds on the slang of all three.

She's looking forward to seeing Bill and other long lost poet friends at this loveliest of events...

Thomas Devaney
http://www.thomasdevaney.net/
http://onandonscreen.net/

Thomas Devaney is the author of two poetry collections A Series of Small Boxes (Fish Drum) and The American Pragmatist Fell in Love (Banshee Press), and a nonfiction book, Letters to Ernesto Neto (Germ Folios). He is the editor of ONandOnScreen (poems + videos).

Dan Fishback
http://www.danfishback.com/

Dan Fishback has been writing and performing in New York City since 2003. His most recent play, You Will Experience Silence (Stephen Brackett, dir.) debuted to critical acclaim in April 2009 at Dixon Place, where Fishback was an Artist-in Residence. Fishback has performed and developed previous work at Performance Space 122, Joe's Pub, Galapagos Art Space, and various of other venues in New York and abroad. He is currently developing two new theater pieces: The Material World, a pop musical about socialist Jews in the 1920s, and thirtynothing, a solo performance about growing up in the shadow of the AIDS epidemic.

Also a performing songwriter, Fishback began his music career in the East Village's anti-folk scene. His band, Cheese On Bread, has toured Europe and North America, and has released records in the United States and Japan. As a solo artist, Fishback has released several recordings, and will drop his new full length studio album, Mammal, in 2011. He fronts grunge band The Faggots, and has shared stages with Ani Difranco and Kimya Dawson as part of the punk dance troupe Underthrust.

Fishback received the Franklin Furnace Fund grant for performance art in 2010 and the Six Points Fellowship for Emerging Jewish Artists in 2007. He is an Artist-in Residence at Brooklyn Arts Exchange, and has enjoyed previous residencies at Yaddo and the MacDowell Colony. Fishback visits colleges all over the country to lead workshops on solo performance, and to speak on queer and Jewish issues.

Cliff Fyman

Cliff Fyman's self-published chapbook, Nylon Sunlight, is a 200+ edition, and each copy has a hand-painted cover. He recently published poems, dreams, and prose narratives in House Organ, The Portable Boog Reader, and on-line at Napalm Health Spa 2011 edition. The 2010 edition of Napalm includes in Steve Silbeman's elegy a series of photos Fyman took of Peter Orlovsky in admiration in 1979 in Cherry Valley. Currently RainTaxi.com posts his review of Ted Berrigan's book of letters, Dear Sandy, Hello.

Barbara Henning
http://barbarahenning.blogspot.com/

Barbara Henning is the author of three novels, seven books of poetry, and a series of photo-poem pamphlets. Her most recent books are a collection of poetry and prose, Cities & Memory (Chax Press); a novel, Thirty Miles from Rosebud (BlazeVox); a collection of object-sonnets, My Autobiography (United Artists), and Looking Up Harryette Mullen: Interviews on Sleeping with the Dictionary and other Works (Belladonna*). She is teaching at Naropa University, as well as Long Island University in Brooklyn where she is professor emerita.

David Kirschenbaum
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic
http://boogcity.blogspot.com/

David Kirschenbaum's work has appeared in the Brooklyn Review Online, canwehaveourballback.com, Chain, and unpleasanteventschedule.com, among others. He is the editor and publisher of Boog City, a New York City-based small press and community newspaper now in its 20th year. His poems form the lyrics of Preston Spurlock and Casey Holford's band Gilmore Boys.

Brendan Lorber
http://www.lungfull.org/

Brendan Lorber is the editor of Lungfull! Magazine. His most recent chapbook is Gold Star. He was recently editor of The Poetry Project newsletter and ran the Zinc Reading Series for 10 years.

Susan Maurer

Susan Maurer has seven collections, the most recent is Perfect Dark, published by Sweden's ungovernable press. She has been published in 15 countries and recently got her fifth Pushcart nomination from Minnetonka Review.

Be La Roe

Be(tty) LaRoe is an actor/director/seamstress/writer/producer of things theatrical. She ran a theatrical salon, Chez LaRoe, in her loft for over 20 years. She is writing a full-length musical entitled Lady Da! A book of her short stories and poems, Cypress Knees & Palms, was published by Ten Pell Books.

Tom Savage

Tom Savage is the author of 10 books of poetry, including the forthcoming Afghanistan: From Herat to Balkh and Back Again (Strawgate Books). Recent books include Brainlifts (Strawgate Books) and Political Conditions/Physical States (United Artists Books).

Nathaniel A. Siegel
http://www.brooklynrail.org/2011/03/poetry/man-to-manifesto-with-quote-change-everything-except-your-loves-voltaire

Nathaniel A. Siegel is a GAY poet in the tradition of homoSEXual writers, thinkers, and doers throughOUT time immemorial. His chapbook Tony is published by Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs. His “man to manifesto” is published at the above url.

Lewis Warsh
http://www.lewiswarsh.com/

Lewis Warsh's most recent books are A Place In the Sun (Spuyten Duyvil), Inseparable: Poems 1995-2005 (Granary), Ted's Favorite Skirt (Spuyten Duyvil), Touch of the Whip (Singing Horse), and The Origin of the World (Creative Arts). He is editor and publisher of United Artists Books and director of the MFA program in creative writing at Long Island University in Brooklyn.

Phyllis Wat

Phyllis Wat is the author of three poetry books, Shadow Blue (Hot Water), The Fish Soup Bowl Expedition (Ten Pell), and The Influence of Paintings Hung in Bedrooms (United Artists Books). Her work is also in The Portable Boog Reader 5, PingPong, Tamarind, White Rabbit, ClwnWr, and Recluse. She is co-editor of the online magazine Press 1 and publisher of Straw Gate Books (distributed by SPD Books).

Don Yorty
http://donyorty.com/blog/

Don Yorty is a writer and teacher who lives in NYC. He has one novel published, What Night Forgets (Herodias Press) and three books of poetry, A Few Swimmers Appear, Poet Laundromat, and A Prologue (Eye & Ear Press). He is currently working on sonnets and has a blog.

Directions:
F/V to 2nd Ave., L to 1st or 3rd Ave.

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://welcometoboogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

67. Jonathan Morse

A visual resource

Mon 13 Jun 2011

-------- Original Message --------
Subject: Worth a trip to Brooklyn?
Date: Sun, 12 Jun 2011 12:30:47 -1000
From: Jonathan Morse <[redacted]>
To: undisclosed-recipients:;

-------- Original Message --------
Subject: Announcing: Reanimation Library Online
Date: Sun, 12 Jun 2011 11:19:42 -0400
From: The New Inquiry <[redacted]>
To: Jonathan Morse <[redacted]>

Use this area to offer a short teaser of your email's content. Text here will show in the preview area of some email clients.

Is this email not displaying correctly?
View it in your browser <http://us1.campaign-archive1.com/?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idÀff246262&e~15f71216>.

<http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idÿe1fd184f&e~15f71216>

The New Inquiry is delighted to announce the digital debut of REANIMAITON LIBRARY
www.reanimationlibrary.org

The Reanimation Library is a small, independent Presence Library open to the public at 143 Union St. in Brooklyn, NY. It is a collection of books that have fallen out of routine circulation and been acquired for their visual content. Outdated and discarded, they have been culled from thrift stores, stoop sales, and throw-away piles, and given new life as a resource for artists, writers, cultural archeologists, and other interested parties.

For nearly a year, The Reanimation Library has been a destination and resource to the editors of TNI (as seen in our occasional series, "/Lost & Found <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idÁ946e3134&e~15f71216>"/), which is why we are thrilled to announce its availability to all readers at www.reanimationlibrary.org <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idN79b9b719&e~15f71216>.

Search the catalog <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idBe2d57236&e~15f71216> for bizarre and astonishing visual finds. Some of our favorites are:

Encyclopedia of Computers and Electronics (1983) <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idÔ032e814c&e~15f71216>:

Introducing Hairdressing (1946) <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idê78af5740&e~15f71216>:

The Wonders of Living Things (1943) <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idÈ645786d6&e~15f71216>:

Drugs (1972) <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage1.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&id²2a2f22de&e~15f71216>:
You can browse more images here <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idÆd2110638&e~15f71216>.

The library continues to seek out collaborative situations with likeminded individuals and organizations. If you are interested in working with the library on a project, please contact library founder Andrew Beccone: [redacted].

Don't forget to follow news from the Library on Facebook <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage1.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&id,4da9d752&e~15f71216>, Twitter <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&id\66e4eaad&e~15f71216> and Tumblr <http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage1.com/track/click?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&id”0fd7c855&e~15f71216>.

Happy Browsing!

-Editors, /The New Inquiry/

follow on Twitter <http://www.twitter.com/newinquiry/> | friend on Facebook <#> | forward to a friend <http://us1.forward-to-friend2.com/forward?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idÀff246262&e~15f71216>

/Copyright © 2011 The New Inquiry, All rights reserved./
You are receiving this e-mail because you have signed up to The New Inquiry's newsletter.
Our mailing address is:
The New Inquiry
70 Nevins St. #1
Brooklyn, NY 11217

Add us to your address book
<http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage.com/vcard?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idê51a459eb>

unsubscribe from this list
| update subscription preferences
<http://thenewinquiry.us1.list-manage1.com/profile?u–f3ded25381277c8637b0c9b&idê51a459eb&e~15f71216>

↑ Index

68. Jonathan Morse
Teaching poetry by tablet
Mon 13 Jun 2011

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=383

↑ Index

69. David Kirschenbaum
Last Call to Advertise in Boog City's Festival Program Issue
Mon 13 Jun 2011

Hi,

In a little over six weeks, to mark our 20th anniversary, we'll be putting on our fifth annual Welcome to Boog City poetry and music festival, featuring poets, musicians, and playwrights performing at four venues, in two boroughs, over five days, from Fri. Aug. 5-Tues. Aug. 9. Among the over 50 performers taking part are poets Cara Benson, Charles Borkhuis, Lee Ann Brown, Bruce Covey, Alan Gilbert, Brenda Iijima, Ish Klein, Mark Lamoureux, Tanya Larkin, Douglas Piccininni, Kimberly Ann Southwick, Mary Austin Speaker, and Jill Stengel.

Ten days before the event, we'll be putting out the festival issue of Boog City. This issue will feature pieces on some of the performers and a full schedule, illustrated with images of each of the performers.

Advertising in the festival issue of Boog City means you will reach more than 3,000 readers, poetry lovers, and small press aficionados throughout the East

Village, other targeted areas of lower Manhattan; Williamsburg and Greenpoint, Brooklyn; as well as bonus distribution at Boog City events. That's an increase of 33.3% over our regular issues for no additional cost. And, since this issue is also a program for the festival, readers will give it a closer read as they check to see who's up later on that day and throughout the festival.

Boog City continues to offer our special Small Press Ad Rates. That means when you advertise with us you will save 50% off of our regular display ad rates.

* Full Page $250
* Half-Page $130
* Quarter-Page $70
* Eighth-Page $40

Here is a link to our full rate card:

http://boogcity.com/ad-rates.pdf

As I mentioned in previous emails to you, Boog City focuses on getting the word out about lesser-known artists, be they poets, prose writers, musicians, painters, photographers, or cartoonists. Each month we publish poetry from the likes of Anselm Berrigan, Renee Gladman, Lisa Jarnot, Eileen Myles, Kristin Prevallet, and Edwin Torres, alongside our Urban Folk music section, small press book reviews, political commentary, art, comics, and photographs.

We look forward to working with you to bring your message to the local arts community to increase awareness and sales of your publications in the New York area.

as ever,
David

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://boogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

70. Doug Holder
SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
Mon 13 Jun 2011

SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE (Click on title for link to collection)

BEVERLY, MASS.

Doug Holder, Adjunct Instructor of English and head of the office of the Ibbetson Street Press at Endicott College (Beverly, Mass.) has started a small press book collection with the help of Brian Courtemanche Director of Endicott's Halle Library, and his staff: Audrey Koke and Kristyl Roderiques. Holder, a widely published poet, and arts editor of The Somerville News, has long run his own lauded independent small press and literary magazine "Ibbetson Street" from his home in Somerville, Mass. Holder has long admired the great small press collections at the University of Buffalo and Brown University, and has always wanted to bring books of poetry, novels, etc..from the vast and eclectic sea of independent presses from this country and abroad to Endicott College. The Library's website now has a link to the collection: http://www.endicott.edu/Academics/AcadResources/~/media/LibraryMediaLibrary/PDFs/Ibbetson.ashx and it will be updated twice a year. The books listed so far are only a small portion of the books received.

We hope to have an extensive collection and we would love for you to be part of it. Send your donations to :

Endicott College
Halle Library
ATTN: Brian Courtemanche
376 Hale St.
Beverly, Mass.
01915

↑ Index

71. Lisa Samuels
Gender City in the world
Mon 13 Jun 2011

Gender City, by Lisa Samuels, is now out with Shearsman Books
http://www.shearsman.com/pages/books/catalog/2011/samuelsGC.html

A book-length poem in parts and polylogues a differential mirror after Tomorrowland with cover art by Laura McLauchlan

To be launched in Melbourne at the 'Poetry and the Contemporary' conference, organized by Ann Vickery & Michael Farrell, 7-10 July 2011 at the Victorian Trades Hall Come along if you're in town!

↑ Index

72. Alan Sondheim

Our 10th wedding anniversary!

Tue 14 Jun 2011

Our 10th wedding anniversary! (I know, mentioned this on Facebook!)

Today's our 10th wedding anniversary, 12th year of living together. Azure has been wonderful and I owe her everything. I'm lucky to have an amazing daughter, Joanna, and good friends who will put up with my work for the next few decades - who will put up with me in general. We're celebrating on and off and going to Governor's Island on Friday and Chinese opera on Saturday. A good week!

Thank you everyone! love, Alan six-month anniversary of living together... 2007 July 14 - anniversary of our wedding reception: Yesterday: this anniversary time afterwords, remnants of necessary informal cere- our first anniversary. For me an anniversary as Google goes (temporarily) over 100,000 w/ my our 7th wedding anniversary) it's our seventh wedding anniversary today Anniversary Anniversary

↑ Index

73. Nic Sebastian

new nanopress publication project - 'Dark And Like A Web'

Tue 14 Jun 2011

Announcing a new chapbook-length nanopress publication - 'Dark And Like A Web: Brief Notes On and To the Divine' by Nic Sebastian - edited fantastically by Beth Adams, with amazing cover art by Steven DaLuz and published by Broiled Fish & Honeycomb Nanopress - http://bit.ly/jb1bGZ. More about nanopress poetry publishing here: http://bit.ly/dZQNEUSincerely, Nic

Nic Sebastian

Whale Sound

Forever Will End on Thursday

↑ Index

74. Kyle Schlesinger
CHARLES OLSON AT GODDARD COLLEGE
Tue 14 Jun 2011

New from Cuneiform Press:
CHARLES OLSON AT GODDARD COLLEGE
APRIL 12-14, 1962

In the spring of 1962, poet Charles Olson descended upon an experimental college in rural Vermont to read from The Maximus Poems and The Distances, and to lecture on Herman Melville. His captivating performance sparked lively debates with the audience on the nature of myth, history, etymology, narrative, knowledge, and sexuality. CHARLES OLSON AT GODDARD COLLEGE is an enthralling and indispensable annotated transcript that celebrates the intersection of Olson's poetics and a hopeful moment in American education.

Foreword by Basil King. Edited with an introduction by Kyle Schlesinger. Paperback. 112 pages. Cuneiform Press, 2011. $16.95 USD

Available from Small Press Distribution:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9780982792650/default.aspx

Or order direct from the press and receive free shipping within the continental US! Simply Paypal me at this address for $16.95 USD and don¹t forget to specify your preferred shipping address. For orders overseas, we offer a 20% discount on direct orders $20.56 USD ($13.56 + $7 S&H).

Thanks!

Kyle
--
Kyle Schlesinger
Proprietor
Cuneiform Press
http://cuneiformpress.com

↑ Index

75. Séamas Cain
Wurm im Apfel
Tue 14 Jun 2011

_____

WURM IM APFEL

in Dublin, Ireland

presents :

Poetry by Sophie Mayer

and Nina Karacosta,

8:00 p.m.,

16th of June 2011, at the Cat and Cage, function room,

74 Drumcondra Road,

Dublin 9, Ireland

Free Admission

Join us at 6:00 p.m. for a social non-workshop.

Meet poets and other persons, and read poems in a supportive poetry-survivor-centred environment.

Sincerely,

Kit Fryatt of

WURM IM APFEL

↑ Index

76. Camille Martin
reading in New York?
Tue 14 Jun 2011

I'd like to book a reading in New York, hopefully to coordinate it with one in DC (confirmed, date flexible). Please backchannel with suggestions / contacts.

Many thanks.

Cheers,
Camille Martin

http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com
http://www.spdbooks.org/Search/Default.aspx?AuthorNameÊmille+martin

↑ Index

77. Jenkins, Grant
Perelman's Hills magazine
Tue 14 Jun 2011

Does anyone know what libraries have a complete run of Hills, the magazine of the late 1970s edited by Bob Perelman? WorldCAT only shows some library in the Netherlands. Please back-channel. Thanks!

Grant

Grant Matthew Jenkins, Assoc. Prof.
Director of African American Studies
Faculty of English Language and Literature
The University of Tulsa
Tulsa, OK 74104
[redacted]

↑ Index

78. Dan Wilcox
Poets in the Park, Albany, NY
Tue 14 Jun 2011

The Poetry Motel Foundation

> Press Release -- for immediate release <

Poets in the Park, 2011:

Readings scheduled for July 9, 16, 23 & 30

Poets in the Park is celebrating over 20 years of poetry in July at the Robert Burns statue in Washington Park, Albany, NY. The series was started in 1989 by the late Tom Nattell and is now run by Albany poet & photographer Dan Wilcox. This year the readings will be on Saturdays July 9, 16, 23 & 30; the readings start at 7:00 PM & are free & open to the public; donations are accepted. The series is co-sponsored by the Hudson Valley Writers Guild; for more information about the Guild visit the website www.hvwg.org.

The 2011 readers are:

- July 9: Danielle D. Colin Charlestin & Daniel Nester
- July 16: Cara Benson & Gary Metras
- July 23: Alan Berecka & Rebecca Schumejda
- July 30: Alan Catlin & Marie-Elizabeth Mali

The Robert Burns statue is located near where Henry Johnson Blvd. passes through Washington Park and crosses Hudson Ave. Please bring your own chairs or blankets to sit on.

Rain site for each event is the Social Justice Center, 33 Central Ave., Albany.

For more information contact Dan Wilcox, at [redacted]; [redacted].

####

↑ Index

79. Samuel Wharton
sawbuck 5.2 release
Tue 14 Jun 2011

---

dear contributors & readers~

thank you all for making the past 4.5 years of sawbuck very interesting.

with the release of Sawbuck 5.2 <http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com>, the journal will be going on an indefinite hiatus.

issue 5.2 contains some amazing work from the likes of :

Jessica Bozek // John Bradley // Adam Fieled<http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com>
Glenn R. Frantz // Pamela Gay // Carol Guess<http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com>
Sarah Kennedy // George Moore // Philip Byron Oakes<http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com>
Ken Poyner // Drew Scott Swenhaugen <http://www.sawbuckpoetry.blogspot.com>

hope you all enjoy reading!

cheers
~samuel day wharton, editor

↑ Index

80. Rosemary Ceravolo
Fwd: Books Update: 'Illuminations' & "Between Parentheses"
Tue 14 Jun 2011

Recommended!

----- Forwarded Message -----
From: "NYTimes.com" <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]

Sent: Friday, June 10, 2011 2:05:36 PM
Subject: Books Update: 'Illuminations'

Books Update from The New York Times
Friday, June 10, 2011

To view this email with images, go to:
http://www.nytimes.com//indexes/2011/06/10/books/booksupdate/index.html
---
- On the Cover of Sunday's Book Review -
'Illuminations'
By ARTHUR RIMBAUD; translated by JOHN ASHBERY
Reviewed by LYDIA DAVIS
John Ashbery brings a long and deep familiarity with French life, language and culture to this translation of Arthur Rimbaud's poetry.
http://www.nytimes.com/2011/06/12/books/review/book-review-illuminations-by-arthur-rimbaud.html?nl=books&emc=booksupdateema2

 - Reviews by The Times's Critics -

'Between Parentheses'
By ROBERTO BOLANO
Reviewed by DWIGHT GARNER
The excellent thing about "Between Parentheses, " a collection of Roberto BolaÃ±o's nonfiction, is how thoroughly it dispels any incense or stale reverence in the air.
http://www.nytimes.com/2011/06/08/books/roberto-bolanos-between-parentheses-review.html?nl=books&emc=booksupdateemb9

↑ Index

81. Sarah Rosenthal
Interview and Review of A Community: Improved Links
Wed 15 Jun 2011

Hi,

Here's new'n'improved access to my interview on Poet as Radio:
http://poetasradio.blogspot.com/p/quick-links-to-show-archives.html

Mark Wallace's attentive, thoughtful review of A Community:
http://jacket2.org/reviews/global-regional-poetics

Thanks,
Sarah

↑ Index

82. Carol Novack

MadHat Press announces its "Wild and Wyrd" Inaugural Poetry Chapbook Competition June 15 – August 31

Wed 15 Jun 2011

---

*MadHat Press
2011 "Wild and Wyrd" Inaugural Poetry Chapbook Competition
June 15 – August 31*

MadHat Press, an offspring of the non-profit innovative and collaborative arts organization MadHat, Inc. <http://www.madhatarts.com/index.shtml>, invites submissions of poetry manuscripts for its first chapbook contest. The genre "poetry" is broad and includes prose and conceptual poetry. There are no restrictions regarding form, style, or content.

This inaugural contest will be judged by CAConrad.

CAConrad is the author of The Book of Frank (Wave Books, 2010), Advanced Elvis Course (Soft Skull Press, 2009), Deviant Propulsion (Soft Skull Press, 2006), and a collaboration with Frank Sherlock, The City Real & Imagined (Factory School Press, 2010). He has a new book of poetry forthcoming, A Beautiful Marsupial Afternoon (Wave Books, 2012). He lives in Philadelphia and writes with his friends at PhillySound, and he is a co-founder of PACE: Poet-Activist Community Extension. Look for him at http://CAConrad.blogspot.com <http://caconrad.blogspot.com/>.

WINNERS

FIRST PRIZE $US500.00 and five copies of the perfectly bound chapbook will be awarded to the first prize winner. If the book is co-authored, each of the two authors will be awarded $250.00 and three copies. The winning manuscript will be issued as a professionally designed, typeset and printed chapbook with a color cover, and catalogued with an ISBN number and copyright information. Additional copies will be available to the author at cost plus postage. Three to five poems from the book, selected by the author/s, will be published in Issue 13 of Mad Hatters' Review<http://www.madhattersreview.com/>. The book will be available for purchase on amazon.com and possibly, other popular venues. Depending on the geographical situation of the winning author, the editors will arrange a book launch in a venue in the U.S.; should this not prove feasible, an online book launch will be arranged, including a podcast with audio excerpts of the winning work.

SECOND PRIZE
The manuscript of the second prize winner will be published as a MadHat Press e-book, downloadable via Mad Hatters' Review<http://www.madhattersreview.com/>.

FINALISTS Poems by two finalists will be published in Issue 13 of *Mad Hatters' Review * <http://www.madhattersreview.com/>. CAConrad will select three to five poems from each winning author's manuscript.

ENTRY GUIDELINES
Each manuscript must consist of 26 – 36 pages in single-spaced 12 Point Roman font, page-numbered, but otherwise no identifying information, and sent as PDF file or in Word (.doc) format to: (http://madhatter.submishmash.com/Submit)

--
http://www.madhatarts.com; http://carolnovack.blogspot.com

MADHAT'S LITTLE MOUNTAIN RETREAThttp://www.madhatarts.com/retreat.shtml A Writers', Visual Artists', Film-makers', & Composers' Retreat in Asheville, NC, Opening August 2011

↑ Index

83. William Slaughter
Notice: Mudlark
Wed 15 Jun 2011

New and On View: Mudlark Poster No. 93 (2011)

Soon We Will Not Need Bread
Poems by Mary Hawley

Admitted Students' Weekend | The New Frugality
Bad Dreams | My Chair Period | In the New Space

Mary Hawley's work can be found in Notre Dame Review, qarrtsiluni, Bloomsbury Review, Spoon River Poetry Review, Hawaii Pacific Review, and Another Chicago Magazine among other places. Her collection of poems, Double Tongues, was published by Tia Chucha Press, and she co-translated the bilingual anthology Astillas de Luz/Shards of Light, also published by Tia Chucha Press.

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

↑ Index

84. Sarah Sarai

Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?

Wed 15 Jun 2011

On 6/2/2011 6:13 AM, Sarah Sarai wrote:
> As a follow-up to the question about "Buddhist" poets, are there poets in 'the East' writing about the mystic west?
from Jonathan Morse > If you can stand the horror, there's Shohei Ooka's novel _Fires on the Plain_. Kon Ichikawa's film omits the Christian theme, but it's there in the book. More recently, . . .

6.15.11 Thanks for responses. My status update in Facebook last night was a remark on my letting go of sundry goals, hopes, lusts. A friend commented I sounded Buddhist which I suppose is true but I made a decision when I was in my early 20s to stick with the west (Islam, Christianity and Judiasm) as a discipline so I haven't studied Buddhism, though I've read what I've read. My point which you are enjoined to whittle from some rambling sentence structure here is that detachment is not exlusive to the east but is the territory of mysticism more than of straight- ahead organized religion. Letting go; laying down vain desire (those desires which are vain); is considered a cool spiritual goal and westerners tend to equate cool and Buddhism for all sorts of reasons and names and titles we could list. The trick is to get this into a poem, not the names and title but . . .

Sarah Sarai

↑ Index

85. Mark Weiss

Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE

Wed 15 Jun 2011

You're no doubt aware that Brown and Buffalo have great collections because they buy the books.

-----Original Message-----
>From: Doug Holder <[redacted]>

>Sent: Jun 13, 2011 2:17 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
>
>SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE (Click on title for link to >collection)
>
>
>
>
>BEVERLY, MASS.
>
>
>Doug Holder, Adjunct Instructor of English and head of the office of the >Ibbetson Street Press at Endicott College (Beverly, Mass.) has started a >small press book collection with the help of Brian Courtemanche Director of >Endicott's Halle Library, and his staff: Audrey Koke and Kristyl Roderiques.
>Holder, a widely published poet, and arts editor of The Somerville News, has >long run his own lauded independent small press and literary magazine
>"Ibbetson Street" from his home in Somerville, Mass. Holder has long admired
>the great small press collections at the University of Buffalo and Brown >University, and has always wanted to bring books of poetry, novels, >etc..from the vast and eclectic sea of independent presses from this country >and abroad to Endicott College. The Library's website now has a link to the >collection:
>http://www.endicott.edu/Academics/AcadResources/~/media/LibraryMediaLibrary/PDFs/Ibbetson.ashx >and it will be updated twice a year. The books listed so far are only a >small portion of the books received.
>
>
>
>
>We hope to have an extensive collection and we would love for you to be part >of it. Send your donations to :
>
>
>Endicott College
>Halle Library
>ATTN: Brian Courtemanche
>376 Hale St.

>Beverly, Mass.
>01915
>

↑ Index

86. Lisa Samuels
Re: Our 10th wedding anniversary!
Wed 15 Jun 2011

Happy happy day to you bright spirit and love to your family machines and their wet electrics
Love, Lisa

On Tue, Jun 14, 2011 at 7:16 PM, Alan Sondheim <[redacted]> wrote:
> Our 10th wedding anniversary! (I know, mentioned this on Facebook!)
>
>
> Today's our 10th wedding anniversary, 12th year of living together. Azure > has been wonderful and I owe her everything. I'm lucky to have an amazing > daughter, Joanna, and good friends who will put up with my work for the > next few decades - who will put up with me in general. We're celebrating > on and off and going to Governor's Island on Friday and Chinese opera on > Saturday. A good week!
>
> Thank you everyone! love, Alan
>
> six-month anniversary of living together... 2007 July 14 - anniversary of > our wedding reception: Yesterday: this anniversary time afterwords, > remnants of necessary informal cere- our first anniversary. For me > an anniversary as Google goes (temporarily) over 100,000 w/ my our 7th > wedding anniversary) it's our seventh wedding anniversary today > Anniversary Anniversary
>
>

↑ Index

87. Jennifer Karmin
JOB: Teachers & Writers Collaborative in NYC
Wed 15 Jun 2011

Teachers & Writers Collaborative is accepting applications for the full-time position of Education Director. The Education Director manages T&W's creative writing programs for young people and adults in schools and community sites. This position reports to the T&W Director.

http://www.twc.org/about/jobs

Responsibilities

Establishes and maintains effective relationships with NYC Department of Education personnel and other key decision makers at the system-wide and individual school levels

Identifies opportunities and implements strategies to promote T&W's creative writing programs to schools and community organizations

Sets up residencies with school and organizational administrators, including negotiating fees and other arrangements as needed

Manages the selection, training, and oversight of writers on T&W's roster of teaching artists

Plans and leads professional development sessions for teaching artists

Develops strategies for assessing workshops and residencies, including observing writers, delegating observation visits to other staff or interns, and giving feedback to writers

Oversees development and production of materials used in promoting and implementing T&W workshops

Ensures accuracy of residencies/workshop information on T&W website

Works with the director of operations to establish standards and processes for publishing anthologies of work written during T&W programs

Works with the director and director of operations to develop proposals for funding of T&W's creative writing programs

Represents T&W at arts-in-education and education community events

Requirements

BA plus 5-6 years of experience or MA plus 3-4 years of experience

Experience in teaching, program development, and program assessment required; literary arts/writing background preferred

Knowledge of education issues, particularly those affecting K-12 public schools in New York City

Strong written and oral communication skills

Ability to work effectively with diverse populations

Salary and Benefits

Mid to high $50s
Health and dental insurance
Generous leave policy

To Apply

Mail a cover letter and resume to: Teachers & Writers Collaborative, 520 Eighth Ave., Ste. 2020, New York, NY 10018, or e-mail to info(at)twc.org. Applications will not be accepted via fax.

Applications for the T&W Education Director position must be received by 9:00 AM (Eastern), Monday, July 25, 2011.

↑ Index

88. Mark Young
Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
Wed 15 Jun 2011

Color me old-fashioned, but I remember when Libraries, especially University Libraries, used to buy books from small presses in order to support them. It was a win-win outcome for both. Guaranteed sales to even a small number of University Libraries was often sufficient to subsidize, & thus allow, the publication of a book; & those small purchases eventually created the "great small press collections" that the Libraries now hold & continue, by further purchases, to make even greater.

On Tue, Jun 14, 2011 at 4:17 AM, Doug Holder <[redacted]>wrote:

> SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE (Click on title for link to collection)
>
> BEVERLY, MASS.
>
> Doug Holder, Adjunct Instructor of English and head of the office of the Ibbetson Street Press at Endicott College (Beverly, Mass.) has started a small press book collection with the help of Brian Courtemanche Director of Endicott's Halle Library, and his staff: Audrey Koke and Kristyl Roderiques.
> Holder, a widely published poet, and arts editor of The Somerville News, has > long run his own lauded independent small press and literary magazine "Ibbetson Street" from his home in Somerville, Mass. Holder has long admired
> the great small press collections at the University of Buffalo and Brown

> University, and has always wanted to bring books of poetry, novels, etc..from the vast and eclectic sea of independent presses from this country > and abroad to Endicott College. The Library's website now has a link to the collection:
>
> http://www.endicott.edu/Academics/AcadResources/~/media/LibraryMediaLibrary/PDFs/Ibbetson.ashx
> and it will be updated twice a year. The books listed so far are only a small portion of the books received.
>
> We hope to have an extensive collection and we would love for you to be part > of it. Send your donations to :
>
> Endicott College
> Halle Library
> ATTN: Brian Courtemanche
> 376 Hale St.
> Beverly, Mass.
> 01915

↑ Index

89. Mark Young

Out from Otoliths — "notational" by Jane Joritz-Nakagawa

Thu 16 Jun 2011

---

notational

Jane Joritz-Nakagawa

68 pages

Cover painting by Joanne G. Yoshida

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9808785-2-3

$12.45 + p&h

URL: http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/notational/15740264

Jane Joritz-Nakagawa’s n*otational* furthers an Identity Positioning System that resembles in elegance and efficacy the memory theaters of the ancients.

Each page finds the margin where transition is meaning and each sensational flutter awaits its name. Intensity is all: “Power lines on the range.” She never lets the words down, nor fails to put them accurately where most needed. — Bill Berkson

In her sixth book of poems, Jane Joritz-Nakagawa breaks fresh ground, finding new ways to see and restructure her world. In fragments of observations teetering precariously and falling into the unexpected, Jane sees into the backside of social and cultural relations, while at the same time undermining them. This is the “border between identity and non-identity”. Here, we wake up “in an unfamiliar language”, and find that it is our own. — Eric Selland

Jane Joritz-Nakagawa’s notational puts consciousness through an egg slicer and allows the slices to slip away and initiate poetic investigations within the environments that have come to define the fractured backdrop of the everyday: empty buses, the repletions of consumer overload, bamboo groves, eyes that gaze at each other (untranslatable), the horrible vivisection of animals, selves that melt and bend through a social stage in which the locus of identity is always the center of multiple controls. This poetry is timely, intelligent and beautiful — and though the investigations involved often move through deeply unsettling territory, the ingenuity of the poetry itself displays the imaginative promesse de bonheur that keeps the loophole opened: “grim tasks of survival do not bring happiness / yet the wind”. — Trane DeVore

*

*

*

*

& a reminder that the full catalog of Otoliths books can be found at The Otoliths Storefront <http://stores.lulu.com/l_m_young>.

↑ Index

90. Jesse Glass

Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE

Thu 16 Jun 2011

Dear Doug and everyone. I don't know how many offers to donate copies of ahadada books come my way--either in the form of people who wish to be sent review copies that later show up in their on-line stores--usually sans review--or in this manner. To everyone out there--First please consider BUYING copies of so-called small press books for your library, your writers conference, your etc. and etc.. That would sorely help the future of new literature and alternative publishing, and help us from going broke pissing postage money into the wind. Or, perhaps you could at least cover postage?

Thanks a lot.

Jess

On 6/13/2011, "Doug Holder" <[redacted]> wrote:

> SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE (Click on title for link to collection)
>
> BEVERLY, MASS.
>
> Doug Holder, Adjunct Instructor of English and head of the office of the Ibbetson Street Press at Endicott College (Beverly, Mass.) has started a small press book collection with the help of Brian Courtemanche Director of Endicott's Halle Library, and his staff: Audrey Koke and Kristyl Roderiques. Holder, a widely published poet, and arts editor of The Somerville News, has long run his own lauded independent small press and literary magazine "Ibbetson Street" from his home in Somerville, Mass. Holder has long admired the great small press collections at the University of Buffalo and Brown University, and has always wanted to bring books of poetry, novels, etc..from the vast and eclectic sea of independent presses from this country and abroad to Endicott College. The Library's website now has a link to the collection:
> http://www.endicott.edu/Academics/AcadResources/~/media/LibraryMediaLibrary/PDFs/Ibbetson.ashx
> and it will be updated twice a year. The books listed so far are only a small portion of the books received.
>
> We hope to have an extensive collection and we would love for you to be part of it. Send your donations to :
>
> Endicott College
> Halle Library
> ATTN: Brian Courtemanche
> 376 Hale St.
> Beverly, Mass.
> 01915

↑ Index

91. Catherine Daly
Re: So who then, in parts Far Eastern & Asian, writes "Christian poetry"?
Thu 16 Jun 2011

---

check out the kyoto school --
Kuki Shuzo?

↑ Index

92. Ram Devineni
VERSE screening at BPC
Thu 16 Jun 2011

Dear friends: please join us for the screening
VERSE screening at BPC

Dear friends: please join us for the screening of the entire VERSE series.

VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY SCREENING & PARTY
Friday, June 17, 2011 · 7:00pm - 9:30pm
Bowery Poetry Club, 308 Bowery, NYC http://rattapallax.com/blog/verse/

Screening and party for the entire ground-breaking web-series, VERSE: A Murder Mystery.

Featuring Jon Sands, Angel Nafis, Bob Holman, Lamont Steptoe, and others. Produced by Rattapallax. FREE.

http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=113545645400953

Description: VERSE: A murder mystery. When a young poet discovers a lost manuscript, he is drawn into the New York City literary world with the only key to an unsolved, 30-year-old murder.

↑ Index

93. Adam Fieled
"Trish," in its entirety, on Scribd
Sat 18 Jun 2011

"Trish" investigates mid-Aughts Philly via the relationships among a group of artists. What is explored is what is already a bygone era.

"Trish," in its entirety, is now on Scribd:

http://www.scribd.com/doc/58149650/Trish

Hope you enjoy it.
Best Wishes,
Adam Fieled

↑ Index

94. Jonathan Morse
A critic of Gottfried Benn
Sat 18 Jun 2011

In 1936 and '37, Gottfried Benn came under heavy attack in the Nazi media for writing verse unworthy of a Nazi, and at

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=389

I blog about the book where the heaviest attack appears. I don't say anything directly about Benn, but the post may interest readers in departments where people believe the purpose of literature is to provide role models.

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

95. Doug Holder
Poet Linda Lerner: “Takes Guts and Years Sometimes”
Mon 20 Jun 2011

Poet Linda Lerner: â€œTakes Guts and Years Sometimesâ€

Poet Linda Lerner: â€œTakes Guts and Years Sometimesâ€

Interview by Doug Holder

Recently New York City poet Linda Lerner visited the Boston area and revisited my Somerville Community Access TV show â€œPoet to Poet: Writer to Writer.â€ Linda has taught English in the City College of New York system for many years, and has lived the life of poet. Her first priority is her writing and has lived her life to accommodate this, often at the expense of financial security. She has been published widely, and has just released an accomplished collection of poetry titled â€œTakes Guts and Years Sometimes.â€ (NYQ Books).

Doug Holder: You lived near the World Trade Center when it was bombed in 2001. How did this tragic event affect your writing?

Linda Lerner: Oh, it definitely did. I had no experience of war like most people in New York. And it felt like I was in a war zone. And for the first time I had an idea what people must go through to see everything destroyed: homes destroyedâ€”people crying in the street. I think it gave me a much broader perspective. My father was born in Russia and escaped at one point because of the Pogroms against the Jews. He often spoke of what it was like to be driven out of his home. Now I knew what it felt like.

DH: After 9/11 you were part of that tragic diaspora. You lived in the Chelsea Hotel for a while, right?

LL: Yeah. The day it happened I was teaching a class at the New York City College of Technology and in the middle of the class the sirens went off. They always go off in Manhattanâ€”you donâ€™t think anything of themâ€”it is part of the norm. And then a student came in late and said a plane hit the World Trade Center. This was a student who was always late, so I figured it was a great storyâ€”excuse. But the siren didnâ€™t stop and then someone rushed in to tell us what happened. They made us leave the building. I couldnâ€™t go back home to Brooklyn because the bridges were closed. So a bunch of us spent the night at a colleagueâ€™s apartmentâ€”sleeping on the floor. We called hotels, but they wouldnâ€™t take us. The Chelsea had a room, and I was there for a couple of weeks. It is a wonderful placeâ€”with such a rich literary and artistic history. I have a long poem about my experience.

DH: You have been long associated with the New York Quarterly which published your new collection â€œTakes Guts and Years Sometime.â€ The Quarterly is now run by Raymond Hammond. Can you tell us a bit about the magazine, and your history with it?

LL: Yes. NYQ started their imprint in 2009. This was the late William Packardâ€™s idea. He was the longtime editor before Hammond but he got sick. He couldnâ€™t put out the magazine anymore. Hammond has done a wonderful job with the Quarterlyâ€”he made it his personal project.

When I got out of college in the 70â€™s, my background in literature stopped around 1950. I knew I had to do somethingâ€”someone suggested a poetry class with William Packard at The New School. So I took two classes with him. One was a poetry class, one was literature. I never submitted a poem before. I was new at this, but I gave him a poem. He didnâ€™t think it was a masterpiece (Laugh). I couldnâ€™t take criticism at the time and I never submitted another. But I stayed in the class and learned a lot about poetry. And then I started helping out with the magazine. When I started contributing a few years later he started to take my work. I interviewed Hayden Carruth for one issue. Carruth was a fascinating man. Absolutely brilliant. He smoked non-stop, popped sleeping pills, drank a lot. I was really nervous about the interview because at one point when I started it he said, â€œThatâ€™s a stupid question.â€ But as the interview went on it worked out very well. I love the magazine especially its emphasis on craft and craft interviews.

DH: I read somewhere that you said you never compromised for a paycheck. Can you explain?

LL: I never let a job take over my entire life. I always had time to write. I wound up with a series of college teaching jobs that left me with time to write. In the end I may pay for it when I get really old. I never got involved in the politics of a job. I try to do a good job, but I always have to have time to write. Itâ€™s hard out there meeting NYC rents, etcâ€¦

DH: As a daughter of immigrants (Your father was from Russia) did this give you outsider status or a different view of contemporary American society?

LL: In all honesty it wasnâ€™t until father died in 1985, did I start to identify more with him. As a child I was embarrassed by him, by his accent, his lack of education, by his old fashioned ways. I guess after he died I drew closer to him because he was not around to argue with. It was very hard for a bohemian artist child like me to deal with an old world father.

DH: What steered you to this sort of boho/arist/poet lifestyle?

LL; I donâ€™t know to be quite honest. When I grew up I was the odd personâ€”different. I was always getting in troubleâ€”the black sheep so to speak. I really wasnâ€™t aware of what I was until I got older. The rebelliousness was always there.

DH: Some of your works deal with gentrification in the city. Do you think Jane Jacobsâ€™ vision of the city as urban village, with unique communitiesâ€”is long past?

LL: I donâ€™t like what has been happening to the cities. First of all the rents are so high the middle class is moving out. They arenâ€™t able to afford it. I remember a couple of years ago I went down to Little Italy and it didnâ€™t seem like the Little Italy I knew. Where I live in Carol Gardens in Brooklyn it still retains some of the old world charm, but it is rapidly changing. Gentrification is taking away from the charm and sense of community.

DH: It used to be easier to live the artistâ€™s life.

LL; Back in the 70â€™s for an artist to live. My first apartment was in Greenwich Village. It is very hard now. The economy is bad. When I got out of college there were many jobs you could get. I took a civil service job as a social worker. Right now many of my friends are rooming together in small apartments to make a go of it. Itâ€™s not like the old days. Young people are moving home with their parents. A lot of the small bookstores have closedâ€”we have the big chains and even they are closing.

DH: Is the poetry scene still thriving in NYC?

LL: Oh yeah. On any given night there are 7 or 8 venues. The scene changes all the time. Even more so now with all the online venues.

DH: Do you think online magazines are as good as print? Does it mean the same thing to be published in both?

LL: People say so but I prefer print. But there are some good online magazines. Everything seems to be moving to the virtual world.

DH: Itâ€™s a brave new world.

LL: Yes it is.

 For more info go to http://www.nyqbooks.org/lindalerner

↑ Index

96. Murat Nemet-Nejat

Re: Our 10th wedding anniversary!

Mon 20 Jun 2011

Happy wedding anniversary to Azure and you!

Murat

On Wed, Jun 15, 2011 at 7:01 PM, Lisa Samuels <[redacted]>wrote:

> Happy happy day to you bright spirit and love to your family machines and their wet electrics
> Love, Lisa
>
> On Tue, Jun 14, 2011 at 7:16 PM, Alan Sondheim <[redacted]> wrote:
> Our 10th wedding anniversary! (I know, mentioned this on Facebook!)
>
> Today's our 10th wedding anniversary, 12th year of living together. Azure has been wonderful and I owe her everything. I'm lucky to have an amazing daughter, Joanna, and good friends who will put up with my work for the next few decades - who will put up with me in general. We're celebrating on and off and going to Governor's Island on Friday and Chinese opera on Saturday. A good week!
>
> Thank you everyone! love, Alan
>
> six-month anniversary of living together... 2007 July 14 - anniversary of our wedding reception: Yesterday: this anniversary time afterwords, remnants of necessary informal cere- our first anniversary. For me an anniversary as Google goes (temporarily) over 100,000 w/ my our 7th wedding anniversary) it's our seventh wedding anniversary today Anniversary Anniversary

> guidelines

↑ Index

97. Martin Richet
Parution : Charles Bernstein
Mon 20 Jun 2011

Longues files de voitures revenant de la plage de Charles Bernstein

traduit de lâ€™amÃ©ricain par Martin Richet

Contrat
Maint

8 pages agrafÃ©
10 x 14,5cm
ISBN 978 2 914906 53
1
Disponible sur abonnement

Informations, commandes, souscriptions et catalogue
Contrat Maint, 22 avenue Frizac, 31400 Toulouse
[redacted]
www.contratmaint.com

Aux yeux de leur traducteur, Longues files de voitures revenant de la plage fait suite Ã â€œBolinas & moiâ€ de Robert Creeley, paru chez le mÃªme Ã©diteur en 2007

Extrait

Jâ€™ai vu le pouvoir

du mot en

lÃ©gende. Jette

une ombre que je

mâ€™y cache,
perdure,

crevasse indiquant

la jetÃ©e

tendue vers

la mer.

↑ Index

98. Sarah Sarai

Wed. 6/22, Brooklyn, 8 PM | Montauk Club's Ballroom | Mary: A Literary Quarterly | Burd and Sarai | Benefit reading for LGBT homeless youth

Mon 20 Jun 2011

This Wednesday, June 22, at 8 p.m. ... please join us at a benefit reading for the Ali Forney Center-Housing for Homeless LGBT Youth (www.aliforneycenter.org/).

Held in the BALLROOM of fancy dancy, 120-year old MONTAUK CLUB (http://montaukclub.com) in Park Slope/Brooklyn. 25 Eighth Avenue at Lincoln Place.

Nick Burd, fiction, & Sarah Sarai, poetry.
Reading will be followed with a cocktail hour and TOUR of the club’s landmark building. $10 Donation.
Hosted by Mary: A Literary Quarterly, William Johnson, editor & publisher, http://maryliterary.com

(great directions from all angles and via most modes at montaukclub.com) 2/3 Train: Take to Grand Army Plaza. The back of the Montauk Club faces the Plaza. B/Q Train: Take to the 7th Avenue stop (Brooklyn). Walk two blocks along Flatbush Avenue to Eighth Avenue. The Club is located on the left-hand side of the block.

It's a great cause and great opportunity to mingle in a swanky drinking and whatnot establishment.

http://maryliterary.com
http://montaukclub.com www.aliforneycenter.org/

↑ Index

99. Dan Godston
Trees Speaking to the Wind at the Evanston Art Center
Mon 20 Jun 2011

Trees Speaking to the Wind -- a performance event at the Evanston Art Center

Monday, June 20, 2011 (7 p.m.)

The Evanston Art Center and Borderbend Arts Collective present "Trees Speaking to the Wind," a performance event at the Evanston Art Center on Monday, June 20, 2011 -- with poetry readings by Allan Johnston and Tim Hunt; also, Norman Long, Todd Carter, Chad Clark, Greg O'Drobinak will be performing phonography. This event also commemorates the 38th World Environment Day. This event is supported by funding from Poets & Writers, and it is free and open to the public, all ages.

Evanston Art Center

2603 Sheridan Road

Evanston, Il 60201

[redacted]

Links:

Allan Johnston: http://tinyurl.com/26fwgw6

Borderbend Arts Collective: http://www.borderbend.org/

Chicago Phonography: http://www.chicagophonography.org/

Evanston Art Center: http://www.evanstonartcenter.org/

Poets & Writers: http://www.pw.org/

Tim Hunt: http://www.tahunt.com

World Environment Day: http://www.unep.org/wed/

↑ Index

100. Doug Holder
Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
Mon 20 Jun 2011

OK you are old fashioned. I have donated many books to Buffalo, Brown, Yale through my small press http://ibbetsonpress.com We are a very small school with a limited budget

↑ Index

101. Dr. Dina Ripsman Eylon
Seeking reviewers for my new poetry collection
Tue 21 Jun 2011

Dear All,
I'm looking for reviewers for my new poetry collection entitled "The Heart of the City and Other Urban Poems."
If you're interested and would like a review copy, please contact me at [redacted]
All best,
Dina

Dr. Dina Ripsman Eylon, Publisher and Editor-in-Chief
Women in Judaism: A Multidisciplinary Journal
1136-3 Centre St., Ste. 246
Thornhill, ON L4J 3M8 Canada
Email: [redacted]
Tel: [redacted]
Eylon's books are available @ Amazon.ca
Eylon's free articles are available @ Academia.edu

↑ Index

102. Rob McLennan
new(ish) on rob's clever blog
Tue 21 Jun 2011

-- The Capilano Review 3.14: The George Stanley Issue
-- Ongoing notes: mid-June, 2011
-- the end of history: Ridgemont Avenue,
-- Ongoing notes: the dusie kollectiv,
-- fwd; geist magazine's plunder/erasure contest,
-- Shane Rhodes, err
-- span-o presents: the pre-small press book fair reading, June 24
-- Cara Benson, The Secret of Milk
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with j/j hastain
-- Jane Munro, Active Pass
-- Broken Pencil magazine: 50 People (And Places) We Love
-- (another) very short story;
-- Ongoing notes: early June, 2011
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Eleni Zisimatos
-- Outlaws & Outsiders at Westfest Lit

-- A manifesto on the poetics of C. (poem)
-- Ongoing notes: the dusie kollectiv,
-- fwd; The Puritan launches issue #13!
-- fwd; Call for submissions: Open Letter issue on Gail Scott
-- the end of history: George Edward John Kibble Page
-- Ongoing notes: the dusie kollectiv,
-- Call and response: a note on Phil Hall, and 52 flowers
-- John Lavery post-memorial/wake note:
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Peter Midgley
-- an old poem embedded in thoughts on the ottawa river
-- fwd; Greenboathouse Press press release;
-- thanksgiving, or, the end of history;
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Leon Rooke
-- John Lavery Memorial/wake reading: May 29, 2011
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Beverly Dahlen
-- Influency: a report,
-- Ongoing notes: mid-May, 2011 (Monty Reid, Claudia Radmore, Kate Greenstreet, Lisa Fishman)
-- my review of Ken Belford's Decompositions (Talonbooks)

www.robmclennan.blogspot.com

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

103. Harrington, Joseph

Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE

Tue 21 Jun 2011

I've been trying to get my library to purchase small print lit mags, w/little headway. The problem is that, under state purchasing rules, the "unit" (library, in this case) must invoice the "vendor." As we know, w/little mags, you send a check for 15 bucks to John Doe editor who puts out the periodical from his apartment, and he sends you a copy. With the Institution, it has to be the other way around.

Some little mags now distribute via Ingram's, etc., and those are the ones the library will buy.

Joseph Harrington
Associate Professor
Director of Graduate Studies

Dept. of English
Univ. of Kansas

From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Jesse Glass [[redacted]]
Sent: Thursday, June 16, 2011 6:03 AM
To: [redacted]
Subject: Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE

Dear Doug and everyone. I don't know how many offers to donate copies of ahadada books come my way--either in the form of people who wish to be sent review copies that later show up in their on-line stores--usually sans review--or in this manner. To everyone out there--First please consider BUYING copies of so-called small press books for your library, your writers conference, your etc. and etc.. That would sorely help the future of new literature and alternative publishing, and help us from going broke pissing postage money into the wind. Or, perhaps you could at least cover postage?

Thanks a lot.

Jess

On 6/13/2011, "Doug Holder" <[redacted]> wrote:

> SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE (Click on title for link to collection)
>
> BEVERLY, MASS.
>
> Doug Holder, Adjunct Instructor of English and head of the office of the Ibbetson Street Press at Endicott College (Beverly, Mass.) has started a small press book collection with the help of Brian Courtemanche Director of Endicott's Halle Library, and his staff: Audrey Koke and Kristyl Roderiques. Holder, a widely published poet, and arts editor of The Somerville News, has long run his own lauded independent small press and literary magazine "Ibbetson Street" from his home in Somerville, Mass. Holder has long admired the great small press collections at the University of Buffalo and Brown University, and has always wanted to bring books of poetry, novels, etc..from the vast and eclectic sea of independent presses from this country and abroad to Endicott College. The Library's website now has a link to the collection:
> http://www.endicott.edu/Academics/AcadResources/~/media/LibraryMediaLibrary/PDFs/Ibbetson.ashx
> and it will be updated twice a year. The books listed so far are only a small portion of the books received.

> We hope to have an extensive collection and we would love for you to be part of it. Send your donations to :
>
> Endicott College
> Halle Library
> ATTN: Brian Courtemanche
> 376 Hale St.
> Beverly, Mass.
> 01915

↑ Index

104. Séamas Cain

Italian experimental poets in Ireland

Tue 21 Jun 2011

THE "POETHREE" TOUR OF IRELAND

June 2011

The Italian experimental poets Luca Artioli, Andrea Garbin, Fabio Barcellandi and their translator Dave Lordan will be reading in venues across Ireland as part of a national tour to promote the book "Poethree : New Italian Voices," published by Edizioni Thauma in 2011.

Thursday, 23 June 2011,
at 8:00 p.m.,
Village Hall,
Knightsbridge Retirement Village,
in Trim, Ireland.

Friday 24 June 2011,
at 8:00 p.m., in the Summer Writers' Extravaganza of the [redacted] museum,
Galway, Ireland.

Saturday, 25 June 2011,
at 9:00 p.m.,

at Castle Bar in Derry, Northern Ireland.

Monday, 27 June 2011, at the Ó Bhéal Reading Series in Long Valley Pub,
Cork, Ireland.

1.) Luca Artioli was born in Mantova in 1976, where he still lives. He was the creator and co-founder of the Confraternita dell' "Uva," a group of 25 writers from Mantova, Modena, and Como. He's currently a member of the "Movement from the Underground," a literary group for the union of the arts, based in Montichiari (BS).

His official website is http://www.lucaartioli.it/

His books are "Fragili Apparenze" (Apparent fragilities), published by TCM Editions, Mantova in 2005; and "Suture" (Sutures), published by Edizioni Fara in 2011.

2.) Fabio Barcellandi was born in Brescia in 1968. He is part of the group of poets and artists that "quickens" the literary meetings at the coffee bar Galeter in Montichiari, where he has performed on numerous occasions, from his tentative beginnings to the latest missives. He is from under the earth. What they say of him is that he walks hand in hand with death, whistling.

He has published two collections of poems :

"Parole alate" (Winged words), published by Cicorivolta editions 2007; and "Nero, l'inchiostro" (Black Ink), published by Montag editions in 2008.

3.) Andrea Garbin lives and works in the province of Mantova. He has published his poetry as "Il senso della musa" (The sense of the Muse), Aletti 2007; and "Latex," published by Fara in 2009. His short-stories are included in the anthologies "Per natale non esco" (For Christmas I don't go out), published by TranseuropaLibri 2008) and "Il rumore degli occhi" (The noise of the eyes), published by Edizioni Creativa in 2009.

4.) Dave Lordan's latest collection is "Invitation to a Sacrifice" (Salmon Poetry 2010) which was called by THE IRISH TIMES "an act of cultural resistance, as brilliant on the page as it must surely be in performance." Eigse Riada theatre company produced his first play, "Jo Bangles," at the Mill Theatre, Dundrum in 2010. Forthcoming are "Assassin for Higher" from Wurm Press in November 2011 and his first collection of short stories "Out of My Head" due out from Salmon Publishing in Summer 2012.

For additional information, contact
Dave Lordan at [redacted]

↑ Index

105. Mark Weiss

Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE

Wed 22 Jun 2011

I thought I answered this, but it must have been backchannel. Buffalo, Brown and Yale buy almost all small press poetry books. I believe they have standing orders at SPD. They're all very near Endicott--the books are available in your area. As I suggested backchannel, I would think more useful, and a unique collection, would be putting together a really thorough collection of books published by North Shore presses, and it could probably be done at a modest price.

You probably know how fierce the economics of publishing are. Here's the breakdown as I experience it. A 180 page book costs me $3.50 a copy. most copies sell through third parties. Publisher's cut is 25-35%. So, if I price the book at $21 my cut is $5.25 to $7.35. I do manage to sell some at full price, some at various discounts, let's say I average $9.00. That means I've netted after printing costs $5.50. The port gets $2.10 of that--10% of cover price. That leaves $3.40, which has to cover shipping and storage, copies returned damaged, postage, and a great many free copies, for promotion and review. I can continue publishing, but only if I sell a significant portion of my print run. And if I donate work space and all of my labor, including design and typesetting.

Some presses survive on grants. Presses that only do a couple of books a year really can't--they're eligible for only tiny grants, too small to justify the considerable labor involved in applying.

This is why I get hot under the collar when folks expect freebees for reviews they won't write or that will appear in invisible places, or review outlets that demand payment for running a review. And for special collections that have no earthly reason to exist. Though if you can make a case for Endicott's collection I bet you could get a small grant and buy the books. I bet most of us would give you a discount if you committed to buying the the entire catalogue.

-----Original Message-----
>From: Doug Holder <[redacted]>
>Sent: Jun 20, 2011 6:08 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
>
>OK you are old fashioned. I have donated many books to Buffalo, Brown, Yale >through my small press http://ibbetsonpress.com We are a very small school >with a limited budget

>
I

↑ Index

106. Mark Weiss
Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
Wed 22 Jun 2011

It's a question of scale. Small presses have a hard time selling directly because of personnel limitations at libraries. It's must more cost effective for the librarian to go through an SPD catalogue and check off what he wants--one-stop shopping.

-----Original Message-----
>From: "Harrington, Joseph" <[redacted]>
>Sent: Jun 21, 2011 10:58 AM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
>
>I've been trying to get my library to purchase small print lit mags, w/little headway. The problem is that, under state purchasing rules, the "unit" (library, in this case) must invoice the "vendor." As we know, w/little mags, you send a check for 15 bucks to John Doe editor who puts out the periodical from his apartment, and he sends you a copy. With the Institution, it has to be the other way around.
>
>Some little mags now distribute via Ingram's, etc., and those are the ones the library will buy.
>
>Joseph Harrington
>Associate Professor
>Director of Graduate Studies
>Dept. of English
>Univ. of Kansas
>
>_____
>From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Jesse Glass [[redacted]]
>Sent: Thursday, June 16, 2011 6:03 AM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
>

>Dear Doug and everyone. I don't know how many offers to donate copies >of ahadada books come my way--either in the form of people who wish to >be sent review copies that later show up in their on-line >stores--usually sans review--or in this manner. To everyone out >there--First please consider BUYING copies of so-called small press >books for your library, your writers conference, your etc. and etc..
>That would sorely help the future of new literature and alternative >publishing, and help us from going broke pissing postage money into the >wind. Or, perhaps you could at least cover postage?
>
>Thanks a lot.
>
>Jess
>
>On 6/13/2011, "Doug Holder" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
>>SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE (Click on title for link to >>collection)
>>
>>
>>
>>
>>BEVERLY, MASS.
>>
>>
>>Doug Holder, Adjunct Instructor of English and head of the office of the >>Ibbetson Street Press at Endicott College (Beverly, Mass.) has started a >>small press book collection with the help of Brian Courtemanche Director of >>Endicott's Halle Library, and his staff: Audrey Koke and Kristyl Roderiques.
>>Holder, a widely published poet, and arts editor of The Somerville News, has >>long run his own lauded independent small press and literary magazine
>>"Ibbetson Street" from his home in Somerville, Mass. Holder has long admired
>>the great small press collections at the University of Buffalo and Brown >>University, and has always wanted to bring books of poetry, novels, >>etc..from the vast and eclectic sea of independent presses from this country >>and abroad to Endicott College. The Library's website now has a link to the >>collection:
>>http://www.endicott.edu/Academics/AcadResources/~/media/LibraryMediaLi brary/PDFs/Ibbetson.ashx
>>and it will be updated twice a year. The books listed so far are only a >>small portion of the books received.

>>
>>
>>
>>
>>We hope to have an extensive collection and we would love for you to be part >>of it. Send your donations to :
>>
>>
>>Endicott College
>>Halle Library
>>ATTN: Brian Courtemanche
>>376 Hale St.
>>Beverly, Mass.
>>01915
>>
>>
>
>
>

↑ Index

107. Michael Dylan Welch

Nominate the Next American Haiku Archives Honorary Curator

Wed 22 Jun 2011

Nominate the Next American Haiku Archives Honorary Curator

The advisory board for the American Haiku Archives (AHA) at the California State Library in Sacramento, California, wants your help in nominating an honorary curator for 2011-2012. The North American person you nominate must meet the guidelines listed at _http://www.americanhaikuarchives.org/curators/honorarycuratorscriteria.html_ (http://www.americanhaikuarchives.org/curators/honorarycuratorscriteria.html). Please send your nomination(s), including the person's name and one or two sentences saying why you think he or she deserves this honor, to [redacted]_ (mailto:[redacted]) . Deadline for nominations is June 30, 2011. If you have questions, please contact Michael Dylan Welch at [redacted]_ (mailto:[redacted]) .

Every July, in commemoration of the founding of the American Haiku Archives, the AHA advisory board appoints a prominent North American haiku poet, scholar, or translator to serve as honorary curator for one year. Our current curator is Gary Snyder, and past curators have included a who's who of haiku poets and translators -- see the list at _http://www.americanhaikuarchives.org/curators/honorarycurators.html_ (http://www.americanhaikuarchives.org/curators/honorarycurators.html) . Please send us your nominations. A final decision will be made by the AHA advisory board and announced in July 2011.

The American Haiku Archives is the official archive of the Haiku Society of America, and also welcomes haiku-related material from any other individual or organization, primarily in English. The archives is the world's largest haiku archives outside Japan.

↑ Index

108. Mark Young

Out from Otoliths: Kevin Opstedal's "Drainpipe Sessions"

Wed 22 Jun 2011

Drainpipe Sessions

Kevin Opstedal

44 pages

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9808785-4-7

$10.00 + p&h

URL: http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/drainpipe-sessions/15978079

Beneath the relentless surf ghetto aura that pervades these “Drainpipe Sessions” * *there is a place where nothing is revealed, acknowledged by the grace of having been there at all. It’s the catch & release method of poetic composition, the B-side of a once and future flashback, stubbornly adhering to a lyric drive where the measure is meant to be taken in a single breath. “If poetry is the Atlantis of the arts,” writes Noel Black, “then Kevin Opstedal can breathe under water, and each poem is a pair of shades for a beach blanket apocalypse.”

↑ Index

109. Paul Siegell

Ocean Vuong + Paul Siegell for Fox Chase Reading Series

Wed 22 Jun 2011

[06.26.11 @ 2pm] Fox Chase Reading Series presents The Featured Poets Reading at Ryerss Museum and Library (http://ryerssmuseum.org/). Join us for the poetry of Ocean Vuong and Paul Siegell, followed by an open mic.

Sunday, June 26 · 2:00pm - 3:30pm

Ryerss Museum and Library (Philly)
7370 Central Avenue
Philadelphia, PA

OCEAN VUONG is the author of Burnings (Sibling Rivalry Press, 2010). He emigrated to the U.S. from Viet Nam in 1990 at the age of one and is currently an undergraduate student at Brooklyn College, CUNY. His poems have been nominated for two Pushcart Prizes and appear in the Kartika Review, SOFTBLOW, Asian American Poetry, the Connecticut River Review, and Word Riot among others. He is also a volunteer writer and editor for the Vietnam Literature Project in an aspiration to support and promote Vietnamese authors and their work. He enjoys catching (and releasing) fireflies and practicing Zen meditation. Visit his blog at http://oceanvuong.blogspot.com/.

PAUL SIEGELL is the author of three books of poetry: wild life rifle fire (Otoliths Books, 2010), jambandbootleg (A-Head Publishing, 2009) and Poemergency Room (Otoliths Books, 2008). Paul is a senior editor at Painted Bride Quarterly, and has contributed to American Poetry Review, Black Warrior Review, Dark Sky Magazine, Rattle and many other fine journals. Kindly find more of Paul's work at "ReVeLeR @ eYeLeVeL" (http://paulsiegell.blogspot.com/).

↑ Index

110. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh

Books of Poetry For Review - Cartys Poetry Journal

Wed 22 Jun 2011

Poets seeking to have their books reviewed in the Cartys Poetry Journal are invited to submit a copy to us at the address below.

In keeping with our eco-freindly ethos, e-books are also welcomed, to this address.

CD's of readings are also welcome, and email us your website links if you want us to feature same.

Submissions as always are welcome, please indicate in the subject line which listserve you are replying from to help us see which ones are working, and which not and so forth!!! Email submissions to this address!!!

http://www.cartyspoetryjournal.com is the website of our ezine, with a forthcoming edition due inside the next week, delayed this time due to a late submission that is being translated from Lithuanian to English.

Feel free to share our site online!!!

Tomás

Thomas Carty, 13 Church Street, Tullamore, Co. Offaly

↑ Index

111. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh
Lishanu: journal of haiku in many languages
Wed 22 Jun 2011

---

http://lishanu.com/ has just published issue 2 of its ezine of Haiku in different languages from around the world.

The brainchild of Norman Darlington, submission guidelines are on the website as is the maden issue.

Tomás

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

↑ Index

112. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh
The Poetry Reading at Semple Stadium (Lapwing)
Wed 22 Jun 2011

The Poetry Reading at Semple Stadium (Lapwing) is the new book from Arthur Broomfeild, launched recently in Portlaoise, Ireland.

Copies can be got from him at:

If anyone wants to buy the book:

Dr Arthur Broomfield Poet,

Portlaoise

County Laois

enclosing 12 euro for p.p

Google Preview:
http://books.google.ie/books?
id=Fmrm2PM3vUYC&printsec=frontcover#v=onepage&q&f=false

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

↑ Index

113. Jesse Glass
Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
Wed 22 Jun 2011

Old fashioned? Have you checked the news lately, or does your maid do that for you since you're apparently a rich man who does not live in a world with a faltering economy. I've also noted that we've helped you become "widely published" and you can't cough up money to help us help you? Your school has a limited budget? I'd say most alternative publishers would say the same thing with a greater purchase on the word "truth". As Ben Franklin says "Fools give feasts and wise men eat them." I can't afford to be a fool and as for your being a wise man, I would suggest that you wise up and help the alternative press. Jess

On 6/20/2011, "Doug Holder" <[redacted]> wrote:

> OK you are old fashioned. I have donated many books to Buffalo, Brown, Yale through my small press http://ibbetsonpress.com We are a very small school with a limited budget

↑ Index

114. Jesse Glass
Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE
Wed 22 Jun 2011

Hi Joseph. First, bless you. I've dealt with universities in just a such a sitation as you describe and there's been no problem with paperwork, or purchasing. In addition, SPD does a great job of vending to universities. Please check out Ahadada Books there, Joseph, and consider adding our fine books and wonderful authors to your university's collection. Jess

On 6/21/2011, "Harrington, Joseph" <[redacted]> wrote:

> I've been trying to get my library to purchase small print lit mags, w/little headway. The problem is that, under state purchasing rules, the "unit" (library, in this case) must invoice the "vendor." As we know, w/little mags, you send a check for 15 bucks to John Doe editor who puts out the periodical from his apartment, and he sends you a copy. With the Institution, it has to be the other way around.

Some little mags now distribute via Ingram's, etc., and those are the ones the library will buy.

Joseph Harrington
Associate Professor
Director of Graduate Studies
Dept. of English
Univ. of Kansas

From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Jesse Glass [[redacted]]
Sent: Thursday, June 16, 2011 6:03 AM
To: [redacted]
Subject: Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE

Dear Doug and everyone. I don't know how many offers to donate copies of ahadada books come my way--either in the form of people who wish to be sent review copies that later show up in their on-line stores--usually sans review--or in this manner. To everyone out there--First please consider BUYING copies of so-called small press books for your library, your writers conference, your etc. and etc.. That would sorely help the future of new literature and alternative publishing, and help us from going broke pissing postage money into the wind. Or, perhaps you could at least cover postage?

Thanks a lot.

Jess

On 6/13/2011, "Doug Holder" <[redacted]> wrote:

SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE (Click on title for link to collection)

BEVERLY, MASS.

Doug Holder, Adjunct Instructor of English and head of the office of the Ibbetson Street Press at Endicott College (Beverly, Mass.) has started a small press book collection with the help of Brian Courtemanche Director of Endicott's Halle Library, and his staff: Audrey Koke and Kristyl Roderiques.

> Holder, a widely published poet, and arts editor of The Somerville News, has long run his own lauded independent small press and literary magazine "Ibbetson Street" from his home in Somerville, Mass. Holder has long admired the great small press collections at the University of Buffalo and Brown University, and has always wanted to bring books of poetry, novels, etc..from the vast and eclectic sea of independent presses from this country and abroad to Endicott College. The Library's website now has a link to the collection:
> http://www.endicott.edu/Academics/AcadResources/~/media/LibraryMediaLibrary/PDFs/Ibbetson.ashx
> and it will be updated twice a year. The books listed so far are only a small portion of the books received.
>
> We hope to have an extensive collection and we would love for you to be part of it. Send your donations to :
>
> Endicott College
> Halle Library
> ATTN: Brian Courtemanche
> 376 Hale St.
> Beverly, Mass.
> 01915

↑ Index

115. David Kirschenbaum

Boog City presents 1913 Press and Dorit and Friends

Wed 22 Jun 2011

please forward

Boog City presents

d.a. levy lives: celebrating the renegade press

1913 Press
(San Marcos, Calif.)

Tues., June 28, 6:00 p.m. sharp, free

ACA Galleries
529 W. 20th St., 5th Flr.
NYC

Event will be hosted by 1913 founder and editrice
Sandra Doller

Featuring readings from

Claire Donato
Ben Gocker
Lucy Ives
Jeff Johnson

and music from

Dorit and Friends

There will be wine, cheese, and crackers, too.

Curated and with an introduction by Boog City editor David Kirschenbaum

---

1913 Press
http://www.journal1913.org/

Founded in 2003 by l'editrice Sandra Doller, 1913 a journal of forms and 1913 Press are committed to publishing the baddest in poetry, poetics, prose, and their intersections with the arts of all forms in handsome book-as-art-objet fashion.

Claire Donato
http://www.somanytumbleweeds.com/

Claire Donato writes across genres; lives in Brooklyn; and has taught at Hunter College, The New School, Brown University, and 826 Valencia/ NYC. Recent poems have appeared or are forthcoming in Gulf Coast, Boston Review, Black Warrior Review, and Octopus. She holds an M.F.A. in literary arts from Brown University, where she received the John Hawkes Prize in Fiction. In August, she will be in residence at the Millay Colony for the Arts in Austerlitz, N.Y.

Dorit and Friends
http://www.doritworld.com

Dorit is a singer songwriter, actor and Middle Eastern Dancer. Also a very proud native New Yorker.

She is currently working on two different music projects. One is her debut solo album hopefully to be completed by August. The second is an E.P. for the hard rock band she is lead vocalist for. This acoustic show will feature original songs from both projects. Joining her will be Chris Medrano and James Gillespie.

Please check out her youtube video and original song tribute to her childhood hero Wonder Woman. And for more information and updates about both projects please visit the above url.

Ben Gocker

Ben Gocker was born in Rochester, N.Y. in 1979. He received an M.F.A. in poetry from the University of Iowa's Writers' Workshop. He lives in Bushwick and works for the Brooklyn Public Library.

Lucy Ives

Born in New York City, Lucy Ives is a graduate of Harvard University and of the Iowa Writers' Workshop. Her poems and criticism have appeared in 1913 a journal of forms, The Colorado Review, Fence, Ploughshares, Verse, n+1 online, and Wave Books' The Bedazzler. Ives is the author of a chapbook, My Thousand Novel (Cosa Nostra Editions) and is currently pursuing a Ph.D. in comparative literature at NYU. She lives in Bushwick with her husband, Ben Gocker, with whom she ran the reading series Poetry Time.

Jeff T. Johnson

Jeff T. Johnson's poetry is forthcoming or has appeared in 1913 a journal of forms, Boston Review, Slope, VOLT,Caketrain, and The Laurel Review, among other publications. He holds an M.F.A. in creative writing from The New School. He lives in Brooklyn, is the poetry editor at LIT, and is an editor at Dewclaw.

Directions:
C/E to 23rd St., 1/9 to 18th St.
Venue is bet. 10th and 11th avenues

Next event:

Tues. Aug. 9
Black Radish Books
http://journal1913.org/

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:

http://boogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

116. Micah Robbins

Sous Les Pavés IV

Wed 22 Jun 2011

Now Available: Sous Les Pavés IV, featuring work by

Brooks Johnson
Rodrigo Toscano
Emily Critchley
William Fuller
Linh Dinh
Roberto Harrison
John Beer
Tyrone Williams
Tim Atkins
j/j hastain
Jerome Rothenberg
Hoa Nguyen
Mary Burger
Sotere Torregian
The Rejection Group
Brenda Iijima
Micah Robbins
Edmond Caldwell
Frances Kruk
Warren Craghead

Sous Les Pavés is published quarterly, distributed by mailing list only, and funded by the generous donations of its readers. Although we've made it this far, we're in desperate need of additional funds, so please - if you read this publication and find it of value - consider helping keep Sous Les Pavés in print by donating today.

To join the mailing list & to donate, visit:
http://souslespavesonline.wordpress.com/

↑ Index

117. Micah Robbins
The Poetry Foundation on Sous Les Pavés
Wed 22 Jun 2011

The Poetry Foundation's Harriet blog recently looked at the latest issue of Sous Les Pavés. For their take on what we're up to, visit: http://www.poetryfoundation.org/harriet/2011/06/get-yer-sous-les-paves/

Yrs.

Micah Robbins

↑ Index

118. Nicholas Karavatos
on the HIP Stage at Hillbilly Hip, Topanga Canyon - Friday, July 1st ...
Thu 23 Jun 2011

Intermedia Spoken Word Performance on the HIP Stage at Hillbilly Hip

Friday, July 1 · 7:30pm

on the HIP Stage at Hillbilly Hip127 S. Topanga Canyon Blvd.Los Angeles, CA

NICHOLAS KARAVATOS is an Assistant Professor at the American University of Sharjah where he is the Creative Writing instructor in the Dept of English. Currently living near Dubai, United Arab Emirates, he is visiting the US this summer performing poetry in California, Hawaii, Oregon and Washington.

Nicholas Karavatos will be performing poems in spontaneous collaboration with electronica guitarist Jeff Kelley who processes pitched signals layering sound upon sounds in spontaneous collaboration with Nicholas Karavatos reciting his poems.

David Meltzer writes: “Nicholas Karavatos is a poet of great range and clarity. No Asylum is an amazing collectanea of smart sharp political poetry in tandem with astute and tender love lyrics. All of it voiced with an impressive singularity.”

From fireside folkie to electrified freak-out, JEFF KELLEY is an aural delight of eternal energy. As a songwriter who deconstructs the familiar, he delightfully transmits the commonplace into nonlinear expressions of everyday experiences.

On this night, though, JEFF KELLEY will be playing electronica guitar in spontaneous collaboration with NICHOLAS KARAVATOS, plugging into a Pod X3; in the effects loop of the X3 is Boss MT2; into Boss ME50; into DigiTech GNX 1; out of X3 into Akai HeadRush and a Line6 DM both used as phrase samplers each with a volume pedal.

These intermedia spoken word performances are the latest phase in an aural collaboration that dates from 1983.

http://nicholaskaravatos.tumblr.com/ and http://nicholaskaravatos.blogspot.com/

... and then ... more ... without delay ...

The Porch Girls

http://www.facebook.com/pages/The-Porch-Girls/169019197930

THE PORCH GIRLS came about by a gradual and destined evolution and our common love of roots & folk music. Dana Wood & Dina Fabroni would play the afternoons away on our porches, in Topanga Canyon. Later, Hyla Douglas joined with her gorgeous harmonies and rhythm guitar, gently holding down the 3rd corner of the vocal triangle. Thanks to all the exceptional players who have been lending their talents to the music! We will have Jon Shea shining on guitar with us on July 1st. The Porch Girls are currently making their first record at LARS in Hollywood. Keep your eyes open for CD release in 2011.

Jim Crawford and Friends

http://www.facebook.com/profile.php?id=100000457215481

JIM CRAWFORD AND FRIENDS have been busy peforming many benefit concerts including Progressive Democrat fundraiser with Congresswoman Maxine Waters, Lila Garrett of KPFK and Jodi Evans, Co-founder of Code Pink who were honored for their very hard work; Hopi Days at Will Geer Theatricum Botanicum, and the Topanga Peace Alliance annual party. The band culminated several benefit events with "Safety Harbor Kids" band in Malibu. Jim's smoking blues rock is accentuated by several exceptional instrumentalists and vocalists. Look for the new CD to be released later this summer.

Nicholas Karavatos
Dept of Language & Literature
American University of Sharjah
PO Box 26666
Sharjah
United Arab Emirates

↑ Index

119. Rob McLennan

Robert Kroetsch (June 26, 1927-June 21, 2011)

Thu 23 Jun 2011

---

an obituary, a small tribute;

http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/2011/06/robert-kroetsch-june-26-1927-june-21.html

rob

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

120. Maxine Chernoff

new issue of new american writing

Thu 23 Jun 2011

ISSUE #29 of New American Writing, our 25th anniversary issue, and our 40th year of publishing OINK! (until 1985) and New American Writing since 1986. Orderr through CCNOW or by sending a check for $15 (this issue) or $36 (three issues) to NAW, 369 Molino Avenue, Mill Valley CA 94941.

In this issue, cover by Anna Gaskell, (untitled #2, wonder):

Swenson, Joron, Revell, Ramke, Shurin, Tardos, Eshleman, Equi, Waldrep, Mullen, Lease, de la Perriere, Schultz, Olson, Turcot, Gagnon, S. Savage, LaFleur, Avasilichioaei, Neveu, Lussier, A. Carr, Farah, Canty, Ruiz, Garthe, Wilkinson, K. Wagner, Turcotte, Carr, Mutschlecner, Kelsey, Hogue, Potts, Latta, Irwin, McKinney, Coulton, Loden, Kocot, Bendall, Platt, J. Wagner, Pethybridge, Lewis,. Ducharme, Clements, Wickswo, Norton, Caspers, Schultz, McSweeney, Miller, Tomash, Molinary, Bellflower, Martinez, Heide, Frym, Dailey, Kostelanetz, Tu, Steward, Maxwell, Winter, Laidlaw, Rebele, Terris, Dentz, Bentley. Translations by Luong and Moorhead. 198 pages.

↑ Index

121. Nicholas Karavatos

at the PondWater Society in Covina, CA on Saturday, July 2nd ...

Fri 24 Jun 2011

Nicholas Karavatos, Charles Ardinger, Summer Stratton & DAISY CHAIN!

Saturday, July 2 · 4:00pm - 7:00pm

PondWater Society16504 E. Masline St.Covina, CA 91722

This looks to be the wildest PondWater event in the history of PondWater events. Charles will be wowing us with his latest epic, Nicholas is here from Dubai and he’s going to romance us with poetry and a serious beat. Summer has promised to provide a fantastic and highly amusing divertissement and then we can all dance like the wanton creatures that we are to Daisy Chain! Somewhere in this mix we'll have a fun Gourmet Hot Dog Bar, which was the brilliant idea of Todd Kraus.

If you need more details, directions, or suggestions, you can find all of that on the Info page for PondWater (http://www.facebook.com/pages/PondWater/169019323137990?sk=info) or check out http://www.PondWaterSociety.com/ . Come over!

And now I will give you over to our July artists…

NICHOLAS KARAVATOS is an Assistant Professor at the American University of Sharjah where he is the Creative Writing instructor in the Dept of English. Currently living near Dubai, United Arab Emirates, he is visiting the US this summer presenting intermedia spoken word performances in California, Hawaii, Oregon and Washington. Nicholas will be performing in spontaneous collaboration with electronica guitarist Jeff Kelley who processes his pitched signals layering sound upon sounds in spontaneous collaboration with Nicholas Karavatos reciting his poems.

David Meltzer writes "Nicholas Karavatos is a poet of great range and clarity. No Asylum is an amazing collectanea of smart sharp political poetry in tandem with astute and tender love lyrics. All of it voiced with an impressive singularity."

From fireside folkie to electrified freak-out, JEFF KELLEY is an aural delight of eternal energy. As a songwriter who deconstructs the familiar, he delightfully transmits the commonplace into nonlinear expressions of everyday experiences. On this night, though, JEFF KELLEY will be playing electronica guitar in spontaneous collaboration with NICHOLAS KARAVATOS, plugging into a Pod X3; in the effects loop of the X3 is Boss MT2; into Boss ME50; into DigiTech GNX 1; out of X3 into Akai HeadRush and a Line6 DM both used as phrase samplers each with a volume pedal.

These intermedia spoken word performances are the latest phase in an aural collaboration that dates from 1983.

http://nicholaskaravatos.tumblr.com/
http://nicholaskaravatos.blogspot.com/

CHARLES ARDINGER Charles Ardinger carries a Masters degree from Cal State Fullerton but hopes you won't hold that against him. He's been working at poetry for the last fifteen years or so (having published six or seven chapbooks and appeared in such prestigious publications as Blue Satellite, Speer Review, and Daniel McGinn's Poker Poems) and currently makes his living as a freelance writing tutor who would love for you to hire him. He lives happily in Huntington Beach with his wife and their roommate.

SUMMER STRATTON This is My second time performing at Pondwater and I am thrilled to share an unusual monologue from the play “Dog sees God.” I would like to thank the Baines Family for their encouragement and support. I hope everyone will enjoy!

DAISY CHAIN Like The Clash, none of the members of Daisy Chain have ever been arrested for crimes they didn’t commit. And much like U2 and The Earwigs, none of the members of Daisy Chain had ever played an instrument before joining the band. We were just a bunch of silly suburban mom’s making the most of mid-life crisis. Side by side. BFF’s. You Go, Girl. Woo Hoo. We became a Milf and cookies gone loco support and shenanigan-management system. We enlisted the amazingly talented and easy on the eyes band coach, Dylan Gilbert, to teach us how to play some songs. Three years later we are more passionate than ever. Still practicing twice a week in the same Laguna Niguel Living room. Writing songs, learning covers, drinking beer, disturbing the peace, sweet-talking the police, soothing irate neighbors, commiserating over kids and husbands, homeschooling, carpooling, field tripping and dancing our asses off. And no, we can’t turn down.

Nicholas Karavatos
Dept of Language & Literature
American University of Sharjah
PO Box 26666
Sharjah
United Arab Emirates

↑ Index

122. Jeff Davis
Robert Creeley on Black Mountain College
Fri 24 Jun 2011

When Martin Duberman was collecting materials for his groundbreaking book on Black Mountain College in the late 1960s, he asked Robert Creeley to provide him with an interview. Creeley, then teaching at SUNY Buffalo, sat down with a tape recorder and did just that. For years, the tape remained in the vaults of the NC Division of Archives and History, which now houses Duberman's Black Mountain materials. While going through other material from the college last summer, I came across the collection's inventory, and decided to see whether the recording might, after all these years, be rescued from obscure storage. Penelope Creeley kindly wrote the folks at the Archives giving her blessing, and in reasonably short order they provided a digital transcription of the full interview. It was great to hear.

And now you can hear it, too. It's featured on Wordplay this week, and you can stream it from the Wordplay Show page at AshevilleFM.org: http://www.ashevillefm.org/wordplay

It'll remain on the server for several more weeks, though another show will replace it in the stream next Monday. I'll get back with a link to the mp3 file then.

Enjoy,

Jeff Davis

On the web at http://naturespoetry.blogspot.com

↑ Index

123. Nicholas Karavatos
@ Bird & Beckett in San Francisco on Sun, July 3rd at 3pm ...
Sat 25 Jun 2011

Intermedia Spoken Word Performance

Sunday, July 3 · 3:00pm - 3:30pm

Bird & Beckett Books & Records653 Chenery St.San Francisco, CA

NICHOLAS KARAVATOS is an Assistant Professor at the American University of Sharjah where he is the Creative Writing instructor in the Dept of English. Currently living near Dubai, United Arab Emirates, he is visiting the US this summer performing poetry in California, Hawaii, Oregon and Washington.

Nicholas Karavatos will be performing poems in spontaneous collaboration with electronica guitarist Jeff Kelley who processes pitched signals layering sound upon sounds in spontaneous collaboration with Nicholas Karavatos reciting his poems.

David Meltzer writes “Nicholas Karavatos is a poet of great range and clarity. No Asylum is an amazing collectanea of smart sharp political poetry in tandem with astute and tender love lyrics. All of it voiced with an impressive singularity.”

From fireside folkie to electrified freak-out, JEFF KELLEY is an aural delight of eternal energy. As a songwriter who deconstructs the familiar, he delightfully transmits the commonplace into nonlinear expressions of everyday experiences.

This afternoon, though, JEFF KELLEY will be playing electronica guitar in spontaneous collaboration with NICHOLAS KARAVATOS, plugging into a Pod X3; in the effects loop of the X3 is Boss MT2; into Boss ME50; into DigiTech GNX 1; out of X3 into Akai HeadRush and a Line6 DM both used as phrase samplers each with a volume pedal.

These intermedia spoken word performances are the latest phase in an aural collaboration that dates from 1983.

http://nicholaskaravatos.tumblr.com/
http://nicholaskaravatos.blogspot.com/

(If they set-up early enough then Jeff will play some songs, too)

Nicholas Karavatos
Dept of Language & Literature
American University of Sharjah
PO Box 26666
Sharjah
United Arab Emirates

↑ Index

124. Jeffrey Side
Negative review of "Cyclones in High Northern Latitudes" in Jacket2
Sat 25 Jun 2011

There is a negative review of â€œCyclones in High Northern Latitudes" (a long poem by Jake Berry and myself) in Jacket2. I donâ€™t mind the review, as I am fairly detached from the poetry I write. The only quibble I have with it is that a very unflattering photo of me has been used to go with it. My hope is that this photo is replaced at some stage with a better one. Here is the review:

â€˜Taking the Concept of Meaning-Making by Storm: A Review of â€œCyclones in High Northern Latitudes"â€™ by Jacquilyn Weeks.

http://jacket2.org/reviews/taking-concept-meaning-making-storm

Bill Lavender, who published the book, has allowed me to quote his response to the review. He writes:

"There is a lot to argue with in this review. It's weird how it approaches the real weaknesses of the poem and even analyzes individual points quite succinctly and yet, in the end, embraces the very banality it accuses the poem of. In a review that counts the number of personal pronouns in the text, the final judgement boils down to 'I didn't like Cyclones.'

What pertains here, finally, is a very naive attitude toward poetic discourse and the sources of poetic texts. Jacquilyn Weeks accurately counts the pronouns in the poem, but fails to count them in the review. Which is to say she holds an ostensible (and quite distant) ego responsible in the first text while she absolves the very real (and close) ego in the second. But the problem is that the pronouns of the poem are discursive (meaning, they arise from the insistence of language itself, from the text as discourse) while the pronouns of the review are forced, egocentric, paranoid--exactly what she is (quite mistakenly) criticizing about the poem.

I'll illustrate this with a very simple point, the review's inaccuracy at its crucial point of judgement:

â€˜The value of any texts' aesthetic to an individual reader is in what the reader chooses (and is able) to connect with in any given moment. Which is to say that I'm glad I read it, but I didn't like Cyclones. Chris Mansel, Matt Hill, and Bill Lavender loved it.â€™

The footnote refers us only to Jake Berry's blog, where, we are assured, there are "quotes available." Please, (you) reader, go to Berry's blog and find the quote that says Bill Lavender loved it.

For I never said I loved this poem. When I was a teenager, I loved Keats, and I loved the bartender at the corner bar. But I never loved this poem. In fact, I hated it, and still do. I hate it because it proves, quite decisively, that neither readers nor writers make meaning; meaning is made in the language, by the anonymous force that puts pronouns in our mouths as the priest lays a wafer on the tongue. By the oracular accumulation of a thousand generations, the discourse that both suffocates and engenders meaning.

I still love Keats, just like I love James Wright's cute little ponies. And I hate Cyclones because it has absolutely nothing to do with that neo-romantic aesthetic which bourgeois feminism seems to have been reduced to."

↑ Index

125. Jeff Davis
Re: Robert Creeley on Black Mountain College
Sat 25 Jun 2011

Here's the link to the audio file:
http://stream.ashevillefm.org/afm-word-play-06192011.mp3

It'll be up for several weeks, so give it a listen while you can.

Thanks,

Jeff

On the web at http://naturespoetry.blogspot.com

On Fri, Jun 24, 2011 at 5:06 PM, Jeff Davis <[redacted]> wrote:
> When Martin Duberman was collecting materials for his groundbreaking > book on Black Mountain College in the late 1960s, he asked Robert > Creeley to provide him with an interview. Creeley, then teaching at > SUNY Buffalo, sat down with a tape recorder and did just that. For > years, the tape remained in the vaults of the NC Division of Archives > and History, which now houses Duberman's Black Mountain materials.

> While going through other material from the college last summer, I > came across the collection's inventory, and decided to see whether the > recording might, after all these years, be rescued from obscure > storage. Penelope Creeley kindly wrote the folks at the Archives > giving her blessing, and in reasonably short order they provided a > digital transcription of the full interview. It was great to hear.
>
> And now you can hear it, too. It's featured on Wordplay this week, and > you can stream it from the Wordplay Show page at AshevilleFM.org:
> http://www.ashevillefm.org/wordplay
>
> It'll remain on the server for several more weeks, though another show > will replace it in the stream next Monday. I'll get back with a link > to the mp3 file then.
>
> Enjoy,
>
> Jeff Davis
>
> On the web at http://naturespoetry.blogspot.com
>

↑ Index

126. Adam Fieled

New on Adam Fieled's Fair Game

Sat 25 Jun 2011

Four new pieces on Adam Fieled's Fair Game:

"Face the Strange: What was Classic Rock Radio?"
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/face-strange-what-was-classic-rock.html

"Thank You Fiends: Big Star's Third/Sister Lovers"
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/thank-you-fiends-big-stars-thirdsister.html

"What is the rock master narrative?"
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/what-is-rock-master-narrative.html

"Folkways: Rock Myths"
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/folkways-rock-myths.html

Hope you like.
Thanks,
Adam

↑ Index

127. Alan Sondheim

Evental Aesthetics: Call for Submissions

Sun 26 Jun 2011

Call for Submissions

Evental Aesthetics Vol 1. No. 1 . Hegelian Topics in Aesthetics

http://eventalaesthetics.net

In an essay on Hegel's aesthetics, Paul De Man quips, .Whether we know it, or like it, or not, most of us are Hegelians and quite orthodox ones at that.. But what does it mean today to be a Hegelian within an environment in which criticism has already deconstructed the institutions and values that make the concept of art possible, and in which new art forms cast into doubt the very ontology of art?

The inaugural issue of Evental Aesthetics begins with the premise that Hegelian aesthetics are not only relevant but indispensable for making sense of today.s art and art criticism. We therefore welcome essays that attend both to Hegel's writings and to recent writers (for example, but not limited to, Badiou, Malabou, and Vattimo) who have blazed new trails within Hegelian discourse. We seek not hagiography but incisive, thoughtful reflections - critical or favorable - on Hegel's legacy.

For Articles, suggested angles of approach include:

Hegel's thoughts on a specific form of art (music, architecture, painting, poetry, etc.)
Hegel and abstract art
the 'end' of art
natural beauty as opposed to that of art
the aesthetics of and in Hegel's logic and phenomenology the relationship between art, religion, and philosophy relationships between Hegel's aesthetic theory and earlier or more recent theories the pertinence of Hegel's thought to particular artworks.
Other ideas concerning Hegel's relationship with aesthetics are also welcome.

Authors of Articles should first submit an abstract, no longer than 500 words, outlining the aims and critical methodologies for the article. The editorial board will review abstracts and extend invitations to selected authors to submit full-length articles (4,000-10,000 words). Invitation to submit is not a guarantee of publication.

Collisions for this issue may consist of:

Book reviews, addressing new translations of Hegel or new, original monographs on Hegel and/or aesthetics
Reactions to artworks that may suggest Hegelian themes.
These brief responses may be between 1,000 and 2,000 words. Abstracts for Collisions are not required.

Commentaries should address the articles published in this issue. We will begin calling for commentaries after the articles have been selected.

Be sure to review our submission requirements, copyright policy, and review procedures. Note that there are separate requirements for each type of submission. Essays that do not meet these requirements will not be considered.

Please send your submissions electronically, double-spaced in a legible font, in accordance with The Chicago Manual of Style (footnotes, please). We welcome either American or British spelling provided the submission remains consistent throughout. Save your submission as a Word .doc file . not .docx. (Word 2007 users, please use your 'Save As Word 97-2003 (Compatibility Mode)' function.) Below the title of your document, please include at least 5 keywords that may be used as search terms.

DEADLINES:

Email your abstract or Collision to eventalaesthetics . at . gmail . dot . com, by 1 August , 2011. Authors invited to submit complete articles will be asked to do so by 1 October, 2011.

↑ Index

128. David Kirschenbaum

Save the Dates: 7/29-31 Boston Poetry Marathon & BBQ

Mon 27 Jun 2011

please forward

Save the Dates:

A Boston Poetry Marathon & BBQ

A Summer Poetry Marathon
featuring 88 local and visiting poets
reading for 8 minutes apiece
Admission is free but the hat will be
be passed

Friday 7/29, 7:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m.
Saturday 7/30, 1:00 p.m.-10:30 p.m.
Sunday 7/31, 1:00 p.m.-5:00 p.m.

OUTPOST 186
186 1/2 Hampshire St., Inman Square, Cambridge

Friday 7/29

7:00 Filip Marinovich
7:08 Bridget Madden
7:16 Kythe Heller
7:24 Michael Carr
7:32 Danielle Georges
7:40 Jennifer Tamayo
7:48 Arto Vaun
break
8:04 Cheryl Clark Vermeulen
8:12 John Mulrooney
8:20 David Rivard
8:28 Sarah Dowling
8:36 Lori Lubeski
8:44 Jen Hyde
8:52 Ryan Gallagher
break
9:08 Arda Collins
9:16 Thom Donovan
9:24 Dorothea Lasky
9:32 Geoff Olson
9:40 Mike County
9:48 Derek Fenner

Saturday 7/30

1:00 Ish Klein
1:08 Greg Purcell
1:16 Anna Ross
1:24 Debrah Morkun
1:32 Carlos Soto Roman
1:40 Joel Sloman

break
1:56 Chris Rizzo
2:04 Jonathan Skinner
2:12 Whit Griffin
2:20 Frank Montesonti
2:28 Richard Deming
2:36 Nancy Kuhl
break
2:52 Ken Walker
3:00 Patrick Lucy
3:08 Magus Magnus
3:16 Jessica Bozek
3:24 Cory Ericson
3:32 Tony Mancus
break
3:48 Kevin Gallagher
3:56 Ted Dodson
4:04 Ryan Murphy
4:12 Patrick Doud
4:20 Jenn McCreary
4:28 Chris McCreary
break
4:44 Lewis Freedman
4:56 N.F. Huth
5:04 Aaron Tieger
5:12 Suzanne Mercury
5:28 Michael Peters
5:36 Geof Huth
break

7:00 Michael Franco
7:08 N. Marie Wallace
7:16 Brett Price
7:24 Jessica Fiorini
7:32 Will Edmiston
7:40 Kimberly Ann Southwick
7:48 Tracey McTague
break
8:04 John Coletti
8:12 Dana Ward
8:20 Mairead Byrne
8:28 Jess Mynes

8:36 Andrew Hughes
8:44 Arlo Quint
8:52 TBA
break
9:08 Meredith Walters
9:16 Corina Copp
9:24 Christina Strong
9:32 Mitch Highfill
9:40 Macgregor Card
9:48 Jacqueline Waters
9:56 Edmund Berrigan
break
10:10 Mark Lamoureux
10:18 Joe Elliot
10:26 Douglas Rothschild

Sunday 7/31

1:00 Jim Behrle
1:08 Michelle Taransky
1:16 Ben McFall
1:24 Amanda Cook
1:32 Ben Mazer
1:40 Meg Barboza
1:48 Fred Marchant
break
2:04 Gerrit Lansing
2:12 Jim Dunn
2:20 Kim Lyons
2:28 Andi Werblin
2:36 James Cook
2:44 Ken Walker
2:52 Susanna Gardner
break
3:08 Matvei Yankelevich
3:16 Anne Shaw
3:24 Roz Zimmerman
3:32 Ruth Lepson
3:40 David Kirschenbaum
3:48 Sean Cole

Organized by Jim Behrle, Michael Carr,
David Kirschenbaum, John Mulrooney, and Aaron Tieger

Schedule updates are available at http://bostonpoetrymarathon.blogspot.com/
For more info contact: [redacted]
--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://boogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

129. sandra de 1913

1913 @ Boog City NYC Tuesday 6/28!

Mon 27 Jun 2011

Boog City presents d.a. levy lives: celebrating the renegade press…

1913 Press

6pm Tuesday June 28 @ ACA Galleries, 529 West 20th Street, 5th Floor, New York, NY 10011

FREE!

Event will be hosted by 1913 founder & editrice Sandra Doller

Featuring readings from:
Claire Donato
Ben Gocker
Lucy Ives
Jeff Johnson

& music from
Dorit and Friends

There will be wine, cheese, and crackers, too.

Curated and with an introduction by Boog City editor David Kirschenbaum

---

1913 Press
http://www.journal1913.org/

Founded in 2003 by l'editrice Sandra Doller, 1913 a journal of forms and 1913 Press are committed to publishing the baddest in poetry, poetics, prose, and their intersections with the arts of all forms in handsome book-as-art-objet fashion.

Claire Donato
http://www.somanytumbleweeds.com/

Claire Donato writes across genres; lives in Brooklyn; and has taught at Hunter College, The New School, Brown University, and 826 Valencia/NYC. Recent poems have appeared or are forthcoming in Gulf Coast, Boston Review, Black Warrior Review, and Octopus. She holds an M.F.A. in literary arts from Brown University, where she received the John Hawkes Prize in Fiction. In August, she will be in residence at the Millay Colony for the Arts in Austerlitz, N.Y.

Dorit and Friends
http://www.doritworld.com/

Dorit is a singer songwriter, actor and Middle Eastern Dancer. Also a very proud native New Yorker.

She is currently working on two different music projects. One is her debut solo album hopefully to be completed by August. The second is an E.P. for the hard rock band she is lead vocalist for. This acoustic show will feature original songs from both projects. Joining her will be Chris Medrano and James Gillespie.

Please check out her youtube video and original song tribute to her childhood hero Wonder Woman. And for more information and updates about both projects please visit the above url.

Ben Gocker

Ben Gocker was born in Rochester, N.Y. in 1979. He received an M.F.A. in poetry from the University of Iowa's Writers' Workshop. He lives in Bushwick and works for the Brooklyn Public Library.

Lucy Ives

Born in New York City, Lucy Ives is a graduate of Harvard University and of the Iowa Writers' Workshop. Her poems and criticism have appeared in 1913 a journal of forms, The Colorado Review, Fence, Ploughshares, Verse, n+1 online, and Wave Books' The Bedazzler. Ives is the author of a chapbook, My Thousand Novel (Cosa Nostra Editions) and is currently pursuing a Ph.D. in comparative literature at NYU. She lives in Bushwick with her husband, Ben Gocker, with whom she ran the reading series Poetry Time.

Jeff T. Johnson

Jeff T. Johnson’s poetry is forthcoming or has appeared in 1913 a journal of forms, Boston Review, Slope, VOLT,Caketrain, and The Laurel Review, among other publications. He holds an M.F.A. in creative writing from The New School. He lives in Brooklyn, is the poetry editor at LIT, and is an editor at Dewclaw.

Directions:
C/E to 23rd St., 1/9 to 18th St.
Venue is bet. 10th and 11th avenues

--
sandra doller, founder & editrice de 1913
*
1913 a journal of forms is reading fr Issue 6! June 15-September 15:
http://www.journal1913.org/submissions<http://www.1913press.org/submissions>
*
NEW! from 1913:
1913 a journal of forms, Issue 5
"Home/Birth: A Poemic" by Arielle Greenberg & Rachel Zucker
"Wonderbender" by Diane Wald
"READ 2" 1913's annual translation anthology from the Tamaas seminars in Paris
http://www.journal1913.org
*
Forthcoming from 1913:
"Hg-the liquid" by Ward Tietz
Two collaborations by Mendi+Keith Obadike
"The Transfer Tree" by Karena Youtz
"Conversities" by Dan Beachy-Quick & Srikanth Reddy
http://www.1913press.org
*
Find 1913 on Facebook & Twitter...really.

http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=102250266481699

http://twitter.com/#!/1913Press
*
& Le new blog:
http://1913press.blogspot.com/

<http://1913press.blogspot.com/>

--
sandra doller, founder & editrice de 1913
*
1913 a journal of forms is reading fr Issue 6! June 15-September 15:
http://www.journal1913.org/submissions<http://www.1913press.org/submissions>
*
NEW! from 1913:
1913 a journal of forms, Issue 5
"Home/Birth: A Poemic" by Arielle Greenberg & Rachel Zucker
"Wonderbender" by Diane Wald
"READ 2" 1913's annual translation anthology from the Tamaas seminars in Paris
http://www.journal1913.org
*
Forthcoming from 1913:
"Hg-the liquid" by Ward Tietz
Two collaborations by Mendi+Keith Obadike
"The Transfer Tree" by Karena Youtz
"Conversities" by Dan Beachy-Quick & Srikanth Reddy
http://www.1913press.org
*
Find 1913 on Facebook & Twitter...really.

http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=102250266481699

http://twitter.com/#!/1913Press
*
& Le new blog:
http://1913press.blogspot.com/

<http://1913press.blogspot.com/>

↑ Index

130. Jordan Stempleman
(un)seen and (un)heard
Mon 27 Jun 2011

(un)seen and (un)heard:

http://www.soft-spot.net/unseen/unseen_statement.html
Featuring writing by: Ryan MacDonald,Mark Leidner, Jordan Stempleman, Ben Estes, Ben Kopel, Matthew Suss, Amy Turn Sharp, Melissa Broder, Mike Topp, Sommer Browning, Rachel B. Glaser, Sara Majka, and Emily Hunt.
Responding to the work of the following artists: Yochai Matos, Laurie Kang, Brendan George Ko, Nathalie Chikhi, Francois Trezin, Jason Demarte, Jesse Hlebo, Fenk Zhang, Joel Whitaker, Christina Leung, William Green, and Juliao Sarmento.

↑ Index

131. Bonnie MacAllister

Chestnut Hill Book Fair Workshop

Mon 27 Jun 2011

Please consider spending 90 minutes deconstructing your poetry and performance techniques!

Please feel free to pass this along to friends who may be interested!

This year's Chestnut Hill Book Fair<http://www.chestnuthillpa.com/events/chestnut-hill-book-festival> events will be presented at various venues including Stagecrafters Theater, 8130 Germantown Avenue and will showcase more than 50 locally and nationally recognized authors. Philadelphia Stories will be hosting the following Festival events for writers in the Bombay Room at the Chestnut Hill Hotel<http://www.chestnuthillhotel.com/> .

SUNDAY, JULY 10: Workshops & panels are $10 and open to the public.

10:30-12: Poetry Workshop: Deconstructed Full-Body Breath Verse

Poet and performer Bonnie MacAllister will present a multimedia approach to performance poetry.

Each participant will create a full body narrative and learn the techniques of storyboarding, kinesthetic, and deconstructed breath verse.

Bonnie MacAllister studied under Jacques Derrida, Helene Cixous, and Agnes Varda while at the Sorbonne and Paris VIII from 1997-1998. Her poetry is published and in permanent collections in Australia, UK, France, Uruguay, and Italy. She is a Fulbright-Hays recipient to Ethiopia and a Pushcart Prize nominee. MacAllister has staged her multimedia work at the Adrienne Theater, Shubin Theatre, and the Philadelphia Live Arts and Fringe Festival, the latest with Green Light Arts at the Plastic Club this September. She has performed at New York Foundation for the Arts, at Raandesk Gallery in New York, and she will stage original work in Los Angeles in 2012.

To register for this workshop: Reserve your spot today:
[redacted]
<https://www.google.com/reader/view/?tab=my>
For the full roster of workshops: http://www.philadelphiastories.org/

--
http://bonnie-macallister.blogspot.com/
http://www.etsy.com/shop/bonniemacallister76
http://bonniemacallister.com
--
Projects:
http://sheshouldhavewrittenit.tumblr.com (play)
http://certaincircuits.org (magazine)

↑ Index

132. Janet Holmes
Ahsahta Chapbook Contest deadline extended to July 4
Mon 27 Jun 2011

Extended by a long weekend!

$1,000 and publication for a 25-40 page chapbook
Cathy Wagner judges
Details at http://ahsahtapress.boisestate.edu/chapcontest.htm

Janet Holmes
http://ahsahtapress.boisestate.edu
.. ..
NEW FROM AHSAHTA PRESS:
UTOPIA MINUS by Susan Briante
LESSNESS by Brian Henry
http://ahsahtapress.boisestate.edu

On Sun, Jun 26, 2011 at 11:01 PM, POETICS automatic digest system <
[redacted]> wrote:

> There is 1 message totalling 35 lines in this issue.
>
> Topics of the day:
>
> 1. new issue of new american writing
>
> ---
>
> Date: Thu, 23 Jun 2011 13:26:35 -0700
> From: Maxine Chernoff <[redacted]>
> Subject: new issue of new american writing
>
> ISSUE #29 of New American Writing=2C our 25th anniversary issue=2C and our = > 40th year of publishing OINK! (until 1985) and New American Writing since

1=
986. Orderr through CCNOW or by sending a check for $15 (this issue) or $3= 6 (three issues) to NAW=2C 369 Molino Avenue=2C Mill Valley CA 94941.

In this issue=2C cover by Anna Gaskell=2C (untitled #2=2C wonder):

Swenson=2C Joron=2C Revell=2C Ramke=2C Shurin=2C Tardos=2C Eshleman=2C
Equi=
=2C Waldrep=2C Mullen=2C Lease=2C de la Perriere=2C Schultz=2C Olson=2C Tur= cot=2C Gagnon=2C S. Savage=2C LaFleur=2C Avasilichioaei=2C Neveu=2C Lussie=
r=2C A. Carr=2C Farah=2C Canty=2C Ruiz=2C Garthe=2C Wilkinson=2C K. Wagner=
=2C Turcotte=2C Carr=2C Mutschlecner=2C Kelsey=2C Hogue=2C Potts=2C Latta=
=2C Irwin=2C McKinney=2C Coulton=2C Loden=2C Kocot=2C Bendall=2C Platt=2C
J=
. Wagner=2C Pethybridge=2C Lewis=2C. Ducharme=2C Clements=2C Wickswo=2C
No= rton=2C Caspers=2C Schultz=2C McSweeney=2C Miller=2C Tomash=2C Molinary=2C
=
Bellflower=2C Martinez=2C Heide=2C Frym=2C Dailey=2C Kostelanetz=2C Tu=2C
S= teward=2C Maxwell=2C Winter=2C Laidlaw=2C Rebele=2C Terris=2C Dentz=2C Bent= ley. Translations by Luong and Moorhead. 198 pages.
=

End of POETICS Digest - 25 Jun 2011 to 26 Jun 2011 (#2011-103)
****

↑ Index

133. Jennifer Karmin
I Heart Woodland Pattern
Mon 27 Jun 2011

Woodland Pattern Book Center was founded as a non-profit organization in Milwaukee, Wisconsin's Riverwest neighborhood by Anne Kingsbury and Karl Gartung in 1979. The center houses a bookstore with over 25,000 small press titles, in addition to an art gallery where they present exhibitions, artist talks, readings, experimental films, concerts, and writing workshops.

http://www.woodlandpattern.org

Due to the state budget cuts in Wisconsin, Woodland Pattern needs to raise an additional $48,500 in less than seven months. This means that NOW is an excellent time to visit, shop, and make a donation.

Tired of seeing arts funding getting cut in your state? Here are some talking points for your legislators:

The arts are central to healthy communities.
â€¢ Stimulate economic and community development.
â€¢ Educate our children to succeed in school and beyond.
â€¢ Beautify our neighborhoods.
â€¢ Attract tourists and out-of-town visitors.
â€¢ Make our cities and towns attractive and vibrant places to live and work.
â€¢ Provide important social and creative outlets for all residents, including seniors, those with disabilities, children and adults.
â€¢ Bring people of diverse backgrounds together in productive and cooperative ways.
â€¢ People who are involved in the arts are also more civically engaged, they volunteer and they vote.

The arts build and sustain prosperity.
â€¢ Cities thrive, grow, attract and retain businesses when the arts are supported.
â€¢ Arts and creativity education is proven to keep students in school, increase high school graduation rates and prepare students for college and for the careers of the 21st century.
â€¢ The new economy (insert your economic system here) requires a workforce that will be highly disciplined, collaborative, innovative, imaginative, creative and focused. These are the traits the arts teach.

http://www.artsactionfund.org

↑ Index

134. Dan Coffey

Papers for the Border podcast #6 is now available...

Mon 27 Jun 2011

...in which you'll find improvisational "new music" group Hubbub, a noise/spoken word recording from Ecstasy Mule, Charlotte Moorman/Jackson Mac Low, and Amiri Baraka/Sun Ra!

http://papersftb.blogspot.com/

Enjoy?

↑ Index

@poetics

The UB Poetics Discussion Group

Archive of Electronic Correspondence

July 2011

124 messages · Tue 28 Jun 2011 – Sun 31 Jul 2011

July 2011 was the thinnest file of them all — one hundred and twenty-four messages — and it spent that scarcity on two forms of survival: the survival of women's voices in the record, and the survival of the small-press infrastructure that carries all of it. The list had shrunk almost to a whisper, and yet the whisper was about endurance, about the fragile channels through which uncommercial poetry reaches anyone at all. It was a month acutely aware of how easily the whole apparatus could simply stop.

The largest currents were feminist. A journal issued a call for women poets, and Anne Waldman's Feminafesto circulated anew — the manifesto for a poetics of the outrider, the woman writer refusing the inherited forms — the thinned room keeping alive the insistence that women's voices be gathered and named rather than left to the record's indifference. In a summer when the list itself could barely muster a hundred messages, the energy that remained went, tellingly, toward making sure women were counted in.

The quarrel was about the pipes. An open letter to Small Press Distribution took up the crisis of the organization that had long carried independent poetry to its readers — "You have long provided a valuable service", it began, before turning to the trouble — the fragile nonprofit machinery by which uncommercial books actually reach hands now visibly strained. It was infrastructure as the real subject: not the poems but the distribution, the unglamorous channels without which the poems reach no one.

Around the edges lay the month's scattered small keepings — a new online Pound resource, a notice from a long-running little magazine, a Scottish Gaelic poet remembered, a project to gather a hundred thousand recordings for change. Each was a thread of preservation, a refusal to let some fragile thing lapse, sent into a room almost too quiet to answer. It is a strange and moving thing to watch a listserv in its twilight spend its last reserves not on grand argument but on custodianship, as though the community had silently agreed that keeping the record intact mattered more, now, than being right about anything.

I have set July down exactly as the archive delivered it — the call for women poets and Waldman's Feminafesto, the open letter to Small Press Distribution, and the scattered acts of keeping — because it was the emptiest month in the entire run, and even at that vanishing point the list spent itself on survival: of women's voices, of the small-press channels, of the fragile record. A room reduced to a hundred and twenty-four messages that still uses them to insist women be counted and to defend the unglamorous pipes that carry independent poetry to its readers is a room that has understood, at its lowest, what actually needs protecting — not the arguments, which had drained away, but the infrastructure and the inclusion without which there would soon be nothing left to argue about.

— Kristen M. Fabians

Index

Writers, names mentioned, and concepts. Every number links to its message. 124 in all.

WRITERS

Alexander, Charles 40, 42, 47, 58, 86
Andrews, Jim 22, 63
Brink, Dean 18
Cain, Séamas 4, 5, 38
Casamassima, Christophe 49, 119
Coffey, Dan 61
Conrad, CA 85
Cárthaigh, Tomás Ó 34, 69, 76, 82, 84
Dalachinsky, Steve 74, 108
Daly, Catherine 43, 50, 52, 53
Damon, Maria 6, 7
Deed, Martha 19, 80
Dentz, Shira 103
Devineni, Ram 73
Dickey, Eric 87
Dorf, Carol 25
Earl, Amanda 116
Elshtain, Eric 32
Farrell, Michael 75, 96
Fieled, Adam 3, 28, 45, 89
Al Filreis 14
Garr, Megan M. 27
Glass, Dan 30
Glass, Jesse 26, 109, 117, 121
Hadbawnik, David 16
Healy, Randolph 9
Heller, Michael 100, 101
Holder, Doug 10
Hosea, Chris 12
Howard, Scott 112
Jarnot, Lisa 33
Johnson, Halvard 1, 13
Karmin, Jennifer 17, 55, 118
Katz, Adam 95
Kelder, Cralan 88
King, Amy 83, 93, 102
Kirschenbaum, David 23, 36, 113
Leaskou, Nicholas 68
Lepson, Ruth 2
Levato, Francesco 79
Marmer, Jake 111
Martin, Camille 54, 56, 57
McLennan, Rob 11, 15, 60, 66, 123
Melnicove, Mark 37
Morse, Jonathan 21, 41, 59, 64, 70, 122
Nelson, Paul 72
Oha, Obododimma 65
Owens, Richard 8
Poe, Deborah 106
Schwartz, Gerald 48
Side, Jeffrey 24, 31, 35, 51, 62, 91, 92, 98, 107, 114
Slaughter, William 67, 105, 120
Smith, Dale 97
Sondheim, Alan 20
Timmons, Mathew 110
Vincent, Stephen 39, 44
Weishaus, Joel 94
Weiss, Mark 77, 78
Weiss, Matthew 115
Wickens, Jessica 99
Wilcox, Dan 29, 46, 104
Young, Mark 71, 90, 124
}, { Brad Brace 81

NAMES MENTIONED

Abelson, Alex 36
Ackerman, Amanda 60
Adams, John 36
Alice, Mary 36, 113
Allegrezza, Bill 31
Allegrezza, William 31, 87
Allison, Dorothy 11
Amerika, Mark 120
Anderson, Erik 67, 113
Andre, Michael 36, 62, 113
Angelo, Michael 36
Arbor, Ann 36, 61
Armstrong, Steve 10, 11
Atlanta, Mark P. 36, 113
Austin, Geer 36, 113
Austin, Mary 23, 36, 102
Aydt, Rachel 36
Baldwin, James 10
Ballardini, Anny 124
Baratier, David 7, 113
Barth, John 14
Beckett, Tom 124
Beckman, Joshua 113
Bedient, Calvin 113
Behrle, Jim 2, 36
Benjamin, Walter 100, 101
Bennett, John M. 124
Benson, Cara 23, 36, 46, 106
Benson, Steve 36
Berger, Jonathan 36
Berkeley, Michael 39, 113
Berkson, Bill 100, 101
Berlin, Irving 55, 113
Berman, David 118
Bernard, Kenneth 110
Berrigan, Anselm 23

Berrigan, Edmund 2
Blake, William 36
Blonstein, Anne 36
Boat, Drunken 36, 55
Bogle, Ann 62
Borkhuis, Charles 23, 36
Bouchard, Dan 113
Boykoff, Jules 113
Bozek, Jessica 2
Bozicevic, Ana 93
BpNichol 36
Brandonisio, Michael 124
Brazil, David 36
Brennan, Joe 80
Brennan, Susan 73, 80
Bromige, David 7
Brown, Ann 113
Brown, James 36
Browning, Robert 113
Bruno, Franklin 36
Burke, Edmund 124
Burns, Robert 29, 46, 104
Burroughs, William S. 62
Buuck, David 113
Byrne, David 37
Byrne, Mairead 2
Byron, Philip 124
Card, Macgregor 2
Carlos, William 2, 90
Carr, Michael 2, 113
Carson, Margaret 5
Carter, Angela 20, 36
Catlin, Alan 104
Chace, Joel 36, 71
Chan, Jill 124
Chernoff, Maxine 103, 107, 113
Claire, Barbara 36, 110
Clark, Cheryl 2
Clark, Emilie 113
Clark, Tom 36
Clay, Steve 113
Clements, Brian 113
Cobb, Allison 113
Cohen, David 100, 101
Cole, Sean 2, 36
Coleman, Jennifer 113
Coletti, John 2, 113
Collins, Alison 36
Collins, Martha 2
Columbus, Christopher 113
Compton, Shanna 60
Connor, Bruce 36, 124
Conrad, Tony 85
Cook, Amanda 2
Cook, James 2
Cooper, Dennis 36
Copp, Corina 2
Cornish, Sam 10
County, Madison 5, 84
County, Mike 2
Covey, Bruce 23, 36, 102, 113
Cross, Michael 113
Cuomo, Dave 113
Curtis, Dana 110
Cyphers, Jeffrey 36
Davies, Kevin 36
Davis, Jordan 113
Davis, Martin 36, 113, 118
Deming, Alison 102
Deming, Richard 2
Dennis, Carl 113
Deutch, Amanda 106
Dewhurst, Robert 113
Dick, Jennifer K. 106
Dienstfrey, Patricia 113
Dixon, Nancy 36
Dodson, Ted 2
Doller, Sandra 113
Donato, Claire 36
Donovan, Thom 2
Doris, Stacy 71
Doud, Patrick 2
Dowling, Sarah 2
Drescher, Julia 113
Duncan, Robert 33, 36
Dunn, Jim 2
Durand, Marcella 36
Durbin, Kate 110
Durgin, Patrick 113
Edmond, Martin 16
Edwards, Joshua 113
Einhorn, Emily 36
Elena, Maria 102
Eli, Noah 113
Eliot, Joe 10
Elisa, Paula 124
Ellen, Mary 100, 101
Ellingham, Lew 44
Elliot, Joe 2, 36
Elliott, George 89
Ellis, Stephen 90
Emerson, Claudia 10
England, Amy 9, 36
Evans, Bill 10
Evans, Brett 36
Farr, Raymond 71, 124
Finch, Annie 16, 113
Finley, Karen 14
Fiorini, Jessica 2
Fishback, Dan 36
Fishman, Ellen 100, 101
Fitzgerald, Scott 36
Flynn, Albert 113
Foley, Brian 113

Foley, Patrick 117
Foster, Edward 113
Foster, Paul 36
Fox, Hugh 10
Fox, Skip 13, 109
France, Peter 9, 63
Franco, Michael 2
Freedman, Lewis 2
Freeland, Charles 124
Friedman, Dorothy 36
Fuchs, Greg 36, 106, 113
Fugate, Ethan 113
Fuhrman, Joanna 36
Gallagher, Kevin 2
Gallagher, Ryan 2
Gardner, David 113
Gardner, Janet 2, 106, 113
Garr, Megan M. 27
Garrison, Deborah 11
Gatza, Geoffrey 16, 113
Gelsinger, Eric 113
Genega, Paul 36
Giffin, Lawrence 36
Gilbert, Alan 12, 23, 36
Gilbert, Susan 12, 36, 110
Gilmore, Gary 2, 23, 36, 113
Ginsberg, Allen 39
Giorno, John 73, 80
Gladman, Renee 23
Goldberg, Ariel 68
Goldstein, Laura 55
Gomez, Audrey 118
Goodman, Craig 71
Gordon, Robert 113
Graham, Lea 38, 113
Gray, Stephanie 36
Greene, Graham 36
Gregory, Dick 113
Griffin, Tim 2
Grinnell, Tracy 36, 113
Halle, Steve 79
Hamilton, Robin 1, 124
Hamm, Christine 36
Hammond, Paul 113
Hart, Matt 113
Hartman, Charles O. 113
Hawkes, John 36
Hayden, Robert 10
Hejinian, Lyn 113
Heller, Mike 2, 100, 101
Heman, Bob 124
Henri, Charles 16
Henriksen, Matt 113
Hershon, Bob 113
Higginbotham, Keith 124
Highfill, Mitch 2, 36
Hill, Jennifer 36
Hill, Owen 103
Hinton, Laura 113
Hoffman, Cara 36
Holman, Bob 73, 80
Holmes, Janet 113
Hoover, Paul 113
Horning, Ron 36
House, Poets 36
Hughes, Andrew 2
Hughes, Langston 10
Hughes, Peter 36
Hunter, Carrie 36
Hunter, Robert 36, 124
Iijima, Brenda 16, 23, 36, 113
Indiana, Robert 36
Inman, Peter 2
Ireland, Lauren 5, 38, 76
Israel, David 89
Israeli, Henry 113
Jackson, Jesse 36
Jacobs, Jane 36
Jeanne, Sarah 16
Johnson, Henry 29, 46, 104
Johnson, Robert 1, 13, 36, 100, 101
Jonas, Steve 36
Jones, Jill 124
Joseph, Safdie 100, 101
Kafka, Franz 84
Kaplan, Josef 36
Katko, Justin 113
Kaufman, Erica 113
Kelly, Patrick 14
Kelly, Paul 14
Kelly, Robert 36
Kelsey, Karla 43, 61, 113
Ketch, Shannon 36
Kiely, Aaron 36, 102
Killian, Kevin 44, 103
Kirschenbaum, David A. 2, 23, 36, 113
Klein, Lucas 2, 23, 36
Koos, John 36
Kostelanetz, Richard 124
Krieger, Ben 36
Kroetsch, Robert 60, 66
Kuhl, Nancy 2
Kushner, Bill 73, 80
Lamoureux, Mark 2, 23, 36, 113
Landers, Susan 113
Lang, Eugene 36
Langer, Sam 124
Larkin, Maryrose 23, 36
Larsen, David 68
Lau, David 113
Lavender, Bill 35, 36
Lazer, Hank 35
Lederer, Katy 113
Leonard, Tom 36

Leong, Michael 36
Levin, Lynn 93
Levitsky, Rachel 113
Lewis, Bernard 64
Lilly, Ruth 35
Livingston, Reb 113
Lohmann, Sam 113
London, Frank 35, 36, 118
Lorber, Brendan 113
Lorca, Federico García 36
Lubeski, Lori 2
Luoma, Bill 36
Lurie, Bobbi 124
Lyons, Kim 2, 36
Machlin, Dan 113
Magee, Michael 113
Magi, Jill 113
Malcolm, Janet 10
Maldonado, Sheila 36
Mali, Elizabeth 104
Mancus, Tony 2
Mangold, Sarah 113
Mansfield, Charles 36
Marchant, Fred 2
Marie, Anne 2
Marks, Justin 113
Martinez, Michael 40
Martone, John 124
Mason, Janet 36
Masterson, Patrick 113
Maxwell, Andrew 113
Mayer, Jane 110
Maynard, Joe 113
Mazer, Ben 2
Mead, Taylor 73, 80
Mees, Amy 113
Meetze, James 113
Meirose, Jim 124
Meltzer, David 68
Melville, Nicky 36
Mercury, Suzanne 2
Meredith, William 2, 36
Mesmer, Sharon 36
Metras, Gary 46
Miki, Roy 60
Millar, Jay 113
Miller, Cynthia 40
Miller, Henry 36
Miller, Paul D. 124
Mingus, Charles 39
Miriam, Erica 60
Mitchell, Joan 110
Monroe, Harriet 36
Moore, Allison 123
Moore, Nathaniel G. 123
Moreland, Sean 11
Morgan, Robin 62, 124
Moriarty, Laura 50
Morris, Jason 36
Moschovakis, Anna 113
Moure, Erin 60
Mulrooney, John 2, 36
Murphy, Paul 110, 124
Murphy, Ryan 2, 113
Murphy, Sheila E. 124
Myles, Eileen 23, 58, 86
Nelson, Paul E. 72
Nester, Daniel 29
Newlove, John 11
Nguyen, Hoa 113
Nichols, Travis 36
Niss, Millie 19
Norton, John 36
Oak, Gwyn 113
Olson, Kirby 2
Oppen, George 100, 101
Opstedal, Kevin 124
Osman, Jena 85
Pacific, Asian 36
Parrish, Gary 113
Pearson, Ted 36
Pecqueur, Paul 36
Penn, Joanna 36
Perchik, Simon 113
Perry, David 110
Peters, Michael 2
Peters, Robert 16
Phillips, Beth 36
Piccinnini, Douglas 36
Pierce, Scott 113
Plath, Sylvia 36
Potter, Steve 113
Pound, Ezra 41, 52, 53
Prevallet, Kristen 23
Price, Brett 2, 36
Pringle, Kathryn 113
Professor, Kelly 14
Purcell, Greg 2, 36
Randall, Karen 10, 36
Reeck, Matt 36
Reed, Marthe 36, 60, 106
Remer, Justin 36
Rivard, David 2
Rivera, Alex 102
Rizzo, Chris 2, 113
Robbins, Bruce 16
Robbins, Micah 113
Robinson, Anthony 113
Robinson, Elizabeth 103
Rooney, Kathleen 124
Rosenthal, Sarah 68
Rothschild, Douglas 2, 36
Rowan, Lou 36
Rubin, Michael 36

Ruby, Michael 106
Ruiz, Mariana 113
Samuels, Lisa 124
Sanchez, Jorge 10
Sanders, Jay 36
Scalapino, Leslie 113
Schlesinger, Kyle 113
Schneiderman, Jason 118
Selby, Spencer 124
Seldess, Jesse 36, 113
Sendecki, Daniel 113
Shakespeare, William 36
Sherlock, Frank 90
Shields, David 1, 13
Shiroma, Jerrold 113
Shmailo, Larissa 114
Siegell, Paul 102
Silliman, Ron 14
Simon, Greg 36, 63
Simon, Toni 36
Simone, Frank 118
Sinatra, Frank 10, 36
Sinclair, John 64
Sirois, Justin 113
Skillings, Emily 36
Skinner, Jonathan 2, 113
Sky, Tarpaulin 36
Sloman, Joel 2
Smith, Harry 36, 38, 97
Smith, Rod 113
Snyder, Rick 36
Sonnenberg, Kerri 113
Spahr, Boyd 98
Spahr, Juliana 92, 98
Spicer, Jack 39, 44
Spicer, John 39, 44
Sprague, Jane 113
Squires, Geoffrey 9
Stanley, George 60
Stanley, Josh 16
Stannard, Martin 24
Statman, Mark 36
Stein, Gertrude 36
Stein, Leigh 36
Stengel, Jill 23, 36, 106, 113
Stroffolino, Chris 68
Sullivan, Andrew 36, 84, 106
Sullivan, Gary 113
Szymaszek, Stacy 113
Tabios, Eileen 113
Tamayo, Jennifer 2
Taransky, Michelle 2
Texas, Irving 36, 113
Thomas, Dylan 68, 109
Thompson, George 36, 106
Thorson, Maureen 113
Tieger, Aaron 2, 113
Toogood, Jason 113
Townsend, Cheryl 36
Turner, Victor 36, 113
Twemlow, Nick 113
Tzara, Tristan 62
Valle, Charles 113
Vengua, Jean 124
Vermont, Charlie 36
Veronica, Angela 102
Vogel, Aviva 36
Vollmer, Judith 7
Waber, Dan 113
Wagner, Mark 113
Waldman, Anne 40, 58, 86
Waldman, Ken 58
Waldor, Peter 113
Waldrop, Keith 113
Walker, Ken L. 102
Walker, Laura 2, 10
Walker, Mary 113
Wallace, Nicole 2, 36
Warsh, Lewis 113
Washington, George 29, 36, 46, 104, 105, 113
Waters, Jacqueline 2
Weber, Damian 36
Weinberger, Eliot 36
Weinstein, Eric 102
Weiss, Jason 115
White, Jared 102
Wieners, John 36
Wilder, Ian 36
Williams, Paul O. 36
Williamson, Lindz 60
Willis, Elizabeth 36
Wolach, David 36
Wolff, Christian 36
Wolff, Rebecca 36
Wright, C. D. 36
Wright, Richard 10
Yankelevich, Matvei 2, 36, 113
Yeh, James 102
Zimmerman, Dan 2
Zukofsky, Louis 111

CONCEPTS

9/11 36
Activism and protest 36, 79, 110, 119, 122
Aesthetics 36, 39
African American poetry 10, 36
Anthologies 7, 10, 36, 119
Appropriation 36, 103
Archives and libraries 5, 10, 36, 49, 76, 93, 94, 118, 119
Autobiography 10, 36, 62, 120
Beat generation 39
Beauty 71
Biography 7, 33

Black Mountain 36
Blogs 1, 2, 3, 8, 10, 11, 13, 15, 17, 18, 28, 30, 36, 38, 45, 55, 59, 60, 64, 66, 68, 85, 94, 109, 110, 112, 123, 124
Book announcements 8, 36, 38, 40, 42, 47, 55, 123
Bookstores 10, 15, 17, 36, 43, 61, 100, 101
Censorship 36
Cities 10, 23, 36, 113, 119
Class 91
Collage and montage 57, 62, 118
Conferences and festivals 5, 15, 23, 36, 55, 67, 73, 80, 102
Copyright and permissions 52, 53, 99
Craft 10, 28, 119
Dada 62
Digital archives 35, 36, 100, 101
Dreams 36, 62, 71
Ecology and ecopoetics 18, 113, 119
Editing 15, 36, 49, 60, 65, 76, 88, 96, 97, 99, 112
Ekphrasis 36
Electronic poetry and hypertext 36
Elegy 35, 36
Empire and imperialism 7, 40, 90
Epic 117, 118
Ethics 36
Experimental poetry 36, 87
Feminism 36, 40, 54
Film 36, 55, 73, 80, 90, 118
Formalism 69, 74, 78, 82
Free verse 69, 74, 78, 82
Gender 69, 74, 78, 82
Grants and funding 27, 35, 36, 55
Haiku 69, 74, 78, 81, 82
Ideology 10
Improvisation 36, 117
Indigenous and Native poetics 67, 75
Interviews 10, 35, 36, 68, 75, 92, 93, 98, 102, 103, 124
Israel and Palestine 89, 113
Jewish poetics 84
Letters and correspondence 36
List moderation 36
Little magazines 7, 8, 18, 34, 36, 55, 60, 67, 69, 74, 78, 82, 83, 84, 88, 96, 97, 99, 105, 112, 113, 115, 118, 120, 124
Lyric poetry 10, 35
Materiality of the text 71
MFA programs 36, 55, 67, 105
Modernism 41, 52, 53
Multiculturalism 36
Music and poetry 2, 4, 10, 11, 17, 23, 26, 36, 63, 71, 73, 80, 89, 100, 101, 110, 113, 118, 120
Nature 36, 56, 88, 96, 97
Obituary and memorial 39, 60
Objectivism 118
Performance and the poetry reading 5, 11, 17, 36, 38, 60, 93, 118, 119
Philosophy 36
Poet laureate 10
Poetics 35, 36, 42, 47, 67, 79, 97, 100, 101, 105, 112, 119, 120
Print vs. digital 7, 9, 10, 24, 31, 33, 36, 40, 42, 47, 50, 51, 58, 62, 84, 86, 91, 107, 114, 117
Prizes and awards 5, 7, 10, 11, 35, 36, 64, 66
Prose poem 7, 31, 36
Race and poetry 60
Reading announcements 5, 12, 93
Religion and the sacred 36
Representation 91
Reviewing and criticism 1, 19, 36, 37, 55, 56, 60, 63, 67, 79, 82, 84, 96, 99, 105, 112, 113, 120
Revision 94
Science 36, 62, 67, 88, 96, 97
Semiotics 65
Serial poem 36
Small press publishing 7, 10, 11, 15, 23, 32, 36, 40, 42, 43, 47, 49, 50, 55, 58, 60, 61, 66, 76, 84, 86, 106, 113, 123
Social media 2, 11, 12, 23, 27, 34, 36, 42, 45, 55, 69, 74, 76, 78, 82, 84, 89, 102, 106, 113
Software and code 9, 36
Sonnet 1, 13, 54, 56, 57
Sublime 51, 62
Surrealism 36
Terrorism 36
The academy 14, 15, 35, 36, 55, 65, 66, 67, 96, 97, 105, 115, 119
The body 99
The internet 58
The listserv 9
Theatre 36, 55, 100, 101
Torture and Abu Ghraib 81
Translation 7, 9, 36, 66, 114, 115
Visual and concrete poetry 22, 25, 63
Visual art 36, 55, 100, 101, 110, 113, 121
Voice 36
Women's writing 36, 69, 74, 78, 82, 83

Contents

Every entry links to its message. 124 in all.

28 JUN 2011

1. Halvard Johnson — Hamilton Stone Review #24 (Summer 2011) -- now online
2. Ruth Lepson — Re: Save the Dates: 7/29-31 Boston Poetry Marathon & BBQ
3. Adam Fieled — 5 New on Fair Game

29 JUN 2011

4. Séamas Cain — Sorley MacLean
5. Séamas Cain — Poetry in west County Cork
6. Maria Damon — Job opening in Comp/Writing Across the Curriculum
7. Maria Damon — Pavement Saw Press award
8. richard owens — FRANCES KRUK | DOWN YOU GO

30 JUN 2011

9. Randolph Healy — Two New Poems - an ebook by Geoffrey Squires
10. Doug Holder — Ibbetson Street Press to release a collection of poetry "Dead Beats" by the f...
11. Rob McLennan — [[redacted]: Bywords July 15 deadline for poems]

1 JUL 2011

12. Chris Hosea — Wed Jul 13: Geoffrey G. O'Brien, Mónica de la Torre, and Alan Gilbert at Wat...
13. Halvard Johnson — Truck is on the road
14. Al Filreis — Kelly Writers House Fellows for 2012
15. Rob McLennan — rob's new editing service: poetry manuscript reading, editing, evaluation
16. David Hadbawnik — kadar koli 6 is here
17. Jennifer Karmin — July 5: The Hungry Brain (Chicago)

2 JUL 2011

18. Dean Brink — Call for poems on environmental themes to Ecozon@
19. Martha Deed — Millie Niss's City Bird Reviewed
20. Alan Sondheim — More from Kira Sedlock dancework with Alan Sondheim / Azure Carter

3 JUL 2011

21. Jonathan Morse — Forever, illustrated
22. Jim Andrews — number language of 'primitive' tribes
23. David Kirschenbaum — Last Call to Advertise in Boog City's Festival Program Issue

4 JUL 2011

24. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Respondings” by Martin Stannard
25. carol dorf — Re: number language of 'primitive' tribes

5 JUL 2011

26. Jesse Glass — Re: Sorley MacLean
27. Megan M. Garr — 100 copies of Versal 9 sold by August. Thin Mint styley.
28. Adam Fieled — 5-Pack on Fair Game
29. Dan Wilcox — Poets in the Park, July 9, Albany, NY
30. Dan Glass — Announcing With + Stand 5
31. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "Inshore Seeds" by William Allegrezza.

6 JUL 2011

32. Eric Elshtain — New Beard of Bees Chapbook
33. Lisa Jarnot — Intern needed
34. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Summer Edition - Cartys Poetry Journal Published
35. Jeffrey Side — The Blue Bus is pleased to present a poetry event, with Fanny Howe and Hank ...

36. David Kirschenbaum — Complete Welcome to Boog City Fest Sked, Aug. 5-Aug. 9

7 JUL 2011

37. Mark Melnicove — Bern Porter's Found Poems Republished
38. Séamas Cain — Verbal Experiments

8 JUL 2011

39. Stephen Vincent — (no subject)

9 JUL 2011

40. charles alexander — Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO -- now available!
41. Jonathan Morse — Pound and other modernists: an important new online resource
42. charles alexander — Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO -- now available!
43. Catherine Daly — Open Letter to Small Press Distribution (SPD)
44. Stephen Vincent — Re: (Mistake on Jack Spicer's once wife obit)

10 JUL 2011

45. Adam Fieled — 6 Pack on Fair Game
46. Dan Wilcox — Poets in the Park, July 9, Albany, NY

11 JUL 2011

47. charles alexander — Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO -- now available!
48. Gerald Schwartz — Mina Loy
49. Christophe Casamassima — 100,000 Recordings for Change
50. Catherine Daly — Fwd: Open Letter to Small Press Distribution (SPD)
51. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Harmonia” by Don Share
52. Catherine Daly — Re: Pound and other modernists: an important new online resource
53. Catherine Daly — Re: Pound and other modernists: an important new online resource
54. Camille Martin — “Stand back! I am no Magdalene . . ."

12 JUL 2011

55. Jennifer Karmin — Red Rover Series / Experiment #48
56. Camille Martin — Review of Ken Belford's Decompositions: "I resisted the ordered metaphors …
57. Camille Martin — poetry & collage website
58. charles alexander — FEMINAFESTO & PENCIL POEMS: Waldman & Myles
59. Jonathan Morse — Photobook "Blue / Sky"

13 JUL 2011

60. Rob McLennan — new(ish) on rob's clever blog
61. Dan Coffey — Re: Open Letter to Small Press Distribution (SPD)
62. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Country Without a Name” by Ann Bogle

14 JUL 2011

63. Jim Andrews — 4 HTML 5
64. Jonathan Morse — For your students: how to be a writer

15 JUL 2011

65. Obododimma Oha — Mango Owere Fada
66. Rob McLennan — new from above/ground press: Robert Kroetsch
67. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark
68. Nicholas Leaskou — Poet As Radio: David Meltzer on 7/16

16 JUL 2011

69. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal
70. Jonathan Morse — The photohistory of an amazing poet who wrote non-amazing poems
71. Mark Young — Out from Otoliths—Raymond Farr's ECSTATIC/.of facts
72. Paul Nelson — August Poetry Postcard Fest Returns

17 JUL 2011

73. Ram Devineni — New version of VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY and LAMONT, the Packrat
74. steve dalachinsky — Re: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal
75. michael farrell — new interview with lionel fogarty on poetry international + kinsella, bro...

18 JUL 2011

76. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Re: 100,000 Recordings for Change
77. Mark Weiss — Re: The photohistory of an amazing poet who wrote non-amazing poems
78. Mark Weiss — Re: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal
79. Francesco Levato — Review of "War Rug" in July issue of Jacket2
80. Martha Deed — Re: New version of VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY and LAMONT, the Packrat
81. { brad brace } — Haiku for Pelican Bay (Political Prisoner News) (fwd)
82. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Re: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal
83. amy king — Fw: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal
84. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — "Snowstorm of Doubt & Grace" - Ken & Triona Hume - Short Review
85. CA Conrad — Jena Osman is the latest...

19 JUL 2011

86. charles alexander — chax special offer on letterpress books
87. Eric Dickey — TGP # 10

20 JUL 2011

88. Cralan Kelder — peer reviewed lit mags?
89. Adam Fieled — New on MySpace

22 JUL 2011

90. Mark Young — Out from Otoliths—"Philadephia's Notebooks" by Carlos Soto-Román
91. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Mother Earth” by Adam Fieled
92. Jeffrey Side — Interviewer needed to interview Juliana Spahr for The Argotist Online

23 JUL 2011

93. amy king — August20th @ 1:00pm - Dan Maguire, Lynn Levin, Ana Božičević , Amy King, Elizab...
94. Joel Weishaus — Poetica Critique of Shin Yu Pai's "Adamantine" - revision
95. Adam Katz — contact info for Donato Mancini?
96. michael farrell — Re: peer reviewed lit mags?

24 JUL 2011

97. Dale Smith — Re: POETICS Digest - 19 Jul 2011 to 23 Jul 2011 (#2011-111)
98. Jeffrey Side — Juliana Spahr interviewer now found
99. Jessica Wickens — Monday Night seeks editorial interns
100. Michael Heller — artcritical
101. Michael Heller — artcritical
102. amy king — Stain of Poetry on July 29th at Goodbye Blue Monday at 7pm

25 JUL 2011

103. Shira Dentz — posting
104. Dan Wilcox — Reminder: Poets in the Park, Saturday, July 30 (Last one for this year!)
105. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark

26 JUL 2011

106. Deborah Poe — August 4th NYC Dusie Reading
107. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “A House in Summer” by Maxine Chernoff
108. steve dalachinsky — from dalachinsky
109. Jesse Glass — Truck Blog--Jesse Glass and Thomas H. Chivers
110. Mathew Timmons — The Saffron Green July 30 in Chinatown Los Angeles

111. Jake Marmer — Zukofsky
112. Scott Howard — peer reviewed lit mags? . . . RECONFIGURATIONS

27 JUL 2011

113. David Kirschenbaum — Small Presses Needed in Boog NYC Series
114. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Fib Sequence” by Larissa Shmailo
115. Matthew Weiss — Aldus Issue 1
116. Amanda Earl — AngelHousePress Essay # 16 by Don McKay

28 JUL 2011

117. Jesse Glass — Orality and Art: Hitting the Sweet Spot in Performance
118. Jennifer Karmin — July 29: Printers' Ball in Chicago
119. Christophe Casamassima — 100,000 Poets for Change - Baltimore Recording Sessions
120. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark

29 JUL 2011

121. Jesse Glass — Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation

30 JUL 2011

122. Jonathan Morse — How to read words where there are no words
123. Rob McLennan — A new printed broadsheet by Someone, rob mclennan + Nathaniel G. Moore

31 JUL 2011

124. Mark Young — Issue twenty-two of Otoliths is now live.

1. Halvard Johnson

Hamilton Stone Review #24 (Summer 2011) -- now online

Tue 28 Jun 2011

You can find it here --> http://www.hamiltonstone.org/hsr.html

"Reality cannot be copywrited."
--David Shields

Hal

Halvard Johnson
==========

[redacted]
http://sites.google.com/site/halvardjohnson/Home
http://entropyandme.blogspot.com
http://imageswithoutwords.blogspot.com
http://www.hamiltonstone.org
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
http://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/home
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
*Mainly Black<https://docs.google.com/document/edit?id=1i_JGJ_FqQldEnUq7cwjV8giYykz_tsGbTkC2EkAP3IM&hl=en&pli=1#>
, Obras PÃºblicas<https://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/halvard-johnson-obras-publicas>
; The Perfection of Mozart's Third Eye and Other Sonnets<http://www.scribd.com/doc/27039868/Halvard-Johnson-THE-PERFECTION-OF-MOZART-S-THIRD-EYE-Other-Sonnets>
;*
*Organ Harvest with Entrance of Clones<http://www.amazon.com/Harvest-Entrance-Clones-Halvard-Johnson/dp/0965404390/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1283182804&sr=8-1>
; Tango Bouquet<https://docs.google.com/Doc?docid=0ATDp6rzKkBkhZGZwand2cHdfOWc1Mnh3Zw&hl=en>
; Theory of Harmony<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall04/theory1.pdf>
; *
Rapsodie espagnole<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/rapsodi.pdf>
; Guide to the Tokyo Subway<http://www.amazon.com/Guide-Tokyo-Subway-Other-Poems/dp/0971487316/ref=sr_1_3?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1283183153&sr=1-3>

; The Sonnet Project<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/hsonnet.pdf>
; G(e)nome <http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall03/genome.pdf>; Winter Journey <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.winter.html>; Eclipse<http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.eclipse.html>
; The Dance of the Red Swan <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.dance.html>; *
*Transparencies & Projections <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.transp.html>
*

↑ Index

2. Ruth Lepson

Re: Save the Dates: 7/29-31 Boston Poetry Marathon & BBQ

Tue 28 Jun 2011

I sure will. we'll read together.

On 6/27/11 3:09 AM, "David Kirschenbaum" <[redacted]> wrote:

> please forward
> ----------
>
> Save the Dates:
>
> A Boston Poetry Marathon & BBQ
>
> A Summer Poetry Marathon
> featuring 88 local and visiting poets
> reading for 8 minutes apiece
> Admission is free but the hat will be
> be passed
>
> Friday 7/29, 7:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m.
> Saturday 7/30, 1:00 p.m.-10:30 p.m.
> Sunday 7/31, 1:00 p.m.-5:00 p.m.
>
> OUTPOST 186
> 186 1/2 Hampshire St., Inman Square, Cambridge
>
> Friday 7/29
>
> 7:00 Filip Marinovich
> 7:08 Bridget Madden
> 7:16 Kythe Heller

7:24 Michael Carr
7:32 Danielle Georges
7:40 Jennifer Tamayo
7:48 Arto Vaun
break
8:04 Cheryl Clark Vermeulen
8:12 John Mulrooney
8:20 David Rivard
8:28 Sarah Dowling
8:36 Lori Lubeski
8:44 Jen Hyde
8:52 Ryan Gallagher
break
9:08 Arda Collins
9:16 Thom Donovan
9:24 Dorothea Lasky
9:32 Geoff Olson
9:40 Mike County
9:48 Derek Fenner

Saturday 7/30

1:00 Ish Klein
1:08 Greg Purcell
1:16 Anna Ross
1:24 Debrah Morkun
1:32 Carlos Soto Roman
1:40 Joel Sloman
break
1:56 Chris Rizzo
2:04 Jonathan Skinner
2:12 Whit Griffin
2:20 Frank Montesonti
2:28 Richard Deming
2:36 Nancy Kuhl
break
2:52 Ken Walker
3:00 Patrick Lucy
3:08 Magus Magnus
3:16 Jessica Bozek
3:24 Cory Ericson
3:32 Tony Mancus
break
3:48 Kevin Gallagher
3:56 Ted Dodson
4:04 Ryan Murphy
4:12 Patrick Doud

4:20 Jenn McCreary
4:28 Chris McCreary
break
4:44 Lewis Freedman
4:56 N.F. Huth
5:04 Aaron Tieger
5:12 Suzanne Mercury
5:28 Michael Peters
5:36 Geof Huth
break

7:00 Michael Franco
7:08 N. Marie Wallace
7:16 Brett Price
7:24 Jessica Fiorini
7:32 Will Edmiston
7:40 Kimberly Ann Southwick
7:48 Tracey McTague
break
8:04 John Coletti
8:12 Dana Ward
8:20 Mairead Byrne
8:28 Jess Mynes
8:36 Andrew Hughes
8:44 Arlo Quint
8:52 TBA
break
9:08 Meredith Walters
9:16 Corina Copp
9:24 Christina Strong
9:32 Mitch Highfill
9:40 Macgregor Card
9:48 Jacqueline Waters
9:56 Edmund Berrigan
break
10:10 Mark Lamoureux
10:18 Joe Elliot
10:26 Douglas Rothschild

Sunday 7/31

1:00 Jim Behrle
1:08 Michelle Taransky
1:16 Ben McFall
1:24 Amanda Cook
1:32 Ben Mazer
1:40 Meg Barboza

> 1:48 Fred Marchant
> break
> 2:04 Gerrit Lansing
> 2:12 Jim Dunn
> 2:20 Kim Lyons
> 2:28 Andi Werblin
> 2:36 James Cook
> 2:44 Ken Walker
> 2:52 Susanna Gardner
> break
> 3:08 Matvei Yankelevich
> 3:16 Anne Shaw
> 3:24 Roz Zimmerman
> 3:32 Ruth Lepson
> 3:40 David Kirschenbaum
> 3:48 Sean Cole
>
> Organized by Jim Behrle, Michael Carr,
> David Kirschenbaum, John Mulrooney, and Aaron Tieger
>
> Schedule updates are available at http://bostonpoetrymarathon.blogspot.com/
> For more info contact: [redacted]
> --
> David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
> Boog City
> 330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
> NY, NY 10001-4754
> For event and publication information:
> http://boogcity.com/
> T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
> http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
> For music from Gilmore boys:
> http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

3. Adam Fieled

5 New on Fair Game

Tue 28 Jun 2011

---

5 new pieces are up on Adam Fieled's Fair Game:

"Guitar Ecstasy":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/guitar-ecstasy.html

"The Curious Case of Led Zeppelin":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/curious-case-of-led-zeppelin.html

"Taking On Lester Bangs":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/taking-on-lester-bangs.html

"All You Need is Lists":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/all-you-need-is-lists.html

"Portrait Rock City":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/portrait-rock-city.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

4. Séamas Cain
Sorley MacLean
Wed 29 Jun 2011

"... influential poet Sorley MacLean reflects on the fusion of music and language, his political leanings, and his post-war loathing of poetry itself."

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Ow05S8JDdbk

Séamas Cain
http://alazanto.org/seamascain
http://seamascain-writernetwork.org
http://www.mnartists.org/Seamas_Cain

↑ Index

5. Séamas Cain
Poetry in west County Cork
Wed 29 Jun 2011

The West Cork Literary Festival

http://www.westcorkliteraryfestival.ie/

Monday 4 July 2011

6:30 p.m., Poetry Readings

at The Mariner, Free Admission

(Over the Brick Oven Restaurant)

Bantry, west County Cork, Ireland

Dairena Ní Chinnéide and

Peadar Ó hUallaigh

with Rónán Ó Snodaigh

Dairena Ní Chinnéide is an incantatory poet. Her work is deeply rooted in the language, folklore and traditions of her native Corca Dhuibhne, but also pulses with cutting-edge contemporary rhythms. Her collections include "Máthair an Fhiaigh/The Raven's Mother" and "Bleachtaire na Seirce." Tonight she will be accompanied by Kíla's lead singer and multi-instrumentalist, Rónán Ó Snodaigh.

Peadar Ó hUallaigh's "Tír Tairngre," winner of the 2010 Rupert and Eithne Strong Award, is a vision-poet; and he is a unafraid to take a voyage to the discrete lands of Utopia. An accomplished traditional musician, Peadar will also play on the flute tonight.

This bi-lingual reading is curated by Liam Carson, director of the IMRAM Irish Language Literature Festival.

And then on ...

Wednesday 6 July 2011

1:00 p.m., Lunchtime Reading

at the Bantry Library, Free Admission

Liam Carson will read from his "Call Mother a Lonely Field."

"Call Mother a Lonely Field is an immensely pleasurable book," The Irish Times

For additional information, contact ...

[redacted]

↑ Index

6. Maria Damon

Job opening in Comp/Writing Across the Curriculum

Wed 29 Jun 2011

Dear all:
I'm just forwarding this, so please direct your inquiries to the relevant people/entities mentioned in the links below...
bests, md

Job announcement: the U of MN has opened a national search for an Assistant Director of Writing Across the Curriculum. This person will play a key role on our team, and will be heavily involved in both the Writing-Enriched Curriculum project (WEC) (http://wec.umn.edu <http://wec.umn.edu/>) and in offering Teaching with Writing (TWW) workshops and consultations (http://writing.umn.edu/tww). I'm hoping that you will forward this message to interested and qualified colleagues -- or, if it describes your experiences and interests, that you will apply yourself!

Here is the link:

http://z.umn.edu/wacjob

Position Title: Assistant Director Writing-Enriched Curriculum
Requisition Number: 172508
Department: Writing, Center for (476A)

↑ Index

7. Maria Damon

Pavement Saw Press award

Wed 29 Jun 2011

THE ANNUAL TRANSCONTINENTAL POETRY AWARD BY PAVEMENT SAW PRESS --Starting in 2011 this award will be for first or second full length books-- All contributors receive books, chapbooks and journals equal to, or more than, the entry fee. Please mention this to your friends and all others who might be interested! http://www.pavementsaw.org/pages/transaward.htm

Electronic and mailed entries must meet these requirements: 1. The manuscript should be at least 48 pages of poetry and no more than 70 pages of poetry in length. Separations between sections are NOT a part of the page count. 2. A one page cover letter. Include a brief biography, the book's title, your name, address, and telephone number, and, if you have e-mail, your e-mail address. This should be followed by a page which lists publication acknowledgments for the book. For each acknowledgement mention the publisher (journal, anthology, chapbook etc.) and the poem published. 3. The manuscript should be bound with a single clip and begin with a title page including the book's title, your name, address, and telephone number, and, if you have e-mail, your e-mail address. 4. The second page should have only the title of the manuscript. There are to be no acknowledgments or mention of the author's name from this page forward. Submissions to the contest are blind judged. 5. There should be no more than one poem on each page. The manuscript can contain pieces longer than one page. 6. The manuscript should be paginated, beginning with the first page of poetry.

Each year Pavement Saw Press will publish at least one book of poetry and/or prose poems from manuscripts received during this competition. Selections are chosen through a blind judging process. The competition is open to anyone who has not previously published one, or more than one, volume of poetry or prose poetry. The author receives $1000 and five percent of the 1000 copy press run. Previous judges have included Judith Vollmer, David Bromige, Bin Ramke and Howard McCord. This year David Baratier will be the judge; past students, Pavement Saw Press interns and employees are not allowed to submit. All poems must be original, all prose must be original, fiction or translations are not acceptable. All writers without a full length book or those who have published only one full length book are eligible. Writers who have had a second volume of poetry and/or prose poetry under 40 pages printed or printed in limited editions of no more than 500 copies are also eligible. Submissions are accepted during the months of June, July, and until August 15th. All submissions must have an August 15th, 2011, or earlier, postmark. This is an award for first or second books only.

If you wish to send via regular mail your manuscript should be accompanied by a check in the amount of $20.00 made payable to Pavement Saw Press. All US contributors to the contest will receive books, chapbooks and journals equal to, or more than, the entry fee. Add $3 (US) for other countries to cover the extra postal charge. Do not include an SASE for notification of results, this information will be sent with the free book. Do not send the only copy of your work. All manuscripts are recycled and individual comments on the manuscripts cannot be made.

If you wish to submit electronically, you should send $27.00 via paypal to info @ pavementsaw.org. We will then send you an e-mail confirmation as well as where to e-mail the manuscript. Electronic submissions need to be sent as PDF files or as word (.doc) files. Other formats are not accepted. The extra cost is to cover the paypal fees as well as the time, labor, ink, and so on, to print out your manuscript. In addition to the prize winner, sometimes another anonymous manuscript is chosen, if enough entries arrive. This “editors choice” manuscript will be published under a standard royalty contract. A decision will be reached in November. Entries should be sent to:

Pavement Saw Press
Transcontinental Award Entry
321 Empire Street
Montpelier, OH 43543

All submissions must have an August 15th, 2011 or earlier, postmark or paypal payment. Submissions are accepted during the months of June, July, and August only. IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS, PLEASE ASK US: INFO @ PAVEMENTSAW.ORG

↑ Index

8. richard owens

FRANCES KRUK | DOWN YOU GO

Wed 29 Jun 2011

Now available from Punch Press:

FRANCES KRUK | DOWN YOU GO, OR,

NÉGATION de BRUIT (APRÈS DANIELLE COLLOBERT)

"The most pathetic poem is small people on fire"

Frontis piece constructed by gustave morin.

Two color silk screen on construction grade brown packing paper wrapped around black bristol cover. Interior printed on Mohawk Superfine. Set in Bodoni and Gill Sans. Hand stitched.

$5.00 US | $8.00 outside the US

http://damnthecaesars.org/punchpress.html

.....richard owens
10 Ross Road
Scarborough, ME 04074

damn the caesars, the journal
damn the caesars, the blog

↑ Index

9. Randolph Healy

Two New Poems - an ebook by Geoffrey Squires

Thu 30 Jun 2011

Apologies for cross posting.

Wild Honey Press is proud to announce the publication of the ebook "Two New Poems" by Geoffrey Squires.

This ebook consists of "Triptych" an exploration of possession and temporality and "Text" which moves between the poles of withdrawal and relationship.

It can be downloaded going to www.wildhoneypress.com and clicking on "E-Books".

Geoffrey Squires was born in 1942 and grew up in Co. Donegal. After reading English at Cambridge he lived and worked in various countries including Iran, France and the United States, and is a translator of French and Persian poetry. He is married with two children and now lives in England.

His publications include Drowned Stones (1975), Figures (1978), XXI Poems (1980), Three Sections (1983), Landscapes and Silences (1996), Poem for Two Voices (1998) and Untitled and Other Poems (2004).

In order to read this PDF ebook in the way the author intended, please set your Adobe Reader software to single-page view.
This can be achieved by going to the View menu, where you should select Page Display from the drop-down menu, and then single-page view from the list of options.

The impact of the work will be further improved if Full Screen Mode is selected, also from the View menu. Then click on the page, or press the right arrow on your keyboard to move forward, and press Escape to revert to normal screen mode.

Randolph

↑ Index

10. Doug Holder

Ibbetson Street Press to release a collection of poetry "Dead Beats" by the first Boston Poet Laureate Sam Cornish.

Thu 30 Jun 2011

Ibbetson Street Press to release a collection of poetry "Dead Beats" by the first Boston Poet Laureate Sam Cornish.

Somerville, Mass.

Doug Holder, founder of the Ibbetson Street Press, is pleased to announce the upcoming July 2011 release of a new poetry collection from Sam Cornish, the first Poet Laureate of Boston titled "Dead Beats." Cornish is an influential African American Poet, and has had a long and distinguished career. Poet Maya Angelou said of Cornish:

"Sam Cornish is to poetry what Ray Charles and the song "Georgia" is to music. Both men were constructed for their art forms."

The book retails at $14 and can be pre-ordered by sending a check , or money order to Ibbetson Street Press 25 School St. Somerville, Mass. 02143 ($2 postage/handling)
Check the Boston Area Small Press and Poetry Scene
http://dougholder.blogspot.com for further updates.....

Http://ibbetsonpress.com
http://samcornish.com

Boston Poet Laureate Sam Cornish: The Interview

By Doug Holder

When I lived in Brighton (a section of Boston) in the 1980â€™s I used to see poet Sam Cornish walking down Commonwealth Avenue. With his thick glasses , powerful stride, and intense stare, I thought to myself this cat means business. I never approached him, but I knew of his reputation as part of the â€œBoston Undergroundâ€ school of poets, and knew he taught at Emerson College. It wasnâ€™t until he was appointed to the position of Boston Poet Laureate did I actually meet him, and now our paths have crossed more than a few times. Cornish, 73, was born in Baltimore, Maryland, and for a long time commuted between his native city and Boston. He was a poor kid, raised by his mother and grandmother after his father died. He was influenced by the small press movement in poetry, as well as the Black Arts Movement, but basically he has been viewed as poet who is hard to classify. His poetry deals with slavery, civil rights, as well as pop culture: from Louie Armstrong to Frank Sinatra. His poetry is usually stripped down and potent. Cornishâ€™s breakthrough book of poetry was â€œGenerationsâ€ published in 1971. The book is organized into five sections: Generations, Slaves, Family, Malcolm, and others. He combined his own family with figures from African-American history. Cornish received a National Endowment for the Arts Award in 1967 and 1969, he was the literature director at the Mass. Council of the Arts, and owned a bookstore in Brookline, Mass for a number of years. He has a number of poetry collections under his belt, the most recent: â€œAn Apron Full of Beansâ€ (CavanKerry). I talked with Cornish on my Somerville Cable Access TV Show: â€œPoet to Poet: Writer to Writerâ€

Doug Holder: Sam, you told me that you did not consider yourself to be part of the Black Arts Movement in the 60's and 70's. Yet I have read in a few places that people consider you an "unappreciated" figure of the movement. How would you define yourself?

Sam Cornish: What might distinguish me from poets of this generation in the movement, folks like: Sonia Sanchez, Nikki Giovanni, etc... , was that I was influenced by a number of writers and sources that may not have been part of the influence and education in the Black Arts Movement. Some of the poets in the movement came from a conventional negro background. The negro middle class: doctors, lawyers, teachers. I came from a poor family, raised by my mother and grandmother. My mother was forced to go on welfare when she could no longer work. I went to a neighborhood school and frequented the public library.

I bought books and as a result became interested in poetry. The poets that moved me were T.S. Eliot, Langston Hughes, prose writers like James T. Farrell and Richard Wright. As an adolescent I loved Farrell's character , Studs Lonigan. I could identify with him and I was motivated to find other books that I could identify with. I read books by George Simeon, the great French writer of psychological murder mysteries, for instance.

DH: Who published many of the writers of the Black Arts Movement?

SC: The Broadside Press. It was a small press that was based in Chicago. It was started by a man named Dudley Randall. They were publishing young black writers who were very militant and defined themselves as being "Black" rather than "Negro." There was a very strong political stance to them.

DH: Didn't you have a strong political slant to your work?

SC: If I did it was politics that grew out of the 1930's. That was a mixture of left-leaning, the communist and the socialist.

DH: This was in contrast to the militancy of the 60's?

SC: Yes. Because a lot of that was directed at whites generally. It was confrontational or abrasive. You were now BLACK and different from previous generations. You had no patience with your forefathers, your parents, those who were living as NEGROES. It was a very angry and self-destructive ideology. People like James Baldwin, Langston Hughes, and Robert Hayden were viewed as not being pro-black.

DH: Your poetry seems to be stripped down rather than weighted with ornate flourishes.

SC: For me it is a choice of language. How do you describe something? How do you create a poem? How do you communicate? I would say that it is the influence of the hard world or the naturalistic writer, where you use the language that's employed in common speech. At the same time you recognize the lyric possibilities in this language.

I have had my days when I had tons of words on the page. I realized though that it was necessary to use fewer words.

DH: You told me that a poet should reveal something about himself in a poem?

SC: I'm back and forth about that. There are poems where you can't find the poet. There are novels where you can't find the writer. I just feel very strongly that it is important to present yourself as honestly as you possibly can. Hold yourself up as a mirror people can see their selves and vice a versa.

Poetry does provide an opportunity for people to hide themselves behind the language. They use the poem as a form of escape. And that's OK as a form of entertainment.

DH: You have talked about the photographer Walker Evans, who used to hide a camera under his coat, and snapped pictures of people that truly captured the moment, on the New York subway for instance. Should a poet be Walker Evans-like?

SC: For me perhaps. But maybe not for others. I like the idea of interacting with people--different kinds of people.

DH: So you must have been an admirer of the late Studs Terkel?

SC: Very much so. He transcended the genre.

DH: Your breakthrough poetry collection was "Generations" published in 1971. How was it a breakthrough?

SC: It might have been a breakthrough because the number of black writers being published at that time were few.The Beacon Press of Boston published it. As a black writer there may have been anger in the book. It was not an anger directed at White America. It attempted to describe living in an America that is black and white, and all the other things that go with it. The book is arranged like most of my books are: from past to present. It begins with a slave funeral and it ends with a sense of Apocalypse. The history comes from things I heard from home, and things I picked up from the neighborhoods, not to mention popular culture.

DH: We have discussed Alfred Kazin's memoir A Walker in the City. Kazin was inspired by pounding the pavement on the teeming streets of NYC. How about you in Boston?

SC: I used to walk with a pocket camera, and took pictures as I walked. I would also walk with a notebook. I would describe things I would see, and imagined them as little scenarios. That was an important part of my day.

DH: I get the impression that you are the consummate urban man. Could you survive in the country?

SC: If I did live in the country I would like the freedom to move back and forth. I like to be near theatres, bookstores and cinemas.

DH: You had your own small press: the Bean Bag Press. You hung with small press legends like Hugh Fox, and co- edited the anthology: "The Living Underground: An Anthology of Contemporary American Poetry" (Ghost Dance Press: 1969) with him. What is vital about the small press in the literary milieu?

SC: Publication. The major presses publish very few books of poetry. They also have a fixed standard as to what they select. So you often get the same voices. The small press allows us to have a variety of voices. It allows us to be challenged, upset, disturbed and sometimes angered by what we read. The major press' books are pleasant and fun to read. But they are not disturbing. They are basically not truthful. The small press has novelty, surprise, can be violent, and sometimes it can be damn good poetry.

DH: What are your goals in your position of Boston Poet Laureate?

SC: Right now I am available for people through the library and also through Mayor Menino's office. If people call and request my presence at a school or senior citizen's center, or where people would like a poet, I go. I try to be the person to bring a poem to people who might not read poetry, or those who want to talk to a poet about the craft.

Doug Holder/ Nov. 2008/Somerville, Mass.

↑ Index

11. Rob McLennan
[[redacted]: Bywords July 15 deadline for poems]
Thu 30 Jun 2011

To current and former Ottawa residents, workers and students:

July 15, 2011 is the deadline to submit poetry for the August 2011 issue of Bywords.ca. and the last chance for poems accepted on Bywords.ca to be considered for the 2011 John Newlove Poetry Award. The judge for the award this year is Angela Rawlings.

Please consult the guidelines on www.bywords.ca then send poems to [redacted].

Thanks to everyone who has submitted poems.

For poetry, literary events, news, links and hard-to-find poetry collections and chapbooks by Ottawa writers, please go to www.bywords.ca .

Our next reading will take place on Sunday, July 17 at 2pm at Collected Works with music by Brad Morden & poetry readings by Allison Armstrong, Steven Artelle, L. Garrison & Sean Moreland. hope to see you there, Ottawans.

for daily updates, follow us on twitter: www.twitter.com/bywords.ca please join our facebook page:

http://www.facebook.com/pages/Bywordsca/216901885005477

Amanda Earl
Managing Editor
www.bywords.ca
PO Box 937
Station B
Ottawa,On
K1P 5P9

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

12. Chris Hosea

Wed Jul 13: Geoffrey G. O'Brien, Mónica de la Torre, and Alan Gilbert at Watty & Meg, Brooklyn

Fri 1 Jul 2011

The Blue Letter Series Presents:
Geoffrey G. O'Brien
Mónica de la Torre
Alan Gilbert
Wed, Jul 13, 8 pm
Watty & Meg
248 Court Street
Brooklyn, NY 11201
RSVP on Facebook! http://on.fb.me/lHSQX3
More information: http://theblueletter.org and http://wattyandmeg.com
Directions: http://bit.ly/mG0qm3

↑ Index

13. Halvard Johnson

Truck is on the road

Fri 1 Jul 2011

Truck is on the road again with Skip Fox at the wheel for the month of July.

Click here to hitch a ride: http://halvard-johnson.blogspot.com/

"Reality cannot be copywrited."
--David Shields

Hal

Halvard Johnson
==========

[redacted]
http://sites.google.com/site/halvardjohnson/Home
http://entropyandme.blogspot.com
http://imageswithoutwords.blogspot.com
http://www.hamiltonstone.org
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
http://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/home
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
*Mainly Black<https://docs.google.com/document/edit?id=1i_JGJ_FqQldEnUq7cwjV8giYykz_tsGbTkC2EkAP3IM&hl=en&pli=1#>
, Obras PÃºblicas<https://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/halvard-johnson-obras-publicas>
; The Perfection of Mozart's Third Eye and Other Sonnets<http://www.scribd.com/doc/27039868/Halvard-Johnson-THE-PERFECTION-OF-MOZART-S-THIRD-EYE-Other-Sonnets>
;*
*Organ Harvest with Entrance of Clones<http://www.amazon.com/Harvest-Entrance-Clones-Halvard-Johnson/dp/0965404390/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1283182804&sr=8-1>
; Tango Bouquet<https://docs.google.com/Doc?docid=0ATDp6rzKkBkhZGZwand2cHdfOWc1Mnh3Zw&hl=en>
; Theory of Harmony<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall04/theory1.pdf>
; *
Rapsodie espagnole<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/rapsodi.pdf>
; Guide to the Tokyo Subway<http://www.amazon.com/Guide-Tokyo-Subway-Other-Poems/dp/0971487316/ref=sr_1_3?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1283183153&sr=1-3>
; The Sonnet Project<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/hsonnet.pdf>
; *
G(e)nome <http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall03/genome.pdf>; Winter Journey <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.winter.html>;
Eclipse<http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.eclipse.html>
; The Dance of the Red Swan <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.dance.html>;

*
*Transparencies & Projections <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.transp.html>
*

↑ Index

14. Al Filreis
Kelly Writers House Fellows for 2012
Fri 1 Jul 2011

We at the Kelly Writers House are pleased to announce our Writers House Fellows for 2012:

February 13-14, 2012: Karen Finley
March 19-20, 2012: Ron Silliman
April 23-24: John Barth

Each visit entails a series of public programs at the Writers House in Philadelphia. In addition, every event is available anywhere through live video stream.

Kelly Writers House Felllows has been made possible through ongoing generous grants from Paul Kelly since 1999. For a complete list of past Fellows (and links to recordings of each visit), go here:

http://writing.upenn.edu/wh/people/fellows/

- Al Filreis

Al Filreis
Kelly Professor
Faculty Dir., Kelly Writers House
Dir., Center for Programs in Contemporary Writing
University of Pennsylvania

↑ Index

15. Rob McLennan
rob's new editing service: poetry manuscript reading, editing, evaluation
Fri 1 Jul 2011

For a few years now, I've offered a one-on-one poetry editing/evaluation service, and have decided to expand.

I'm currently offering, to anyone interested, evaluation, editing and otherwise help with shaping a poetry manuscript for potential publication. I'd be thinking a series of back-and-forths, including notes, questions and revisions. $200 for a manuscript up to 100 pages, or $250 for up to 150 pages.

If you are interested, send me an email at [redacted].

It has been a while since I've run poetry workshops at Collected Works Bookstore and Coffeebar, but I've run nearly a dozen poetry workshops at the store over the past decade, and run other workshops and manuscript evaluations through my Writer-in-Residence position at the University of Alberta (2007-8), through Encounters with Canada, and as part of the (late, lamented) Ottawa Valley Book Festival, as well as editing numerous books over the years for Broken Jaw Press, Vehicule Press, Insomniac Press and Black Moss Press, and my own Chaudiere Books and above/ground press.

There's always a possibility that I might offer another poetry workshop. Keep an eye either on http://www.robmclennan.blogspot.com or http://www.bywords.ca/ for future announcements

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

16. David Hadbawnik
kadar koli 6 is here
Fri 1 Jul 2011

Click <http://habenichtpress.com/?p=756>

or

http://habenichtpress.com/?p=756

Cover image by j/j hastain. Contributors: Zack Finch, Geoffrey Gatza, j/j hastain, Henri Deluy (trans. Jacqueline Kari), Edmond Caldwell, Micah Robbins, The Rejection Group, Sarah Jeanne Peters, *Josh Stanley *, John Hyland, Robin F. Brox, Brenda Iijima, Morani Kornberg-Weiss.

cheers,

DH

↑ Index

17. Jennifer Karmin
July 5: The Hungry Brain (Chicago)
Fri 1 Jul 2011

TUESDAY, JULY 5th
8pm

THE2NDHANDâ€™s Chicago
â€œSo You Think You Have Nerves of Steel?â€

at the Hungry Brain
2319 W. Belmont
Chicago, Illinois

READINGS & PERFORMANCE:

Michael Czyzniejewski
http://www.michaelczyzniejewski.com

Jennifer Karmin
http://aaaaaaaaaaalice.blogspot.com

James Kenned
http://jameskennedy.com

the Puterbaugh Sisters
http://www.thecomedians.org/Pages/MAR09/Puterbaugh.asp

Good Evening
http://www.goodeveningmusic.com

Post-revolutionary Letdowns music with kazoo

THE2NDHAND was founded in Chicago in 2000 and features new short writing from working authors across the U.S. The broadsheet enjoys distribution of approx. 2500â€“3000 copies in several metropolitan regions via independent bookstores and affiliate organizations, and accompanies live reading series in Chicago, Nashville, and occasionally elsewhere. Since 2000, weâ€™ve fostered an inclusive mix of seasoned practitioners, insurgent experimentalists, and wild-hare audiences with a perennial indie-lit favorite.

http://the2ndhand.com/THE2NDHANDTXT

↑ Index

18. Dean Brink

Call for poems on environmental themes to Ecozon@

Sat 2 Jul 2011

Dear Poets,

Ecozon@, a European ecocritical journal, is looking for poetry submissions. Please submit online at:

http://www.ecozona.eu/

Best wishes,
Dean Brink

interpoetics.blogspot.com

↑ Index

19. Martha Deed
Millie Niss's City Bird Reviewed
Sat 2 Jul 2011

"The snail has metamorphosed into the poet, revealing herself to us in the way she has of covering her tracks in order to open a larger, non-ego-oriented terrain." --Joel Weishaus (See review below).

City Bird: Selected Poems (1991-2009) by Millie Niss, edited by Martha Deed http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/city-bird-selected-poems-1991-2009-by-millie-niss-edited-by-martha-deed-192/has just been reviewed by Joel Weishaus http://themuse.webs.com//City_Bird_book%20review.htm

A good day for Millie.

Martha Deed

↑ Index

20. Alan Sondheim
More from Kira Sedlock dancework with Alan Sondheim / Azure Carter
Sat 2 Jul 2011

More from Kira Sedlock dancework with Alan Sondheim / Azure Carter

West Virginia / southern Pennsylvania

Belly: http://www.alansondheim.org/ks1.mp4
Stalking: http://www.alansondheim.org/ks2.mp4

↑ Index

21. Jonathan Morse
Forever, illustrated
Sun 3 Jul 2011

I point at a picture and a poem here:

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=461

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

22. Jim Andrews number language of 'primitive' tribes
Sun 3 Jul 2011

a question.

a friend of mine is writing a story set 30,000 years ago. the characters are of that time. i noticed that he has them use number language that they certainly didn't possess. Like 'count to ten and then do this' (they almost certainly couldn't count) and they occassionally say things like 'there must be 400 reindeer' (they probably only had words for numbers up to maybe four. probably they referred to large groups with terms like 'herd' rather than specifically numbering them, and they might have had number words like 'pair', or a 'brace of pheasants', stuff like that).

what i'm looking for are papers/books on the specific language used by 'primitive' people specifically concerning number. so that my friend can use similar number language.

ideally, there's a paper out there that looks at the specific language used by one or more specific tribes concerning number.

looking at the net and my book by dantzig on number, it's a bit vague concerning the specific language used, and its range. this could be remedied if there's a study out there of the specific language used by one or more specific tribes. anybody know of any such studies?

ja
http://vispo.com

↑ Index

23. David Kirschenbaum
Last Call to Advertise in Boog City's Festival Program Issue
Sun 3 Jul 2011

Hi,

In a little over four weeks, to mark our 20th anniversary, we'll be putting on our fifth annual Welcome to Boog City poetry and music festival, featuring poets, musicians, and playwrights performing at four venues, in two boroughs, over five days, from Fri. Aug. 5-Tues. Aug. 9. Among the over 50 performers taking part are poets Cara Benson, Charles Borkhuis, Bruce Covey, Alan Gilbert, Brenda Iijima, Ish Klein, Mark Lamoureux, Tanya Larkin, Douglas Piccininni, Kimberly Ann Southwick, Mary Austin Speaker, and Jill Stengel.

10 days before the event, we'll be putting out the festival issue of Boog City. This issue will feature pieces on some of the performers and a full schedule, illustrated with images of each of the performers.

Advertising in the festival issue of Boog City means you will reach more than 3,000 readers, poetry lovers, and small press aficionados throughout the East Village, other targeted areas of lower Manhattan; Williamsburg and Greenpoint, Brooklyn; as well as bonus distribution at Boog City events. That's an increase of 33.3% over our regular issues for no additional cost. And, since this issue is also a program for the festival, readers will give it a closer read as they check to see who's up later on that day and throughout the festival.

Boog City continues to offer our special Small Press Ad Rates. That means when you advertise with us you will save 50% off of our regular display ad rates.

* Full Page $250
* Half-Page $130
* Quarter-Page $70
* Eighth-Page $40

Here is a link to our full rate card:

http://boogcity.com/ad-rates.pdf

As I mentioned in previous emails to you, Boog City focuses on getting the word out about lesser-known artists, be they poets, prose writers, musicians, painters, photographers, or cartoonists. Each month we publish poetry from the likes of Anselm Berrigan, Renee Gladman, Lisa Jarnot, Eileen Myles, Kristin Prevallet, and Edwin Torres, alongside our Urban Folk music section, small press book reviews, political commentary, art, comics, and photographs.

We look forward to working with you to bring your message to the local arts community to increase awareness and sales of your publications in the New York area.

as ever,
David

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://boogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?

id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

24. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Respondings” by Martin Stannard

Mon 4 Jul 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œRespondingsâ€ by Martin Stannard
Description:
â€œRespondingsâ€ is the second collection of poet Martin Stannard's reviews and writings about writing, this time selected from pieces published between 2004 and 2007. Often controversial and brutally honest, and never courting popularity, Stannard continues to question poets, poetry and himself in an effort to find out whatever there may be to find out. Stannard's writing has often been called "witty and outspoken". Others have just said it's really clever and funny. It's always interesting.

Available as a free ebook here:
http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/respondings/16205716
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

25. carol dorf

Re: number language of 'primitive' tribes

Mon 4 Jul 2011

The Number Sense by Dehaene could be useful.
Carol
Talkingwriting.com

On Sunday, July 3, 2011, Jim Andrews <[redacted]> wrote: > a question. > > a friend of mine is writing a story set 30,000 years ago. the characters are of that time. i noticed that he has them use number language that they certainly didn't possess. Like 'count to ten and then do this' (they almost certainly couldn't count) and they occassionally say things like 'there must be 400 reindeer' (they probably only had words for numbers up to maybe four. probably they referred to large groups with terms like 'herd' rather than specifically numbering them, and they might have had number words like 'pair', or a 'brace of pheasants', stuff like that). > > what i'm looking for are papers/books on the specific language used by 'primitive' people specifically concerning number. so that my friend can use similar number language. > > ideally, there's a paper out there that looks at the specific language used by one or more specific tribes concerning number. > > looking at the net and my book by dantzig on number, it's a bit vague concerning the specific language used, and its range. this could be remedied if there's a study out there of the specific language used by one or more specific tribes. anybody know of any such studies? > > ja > http://vispo.com > ========== >

↑ Index

26. Jesse Glass
Re: Sorley MacLean
Tue 5 Jul 2011

I love this man's work. Thanks too, Seamas, for pointing us to this Youtube series. Jesse

On 6/29/2011, "Séamas Cain" <[redacted]> wrote:

> ---
>
> "... influential poet Sorley MacLean reflects on the fusion of music and language, his political leanings, and his post-war loathing of poetry itself."
>
> http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Ow05S8JDdbk
>
> ---
>
> Séamas Cain
> http://alazanto.org/seamascain
> http://seamascain-writernetwork.org
> http://www.mnartists.org/Seamas_Cain

↑ Index

27. Megan M. Garr
100 copies of Versal 9 sold by August. Thin Mint styley.
Tue 5 Jul 2011

Dear friends,

We want to sell 100 copies of Versal 9 by August 1! Yes yes yes! And you can help!

http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=224305094268346

You basically have three options. Help, help more, or ignore this completely (we might be crazy, but we're also realistic). Check the Facebook event page for complete details. Or just order your copy of Versal 9 here: http://www.wordsinhere.com/orderversal.html

Because funding for the literary arts is dying all over the place, so we have to find ways to support ourselves.

Because we have a fantastic thing you can buy that will fund us fantastically.

Because we're in love with Versal and we want to share that love.

Because 55 writers, poets, artists and everything put something truly great in Versal 9's pages.

Please share this, tweet this, etc. this and help us reach our goal. 100 sales of Versal 9 equals half our printing bill!

Many, many thanks for supporting the literary arts wherever and whenever you can.

Best,
Megan

--
Megan M. Garr
Editor

*Versal
*The literary & art annual out of Amsterdam

[redacted]
http://www.versaljournal.org <http://www.wordsinhere.com>

Facebook: http://www.facebook.com/versaljournal
Twitter: http://twitter.com/versaljournal

↑ Index

28. Adam Fieled
5-Pack on Fair Game
Tue 5 Jul 2011

These are new pieces now up on Adam Fieled's Fair Game:

"The Beatles as Killers":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/beatles-as-killers.html

"Rock Merchandise":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/rock-merchandise.html

"Regional Rock":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/regional-rock.html

"The Road":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/road.html

"Solid Craft":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/06/solid-craft.html

Hope you like these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

29. Dan Wilcox
Poets in the Park, July 9, Albany, NY
Tue 5 Jul 2011

Poets in the Park 2011

Saturdays in July

at the Robert Burns statue
Washington Park, Albany
at Henry Johnson Blvd. & Hudson Ave.

July 9, 7PM
Danielle D. Colin Charlestin
Daniel Nester

Free! & open to the public (just like the park)

Bring a chair or blanket to sit on

Rain site: the Social Justice Center, 33 Central Ave.

sponsored by
the Poetry Motel Foundation & the Hudson Valley Writers Guild

↑ Index

30. Dan Glass
Announcing With + Stand 5
Tue 5 Jul 2011

Featuring new work by:

SAM LOHMANN
CASSANDRA SMITH
LAUREN LEVIN
JACQUELINE FROST
BARRY SCHWABSKY
DAVID BRAZIL
CAROL SZYMANSKI
DONNA STONECIPHER
ERIN WILSON
LARS PALM
FRED MOTEN
DEREK POLLARD
MONICA PECK
JENNIFER KARMIN & DAVID EMMANUEL
MATT LONGABUCCO
BRIAN ANG
TYLER FLYNN DORHOLT
ERICA LEWIS
JAMES YEARY
ANDREW RIPPEON
STEVEN KARL
MEG DAY
WHIT GRIFFIN
THOM DONOVAN
JEN HOFER
RODRIGO TOSCANO
SUZANNE STEIN
JAMEY JONES
THOMAS MOWE
EVAN CALDER WILLIAMS
CAROLINE KNAPP
DAN THOMAS-GLASS
JOSEF KAPLAN
BARBARA CLAIRE FREEMAN
KRISTIN PALM
BHANU KAPIL
CALEB PUCKETT
SETH FORREST
DAVID ABEL
STEPHEN COLLIS
LARA DURBACK

http://withplusstand.blogspot.com/2011/07/with-stand-5.html

Copies are out in the world. Email withplusstand [at] gmail [dot] com if you don't have one & want to change that.

Dan

↑ Index

31. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "Inshore Seeds" by William Allegrezza.

Tue 5 Jul 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "Inshore Seeds" by William Allegrezza.
Description:
"Inshore Seeds" by William Allegrezza is split into four sections. The first section explores the intersection of language, meaning, identity, politics, and inconsistency, and the second reveals poetry as news articles without the news. The third section takes on the prose poem, and the fourth section plays with the dual image of kern from typography and military history, as if poetry is called to both.
Available as a free ebook here:
http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/inshore-seeds/16212362
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

32. Eric Elshtain

New Beard of Bees Chapbook

Wed 6 Jul 2011

Please enjoy Larry O. Dean's abbrev, freshly posted on Beard of Bees.

http://beardofbees.com/dean.html

--
Eric Elshtain, Editor
Beard of Bees Press
http://www.beardofbees.com

↑ Index

33. Lisa Jarnot
Intern needed
Wed 6 Jul 2011

I'm looking for a student intern to assist me this summer with final production details of my Robert Duncan biography. This would include research, fact checking and sorting files. The book will be out in February so i'm in a mad rush to tie up final details. My funds are limited but I can compensate with books and poetry tutorials. I can be reached at [redacted]. Thanks all, Lisa Jarnot

↑ Index

34. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh
Summer Edition - Cartys Poetry Journal Published
Wed 6 Jul 2011

It was meant to be published for April - May, but Irish efficiency decreed it would have to wait until July.

But good things are worth waiting for we think, and we hope you enjoy reading the Summer 2011 edition of Cartys Poetry Journal.

In Print:

Contact us for a print edition, and indicate do you want it in black and white or colour. Black and white costs â‚¬3.00, colour costs â‚¬9.99

Cartys Poetry Journal, an online magazine of poetry published in the Irish midland town of Tullamore.
The aim of the journal is to bring a voice for traditional poetry to the masses, alongside the more contemporary and avante garde formats.
We aim to give voice to new Irish and international writers, alongside their more established counterparts.

Issue 6 is published!

The new edition of Cartys Poetry Journal has just been published!

Past issues are being formatted in HTML on the site, as well as being in PDF format.

Â

Home ::: Current Issue ::: Past Issues ::: Submissions

::: Contributors ::: Forums
::: Links

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.comÂ Â ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube VideosÂ Â

↑ Index

35. Jeffrey Side

The Blue Bus is pleased to present a poetry event, with Fanny Howe and Hank Lazer

Wed 6 Jul 2011

From Hank Lazer, who has asked me to spread the word about the following. Those of you who can also spread the word, will you do so? Thanks. "The Blue Bus is pleased to present a poetry event, with Fanny Howe and Hank Lazer, on Tuesday 19th July, from 7.30 at The Lamb (in the upstairs room), 94 Lambâ€™s Conduit Street, London WC1. This is the fifty-third event in THE BLUE BUS series. Admissions: Â£5 / Â£3 (concessions). Fanny Howeâ€™s most recent publications are What Did I Do Wrong? (Flood Editions), The Winter Sun (Graywolf) and most recently Come and See, a collection of new poems. She has won a Guggenheim Fellowship and the Ruth Lilly Award for Poetry in 2009. She is currently teaching at the Lannan Center for Poetics and Social Practice at Georgetown University. Hank Lazer has published 16 books of poetry, including Portions (Lavender Ink, 2009), The New Spirit (Singing Horse, 2005), Elegies & Vacations (Salt, 2004), and Days (Lavender Ink, 2002). He edits the Modern and Contemporary Poetics Series for the University of Alabama Press. In 2008, Lyric & Spirit: Selected Essays, 1996-2008 was published by Omnidawn. Audio and video recordings and an interview for Art International Radio can be found at Lazerâ€™s PennSound website: http://writing.upenn.edu/pennsound/x/Lazer.html. Hank Lazerâ€™s reading in the Blue Bus series will be his first ever in the UK."

↑ Index

36. David Kirschenbaum

Complete Welcome to Boog City Fest Sked, Aug. 5-Aug. 9

Wed 6 Jul 2011

Hi,

One month from now, from Fri., Aug. 5 through Tues. Aug. 9, we'll be celebrating Boog's 20th anniversary by putting on the fifth annual Welcome to Boog City poetry and music festival. It will feature 67 poets, 10 musical acts, and 8 plays over the five days.

The poetry readings are curated by Jim Behrle, Joanna Fuhrman, and me. The music is booked by Brian Speaker. Thanks to Jim, Joanna, and Brian for helping make this festival happen.

Among the festival highlights are:

—our d.a. levy lives series devotes a night to Black Radish Books;

—our 8th annual small, small press fair, with exhibits from a host of small presses, and readings by their authors;

—Poetry's First Responders: 9/11, A Time When Poetry was Always Still Possible a panel curated and moderated by Douglas Rothschild;

—poet Rebecca Wolff reading and in conversation with poet Alan Gilbert.

—and our Second Poets' Theater night, featuring eight plays.

The full schedule for the event is below this note, followed by performer bios and websites.

If you need any additional information you can reach me at 212-842- BOOG (2664) or [redacted].

as ever,
David

5th Annual

Welcome to Boog City festival
5 Days of Poetry and Music

FRIDAY AUGUST 5, 7:00 P.M.
Sidewalk Café
94 Avenue A.
NYC
Free with a two-drink minimum

Readings and musical performances by

7:00 p.m.-Rachel Aydt
7:10 p.m.-Jeffrey Wright
7:20 p.m.-Alex Abelson
7:30 p.m.-Alan Gilbert
7:40 p.m.-Joy Katz
7:55 p.m.-Basil King
8:05 p.m.-Crabs on Banjo (music)
8:55 p.m.-Jill Stengel
9:10 p.m.-Rebecca Wolff, reading and in conversation with Alan

Gilbert
10:00 p.m.-Sean Cole
10:10 p.m.-Dan Fishback (music)
10:40 p.m.-Crazy and the Brains (music)
11:30 p.m.-Greg Smith and the Broken English (music)

Directions: F/V to 2nd Ave., L to 1st Ave.
Venue is at East 6th Street

SATURDAY AUGUST 6,
11:30 A.M.-9:00 P.M.

Unnameable Books
600 Vanderbilt Ave.
Brooklyn

Free

8th Annual Small, Small Press Fair

Beginning with readings from authors of the exhibiting presses

12:00 p.m. Evie Shockley, Belladonna
12:10 p.m. Leigh Stein, Bone Bouquet
12:20 p.m. Cariah Lily Rosberg, Don’s Saddles and East Egg Press
12:30 p.m. Magus Magnus, Furniture Press
12:40 p.m. Helen Vitoria, Gigantic Sequins
12:50 p.m. Brenda Iijima, Least Weasel Chapbooks @ Propolis Press
1:00 p.m. Stephanie Gray, Litmus Press/Aufgabe
1:10 p.m. Joe Elliot, Lunar Chandelier
1:20 p.m. Ronna Lebo, Off the Park Press
1:30 p.m. Damian Weber (music)
1:50 p.m. Break

2:00 p.m. J. Hope Stein, Ping Pong
2:10 p.m. Tantra-zawadi, Poets Wear Prada
2:20 p.m. Lydia Cortes, Straw Gate Books
2:25 p.m. Dorothy Friedman August, White Rabbit zine
2:30 p.m. Emily Skillings, Stonecutter Journal
2:40 p.m. Lawrence Giffin, Tea Party Republicans Press
2:50 p.m. Ron Horning, Vanitas magazine and Libellum Books

3:00 p.m. Break

3:10 p.m. Rebecca Satellite (music)
3:40 p.m. Paul Foster Johnson
3:50 p.m. Austin LaGrone

4:00 p.m. Toni Simon
4:10 p.m. Will Edmiston
4:20 p.m. Kimberly Lyons
4:30 p.m. Christine Hamm
4:40 p.m. Vyt Bakaitis
4:50 p.m. Martha King
5:00 p.m. Debrah Morkun
5:15 p.m. John Mulrooney
5:30 p.m. Justin Remer (music)

6:00 p.m. Break

6:10 p.m. Joanna Penn Cooper
6:20 p.m. Franklin Bruno
6:30 p.m. Tanya Larkin
6:45 p.m. Emily Einhorn (music)
7:15 p.m. Mary Austin Speaker
7:25 p.m. Jean-Paul Pecqueur
7:35 p.m. Jesse Seldess
7:45 p.m. Douglas Piccininni

Directions: 2, 3 to Grand Army Plaza,
C to Clinton-Washington avenues, Q to 7th Ave.
Venue is bet. Prospect Pl./St. Marks Ave.

SUNDAY AUGUST 7,
12:00 P.M.-4:00 P.M.

Unnameable Books
600 Vanderbilt Ave.
Brooklyn

Free

12:00 p.m. Mark Lamoureux
12:10 p.m. Nicole Wallace
12:20 p.m. Ian Wilder
12:30 p.m. Douglas Rothschild
12:45 p.m. Charles Mansfield (music)
1:15 p.m. Brett Price
1:25 p.m. Meredith Walters
1:35 p.m. Kimberly Ann Southwick
1:50 p.m. Andrea Ascah-Robinson
2:05 p.m. Greg Fuchs

2:15 p.m.-break

2:25 p.m. The Death of Irony; The Triviality of Poetry in the Face of Such Tragedy; and Other Myths of 9/11; a Retrospective

The Death of Irony; The Triviality of Poetry in the Face of Such Tragedy; and Other Myths of 9/11; a Retrospective Immediately after 9/11, media pundits and assorted politicos unilaterally declared “Irony is Dead.” But the spray-painted sign at the first responder’s entrance to Ground Zero, which very cryptically read “Payback is a bitch,” belied this assertion. A number of poets who felt that irony was perhaps still alive will look back and consider the value and purposes of poetry.

Curated and hosted by Douglas Rothschild, with panelists Jim Behrle, Joe Elliot, and more.

Directions: 2, 3 to Grand Army Plaza,
C to Clinton-Washington avenues, Q to 7th Ave.
Venue is bet. Prospect Pl./St. Marks Ave.

SUNDAY AUGUST 7,
5:45 P.M.

Zinc Bar
82 W. 3rd St.
NYC

Boog Poets’ Theater, featuring:

Austin Alexis’ A Favor
Charles Borkhuis’ Flipper
Maria Brandt’s The Root People
Joel Chace’s The Cell
Jennifer Hill’s Three Turns
Vincent Katz’s Veranda of the Grand Gables (excerpt)
Eugenia Macer-Story's, Captain Midnight’s Spyglass Heart
Matt Reeck’s Panoptical Illusion:

Directions: A/B/C/D/E/F/V to W. 4th St.
Venue is bet. Sullivan and Thompson sts.

MON. AUG. 8,
6:00 P.M.

Unnameable Books
600 Vanderbilt Ave.
Brooklyn

free

6:00 p.m. Sheila Maldonado
6:10 p.m. Mark Statman
6:20 p.m. Cara Benson
6:30 p.m. Ekoko Omadeke
6:40 p.m. Kathrin Schaeppi
6:55 p.m. Michael Leong
7:05 p.m. Joe Crow Ryan (music)

7:25 p.m. break

7:35 p.m. Monica Hand
7:45 p.m. Greg Purcell
8:00 p.m. Claire Donato
8:10 p.m. Jibade-Khalil Huffman-Bday is next day
8:20 p.m. Ish Klein
8:35 p.m. Joe Crow Ryan (music)

Directions: 2, 3 to Grand Army Plaza,
C to Clinton-Washington avenues, Q to 7th Ave.
Venue is bet. Prospect Pl./St. Marks Ave.

TUES. AUG. 9,
6:00 P.M.

ACA Galleries
529 W. 20th St., 5th Flr.
NYC

d.a. levy lives: celebrating the renegade press, season 9 kick-off

Black Radish Books

featuring readings from:

Bruce Covey
Carrie Hunter
Mark Lamoureux
Marci Nelligan
Marthe Reed
Kathrin Schaeppi
Jill Stengel
David Wolach

and music from

Cat Rockefeller

Directions: C/E to 23rd St., 1/9 to 18th St.
Venue is bet. 10th and 11th avenues

Welcome to Boog City 5 Bios and Websites

*Friday

Alex Abelson
http://www.alexabelson.com/
Alex Abelson is a video artist and poet working out of Brooklyn. He is an M.F.A. candidate at The Pratt Institute.

Rachel Aydt http://www.newyorklostandfound.blogspot.com/ http://www.wordcitystudio.com/ Rachel Aydt is a writer and assistant professor at The New School University, where she teaches magazine journalism. She’s worked on staff at magazines for nearly two decades, including American Heritage, Cosmopolitan, and CosmoGirl. Now she works from home (or from any cafe that has electrical sockets and bottomless cups of coffee), and she’s a regular contributor of essays and features to The New York Times' Motherlode blog, Parents magazine, Time International, and Inked. She blogs at New York Lost and Found with a large focus on New York City, the arts, travel, and parenting. She’s a cofounder of a developing creativity blog called Word City Studio, which uses New York City as a backdrop. • When I was 18 years old I was reading poetry at an open mic night at the QE2 on Central Avenue in Albany. That year, I was getting my B.A. from SUNY Albany, but what I was mostly doing was swinging 300 burritos on a busy night at El Loco Mexican Cafe. Or hanging out at Justin's on a flush night; Palais Royale on not such a flush night. Come to think of it, this seems like a time when drinks were rarely bought; they were just doled out and fueling general mayhem up and down Lark Street.

In the audience at the QE2 were two stand-up young men named Rod Sperry and David Kirschenbaum. They liked my poetry a lot, they said. They were starting a press—what would become Boog Literature—and they wanted to publish a chapbook of my work. I wanted to date Rod, and so I said yes. That’s not why I said yes, but the synergy of the xeroxing of stapled chapbook days certainly helped to fuel a crush, and David and Rod have remained stalwart friends and supporters for the last 20- plus years. My chapbook was titled A Canopy Sack of Details. I write mainly nonfiction narratives now. I'd love to believe that not-so- buried in each of these are bits of poetry emerging; it’s a calling that seems to transform and reemerge at the most unexpected times and for the strangest reasons.

Sean Cole http://www.shampoopoetry.com/shampoothirtyeight/cole.htm Sean Cole is a public radio reporter and poet living in New York, hailing from Boston, and formerly of Toronto. He's proud to be a long- standing member of the Boog family, beginning with his first chapbook, "By the Author," which came out so long ago he's forgotten the year. • Who is this bouyant, Ted-Berrigan-sized, yarmulked guy at Aaron Kiely’s Boston Alternative Poetry Conference in 1998? I mean the one behaving (maybe overly so?) as though anything’s possible. I mean the guy who sat on the publishing panel, with a bone folder and long-armed stapler, assembling chapbooks before our eyes—chapbooks for which he’d gathered the poems one day prior. When you meet someone who will be your friend and collaborator for life, there’s a hair of a second when you know it. You don’t know, necessarily, he’ll be the first person to mass-produce your poems. Nor that he’ll one day send you 31 self- addressed stamped postcards and demand a month of daily poems because he thinks you’re not writing enough (because you aren’t). Nor that you will fight, for days, about whether it’s unseemly to name a Boog Literature volume Erections. I mean when you first lay eyes on him, you don’t even know his name. But there’s an instant when, inexplicably, you’re already grateful for his unaccountable belief in you, for his tirelessly shepherding so many nutso poets into print, for driving around New York delivering hundreds of free Boog City issues to bars and cafés. There’s just a moment when you flash on that. And then it passes. And he sticks out his hand and says, “Hi! I’m David Kirschenbaum.”

Crabs on Banjo http://www.myspace.com/crabsonbanjo Crabs on Banjo is an experimental, improvisational musical act combining audience-inspired titles with the wit and melodic force of Ben Krieger and Brian Speaker. Rarely will you find a more potent combination of class and crass.

Crazy and the Brains http://www.myspace.com/crazyandthebrains Punk Rock meets the Stone Age, Crazy and the Brains will have you singing, dancing, and fist pumping to catchy grooves and fun lyrics. They really do just “Wanna Be On Saturday Night Live,” and with great hooks, it wouldn’t surprise me if they eventually were. Downstroke guitars and xylophone makes them sound like The Ramones meet The Violent Femmes. • The self-described “newest band in NYC” is a modern-day Ramones, with lyrics so dumb they have to be smart (or so one hopes). "I don't want to do anything I don't like. I just wanna be on Saturday Night Live,” they artlessly state on a track from their self-titled EP, with no evident irony and more energy than any amount of Ritalin could control. You can see the live video at Youtube, along with loads of other clips that showcase their sound.

The band's not-so-secret weapon is Jeff Rubin, the nominal Brains of the outfit, who serves as lead xylophone player and a contrasting voice of sanity. It’s his excellent and unexpected chops with mallets that form the backbone over which Crazy Chris Urban’s absurd stories get sung. Having released two EPs in association with Crafty Records, the core duo has expanded into a full band with a punk rock rhythm section. Whatever arrangements Crazy and the Brains provide, it’s the original duo that garners the lion’s share of attention—and rightfully. It's the combination of Urban's understated madness and Rubin's virtuosic skill that fills the seats. Brian Speaker, The New York Antifolk Festival’s musical curator, simply states that “Crazy and the Brains kick ass!”

Primitive and impossibly danceable, Crazy and the Brains are best taken late at night, with little planning and a fair amount of alcohol. —Jonathan Berger

Dan Fishback http://www.danfishback.com/ Dan Fishback has been writing and performing in New York City since 2003, in the anti-folk and experimental performance scenes. His plays and performances have been staged at venues like P.S. 122, Dixon Place, Joe’s Pub, and BAX, among others. His band Cheese On Bread has toured Europe and North America, and has released records in the United States and Japan. As a solo artist, Fishback has released several recordings, including Sweet Chastity and Calendar Boys, with Mammal forthcoming. In the past, he fronted the grunge band The Faggots, played drums in Old Hat, and danced in Nan Turner’s movement troupe Underthrust. Fishback has enjoyed artist residencies at Yaddo, the MacDowell Colony, Brooklyn Arts Exchange, and Dixon Place. He received the Franklin Furnace Fund grant for performance art in 2010 and the Six Points Fellowship for Emerging Jewish Artists in 2007.

Alan Gilbert http://creative-capital.org/projects/view/41 Alan Gilbert is the author of the poetry book Late in the Antenna Fields (Futurepoem books) and a collection of essays and articles entitled Another Future: Poetry and Art in a Postmodern Twilight (Wesleyan University Press). His poems have appeared in BOMB, Boston Review, Chicago Review, Denver Quarterly, jubilat, and The Nation, among other places. His writings on poetry and art have appeared in a variety of publications, including Aperture, Artforum, The Believer, Cabinet, Modern Painters, Parkett, and The Village Voice.

Greg Smith and the Broken English
http://www.gregsmithandthebrokenenglish.com/ Hailing from the sleepy mountain towns of western Massachusetts, Greg Smith spent his formative years engrossed in the music of bands like Nirvana, The Beatles, and Led Zeppelin. It wasn’t until discovering the music of the now late Dave Carter that Smith found a deep appreciation for folk and country music and realized his calling as a songwriter. Leaving behind country life for the big city, Smith has struggled to find better times on what’s been a bumpy road of jobs that don’t pay, long-distance relationships, and the burden of leaving behind the family farm. But through the hard times, he’s channeled his experiences into a body of work that breaks down stylistic barriers and simply tells it like it is.

Joy Katz
http://www.joykatz.com/
Joy Katz is the author of two poetry collections, The Garden Room and Fabulae, and co-editor of the acclaimed anthology Dark Horses: Poets on Overlooked Poems.

She was educated at The Ohio State University, Washington University in St. Louis, and Stanford University. Trained in industrial design, she worked as a graphic designer before starting to write poetry.

Honors for her writing include a 2011 NEA fellowship, a Wallace Stegner Fellowship, and the Nadya Aisenberg Fellowship at the MacDowell Colony. Her poems are anthologized in The Best American Poetry, among other places, and appear in such journals as The American Poetry Review, Notre Dame Review, Ploughshares, Cincinnati Review, and elsewhere. Her prose has appeared in The New York Times Book Review and The Village Voice.

She has taught literature and poetry at The New School and NYU and now teaches in the graduate writing program at the University of Pittsburgh and in the low-residency and on-the-ground programs at Chatham University. She is an editor-at-large for Pleiades.

She lives in Pittsburgh with her husband and young son.

Basil King http://www.sugarmule.com/37frame.htm Basil King is a painter/poet. Born in England before World War II, he has lived in Brooklyn since 1968. He attended Black Mountain College as a teenager, and for the past four decades he has taken his art “from the abstract to the figure, from the figure to the abstract.”

He began to write in 1985, after his first trip back to England, and he now practices both arts daily. His books include mirage: a poem in 22 sections, Warp Spasm, Identity, and 77 Beasts/Basil King’s Beastiary.

Learning to Draw/A History, a collection of 22 sections of this ongoing work, is forthcoming in the fall of 2011 from Skylight Press. He most recently exhibited his art at Poets House, New York City, in 2010.

Jill Stengel http://www.durationpress.com/abend/ http://www.dusie.org/ Formerly of San Francisco and Los Angeles, poet and publisher Jill Stengel lives in Davis, Calif. where she writes, publishes intermittently her a+bend press, and raises three children. Five of her nine chapbooks can be viewed online at Dusie’s site, and she has other work online as well. Black Radish Books will publish her first full-length collection, dear jack, later this year.

Rebecca Wolff http://www.rebeccawolff.com Rebecca Wolff is the author of three books of poems, including most recently The King (W. W. Norton). She is working on a fourth, called One Morning--. Her novel The Beginners is out this summer from Riverhead Books. Wolff is the editor of Fence and Fence Books and the publisher of The Constant Critic.

Jeffrey Cyphers Wright http://livemagnyc.com/ Jeffrey Cyphers Wright is the author of 11 books of verse including Employment of the Apes, All in All, Drowning Light, and Walking on Words. His poetry has also been in numerous magazines and several anthologies. His artwork has been in a dozen group shows and one solo show. He can be found reading, singing, and wise-cracking on Youtube. Critical work appears monthly in The Brooklyn Rail.

*Saturday

Dorothy Friedman August, White Rabbit zine

Vyt Bakaitis http://lunarchandelier-lunarchandelier.blogspot.com/ Vyt Bakaitis has a new book of poems, Deliberate Proof (Lunar Chandelier Press), and has also published translations of poetry from several languages, with his versions of the classic Romantics Hölderlin and Mickiewicz included in World Poetry (W. W. Norton). Daybooks 1970-1972 (Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs), his translations from the Lithuanian poet Jonas Mekas, appeared in 2003. City Country was his first book (Black Thistle Press).

Franklin Bruno http://www.nervousuntothirst.blogspot.com Franklin Bruno’s first full-length collection, The Accordion Repertoire, is forthcoming from Edge Books next year. His previous chapbooks are Policy Instrument (Lame House Press) and MF/MA (Seeing Eye Books). He is also the author of a critical book on Elvis Costello’s album Armed Forces in Continuum Books’ 33 1/3 series; his music criticism appears in many publications. Since 1990, he has released over a dozen albums of original songs as a solo artist and member of Nothing Painted Blue and The Human Hearts, his current band. He lives in Jackson Heights, Queens.

Joanna Penn Cooper http://www.joannapenncooper.blogspot.com/ Dancing Girl Press published Joanna Penn Cooper’s second chapbook of poetry and short prose pieces, Mesmer, in 2010, and her full-length poetry collection, How We Mostly Were, was a finalist for the Kinereth Gensler Award from Alice James Books. Joanna's creative and critical work has appeared in a number of journals, including Opium, Lungfull!, Supermachine, Pleiades, elimae, and Boog City. Her work is also forthcoming in Poetry International and South Dakota Review. Joanna has been a visiting professor at Fordham University and Marquette University, and she is currently working on a book of short prose pieces that fall somewhere between the prose poem and micro-essay.

Lydia Cortes, Straw Gate Press http://www.brooklynrail.org/2009/11/books/rapid-transit-nov-09 http://www.leafscape.org/StrawGateBooks/index.html Lydia Cortes don't have no URL, but her latest bio is as follows: Lydia Cortes is a long-time New Puertorrican-born resident, raised in New York, but with strong roots in the two cultures of the Boricua and the Brooklyn that spawned her. She is also influenced by the many other cultures and languages she was surrounded by growing up in the Williamsburg, Fort Greene, and East Flatbush nabes and by the schools she attended: PS 55, Francis Scott Key JHS, Girls High, Erasmus Hall HS, and St. John's U. She has been published in various anthologies and has two collections of poetry, Lust for Lust and Whose Place.

Though she writes mostly in English, she often uses phrases, words, cachets from the other languages she's fluent in: Spanish and Italian. (During the ’60s and ’70s, she lived in Rome.) She feeds on the slang of all three.

Founded by Phyllis Wat in 2005, Straw Gate Books publishes poetry and occasional related texts. It is particularly interested in works by women and non-polemical writing with underlying social content. Straw Gate also features new authors and authors whose work is underserved.

Will Edmiston http://3sadtigers.blogspot.com/2011/02/3-sad-tigers-press-publishes-effie-by.html Will Edmiston is a poet living in Brooklyn. His work has recently appeared in Lungfull!, Bardic Sepulchral, The Recluse, and The Bridge. 3 Sad Tigers Press published his chapbook effie. He volunteers as an archivist for The Poetry Project.

Emily Einhorn http://www.myspace.com/emilyeinhorn Toe tapping to belly laughing, Emily Einhorn takes you on a journey. From Texas to Chicago, Nashville to Florida, her melodies will travel home with you and her lyrics will give you reason to want to come on back real soon. She also has a wonderful voice and knows how to use it to split you open and sing to your insides.

Joe Elliot, Lunar Chandelier Press http://lunarchandelier-lunarchandelier.blogspot.com/ Joe Elliot ran a weekly reading series at Biblios Bookstore and Café in NYC for five years, starting in the early ’90s, and helped move the series to Zinc Bar, where it continues today. He co-edited two chapbook series: A Musty Bone and Situations, which published authors such as Antje Katcher, Paul Genega, Duncan Nichols, Mitch Highfill, Kim Lyons, Rich O’Russa, Douglas Rothschild, Shannon Ketch, Lisa Jarnot, Bill Luoma, Kevin Davies, Marcella Durand, Rick Snyder, and many others. Elliot is the author of numerous chapbooks, including You Gotta Go In It’s The Big Game, Poems To Be Centered On Much Much Larger Sheets Of Paper, 15 Clanking Radiators, 14 Knots, Reduced, Half Gross (a collaboration with artist John Koos), and Object Lesson (a collaboration with artist Rich O’Russa). Granary Books published If It Rained Here, a collaboration with artist Julie Harrison. His work has appeared in many magazines, including The World, The Poker, Giants Play Well in the Drizzle, The Poetry Project Newsletter, Torque, Hanging Loose, EOAGH, Occo, Booglit, and Arras. His long poem, 101 Designs for The World Trade Center, was published by Faux Press’ e- mag, and Subpress published a collection of his work, Opposable Thumb. Lunar Chandelier Press published a new set of poems, Homework, last year.

Lunar Chandelier Press, formed in 2009, publishes books of modern, evocative writing. It is inspired by the spirit of the poet and artist- directed productions of the 1920s Paris Left Bank and the various contemporary poetry projects of Brooklyn’s Gowanus Canal’s right bank: Belladonna Books, Cabinet, Litmus Press, Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs, and Ugly Duckling Presse, as well as the venerable Hanging Loose Press, based in downtown Brooklyn

Lawrence Giffin, Tea Party Republicans Press http://www.brooklynrail.org/2011/05/poetry/practiced-restraint Lawrence Giffin is a poet and archivist living in New York City. He is a member of the loose publishing collective Lil' Norton, where he is the series editor of the Physical Poets Home Library, an occasional .pdf journal where each issue focuses on a different geographically-specific group of writers. A new book, Sorites, is recently out from Tea Party Republicans Press.

Stephanie Gray, Litmus Press/Aufgabe http://www.brooklynrail.org/2010/11/poetry/from-i-thought-you-said-it-was-sound http://www.litmuspress.org/ Straw Gate Books published poet-filmmaker Stephanie Gray's first book, Heart Stoner Bingo, in 2007. Her work has appeared or is forthcoming in Aufgabe, Sentence, The Brooklyn Rail, 2nd Avenue Poetry, EOAGH, The Boog City Reader, and The Recluse. Venues she has read at, often live with her films, include The Projections, Segue, and The Poetry Project Friday series. Her films have shown internationally, including at the Ann Arbor, Oberhausen, Viennale, Videoex, and Antimatter festivals, among others.

Dedicated to supporting innovative, cross-genre writing, Litmus Press publishes the work of translators, poets, and other writers, and organizes public events in their support. We encourage interaction between poets and visual artists by featuring contemporary artworks on the covers of our full-length books and in Aufgabe, our annual literary journal. By actualizing the potential linguistic, cultural and political benefits of international literary exchange, we aim to ensure that our poetic communities remain open-minded and vital.

Christine Hamm http://www.christinehamm.com/ Christine Hamm is a Ph.D. candidate in English literature. She won the MiPoesias First Annual Chapbook Competition with her manuscript Children Having Trouble with Meat. Her poetry has been published in The Adirondack Review, Pebble Lake Review, Women’s Studies Quarterly, Lodestar Quarterly, Poetry Midwest, and Rattle, among others. She has been nominated four times for a Pushcart Prize, and she teaches English at CUNY. She has performed all over the country and was one of the featured poets in the Poetic Voices Festival of Hartnell College. She has two books out, The Transparent Dinner and Saints & Cannibals, and Blazevox [books] is publishing her third, Echo Park. She is a poetry editor for Ping•Pong, a literary journal published by the Henry Miller Library of Big Sur, and is the editor of Like a Fat Gold Watch, an anthology of creative and critical works inspired by Sylvia Plath.

Ron Horning, Vanitas and Libellum Books http://www.vanitasmagazine.net/ Ron Horning, Vanitas and Libellum Books: http://www.clepunk.com/pinkeye/horning/miss_you_already.htm Ron Horning was raised in Lima, Peru, and São Paulo, Brazil. He works on Wall Street and lives in Beacon, N.Y. His poems and translations have appeared in Vanitas, Gerry Mulligan, Zoland Poetry Journal, Sal Mimeo, The New Yorker, and The Best American Poetry. Costmary Press, in Kent, Ohio recently published three broadsides, and a poem called “Miss You Already” is on line at PinkEye, the “literary arm” of the ClePunk music site.

Vanitas is a journal of poetry, writings by artists, criticism, and essays. Vanitas comes out periodically, providing a forum for international voices with an emphasis on coming to grips with current world situations. Each issue contains writings by artists whose primary modes are non-literary and features the work of a visual artist.

Libellum books was founded in 2004 as a corollary to Vanitas magazine, as a forum for book-length poems, essays, and other texts that might have trouble finding a home in the usual poetry venues. Recent publications include Natural Light by Norma Cole, Revs of the Morrow by Ed Sanders, and The New World by Tom Clark.

Brenda Iijima, Least Weasel Chapbooks @ Propolis Press http://www.yoyolabs.com/ http://www.propolispress.com/leastweasel/ Brenda Iijima was born in the hilly town of North Adams, Mass. Glossematics, Thus is just out from Least Weasel Press. She is the author of Around Sea (O Books); Animate, Inanimate Aims (Litmus Press); revv. you'll-ution (Displaced Press); and If Not Metamorphic (Ahsahta Press), as well as numerous chapbooks and artist's books. She is also the editor of the eco language reader (Nightboat Books and [redacted]) and editor of Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs.

Artist-poet Karen Randall established Propolis Press in 2001 for the purpose of printing fine letterpress artist’s books with poetry by innovative, contemporary authors. The Least Weasel series, launched this year, consists of hand-bound chapbooks with letterpress printed covers.

Paul Foster Johnson http://www.yoyolabs.com/johnson_author.html Paul Foster Johnson is the author of Study in Pavilions and Safe Rooms (Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs) and Refrains/Unworkings (Apostrophe Books). With E. Tracy Grinnell, he is the author of the g-o-n-g press chapbook Quadriga. His poems have appeared in Jacket, The Awl, Cannot Exist, GAM, EOAGH, Fence, and Octopus. He has served as a curator of the Experiments and Disorders reading series at Dixon Place and as an editor at Litmus Press/Aufgabe. He lives on the Lower East Side.

Martha King http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/journal/ Martha King was born in Virginia in 1937. She attended Black Mountain College in the summer of 1955 and married Basil King in 1958. She began writing in the late 1960s, after the birth of their two daughters, Mallory and Hetty.

Living in Brooklyn since 1968, King produced 31 issues of Giants Play Well in the Drizzle in the late 1980s (sent free to interested readers). Her collections of short stories include North & South, Separate Parts, and Little Tales of Family and War. Other stories have been anthologized in Fiction from the Rail and The Wreckage of Reason. A collection of her poetry, Imperfect Fit, was published in 2004.

Currently, King is at work on a memoir, Outside Inside, chapters of which have appeared in Jacket #40, Bombay Gin, Blaze Vox, and New York Stories.

Austin LaGrone http://www.losthorsepress.org/book/oyster-perpetual Born in Baton Rouge, Austin LaGrone is the author of Oyster Perpetual, winner of the 2011 Idaho Prize for Poetry. His recent work is forthcoming in Crazyhorse, Indiana Review, Many Mountains Moving, and Willow Springs. He holds degrees from St. John's College and New York University and teaches at John Jay College in Manhattan. • Austin LaGrone was born and raised in Louisiana. According to one legend, he put himself through school bolting 450 transmissions a day to Chevy S-10 engine blocks. According to another, he hiked the Annapurna Circuit in flip-flops, and then, in 2010, his first book, Oyster Perpetual, won Lost Horse Press' Idaho Prize for poetry. One of the first things the reader notices upon opening Oyster Perpetual is the volume's wealth of characters, each possessing the aura of a real human being. The opening poem's first word is "Carlotta," who appears twice more in the volume's 51 poems. In the next poem we meet Cody, recently out of prison, "with a catfish tattooed along his ribcage." From that point on, in no particular order, we encounter Little Ricky from the GM assembly plant and Geraldine who wants a blackbird; Frank who taught Death a thing or two and Brandy who "came back after/ all those years," who carved her initials into the Oldsmobile's paint and left "an embalmed/ bullfrog playing a matchstick banjo." The speaker's relations with these characters, along with many others, constitute the heart of this book. The soul of Oyster Perpetual is to be found in LaGrone's music. Just listen to the consonants grumble in "Lunchbreak Yodel for Elkhorn Sanitation"—"Someone's put chicken fingers/ inside my work gloves/ as if the jaws of a garbage truck/ could translate for the hunger of kings"; or hear the vowels sing in “Double Feature”—“Walking home, I saw the yellowed/ grass, the scattered cans,/ and the patch of shade beneath/ the yard-car where the dog sleeps.” The sound effects here are solid, not flashy; they work to join the reader to the book’s characters and situations rather than to position her as an isolated spectator. —Jean-Paul Pecqueur

Tanya Larkin
http://www.versedaily.org/2008/babyepic.shtml
Tanya Larkin lives in Somerville, Mass. and teaches Surrealism, Humanities, and English Lit at the New England Institute of Art in Brookline.

Ronna Lebo, Off the Park Press
http://www.ronnalebo.com/Ronna_Lebo/Welcome.html
http://www.offtheparkpress.com/ Ronna Lebo received an M.F.A. from Mason Gross School of the Arts and teaches at Kean University. She performed for 12 years as Alice B. Talkless, won a Jackie 60 New Artist Award, and was included in two CMJ music festivals. Her poetry has been published in Arbella, Long Shot, Big Hammer, Words, This Broken Shore, Whim Wit, and the anthology Will Work for Peace edited by Brett Axel. Her book Prolapse is a 2011 publication from Off the Park Press.

Off the Park Press is a non-profit small press determined to enrich the deep cross-cultural connection between visual art and poetry. Located in New York City, its intention is to reach out to writers and visual artists, known and unknown, across the country to participate in their experimental collaborative publishing projects. Off the Park also publishes yearly anthologies of poems responding to specific visual art works that appear on the anthologies’ covers.

Kimberly Lyons http://www.yoyolabs.com/lyons.html Kimberly Lyons has a new collection of poetry, Rouge, forthcoming from Instance Press. Recent work can be found at Unarmed magazine, Talisman, Peep/Show poetry (online), peaches and bats, and New American Writing. She is the publisher of Lunar Chandelier Press and recently co-organized a one-day conference on the work of poet Robert Kelly held at Anthology Film Archives.

Magus Magnus, Furniture Press
http://furniturepressbooks.com/books/magnuspride/
http://www.furniturepressbooks.com/ Magus Magnus lives in the Washington, D.C. metro area. Just as the “poetic” informs Magnus’ approach to philosophy in Heraclitean Pride (Furniture Press), so too it informs his approach to theater in Idylls for a Bare Stage (forthcoming this fall from twentythreebooks). As for poetry itself, two poems from his book Verb Sap (Narrow House) —“Radical Crumb” and “Empirical / Imperial Demonstration”—appear in the 10th edition of Pearson Longman's English anthology, Literature. Furniture Press will bring out Magnus’ book-length poem, The Re- echoes, in 2012.

Furniture Press is a publisher of strangely poetical texts and ephemera, all of which play at, but are not limited to, intertextuality and appropriation. Some want to call it poetry, but poetry can express many differing, sometimes conflicting and contradictory concepts. This is what we thrive on: the ambiguation of art and its likenesses. Our poetics follows this process closely, and we look for similar aesthetics in the writers we choose to publish and promote.

Debrah Morkun http://www.debrahmorkun.com/ Debrah Morkun is a poet who lives in Philadelphia. BlazeVOX [books] released her first book, Projection Machine, last year. Her second book, The Ida Pingala, is forthcoming. She is a member of The New Philadelphia Poets and curates The Jubilant Thicket Literary Series.

John Mulrooney http://www.prx.org/piece/1934 John Mulrooney is a poet, musician, and documentary filmmaker whose work has appeared in Pressed Wafer foldemzine, Fulcrum, and All Small Caps, among others. He is presently working on a film about the life and work of poet John Wieners. He lives in Cambridge, Mass. and talks to people, mostly about poetry and movies, at Bridgewater State University.

Jean-Paul Pecqueur http://www.soandso.org/#/jean-paul-pecqueur/4539783017 Alice James Books published Jean-Paul Pecqueur’s first book of poetry, The Case Against Happiness. New work has appeared in Fourteen Hills, So and So, Gulf Coast, and Fence. Jean-Paul is from the Pacific Northwest; he currently lives in Brooklyn, where he teaches writing at The Pratt Institute.

Douglas Piccinnini http://blog.bestamericanpoetry.com/the_best_american_poetry/2011/04/douglas-piccinnini-by-rob-crawford.html Douglas Piccinnini is the author of Crystal Hard-On (minutes Books) and Soft (The Cultural Society). He is also the founder of the CROWD Reading Series and, with Josef Kaplan, co-editor of Tea Party Republicans Press.

Rebecca Satellite http://www.myspace.com/rebeccaseatle Rebecca Satellite is a songwriter and performer based in Brooklyn. Her debut album, but the sun was a man, was released in the summer of 2010, and she is now writing new material for a follow-up. You can catch her live with Chris Roush (drums) and Angela Phillips (bass).

Justin Remer http://soundcloud.com/weemaykmusic

Justin Remer is a filmmaker and the leader of Elastic No-No Band. He is also the head of the fledgling record label Weemayk Music.

Cariah Lily Rosberg, Don Saddles, and East Egg Press http://www.donsaddles.blogspot.com Cariah Lily Rosberg is 4-1/2 years old and lives in Middlesex, Vt. She is a Waldorf student, an inventor of stories and ideas, and often assists her mother in the kitchen. She is spending the summer at herb camp, studying herbs and spices and visiting the lakes in Vermont. Strawberry Things is her first book of recipes but certainly not the last. She is currently working on a new book of savory desserts, including her newest recipe for lentil ice cream.

Don Saddles is a project run in Brooklyn that was born out of an interest in refurbishing old bicycle and moped saddles. Finding frustration in the cost and style of the saddles they saw in stores, furniture designer Elise McMahon and textile designer Francesca Capone set out to find bike/moped saddles that were being thrown out by bike shops, as well as leather and vinyl scraps from a variety of sources. The saddles are completely hand-made from recycled materials and have been Frankensteined and beautified for your bicycle riding pleasure. And don't be afraid to ask! We will put the saddle right on your bike for you at no additional cost. Ride on!

East Egg Press brings you a small collection of recipe books with a poetic nature: ROOTS recipe book is a compilation of recipes from a coterie of creative people—painters, carpenters, writers, designers, filmmakers, musicians, children, and wanderers. Each person was asked to contribute a recipe that was relative to the word "roots" and its varying interpretations. Strawberry Things is a short compilation of recipes that were dictated aloud by Capone’s four-year-old niece. She makes up words, pairs unlikely ingredients, and even provides processes on how to combine and eat the recipes. Her culinary inventions are imaginative, thoughtful, poetic, and humorous recipes that have wisdom and poetic intuition far beyond her years.

Jesse Seldess http://littleredleaves.com/LRL4/Jesse_Seldess.html http://www.antennae-journal.com/ Jesse Seldess recently relocated to Brooklyn from Karlsruhe, Germany. He is the author of two books, Who Opens and Left Having (both Kenning Editions), as well as chapbooks on Hand Held Editions, Instance Press, Answer Tag Press, and the Chicago Poetry Project Press. His work has recently appeared in the journals EOAGH, Jacket, Little Red Leaves, and out of nothing. Since 2001, he has edited and published Antennae, a journal of experimental writing and language-based performance and music scores.

Evie Shockley, Belladonna http://www.redroom.com/blog/evie-shockley http://www.belladonnaseries.org/ Evie Shockley is the author of two full-length collections of poetry, the new black (Wesleyan, 2011) and a half-red sea

(Carolina Wren Press, 2006), and two chapbooks, 31 words * prose poems (Belladonna* Books, 2007) and The Gorgon Goddess (Carolina Wren Press, 2001). Her study Renegade Poetics: Black Aesthetics and Formal Innovation in African American Poetry is forthcoming from the University of Iowa Press in 2011. Her poems and essays have appeared recently or are forthcoming in journals and anthologies such as Callaloo, The Nation, qaartsiluni, Black Nature, Talisman, esque, and Home is Where: An Anthology of African American Poets from the Carolinas. Shockley is Associate Professor of English at Rutgers University, in New Brunswick, New Jersey, where she teaches African-American literature and creative writing.

2011 marks the 12th anniversary of the Belladonna* mission to promote the work of women writers who are adventurous, experimental, politically involved, multi-form, multicultural, multi-gendered, impossible to define, delicious to talk about, unpredictable, and dangerous with language. Belladonna* has featured over 150 writers of wildly diverse age and origin, writers who work in conversation and collaboration in and between multiple forms, languages, and critical fields. As performance and as printed text, the work collects, gathers over time and space, and forms a conversation about the feminist avant- garde, what it is and how it comes to be.

Toni Simon
http://www.2ndavepoetry.com/2ndAve_3/v3tsimonearth.html
Toni Simon has exhibited her work at The Drawing Center and A.I.R. Gallery. Her illustrated chapbook, Earth After Earth, is forthcoming from Lunar Chandelier Press.

Emily Skillings, Stonecutter http://culturebot.net/2011/02/9432/slow-dancing-the-poem-body-of-words-dixon-place/ http://www.stonecutterjournal.com/ Emily Skillings is a poet, dancer, and choreographer living in Brooklyn. She earned her B.A. in dance and poetry from The New School in 2010.

Stonecutter is a biannual journal of art and literature, created by a group of New York-based women involved in the arts. Issue One features work from Jen Bervin, Jennifer Cazenave, Anne Fitzgerald, Alan Gilbert, Andrew Gorin, Sarah Holland-Batt, Robert Kelly, Charlotte Mandell, Daniel Nohejl, Lauren O' Connor, Emily Skillings, Jocelyn Spaar, Ben Townsend, Eliot Weinberger, Jeffrey Yang, and Matvei Yankelevich, with art and photography from Travis Jackson, Orion Martin, and Newsha Tavakolian. To subscribe please visit the above URL or send submissions to [redacted].

Mary Austin Speaker http://www.maryaustinspeaker.com/ Mary Austin Speaker is the author of two chapbooks—In the End There Were Thousands of Cowboys and Abandoning the Firmament (Menagerie Editions)—with a third (The Bridge) forthcoming from Push Press. New work is forthcoming in Mrs.

Maybe and High Chair, and has recently appeared in Big Bell, Boston Review, Iowa Review, New Orleans Review, and elsewhere. She is co-founder of Triptych Readings poetry series, and she works as art director for Ecco, an imprint of HarperCollins Publishers.

J. Hope Stein, Ping•Pong http://scapegoatreview.com/fall-2009/j-hope-stein.html#1 http://www.henrymiller.org/ping_pong.html Ping•Pong, a journal of the arts, published annually by The Henry Miller Library in Big Sur, California, serves up the best of global arts and literature by publishing a vibrant group of poets, writers, artists, and photographers. Ping•Pong is committed to a cultural dialogue between contemporary artists and the aesthetics created by Henry Miller and Anaïs Nin. Furthermore, Ping•Pong reaches beyond American shores to bring lesser-known writers into more prominence in English.

J. Hope Stein just finished her first book of poetry, The Inventor's Last Breath. Her short film based on her poetry manuscript was screened at New England College, Hartnell College, Fordham University, and the 2011 CinePoetry Festival at the Henry Miller Library. Her poems have appeared in Poetry International, Ping•Pong, Tygerburning, and Scapegoat Review. In 2009, she was nominated twice for the Pushcart Prize. She has also published critical work in Web Del Sol Review.

Leigh Stein, Bone Bouquet
http://www.leighstein.com
http://www.bonebouquet.org/
Leigh Stein is the author of four chapbooks of poetry, including The Future Comes to Those Who Wait (Grey Book Press). Her first novel, The Fallback Plan, is forthcoming from Melville House in January 2012.

Bone Bouquet is a biannual online journal seeking to publish the best new writing by female poets, from artists both established and emerging. It aims to highlight the important work of female poets, who are often underrepresented in the writing community and popular media. Rather than personal politics, Bone Bouquet's criteria are excellence and vibrance. Rather than segregating the poetry of "women's issues" from "regular" creative work, the journal's goal is to provide an additional arena in which female poets can make their work more visible to readers, building their reputations as artists.

 Tantra-zawadi, Poets Wear Prada
http://www.tantra-zawadi.com/
http://pwpbooks.blogspot.com/
Tantra-zawadi, an award-winning poet/artist/filmmaker from Brooklyn, has performed to standing room audiences at venues as far away as South Africa, London, Germany, and Toronto.

Her most recent collection, Gathered at Her Sky, published by Poets Wear Prada, contains excerpts from her off-Broadway production Soldier Blues and her one-woman performance piece Girl: A Choreospective, as well as the text of previously recorded spoken-word tracks. Chuma Spirit Books published her previous book alifepoeminprogress.

Poets Wear Prada, also known as PWP Books, is a small literary press based in Hoboken, N.J., devoted to introducing new authors through high-quality chapbooks primarily of poetry, since 2006. Angelo Verga, Poetry Curator of The Cornelia Street Café, describes Poets Wear Prada as a “new press, great authors, a publisher who is one miracle short of sainthood.” Meredith Sue Willis of Books for Readers says, “Poets Wear Prada is a poetry publishing house with excellent poets and affordable books with beautiful covers. Have you had your poetry today?” PWP is a proud member of CLMP.

Helen Vitoria, Gigantic Sequins http://helenvitoria-lexis.blogspot.com/ http://www.giganticsequins.com/ Helen Vitoria lives and writes in Effort, Penn. Her work can be found and is forthcoming in over 60 online and print journals, including PANK, wicked alice, Thunderclap, amphibi.us, The Dirty Napkin, Gigantic Sequins, Willows Wept Review, FRIGG Magazine, The Offending Adam, Used Furniture Review, Commonline: A Journal of Culture, Art & Literature, YB Poetry Journal, Fashion for Collapse, Caper Literary Journal, The Cartier Street Review, Poets & Artists Magazine, Sunfish Poetry Magazine, Monkeybicycle, Spooky Boyfriend, Spilt Milk, >kill author, elimae, Metazen, Dark Sky Magazine, Mud Luscious Press, and many others. She has been thrice nominated for Best New Poets 2010 Anthology. Her chapbooks, The Sights and Sounds of Arctic Birds and Random Cartography Notes from Gold Wake Press. Blackwater: A Pneumatic Disturbance is her forthcoming e-chap from Red Ochre Press. Her first full length collection: Corn Exchange, will be released in the fall from Scrambler Books. She is working on her second collection a novel(la) in verse: Amsterdam.

Gigantic Sequins is a biannual, print-only literary arts journal known for its unique design, compelling artwork, and willingness to publish writers and artists in all stages of their careers. Its 2.2 issue debuted this June, and submissions are currently open for its next issue.

Damian Weber
http://www.housepress.org/weber.html
Damian Weber is a member of House Press and the editor of Source Material: A Journal of Appropriated Text.

*Sunday
    Unnameable

Andrea Ascah-Robinson Andrea Ascah-Robinson is a poet living in New Haven, Conn. Previously she lived in New York City, where she was the host and co-producer of the reading series Oral Fixation, which was held at Bar 13 from September 1997 to March 1998. She has been a featured reader at The Poetry Project at St. Mark's Church, The Pink Pony, Limelight, The Theatre for the New City, Halcyon, and The Studio Museum in Harlem. Her work appeared in print for the first time in 2000 in The Portable Boog Reader. Her poetry has appeared online at Artsy Mag, Poetry Central, and Poetz.

Jim Behrle
http://www.americanpoetry.biz/
Jim Behrle lives in Brooklyn, N.Y. His latest chapbook, It Serves Me Right to Suffer, is due out this year.

Joe Elliot
(see Sat. Aug. 6, 1:10 p.m.)

Greg Fuchs http://www.gregfuchs.com/ Greg Fuchs lives in the Bronx with his wife, Alison Collins, and their son, Lucas. Fuchs has published numerous books of poetry, most recently Moving Pictures from Lew Gallery. Forthcoming are collaborations with Jason Morris for Asterisk and Brett Evans for Open 24 Hours.

Mark Lamoureux http://www.cygistpress.blogspot.com/ Mark Lamoureux lives in Astoria. BlazeVOX [books] published Astrometry Orgonon, his first full-length collection. He is the author of five chapbooks: Poem Stripped of Artifice (winner of the New School 2007 Chapbook Contest), Traceland, 29 Cheeseburgers, Film Poems, and City/ Temple. His work has been published in print and online in Fourteen Hills, Fence, Mustachioed, miPoesias, Jubilat, Denver Quarterly, Conduit, Lungfull!, Carve Poems, Coconut, and GutCult, among others. In 2006 he started Cy Gist Press, a micropress focusing on ekphrastic poetry.

Charles Mansfield http://www.reverbnation.com/charlesmansfield Charles Mansfield's sound has been compared to the likes of Neil Young, Frank Black, and The Mountain Goats. He has written songs since picking up a guitar forever ago. The past few years have seen Mansfield in New York constantly playing in various East Village and Brooklyn clubs. His current EP, All The Way, produced by Bill Racine, reflects a very personal and original approach. Monday Morning, his second EP, will be released this summer. "I want nothing more than to just keep writing, recording and performing and to share my experience and expression with as many people as possible," he says. • As is the case with many artists, there's a substantial difference between the recorded Charles Mansfield and the live Charles Mansfield.

Mansfield recorded—as evidenced by “Performing” and “All the Way” on his recent All the Way EP—is comprised of quiet songs with a sensitive supporting band. There is subtle piano on the latter track and gorgeous strings on the former.

Mansfield on stage is another matter entirely. He performs alone, with just voice and guitar to do the work of the entire recording ensemble. With no spare instrumentation, Mansfield’s high, sad moan tells most of the story.

“I book people I know will put on a good show and offer something to the audience,” Brian Speaker explains about the performers he’s invited to play The New York Antifolk Festival. "Each act is a well- rounded, talented act with lots to offer in the way of story, sound, and performance. I book folks who I know. “Charles Mansfield is a dark dude with a sensitive demeanor. He writes with his heart and finds a great groove at the same time."

Speaker cites “All the Way” as especially evocative. Its memorable chorus line, “Frank Sinatra tried suicide in a hotel elevator,” makes him insist about Mansfield: “Pay attention and you just may learn something.” —Jonathan Berger

Brett Price
http://sinkreview.org/poetry/benevolate-pole-ranges/
Brett Price lives and writes in Brooklyn, from where he coordinates the Friday Late Night Series at the Poetry Project at St. Mark’s Church.

Douglas Rothschild
DglsN.Rthscjhld has not accomplished much, so you probably haven't heard of him, which is really too bad.

Kimberly Ann Southwick http://www.giganticsequins.com Kimberly Ann Southwick is the founder and editor-in-chief of the literary arts journal Gigantic Sequins. She teaches grammar and literature at Rowan University and lives in Philadelphia. Her poetry has appeared in Big Lucks, The Broome Street Review, elimae, The Portable Boog Reader 3, and Sawbuck, and she has a poem forthcoming in Barrelhouse.

Nicole Wallace Nicole Wallace is the program assistant at The Poetry Project and the author of WHITE FLOWERS. More of her work can be found in Ribald Crow Powder Magazine, the Physical Poets Home Library Vol. 4, and 20012.

Meredith Walters http://www.anhinga.org/books/poet_info.cfm?poet_name=Meredith%20Walters Meredith Walters was raised in Yorktown, Va., and received an M.F.A. from the University of Arizona. She curates art and culture programs for the Brooklyn Public Library. Her poems have appeared in Conduit, Spout, Jubilat, Crowd, and Subtropics. Her book, All you have to do is ask, won the 2006 Anhinga Prize for poetry.

Ian Wilder http://www.onthewilderside.com Ian Wilder has been co-chair of the Green Party of New York state and has recorded spoken word with the Folk Groovin’ band Nylon & Steel. He and his wife Kimberly blend together politics and art on the above website.

Zinc

Austin Alexis http://www.pwpbooks.blogspot.com/ A Favor While one friend is trying to cope with his daughter's life- threatening accident, another friend is dealing with financial ruin. The need these two wounded men have for each other forms both the bond and the conflict during a day when both men are heading towards a climax and must make ethical decisions. They both must face the consequences of how they view the responsibilities and the limits of friendship. Roxanne Hoffman directs.

Austin Alexis has had plays performed and/or read at Henry Street Theater, The Samuel French Short Plays Festival, The Field Festivals at P.S. 122, and The Vineyard Theatre, Tribeca Theater Lab. He received Honorable Mention in the First Stage L. A. One-Act Contest. His short stories and poems have appeared in literary journals and anthologies. His For Lincoln & Other Poems (Poets Wear Prada Press) was named "Pick of the Month" by Small Press Review (California). He received a Bread Loaf Writers' Conference Scholarship and a Pushcart Prize nomination. He is currently working on fiction.

Charles Borkhuis http://www.writing.upenn.edu/pennsound/x/Borkhuis.php Flipper Can you flip for money? Toss yourself in the air and touch down on the business end of a bun? Wifey’s at home and baby makes three. Lose this job and you’re a burger away from a broken marriage, followed by a quick slide into Nightmare Alley. The sky was hemorrhaging bloody murder. No, it was only ketchup squeezed from the clouds. Starving but fat beyond my means, I was living in a shimmering city of lard. I know … I know my place. Eat corporate dust, suck burger smoke through a hose, and bite the bullet.

Charles Borkhuis is a poet, playwright, essayist, and screenwriter. His eight collections of poems include Afterimage, Savoir-fear, Alpha Ruins, Proximity (Stolen Arrows), and Disappearing Acts, forthcoming from Chax Press. He was a finalist for the W.C. Williams Poetry Award and is a recipient of a Drama-Logue Award. He recently translated New Exercises by Franck Andre Jamme from the French (Wave Books). He was a curator of poetry readings at Segue for 15 years. His poetry readings, interviews, and two radio plays for NPR can be found on the above URL.

Maria Brandt The Root People In The Root People, two young girls share secrets in the woods and in the process discover that isolation can be countered with tenderness. Maria Brandt was an artistic board member of The Bridge Theatre Company in Boston from 1996 to 2003. She teaches women in literature, dramatic literature, and creative writing at Monroe Community College, where she also directs The Sixth Act, an interdisciplinary drama initiative for faculty and students across campus and in the city of Rochester. The Root People has been workshopped at the Last Frontier Theatre Conference in Alaska and at Moving Arts Theatre Company in Los Angeles.

Joel Chace http://www.the-otolith.blogspot.com/2011/01/tom-beckett-interview-with-joel-chace.html The Cell The Cell explores what's not fun about fundamentalism but also proposes the possibility that the right sort of terrorist just might help her captive emerge, clear, on the other side of himself. Paten Hughes plays the role of Jamey. Her favorite performances include Irina in Three Sisters (directed by Eve Best); Evelyn in The Shape of Things; Portia in the European Premiere of Neil LaBute's Liar's Club— part of an Edinburgh Fringe Festival double-bill entitled Tits and Blood; Claire in Paula Vogel's The Long Christmas Ride Home; and Desdemona in Othello. Adam Klasfeld directs and plays the role of Moe. The artistic director of One Armed Man, Klasfeld is a writer and director drawn to theater that explores suppressed historical narratives and/or new aesthetic ground. Most recently, his docudrama The Report of My Death, about the once-censored and posthumously published details of Mark Twain's life and work, premiered to widespread critical acclaim in Manhattan.

Joel Chace has published more than a dozen print and electronic poetry collections, including Cleaning the Mirror: New and Selected Poems (BlazeVox [books]), matter no matter (Paper Kite Press), Scaffold (Country Valley Press), b(its) (Meritage Press), A Script (Otoliths Books), Sharpsburg (Cy Gist Press), and Blake's Tree (Blue & Yellow Dog Press). Two of his plays have been given staged readings in Manhattan: Triptych, at The Arclight Theatre, and Fundamentalism, at Under St. Marks.

Jennifer Hill
http://www.jenniferdunnhill.blogspot.com/
http://www.paperkitepress.com/
Three Turns
Three Turns explores the relationships of three different couples as their conversations unfold one at a time, and then once again, simultaneously.

Jennifer Hill is a poet, playwright, hoop dancer, editor at Paper Kite Press, and bookseller at Paper Kite Books. She can be found online at the above URLs.

Vincent Katz http://www.vincentkatz.com/ Veranda of The Grand Gables (excerpt) This play takes off from Tennessee Williams' use of characters trapped in a transient setting. In place of Williams' realistic development of character and psychological crises, however, it substitutes out-of- control senses of language and of literature, forcing them into disagreement with a “real world” that is by comparison brutal and insensitive. Shocks of juxtaposition, lapses of ordinary good manners, and severe conflicts based on an inability to communicate render this world by turns hilarious and unsettling.

Vincent Katz is a poet, translator, art critic, editor, and curator. He is the author of nine books of poetry, including Cabal of Zealots (Hanuman Books), Understanding Objects (Hard Press), and Rapid Departures (Ateliê Editorial). He won the 2005 National Translation Award, given by the American Literary Translators Association, for his book of translations from Latin, The Complete Elegies of Sextus Propertius (Princeton University Press). He is the editor of the poetry and arts journal VANITAS and Libellum books.

Eugenia Macer-Story
http://www.magickmirror.com/
Captain Midnight’s Spyglass Heart
Captain Midnight's Spyglass Heart is a new play in a series of published short stories and plays entitled The Captain Midnight Transmissions, words and music by Eugenia Macer-Story, featuring actors Cathie Boruch and Neal Kodinsky. A magickal adventure with Atlantean sorcerers and spirit mediums loose outside the ordinary timeline.
Photo pictures Kodinsky, Macer-Story, and Boruch.

Matt Reeck http://www.lit.konundrum.com/poetry/reeckm_poems.php
Panoptical Illusion: Two prisoners constantly visible, one warden constantly watching. In a world in which you are constantly visible, you are a prisoner. How can you redefine space then? What recourse, then? Actors are Ed Go, the co- founder of Other Rooms Press and co-editor of OR Online Poetry Journal, and Anthony Tavarez, who most recently played several roles in the King’s Crown Shakespeare Troupe’s production of Macbeth.

Matt Reeck has published poems and translations. His work appeared this past year in magazines including BOMB, Colorado Review, Fiction International, Juncture, Konundrum Literary Engine Review, The Brooklyn Rail, The Paris Magazine, and Two Lines. Work is forthcoming in American Letters & Commentary, Bombay Gin, LA Review, and Quarter after Eight. His dramatic work has appeared at Dixon Place and during St. Ann’s Labapalooza Festival in collaboration with the visual artist Deborah Simon.

*Monday

Cara Benson http://www.necessetics.com/ Cara Benson is the author of (made), published by BookThug, and Protean Parade, forthcoming from Black Radish Books. Her chapbook Quantum Chaos and Poems: A Manifest(o)ation won the 2008 bpNichol Prize. Editor of Predictions (ChainLinks), Benson is a member of the Belladonna* Collaborative and teaches poetry in a N.Y. State Prison.

Claire Donato http://www.somanytumbleweeds.com/ Claire Donato lives in Brooklyn; writes across genres; and has taught at Hunter College, The New School, Brown University, and 826 Valencia/ NYC. Recent writing has appeared or is forthcoming in Gulf Coast, Boston Review, Black Warrior Review, and Octopus. She holds an M.F.A. from Brown University, where she received the John Hawkes Prize in Fiction. Her first book, Burial, will be published by Tarpaulin Sky Press in Fall 2012.

Monica A. Hand http://alicejamesbooks.org/pages/book_page.php?bookID=164 Monica A. Hand is a poet and book artist who lives in Harlem, USA. Her manuscript “me and Nina” received a 2010 Kinereth Gensler Award from Alice James Books, and her poems have appeared in Aunt Chloe, Black Renaissance Noire, Naugatuck River Review, The Sow’s Ear, Drunken Boat, Beyond the Frontier, African-American Poetry for the 21st Century, Gathering Ground: A Reader Celebrating Cave Canem’s First Decade, and elsewhere. She has an M.F.A. in poetry and poetry in translation from Drew University and is a founding member of Poets for Ayiti.

Jibade-Khalil Huffman http://www.jibadekhalilhuffman.tumblr.com/ Jibade-Khalil Huffman is the author of 19 Names for Our Band (Fence Books) and James Brown Is Dead (Future Plan and Program). His art and writing projects have been exhibited and performed at MoMA/P.S.1, the Museum of Arts and Design in New York, and, most recently, at Mount Tremper Arts in Mount Tremper, N.Y.

Ish Klein http://www.poorclaudia.org/ http://itunes.apple.com/us/podcast/the-no-slander-podcast/id419725253 Ish Klein is the author of the poetry books Moving Day and Union!, both published by Canarium Press. She lives with Greg Purcell in Amherst, Mass., where they produce the poetry podcast Noslander. Poor Claudia of Portland, Ore. has released success Window, a compilation of her videos.

Michael Leong http://michaelleong.wordpress.com/ Michael Leong is the author of e.s.p. (Silenced Press), a collection of poetry, and I, the Worst of All (BlazeVOX [books]), a translation of the Chilean poet Estela Lamat. Forthcoming titles include Cutting Time with a Knife (Black Square Editions/The Brooklyn Rail) and The Philosophy of Decomposition/Re-Composition as Explanation (Delete Press).

Sheila Maldonado
http://www.twc.org/workshops/writer/36
Sheila Maldonado's poems have been published in Callaloo, Rattapallax, Stretching Panties, The Portable Boog Reader, and online in The Acentos Review.

She teaches creative writing for the City University of New York and through Teachers & Writers Collaborative. She divides her time between Washington Heights and Coney Island.

Ekoko Pauline Omadeke Ekoko Pauline Omadeke is a graduate of New York University's M.F.A. in Creative Writing Program and is a Cave Canem fellow. Her work has been published in No, Dear Magazine and Ars Poetica. She is the founder and former curator of the Southern Writers Reading Series at Happy Ending Lounge.

Greg Purcell http://www.noslander.com/ Greg Purcell’s poetry has appeared in Fence, The Agriculture Reader, Open City, The Exquisite Corpse, and New American Writing. He does a podcast with poet Ish Klein called No Slander, which you can find at the above URL.

Joe Crow Ryan http://www.cdbaby.com/cd/joecrowryan Joe Crow Ryan is a Subway busker who has studied acting, movement, and nursing. He studied performance (via TV) with Jimmy Durante, Buddy Ebsen, Ella Fitzgerald, and others. Ryan won an OOBR Award for Outstanding Performance as Helicanus in Pericles in 2001. Performances and the sales of recordings have been his sole source for scant income since 2007. “Living the Dream is like nothing I had dreamt,” he said.

Kathrin Schaeppi http://www.ellectriquepress.com/home/about-ellectrique.html Kathrin Schaeppi is the author of Sonja Sekula : Grace in a cow’s EYE : a memoir (Black Radish Books, 2011), a poetic memoir in homage to the word pictures of the versatile, underrepresented Swiss poet- painter Sonja Sekula, who lived from 1918 to 1963. Creative and critical work has appeared in diverse hardcopy and online journals. Through her small press, ellectrique, Schaeppi has issued Anne Blonstein’s correspondence with nobody and Spelling ( ) Bound, a collaborative objet d’art in a limited edition. Schaeppi lives in Basel, Switzerland.

Mark Statman www.amazon.com/Tourist-at-Miracle-Mark-Statman/dp/1934909165/ref=sr_1_6?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1262468973&sr=1-6 Mark Statman’s most recent books are the poetry collection Tourist at a Miracle (Hanging Loose) and a translation, with Pablo Medina, of Federico García Lorca’s Poet in New York (Grove Press). Author of Listener in the Snow (Teachers & Writers), and, with Christian McEwen, co-editor of The Alphabet of the Trees: A Guide to Nature Writing (Teachers & Writers), his poetry, essays, and translations have appeared in nine other anthologies, as well as such publications as Tin House, Hanging Loose, Performing Arts Journal, The Cincinnati Review, The Hat, Bayou, The Portable Boog Reader 4, Occasional Religion, Washington Square, conduit, Subtopics, The Florida Review, Ping•Pong, and American Poetry Review. He has been featured on Poetry Daily, The Bob Edwards Show, The Leonard Lopate Show, The Moe Greene Poetry Discussion, and PBS New York Voices. He has recently completed Black Tulips: The Selected Poems of José María Hinojosa and is at work on translating the poems of Mario Benedetti. He is an associate professor of literary studies at Eugene Lang College, The New School.

*Tuesday

Black Radish Books http://www.blackradishbooks.org/ Black Radish Books' collective editorial focus is to publish and promote innovative books of poetry. Because it operates as a collective, with all member-authors contributing various talents other than the poetic to the publishing of member-authors, Black Radish Books' goal is to allow members, not the artistic conscience of a press, to dictate the aesthetic. As such, their bent is best described as eclectic, with focus on the difficult and the surprising. All Black Radish Books poets are well-established creators of innovative poetry and have been carefully selected based on the quality of their poetry, their publication history, promotional/marketing ability (as established micro-presses, or as regular promoters of), and demonstrated commitment to actively supporting diverse poetries, poetics, and their numerous aesthetics.

Bruce Covey http://www.coconutpoetry.org/ Bruce Covey is the author of five books of poetry, including, most recently, Glass Is Really a Liquid (No Tell Books) and the forthcoming Reveal (Black Radish Books). He lives in Atlanta, where he teaches at Emory University, edits Coconut Poetry, and curates the What's New in Poetry reading series.

Carrie Hunter http://ypolitapress.blogspot.com/ Carrie Hunter received her M.F.A./M.A. from The New College of California Poetics program and edits the small chapbook press ypolita press. Her first book, The Incompossible, is out with Black Radish Books, and she has several chapbooks, including Vorticells (Cy Gist Press), A Musics (Arrow as Aarow), and Diary (Dusie). She lives in San Francisco.

Mark Lamoureux
(see Sun. Aug. 7, 12:00 p.m.)

Marci Nelligan Marci Nelligan is a teacher, poet, and toddler-wrangler. Her first collection of poems is due out this winter from Black Radish Books. In addition, she has published two chapbooks and is the co-editor of Intersection, an interdisciplinary book on Jane Jacobs. Her work has appeared in Jacket, The Denver Quarterly, The New Orleans Review, How2, and other journals. She was the 1999 recipient of Poets & Writers' "Writers on Site" grant and has an M.F.A. in poetry from Mills College.

Marthe Reed http://www.ucs.louisiana.edu/~mxr5675/ Marthe Reed has published two books, Gaze (Black Radish Books) and Tender Box, A Wunderkammer, with drawings by Rikki Ducornet (Lavender Ink), as well as two chapbooks, (em)bodied bliss and zaum alliterations, both part of the Dusie Kollektiv Series. A third chapbook is just out from Dusie Kollektiv 5, a collaboration with poet/ artist j/j hastain, post•cards: Lafayette á Lafayette. Her poetry has appeared in New American Writing, Golden Handcuffs Review, New Orleans Review, HOW2, MiPoesias, Big Bridge, Moria, Fairy Tale Review, Exquisite Corpse, and EOAGH, among others. Her manuscript, "an earth of sweetness dances in the vein," was a finalist in Ahsahta Press' 2006 Sawtooth Poetry Contest. She has guest edited an issue of Ekleksographia and served as assistant editor for Dusie Kollektiv; she teaches in the English department at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette, where she serves as the director of creative writing. Further information about her work can be found on her homepage at the above URL.

Cat Rockefeller http://www.reverbnation.com/catrockefeller You remember that last AntiFolk Festival at the Sidewalk, before it got shut down for some urban legendary reason? You remember how, during one of those last nights, Berth Control rocked the house, shocked the crowd, broke some tables, required some hospitalization, and got some stitches? While the band leader, Brent Cole, masterminded that chaos, looking on, somewhat embarrassed between call and response shouts, was the vocalist otherwise known as Cat Rockefeller. Brian Speaker, the Festival's musical curator, says "Cat Rockefeller is a bad ass! She rocks as a front woman to Berth Control, and her own songs are very personal."

Playing a minimalist acoustic blues, Cat Rockefeller solo is not about raucous energy, but rather presenting a thoughtful, soulful exploration —the kind that can only be made between a girl, her bedroom, and her recording software.

Regularly touring the Union Square L Station, Rockefeller will take time for an above-ground gig to show off some of her latest material (her latest on bandcamp.com is mere months old). Though she defies easy categorization, Speaker was quick with a description: "No bullshit; just good, honest songwriting with a great voice." —Jonathan Berger

Kathrin Schaeppi
(see Mon. Aug. 8, 6:40 p.m.)

Jill Stengel
(see Fri. Aug. 5, 8:55 p.m.)

David Wolach
http://ekleksographia.ahadadabooks.com/issuetwo/authors/david_wolach.html
David Wolach is editor of Wheelhouse Magazine & Press and an active participant in Nonsite Collective. Wolach's first full-length collection, Occultations, has just been published by Black Radish Books. Other books include the multi-media transliteration plus chapbook, Prefab Eulogies Volume 1: Nothings Houses (BlazeVox [books]), the full-length "Hospitalogy" (chapbook of the same title forthcoming from Scantily Clad Press), and book alter(ed) (Ungovernable Press).

A former union organizer and performing artist, Wolach's work often begins as site-specific and interactive performance and ends up as shaped, written language. Recent work appears in Jacket, Aufgabe, Try Magazine, No Tell Motel, and Little Red Leaves. Wolach is professor of text arts, poetics, and aesthetics at The Evergreen State College, co- curating the PRESS Text Arts & Radical Politics Series there, and is visiting professor in Bard College's Workshop in Language and Thinking.

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://boogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

37. Mark Melnicove
Bern Porter's Found Poems Republished
Thu 7 Jul 2011

Nightboat Books has re-published Bern Porter's 1972 Something Else Press classic, FOUND POEMS, with new preface by David Byrne, introduction by Joel Lipman, and afterword by me. You can order it here:

http://www.upne.com/0-9822645-9-3.html

If you are interested in receiving a review copy, please back channel me.

Mark Melnicove

↑ Index

38. Séamas Cain
Verbal Experiments
Thu 7 Jul 2011

VERBAL EXPERIMENTS ...

with Sarah Maria Griff

and Graham Tugwell

http://www.wurmimapfel.net

12 July 2011 at 8:00 p.m.

at the CAT AND CAGE, 74 Drumcondra Road Upper,
Dublin 9, Ireland

Sarah Maria Griff has just published her first collection of poems, "Follies." She's a veteran of every performance stage in Ireland, and a few elsewhere, having travelled to New York earlier this year to showcase Irish performance poetry with Stephen James Smith, Dave Lordan, Karl Parkinson and Kalle Ryan.

She blogs here : http://wordfury.blogspot.com/

When Graham Tugwell is not writing his PhD on the Superman as a manifestation of Lamarckian evolution in popular literature of the period 1870-1945, he does terrible things with chemicals.

And Wrong Prayer.

http://grahamtugwell.com/

Plus : get your hands on your own little crucible;

open mic at this event.

Sign up on the night.

That, folks, is experimental.

Free admission.

And for more :

http://www.wurmimapfel.net

or, email [redacted]

↑ Index

39. Stephen Vincent
(no subject)
Fri 8 Jul 2011

Catherine Mulholland, who was Jack Spicer's one and only ever wife, albeit briefly, has passed away. She was the grand daughter of William Muholland, the engineer and powerbroker, who oversaw the construction of the controversial 230 mile aqueduct that brought water from the Owens Valley to Los Angeles. (Think "Chinatown" & you get some of the picture). A UC Berkeley grad she was apparently attracted to - or was attract to - aesthetic power brokers . In addition to Spicer, starting in late youth she became a lifelong friend of Charles Mingus and was friendly with many of the Beat poets, Ginsberg et al. See obit in today's San Francisco Chronicle.

↑ Index

40. charles alexander
Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO -- now available!
Sat 9 Jul 2011

Dear Friends,

Last night a group of 7 people in the Chax Press studio finished hand- binding the oversized, letterpress-printed chapbook FEMINAFESTO, by Anne Waldman. Just 160 numbered copies and 10 artist's proof lettered copies exist and are available for sale. These hand printed works will retail for $25, but from now through July 18 only they are available to you for $20, with shipping (domestic US first class or book rate mail only) paid by the publisher. Two-color, red and black, printing, with powerful images, present this feminist and humanist "Torques of Tongue" manifesto that calls us to action and to poetry, for "Poetry is not empire buiilding. It deterritorializes empire."

To purchase this book immediately at this temporary price, you must send a check for $20 (send more if you want to help Chax Press continue to produce such works), made out to Chax Press, to

Chax Press
411 N 7th Ave Ste 103
Tucson, AZ 85705-8388

and include instructions as to where we can send your copy of this limited edition book. Your order with payment must be postmarked on or before July 18. If you are ordering from outside the USA, please estimate and include sufficient postage for a book shipment.

Or you can call us and place a credit card order, but not until Monday, July 11, at [redacted]. Call between 9am and 2pm Mountain Standard Time (Arizona does not observe daylight saving time). Please be patient with us, if we are not present to answer immediately, as we will return your call.

The book will soon be available on our web site, and we will send an updated announcement when that happens.

Here is the colophon statement for Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO --

Thanks to Anne Waldman for allowing Chax Press to print Feminafesto. This book was printed and sewn in 105 to 110 degree heat in late June and early July 2011 in our Tucson, Arizona studio, with fans blowing from two directions on the printer at the Vandercook Press.
Type, wood type, and polymer plates were all used in the printing process. Charles Alexander completed the bulk of the printing, with valuable assistance from Johann Martinez. The cuts used as visual information in the book have been re-purposed from original work by Sonia Telesco and Cynthia Miller. All papers used were found under the main table in our studio, and include Bristol for covers and Mohawk Superfine for text. Type is Goudy Old Style and a wood type given to us by friends.
160 numbered copies and about 10 lettered artist's proof copies, and the copy you are now reading is [the number]

charles alexander
[redacted]

chax press / poetry & the book arts
411 n seventh ave ste 103 / tucson, az 85705-8388

DONATE TO CHAX PRESS at http://chax.org/donate.htm
Chax Press is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and your contribution is tax deductible.

↑ Index

41. Jonathan Morse

Pound and other modernists: an important new online resource

Sat 9 Jul 2011

The archives of _The Freewoman, The New Freewoman_, and _The Egoist_ are now online. Here's the story, with link.

http://magmods.wordpress.com/2011/07/08/egoist-and-new-freewoman-free-for-all/

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

42. charles alexander

Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO -- now available!

Sat 9 Jul 2011

Dear Friends,

Chax is offering two handmade letterpress works as a bundle, with free shipping, until July 18, 2011.

Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO, usually $25. Eileen Myles's PENCIL POEMS, usually $16 Both books printed letterpress, hand bound, PENCIL POEMS with handmade paper covers, FEMINAFESTO an oversized chapbook. PENCIL POEMS is signed and has a title page illustration. FEMINAFESTO is illustrated throughout.

Now until July 18, FEMINAFESTO $20 and we pay shipping (domestic US only) or BOTH for $30 and we pay shipping (domestic US only).

Here is where I would show images to entice you, but the poetics list does not allow images. You can find images on facebook, on the "friends of chax press" page -- and join that group while you are there!

To purchase immediately at this temporary price, you must send a check made out to Chax Press, to

Chax Press
411 N 7th Ave Ste 103
Tucson, AZ 85705-8388

and include instructions as to where we can send your copy of this limited edition book. Your order with payment must be postmarked on or before July 18. If you are ordering from outside the USA, please estimate and include sufficient postage for a book shipment.

Or you can call us and place a credit card order, but not until Monday, July 11, at [redacted]. Call between 9am and 2pm Mountain Standard Time (Arizona does not observe daylight saving time). Please be patient with us, if we are not present to answer immediately, as we will return your call.

The book will soon be available on our web site, and we will send an updated announcement when that happens.

charles alexander
[redacted]

chax press / poetry & the book arts
411 n seventh ave ste 103 / tucson, az 85705-8388

DONATE TO CHAX PRESS at http://chax.org/donate.htm
Chax Press is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and your contribution is tax deductible.

↑ Index

43. Catherine Daly
Open Letter to Small Press Distribution (SPD)
Sat 9 Jul 2011

Dear SPD:

You have long provided a valuable service. You have responded quickly to changing technology in some measure, and so have been able to support the burgeoning numbers of small press publishers in the technology changes that make more and more great books possible to make.

Please at your earliest convenience start supporting digital (.pdf, kindle, MP3, whatever) downloads, and/or conversion for our books to that format for vending. Some of us who know how to do that are willing to help with specifications and processes at least.

Additionally, can SPD openly consider -- perhaps debate -- used book sales a la half.com/eBay or Amazon (and Borders' original business model -- one which abandoning caused the corporation to fail?)?

I have lots of thoughts on this last bit. But if it is a profit center for Amazon, was for Borders (and many independent bookstores still), why not small presses?

All best,
Catherine Daly
i.e. Press, Publisher

Author:
Salt Publishing
Ahadada Books
Tupelo Press
Shearsman factory school blue lion
Moria

Enthusiast:
BlazeVox
Tinfish
Meritage
Kelsey Street
Green Integer
and so, so many more...

↑ Index

44. Stephen Vincent
Re: (Mistake on Jack Spicer's once wife obit)
Sat 9 Jul 2011

I misread the obit for Kate Mulholland. Spicer did have a romance with her but not a marriage. Kevin Killian and Lew Ellingham have the facts right.: Â -->â€˜All through the summer of 1949, Kate was giving serious thought to marrying Jack. She invited him to her familyâ€™s huge ranch in southern California, where he got along famously with her father, a man few of her boyfriends ever could please. But in the autumn Kate surprised everyone, including herself, by suddenly marrying another man, Gerald Hurley.â€™ Apologies to any folks who were seriously imagining even a brief Jack Spicer marriage - not that he did not have close women friends.

Stephen Vincent
Â

Â
Â

↑ Index

45. Adam Fieled
6 Pack on Fair Game
Sun 10 Jul 2011

Here are six new pieces up on Adam Fieled's Fair Game:

"In the Middle with Eric Clapton":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/07/in-middle-with-eric-clapton.html

"Hang the DJ":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/07/hang-dj.html

"Facebook Rock":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/07/facebook-rock.html

"Female Rock and the Nasty":
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/07/female-rock-and-nasty.html

"Which Side Are You On?"
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/07/which-side-are-you-on.html

"Rock (Death?) Cults"
http://fieledsfairgame.blogspot.com/2011/07/rock-death-cults.html

Hope you enjoy these.
Best,
Adam

↑ Index

46. Dan Wilcox
Poets in the Park, July 9, Albany, NY
Sun 10 Jul 2011

Poets in the Park 2011

Saturdays in July

at the Robert Burns statue
Washington Park, Albany
at Henry Johnson Blvd. & Hudson Ave.

July 16, 7PM
Cara Benson
Gary Metras

Free! & open to the public (just like the park)

Bring a chair or blanket to sit on

Rain site: the Social Justice Center, 33 Central Ave.

sponsored by
the Poetry Motel Foundation & the Hudson Valley Writers Guild

↑ Index

47. charles alexander
Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO -- now available!
Mon 11 Jul 2011

Dear Friends,

This offer is now available online at http://chax.org

Please do not reply to the poetics list.

Chax is offering two handmade letterpress works as a bundle, with free shipping, until July 18, 2011.

Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO, usually $25. Eileen Myles's PENCIL POEMS, usually $16 Both books printed letterpress, hand bound, PENCIL POEMS with handmade paper covers, FEMINAFESTO an oversized chapbook. PENCIL POEMS is signed and has a title page illustration. FEMINAFESTO is illustrated throughout.

Now until July 18, FEMINAFESTO $20 and we pay shipping (domestic US only)
or BOTH for $30 and we pay shipping (domestic US only).

If you prefer not to order online, send a check made out to Chax Press, to

Chax Press
411 N 7th Ave Ste 103
Tucson, AZ 85705-8388

and include instructions as to where we can send your copy of this limited edition book. Your order with payment must be postmarked on or before July 18. If you are ordering from outside the USA, please estimate and include sufficient postage for a book shipment.

Or you can call us and place a credit card order, but not until Monday, July 11, at [redacted]. Call between 9am and 2pm Mountain Standard Time (Arizona does not observe daylight saving time). Please be patient with us, if we are not present to answer immediately, as we will return your call.

charles alexander
[redacted]

chax press / poetry & the book arts
411 n seventh ave ste 103 / tucson, az 85705-8388

DONATE TO CHAX PRESS at http://chax.org/donate.htm
Chax Press is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and your contribution is tax deductible.

↑ Index

48. Gerald Schwartz
Mina Loy
Mon 11 Jul 2011

---

on his new album thurston moore namechecks/homage(s) mina loy

g.e. schwartz

↑ Index

49. Christophe Casamassima

100,000 Recordings for Change

Mon 11 Jul 2011

As part of the 100,000 Poets for Change event on September 24, I will be recording my friends, family and colleagues as well as new and inspiring voices reading their own or their favorite poems for a website that will be developed in the late summer. This is all in lieu of a grand project Doug Mowbray and I are developing as a poetry non-profit, which will include an extensive small press library and a network of teachers, poets and community leaders.

The project is simple: record the voices of all who find in poetry a means to understand themselves and their environment, and to to develop a sustainable community ethic wherein creative literacy is at the forefront of civility and compassion.

Anyone in the Baltimore area is invited to join in this project. If you'd like to help with any facet of this experiment, be it recording or editing audio/video for our website (tba), of if you'd like to read your favorite poems, please contact me at [redacted].

Cheers!

Christophe Casamassima

↑ Index

50. Catherine Daly

Fwd: Open Letter to Small Press Distribution (SPD)

Mon 11 Jul 2011

Dear Catherine, We always love when a question can be answered with, "Ask and you shall receive!" SPD is in fact now able to offer digital formats of books. and you will see our very first e-titles available very soon (the actual files are being created right now). Because of the way that e-readers (like Kindle and iPads, for example) work, you will actually download most digital SPD titles directly through your particular device, but the books will indeed be from SPD. As for used books, unfortunately we simply don't have a warehouse with the space to house used books. It's also an issue (and something worthy of discussion by all who buy used books) that used book sales generate no profit for either publishers or authors (that only happens when a book is initially sold). So, while as readers ourselves we certainly love used books and would certainly prefer buying them through an entity like SPD, it wouldn't make sense for our business model (practical matters of space aside). For now, we hope that the digital books we will soon be providing will be welcome by SPD readers and that this might become a terrific way for many of the titles we make available to be available long beyond their traditional print runs. As you probably know, for now, ebook formats are not particularly friendly to poetry or other types of writing where things like line breaks are integral to a text, but there are a number of solutions on the near horizon. We look forward to being able to offer a considerable number of SPD titles in digital formats in the very near future. As for print books, as long as readers keep buying them, publishers can keep producing them. Digital or print, long live the book! All best, The folks at SPD

--
Laura Moriarty
Deputy Director
Small Press Distribution
[redacted]

↑ Index

51. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "Harmonia" by Don Share

Mon 11 Jul 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œHarmoniaâ€ by Don Share
Description:
Harmonia is the immortal goddess of concord and harmony. Despite the cheering poetry implied in that description, she was renowned for receiving a fatal necklace on her wedding day that brought misfortune to all who possessed it. More happily: harmonia is the natural state of being of all living things, according to Plato; itâ€™s a genus of beetles, and of weeds, a particularly sublime Krautrock band; an asteroid. And, encompassing vibrations from all these juxtaposed things, it is also the title of this collection of slightly dissonant outfakes or B-sides (as he calls them) by Don Share.
Available as a free ebook here:
http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/harmonia/16247566
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

52. Catherine Daly

Re: Pound and other modernists: an important new online resource

Mon 11 Jul 2011

---

this copyright expiration rocks for modernist studies! pls keep sending links...

On Sat, Jul 9, 2011 at 1:02 AM, Jonathan Morse <[redacted]> wrote:
> The archives of _The Freewoman, The New Freewoman_, and _The Egoist_ are now > online. Here's the story, with link.

>
> http://magmods.wordpress.com/2011/07/08/egoist-and-new-freewoman-free-for-all/
>
> Jonathan Morse
>

↑ Index

53. Catherine Daly
Re: Pound and other modernists: an important new online resource
Mon 11 Jul 2011

---

oh, or is that studies of modernism -- I think I prefer modernist studies -- what is studies in a modernist way? d'oh.

On Mon, Jul 11, 2011 at 3:59 PM, Catherine Daly <[redacted]> wrote: > this copyright expiration rocks for modernist studies! pls keep > sending links...
>

↑ Index

54. Camille Martin
"Stand back! I am no Magdalene . . ."
Mon 11 Jul 2011

---

new @ Rogue Embryo
http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com

* Adah Isaacs Menken (1835 – 1868), proto-feminist http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/06/30/adah-isaacs-menken-1835-1868-american-actress-poet-proto-feminist/

Check back in a couple of weeks for my illustrated essay on the life and poetry of this 19th-century lioness of stage and poetry.

Cheers!
Camille Martin

Sonnets:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781848610705/sonnets.aspx

Codes of Public Sleep:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781897388112/codes-of-public-sleep.aspx

↑ Index

55. Jennifer Karmin
Red Rover Series / Experiment #48
Tue 12 Jul 2011

Red Rover Series
{readings that play with reading}

Experiment #48:
Magnetic Affinities & Altered Relations

SATURDAY, JULY 16
7pm / doors lock 7:30

Featuring:
Jai Arun Ravine
Zihan Loo
Marissa Perel
Oli Rodriguez

An evening of text-based performance, sound and video works that channel haunting discontinuities between identity, place, desire and visibility. Guest curated by Marissa Perel.

at Outer Space Studio
1474 N. Milwaukee Ave
Chicago, Illinois
suggested donation $4

logistics --
near CTA Damen blue line
third floor walk up
not wheelchair accessible

JAI ARUN RAVINE is a Thai American inter-media artist. Ze is the author of the chapbook "Is This January" (Corollary Press, 2010), "The Spiderboi Files" and a full-length book of poems forthcoming from Tinfish Press. Hir short experimental film on Thai trans-masculinities, "Tom/Trans/Thai," recently exhibited at the Bangkok Art and Culture Center, Thailand. A Kundiman fellow, their poetry, essays, reviews and visual art have appeared in Drunken Boat, Lantern Review, Journal of Southeast Asian American Education and Advancement, TinFish 18, Delirious Hem and Galatea Resurrects, among others. Find Jai online at jaiarunravine.wordpress.com.

ZIHAN LOO is a moving-image, performance and installation artist raised in Singapore and currently based in Chicago. He received a MFA from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago in 2011. His films have been screened in various film festivals including AFI Fest (L.A.), Pusan International Film Festival, Newfest (New York City) and Frameline (San Francisco). He has had recent exhibitions and showings at NEXT / Art Chicago, Zhou B Art Center and Defibrillator. He is the recipient of a James Nelson Raymond Fellowship from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago.

MARISSA PEREL is a performance artist, writer and independent curator. Her work has shown internationally at such venues as MCA and Links Hall, Chicago, Dance Theater Workshop, NY and the D.I.V.O Institute, Czech Republic. Her exhibition, â€œFor a long time all I could do was surrenderâ€ will open at Spoke Gallery on July 23. She is curator of the group show â€œSPLAYâ€ at Roxaboxen Exhibitions, August 26-Sept.18. Perelâ€™s writing is in the Art21 Blog, Bad at Sports, Time Out Chicago, Chicago Art Magazine and Tarpaulin Sky Literary Journal. She received her M.F.A from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago and B.A. from Naropa University.

OLI RODRIGUEZ is an interdisciplinary artist working in video, photography and performance. His projects conceptually intersect and dialogue within consent, queerness, childhood and sexuality. Oli has screened, performed, lectured, curated and exhibited at institutions and museums such as, Schwarzer Kanal, Berlin, Germany, Smart Museum, University of Chicago, Co-Prosperity Sphere, Chicago IL, X Initiative Gallery, New York, NY, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY, The Swimming Pool Project, Chicago, IL and Nightingale, Chicago, IL. Currently, he is a part of the Photography Department faculty at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago. He received his BA from DePaul University and MFA from the School of the Art Institute of Chicago.

RED ROVER SERIES is curated by Laura Goldstein and Jennifer Karmin. Each event is designed as a reading experiment with participation by local, national, and international writers, artists, and performers. The series was founded in 2005 by Amina Cain and Jennifer Karmin.

Email ideas for reading experiments
to us at [redacted]

The schedule for events is listed at
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

WOW WOW WOW
Red Rover Series
on facebook? why not?

↑ Index

56. Camille Martin
Review of Ken Belford's Decompositions: "I resisted the ordered metaphors of threat"
Tue 12 Jul 2011

---

new @ Rogue Embryo (http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com)

* Review of Ken Belford's Decompositions: Intelligent Nature

http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/2011/07/11/review-of-ken-belfords-decompositions-intelligent-nature/

Cheers!
Camille Martin

Sonnets:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781848610705/sonnets.aspx

Codes of Public Sleep:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781897388112/codes-of-public-sleep.aspx

↑ Index

57. Camille Martin poetry & collage website
Tue 12 Jul 2011

Please have a look at my newly spruced-up website—it’s leaner and cleaner and easier to navigate:

http://www.camillemartin.ca

The site includes

* reviews & links for my poetry books * slide shows of many of my collages
* artist statement
* schedule of readings and exhibitions

I hope you enjoy the perusing!

Cheers,
Camille

Sonnets:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781848610705/sonnets.aspx

Codes of Public Sleep:
http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9781897388112/codes-of-public-sleep.aspx

↑ Index

58. charles alexander

FEMINAFESTO & PENCIL POEMS: Waldman & Myles

Tue 12 Jul 2011

Dear Friends,

(I'll be sending a reminder of this today, and a couple more until Monday, when the offer disappears. The books may disappear, too, as we're getting orders regularly. And when the limited editions are gone . . . they really are gone. This offer expires at the end of the day on Monday, July 18)

Chax is offering two handmade letterpress works as a bundle, with free shipping, until July 18, 2011. Order by sending check, or on our web site at http://chax.org

Anne Waldman's FEMINAFESTO, usually $25. Eileen Myles's PENCIL POEMS, usually $16 Both books printed letterpress, hand bound, PENCIL POEMS with handmade paper covers, FEMINAFESTO an oversized chapbook. PENCIL POEMS is signed and has a title page illustration. FEMINAFESTO is illustrated throughout.

Now until July 18, FEMINAFESTO $20 and we pay shipping (domestic US only)
or BOTH for $30 and we pay shipping (domestic US only).

Images of the books are available on our web site, chax.org

To purchase immediately at this temporary price, you can send a check made out to Chax Press, to

Chax Press
411 N 7th Ave Ste 103
Tucson, AZ 85705-8388

and include instructions as to where we can send your copy of this limited edition book. Your order with payment must be postmarked on or before July 18. If you are ordering from outside the USA, please estimate and include sufficient postage for a book shipment.

You can also call in an order at [redacted]. CPlease be patient with us, if we are not present to answer immediately, as we will return your call.

The book is also available on our web site, chax.org, at this special price. See the notice on the first page of the web site.

charles alexander
[redacted]

chax press / poetry & the book arts
411 n seventh ave ste 103 / tucson, az 85705-8388

DONATE TO CHAX PRESS at http://chax.org/donate.htm
Chax Press is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and your contribution is tax deductible.

↑ Index

59. Jonathan Morse

Photobook "Blue / Sky"

Tue 12 Jul 2011

To download my newest book, a dozen images of this rainy summer in Hawaii, go to my blog at http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net , scroll down to the veneered bookshelf at the bottom of the screen, and click on the cover. It's free.

Jon

↑ Index

60. Rob McLennan

new(ish) on rob's clever blog

Wed 13 Jul 2011

-- Wayde Compton, After Canaan: Essays on Race, Writing and Region
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Hailey Hidgon
-- The Factory Reading Series: A reading/talk with Janice Williamson
-- Some notes on Sachiko Murakami's Project Rebuild
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Miriam Toews
-- Diane Woodward: Fancy Art
-- the end of history: Ridgemont Avenue,
-- The Shining Material, Aisha Sasha John
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Amanda Ackerman and Harold Abramowitz on eohippus labs
-- four new poems now on-line at Stride magazine (UK)
-- rob's new editing service: poetry manuscript reading, editing, evaluation
-- Robert Kroetsch tribute/memorial reading, Ottawa
-- Happy Canada Day!
-- today would have been mum's seventy-first birthday
-- Ongoing notes: Toronto + Ottawa small press fairs
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Marthe Reed
-- Roy Miki, Mannequin Rising
-- my father turned seventy years old today;
-- (another) very short story;

-- Erin Moure, Pillage Laud
-- Robert Kroetsch (June 26, 1927-June 21, 2011)
-- the ottawa small press book fair this Saturday!
-- The Capilano Review 3.14: The George Stanley Issue
-- Ongoing notes: mid-June, 2011
-- the end of history: Ridgemont Avenue,
-- Ongoing notes: the dusie kollectiv,

www.robmclennan.blogspot.com

now with a paypal donate/support button!

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

61. Dan Coffey

Re: Open Letter to Small Press Distribution (SPD)

Wed 13 Jul 2011

Catherine, I worked for Borders for a number of years, and to my knowledge, the resale of used books was not something that they ever got involved in (unless this happened after 2000). Unless you mean the original Borders store in Ann Arbor - perhaps they engaged in the sale of used books, but I hardly think that contributed to their downfall as a corporation.

Best,

Dan

On Sat, Jul 9, 2011 at 5:58 PM, Catherine Daly <[redacted]> wrote:
> Dear SPD:
>
> You have long provided a valuable service. You have responded quickly > to changing technology in some measure, and so have been able to > support the burgeoning numbers of small press publishers in the > technology changes that make more and more great books possible to > make.
>
> Please at your earliest convenience start supporting digital (.pdf, > kindle, MP3, whatever) downloads, and/or conversion for our books to > that format for vending. Some of us who know how to do that are > willing to help with specifications and processes at least.
>

> Additionally, can SPD openly consider -- perhaps debate -- used book > sales a la half.com/eBay or Amazon (and Borders' original business > model -- one which abandoning caused the corporation to fail?)?
>
> I have lots of thoughts on this last bit. But if it is a profit > center for Amazon, was for Borders (and many independent bookstores > still), why not small presses?
>
> All best,
> Catherine Daly
> i.e. Press, Publisher
>
> Author:
> Salt Publishing
> Ahadada Books
> Tupelo Press
> Shearsman
> factory school > blue lion
> Moria
>
> Enthusiast:
> BlazeVox
> Tinfish
> Meritage
> Kelsey Street
> Green Integer
> and so, so many more...
>
>

↑ Index

62. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Country Without a Name” by Ann Bogle

Wed 13 Jul 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œCountry Without a Nameâ€ by Ann Bogle

Description:

Of â€œCountry Without a Nameâ€, Morgan Harlow writes: â€˜Ann Bogleâ€™s latest collection of memoir fiction, is a sequence of thoughts, dreams and conversations. Here white petunias are cut with scissors to make a name, values are placed as if they were tarot cards, and approximations of the sublime are revealed in mathematical detail. â€œCountry Without a Nameâ€ recalls the work of Dada poet Tristan Tzara (whose name means â€œcountryâ€ in Romanian) and the semi-autobiographical pharmaceutical quests and cut-up text collages of William S. Burroughs. Bogle rebels, defines and ultimately defies hierarchies. Her writing, manifesto-like, hints at what might have been learned from Andre Bretonâ€™s Nadja if we had been given her diary to read, along with the idea that non-being dwells in language the same as being does, or in Bogleâ€™s words: â€˜Not to be she is embodiedâ€™.

Available as a free ebook here:

http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/country-without-a-name/16254410

Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:

http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

63. Jim Andrews
4 HTML 5
Thu 14 Jul 2011

Here's a little review I wrote of four new HTML 5 works:
http://netartery.vispo.com/?p=1061

HTML 5 is touted as an open source replacement of the proprietary Flash. I talk about that a bit and then look at four interesting art works created with HTML 5.

A brief description of the first two pieces reviewed:

Chris Milk and The Arcade Fire, the Montréal band who won a Grammy for best album this year with The Suburbs, have produced an excellent interactive alternative to the music video that I review and link to.

Some dudes from France, Maxime Simon and Pete, have produced quite a remarkable online game called Canvas Rider totally with HTML 5. The look of this game is perhaps the most remarkable thing about it. Very unusual and hand drawn. That and its ability to run fullscreen very smoothly. And the way that kids have responded to the ability for them to create new skins or maps for the game with their own pencil drawings.

ja
http://vispo.com

↑ Index

64. Jonathan Morse
For your students: how to be a writer
Thu 14 Jul 2011

Possibly useful blogpost:

http://mollybackes.blogspot.com/2011/07/how-to-be-writer.html

For my own students I retell a story I've heard about the now unread Sinclair Lewis, a wretchedly unhappy man and a prolific but not very good novelist who nevertheless did some good in his own time as a social satirist. After Lewis became the first American to win the Nobel Prize in literature (1930), an attempt was made to turn him into a respectable man of letters -- not a particularly promising idea, because he was a stone alcoholic. Nevertheless, after he returned from Stockholm there did come an invitation to address the students at Columbia. The auditorium there was large and full, but when Lewis took the stage he turned out to be seriously drunk.

He stumbled over to the lectern and made the effort to focus on the eager faces before him. Then he spoke.

"You want to be writers?" he asked. "Well then, God damn it, write."

And then he stumbled back off the stage and went to sleep.

I have no idea whether that story is true. Of course it's only a retelling of an ancient adage that exists in several versions -- for instance, the admonition _nulla dies sine linea_. But the advice is wise wherever it comes from, don't you think?

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

65. Obododimma Oha
Mango Owere Fada
Fri 15 Jul 2011

"And those mangoes were particularly sweet, sweeter than those we were allowed to harvest from our own compounds. Maybe the sweetness came from the fact that they were stolen, or from the fact that they came from Fada's backyard -- from "owere Fada" -- or both. Maybe if we had been allowed to harvest them freely, they wouldn't have been so tasty after all! Forbidden things are always very attractive."

Read full text of "Mango Owere Fada" at:
http://234next.com/csp/cms/sites/Next/Opinion/Editorial/5727013-146/story.csp

You can also access the entire 100 essays of mine published by NEXT at:
http://udude.wordpress.com/essays-in-e-zines-dailies/ AND http://udude.wordpress.com/essays-in-e-zines-and-dailies-2/

--
Obododimma Oha
http://udude.wordpress.com/

(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)
Dept. of English
University of Ibadan
Nigeria

&

Fellow, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies
University of Ibadan

Phone: [redacted];
[redacted];
[redacted].

↑ Index

66. Rob McLennan

new from above/ground press: Robert Kroetsch

Fri 15 Jul 2011

Further to Our Conversation
by Robert Kroetsch
$3

> You May Not Know the Sender
>
> This message is from you.
> It says: Please do not open.

published in Ottawa by above/ground press
a/g subscribers receive a complimentary copy
write for submission/subscription info, c/o 858 Somerset
Street West, main floor, Ottawa ON K1R 6R7, or check out abovegroundpress.blogspot.com

To order, send cheques (add $1 for postage; outside Canada, add $2 & in US $) to: rob mclennan, 858 Somerset Street West, main floor, Ottawa Ontario Canada K1R 6R7. (for paypal options, drop $5 on www.robmclennan.blogspot.com, & email me yr address at [redacted])

Renowned poet, novelist, essayist and teacher, Robert Kroetsch (1927-2011) [see my obit/tribute for him here] was one of Canadas most accomplished authors. With a career spanning well over 40 years, Kroetsch received numerous honours, including the prestigious Governor Generals Literary Award for his book The Studhorse Man, and penned 9 internationally acclaimed novels, 14 books of poetry, and 5 books of non-fiction, essays, and exploration.

Celebrated as a leading creator of contemporary Canadian literature, his writing, teaching, and critical vision helped shape Canadian literature and culture. His works have been translated, published, and studied extensively worldwide, and he gave readings in countries as various as China, Japan, Finland, Italy, and Australia. Kroetsch taught and mentored countless writers throughout the world. A Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, he was short-listed for the Governor Generals Literary Award in 2000 for The Hornbooks of Rita K.

A Distinguished Alumnus of the University of Alberta, his most recent award was the Manitoba Arts Council Arts Award of Distinction.

http://aboveground press.blogspot.com/2011/07/new-from-aboveground-press-robert.html

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.aboveground press.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

67. William Slaughter

Notice: Mudlark

Fri 15 Jul 2011

New and On View: Mudlark No. 42 (2011)

Rotary House / Nathaniel Vincent Mohatt

Author's Introduction: "In 2005 my father was diagnosed with Chronic Lymphocytic Leukemia, and in 2008 I spent two weeks with him at MD Anderson in Houston, staying at the Rotary House International Hotel attached to the cancer center. During this stay I began to awake to a deeper understanding of my father's illness, in particular the very real threat it presented, my anger and fear towards the disease, and the important but limited role that health care could play. Through reflecting on this experience I have come to see health care, like art, as being defined by the attempt, the process of trying to attain without the ability to realize perfection. These poems weave together visions from the MD Anderson trip, scientific articles, and pieces of my family's life after my father's death two years later with a variety of images, memories, characters, and spirits. The poems often begin with scenes and people from MD Anderson, but the experiences they revolve around encompass visions beyond my direct relationship with cancer, science, and health care. I hope that through my art I can come to convey some of this emotion, this swirl, this rotary." NVM

Contents: Rotary House / Rotary / Elephant in the Coal Mines / Painted, She Wars / Fluorescence / With a dent in his head / Photo of Jesus / With 5 Feet of Air / Baseball / The Treatment of Rotary / Immunity Roast / Folk art / The Discovery of a Parasite / A Hematologists' Conference / Confirming an aggressive course / Richter's Syndrome / Liver House / Pictures

Author's Note: Nathaniel Vincent Mohatt is a postdoctoral fellow at Yale where he researches community arts in behavioral health services. He holds a PhD in Creative Writing and Community Psychology from the University of Alaska Fairbanks and an MFA in poetry from Saint Mary's College of California. His dissertation portrays a family's experience of cancer care through poetry and essay, while his research and professional work has largely been focused on Native American cultural psychology and health promotion. He is a co-founder of the Pirate Pig Press, a community arts promotion extravaganza based out of California. The intertwining of poetry and the arts with community well-being and cultural resiliency are at the root of his work both as a poet and a scientist. He was raised on the Rosebud Sioux Indian Reservation in South Dakota and in Fairbanks Alaska, and he is married with two young daughters. He has been published in scientific and literary journals, including MiPOesias, Big Bridge, Jack Magazine, Camas, BorderSenses, and Literary House Review.

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

↑ Index

68. Nicholas Leaskou

Poet As Radio: David Meltzer on 7/16

Fri 15 Jul 2011

POET AS RADIO is a weekly program on KUSF in Exile and features interviews with Bay Area writers, readings, lectures, and announcements about Bay Area poetry events. The show airs Saturdays from 9am-10am at http://www.savekusf.org.

This Saturday, July 16, San Franciso poets Marina Lazzara and Nick Whittington interview local legend David Meltzer, whose recent collections include David's Copy: Selected Poetry (Penguin Poets) and When I Was a Poet (Pocket Poets series #60; City Lights Books).

For more info and to listen to archived shows (Ariel Goldberg, Chris Stroffolino, Sara Larsen, Sarah Rosenthal), check out:

http://poetasradio.blogspot.com

Please contact us with ideas for future shows at [redacted].

Thanks!

Jay Thomas
Nicholas Leaskou
Delia Tramontina

↑ Index

69. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh

Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal

Sat 16 Jul 2011

There is a much lamented fact in the poetry world that it seems to be a male dominated genre, and from the submissions to the Carty's Poetry Journal I would hazard a guess the submissions are 60% male at least.

To rectify the gender balance, submissions from women are sought in particular for the forthcoming issue, with poems and thoughts on poetry welcome.

We seek:

Poetry:
Rhyming / Formalist
Free Verse
Haiku

Articles
Reviews of a poet whose writing you are familiar with Book reviews
Reading reviews

Photos
Photos of events, poets, anything of intrest to the poetry scene.

Yours etc.,

Tomas O Carthaigh
www.cartyspoetryjournal.com
CURRENT ISSUE PDF HERE

Feel free to LIKE and TWEET our page!!!

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

↑ Index

70. Jonathan Morse

The photohistory of an amazing poet who wrote non-amazing poems

Sat 16 Jul 2011

---

is at

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=496

Jonathan Morse

↑ Index

71. Mark Young

Out from Otoliths—Raymond Farr's ECSTATIC/.of facts

Sat 16 Jul 2011

ECSTATIC/.of facts

Raymond Farr

112 pages

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9808785-3-0

$13.45 + p&h

URL: http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/ecstaticof-facts/15978118

In ECSTATIC/.of facts Raymond Farr brilliantly investigates the relationship between language, meaning and culture by vividly demonstrating how language can shape worlds. In an insightful and stimulating journey, Farr takes an intense and often playful walk through landscapes of significance in which we are faced with the “Onslaught of language,” only to find that the “amber light of meaning stares back.” To discover meaning in something as “fundamental as chaos,” we need go no further than American suburban culture of generic mega stores, chain restaurants, popular music and blockbuster movies. Reframing these ubiquitous icons in discursive language results in an effect rather like "Marcel Duchamp…singing songs once sung by Doris Day."

Things are not, Farr shows us, as they seem – the daily reality we experience is not the only reality. With an astute sense of phrasing and rhythm, Raymond Farr explores the interplay of language and culture by taking us through "all possible versions of a straight line" to learn that there is "a cubicle in a circle after blue skies on Saturday night." We are urged to take linguistic responsibility for the structure of the present instance through being reminded that, "We are the consequence of cause & affect," and that only "moments ago there was the illusion of nothing."

The dialectical "I" in these poems is our collective aloneness in the desert of constant traffic noise. Despite our need to belong, we are ultimately alone, members only of ourselves. Overwhelmed by the lies we tell ourselves to make the terror of existence bearable, our lives become "a dream we dream to the end of the world." Farr invites us to strip away all pretence so we can listen closely to the amorphous flux of the real, where perhaps we will hear "the prayers of angels being answered in the dark," and glimpse the inner heart where "answers are vague" and the "only true conclusion, we conclude, is always inconclusiveness." In the end, we have only our shadows to lose. —John C. Goodman, author of naked beauty and editor of ditch

No new cities are being built. That arrangement is palimpsest. Boroughs carved by a metonymy. And oscillation. One may artery about thing, about a place, or both. Each fact is a tenement to situation a place from which oscillations are discerned. ECSTATIC/.of facts courses within this layout, and Farr engages in no liminal simplification charting arrays of snarl. —Matthew Johnstone, author of Let's be close Rope to mast, you Old light

Cold, hard facts: not! As Raymond Farr demonstrates in this wonderful new collection, facts are the serendipity of the real. Farr takes sentences and fragments, and he builds tenements of facts from the sky downward. His gift to readers is a city of the materiality of language and of what is absolutely, astonishingly material to life. In Farr's words, "The facts are convincing. I am one hungry carnivore." —Joel Chace

↑ Index

72. Paul Nelson
August Poetry Postcard Fest Returns
Sat 16 Jul 2011

Our fourth year of dedicating August to the task of writing original poems onto postcards for strangers every day of the month. Sign up now. Thanks to Lana Ayers for doing the legwork.

Details here: http://splab.org/2011/07/august-postcard-fest-returns/ The fest begins July 27.

Signup here: http://concretewolf.com/august2011/

May the U.S.P.S. be with you.

Paul Nelson
Seattle, WA

Paul E. Nelson

SPLAB!
C. City, WA
[redacted]

↑ Index

73. Ram Devineni

New version of VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY and LAMONT, the Packrat

Sun 17 Jul 2011

New version of VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY and LAMONT, the Packrat

Dear Friends: Two announcement. My short film, LAMONT THE PACKRAT, is being distributed by CINELAN and can be viewed at HULU and other sites.

Also, we re-edited VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY with additional scenes, better sound and a suspenseful and faster pacing. It can be viewed on KOLDCAST.

LAMONT THE PACKRAT. The infamous hoarder and poet Lamont B. Steptoe gives you a tour of his cluttered filled Philadelphia apartment and mind. Directed by Ram Devineni.

http://www.hulu.com/watch/251874/cinelan-3-minute-stories-lamont-the-packrat

http://www.snagfilms.com/films/title/lamont_the_packrat/

VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY. When a young poet discovers a lost manuscript, he is drawn into the New York City literary world with the only key to an unsolved, 30-year-old murder.

WATCH AT: http://www.koldcast.tv/show/verse-murder-mystery

Starring Jon Sands, Angel Nafis, Bob Holman, Lamont B. Steptoe, Sophia Holman, Julie Berndt, John Giorno, Taylor Mead, Bill Kushner, Maggie Balistreri, Joelle Hann, and Mark Greenfield. Produced by Rattapallax Productions. Directed by Ram Devineni. Script by Susan Brennan. Music by Shira E. & the Tiny Tornadoes. www.rattapallax.com

LA WEBSERIES FESTIVAL: Winner for Best Script in a Dramatic Webseries: Susan Brennan and Best Musical Score in a Dramatic Webseries: Shira Erlichman.

↑ Index

74. steve dalachinsky

Re: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal

Sun 17 Jul 2011

---

i'm not so sure anymore if it's all that male dominated but the magazine is still a welcome addition to the 100's of others
both meaningful and meaningless alike

On Sat, 16 Jul 2011 03:50:02 -0700
=?iso-8859-1?Q?Tomás_Ó_Cárthaigh?= <[redacted]>
writes:
> There is a much lamented fact in the poetry world that it seems to be > a male dominated genre, and from the submissions to the Carty's > Poetry Journal I would hazard a guess the submissions are 60% male > at least.
>
> To rectify the gender balance, submissions from women are sought in > particular for the forthcoming issue, with poems and thoughts on > poetry welcome.
>
> We seek:
>
> Poetry:
> Rhyming / Formalist
> Free Verse
> Haiku
>
> Articles
> Reviews of a poet whose writing you are familiar with > Book reviews
> Reading reviews
>
> Photos
> Photos of events, poets, anything of intrest to the poetry scene.
>
> Yours etc.,
>
> Tomas O Carthaigh

> www.cartyspoetryjournal.com
> CURRENT ISSUE PDF HERE
>
> Feel free to LIKE and TWEET our page!!!
>
> "a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've > written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me
> on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos
>
>
>
>

↑ Index

75. michael farrell

new interview with lionel fogarty on poetry international + kinsella, brown etc

Sun 17 Jul 2011

---

fogarty is australias major indigenous poet http://www.poetryinternational.org/piw_cms/cms/cms_module/index.php?obj_id=20646

- see sidebar for more

↑ Index

76. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh

Re: 100,000 Recordings for Change

Mon 18 Jul 2011

Sounds a great idea... may do the same for Ireland!!!

Tomás

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

--- On Mon, 11/7/11, Christophe Casamassima <[redacted]> wrote:

From: Christophe Casamassima <[redacted]>
Subject: 100,000 Recordings for Change
To: [redacted]
Date: Monday, 11 July, 2011, 20:30

As part of the 100,000 Poets for Change event on September 24, I will be recording my friends, family and colleagues as well as new and inspiring voices reading their own or their favorite poems for a website that will be developed in the late summer. This is all in lieu of a grand project Doug Mowbray and I are developing as a poetry non-profit, which will include an extensive small press library and a network of teachers, poets and community leaders.

The project is simple: record the voices of all who find in poetry a means to understand themselves and their environment, and to to develop a sustainable community ethic wherein creative literacy is at the forefront of civility and compassion.

Anyone in the Baltimore area is invited to join in this project. If you'd like to help with any facet of this experiment, be it recording or editing audio/video for our website (tba), of if you'd like to read your favorite poems, please contact me at [redacted].

Cheers!

Christophe Casamassima

↑ Index

77. Mark Weiss

Re: The photohistory of an amazing poet who wrote non-amazing poems

Mon 18 Jul 2011

Nice, Jonathan. Thanks.

Mark

-----Original Message-----
>From: Jonathan Morse <[redacted]>
>Sent: Jul 16, 2011 11:39 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: The photohistory of an amazing poet who wrote non-amazing poems
>
>is at
>
>http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/?p=496
>
>Jonathan Morse
>

↑ Index

78. Mark Weiss

Re: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal

Mon 18 Jul 2011

Tomas: Let us know if your appeal nets more results. Part of the ongoing debate is whether women would participate more if invited in the manner you have done.

Best,

Mark

-----Original Message-----
>From: steve dalachinsky <[redacted]>
>Sent: Jul 17, 2011 8:30 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Re: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal
>
>i'm not so sure anymore if it's all that male dominated
>but the magazine is still a welcome addition to the 100's of others
>both meaningful and meaningless alike
>
>
>On Sat, 16 Jul 2011 03:50:02 -0700
>TomÃ¡s Ã“ CÃ¡rthaigh <[redacted]>
>writes:
>> There is a much lamented fact in the poetry world that it seems to be >> a male dominated genre, and from the submissions to the Carty's >> Poetry Journal I would hazard a guess the submissions are 60% male >> at least.
>>
>> To rectify the gender balance, submissions from women are sought in >> particular for the forthcoming issue, with poems and thoughts on >> poetry welcome.
>>
>> We seek:
>>
>> Poetry:
>> Rhyming / Formalist
>> Free Verse
>> Haiku
>>
>> Articles
>> Reviews of a poet whose writing you are familiar with

>> Book reviews
>> Reading reviews
>>
>> Photos
>> Photos of events, poets, anything of intrest to the poetry scene.
>>
>> Yours etc.,
>>
>> Tomas O Carthaigh
>> www.cartyspoetryjournal.com
>> CURRENT ISSUE PDF HERE
>>
>> Feel free to LIKE and TWEET our page!!!
>>
>> "a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've >> written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me
>> on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos
>>
>>
>>
>>
>

↑ Index

79. Francesco Levato

Review of "War Rug" in July issue of Jacket2

Mon 18 Jul 2011

---

from "The poem as a type of activism"
A review of "War Rug" by Steve Halle

"Politically charged investigation raises the stakes of poetry for both the poet (as producer) and the poem (as art object). This type of poetry not only invokes the bardic practice of speaking the wisdom of the group, but also uses the poem as a type of activism. When critics question the role of poetry in the real world or what it can accomplish outside of its own existence, activist poetics that enters conversation with contemporary political happenings offers one of the better answers."

Read more at:

http://jacket2.org/reviews/poem-type-activism

↑ Index

80. Martha Deed

Re: New version of VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY and LAMONT, the Packrat

Mon 18 Jul 2011

All I can get are the commercials. Too bad. I watched the earlier version of "Verse" and thought it was delightful.
Martha

Ram Devineni wrote:
> New version of VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY and LAMONT, the Packrat
>
> Dear Friends: Two announcement. My short film, LAMONT THE PACKRAT, is being > distributed by CINELAN and can be viewed at HULU and other sites.
>
> Also, we re-edited VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY with additional scenes, better sound > and a suspenseful and faster pacing. It can be viewed on KOLDCAST.
>
> LAMONT THE PACKRAT. The infamous hoarder and poet Lamont B. Steptoe gives you a > tour of his cluttered filled Philadelphia apartment and mind. Directed by Ram > Devineni.
>
> http://www.hulu.com/watch/251874/cinelan-3-minute-stories-lamont-the-packrat
>
> http://www.snagfilms.com/films/title/lamont_the_packrat/
>
>
> VERSE: A MURDER MYSTERY. When a young poet discovers a lost manuscript, he is > drawn into the New York City literary world with the only key to an unsolved, > 30-year-old murder.
>
>
> WATCH AT: http://www.koldcast.tv/show/verse-murder-mystery
>
> Starring Jon Sands, Angel Nafis, Bob Holman, Lamont B. Steptoe, Sophia Holman, > Julie Berndt, John Giorno, Taylor Mead, Bill Kushner, Maggie Balistreri, Joelle

> Hann, and Mark Greenfield. Produced by Rattapallax Productions. Directed by Ram > Devineni. Script by Susan Brennan. Music by Shira E. & the Tiny Tornadoes.
> www.rattapallax.com
>
> LA WEBSERIES FESTIVAL: Winner for Best Script in a Dramatic Webseries: Susan > Brennan and Best Musical Score in a Dramatic Webseries: Shira Erlichman.
>
>
>

↑ Index

81. { brad brace }

Haiku for Pelican Bay (Political Prisoner News) (fwd)

Mon 18 Jul 2011

---------- Forwarded message ----------

by devorah Major

Pelican Bay Haiku
Notes on Torture & Survival

six feet by ten feet wider than a lead coffin
no natural light

sometimes only darkness a punishment for surviving so many shades of black or weeks of light bulb days have no rhythm but howls torture knows no clocks

twenty three hours
every day alone boxed
one hour to breathe wind will a cloud drift by a patch of summer blue sky a black bird's feather

perhaps tomorrow arc of sun will show itself kiss your skin golden

Freedom Archives
522 Valencia Street
San Francisco, CA 94110

[redacted]

www.Freedomarchives.org

/:b

↑ Index

82. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh
Re: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal
Mon 18 Jul 2011

Thanks Steve... feel free to submit any material you want, opinons, articles, poems, Haiku etc... a journal is as relevent as its contributors and its readership, if it has a small circulation of a readership that are interested in it, its highly relevent, but a big readership who are not interested in it is not.

Big fish in small pond and all that!!!!

It is hoped to develop a journal for all forms of poetry - the oft nowadays neglected traditional rhyming scheme, the second section is inteded to be for haiku and the last section for free verse, with scattered through articles and photos and explorations in images in poetry and poetry inspired by images and so forth...

Hope you enjoy it, if you or anyone else would like to do a review of it from your angle that would be cool as well...

Tomás

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

--- On Sun, 17/7/11, steve dalachinsky <[redacted]> wrote:

From: steve dalachinsky <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal
To: [redacted]
Date: Sunday, 17 July, 2011, 20:30

i'm not so sure anymore if it's all that male dominated
but the magazine is still a welcome addition to the 100's of others
both meaningful and meaningless alike

On Sat, 16 Jul 2011 03:50:02 -0700
=?iso-8859-1?Q?Tom=E1s_=D3_C=E1rthaigh?= <[redacted]>
writes:
> There is a much lamented fact in the poetry world that it seems to be > a male dominated genre, and from the submissions to the Carty's > Poetry Journal I would hazard a guess the submissions are 60% male > at least.
>
> To rectify the gender balance, submissions from women are sought in > particular for the forthcoming issue, with poems and thoughts on > poetry welcome.
>
> We seek:
>
> Poetry:
> Rhyming / Formalist
> Free Verse
> Haiku
>
> Articles
> Reviews of a poet whose writing you are familiar with > Book reviews
> Reading reviews
>
> Photos
> Photos of events, poets, anything of intrest to the poetry scene.
>
> Yours etc.,
>
> Tomas O Carthaigh
> www.cartyspoetryjournal.com
> CURRENT ISSUE PDF HERE
>
> Feel free to LIKE and TWEET our page!!!
>
> "a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've > written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.com ::: Add me
> on Facebook ::: My YouTube Videos

>
>
>
>

↑ Index

83. amy king
Fw: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal
Mon 18 Jul 2011

It's also helpful to locate female poets and invite them

It's also helpful to locate female poets and invite them directly. Good luck!

Amy

_____
From: Mark Weiss <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Monday, July 18, 2011 7:38 AM
Subject: Re: Women Poets - Cartys Poetry Journal

Tomas: Let us know if your appeal nets more results. Part of the ongoing debate is whether women would participate more if invited in the manner you have done.

Best,

Mark

↑ Index

84. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh
"Snowstorm of Doubt & Grace" - Ken & Triona Hume - Short Review
Mon 18 Jul 2011

Snowstorm of Doubt & Grace
Ken and Triona Hume.
ISBN: 978-1-908282-87-3
http://originalwriting.ie/bookshop/poetry/snowstorm-of-doubt-and-grace/

As featured in the latest issue of the Cartys Poetry Journal, Ken and Triona Humes book "Snowstorm of Doubt and Grace" has been published and is set to be launched in the Wolftrap in Tullamore on the 23rd of July by the County Offaly Arts Officer SinÃ©ad O'Reilly.

The book consists of two parts, Snowstorm of Doubt are Kens poems and lyrics, and reflect his vision of the world, view of the world, expressed in the written word, incorporating every writers feelings of doubt that their work is good enough, famously expressed by the Czech Yiddish writer Franz Kafka who requested after his death that his freind should "Burn them all, the words that I have written".

The world is a richer place that his request was not granted - that itself inspired a poem from myself seen on Youtube - and so it is with Ken, the active encouragement both of his mother Triona and freinds such as Anthony Sullivan, and Id suppose myself!!!! - hence the title of his section of the book.

His mother is seen by him as being a graceful person - sure we all think that of the Irish mammy!!! - hence the title of the section that comprises her writings, a collection of prose section and poems, my favourite of which was J'espirit. She has published a couple of chapbooks over the years and nurtured her sons intrest in the arts.

All too often we see writers who are full of themselves and their belief in their own abilities, and whill thats all grand in its own way, its good to see a writer comfortable and humble enough to express the doubts in their own abilities and who strive to connect with the reader as opposed to demanding that the reader connect with and understand them.

The book costs approx â,¬10 and is avaialable from Irish POD form Original Writing.

"a person with a good book is never alone... a writer until they've written one is never at peace" - www.writingsinrhyme.comÂ Â ::: Add me on Facebook ::: My YouTube VideosÂ Â

↑ Index

85. CA Conrad
Jena Osman is the latest...
Mon 18 Jul 2011

Jena Osman is the latest poet to visit JUPITER 88:
http://JUPITER88poetry.blogspot.com

PLEASE ENJOY!
CAConrad

--
A Beautiful Marsupial Afternoon (Wave Books, 2012):
http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

DAVID BUUCK & The Crystal Nexus (Soma)tic:
http://SomaticPoetryExercises.blogspot.com

↑ Index

86. charles alexander chax special offer on letterpress books
Tue 19 Jul 2011

Hi everyone,

Our special offer on the letterpress chapbooks by Anne Waldman and Eileen Myles is now over, and it will be off our web site soon, if not already. Thanks so much to the many of you who ordered the books at the special price!

To all of you whose orders were sent via the chax web site -- either you have your books, or they are on their way. There may be some orders that were sent by mail that will reach us this week, and Chax Press is closed from tomorrow through Friday, so we will be sending those orders out beginning Monday, July 25. Thank you for your patience.

charles alexander
[redacted]

chax press / poetry & the book arts
411 n seventh ave ste 103 / tucson, az 85705-8388

currently (July 19-22) at Palovista Ranch near Ojo Caliente, New Mexico, as artist-in-residence

DONATE TO CHAX PRESS at http://chax.org/donate.htm

↑ Index

87. Eric Dickey
TGP # 10
Tue 19 Jul 2011

New. Exciting. Live it. Love it. Share it.

Toe Good Reader,

Jerry Harp delivers a superb reading of his poem, "Being and _____" in issue number 10 of Toe Good Poetry.

Next issue features the work of the experimental poet, William Allegrezza.

Sincerely,

Toe Good.

↑ Index

88. Cralan Kelder
peer reviewed lit mags?
Wed 20 Jul 2011

Has there ever been a peer-reviewed Literary journal? In other words, submissions are sent out to other writers who then recommend whether or not the magazines publish the work?

The reason I ask is: some scientist friends were telling me that with journals such as Science and Nature, there's a lot of editorial personal taste involved. In other words it's not just about whether or not an article is important, but if the editors "like" the research.

I suggested that with literary periodicals it's the same in the sense that a lot of the submitted writing or poetry is very good and ultimately it's editors personal taste (reading) which determines what is selected.

Somehow while I was explaining this, I gave my friends the impression that literary journals were peer-reviewed, in the same way that scientific journals are. While I was explaining that lit mags are not peer-reviewed, but have permanent editors, it occurred to me that perhaps it has been done before.

↑ Index

89. Adam Fieled
New on MySpace
Wed 20 Jul 2011

I've finally been able to place material from all of my albums onto MySpace:

from the not yet completed "Flushed in grains of sand":

"Sky of Ash":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/sky-of-ash-83172202

"I Can't Leave":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/i-can-39-t-leave-83176056 from "Ardent":

"Streetlakes":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/streetlakes-83192854

"Bullett":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/bullett-83193064

"Mars in Gemini":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/mars-in-gemini-83196004

"4 Elliott":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/4-elliott-83195923

"4 Israel":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/4-israel-83196041

from "Darkyr Sooner":

"Riding the Waves":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/riding-the-waves-83193043

"Deflating Raft":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/deflating-raft-83193029

from "Covers":
http://www.myspace.com/adamfieled/music/songs/song-to-the-siren-83192870

Hope you enjoy these and thanks for listening!!!
Best,
Adam Fieled [redacted]

↑ Index

90. Mark Young
Out from Otoliths—"Philadephia's Notebooks" by Carlos Soto-Román
Fri 22 Jul 2011

---

*Philadelphia's Notebooks

Carlos Soto-Román

36 pages, full color

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9807651-9-9

$14.95 + p&h

URL:
http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/philadelphias-notebooks/16051392

Carlos Soto-Román writes from the center of Empire with a sense of play (game pieces included) and clinical examination.* Philadelphia's Notebooks* is the work of an artist/world citizen who critiques the daily interrogations that come with being a new immigrant. The fun fact that Ellis Island was greatly expanded with landfill in the late 19th -early 20th century provides a basis for Soto-Román's signage marking poetry's place in a disposable culture. There are workbook exercises that encourage creative ways to answer the calls for loyalty oaths with a demand for radical possibility the host country includes in its PR material. This work also includes what the USA brand doesn't advertise—isolation and moments of utter despair. It is a truly American poem in that it's internationally inflected, from George Perec to German cinema to self-immolators from all over the world. Philadelphia's Notebooks could not be a more artful and timely reminder that “Every heart is a revolutionary cell.”—Frank Sherlock

↑ Index

91. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Mother Earth” by Adam Fieled

Fri 22 Jul 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œMother Earthâ€ by Adam Fieled
Description:
Normal people tend to figure out what (and who) they want through relationships. Poetry in 2011 doesnâ€™t always need to deal with the exalted, the archetypal, or (as is the case with post-modern poetry) the conditions and contexts of language itself. Poetry that configures the extraordinary through the normal is useful because it has utility value for an audience, largely middle and working class, that is being challenged by threatening external conditions, economic and otherwise. â€œMother Earthâ€ is an ordinary story with some pertinent implications; if it is read with understanding, it can function as allegory and its relationships stand as representations of the larger trends currently shaping our world.
Available as a free ebook here:
http://stores.lulu.com/argotistebooks
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

92. Jeffrey Side

Interviewer needed to interview Juliana Spahr for The Argotist Online

Fri 22 Jul 2011

Interviewer needed to interview Juliana Spahr for The Argotist Online.

Anyone interested?

↑ Index

93. amy king

August20th @ 1:00pm - Dan Maguire, Lynn Levin, Ana Božičević , Amy King, Elizabeth Pallitto

Sat 23 Jul 2011

Â Mark your calendar and join us forÂ our 2nd outdoor poetry

Â Mark your calendar and join us forÂ our 2nd outdoor poetry reading of the summer season.August20th @ 1:00pmÂ â€“ The Fox Chase Reading Series presents a reading on the porch ofÂ Ryerss Museum and LibraryÂ , 7370 Central Avenue, Philadlephia, Pa. 19111.
.
The Fox Chase Reading SeriesÂ presents theÂ 2ndAnnual Poets on the PorchÂ at Ryerss Museum and Library, 7370 Central Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. 19111. PoetsÂ Dan Maguire, Lynn Levin, Ana BoÅ¾iÄeviÄ‡Â ,Â Amy King, Elizabeth PallittoÂ join Fox Chase PoetsÂ Diane Sahms-Guarnieri and g emil reutterÂ on the porch. Bring a porch chair and enjoy an afternoon of verse on the porch of the historic Ryerss Museum and Library. For more information on the poets please visit this link:Â Poets on the Porch 2011 â€“ August 20th
.
www.foxchasereview.org

****
VIDA: Â Women in Literary Arts
+Â Interviews

Amy's Alias
+Â http://amyking.org/Â
****

↑ Index

94. Joel Weishaus

Poetica Critique of Shin Yu Pai's "Adamantine" - revision

Sat 23 Jul 2011

Dear Friends and Colleagues;

This is a Poetica critique of Shin Yu Pai's "Adamantine.":
http://www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/Poetica/blog-8.htm

Contents Page:
http://www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/Poetica/intro.htm

My Warm Regards To Everyone.

-Joel

Homepage:
http://web.pdx.edu/~pdx00282/
Digital Archive:
www.cddc.vt.edu/host/weishaus/index.htm
Paper Archive:
http://rmoa.unm.edu/docviewer.php?docId=nmu1mss456bc.xml

↑ Index

95. Adam Katz
contact info for Donato Mancini?
Sat 23 Jul 2011

Hello, If anyone has an email address for Donato Mancini, would you please backchannel me to [redacted]? Thanks so much. Adam

↑ Index

96. michael farrell
Re: peer reviewed lit mags?
Sat 23 Jul 2011

---

ive had creative work peer reviewed before ..

by uts review (now cultural studies review) - not quite - as its name suggests - a literary journal

there was a creative writing journal called 'strange' at the university of melbourne which i think claimed to be the first peer reviewed purely creative journal

& i know we started the process when i was an editor for a postgrad journal called antithesis - but i have a feeling we may not have had the poetry peer reviewed in the end, but i think the stories were..

(status claims aside) it makes sense to peer review essays when it mightnt be the field of the editor - but if theres a poetry editor i dont see the point in peer reviewing poetry - it cd be an admission of limited capability

> Date: Wed, 20 Jul 2011 15:25:01 +0200
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: peer reviewed lit mags?
> To: [redacted]
>
> Has there ever been a peer-reviewed Literary journal? In other words, submissions are sent out to other writers who then recommend whether or not the magazines publish the work?
>
> The reason I ask is: some scientist friends were telling me that with journals such > as Science and Nature, there's a lot of editorial personal taste involved. In other words it's not just about whether or not an article is important, but if the editors "like" the research.

>
> I suggested that with literary periodicals it's the same in the sense that a lot of the submitted writing or poetry is very good and ultimately it's editors personal taste (reading) which determines what is selected.
>
> Somehow while I was explaining this, I gave my friends the impression that literary journals were peer-reviewed, in the same way that scientific journals are. While I was explaining that lit mags are not peer-reviewed, but have permanent editors, it occurred to me that perhaps it has been done before.

↑ Index

97. Dale Smith

Re: POETICS Digest - 19 Jul 2011 to 23 Jul 2011 (#2011-111)

Sun 24 Jul 2011

Liminalities--an online journal dedicated to performance and performance studies, is peer reviewed. They publish poetry and other arts, too: http://liminalities.net/

Date: Wed, 20 Jul 2011 15:25:01 +0200
> From: Cralan Kelder <[redacted]>
> Subject: peer reviewed lit mags?
>
> Has there ever been a peer-reviewed Literary journal? In other words, = > submissions are sent out to other writers who then recommend whether or = > not the magazines publish the work?
>
> The reason I ask is: some scientist friends were telling me that with = > journals such as Science and Nature, there's a lot of editorial personal = > taste involved. In other words it's not just about whether or not an = > article is important, but if the editors "like" the research.=20
>
> I suggested that with literary periodicals it's the same in the sense = > that a lot of the submitted writing or poetry is very good and = > ultimately it's editors personal taste (reading) which determines what = > is selected.=20
>
> Somehow while I was explaining this, I gave my friends the impression = > that literary journals were peer-reviewed, in the same way that = > scientific journals are. While I was explaining that lit mags are not = > peer-reviewed, but have permanent editors, it occurred to me that = > perhaps it has been done before.

>
>

--
Dale M. Smith
Assistant Professor
Department of English
Ryerson University
350 Victoria Street
Toronto, ON M5B 2K3

↑ Index

98. Jeffrey Side
Juliana Spahr interviewer now found
Sun 24 Jul 2011

Iâ€™ve found an interviewer to do the Julian Spahr interview. Thanks to all who offered.

↑ Index

99. Jessica Wickens
Monday Night seeks editorial interns
Sun 24 Jul 2011

---

Editorial Internship: Monday Night literary journal

Monday Night, a ten-year old literary journal based in Oakland, CA, is seeking interns for our 2011 – 2012 season. Join our team of three editors in putting together the 2012 issue of Monday Night! This is an opportunity to participate fully as an editor on our next issue.

Please note – this is an unpaid internship but offers all kinds of resume-boosting activities and general merriment.

Time commitment & schedule: We are looking for interns who can commit at a minimum from September 2011 to March 2012. (If you wish to participate in the full process of creating the issue, there is additional editorial work available through June or July 2012.) September – December is our annual reading period, so we will all be reading submissions from November 2011 to early January 2012. We will have regular check-in gatherings for the editors and interns throughout the fall, to break up the lonely reading season. From January to March, we will have a series of editorial meetings to review the work and make our selections. Other activities may include proofreading each of the pieces selected for publication, collecting permissions and bios from contributors, and other miscellany.

*What experience could you gain from this internship? *

- Participating in the entire editing process from reading submissions to reviewing proofs of the issue
- Reading your own group of submissions and making your selections to share with the rest of the editorial team
- Communications with writers, contributors and readers.
- Promoting and publicizing the journal including online and social media
- Planning readings and events (we are planning at least one reading during this internship period)
- Creating and managing an email list
- Working with a team of other writers/editors/interns in a collaborative process
- Special projects may be available, time permitting

Other perks:

- Work from home/café/school/in bed – wherever you want to read submissions! - Flexible schedule – as long as you make it to meetings and complete your work by the deadline, you can make your own schedule. - Work with other cool writers – make friends! - Extra coolness in your life via your association with Monday Night!

What are we looking for?

- Enthusiasm (reading submissions is not glamorous work but it can be amusing and/or educational). - Ability to sift through many pieces of writing without an excess of mercy and ability to trust your own judgment to find the best work. - Ability to use online social media and email communications. Commitment to the full timeline (see above, at a minimum from September 2011 – March 2012). - Ability to make time in your schedule for the reading and editing workload, especially November – March.

*
*

How to apply:

Email your resume to [redacted]. In the body of the email message, please write a brief cover letter explaining your interest in interning at Monday Night and your qualifications.

Deadline to apply: September 15, 2011

↑ Index

100. Michael Heller
artcritical
Sun 24 Jul 2011

Dear friends & colleagues,

Thought this might interest you, not only for the collaboration I did with the work of the UK painter Jane Joseph, but also because this is a very interesting site for news on the art world and because many poets have also appeared in collaborations here under the guidance of David Cohen, editor, and Bill Berkson as poetry editor. Here's the link to my collaboration, from which you can navigate to the entire site: http://artcritical.com/2011/07/23/michael-heller-jane-joseph-2/ .

Michael Heller

--
Home page: michaelhellerpoetry.com

Recent books: Beckmann Variations& Other Poems (Shearsman, 2010); Eschaton (Talisman, 2009); Speaking the Estranged: Essays on the work of George Oppen (Salt, 2008); Uncertain Poetries: Essays on Poets, Poetry and Poetics (Salt, 2005); Exigent Futures: New and Selected Poems (Salt, 2003). Available at bookstores, SPD and at Amazon.com

Collaborations with the composer Ellen Fishman Johnson: This Art Burning and other poetry, Benjamin (a music-theater work based on the life of Walter Benjamin), go to: http://www.efjcomposer.com/efjcomposer/Welcome.html and for excerpts visit Ellen's Youtube videos at: http://www.youtube.com/user/efjcomposer

Michael Heller PennSound page: http://writing.upenn.edu/pennsound/x/Heller.php

↑ Index

101. Michael Heller
artcritical
Sun 24 Jul 2011

Dear friends and colleagues (with apologies for duplicates),

Thought this might interest you, not only for the collaboration I did with the work of the UK painter Jane Joseph, but also because this is a very interesting site for news on the art world and because many poets have also appeared in collaborations here under the guidance of David Cohen, editor, and Bill Berkson as poetry editor. Here's the link to my collaboration, from which you can navigate to the entire site: http://artcritical.com/2011/07/23/michael-heller-jane-joseph-2/ .

Mike

--
Home page: michaelhellerpoetry.com

Recent books: Beckmann Variations& Other Poems (Shearsman, 2010); Eschaton (Talisman, 2009); Speaking the Estranged: Essays on the work of George Oppen (Salt, 2008); Uncertain Poetries: Essays on Poets, Poetry and Poetics (Salt, 2005); Exigent Futures: New and Selected Poems (Salt, 2003). Available at bookstores, SPD and at Amazon.com

Collaborations with the composer Ellen Fishman Johnson: This Art Burning and other poetry, Benjamin (a music-theater work based on the life of Walter Benjamin), go to: http://www.efjcomposer.com/efjcomposer/Welcome.html and for excerpts visit Ellen's Youtube videos at: http://www.youtube.com/user/efjcomposer

Michael Heller PennSound page: http://writing.upenn.edu/pennsound/x/Heller.php

↑ Index

102. amy king
Stain of Poetry on July 29th at Goodbye Blue Monday at 7pm
Sun 24 Jul 2011

Hi! Don't forget to check out Stain of Poetry on July 29th at Goodbye Blue Monday at 7pm to hear readings from Mary Austin Speaker, Chris Martin, John Deming and Ken L. Walker. Here's the link for the Facebook invite: http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=128933477195423

We're also thrilled to be participating in the First Annual New York Poetry Festival on Governors Island. Our reading is on Saturday, July 30th at 2pm on Stage 1 at The Commodore. Come out and hear readings from Niina Pollari, Dustin Luke Nelson and Jillian Brall. Here's the link for the Facebook invite: http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=210803775630363

Also be sure to mark your calendars August 26th- Dorthea Lasky, Jared White, Bronwen Tate, Paul Siegell, and Kiely Sweatt September 30th- Eric Weinstein, Mike Soto, Matthew L. Rohrer and TBA October 28th- Bruce Covey, Emily Kendal Frey, Angela Veronica Wong, James Yeh and Elena Rivera

Cheers,
Christie Ann, Erika & Steven

Stain of Poetry
http://stainofpoetry.com

--

--
****
VIDA: Women in Literary Arts
+ Interviews

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

103. Shira Dentz
posting
Mon 25 Jul 2011

Hi, I'm new on this list and think that these two posts are appropriate to add; if not, please correct me! Thank you! SD

Stacy Kidd conducted the following extensive interview with Shira Dentz via email:
http://therumpus.net/2011/07/the-rumpus-interview-with-shira-dentz/

2011 BAY AREA POETRY MARATHON
Come hear:
* Maxine Chernoff
* Shira Dentz
* Owen Hill
* Andrew Kenower
* Kevin Killian
* Cole Krawitz
* Dean Rader
* Elizabeth Robinson
* Matt Shears
on Saturday, July 30 at 7:00pm at The Lab, 2948 16th Street, San Francisco
[corner of Capp--one block from the 16th & Mission BART stop]

↑ Index

104. Dan Wilcox
Reminder: Poets in the Park, Saturday, July 30 (Last one for this year!)
Mon 25 Jul 2011

Poets in the Park 2011

Saturdays in July

at the Robert Burns statue
Washington Park, Albany
at Henry Johnson Blvd. & Hudson Ave.
July 30, 7PM

Alan Catlin
Marie-Elizabeth Mali

Free! & open to the public (just like the park)

Bring a chair or blanket to sit on

Rain site: the Social Justice Center, 33 Central Ave.

sponsored by

the Poetry Motel Foundation & the Hudson Valley Writers Guild

↑ Index

105. William Slaughter
Notice: Mudlark
Mon 25 Jul 2011

New and On View: Mudlark Flash No. 62 (2011)

Tomorrow I Will Be in Rome | Poems by John Paul Calavitta

John Paul Calavitta received his MFA in creative writing from the University of Washington, Seattle, where he is currently finishing his PhD in Eco-criticism.

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

↑ Index

106. Deborah Poe

August 4th NYC Dusie Reading

Tue 26 Jul 2011

Please mark your calendars for this August 4th Dusie Kollektiv event. We hope to see you there.
http://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=135592276525449

The Zinc Bar welcomes
Dusie Press/the Dusie Kollektiv
(Switzerland)

Thursday, August 4, 5:30 p.m. sharp (doors open 5-ish)
Zinc Bar: 82 West 3rd Street (btw Thompson & Sullivan), Greenwich Village, New York
Free & Open to the Public

Featuring readings from:

Cara Benson
Maria Damon
Amanda Deutch
Jennifer K. Dick
Greg Fuchs
Susana Gardner
Becca Klaver
Deborah Poe
Marthe Reed
Michael Ruby
Kathrin Schaeppi
Jill Stengel
Vincent Zompa

Curated by Dusie Kollektiv members Amanda Deutch, Deborah Poe and Vincent Zompa.

The Dusie Kollektiv is a group of international poets who each produced their own chapbooks for distribution among the kollektiv members. Many editors published their chapbook under the name of a small press with which they are already affiliated; some created small presses just for the kollektiv. The point with the various names of press was to reify ownership and flood the market with new presses.

Each year is different for the kollektiv, as every year there are different participants. With that said, there are many loyal kollektiv members who have been with the project since the first year. The project focuses more on process and risk, and writers have no inhibition regarding publishing as it is a completely open platform and all works get published. Also, the group exchange gives an extra push in way of timeline and production, which also motivates creation.

↑ Index

107. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "A House in Summer" by Maxine Chernoff

Tue 26 Jul 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œA House in Summerâ€ by Maxine Chernoff

Description:

The uncanny and the daily blend in Maxine Chernoff's new collection, â€œA House in Summerâ€. From incantatory poems such as â€˜Runeâ€™ and â€˜Commentaryâ€™ to the storied landscapes of â€˜Paradeâ€™, â€˜Aversionsâ€™ and â€˜A House in Summerâ€™, these large and generous poems ask the reader to confront a world broken and made whole by language.

Available as a free ebook here:

http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/a-house-in-summer/16342205

Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:

http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

108. steve dalachinsky

from dalachinsky

Tue 26 Jul 2011

---

in the next 2-3 months i will have 3 chapbboks (1 a revised edition of a 2010 book - poems for cecil taylor which sold its first run of 100 rather quickly) and a new cd out this is not to brag which (brag brag) i try never to do but just want to know if anyone out there is serioiusly and i mean THAT interested in reviweing any or all if so i can give you the info of publishers and record label

2 are in france one is homegrown you can back channel me thanks steve

↑ Index

109. Jesse Glass

Truck Blog--Jesse Glass and Thomas H. Chivers

Tue 26 Jul 2011

---

http://halvard-johnson.blogspot.com/2011/07/jesse-glass-and-chivers.html

With an intro. by Skip Fox. Jess

↑ Index

110. Mathew Timmons

The Saffron Green July 30 in Chinatown Los Angeles

Tue 26 Jul 2011

Hey All - This Saturday July 30 in Chinatown I'll be premiering The Saffron Green, a piece I did in collaboration with Geneva Skeen and with a number of great performers and musicians... We'll be on rooftops, hanging out of windows etc etc I hope you can come and see, hear, experience the The Saffron Green with us best M

**

The Saffron Green

A Space Opera in three movements written for voice, walkie talkie, megaphone and radio composed by Geneva Skeen and Mathew Timmons (radio score by Garrick Hogg, Andrew Lessman and Max Mayer). Employing a minimal modular score The Saffron Green brings together multiple analog technologies to explore the concept of both an outer space opera and an opera in space. Taking the structure of a space opera and bringing it to street level, The Saffron Green borrows liberally from sci-fi operatic soundscapes and matches it with protest chants from the "Arab Spring" revolts. The People Want to Topple, The People Want to Overthrow, The People Demand the Fall. The performance will extend throughout Chinatown, using Human Resources as a staging ground and as home base from 5:30-7:00 pm and culminating on, in and above Chung King Road performed by a group of roughly 35 people from 7:15-7:45 pm. You are invited to see The Saffron Green, the performance before the performance, the staging of the work as a work in and of itself at Human Resources from 5:30-7:00 pm as the performers ready themselves, get into costume, tune their radios, ready the walkie talkies and the bullhorns and warm up their voices. Then join us in walking over to Chung King Road for the performance from 7:15-7:45 pm for Perform Chinatown! on July 30.

Performers: Geneva Skeen, Mathew Timmons, Garrick Hogg, Kim Calder, Claire Cronin, Greg Curtis, Andrea Dominguez, Kate Durbin, Rafa Esparza, Matt Fielder, Kate Gilbert, Gabi Gutierrez, Leah Harmon, Michael Anthony

Ibarra, Mandy Kahn, Joanne Mitchell, Tayor Murphy, Carmel Ni, Leila Perry, Jon Rutzmoser, Yecenia Torres, Christine Werthiem, and more...

Image by Tanya Rubbak

Costuming by Geneva Skeen and Andrea Dominguez

Thanks to KCHUNG Radio, Human Resources, Jancar Gallery, Ava Jancar, Fifth Floor Gallery, and Andrea Dominguez.

*We are looking for Radios! *
Do you have a battery powered radio?
Would you be willing to let us borrow it saturday?
Would you be willing to join us saturday from 5-8pm at Human Resources and then on Chung King Road with your radio?
If you answered yes to all 3 questions We Love You! Please get in touch!

Contact HR at:
[redacted]

humanresourcesla.com
410 Bernard St.
Los Angeles, CA 90012
Mathew Timmons
http://generalprojects.blogspot.com http://insertpress.net
http://blancpress.com

↑ Index

111. Jake Marmer
Zukofsky
Tue 26 Jul 2011

For all of you Zukofsky fans out there - New Directions republished "A" and another volume of shorter poetry. I did a piece on this for the Forward http://www.forward.com/articles/139803/, curious to see other reviews out there.

-Jake

↑ Index

112. Scott Howard
peer reviewed lit mags? . . . RECONFIGURATIONS
Tue 26 Jul 2011

Yes, RECONFIGURATIONS is peer-reviewed . . . and we are currently accepting submissions for Volume Five: http://reconfigurations.blogspot.com/

RECONFIGURATIONS: A Journal for Poetics & Poetry / Literature & Culture

An electronic, peer-reviewed, international, annual journal for poetics and poetry, creative and scholarly writing, innovative and traditional concerns with literary arts and cultural studies. RECONFIGURATIONS publishes in November & December, and is registered under a Creative Commons 3.0 License. Manuscripts accepted for editorial review: April through August. RECONFIGURATIONS is an open-access, independently managed journal. ISSN: 1938-3592.

///

_____
From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] On Behalf Of Cralan Kelder [[redacted]]
Sent: Wednesday, July 20, 2011 7:25 AM
To: [redacted]
Subject: peer reviewed lit mags?

Has there ever been a peer-reviewed Literary journal?

///

.

↑ Index

113. David Kirschenbaum
Small Presses Needed in Boog NYC Series
Wed 27 Jul 2011

Greetings,

I'm looking for small presses Boog City's never hosted before for our "d.a. levy lives: celebrating the renegade press" series here in nyc to fill slots this fall for season nine (2011-2012). The event we're looking to fill for sure will be held on Tues. Oct. 25, 2011 at 6:00 p.m., though there will exist at least one other opening.

Below this note is our invite letter, which spells everything out.

Please backchannel any inquiries or suggestions, be they for your own or other presses.

Thanks,
David

[redacted]
212-842-BOOG (2664)

Hi,

David Kirschenbaum here. I'm the editor and publisher of Boog City, a New York City-based small press and community newspaper now in its 20th year. I'd like to invite you to take part in the ninth season of our "d.a. levy lives: celebrating the renegade press" series.

The series is held at Chelsea's ACA Galleries (http:// acagalleries.com/), which is owned by the son-in-law and daughter of the poet Simon Perchik. It's a nice space, and we fit 100 people, including a nine-piece jazz flash orchestra, in it for Chax Press's event, with plenty of room to spare. The gallery provides wine and other beverages, and cheese and crackers and hummus and chips.

Once a month I have a different non-NYC press host and feature three or more of their authors to read (we've had as many as 10 for one press and usually have 3-6) for 60 minutes total. We also have a musical act perform two 15-minute sets. If the visiting press is able to book the musical act that's preferred, so it's truly their night, if not I can book one that I think will work well with the night. (Also, once a year we play host to our NYC brethren.)

The series is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 6:00 p.m. If you're game to partake, please let me know, in order, your top three date preferences. The following dates are available:

2010

Tues. Oct. 25

Tues. Nov. 29

2011

Tues. Jan. 31

Tues. Feb. 28

Tues. March 27

Tues. April 24

Tues. May 29

Tues. June 26

Tues. Aug. 7

We started the series in August 2003. In our first eight seasons we've hosted (or are about to host):

(locations are at the time of the event)

Non-NYC levy lives presses, 2003 to present a+bend press (Davis, Calif.), Jill Stengel, ed.

above/ground press (Ottawa, Canada), Rob McLennan, ed.
Aerial Magazine/Edge Books (Washington, D.C.), Rod Smith, ed.
Ahadada Books (Burlington, Canada), Jesse Glass and Daniel Sendecki, eds.
Ahsahta Press (Boise, Idaho), Janet Holmes, ed.
Alice James Books (Farmington, Maine), Peter Waldor, board president
Ambit/Furniture Press (Baltimore), Christophe Casamassima, ed.
Anchorite Editions (Albany, N.Y.), Chris Rizzo, ed.
Antennae (Chicago and Berlin), Jesse Seldess, ed.
Atelos Publishing Project (Berkeley, Calif.), Lyn Hejinian and Travis Ortiz, eds.
Atticus Finch Chapbooks (Seattle), Michael Cross, ed.
Big Game Books (Washington, D.C.), Maureen Thorson, ed.
Bird Dog (Seattle), Sarah Mangold, ed.
Black Radish Books, Jill Stengel co-ed.
BlazeVOX Books (Kenmore, N.Y.), Geoffrey Gatza, ed.
BookThug (Toronto, Canada), Jay Millar, ed.
Braincase Press (Northampton, Mass.), Noah Eli Gordon.
Brave Men Press (Northampton, Mass.), E. B. Goodale, proprietor/art director and Brian Foley, poetry editor Burning Deck Press (Providence, R.I.), 45th anniversary party, Rosmarie and Keith Waldrop, eds.
The Canary (Kemah, Texas), Joshua Edwards, Anthony Robinson, and Nick Twemlow, eds.
Cannibal Books (Fayetteville, Ark.), Matt Henriksen, ed.
Carve (Cambridge, Mass.), Aaron Tieger, ed.
Chax Press (Tucson, Ariz.), 20th anniversary party, Charles Alexander, ed.
Coconut Books (Atlanta), Bruce Covey, ed.
Combo (Providence, R.I.), Michael Magee, ed.
Conundrum (Chicago), Kerri Sonnenberg, ed.
Corollary Press (Philadelphia), Juliette Lee, ed.
Critical Documents/Plantarchy (Oxford, Ohio), Justin Katko, ed.

Cy Press (Cincinnati), Dana Ward, ed.
Dos Press (Maxwell, Texas), C.J. Martin and Julia Drescher, eds.
Ducky (Philadelphia), Scott Edward Anderson, Dennis DiClaudio, Tom Hartman, and Jason Toogood, eds.
Duration Press (San Rafael, Calif.), Jerrold Shiroma, ed.
Dusie Press (Switzerland), Susana Gardner, ed.
Ecopoetics (Lewiston, Maine), Jonathan Skinner, ed.
Effing Press (Austin, Texas), Scott Pierce, ed.
Eleven Eleven (San Francisco), Hugh Behm-Steinberg, faculty ed.
Fewer & Further Press (Wendell, Mass.), Jess Mynes, ed.
Firewheel Editions/Sentence, a magazine (Danbury, Conn.),
Brian Clements, ed.
Forklift, Ohio (Cincinnati), Matt Hart, editor-in-chief Gigantic Sequins (Philadelphia), Kimberly Southwick, ed.
Habenicht Press (San Francisco), David Hadbawnik, ed.
House Press (Chicago, Buffalo, New York City), Eric Gelsinger, founder.
Instance Press (Boulder, Colo.; New York City; Oakland, Calif.),
Stacy Szymaszek, co-ed.
Interbirth Books (Dallas), Micah Robbins, ed.
Ixnay Press (Philadelphia), Chris and Jenn McCreary, eds.
Katalanché Press (Cambridge, Mass.), Michael Carr and Dorothea Lasky, eds.
Kelsey Street Press (Berkeley, Calif.), 30th anniversary party, Patricia Dienstfrey and Rena Rosenwasser, eds.
Kenning Editions (Berkeley, Calif.), Patrick Durgin, ed.
Lana Turner: A Journal of Poetry and Opinion (Santa Monica, Calif.), Calvin Bedient and David Lau, eds.
Meritage Press (San Francisco/St. Helena, Calif.), Eileen Tabios, ed.
Minor/American (Durham, N.C.), Elise Ficarra and Kathryn Pringle, eds.
Mooncalf Press (Philadelphia), CAConrad, ed.
Narrow House Recordings (Gwyn Oak, Md.), Justin Sirois, ed.
New American Writing (Mill Valley, Calif.),
Maxine Chernoff and Paul Hoover, eds.,
1913 Press (San Marcos, Calif.), Sandra Doller, founder and editrice
No Press (Calgary, Alberta, Canada), Derek Beaulieu, publisher.
No Tell Books (Washington, D.C.), Reb Livingston, ed.
O Books (Oakland, Calif.), Leslie Scalapino, ed.
One Less Magazine (Williamsburg, Mass.),
Nikki Widner and David Gardner, eds.
Outside Voices (Brooklyn, N.Y.), Jessica Smith, ed.
The Owl Press (Woodacre, Calif.), Albert Flynn DeSilver, ed.

P-QUEUE (Buffalo, N.Y.), Andre Rippeon, ed.
Palm Press (Long Beach, Calif.), Jane Sprague, ed.
Paper Kite Press (Kingston, Penn.),
Jennifer Hill-Kaucher and Dan Waber, eds.
Pavement Saw Press (Columbus, Ohio), David Baratier, ed.
Peaches and Bats (Portland, Ore.), Sam Lohmann, founder and editor
The Poker (Cambridge, Mass.), Dan Bouchard, ed.
Punch Press/damn the caesars (Buffalo, N.Y.), Richard Owens, ed.
Rope-A-Dope Press (South Boston), Robert daVies and Mary Walker Graham, publishers/editors
Satellite Telephone (Buffalo), Robert Dewhurst, ed.
Saturnalia Books (Ardmore, Penn.), Henry Israeli, president.
Skanky Possum (Austin, Texas), Hoa Nguyen and Dale Smith, eds.
subpress collective, Greg Fuchs, co-ed.
Talisman House Press (Jersey City, N.J.), Edward Foster, ed.
Talonbooks (Vancouver, Canada).
The Tangent (Walla Walla, Wash.), Kaia Sand and Jules Boykoff, eds.
3rd Bed (Lincoln, R.I.), Vincent Standley, ed.
Tougher Disguises (Oakland, Calif.), James Meetze, ed.
Tripwire (San Francisco), David Buuck, ed.
The Wandering Hermit Review (Buffalo, N.Y.), Steve Potter, ed.
Wave Books (Seattle), Joshua Beckman, ed.

NYC levy lives presses, 2003 to present

A Rest Press, Ryan Murphy and Patrick Masterson, eds.
Argos Books, E.C. Belli, Iris Cushing, and Elizabeth Clark Wessel, eds.
Autonomedia
Beet/Pink Pages, Joe Maynard, ed.
Belladonna Books, Erica Kaufman and Rachel Levitsky, eds.
Cuneiform Press, Kyle Schlesinger, ed.
Cy Gist Press, Mark Lamoureux, ed.
Detour Press, Gary Sullivan, ed.
Explosive magazine/Spectacular Books, Katy Lederer, ed.
Farfalla Press, Gary Parrish, ed.
Fence, Charles Valle, co-ed, and Max Winter, poetry ed.
Flying Guillotine Press, Sommer Browning, ed.
Fungo Monographs, Ryan Murphy ed.
Fractious Press
Futurepoem books, Dan Machlin, ed.
Granary Press, Steve Clay, ed.
Hanging Loose Press, Bob Hershon, ed.
The Hat, Jordan Davis, co-ed.

Kaya Press, Sunyoung Lee, ed.
Kitchen Press, editor Justin Marks, ed.
Litmus Press/Aufgabe, E. Tracy Grinnell, ed.
Loud Mouth Press, Gregory Ayres, publisher/director of operations.
Lungfull, Brendan Lorber, ed.
Mal-o-mar Editions, Ariana Reines, ed.
Mermaid Tenement Press, Laura Hinton, ed.
Open 24 Hours, John Coletti and Greg Fuchs, ed.
N.Y. Quarterly, Raymond Hammond, president.
North Beach Yacht Club, Ryan Murphy, ed.
Pompom, Allison Cobb, Jennifer Coleman, Ethan Fugate, and Susan Landers, eds.
Portable Press at YoYo Labs, Brenda Iijima, ed.
Sona Books, Jill Magi, ed.
Stay Free! magazine, Carrie McLaren, ed.
Tender Buttons, Lee Ann Brown, ed.
:::the press gang:::, cristiana baik and sara wintz, eds.
3 Sad Tigers Press, Mariana Ruiz Firmat, ed.
Ugly Duckling Presse, Anna Moschovakis and Matvei Yankelevich, collective members.
United Artists, Lewis Warsh, ed.
Urban Folk zine, Dave Cuomo, ed.
X-ing Books, Amy Mees and Mark Wagner, eds.

Hope this finds you well.

as ever,
David

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://welcometoboogcity.com/
T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

114. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Fib Sequence” by Larissa Shmailo

Wed 27 Jul 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œFib Sequenceâ€ by Larissa Shmailo

Description:

Like the seeds on the head of a sunflower, the poems, translations, and story in â€œFib Sequenceâ€ by Larissa Shmailo whorl according to a special pattern. Here you will find arachnids, jealous women, numbers, half-truths, a dangerous dictionary and a few naughty words. Enjoy your encounter.

Available as a free ebook here:

http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/fib-sequence/16347718

Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:

http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

115. Matthew Weiss

Aldus Issue 1

Wed 27 Jul 2011

Just like to let you all know about Aldus, Brown University's Undergraduate Journal of Works in Translation. We've just had our first issue out, and it's up online at aldusjournal.com.

-- Matthew Weiss

↑ Index

116. Amanda Earl

AngelHousePress Essay # 16 by Don McKay

Wed 27 Jul 2011

In "It Won't Work," the latest in our essay series, we republish a piece by Don McKay on the 25th anniversary of Brick Books in 2000, and the temerity of its founders despite naysayers and obstacles. Brick Books was founded in 1975 and I, as an avid reader of Canadian literature and particularly of books by Brick, am very glad they are here and thriving. Please visit their wonderful site www.brickbooks.ca and buy their books.

Please go to www.angelhousepress.com and click on essays.

Amanda

Amanda Earl
AngelHousePress
www.angelhousepress.com
the angel is in the house

↑ Index

117. Jesse Glass
Orality and Art: Hitting the Sweet Spot in Performance
Thu 28 Jul 2011

John Miles Foley's How to Read an Oral Poem (U. of Illinois Press), is a great book that presents some useful takes on Ong & Co.,--also recommend his Oral Lit. website.

Foley starts the book off with a picture (on the cover of an earlier edition) of Grags-pa send-ge, an oral epic singer from the Chando area of the Tibetan Autonomous region of China. In Grags-pa send-ge's hand is a piece of paper at which he appears to be staring as he "reads" the epic. The interesting point is this: the paper is blank, yet all epic singers from this area hold paper as part of the performance. Indeed, the blank page is a kind of "centering" device, or even, if you will, an aid to visualization as the words roll forth. This perhaps is an extreme example, but one that brings up a question:

When you give a "reading" of your work, how do you fill the gap to hit the sweet spot, as it were, between text and performance? Do you attempt to be true to the text before you, or do you use the text as a platform for improvisation, both vocal, and content wise? Are your performances 50/50--with the text counting as much as the performance, or are they--say--30/70, in which performance and improv. counts more than textual accuracy?

Please do check out Foley's book--it's great.

Jess

↑ Index

118. Jennifer Karmin
July 29: Printers' Ball in Chicago
Thu 28 Jul 2011

Friday, July
7th Annual Printersâ€™ Ball:
ITâ€™S ALIVE!

Friday, July 29th
6-11pm

at The Ludington Building
Columbia College Chicago
1104 S. Wabash Ave -- Chicago, IL

FREE for all ages
http://www.printersball.org

The Printers' Ball celebrates literary culture by offering thousands of magazines, books, and broadsides free of charge; showcasing live music, readings, and performances; demonstrating letterpress, offset, and silk-screen printing and paper-making; and providing other activities, entertainment, food, and drink â€” all free!

Features include:

* Poetry reading by David Berman.

* â€œReading Experiment in Progressâ€: An interactive performance and mini-reading of Jennifer Karminâ€™s text-sound epic Aaaaaaaaaaalice.

* A short animated preview of the novel Ghosts by CÃ©sar Aira; animation by Susie Kirkwood and Jill Summers, original score by Daniel Knox.

* Where a Blade Becomes Horizonby Simone Muench. Muenchâ€™s poem-film, or cinematic poem, uses juxtaposed footage of numerous horror films superimposed with a patchwork of various poetic texts and music.

* What do you Believe?" An installation of real life monster encounters by illustrator Marika Paz and researcher Patrick Summers.

* Salsa music by An Ebirac Project featuring Willie Gomez, with poet Luis Tubens.

* Busted Books: The Great Soaking. Performance by Davis Schneiderman.

* Next Objectivists: Transcriptions.Â From behind typewriters, they'll transcribe the thoughts and worst fears of Chicagoans.

* Larger-than-life-size Ouija Board by Chicago Underground Library.Â Guests are invited to contact the spirits of larger-than-life authors using their larger-than-life Oujia Board.

* The Whitechapel Club by Pocket Guide to Hell. Taking its name from Jack the Ripper's London haunt, the Whitechapel Club was a Chicago press club in the 1890s that gathered together world-weary Chicago journalists for drinking, singing, storytelling, and general carousing.

* The World As Text, a summer reading room and exhibition crafted out of re-purposed furniture.Â Â Â

* Live video collage by Judgeworks.

* Knee-Jerkmagazineâ€™s Inner Literary Monsters.

* Frankenzine by Chicago Zine Fest.

The Printers' Ball is presented by the Poetry Foundation and Poetry magazine with the Center for Book & Paper Arts, the Chicago Underground Library, Columbia College Chicago, and MAKE.

↑ Index

119. Christophe Casamassima

100,000 Poets for Change - Baltimore Recording Sessions

Thu 28 Jul 2011

For immediate release: July 26th 2011

One Hundred Thousand Poets for Change

From: Christophe Casamassima, Furniture Press Books

To: The People of Baltimore

* *

*400 Events in over 400 Cities Representing 70 Countries Make “One Hundred Thousand Poets For Change” Truly Historic

* *

Poets around the world are currently organizing and planning nearly 400 individual events to take place simultaneously on September 24th in a demonstration/celebration of poetry and the spoken word to promote environmental, social, and political change.

In Baltimore City, I am organizing a massive recording session of area poets, writers and readers, and then creating a free online anthology where anyone in the world can listen. The purpose is to support the notion that “The City that Reads” reflects the manifest interests and poetics of its citizenry, and that creative literacy can be sustained in Charm City.

From now until September 24th, I’ll be reaching out to individuals to read their favorite poems in front of a microphone. It can be one poem or a series of poems. The object is to show the world that poetry is thriving in our fair city and that it’s not just practicing or well-known poets and writers who are engaged in the craft.

Immediately following September 24th, all documentation on the 100TPC.org weblog will be preserved by Stanford University in California, which has recognized 100 Thousand Poets for Change as an historical event, the largest poetry reading in history. They will archive the complete contents of the weblog, 100TPC.org, as part of their digital archiving program LOCKSS<http://www.lockss.org/lockss/Home> .

So, want your 15 minutes of fame? Let’s meet! You can find my contact info below. Please write or call me to set up a time where we can meet. All you have to do is pick your favorite poems and tell us a little about yourself.

Thank you,

Christophe Casamassima

[redacted]

[redacted]

↑ Index

120. William Slaughter
Notice: Mudlark
Thu 28 Jul 2011

New and On View: Mudlark Poster No. 94 (2011)

Five Poems by Deborah Flanagan

Going to Hell | A Sixpence Song | How the Man is Knit
Unauthorized Autobiography | Floating Island Custard

Deborah Flanagan's work has appeared in journals including The Gettysburg Review, FIELD, The Laurel Review, Hotel Amerika, and Poet Lore among others.

Spread the word. Far and wide,

William Slaughter

MUDLARK
An Electronic Journal of Poetry & Poetics
Never in and never out of print...
E-mail: [redacted]
URL: http://www.unf.edu/mudlark

↑ Index

121. Jesse Glass
Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
Fri 29 Jul 2011

Puppetry is moving sculpture. I'm not talking about muppets--mainly rod puppets and marionettes. Has anyone experimented in this area? Would anyone like to? Jess

↑ Index

122. Jonathan Morse

How to read words where there are no words

Sat 30 Jul 2011

To see the demonstration, click http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/2011/07/a-la-barre-preparation-positions-des-mains-et-attitude/and go to the comment.

Jon

↑ Index

123. Rob McLennan

A new printed broadsheet by Someone, rob mclennan + Nathaniel G. Moore

Sat 30 Jul 2011

POSTERS are flying off the press!

3YEARS: This deceivingly beautiful 3 colour broadside commemorates the third anniversary of Canadian Literature's only full contact literary reading, Throwdown in O-Town: 26 June 2008, in Ottawa between rob mclennan and Nathaniel G Moore. Printed in a super limited edition of 50, from wood type and plates, these authors live their work LARGE in this tribute in two voices.

NOW AVAILABLE!

The most beautiful new printed broadsheet by Someone (the press formerly known as Dreadnaught), with a poem each by Ottawa writer rob mclennan + Toronto writer Nathaniel G. Moore.

To order, go directly to the Someone site here (only fifteen copies left!)

http://www.someone.ca/index.php?page=shop.product_details&flypage=flypage.tpl&product_id=100&category_id=23&option=com_virtuemart&Itemid=74 or go to their storefront at 1691 Dundas Street West, Toronto), or from rob mclennan via paypal (I have a few copies as well; either drop me $23 on paypal, or send an email at [redacted]). As Nathaniel G. Moore claims, "Canadian Literature's only full contact literary reading."

http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/2011/07/new-printed-broadsheet-by-someone-rob.html

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

124. Mark Young

Issue twenty-two of Otoliths is now live.

Sun 31 Jul 2011

Issue twenty-two of Otoliths <http://the-otolith.blogspot.com/> has just gone live.

As always, it presents the broad church of creativity the journal is renowned for, with new work from John Martone, Elisa Gabbert & Kathleen Rooney, Richard Kostelanetz, Philip Byron Oakes, Karen Neuberg, dan raphael, Márton Koppány, Martin Burke, Stephen Nelson, John M. Bennett, Morgan Harlow, Sheila E. Murphy, Anny Ballardini, Raymond Farr, Ray Scanlon, Marco Giovenale, Ryan Scott, Tom Beckett (interviewing Kirsten Kaschock), Kirsten Kaschock, Erica Eller, Jim Meirose, Howie Good, Enola Mirao, Jean Vengua (onDion Farquhar's *Feet First), *Walter Ruhlmann, Jill Jones, David James Miller, Michael Caylo-Baradi, Catherine Vidler, Jillian Mukavetz, Zachary Scott Hamilton, Jill Chan, Glenn R. Frantz, Felino Soriano, Iain Britton, Mark Cobley, bruno neiva, Brenda Mann Hammack, Toby Fitch, Tony Rickaby, Grzegorz Wróblewski, Lisa Samuels, Kevin Opstedal, Gustave Morin, Rich Murphy, Laura Wetherington, Jeff Harrison, J. D. Nelson, Charles Freeland, Rosaire Appel, Ann Vickery, Isaac Linder, Bobbi Lurie, Sam Langer, Rose Hunter, Spencer Selby, Jason Lester, Michael Brandonisio, Bob Heman, Keith Higginbotham, Connor Stratman, & Marcia Arrieta.

Enjoy.

↑ Index

@poetics

The UB Poetics Discussion Group

Archive of Electronic Correspondence

August 2011

149 messages · Mon 1 Aug 2011 – Wed 31 Aug 2011

August 2011 brought the room back to the body — the poem as something felt in the nerves and muscles, made and moved and animated in the flesh — and then, as if to prove the point, took two poets out of their bodies for good. One hundred and forty-nine messages moved through the list, and its currents ran between proprioception and puppetry, the poem as embodied perception and the poem as a thing made to move, with two deaths closing the month in the flesh's plainest terms. It was a month about what the body knows and what it loses.

The largest thread taught the poem as perception. A member building a course framed it as a passage from seeing to sensing — "Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception" — reaching for Olson's old insistence that the poem begins in the body's own awareness of itself, the breath and the nerve and the muscle, not in the abstract intellect. Beside it a thread on poetry and puppetry took up the animated body, the made thing given the semblance of life, the poem as a figure moved by unseen hands. Both asked the same question: how the word gets into the body, and the body into the word.

The quarrel, familiar, was over lineage and the flesh. Threads on Jack Spicer and on Silliman's anthology In the American Tree kept the New American and Language inheritances in view, while a thread on Elizabeth Bishop worried the biographical body behind the impersonal poems — the room, as ever, arguing whose bodily lives get read back into the work and whose get kept out.

And the month ended in mortality twice over. Samuel Menashe died in August, the great miniaturist, maker of tiny, chiseled, unforgettable poems, the first winner of the Neglected Masters award — his whole art a proof that the smallest body of work can hold the most — and Roy McBride died the same month, another maker gone. The poets who had spent August theorizing the body in the poem watched two poets' bodies fail.

I have set August down exactly as the archive delivered it — the poem as proprioception, the puppet's animated body, the biographical flesh behind Bishop, and the deaths of Menashe and McBride — because it was the month the list thought hardest about the body in the poem and then was reminded, twice, that the body ends. A room that will spend its August tracing how perception becomes proprioception, how a puppet is given life, and how a life gets read back into a poem, and then bury the miniaturist whose tiny perfect poems outweigh whole shelves, is a room that knows the deepest fact about its art: that it is made in the body, carried in the breath, and lost, finally, when the breath stops.

— Kristen M. Fabians

Index

Writers, names mentioned, and concepts. Every number links to its message. 149 in all.

WRITERS

Aldonlnielsen 136
Ampleman, Lisa 51
AND, mIEKAL 108
Andrews, Jim 50
App, The Claudius 32
Baldwin, Charles 81, 89
Baratier, David 44, 46
Beaulieu, Derek 25
Behm-Steinberg, Hugh 142
Blaser, Simone 56
Borchart, Sharon Mesmer/David 19
Cain, Séamas 71, 72
Calabrese, Rosalie 130
Carson, Margaret 116
Cha, Asian 93, 94
Cheek, Cris 38, 133
Clay, Steve 23
Conrad, CA 12, 13, 18
Dalachinsky, Steve 14, 58, 82, 115, 145
Daly, Catherine 43, 69
Damon, Maria 33, 97
Deed, Martha 88
Durgin, Patrick F. 110
ENG), Wystan Curnow (ARTS 107, 147
Farrell, Michael 119, 120
Fieled, Adam 24, 47, 111, 127, 138
Flynn, Richard 67
Frazer, Vernon 6, 128
Glass, Jesse 143
Hadbawnik, David 79, 80
Healy, Randolph 57
Heman, Bob 102
Hosea, Chris 8
Howe, William R. Dr. 27
Johnson, Halvard 3, 21
Karmin, Jennifer 39, 59, 91, 121
Kennedy, Evan 146
Killian, Kevin 53
Kimmelman, Burt 34, 62, 68, 103
King, Amy 28, 76, 86, 87
Kirschenbaum, David 5
Kiviok, Kiviok 63, 75
Kuniya, Mark 17, 100
Leaskou, Nicholas 73
Leaves, Little Red 148
Lee, Jeffrey 74
Lepson, Ruth 52, 60, 92, 117
Levato, Francesco 104
MacAllister, Bonnie 4, 123
Martin, Camille 124
McLennan, Rob 15, 37, 45, 90, 98, 140, 144, 149
Morse, Jonathan 11, 20, 48, 132
Nealand, Eireene 101, 106, 118
Nelson, Paul 129
Nemet-Nejat, Murat 109, 139
Nicholson, Andy 1
Nicoll, Hugh 61
Novack, Carol 112
Oha, Obododimma 84
Owens, Richard 40
Palagi, Naomi Buck 135
Penton, Jonathan 78
Peterson, Tim 122
Quartermain, Peter 35
Rau, Christina 96
Reginio, Robert 7
Rippeon, Andrew 41
Rothenberg, Jerome 16
Schultz, Susan Webster 9, 113
Schwartz, Gerald 42, 54, 55, 66
Shankar, Ravi (English) 105
Side, Jeffrey 10, 22, 26, 30, 31, 36, 95, 134
Siegell, Paul 64
Skinner, Jonathan 125
Sondheim, Alan 126, 137
Tobin, Adam 114
Trigilio, Tony 85
Weiss, Mark 65, 141
Wickens, Jessica 77, 83
Wilcox, Dan 2, 49, 70
Williams, Tyrone 29
Young, Mark 99, 131

NAMES MENTIONED

Abelson, Alex 5
Acker, Kathy 39
Ackerman, Amanda 45
Adams, Robert 5
Alexander, Charles 59, 121
Alice, Mary 5, 98
Allegretti, Joel 105
Allison, Dorothy 77, 83
Andre, Michael 5
Angelo, Michael 5
Anne, Sarah 142
Arbor, Ann 5
Arigo, Christopher 44, 46
Armantrout, Rae 146
Armstrong, Aaron 90
Arnold, Bob 100
Atlanta, Mark P. 5, 72

Austin, Geer 5, 72
Austin, Mary 5
Aydt, Rachel 5
Baldwin, James 81, 88, 89, 92
Ballard, Micah 134
Barbour, Douglas 37
Barlow, John 98
Barwin, Gary 90
Battson, Jill 45
Baudelaire, Charles 146
Beckett, Samuel 131
Beckett, Tom 131
Behrle, Jim 5
Belford, Ken 124
Bellamy, Dodie 146
Bennett, John M. 4, 98
Benson, Cara 5, 91
Benson, Steve 5
Berger, Jonathan 5
Berger, Stephanie 5
Berkeley, Michael 77, 83, 110
Bernstein, Charles 131
Berrigan, Ted 36
Berry, Stephen 5
Bervin, Jen 39
Betts, Gregory 37, 149
Bevington, Stan 98
Bishop, Elizabeth 53, 60, 61, 63, 67, 75
Blake, William 5, 135
Blanchot, Maurice 81
Blaser, Robin 56
Blau, Rachel 39
Blonstein, Anne 5, 142
Blouin, Michael 45
Boat, Drunken 5, 105, 122
Bolster, Stephanie 149
Bonney, Sean 40
Borkhuis, Charles 5, 124
Bowering, George 37
Boyer, Stephen 146
BpNichol 5, 37, 98
Bradley, Tom 98
Brazil, David 5, 123, 148
Brockwell, Stephen 144, 149
Bromige, David 44, 46
Brown, Ann 39
Brown, Brandon 146
Brown, James 5
Bruno, Franklin 5
Bryant, Tisa 59, 121
Burns, Megan 91
Cafe, Poets 5
Cameron, Sharon 137
Carlos, William 13
Carr, Angela 39
Carr, Emily 37
Carter, Mike 5
Casey, Sean 72
Ceravolo, Joe 36
Cha, Theresa Hak Kyung 39
Chace, Joel 5, 100, 124
Chang, Tina 105
Chernoff, Maxine 45, 124
Claire, Paula 5
Clare, John 144
Clark, Tom 5
Clemente, Francesco 124
Cobbing, Bob 98
Cole, Sean 5
Coleman, Victor 98
Collins, Alison 5
Columbus, Christopher 130, 131
Comments, Chicago 124
Compton, Shanna 45
Connor, Brenda 5
Cooley, Nicole 37
Cooper, Paula 5
Copithorne, Judith 149
Corber, Mitch 5, 68
County, Mike 72
Covey, Bruce 5
Creeley, Robert 79, 124
Crosby, Harry 5, 142
Curtis, Dana 44, 46
Cycholl, Garin 44, 46
Cyphers, Jeffrey 5
Darragh, Tina 39
Davenport, Steve 44, 46
Davies, Kevin 5
Davis, Martin 5, 91
Degentesh, Katie 39
Dennis, Michael 37, 90, 142
Desbarats, Michelle 144
Dixon, Bill 5
Donato, Claire 5
Donovan, Thom 142, 148
Doris, Stacy 39
Dowker, David 124
Dowling, Sarah 39
Duncan, Andrew 5, 42, 50, 52, 55, 56, 66
Durand, Marcella 5, 39
Durgin, Patrick F. 110
Dutton, Paul 39
Earl, Amanda 37, 149
Edison, Thomas 135
Eigner, Larry 124
Einhorn, Emily 5
Elisa, Paula 142
Ellen, Mary 37
Elliot, Joe 5
Emerson, Claudia 131
England, Amy 4, 5, 105, 110
Ernst, Max 98
Evans, Brett 5

Fagin, Larry 142
Fishback, Dan 5
Fishman, Ellen 85
Fishman, Lisa 85
Fitzgerald, Scott 5
Fleisher, Kass 4
Foster, Edward 142
Fox, Hugh 112
Fox, Skip 3
France, Peter 123
Frances, Mary 39
Fraser, Simon 98
Friedman, Dorothy 5
Friedman, Thomas 5
Frischkorn, Suzanne 105
Fuchs, Greg 5
Fuhrman, Joanna 5
Gander, Forrest 142
Garcia, Rodrigo 148
Gardner, Janet 91
Gatza, Geoffrey 81, 88, 91, 92
Genega, Paul 5
Giffin, Lawrence 5
Gilbert, Alan 5
Gilbert, Roger 5, 98
Gildzen, Alex 99
Gilmore, Gary 5
Ginsberg, Allan 36
Ginsberg, Allen 72
Gladman, Renee 39
Glass, Philip 104
Godston, Dan 59, 121
Goldberg, Ariel 73, 124
Goldman, Judith 39
Goldstein, Laura 59, 121
Goode, Chris 38
Gordon, Nada 39
Gould, Glenn 142
Graham, Lea 37
Graham, Susan 96
Gray, Stephanie 5
Greenberg, Samuel 124
Greene, Jonathan 5, 142
Griffin, Tim 100, 142
Gudding, Gabriel 127
Guest, Barbara 124
Guthrie, Annie 91
Hajnoczky, Helen 37
Hall, Phil 37
Halsey, Alan 98
Hamm, Christine 5
Harper, Michael 5
Hart, Matt 142
Hawkes, John 5
Hawkins, William 37
Heath, Jennifer 142
Hejinian, Lyn 36, 131
Henderson, David 142
Higgins, Dick 142
Highfill, Mitch 5
Hill, Jennifer 5
Hill, Matt 10
Hillman, Brenda 129
Hofer, Jen 39
Hoffman, Daniel 5
Hollo, Anselm 124
Holloway, Rob 133, 141
Holman, Bob 5
Holmes, Matthew 37
Hoover, Paul 45
Horning, Ron 5
House, Poets 5
Howard, Richard 44, 46
Howe, William R. 27
Hughes, Peter 57
Hughes, Ted 5
Hunter, Carrie 5
Iijima, Brenda 5, 148
Indiana, Gary 5
Ireland, Lauren 72
Jackson, Jesse 5
Jacobs, Jane 5
Jameson, Fredric 135
Jarnot, Lisa 5
Jeffery, Mark 100
Jenks, Philip 59, 121
Johnson, Thomas 3, 21, 142
Jonas, Stephen 5
Jones, Bob 5, 37
Jordan, June 131
Joseph, Safdie 124
Joyce, Trevor 7, 124
Kafka, Franz 90
Kaminski, Megan 142
Kane, Daniel 36
Kaplan, Josef 5
Kaufman, Bob 70
Keene, John 59, 121
Kelly, Robert 5
Kelsey, Karla 5
Ketch, Shannon 5
Kiely, Aaron 5
Kirschenbaum, David A. 5
Klein, Naomi 5
Knott, Bill 124
Koeneke, Rodney 44, 46
Koos, John 5
Krieger, Ben 5
Kroetsch, Robert 37, 45
Kushner, Bill 5
Lamoureux, Mark 5
Landers, Sue 5
Lang, Eugene 5
Larkin, Maryrose 39

Larkin, Philip 5, 142
Larsen, David 73
Lauterbach, Ann 124
Lavender, Bill 5
Lavery, John 144
Lehman, David 142
Leonard, Tom 5, 142
Leong, Michael 5
Leuzzi, Tony 63
Levin, Lynn 86, 87
Levine, Jeffrey 44, 46, 142
Levitsky, Rachel 39
Lomax, Alan 142
London, Frank 5, 40, 72, 108, 133, 141
Lorca, Federico García 5
Lowell, Amy 98
Lowinger, Aaron 79
Luoma, Bill 5
Lynn, Aldon 136, 145
Lyons, Kimberly 5, 124
Macdonald, Travis 91, 142
Madison, James 85
Madrid, Anthony 59, 121
Maguire, Shannon 37
Maldonado, Sheila 5
Mangold, Sarah 148
Mansfield, Charles 5
Manson, Douglas 5
Marmer, Jake 14
Mason, Chris 5
Massey, Joseph 124
Massey, Karen 144
Mayer, Bernadette 36
Mayer, Jane 39
McCaffery, Steve 98
Meetze, James 142
Meier, Richard 85
Meltzer, David 73
Melville, Pierre 5
Menashe, Samuel 103, 116, 136, 145
Meredith, William 5, 124, 142
Middle, Max 144
Miller, Henry 5, 104
Miller, Lee 4, 63
Mills, Billy 7
Mills, David 5
Mir, Stan 44, 46
Miriam, Erica 45
Monroe, Bill 5
Moody, Rick 142
Moore, Nathaniel G. 45
Moore, Nicholas 54, 58, 65, 74, 80, 82, 96
Moreland, Sean 149
Moriarty, Laura 39
Moritz, Rachel 45
Morris, Jason 5
Morris, Tim 39
Morrison, Rusty 39, 142
Moure, Erin 39
Mullen, Harryette 39
Mullen, Laura 39, 78
Mulrooney, John 5
Murray, Elizabeth 98
Nakayasu, Sawako 39
Nelson, Gale 37, 142
Nelson, Paul E. 129
Newman, Charlie 59, 121
Newton, Keith 124
Nguyen, Hoa 17, 100
Nichols, Travis 5
Nicole, Anna 4
Nielsen, Lynn 136, 145
Norman, Peter 4
Norris, Ken 37
Norton, John 5
Oliver, Laura 91
Oliver, Mary 105
Olsen, Lance 39, 85
Olson, John 142
Osman, Jena 39
Ovid 79
Pacific, Asian 5, 61, 67, 75, 129
Paige, Abby 37
Patton, Julie 39
Pearson, Ted 5
Pecqueur, Paul 5, 142
Pendergast, Dawn 142
Penn, Joanna 5
Perloff, Marjorie 131
Peterson, Katie 122
Phillip, Andrew 77, 83
Phillips, Malcolm 5
Piccinnini, Douglas 5
Pines, Paul 91
Piombino, Nick 5
Plath, Sylvia 5
Poe, Deborah 45
Portugal, Anne 39
Pound, Ezra 3
Prevallet, Kristen 39
Price, Brett 5
Prince, Richard 5, 130
Professor, Kelly 136, 145
Purcell, Greg 5
Purcell, Jack 5
Randall, Karen 5
Raven, Francis 72
Reeck, Matt 5
Reed, Marthe 5, 91
Remer, Justin 5
Retallack, Joan 39
Revell, Donald 142
Rhodes, Shane 144
Richards, Deborah 39

Ricks, Christopher 103
Robertson, Lisa 39
Robinson, Sophie 133, 141
Roggenbuck, Steve 59, 121
Rooney, Kathleen 142
Rosenfield, Kim 39
Rosenthal, Sarah 73
Rothenberg, Diane 16
Rothschild, Douglas 5
Rowan, Lou 5
Rubin, Michael 5
Ruefle, Mary 142
Russo, Linda 91
Sanchez, Jorge 142
Sanders, Jay 5
Sartre, Paul 126, 139, 143
Savage, Tom 5
Sawyer, Chris 22
Sawyer, Larry 22, 37, 59, 121
Scalapino, Leslie 124
Schlesinger, Kyle 148
Schoen, Jesse 5
Schultz, Susan M. 39, 59, 113, 121
Schwartz, Judy 42, 50, 52, 54, 55, 56, 58, 65, 66, 74, 80, 82, 96
Seelig, Adam 124
Seldess, Jesse 5
Shakespeare, William 5
Shaw, Lytle 41
Shelley, Percy Bysshe 85, 142
Shimoda, Brandon 91
Shmailo, Larissa 5
Shurin, Aaron 142
Sigo, Cedar 129
Sikelianos, Eleni 104
Simon, Greg 5
Simon, Rachel M. 44, 46
Simon, Toni 5
Simone, Frank 56
Sims, Laura 142
Sinatra, Frank 5
Skillings, Emily 5
Sky, Tarpaulin 5
Smith, Dale 17, 100
Smith, Jessica 37
Smith, Steven 98
Smith, Tracy K. 5
Snyder, Rick 5
Sol, Adam 45
Souster, Raymond 98
Spahr, Juliana 39
Spicer, Jack 54, 58, 65, 74, 80, 82, 96
Squires, Geoffrey 7
Stanton, Rob 5
Statman, Mark 5
Stein, Leigh 5
Stein, Suzanne 5, 39
Stempleman, Jordan 131
Stengel, Jill 5
Stevens, Wallace 5, 48
Stroffolino, Chris 73
Sullivan, Gary 5
Taggart, John 100
Tardos, Anne 39
Taylor, Jesse 105
Teare, Brian 45, 73
Texas, Irving 5, 72
Theater, Poets 5, 79
Thomas, Dylan 8, 37, 73, 90
Thompson, Jon 5
Thurston, Scott 124
Townsend, Cheryl 5, 148
Trevor, Jesse 129
Turner, Brian 5, 124
Tyler, Mary 4
Valery, Paul 14
Vassilakis, Nico 129
Vermont, Charlie 5
Vincent, Gregory 5
Vincenz, Marc 26
Vogel, Aviva 5, 91
Vollmer, Judith 44, 46
Wakoski, Diane 85
Waldman, Anne 36
Waldman, Ken 36
Waldrop, Rosmarie 39
Walker, Wendy 39
Wallace, Nicole 5
Wallace, Sara 5
Walsh, Catherine 7
Warsh, Lewis 36
Washington, Harold 4, 5
Watts, Robert 30
Weber, Damian 5
Weinberger, Eliot 5
Weiner, Hannah 39
Weinstein, Eric 142
Wertheim, Christine 39
Wetherington, Laura 142
Wharton, Samuel 98
Whitman, Walt 5
Wieners, John 5
Wilder, Ian 5
Wilder, Kimberly 142
Williams, Julia 37
Williamson, Aaron 45
Willis, Elizabeth 5, 136, 145
Wilson, Steve 5, 142
Wolach, David 5
Wolff, Rebecca 5
Wolman, Ken 3
Wright, James 5
Yacht, Peter F. 90
Yankelevich, Matvei 5

Zappa, Frank 98
Zend, Robert 124
Zimmerman, Daniel 44, 46
Zolf, Rachel 39, 142
Zukofsky, Louis 14

CONCEPTS

9/11 5, 92
Activism and protest 5, 27
Aesthetics 5, 122
African American poetry 5
Anthologies 4, 5, 39, 44, 45, 46, 85, 98, 111, 119, 122, 133, 141
Appropriation 5
Archives and libraries 5, 23, 29, 33, 72, 81, 86, 87, 89, 103, 104, 137
Autobiography 4, 5, 36, 37, 119, 130
Avant-garde 36
Beat generation 72
Beauty 4, 110, 131
Biography 44, 46, 63
Black Mountain 5, 55
Blogs 3, 5, 9, 12, 13, 15, 16, 18, 20, 21, 27, 31, 37, 40, 45, 61, 64, 73, 79, 90, 93, 94, 98, 99, 110, 112, 113, 121, 124, 127, 132, 136, 140, 144, 145, 146, 148, 149
Book announcements 5, 6, 9, 37, 49, 72, 79, 105, 122, 129
Bookstores 5, 64, 77, 83, 98, 123
Calls for submissions 7, 51
Censorship 5, 64
Cities 4, 5, 40, 79
Close reading 124
Collage and montage 91, 98, 102
Conceptual writing 39, 119
Conferences and festivals 5, 25, 27, 71, 72, 78, 98, 104, 110, 129
Copyright and permissions 81, 121
Craft 4
Creative writing pedagogy 7
Dada 25
Difficulty 81, 89
Digital archives 5, 24
Disability 110
Dreams 5, 48, 101, 107, 108, 109, 115, 117, 118, 120, 124, 136, 137, 145, 147
Ecology and ecopoetics 79
Editing 4, 5, 45, 113
Ekphrasis 5, 101, 107, 108, 109, 115, 117, 118, 120, 137, 147
Electronic poetry and hypertext 5, 16, 89
Elegy 5, 124
Empire and imperialism 44, 46
Ethics 5
Experimental poetry 5
Fascism 143
Feminism 5, 36, 76, 79, 122
Film 5, 52, 66, 99, 101, 107, 108, 109, 115, 117, 118, 120, 123, 124, 137, 147
Flarf 89
Free verse 36
Gender 122
Grants and funding 5, 12, 18, 49, 105
Humour and satire 27, 120
Improvisation 4, 5
Interviews 4, 5, 36, 45, 68, 73, 99, 124, 129, 131, 134, 142, 149
Letters and correspondence 5, 25, 61
List moderation 5, 37
Little magazines 4, 5, 15, 40, 44, 45, 46, 72, 79, 90, 91, 93, 94, 105, 110, 122, 123, 127, 149
Lyric poetry 4, 30, 91, 122
Materiality of the text 89
Memory 85, 91, 145
MFA programs 4, 5, 85
Modernism 7
Mourning and loss 113
Multiculturalism 5
Music and poetry 4, 5, 14, 19, 27, 72, 89, 126, 130, 136, 137, 139, 143, 145
Nature 4, 5, 36, 110, 121, 124
New York School 36, 124
Obituary and memorial 23, 29, 33, 108
Ontology 81, 89
Oulipo 25
Performance and the poetry reading 2, 5, 27, 45, 49, 64, 72, 78, 85, 86, 87, 102, 110, 130
Phenomenology 89
Philosophy 5, 89
Place and region 79
Poet laureate 78, 105
Poetics 4, 5, 16, 25, 35, 39, 45, 53, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 67, 75, 79, 85, 107, 109, 110, 111, 115, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 124, 127, 132, 133, 137, 138, 141, 147, 149
Post-avant 111, 119
Print vs. digital 5, 10, 22, 26, 30, 34, 35, 43, 44, 46, 81, 88, 89, 92, 95, 99, 114, 122, 130, 144, 148
Prizes and awards 4, 5, 25, 44, 46, 103, 105, 133, 141
Prose poem 5, 10, 44, 46, 105
Psychoanalysis 130
Queer poetics 122, 133, 141
Race and poetry 2, 45, 48, 124
Reading announcements 2, 86, 87, 90, 135
Religion and the sacred 2, 4, 5, 49, 85, 109, 118, 120, 121
Reviewing and criticism 4, 5, 72, 81, 85, 88, 89, 90, 92, 105, 106, 122, 138, 148
Science 5, 90
Semiotics 42, 50, 52, 55, 56, 66, 84, 89
Serial poem 5

Small press publishing 2, 4, 5, 9, 15, 20, 27, 37, 41, 44, 45, 46, 57, 59, 70, 72, 74, 79, 82, 85, 90, 96, 98, 100, 102, 105, 110, 112, 121, 122, 133, 140, 141, 144, 149
Social media 4, 5, 8, 44, 46, 59, 64, 76, 90, 121, 123, 126, 139, 143
Software and code 5, 81, 89
Sonnet 2, 3, 21, 36, 49, 124, 133, 141
Subjectivity 5, 27, 49, 51, 139
Surrealism 4, 5, 14, 22, 25
Terrorism 5
The academy 4, 5, 12, 14, 25, 51, 78, 79, 84, 85, 89, 90, 98, 105, 107, 110, 115, 117, 122, 133, 136, 137, 138, 141, 145, 147
The body 44, 46, 89, 101, 107, 108, 109, 115, 117, 118, 120, 122, 137, 147
The internet 5, 68, 139
The listserv 44, 46, 49, 88, 92, 98, 101, 107, 108, 109, 115, 117, 118, 120, 137, 147
Theatre 1, 5, 25, 42, 60, 67, 69, 75, 78, 79
Translation 5, 25, 44, 46, 51, 65, 79, 106, 116, 136, 142, 145, 146
Visual and concrete poetry 91
Visual art 1, 4, 5, 14, 15, 27, 42, 45, 64
Voice 5
Women's writing 5, 110

Contents

Every entry links to its message. 149 in all.

1 AUG 2011

1. Andy Nicholson — Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
2. Dan Wilcox — News Release: Third Thursday Poetry Night, August 18: Naton Leslie
3. Halvard Johnson — Truck: Change of drivers/editors for August 2011
4. Bonnie MacAllister — New August Certain Circuits

2 AUG 2011

5. David Kirschenbaum — 5th Welcome to Boog City Fest Starts Friday
6. Vernon Frazer — STYLING SANPAKU by Vernon Frazer in Print and Online
7. Robert Reginio — Call for Papers on Irish Neo-Avant Garde Poetries
8. Chris Hosea — Lyrical Happy Ending: Aug 11, 8pm, 302 Broome
9. Susan Webster Schultz — Two new books from Tinfish press
10. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “A Western Exile” by Matt Hill
11. Jonathan Morse — Republican grammar

3 AUG 2011

12. CA Conrad — CONFETTI ALLEGIANCE @ POETS.org
13. CA Conrad — poet Carlos Soto-Roman
14. steve dalachinsky — Re: Zukofsky
15. Rob McLennan — a new project of poetic responses to visual arts
16. Jerome Rothenberg — new york in the fall -- apartment still needed
17. Mark Kuniya — Empty Hands Broadsides

4 AUG 2011

18. CA Conrad — SISTERS OF ENNUI: Dorothea Lasky & CAConrad
19. Sharon Mesmer/David Borchart — Apartment query for Andrei Codrescu

5 AUG 2011

20. Jonathan Morse — Jonathan Morse's latest photochapbook, "Green / Light,"
21. Halvard Johnson — Sonnets from the Basque & Other Poems
22. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Werewolf Weather” by Larry Sawyer
23. Steve Clay — Roy McBride 1943-2011
24. Adam Fieled — "Apps2" on YouTube
25. Derek Beaulieu — new from NO press: THE LUCID CLUSTERS: POETICS OF CLAUDE GAUVREAU
26. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “The Propaganda Factory by Marc Vince…

6 AUG 2011

27. Howe, William R. Dr. — Cincinnati Small Press Festival
28. amy king — AWP Panel Proposal Rejected – Let’s Get Technical
29. tyrone williams — Re: Roy McBride 1943-2011

7 AUG 2011

30. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Bowl of Light” by C. Brannon Watts
31. Jeffrey Side — Some poems by me at 9th St. Laboratories
32. The Claudius App — "Moi aussi, Marianne," or Moving the Targets, being a crypto-ironic resp…

8 AUG 2011

33. Maria Damon — Re: Roy McBride 1943-2011
34. Kimmelman, Burt — In the American Tree
35. Peter Quartermain — Re: In the American Tree

36. Jeffrey Side — Interview with Daniel Kane about the Second-Generation New York School at Th…
37. Rob McLennan — above/ground press' end-of-summer sale!

9 AUG 2011

38. cris cheek — cris cheek on Thompson's
39. Jennifer Karmin — I'll Drown My Book: Conceptual Writing by Women
40. richard owens — CROT | HAX

10 AUG 2011

41. Andrew Rippeon — !!FIRE SALE!!
42. Gerald Schwartz — Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
43. Catherine Daly — Re: In the American Tree
44. David Baratier — Final Call Monday 8/15: Transcontinental Award for 1st or 2nd books of Poe…
45. Rob McLennan — new(ish) on rob's clever blog

12 AUG 2011

46. David Baratier — Final Call Monday 8/15: Transcontinental Award for 1st or 2nd books of Poe…
47. Adam Fieled — Trish/ American Deadness on Issuu

13 AUG 2011

48. Jonathan Morse — Wallace Stevens, astronomer, prefers the fiction of darkness to the mere f…
49. Dan Wilcox — Third Thursday Poetry Night, Aug. 18: Naton Leslie

14 AUG 2011

50. Jim Andrews — Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
51. Lisa Ampleman — Call for Papers on Italian Medievalisms in Contemporary Poetry
52. Ruth Lepson — Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation

15 AUG 2011

53. Kevin Killian — About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
54. Gerald Schwartz — Spicer
55. Gerald Schwartz — Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
56. Simone Blaser — Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
57. Randolph Healy — two new chapbooks from Wild Honey Press
58. steve dalachinsky — Re: Spicer
59. Jennifer Karmin — Red Rover Series / fall 2011
60. Ruth Lepson — Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
61. Hugh Nicoll — Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
62. Kimmelman, Burt — Re: In the American Tree
63. kiviok kiviok — Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
64. Paul Siegell — Paul Siegell's upcoming readings
65. Mark Weiss — Re: Spicer
66. Gerald Schwartz — Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
67. Richard Flynn — Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
68. Kimmelman, Burt — Kimmelman Interview at Tribes, Wednesday 8:30 PM (ET)
69. Catherine Daly — Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation

16 AUG 2011

70. Dan Wilcox — A.P.D. Publishes "Poeming the Prompt" by Dan Wilcox
71. Séamas Cain — Justin Katko's Report
72. Séamas Cain — A twist of the pepper
73. Nicholas Leaskou — Poet As Radio: Brian Teare on 8/20
74. Jeffrey Lee — Re: Spicer
75. kiviok kiviok — Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....

17 AUG 2011

76. amy king — OT: Next Thursday - Feminist Poets meet The Feminist Press!
77. Jessica Wickens — 10th Anniversary Issue of Monday Night - in print and online!

18 AUG 2011

78. Jonathan Penton — 100 Thousand Poets for Change in Lafayette, Louisiana!
79. David Hadbawnik — B V O X B K L A U N C H --- S A T, A U G 2 7 -- 8 P M
80. David Hadbawnik — Re: Spicer
81. Charles Baldwin — unprintability (part 1)
82. steve dalachinsky — Re: Spicer
83. Jessica Wickens — corrected links: Monday Night 10th anniversary issue in print & online!

19 AUG 2011

84. Obododimma Oha — Hosting One's Funeral
85. Tony Trigilio — Sunday--Madison, WI: Trigilio, Fishman, Meier at Avol's Books
86. Amy King — Reminder: Poets on the Porch 2011 – Tomorrow - August 20th / Philadelphia, PA
87. amy king — Reminder: Poets on the Porch 2011 – Tomorrow - August 20th / Philadelphia, PA
88. Martha Deed — Re: unprintability (part 1)
89. Charles Baldwin — unprintability (part 2)
90. Rob McLennan — span-o presents: jesslyn delia smith, Hugh Thomas + Dennis E. Bolen!
91. Jennifer Karmin — Summer Stock: new online journal
92. Ruth Lepson — Re: unprintability (part 1)

20 AUG 2011

93. Asian Cha — Critique Contest || Best Short Writing in the World
94. Asian Cha — The China Issue, featuring Duo Duo, Ai Weiwei, and more
95. Jeffrey Side — The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “apertures” by rob mclennan
96. Christina Rau — Re: Spicer
97. Maria Damon — job listing! Assistant Director of Creative Writing

21 AUG 2011

98. Rob McLennan — jwcurry's Room 302 Books has a new catalogue: list #12
99. Mark Young — Out from Otoliths—Alex Gildzen's "The Arrow That Is Hollywood / Pierces The S...
100. Mark Kuniya — Poetry Broadsides and Chapbooks

22 AUG 2011

101. Eireene Nealand — writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

23 AUG 2011

102. Bob Heman — Bob Heman and Cindy Hochman @ Nightingale, next Monday, August 29, 7:00
103. Kimmelman, Burt — Samuel Menashe 1925-2011
104. Francesco Levato — An Evening of Poetry at Days and Nights Festival
105. Shankar, Ravi (English) — Four New Books of Poetry Launch at Real Art Ways in Hartford, CT ...
106. Eireene Nealand — Fulbright scholar from St. Petersburg looking for hosts/housing near Camb...
107. Wystan Curnow (ARTS ENG) — Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
108. mIEKAL aND — Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
109. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

24 AUG 2011

110. Patrick F. Durgin — Waveform, by Amber DiPietra and Denise Leto
111. Adam Fieled — "Post-Avant: A Meta-Narrative"
112. Carol Novack — One week left to enter the MadHat Press "Wild & Wyrd" Poetry Chapbook Contes...

113. Susan Webster Schultz — new on Tinfish Editor's Blog
114. Adam Tobin — book design
115. steve dalachinsky — Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
116. Margaret Carson — Re: Samuel Menashe 1925-2011
117. Ruth Lepson — Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

25 AUG 2011

118. Eireene Nealand — Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
119. michael farrell — Re: "Post-Avant: A Meta-Narrative"
120. michael farrell — Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
121. Jennifer Karmin — Red Rover Series / Experiment #49

26 AUG 2011

122. Tim Peterson — Open Call: Anthology of Trans & Genderqueer Poetry
123. Bonnie MacAllister — Deadline for Print Submissions: September 30
124. Camille Martin — Of homunculi and shibboleths (and poetry, too)
125. Jonathan Skinner — BlazeVOX authors' launch (Skinner, Brox, Hadbawnik) in Buffalo 8/27

27 AUG 2011

126. Alan Sondheim — WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US? (please post!)
127. Adam Fieled — "Waxing Hot" on Issuu
128. Vernon Frazer — MOVING ON: a Video from Vernon Frazer
129. Paul Nelson — SPLAB Presents

28 AUG 2011

130. Rosalie Calabrese — Fw: Rosalie Calabrese Poetry update
131. Mark Young — Out from Otoliths — Tom Beckett's "PARTS AND OTHER PIECES"

29 AUG 2011

132. Jonathan Morse — I blog here about the poetics of shadow
133. cris cheek — Sophie Robinson at Miami Ohio, fyi
134. Jeffrey Side — Interview with Micah Ballard at The Argotist Online
135. Naomi Buck Palagi — Tuesday Funk Reading, Chicago
136. Aldonlnielsen — Re: Samuel Menashe 1925-2011
137. Alan Sondheim — Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
138. Adam Fieled — "Twenty-First Century Poetry and Poetics"
139. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US? (please post!)
140. Rob McLennan — essay on sainte-adele, family history, collaboration + christine mcnair,
141. Mark Weiss — Re: Sophie Robinson at Miami Ohio, fyi

30 AUG 2011

142. Hugh Behm-Steinberg — Announcing Issue 11 of Eleven Eleven
143. Jesse Glass — Re: WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US? (please post!) Alan's Awakening!
144. Rob McLennan — Chaudiere Books' "Decalogue" moving sale!
145. steve dalachinsky — blurbs and gigs
146. Evan Kennedy — The Swan's Rag 4: Armantrout, Baudelaire, Bellamy, Boyer, Legault, Manuel, S...
147. Wystan Curnow (ARTS ENG) — Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

31 AUG 2011

148. Little Red Leaves — Re: Group review of Michael Cross's Haecceities
149. Rob McLennan — the third issue of seventeen seconds: a journal of poetry + poetics[C[D

1. Andy Nicholson

Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation

Mon 1 Aug 2011

I haven't done any work with puppetry before, but I've been interested from afar for years. Like a lot of readers, Jarry's Ubu plays simultaneously attracted me through their Punch and Judy echoes and opened me to the possibilities of puppetry as theater.

I don't claim to know anything about puppet theater, but I'm always excited to get the chance to see people work with the genre and would like to write something for puppets one day.

Andy

On Fri, Jul 29, 2011 at 8:42 PM, Jesse Glass <[redacted]> wrote:

> Puppetry is moving sculpture. I'm not talking about muppets--mainly rod puppets and marionettes. Has anyone experimented in this area? Would anyone like to? Jess

↑ Index

2. Dan Wilcox

News Release: Third Thursday Poetry Night, August 18: Naton Leslie

Mon 1 Aug 2011

The Poetry Motel Foundation

c/o Dan Wilcox

280 South Main Ave.

Albany, NY 12208

[redacted]

> Press Release -- for immediate release <

Poet Naton Leslie to read

at the Social Justice Center

Thursday, August 18, 7:30PM

Local poet Naton Leslie will read from his work at the Social Justice Center, 33 Central Ave., Albany on Thursday, August 18, at 7:30PM. Naton Leslie teaches writing & literature at Siena College. His most recent book of poems is “Small Cathedrals” (Wordtech Press, 2011), a collection of blank verse sonnets on the theme of mothers & children as it expressed in art, literature, & religion.

A reading by a local or regional poet is held each Third Thursday at the Social Justice Center. The event includes an open mic for audience members to read. Sign-up starts at 7:00PM, with the reading beginning at 7:30. The host of the readings is Albany poet and photographer Dan Wilcox. The suggested donation is $3.00, which helps support this and other poetry programs of the Poetry Motel Foundation, and the work of the Social Justice Center. For more information about this event contact Dan Wilcox, [redacted]; e-mail: [redacted].

The Social Justice Center, founded in 1981, is a non-profit organization working for progressive social change through education, community building and collective action. The center advances the struggles against racism and for peace and justice. For further information about the SJC call [redacted].

#

↑ Index

3. Halvard Johnson

Truck: Change of drivers/editors for August 2011

Mon 1 Aug 2011

Many thanks to Skip Fox for seeing us through July. The driver/editor for the month of August is Ken Wolman.

Welcome Ken. Drive carefully.

http://halvard-johnson.blogspot.com/

"Literature is news that stays news."
--Ezra Pound

Hal

Halvard Johnson
==========

[redacted]
http://sites.google.com/site/halvardjohnson/Home
http://entropyandme.blogspot.com
http://imageswithoutwords.blogspot.com
http://www.hamiltonstone.org
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
http://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/home
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
*Mainly Black<https://docs.google.com/document/edit?id=1i_JGJ_FqQldEnUq7cwjV8giYykz_tsGbTkC2EkAP3IM&hl=en&pli=1#>

, Obras PÃºblicas<https://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/halvard-johnson-obras-publicas>
; The Perfection of Mozart's Third Eye and Other Sonnets<http://www.scribd.com/doc/27039868/Halvard-Johnson-THE-PERFECTION-OF-MOZART-S-THIRD-EYE-Other-Sonnets>
;*
*Organ Harvest with Entrance of Clones<http://www.amazon.com/Harvest-Entrance-Clones-Halvard-Johnson/dp/0965404390/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1283182804&sr=8-1>
; Tango Bouquet<https://docs.google.com/Doc?docid=0ATDp6rzKkBkhZGZwand2cHdfOWc1Mnh3Zw&hl=en>
; Theory of Harmony<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall04/theory1.pdf>
; *
Rapsodie espagnole<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/rapsodi.pdf>
; Guide to the Tokyo Subway<http://www.amazon.com/Guide-Tokyo-Subway-Other-Poems/dp/0971487316/ref=sr_1_3?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1283183153&sr=1-3>
; The Sonnet Project<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/hsonnet.pdf>
; *
G(e)nome <http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall03/genome.pdf>; Winter Journey <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.winter.html>; Eclipse<http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.eclipse.html>
; The Dance of the Red Swan <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.dance.html>;
*
*Transparencies & Projections <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.transp.html>
*

↑ Index

4. Bonnie MacAllister

New August Certain Circuits

Mon 1 Aug 2011

We are extremely proud of our new August Multimedia Issue of Certain Circuits:

certaincircuits.org

Our latest newsletter (linked because of graphics): submission deadlines, events, artist bios here<http://us2.campaign-archive1.com/?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=2215b8a466&e=> .

AUGUST MULTIMEDIA ISSUE FEATURES (clicking the artist name links to his or her contribution):

ART * * Peter Baroth<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338457737/belly-dancer-peter-baroth-is-a-writer-artist> is a writer, artist, and musician based in Philadelphia. He was born in Chicago, raised in Norman, Oklahoma and is a graduate of Washington University in St. Louis and Temple Law School. He has published a novel, Long Green, with iUniverse and his most recent chapbook is Ski Oklahoma, published with Wordrunner Chapbooks. His poetry has appeared in Mad Poets Review, Schuylkill Valley Journal, Philadelphia Poets, Legal Studies Forum, The Awakenings Review, E Pluribus Unum – An Anthology of Diverse Voices, Apiary, and elsewhere. He was the 2009 recipient of the Amy Tritsch Needle Award in poetry. He is also on the editorial board of Philadelphia Stories magazine.

*Eleanor Leonne Bennett<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338460693/eleanor-leonne-bennett-is-an-amateur-photographer> * is an amateur photographer and artist for Cheshire, England. She has won the Woodland Trust Nature Detectives Art Competition three times. She also won first place in National Geographic's UK Kids Photography Competition and the World Photography Organisation Photomonth Youth Award. eleanorleonnebennett.zenfolio.com

*Nicole Patrice Dul<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338480951/ciudades-perdidas-lost> * <http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338480951/ciudades-perdidas-lost> (Silkscreen and Acrylic Painting *) holds a B.F.A. in painting and drawing from Tyler School of Art, Elkins Park, PA, and an M.F.A. in printmaking from Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, NY. She is currently an adjunct faculty member at Holy Family University, an instructor at Fleisher Art Memorial and an Administrator at the Gershman Y, a Jewish Arts and Culture Organization in Philadelphia, PA. Nicole is an exhibiting artist and is an ongoing member of Orchard Artworks, a Fine Art and Craft Cooperative Gallery in Bryn Athyn, PA. *npdprints.com/index.html

*Gesshel<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338428612/self-portrait-as-a-chair>  is well known for her Cloudscapes and Skyscapes series and for her important mural arts work in urban schools. "I continued studying Art receiving a BFA from the Philadelphia College of Art (now University of the Arts), after which I traveled to Norway to study the woodcuts of Edvard Munch.

The relationship between the intensity of light and color in Norway transformed my life as an artist forever. As color began to fill my work, I found myself becoming a painter as well. Upon returning to Philadelphia, expecting to teach in the school system and finding the power of these changes continued, I needed to return for my creative well-being. I was fortunate enough to enroll in the Royal Norwegian School of Arts and Crafts with a Stipend as a Printmaking Assistant. I also studied Norwegian at the University of Oslo. *www.gesshel.com

Amy Greenan<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338501710/drop-amy-greenan-statement> * is an artist, designer, art collector, and life enthusiast working and living in Niagara Falls, NY. She has exhibited her paintings, drawings, prints, books, and zines internationally. Greenan studied at SUNY Purchase (BFA) and the University at Buffalo (MFA), and teaches at the Art Institute of Pittsburgh Online Division, Buffalo State College, and Villa Maria College in Buffalo. www.amygreenan.com *

*Bex Saunders<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/7118285109/bex-saunders-is-a-15-year-old-awarding-winning> is a 15 year old awarding-winning photographer from Hampshire, England. Her work has been featured in many magazines such as Digital Photography Enthusiast and on multiple websites such as Italian Vogue. She was featured in Hampshire's Top Attractions, Littleton and Harestock Show, Nature Detectives, and the Young Photographer of The Year (as a finalist.) bex-photography.deviantart.com

Janice Sloane: In my work, the theme of skin and its impermanence has always been a constant — starting from the use of wax in painting, to create a textural body. I am now continuing with these themes of impermanence while relating them to women's issues regarding aging, "ideal beauty", sexuality, eternal youth, and cosmetic surgery. I am also inspired by African sculpture, ritual objects and painting references. www.janicesloane.com*

Kevin Von Holtermann<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338495085/an-interview-with-kevin-von-holtermann-i-paint> *shoots from the hip with refreshing naivete, energy and abandon bent on investigation. albeit with a free ongoing and eclectic conversation. Von Holtermann creates new language. Much about the paint, Kevin's varied processes, including unorthodox "resists," yield unpredictable results birthing dramatic and inventive abstraction. *www.kevinvonholtermann.com

POETICS<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338483914/invisible-as-i-stood-between-his-legs-this-man>

Joe Amaral spends most of his time spelunking around the central coast of California. He is a paramedic by trade but a world traveler at heart. Joe's work has appeared in A Handful of Dust, Carcinogenic, Eclectic Flash, Paradigm, Underground Voices and in anthologies by Wicked East Press and Pill Hill Press.

*Lora Bloom *writes poetry, fiction, creative non-fiction and abstract rants, and is a musician and performance artist. Her work explores themes that can be erotic, mundane, surreal or spiritual. Lora's poetry and performance looks to break down the boundaries between inner and outer experience, dreamstate and raw existence, conflicting dualities, self and other. She is the lead vocalist/lyricist of the experimental rock band Radio Eris with whom she creates songs out of many of her poems and spontaneous lyrical improvisations. With her husband Kenny and other members of Radio Eris she helps run an art gallery and music space in West Philadelphia.

* Ann E. Michael <http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338456420/ann-e-michael-is-a-poet-essayist-librettist-and>is a poet, essayist, librettist and educator who lives in Eastern Pennsylvania. She holds an MFA in creative writing from Goddard College and is a rostered Artist-in-Education with the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts. Her writing has appeared in numerous literary journals and in newspapers, family magazines, poetry anthologies, educational and academic publications as well as on radio. She has teaching experience with students from middle school through graduate school; in academic and workshop/seminar settings, she has instructed poetry, personal essay, memoir, radio commentary, creative writing and basic composition. Currently, she is the writing coordinator for the Academic Resources Center at DeSales University in Center Valley, PA. www.annemichael.com*

* <http://www.annemichael.com/>
*

*MaryAnn L. Miller<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338435527/eyeful-scales-and-vertebrae-shimmer-stomping-hot> *, M.Ed. MFA, has been the Resident Book Artist at the Experimental Printmaking Institute, Lafayette College since 2001. Her work is in the National Museum of Women in the Arts. Her book of poetry, Locus Mentis, will be published by PS Books in 2012. www.maryannlmiller.com

<http://www.maryannlmiller.com/> Rachel Udell has been working primarily with fibrous materials for the past five years. Her work addresses how yarns, fabrics, clothing, and other materials can be used not only as formal elements to inform texture, shape, fluidity and plasticity, but also to evoke emotions that are sometimes difficult to put into words. She lives and works in Philadelphia. More of her artwork can be seen at her website: <http://www.racheludell.com/> www.racheludell.com.

Hugh What<http://certaincircuits.tumblr.com/post/8338447526/the-cart-in-front-of-the-horse-im-too-expensive> Returning to poetry after many years,

Hugh, aged 51, finds it to be a relaxing and exacting sport of catch and tell all. A mirror image of his earlier career as a poet is expected to commence, left will be right, old will be new, poor will be rich, and inside will be out. He reports that his earlier poetry is in a box somewhere in the attic.

Web: certaincircuits.org <http://www.certaincircuits.org/> Twitter: certaincircuits <http://twitter.com/#!/certaincircuits> Facebook: certaincircuits <https://www.facebook.com/certaincircuits> Tumblr: certaincircuits.tumblr.com Newsletter: here<http://us2.campaign-archive1.com/?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=2215b8a466&e=>

Please feel free to forward this email and the newsletter<http://us2.campaign-archive1.com/?u=920f76441c3d793bc38e3c63a&id=2215b8a466&e=>to colleagues we may have forgotten.

↑ Index

5. David Kirschenbaum

5th Welcome to Boog City Fest Starts Friday

Tue 2 Aug 2011

Hi,

Here it is, beginning this Fri., Aug. 5 through Tues. Aug. 9, we'll be celebrating Boog's 20th anniversary by putting on the fifth annual Welcome to Boog City poetry and music festival. It will feature 67 poets, 10 musical acts, and 8 plays over the five days.

You can view the web-only color pdf version of Boog City’s Welcome to Boog City issue here:

http://www.boogcity.com/wbc5_sked.pdf replete with:

* the full schedule illustrated with performer pics

*Rachel Aydt and Sean Cole on their Boog histories

*music editor Jonathan Berger on festival performers Cat Rockefeller, Charles Mansfield, and Crazy and the Brains

*Contributor Jean-Paul Pecqueur on festival contributor Austin LaGrone *small press editor Douglas Manson interviews Marthe Reed, editor of d.a. levy lives visiting press Black Radish Books *poems by fest performers Christine Hamm, Joanna Penn Cooper, Tanya Larkin, Mary Austin Speaker, and Monica A. Hand and thanks to Jesse Schoen ([redacted]) who designed the festival's logo.

Among the festival highlights are:

—our d.a. levy lives series devotes a night to Black Radish Books;

—our 8th annual small, small press fair, with exhibits from 16 small presses, and readings by their authors;

—Poetry’s First Responders: 9/11, A Time When Poetry was Always Still Possible a panel curated and moderated by Douglas Rothschild;

—poet Rebecca Wolff reading and in conversation with poet Alan Gilbert.

—and our Second Poets' Theater night, featuring eight plays.

The full schedule for the event is below this note, followed by performer bios and websites.

If you need any additional information you can reach me at 212-842- BOOG (2664) or [redacted].

as ever,
David

P.S. Physical copies of this issue, Boog City 69, are available later today at the below drop spots.

3,000 copies of Boog City are distributed among, and available for free at, the following locations:

MANHATTAN

East Village
Sunshine Theater * 143 E. Houston St. (bet. 1st & 2nd Avenues)
Bluestockings * 172 Allen St. (bet. Stanton & Rivington sts.)
Pianos * 158 Ludlow St. (bet. Stanton and Rivington sts.)
Living Room * 154 Ludlow St. (bet. Stanton and Rivington sts.)
Cake Shop * 152 Ludlow St. (bet. Stanton and Rivington sts.)
Bowery Poetry Club * 308 Bowery (bet. Houston & Bleecker sts.)
Think Coffee * 1 Bleecker St. (@ Bowery)
Trash and Vaudeville (upstairs) * 4 St. Mark’s Pl. (bet. 2nd & 3rd aves.)
Mission Café * 82 Second Ave. (bet. 4th & 5th sts.)
Anthology Film Archives * 32 Second Ave. (bet. 1st & 2nd sts.)
Sidewalk Café * 94 Avenue A (bet. 6th & 7th sts.)
Nuyorican Poets Café * 236 E. 3rd St. (bet. Avenues B & C)

Lakeside Lounge * 162 Avenue B (bet. 10th & 11th sts.)
Life Café * 343 E. 10th St. (bet. Avenues A & B)
St. Mark’s Books * 31 Third Ave. (bet. St. Mark’s Pl. & 9th St.)
St. Mark’s Church * 131 E.10th St. (bet. 2nd & 3rd aves.)

Lower Manhattan Acme Underground * 9 Great Jones St. (bet. Broadway & Lafayette St.) Shakespeare & Co. * 716 Broadway (bet. Waverly & Astor places) Other Music * 15 E. 4th St. (bet. Broadway & Lafayette St.) Angelika Film Center * 18 W. Houston St. (bet. Broadway & Mercer St.) Think Coffee * 248 Mercer St. (bet. W. 4th and W. 3rd sts.) Mercer Street Books * 206 Mercer St. (bet. Bleecker & Houston sts.) Housing Works Cafe * 126 Crosby St. (bet. E. Houston & Prince sts.) McNally Jackson * 52 Prince St. (bet. Mulberry & Lafayette sts.) ACA Galleries * 529 W. 20th St., 5th Flr.(bet. 10th/11th aves.) Hotel Chelsea * 222 W. 23rd St. (bet. 7th & 8th aves.)

BROOKLYN

Greenpoint Matchless * 557 Manhattan Ave. (bet. Nassau and Driggs aves.) Enid's * 560 Manhattan Ave. (bet. Nassau and Driggs aves.) Thai Café * 925 Manhattan Ave. (bet. Kent St. & Greenpoint Ave.) Champion Coffee * 1108 Manhattan Ave. (bet. Clay & DuPont sts.)

Williamsburg
Sideshow Gallery * 319 Bedford Ave. (bet. S.2nd & S.3rd sts.)
Supercore Café * 305 Bedford Ave. (bet. S.1st & S.2nd sts.)
Spoonbill & Sugartown * 218 Bedford Ave. (bet. N.4th & N.5th sts.)
Public Assembly * 70 North 6th St. (bet. Wythe & Kent aves.) 50
Bliss Café * 191 Bedford Ave. (bet. N.6th & N.7th sts.)
Spike Hill * 184 Bedford Ave. (bet. N.6th & N.7th sts.)
Soundfix/Fix Cafe * 44 Berry St. (bet. N.11th & N.12th sts.)

Unnameable Books * 600 Vanderbilt Ave. (bet. Prospect Place/St. Marks Avenue)

Please patronize our advertisers:

Contradicta: Aphorisms by Nick Piombino

Gival Press * http://www.arlijo.com/

Kelsey Street Press * http://www.kelseyst.com/

Lunar Chandelier Press * http://www.lunarchandelier-lunarchandelier.blogspot.com/

Magick Mirror * http://www.magickmirror.com/

No Tell Books * http://www.notellbooks.org/

No, Dear * [redacted]

North Atlantic Review * http://www.northeaglecorp.com/

Peace Couple * http://www.pwpbooks.blogspot.com/

Poets Wear Prada * http://www.pwpbooks.blogspot.com/

Station Hill * http://www.stationhill.org/

Tinfish Press * http://tinfishpress.com/

Vanitas magazine * http://www.vanitasmagazine.com/

To advertise in Boog City, see our ad rate card:
http://welcometoboogcity.com/ad_rates.pdf

Advertising or donation inquiries can also be directed to [redacted] or by calling 212-842-BOOG (2664), or you can send money to [redacted] via https://www.paypal.com/

Poetry Submission Guidelines: Email subs to [redacted], with no more than five poems, all in one attached file with “My Name Submission” in the subject line and as the name of the file, ie: Walt Whitman Submission. Or mail with an SASE to Joanna Fuhrman, Poetry editor, Boog City, 330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H, N.Y., N.Y. 10001-4754.

Want to write a review (or be reviewed) in Boog’s Urban Folk music or printed matter sections?
Email UF editor Jonathan Berger, [redacted] or printed matter editor, [redacted]

Want to have your work appear in our art section?
Query [redacted]

5th Annual

Welcome to Boog City festival
5 Days of Poetry and Music

FRIDAY AUGUST 5, 7:00 P.M.
BTP
175 Stockholm St., buzzer 303
Brooklyn

$5 suggested

Readings and musical performances by

7:00 p.m.-Rachel Aydt
7:10 p.m.-Jeffrey Wright
7:20 p.m.-Alex Abelson
7:30 p.m.-Alan Gilbert
7:40 p.m.-Joy Katz
7:55 p.m.-Basil King
8:05 p.m.-Crabs on Banjo (music)
8:55 p.m.-Jill Stengel
9:10 p.m.-Rebecca Wolff, reading and in conversation with Alan Gilbert
10:00 p.m.-Sean Cole
10:10 p.m.-Dan Fishback (music)
10:40 p.m.-Crazy and the Brains (music)
11:30 p.m.-Greg Smith and the Broken English (music)

Directions: L to Dekalb Avenue or M to Central Avenue
Venue is bet. Knickerbocker and Wilson avenues

SATURDAY AUGUST 6,
11:30 A.M.-9:00 P.M.

Unnameable Books
600 Vanderbilt Ave.
Brooklyn

Free

8th Annual Small, Small Press Fair

Beginning with readings from authors of the exhibiting presses

12:00 p.m. Evie Shockley, Belladonna
12:10 p.m. Leigh Stein, Bone Bouquet
12:20 p.m. Cariah Lily Rosberg, Don’s Saddles and East Egg Press
12:30 p.m. Magus Magnus, Furniture Press
12:40 p.m. Helen Vitoria, Gigantic Sequins
12:50 p.m. Brenda Iijima, Least Weasel Chapbooks @ Propolis Press
1:00 p.m. Stephanie Gray, Litmus Press/Aufgabe
1:10 p.m. Joe Elliot, Lunar Chandelier
1:20 p.m. Lawrence Giffin, Tea Party Republicans Press
1:30 p.m. Damian Weber (music)

1:50 p.m. Break

2:00 p.m. Ronna Lebo, Off the Park Press
2:10 p.m. J. Hope Stein, Ping Pong
2:20 p.m. Tantra-zawadi, Poets Wear Prada
2:30 p.m. Lydia Cortes, Straw Gate Books
2:40 p.m. Emily Skillings, Stonecutter Journal
2:50 p.m. Ron Horning, Vanitas magazine and Libellum Books
3:00 p.m. Roxanne Hoffman, White Rabbit

3:10 p.m. Break

3:30 p.m. Rebecca Satellite (music)
4:00 p.m. Austin LaGrone
4:10 p.m. Toni Simon
4:20 p.m. Will Edmiston
4:30 p.m. Kimberly Lyons
4:40 p.m. Christine Hamm
4:50 p.m. Vyt Bakaitis
5:00 p.m. Martha King
5:10 p.m. Debrah Morkun
5:25 p.m. John Mulrooney
5:40 p.m. Justin Remer (music)

6:10 p.m. Break

6:20 p.m. Joanna Penn Cooper
6:30 p.m. Franklin Bruno
6:40 p.m. Tanya Larkin
6:55 p.m. Emily Einhorn (music)
7:25 p.m. Mary Austin Speaker
7:35 p.m. Jean-Paul Pecqueur
7:45 p.m. Jesse Seldess
7:55 p.m. Sue Landers
8:05 p.m. Douglas Piccininni

Directions: 2, 3 to Grand Army Plaza,
C to Clinton-Washington avenues, Q to 7th Ave.
Venue is bet. Prospect Pl./St. Marks Ave.

SUNDAY AUGUST 7,
12:00 P.M.-4:00 P.M.

Unnameable Books
600 Vanderbilt Ave.
Brooklyn

Free

12:00 p.m. Mark Lamoureux
12:10 p.m. Nicole Wallace
12:20 p.m. Ian Wilder
12:30 p.m. Douglas Rothschild
12:45 p.m. Charles Mansfield (music)
1:15 p.m. Brett Price
1:25 p.m. Meredith Walters
1:35 p.m. Kimberly Ann Southwick
1:50 p.m. Andrea Ascah-Robinson
2:05 p.m. Greg Fuchs

2:15 p.m.-2:30 p.m.

2:30 p.m. The Death of Irony; The Triviality of Poetry in the Face of Such Tragedy; and Other Myths of 9/11; a Retrospective

The Death of Irony; The Triviality of Poetry in the Face of Such Tragedy; and Other Myths of 9/11; a Retrospective Immediately after 9/11, media pundits and assorted politicos unilaterally declared “Irony is Dead.” But the spray-painted sign at the first responder’s entrance to Ground Zero, which very cryptically read “Payback is a bitch,” belied this assertion. A number of poets who felt that irony was perhaps still alive will look back and consider the value and purposes of poetry.

Curated and hosted by Douglas Rothschild, with panelists Jim Behrle, Sean Cole, and Joe Elliot

Directions: 2, 3 to Grand Army Plaza,
C to Clinton-Washington avenues, Q to 7th Ave.
Venue is bet. Prospect Pl./St. Marks Ave.

SUNDAY AUGUST 7,
5:00 P.M.

Zinc Bar
82 W. 3rd St.
NYC

Boog Poets Theater, featuring:

Austin Alexis’ A Favor
Charles Borkhuis’ Flipper
Maria Brandt’s The Root People
Joel Chace’s The Cell
Jennifer Hill’s Three Turns
Vincent Katz’s Veranda of the Grand Gables (excerpt)

Eugenia Macer-Story's, Captain Midnight’s Spyglass Heart
Matt Reeck’s Panoptical Illusion:

Directions: A/B/C/D/E/F/V to W. 4th St.
Venue is bet. Sullivan and Thompson sts.

MON. AUG. 8,
6:00 P.M.

Unnameable Books
600 Vanderbilt Ave.
Brooklyn

free

6:00 p.m. Sheila Maldonado
6:10 p.m. Mark Statman
6:20 p.m. Cara Benson
6:30 p.m. Ekoko Omadeke
6:40 p.m. Kathrin Schaeppi
6:55 p.m. Michael Leong
7:05 p.m. Joe Crow Ryan (music)

7:25 p.m. break

7:35 p.m. Monica A. Hand
7:45 p.m. Greg Purcell
8:00 p.m. Claire Donato
8:10 p.m. Jibade-Khalil Huffman
8:20 p.m. Ish Klein
8:35 p.m. Joe Crow Ryan (music)

Directions: 2, 3 to Grand Army Plaza,
C to Clinton-Washington avenues, Q to 7th Ave.
Venue is bet. Prospect Pl./St. Marks Ave.

TUES. AUG. 9,
6:00 P.M.

ACA Galleries
529 W. 20th St., 5th Flr.
NYC

d.a. levy lives: celebrating the renegade press, season 9 kick-off

Black Radish Books

featuring readings from:

Bruce Covey
Carrie Hunter
Mark Lamoureux
Marci Nelligan
Marthe Reed
Kathrin Schaeppi
Jill Stengel
David Wolach

and music from

Cat Rockefeller

Directions: C/E to 23rd St., 1/9 to 18th St.
Venue is bet. 10th and 11th avenues

Welcome to Boog City 5 Bios and Websites

*Friday

Alex Abelson
http://www.alexabelson.com/
Alex Abelson is a video artist and poet working out of Brooklyn. He is an M.F.A. candidate at The Pratt Institute.

Rachel Aydt http://www.newyorklostandfound.blogspot.com/ http://www.wordcitystudio.com/ Rachel Aydt is a writer and assistant professor at The New School University, where she teaches magazine journalism. She’s worked on staff at magazines for nearly two decades, including American Heritage, Cosmopolitan, and CosmoGirl. Now she works from home (or from any cafe that has electrical sockets and bottomless cups of coffee), and she’s a regular contributor of essays and features to The New York Times' Motherlode blog, Parents magazine, Time International, and Inked. She blogs at New York Lost and Found with a large focus on New York City, the arts, travel, and parenting. She’s a cofounder of a developing creativity blog called Word City Studio, which uses New York City as a backdrop. • When I was 18 years old I was reading poetry at an open mic night at the QE2 on Central Avenue in Albany. That year, I was getting my B.A. from SUNY Albany, but what I was mostly doing was swinging 300 burritos on a busy night at El Loco Mexican Cafe. Or hanging out at Justin's on a flush night; Palais Royale on not such a flush night. Come to think of it, this seems like a time when drinks were rarely bought; they were just doled out and fueling general mayhem up and down Lark Street.

In the audience at the QE2 were two stand-up young men named Rod Sperry and David Kirschenbaum. They liked my poetry a lot, they said. They were starting a press—what would become Boog Literature—and they wanted to publish a chapbook of my work. I wanted to date Rod, and so I said yes. That’s not why I said yes, but the synergy of the xeroxing of stapled chapbook days certainly helped to fuel a crush, and David and Rod have remained stalwart friends and supporters for the last 20- plus years. My chapbook was titled A Canopy Sack of Details. I write mainly nonfiction narratives now. I'd love to believe that not-so- buried in each of these are bits of poetry emerging; it’s a calling that seems to transform and reemerge at the most unexpected times and for the strangest reasons.

Sean Cole http://www.shampoopoetry.com/shampoothirtyeight/cole.htm Sean Cole is a public radio reporter and poet living in New York, hailing from Boston, and formerly of Toronto. He's proud to be a long- standing member of the Boog family, beginning with his first chapbook, "By the Author," which came out so long ago he's forgotten the year. • Who is this bouyant, Ted-Berrigan-sized, yarmulked guy at Aaron Kiely’s Boston Alternative Poetry Conference in 1998? I mean the one behaving (maybe overly so?) as though anything’s possible. I mean the guy who sat on the publishing panel, with a bone folder and long-armed stapler, assembling chapbooks before our eyes—chapbooks for which he’d gathered the poems one day prior. When you meet someone who will be your friend and collaborator for life, there’s a hair of a second when you know it. You don’t know, necessarily, he’ll be the first person to mass-produce your poems. Nor that he’ll one day send you 31 self- addressed stamped postcards and demand a month of daily poems because he thinks you’re not writing enough (because you aren’t). Nor that you will fight, for days, about whether it’s unseemly to name a Boog Literature volume Erections. I mean when you first lay eyes on him, you don’t even know his name. But there’s an instant when, inexplicably, you’re already grateful for his unaccountable belief in you, for his tirelessly shepherding so many nutso poets into print, for driving around New York delivering hundreds of free Boog City issues to bars and cafés. There’s just a moment when you flash on that. And then it passes. And he sticks out his hand and says, “Hi! I’m David Kirschenbaum.”

Crabs on Banjo http://www.myspace.com/crabsonbanjo Crabs on Banjo is an experimental, improvisational musical act combining audience-inspired titles with the wit and melodic force of Ben Krieger and Brian Speaker. Rarely will you find a more potent combination of class and crass.

Crazy and the Brains http://www.myspace.com/crazyandthebrains Punk Rock meets the Stone Age, Crazy and the Brains will have you singing, dancing, and fist pumping to catchy grooves and fun lyrics. They really do just “Wanna Be On Saturday Night Live,” and with great hooks, it wouldn’t surprise me if they eventually were. Downstroke guitars and xylophone makes them sound like The Ramones meet The Violent Femmes. • The self-described “newest band in NYC” is a modern-day Ramones, with lyrics so dumb they have to be smart (or so one hopes). "I don't want to do anything I don't like. I just wanna be on Saturday Night Live,” they artlessly state on a track from their self-titled EP, with no evident irony and more energy than any amount of Ritalin could control. You can see the live video at Youtube, along with loads of other clips that showcase their sound.

The band's not-so-secret weapon is Jeff Rubin, the nominal Brains of the outfit, who serves as lead xylophone player and a contrasting voice of sanity. It’s his excellent and unexpected chops with mallets that form the backbone over which Crazy Chris Urban’s absurd stories get sung.

Having released two EPs in association with Crafty Records, the core duo has expanded into a full band with a punk rock rhythm section. Whatever arrangements Crazy and the Brains provide, it’s the original duo that garners the lion’s share of attention—and rightfully. It's the combination of Urban's understated madness and Rubin's virtuosic skill that fills the seats. Brian Speaker, The New York Antifolk Festival’s musical curator, simply states that “Crazy and the Brains kick ass!”

Primitive and impossibly danceable, Crazy and the Brains are best taken late at night, with little planning and a fair amount of alcohol. —Jonathan Berger

Dan Fishback http://www.danfishback.com/ Dan Fishback has been writing and performing in New York City since 2003, in the anti-folk and experimental performance scenes. His plays and performances have been staged at venues like P.S. 122, Dixon Place, Joe’s Pub, and BAX, among others. His band Cheese On Bread has toured Europe and North America, and has released records in the United States and Japan. As a solo artist, Fishback has released several recordings, including Sweet Chastity and Calendar Boys, with Mammal forthcoming. In the past, he fronted the grunge band The Faggots, played drums in Old Hat, and danced in Nan Turner’s movement troupe Underthrust. Fishback has enjoyed artist residencies at Yaddo, the MacDowell Colony, Brooklyn Arts Exchange, and Dixon Place. He received the Franklin Furnace Fund grant for performance art in 2010 and the Six Points Fellowship for Emerging Jewish Artists in 2007.

Alan Gilbert http://creative-capital.org/projects/view/41 Alan Gilbert is the author of the poetry book Late in the Antenna Fields (Futurepoem books) and a collection of essays and articles entitled Another Future: Poetry and Art in a Postmodern Twilight (Wesleyan University Press). His poems have appeared in BOMB, Boston Review, Chicago Review, Denver Quarterly, jubilat, and The Nation, among other places. His writings on poetry and art have appeared in a variety of publications, including Aperture, Artforum, The Believer, Cabinet, Modern Painters, Parkett, and The Village Voice.

Greg Smith and the Broken English
http://www.gregsmithandthebrokenenglish.com/ Hailing from the sleepy mountain towns of western Massachusetts, Greg Smith spent his formative years engrossed in the music of bands like Nirvana, The Beatles, and Led Zeppelin. It wasn't until discovering the music of the now late Dave Carter that Smith found a deep appreciation for folk and country music and realized his calling as a songwriter. Leaving behind country life for the big city, Smith has struggled to find better times on what's been a bumpy road of jobs that don't pay, long-distance relationships, and the burden of leaving behind the family farm. But through the hard times, he's channeled his experiences into a body of work that breaks down stylistic barriers and simply tells it like it is.

Joy Katz
http://www.joykatz.com/
Joy Katz is the author of two poetry collections, The Garden Room and Fabulae, and co-editor of the acclaimed anthology Dark Horses: Poets on Overlooked Poems.

She was educated at The Ohio State University, Washington University in St. Louis, and Stanford University. Trained in industrial design, she worked as a graphic designer before starting to write poetry.

Honors for her writing include a 2011 NEA fellowship, a Wallace Stegner Fellowship, and the Nadya Aisenberg Fellowship at the MacDowell Colony. Her poems are anthologized in The Best American Poetry, among other places, and appear in such journals as The American Poetry Review, Notre Dame Review, Ploughshares, Cincinnati Review, and elsewhere. Her prose has appeared in The New York Times Book Review and The Village Voice.

She has taught literature and poetry at The New School and NYU and now teaches in the graduate writing program at the University of Pittsburgh and in the low-residency and on-the-ground programs at Chatham University. She is an editor-at-large for Pleiades.

She lives in Pittsburgh with her husband and young son.

Basil King http://www.sugarmule.com/37frame.htm Basil King is a painter/poet. Born in England before World War II, he has lived in Brooklyn since 1968. He attended Black Mountain College as a teenager, and for the past four decades he has taken his art "from the abstract to the figure, from the figure to the abstract."

He began to write in 1985, after his first trip back to England, and he now practices both arts daily. His books include mirage: a poem in 22 sections, Warp Spasm, Identity, and 77 Beasts/Basil King's Beastiary.

Learning to Draw/A History, a collection of 22 sections of this ongoing work, is forthcoming in the fall of 2011 from Skylight Press. He most recently exhibited his art at Poets House, New York City, in 2010.

Jill Stengel http://www.durationpress.com/abend/ http://www.dusie.org/ Formerly of San Francisco and Los Angeles, poet and publisher Jill Stengel lives in Davis, Calif. where she writes, publishes intermittently her a+bend press, and raises three children. Five of her nine chapbooks can be viewed online at Dusie's site, and she has other work online as well. Black Radish Books will publish her first full-length collection, dear jack, later this year.

Rebecca Wolff http://www.rebeccawolff.com Rebecca Wolff is the author of three books of poems, including most recently The King (W. W. Norton). She is working on a fourth, called One Morning--. Her novel The Beginners is out this summer from Riverhead Books. Wolff is the editor of Fence and Fence Books and the publisher of The Constant Critic.

Jeffrey Cyphers Wright http://livemagnyc.com/ Jeffrey Cyphers Wright is the author of 11 books of verse including Employment of the Apes, All in All, Drowning Light, and Walking on Words. His poetry has also been in numerous magazines and several anthologies. His artwork has been in a dozen group shows and one solo show. He can be found reading, singing, and wise-cracking on Youtube. Critical work appears monthly in The Brooklyn Rail.

*Saturday

Vyt Bakaitis http://lunarchandelier-lunarchandelier.blogspot.com/ Vyt Bakaitis has a new book of poems, Deliberate Proof (Lunar Chandelier Press), and has also published translations of poetry from several languages, with his versions of the classic Romantics Hölderlin and Mickiewicz included in World Poetry (W. W. Norton). Daybooks 1970-1972 (Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs), his translations from the Lithuanian poet Jonas Mekas, appeared in 2003. City Country was his first book (Black Thistle Press).

Franklin Bruno http://www.nervousuntothirst.blogspot.com Franklin Bruno's first full-length collection, The Accordion Repertoire, is forthcoming from Edge Books next year. His previous chapbooks are Policy Instrument (Lame House Press) and MF/MA (Seeing Eye Books). He is also the author of a critical book on Elvis Costello's album Armed Forces in Continuum Books' 33 1/3 series; his music criticism appears in many publications. Since 1990, he has released over a dozen albums of original songs as a solo artist and member of Nothing Painted Blue and The Human Hearts, his current band. He lives in Jackson Heights, Queens.

Joanna Penn Cooper http://www.joannapenncooper.blogspot.com/ Dancing Girl Press published Joanna Penn Cooper’s second chapbook of poetry and short prose pieces, Mesmer, in 2010, and her full-length poetry collection, How We Mostly Were, was a finalist for the Kinereth Gensler Award from Alice James Books. Joanna's creative and critical work has appeared in a number of journals, including Opium, Lungfull!, Supermachine, Pleiades, elimae, and Boog City. Her work is also forthcoming in Poetry International and South Dakota Review. Joanna has been a visiting professor at Fordham University and Marquette University, and she is currently working on a book of short prose pieces that fall somewhere between the prose poem and micro-essay.

Lydia Cortes, Straw Gate Press http://www.brooklynrail.org/2009/11/books/rapid-transit-nov-09 http://www.leafscape.org/StrawGateBooks/index.html Lydia Cortes don't have no URL, but her latest bio is as follows: Lydia Cortes is a long-time New Puertorrican-born resident, raised in New York, but with strong roots in the two cultures of the Boricua and the Brooklyn that spawned her. She is also influenced by the many other cultures and languages she was surrounded by growing up in the Williamsburg, Fort Greene, and East Flatbush nabes and by the schools she attended: PS 55, Francis Scott Key JHS, Girls High, Erasmus Hall HS, and St. John's U. She has been published in various anthologies and has two collections of poetry, Lust for Lust and Whose Place.

Though she writes mostly in English, she often uses phrases, words, cachets from the other languages she's fluent in: Spanish and Italian. (During the ’60s and ’70s, she lived in Rome.) She feeds on the slang of all three.

Founded by Phyllis Wat in 2005, Straw Gate Books publishes poetry and occasional related texts. It is particularly interested in works by women and non-polemical writing with underlying social content. Straw Gate also features new authors and authors whose work is underserved.

Will Edmiston http://3sadtigers.blogspot.com/2011/02/3-sad-tigers-press-publishes-effie-by.html Will Edmiston is a poet living in Brooklyn. His work has recently appeared in Lungfull!, Bardic Sepulchral, The Recluse, and The Bridge. 3 Sad Tigers Press published his chapbook effie. He volunteers as an archivist for The Poetry Project.

Emily Einhorn http://www.myspace.com/emilyeinhorn Toe tapping to belly laughing, Emily Einhorn takes you on a journey. From Texas to Chicago, Nashville to Florida, her melodies will travel home with you and her lyrics will give you reason to want to come on back real soon. She also has a wonderful voice and knows how to use it to split you open and sing to your insides.

Joe Elliot, Lunar Chandelier Press http://lunarchandelier-lunarchandelier.blogspot.com/ Joe Elliot ran a weekly reading series at Biblios Bookstore and Café in NYC for five years, starting in the early ’90s, and helped move the series to Zinc Bar, where it continues today. He co-edited two chapbook series: A Musty Bone and Situations, which published authors such as Antje Katcher, Paul Genega, Duncan Nichols, Mitch Highfill, Kim Lyons, Rich O’Russa, Douglas Rothschild, Shannon Ketch, Lisa Jarnot, Bill Luoma, Kevin Davies, Marcella Durand, Rick Snyder, and many others. Elliot is the author of numerous chapbooks, including You Gotta Go In It’s The Big Game, Poems To Be Centered On Much Much Larger Sheets Of Paper, 15 Clanking Radiators, 14 Knots, Reduced, Half Gross (a collaboration with artist John Koos), and Object Lesson (a collaboration with artist Rich O’Russa). Granary Books published If It Rained Here, a collaboration with artist Julie Harrison. His work has appeared in many magazines, including The World, The Poker, Giants Play Well in the Drizzle, The Poetry Project Newsletter, Torque, Hanging Loose, EOAGH, Occo, Booglit, and Arras. His long poem, 101 Designs for The World Trade Center, was published by Faux Press’ e- mag, and Subpress published a collection of his work, Opposable Thumb. Lunar Chandelier Press published a new set of poems, Homework, last year.

Lunar Chandelier Press, formed in 2009, publishes books of modern, evocative writing. It is inspired by the spirit of the poet and artist- directed productions of the 1920s Paris Left Bank and the various contemporary poetry projects of Brooklyn’s Gowanus Canal’s right bank: Belladonna Books, Cabinet, Litmus Press, Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs, and Ugly Duckling Presse, as well as the venerable Hanging Loose Press, based in downtown Brooklyn

Lawrence Giffin, Tea Party Republicans Press http://www.brooklynrail.org/2011/05/poetry/practiced-restraint Lawrence Giffin is a poet and archivist living in New York City. He is a member of the loose publishing collective Lil' Norton, where he is the series editor of the Physical Poets Home Library, an occasional .pdf journal where each issue focuses on a different geographically-specific group of writers. A new book, Sorites, is recently out from Tea Party Republicans Press.

Stephanie Gray, Litmus Press/Aufgabe http://www.brooklynrail.org/2010/11/poetry/from-i-thought-you-said-it-was-sound http://www.litmuspress.org/ Straw Gate Books published poet-filmmaker Stephanie Gray's first book, Heart Stoner Bingo, in 2007. Her work has appeared or is forthcoming in Aufgabe, Sentence, The Brooklyn Rail, 2nd Avenue Poetry, EOAGH, The Boog City Reader, and The Recluse. Venues she has read at, often live with her films, include The Projections, Segue, and The Poetry Project Friday series. Her films have shown internationally, including at the Ann Arbor, Oberhausen, Viennale, Videoex, and Antimatter festivals, among others.

Dedicated to supporting innovative, cross-genre writing, Litmus Press publishes the work of translators, poets, and other writers, and organizes public events in their support. We encourage interaction between poets and visual artists by featuring contemporary artworks on the covers of our full-length books and in Aufgabe, our annual literary journal. By actualizing the potential linguistic, cultural and political benefits of international literary exchange, we aim to ensure that our poetic communities remain open-minded and vital.

Christine Hamm http://www.christinehamm.com/ Christine Hamm is a Ph.D. candidate in English literature. She won the MiPoesias First Annual Chapbook Competition with her manuscript Children Having Trouble with Meat. Her poetry has been published in The Adirondack Review, Pebble Lake Review, Women's Studies Quarterly, Lodestar Quarterly, Poetry Midwest, and Rattle, among others. She has been nominated four times for a Pushcart Prize, and she teaches English at CUNY. She has performed all over the country and was one of the featured poets in the Poetic Voices Festival of Hartnell College. She has two books out, The Transparent Dinner and Saints & Cannibals, and Blazevox [books] is publishing her third, Echo Park. She is a poetry editor for Ping•Pong, a literary journal published by the Henry Miller Library of Big Sur, and is the editor of Like a Fat Gold Watch, an anthology of creative and critical works inspired by Sylvia Plath.

Roxanne Hoffman, White Rabbit http://www.roxanne-hoffman.blogspot.com/ Roxanne Hoffman worked on Wall Street for 20 years, and she now answers a patient hotline for a major New York home health care provider. Her words appear on and off the net in such journals as Amaze: The Cinquain Journal, Clockwise Cat, Danse Macabre, The Fib Review, Hospital Drive, Lips Magazine, Lucid Rhythms, Mobius: The Poetry Magazine, The Pedestal Magazine, and Shaking Like a Mountain; the 2005 indie flick Love and the Vampire, directed and produced by Dave Gold; and in several anthologies including The Bandana Republic: A Literary Anthology by Gang Members and Their Affiliates (Soft Skull Press), Love After 70 (Wising Up Press), and It All Changed in an Instant: More Six-Word Memoirs by Writers Famous & Obscure (Harper Perennial). She's run the small literary press Poets Wear Prada since 2006.

The White Rabbit is a pseudonym for the inventive mind of award- winning poet Dorothy Friedman August, who, along with artist and poet John Silver, conceived White Rabbit in 2008.

The third issue of White Rabbit is inspired by Wallace Stevens and posits the image of "Crispin hung on porpoises instead of apricots." It garnered more inspiration from Stevens' poem, "Academic Discourse in Havana" and other forays into the outrageous imagination, such as the poem “A Definition of Shaggly,” by editor Friedman August.

Shaggly is a typographical error that Woody Allen, when interviewed, gave his seal of approval to. “Shaggly is all the energy of people eating sauerkraut.” (from “A Definition of Shaggly.”)

White Rabbit, a yearly publication, is therefore about taking risks with language and content. Writers as diverse as Sapphire, Bill Kushner, David Mills, Tom Savage, Mitch Corber, Roxanne Hoffman, Bob Holman, and Larissa Shmailo are among the many poets published. New York City will be the theme for the fourth issue, out this fall.

Ron Horning, Vanitas and Libellum Books
http://www.clepunk.com/pinkeye/horning/miss_you_already.htm Ron Horning was raised in Lima, Peru, and São Paulo, Brazil. He works on Wall Street and lives in Beacon, N.Y. His poems and translations have appeared in Vanitas, Gerry Mulligan, Zoland Poetry Journal, Sal Mimeo, The New Yorker, and The Best American Poetry. Costmary Press, in Kent, Ohio recently published three broadsides, and a poem called “Miss You Already” is on line at PinkEye, the “literary arm” of the ClePunk music site.

Vanitas is a journal of poetry, writings by artists, criticism, and essays. Vanitas comes out periodically, providing a forum for international voices with an emphasis on coming to grips with current world situations. Each issue contains writings by artists whose primary modes are non-literary and features the work of a visual artist.

Libellum books was founded in 2004 as a corollary to Vanitas magazine, as a forum for book-length poems, essays, and other texts that might have trouble finding a home in the usual poetry venues. Recent publications include Natural Light by Norma Cole, Revs of the Morrow by Ed Sanders, and The New World by Tom Clark.

Brenda Iijima, Least Weasel Chapbooks @ Propolis Press
http://www.yoyolabs.com/ http://www.propolispress.com/leastweasel/ Brenda Iijima was born in the hilly town of North Adams, Mass. Glossematics, Thus is just out from Least Weasel Press. She is the author of Around Sea (O Books); Animate, Inanimate Aims (Litmus Press); revv. you'll-ution (Displaced Press); and If Not Metamorphic (Ahsahta Press), as well as numerous chapbooks and artist's books. She is also the editor of the eco language reader (Nightboat Books and [redacted]) and editor of Portable Press at Yo-Yo Labs.

Artist-poet Karen Randall established Propolis Press in 2001 for the purpose of printing fine letterpress artist’s books with poetry by innovative, contemporary authors. The Least Weasel series, launched this year, consists of hand-bound chapbooks with letterpress printed covers.

Martha King http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/journal/ Martha King was born in Virginia in 1937. She attended Black Mountain College in the summer of 1955 and married Basil King in 1958. She began writing in the late 1960s, after the birth of their two daughters, Mallory and Hetty.

Living in Brooklyn since 1968, King produced 31 issues of Giants Play Well in the Drizzle in the late 1980s (sent free to interested readers). Her collections of short stories include North & South, Separate Parts, and Little Tales of Family and War. Other stories have been anthologized in Fiction from the Rail and The Wreckage of Reason. A collection of her poetry, Imperfect Fit, was published in 2004.

Currently, King is at work on a memoir, Outside Inside, chapters of which have appeared in Jacket #40, Bombay Gin, Blaze Vox, and New York Stories.

Austin LaGrone http://www.losthorsepress.org/book/oyster-perpetual Born in Baton Rouge, Austin LaGrone is the author of Oyster Perpetual, winner of the 2011 Idaho Prize for Poetry. His recent work is forthcoming in Crazyhorse, Indiana Review, Many Mountains Moving, and Willow Springs. He holds degrees from St. John's College and New York University and teaches at John Jay College in Manhattan. • Austin LaGrone was born and raised in Louisiana. According to one legend, he put himself through school bolting 450 transmissions a day to Chevy S-10 engine blocks. According to another, he hiked the Annapurna Circuit in flip-flops, and then, in 2010, his first book, Oyster Perpetual, won Lost Horse Press' Idaho Prize for poetry. One of the first things the reader notices upon opening Oyster Perpetual is the volume's wealth of characters, each possessing the aura of a real human being. The opening poem's first word is "Carlotta," who appears twice more in the volume's 51 poems. In the next poem we meet Cody, recently out of prison, "with a catfish tattooed along his ribcage." From that point on, in no particular order, we encounter Little Ricky from the GM assembly plant and Geraldine who wants a blackbird; Frank who taught Death a thing or two and Brandy who "came back after/ all those years," who carved her initials into the Oldsmobile's paint and left "an embalmed/ bullfrog playing a matchstick banjo." The speaker's relations with these characters, along with many others, constitute the heart of this book.

The soul of Oyster Perpetual is to be found in LaGrone's music. Just listen to the consonants grumble in "Lunchbreak Yodel for Elkhorn Sanitation"—"Someone's put chicken fingers/ inside my work gloves/ as if the jaws of a garbage truck/ could translate for the hunger of kings"; or hear the vowels sing in "Double Feature"—"Walking home, I saw the yellowed/ grass, the scattered cans,/ and the patch of shade beneath/ the yard-car where the dog sleeps." The sound effects here are solid, not flashy; they work to join the reader to the book's characters and situations rather than to position her as an isolated spectator. — Jean-Paul Pecqueur

Sue Landers Sue Landers is the author of Covers (O Books) and 248 mgs., a panic picnic (O Books). Her most recent chapbook, 15: A Poetic Engagement with The Chicago Manual of Style, is forthcoming from Least Weasel Chapbooks at Propolis Press. She lives in Brooklyn.

Tanya Larkin
http://www.versedaily.org/2008/babyepic.shtml
Tanya Larkin lives in Somerville, Mass. and teaches Surrealism, Humanities, and English Lit at the New England Institute of Art in Brookline.

Ronna Lebo, Off the Park Press
http://www.ronnalebo.com/Ronna_Lebo/Welcome.html
http://www.offtheparkpress.com/ Ronna Lebo received an M.F.A. from Mason Gross School of the Arts and teaches at Kean University. She performed for 12 years as Alice B. Talkless, won a Jackie 60 New Artist Award, and was included in two CMJ music festivals. Her poetry has been published in Arbella, Long Shot, Big Hammer, Words, This Broken Shore, Whim Wit, and the anthology Will Work for Peace edited by Brett Axel. Her book Prolapse is a 2011 publication from Off the Park Press.

Off the Park Press is a non-profit small press determined to enrich the deep cross-cultural connection between visual art and poetry. Located in New York City, its intention is to reach out to writers and visual artists, known and unknown, across the country to participate in their experimental collaborative publishing projects. Off the Park also publishes yearly anthologies of poems responding to specific visual art works that appear on the anthologies' covers.

Kimberly Lyons http://www.yoyolabs.com/lyons.html Kimberly Lyons has a new collection of poetry, Rouge, forthcoming from Instance Press. Recent work can be found at Unarmed magazine, Talisman, Peep/Show poetry (online), peaches and bats, and New American Writing. She is the publisher of Lunar Chandelier Press and recently co-organized a one-day conference on the work of poet Robert Kelly held at Anthology Film Archives.

Magus Magnus, Furniture Press
http://furniturepressbooks.com/books/magnuspride/
http://www.furniturepressbooks.com/ Magus Magnus lives in the Washington, D.C. metro area. Just as the "poetic" informs Magnus' approach to philosophy in Heraclitean Pride (Furniture Press), so too it informs his approach to theater in Idylls for a Bare Stage (forthcoming this fall from twentythreebooks). As for poetry itself, two poems from his book Verb Sap (Narrow House) —“Radical Crumb” and “Empirical / Imperial Demonstration”—appear in the 10th edition of Pearson Longman's English anthology, Literature. Furniture Press will bring out Magnus’ book-length poem, The Re- echoes, in 2012.

Furniture Press is a publisher of strangely poetical texts and ephemera, all of which play at, but are not limited to, intertextuality and appropriation. Some want to call it poetry, but poetry can express many differing, sometimes conflicting and contradictory concepts. This is what we thrive on: the ambiguation of art and its likenesses. Our poetics follows this process closely, and we look for similar aesthetics in the writers we choose to publish and promote.

Debrah Morkun http://www.debrahmorkun.com/ Debrah Morkun is a poet who lives in Philadelphia. BlazeVOX [books] released her first book, Projection Machine, last year. Her second book, The Ida Pingala, is forthcoming. She is a member of The New Philadelphia Poets and curates The Jubilant Thicket Literary Series.

John Mulrooney http://www.prx.org/piece/1934 John Mulrooney is a poet, musician, and documentary filmmaker whose work has appeared in Pressed Wafer foldemzine, Fulcrum, and All Small Caps, among others. He is presently working on a film about the life and work of poet John Wieners. He lives in Cambridge, Mass. and talks to people, mostly about poetry and movies, at Bridgewater State University.

Jean-Paul Pecqueur http://www.soandso.org/#/jean-paul-pecqueur/4539783017 Alice James Books published Jean-Paul Pecqueur’s first book of poetry, The Case Against Happiness. New work has appeared in Fourteen Hills, So and So, Gulf Coast, and Fence. Jean-Paul is from the Pacific Northwest; he currently lives in Brooklyn, where he teaches writing at The Pratt Institute.

Douglas Piccinnini http://blog.bestamericanpoetry.com/the_best_american_poetry/2011/04/douglas-piccinnini-by-rob-crawford.html Douglas Piccinnini is the author of Crystal Hard-On (minutes Books) and Soft (The Cultural Society). He is also the founder of the CROWD Reading Series and, with Josef Kaplan, co-editor of Tea Party Republicans Press.

Rebecca Satellite http://www.myspace.com/rebeccaseatle Rebecca Satellite is a songwriter and performer based in Brooklyn. Her debut album, but the sun was a man, was released in the summer of 2010, and she is now writing new material for a follow-up. You can catch her live with Chris Roush (drums) and Angela Phillips (bass).

Justin Remer
http://soundcloud.com/weemaykmusic
Justin Remer is a filmmaker and the leader of Elastic No-No Band. He is also the head of the fledgling record label Weemayk Music.

Cariah Lily Rosberg, Don Saddles, and East Egg Press
http://www.donsaddles.blogspot.com Cariah Lily Rosberg is 4-1/2 years old and lives in Middlesex, Vt. She is a Waldorf student, an inventor of stories and ideas, and often assists her mother in the kitchen. She is spending the summer at herb camp, studying herbs and spices and visiting the lakes in Vermont. Strawberry Things is her first book of recipes but certainly not the last. She is currently working on a new book of savory desserts, including her newest recipe for lentil ice cream.

Don Saddles is a project run in Brooklyn that was born out of an interest in refurbishing old bicycle and moped saddles. Finding frustration in the cost and style of the saddles they saw in stores, furniture designer Elise McMahon and textile designer Francesca Capone set out to find bike/moped saddles that were being thrown out by bike shops, as well as leather and vinyl scraps from a variety of sources. The saddles are completely hand-made from recycled materials and have been Frankensteined and beautified for your bicycle riding pleasure. And don't be afraid to ask! We will put the saddle right on your bike for you at no additional cost. Ride on!

East Egg Press brings you a small collection of recipe books with a poetic nature: ROOTS recipe book is a compilation of recipes from a coterie of creative people—painters, carpenters, writers, designers, filmmakers, musicians, children, and wanderers. Each person was asked to contribute a recipe that was relative to the word "roots" and its varying interpretations. Strawberry Things is a short compilation of recipes that were dictated aloud by Capone’s four-year-old niece. She makes up words, pairs unlikely ingredients, and even provides processes on how to combine and eat the recipes. Her culinary inventions are imaginative, thoughtful, poetic, and humorous recipes that have wisdom and poetic intuition far beyond her years.

Jesse Seldess http://littleredleaves.com/LRL4/Jesse_Seldess.html
http://www.antennae-journal.com/ Jesse Seldess recently relocated to Brooklyn from Karlsruhe, Germany. He is the author of two books, Who Opens and Left Having (both Kenning Editions), as well as chapbooks on Hand Held Editions, Instance Press, Answer Tag Press, and the Chicago Poetry Project Press. His work has recently appeared in the journals EOAGH, Jacket, Little Red Leaves, and out of nothing. Since 2001, he has edited and published Antennae, a journal of experimental writing and language-based performance and music scores.

Evie Shockley, Belladonna http://www.redroom.com/blog/evie-shockley http://www.belladonnaseries.org/ Evie Shockley is the author of two full-length collections of poetry, the new black (Wesleyan, 2011) and a half-red sea (Carolina Wren Press, 2006), and two chapbooks, 31 words * prose poems (Belladonna* Books, 2007) and The Gorgon Goddess (Carolina Wren Press, 2001). Her study Renegade Poetics: Black Aesthetics and Formal Innovation in African American Poetry is forthcoming from the University of Iowa Press in 2011. Her poems and essays have appeared recently or are forthcoming in journals and anthologies such as Callaloo, The Nation, qaartsiluni, Black Nature, Talisman, esque, and Home is Where: An Anthology of African American Poets from the Carolinas. Shockley is Associate Professor of English at Rutgers University, in New Brunswick, New Jersey, where she teaches African-American literature and creative writing.

2011 marks the 12th anniversary of the Belladonna* mission to promote the work of women writers who are adventurous, experimental, politically involved, multi-form, multicultural, multi-gendered, impossible to define, delicious to talk about, unpredictable, and dangerous with language. Belladonna* has featured over 150 writers of wildly diverse age and origin, writers who work in conversation and collaboration in and between multiple forms, languages, and critical fields. As performance and as printed text, the work collects, gathers over time and space, and forms a conversation about the feminist avant- garde, what it is and how it comes to be.

Toni Simon
http://www.2ndavepoetry.com/2ndAve_3/v3tsimonearth.html
Toni Simon has exhibited her work at The Drawing Center and A.I.R. Gallery. Her illustrated chapbook, Earth After Earth, is forthcoming from Lunar Chandelier Press.

Emily Skillings, Stonecutter http://culturebot.net/2011/02/9432/slow-dancing-the-poem-body-of-words-dixon-place/ http://www.stonecutterjournal.com/ Emily Skillings is a poet, dancer, and choreographer living in Brooklyn. She earned her B.A. in dance and poetry from The New School in 2010.

Stonecutter is a biannual journal of art and literature, created by a group of New York-based women involved in the arts. Issue One features work from Jen Bervin, Jennifer Cazenave, Anne Fitzgerald, Alan Gilbert, Andrew Gorin, Sarah Holland-Batt, Robert Kelly, Charlotte Mandell, Daniel Nohejl, Lauren O' Connor, Emily Skillings, Jocelyn Spaar, Ben Townsend, Eliot Weinberger, Jeffrey Yang, and Matvei Yankelevich, with art and photography from Travis Jackson, Orion Martin, and Newsha Tavakolian. To subscribe please visit the above URL or send submissions to [redacted].

Mary Austin Speaker http://www.maryaustinspeaker.com/ Mary Austin Speaker is the author of two chapbooks—In the End There Were Thousands of Cowboys and Abandoning the Firmament (Menagerie Editions)—with a third (The Bridge) forthcoming from Push Press. New work is forthcoming in Mrs. Maybe and High Chair, and has recently appeared in Big Bell, Boston Review, Iowa Review, New Orleans Review, and elsewhere. She is co-founder of Triptych Readings poetry series, and she works as art director for Ecco, an imprint of HarperCollins Publishers.

J. Hope Stein, Ping•Pong http://scapegoatreview.com/fall-2009/j-hope-stein.html#1 http://www.henrymiller.org/ping_pong.html Ping•Pong, a journal of the arts, published annually by The Henry Miller Library in Big Sur, California, serves up the best of global arts and literature by publishing a vibrant group of poets, writers, artists, and photographers. Ping•Pong is committed to a cultural dialogue between contemporary artists and the aesthetics created by Henry Miller and Anaïs Nin. Furthermore, Ping•Pong reaches beyond American shores to bring lesser-known writers into more prominence in English.

J. Hope Stein just finished her first book of poetry, The Inventor's Last Breath. Her short film based on her poetry manuscript was screened at New England College, Hartnell College, Fordham University, and the 2011 CinePoetry Festival at the Henry Miller Library. Her poems have appeared in Poetry International, Ping•Pong, Tygerburning, and Scapegoat Review. In 2009, she was nominated twice for the Pushcart Prize. She has also published critical work in Web Del Sol Review.

Leigh Stein, Bone Bouquet
http://www.leighstein.com
http://www.bonebouquet.org/
Leigh Stein is the author of four chapbooks of poetry, including The Future Comes to Those Who Wait (Grey Book Press). Her first novel, The Fallback Plan, is forthcoming from Melville House in January 2012.

Bone Bouquet is a biannual online journal seeking to publish the best new writing by female poets, from artists both established and emerging. It aims to highlight the important work of female poets, who are often underrepresented in the writing community and popular media. Rather than personal politics, Bone Bouquet's criteria are excellence and vibrance. Rather than segregating the poetry of "women's issues" from "regular" creative work, the journal's goal is to provide an additional arena in which female poets can make their work more visible to readers, building their reputations as artists.

 Tantra-zawadi, Poets Wear Prada
http://www.tantra-zawadi.com/

http://pwpbooks.blogspot.com/
Tantra-zawadi, an award-winning poet/artist/filmmaker from Brooklyn, has performed to standing room audiences at venues as far away as South Africa, London, Germany, and Toronto.

Her most recent collection, Gathered at Her Sky, published by Poets Wear Prada, contains excerpts from her off-Broadway production Soldier Blues and her one-woman performance piece Girl: A Choreospective, as well as the text of previously recorded spoken-word tracks. Chuma Spirit Books published her previous book alifepoeminprogress.

Poets Wear Prada, also known as PWP Books, is a small literary press based in Hoboken, N.J., devoted to introducing new authors through high-quality chapbooks primarily of poetry, since 2006. Angelo Verga, Poetry Curator of The Cornelia Street Café, describes Poets Wear Prada as a “new press, great authors, a publisher who is one miracle short of sainthood.” Meredith Sue Willis of Books for Readers says, “Poets Wear Prada is a poetry publishing house with excellent poets and affordable books with beautiful covers. Have you had your poetry today?” PWP is a proud member of CLMP.

Helen Vitoria, Gigantic Sequins http://helenvitoria-lexis.blogspot.com/ http://www.giganticsequins.com/ Helen Vitoria lives and writes in Effort, Penn. Her work can be found and is forthcoming in over 60 online and print journals, including PANK, wicked alice, Thunderclap, amphibi.us, The Dirty Napkin, Gigantic Sequins, Willows Wept Review, FRIGG Magazine, The Offending Adam, Used Furniture Review, Commonline: A Journal of Culture, Art & Literature, YB Poetry Journal, Fashion for Collapse, Caper Literary Journal, The Cartier Street Review, Poets & Artists Magazine, Sunfish Poetry Magazine, Monkeybicycle, Spooky Boyfriend, Spilt Milk, >kill author, elimae, Metazen, Dark Sky Magazine, Mud Luscious Press, and many others. She has been thrice nominated for Best New Poets 2010 Anthology.

Her chapbooks, The Sights and Sounds of Arctic Birds and Random Cartography Notes from Gold Wake Press. Blackwater: A Pneumatic Disturbance is her forthcoming e-chap from Red Ochre Press. Her first full length collection: Corn Exchange, will be released in the fall from Scrambler Books.

She is working on her second collection a novel(la) in verse: Amsterdam.

Gigantic Sequins is a biannual, print-only literary arts journal known for its unique design, compelling artwork, and willingness to publish writers and artists in all stages of their careers. Its 2.2 issue debuted this June, and submissions are currently open for its next issue.

Damian Weber
http://www.housepress.org/weber.html
Damian Weber is a member of House Press and the editor of Source Material: A Journal of Appropriated Text.

*Sunday
Unnameable

Andrea Ascah-Robinson Andrea Ascah-Robinson is a poet living in New Haven, Conn. Previously she lived in New York City, where she was the host and co-producer of the reading series Oral Fixation, which was held at Bar 13 from September 1997 to March 1998. She has been a featured reader at The Poetry Project at St. Mark's Church, The Pink Pony, Limelight, The Theatre for the New City, Halcyon, and The Studio Museum in Harlem. Her work appeared in print for the first time in 2000 in The Portable Boog Reader. Her poetry has appeared online at Artsy Mag, Poetry Central, and Poetz.

Jim Behrle
http://www.americanpoetry.biz/
Jim Behrle lives in Brooklyn, N.Y. His latest chapbook, It Serves Me Right to Suffer, is due out this year.

Joe Elliot
(see Sat. Aug. 6, 1:10 p.m.)

Greg Fuchs http://www.gregfuchs.com/ Greg Fuchs lives in the Bronx with his wife, Alison Collins, and their son, Lucas. Fuchs has published numerous books of poetry, most recently Moving Pictures from Lew Gallery. Forthcoming are collaborations with Jason Morris for Asterisk and Brett Evans for Open 24 Hours.

Mark Lamoureux http://www.cygistpress.blogspot.com/ Mark Lamoureux lives in Astoria. BlazeVOX [books] published Astrometry Orgonon, his first full-length collection. He is the author of five chapbooks: Poem Stripped of Artifice (winner of the New School 2007 Chapbook Contest), Traceland, 29 Cheeseburgers, Film Poems, and City/ Temple. His work has been published in print and online in Fourteen Hills, Fence, Mustachioed, miPoesias, Jubilat, Denver Quarterly, Conduit, Lungfull!, Carve Poems, Coconut, and GutCult, among others. In 2006 he started Cy Gist Press, a micropress focusing on ekphrastic poetry.

Charles Mansfield http://www.reverbnation.com/charlesmansfield Charles Mansfield's sound has been compared to the likes of Neil Young, Frank Black, and The Mountain Goats. He has written songs since picking up a guitar forever ago. The past few years have seen Mansfield in New York constantly playing in various East Village and Brooklyn clubs. His current EP, All The Way, produced by Bill Racine, reflects a very personal and original approach. Monday Morning, his second EP, will be released this summer. “I want nothing more than to just keep writing, recording and performing and to share my experience and expression with as many people as possible,” he says. • As is the case with many artists, there’s a substantial difference between the recorded Charles Mansfield and the live Charles Mansfield.

Mansfield recorded—as evidenced by “Performing” and “All the Way” on his recent All the Way EP—is comprised of quiet songs with a sensitive supporting band. There is subtle piano on the latter track and gorgeous strings on the former.

Mansfield on stage is another matter entirely. He performs alone, with just voice and guitar to do the work of the entire recording ensemble. With no spare instrumentation, Mansfield’s high, sad moan tells most of the story.

“I book people I know will put on a good show and offer something to the audience,” Brian Speaker explains about the performers he’s invited to play The New York Antifolk Festival. "Each act is a well- rounded, talented act with lots to offer in the way of story, sound, and performance. I book folks who I know.

“Charles Mansfield is a dark dude with a sensitive demeanor. He writes with his heart and finds a great groove at the same time."

Speaker cites “All the Way” as especially evocative. Its memorable chorus line, “Frank Sinatra tried suicide in a hotel elevator,” makes him insist about Mansfield: “Pay attention and you just may learn something.” —Jonathan Berger

Brett Price
http://sinkreview.org/poetry/benevolate-pole-ranges/
Brett Price lives and writes in Brooklyn, from where he coordinates the Friday Late Night Series at the Poetry Project at St. Mark’s Church.

Douglas Rothschild
DglsN.Rthscjhld has not accomplished much, so you probably haven't heard of him, which is really too bad.

Kimberly Ann Southwick http://www.giganticsequins.com Kimberly Ann Southwick is the founder and editor-in-chief of the literary arts journal Gigantic Sequins. She teaches grammar and literature at Rowan University and lives in Philadelphia. Her poetry has appeared in Big Lucks, The Broome Street Review, elimae, The Portable Boog Reader 3, and Sawbuck, and she has a poem forthcoming in Barrelhouse.

Nicole Wallace Nicole Wallace is the program assistant at The Poetry Project and the author of WHITE FLOWERS. More of her work can be found in Ribald Crow Powder Magazine, the Physical Poets Home Library Vol. 4, and 20012.

Meredith Walters http://www.anhinga.org/books/poet_info.cfm?poet_name=Meredith%20Walters Meredith Walters was raised in Yorktown, Va., and received an M.F.A. from the University of Arizona. She curates art and culture programs for the Brooklyn Public Library. Her poems have appeared in Conduit, Spout, Jubilat, Crowd, and Subtropics. Her book, All you have to do is ask, won the 2006 Anhinga Prize for poetry.

Ian Wilder http://www.onthewilderside.com Ian Wilder has been co-chair of the Green Party of New York state and has recorded spoken word with the Folk Groovin' band Nylon & Steel. He and his wife Kimberly blend together politics and art on the above website.

Zinc

Austin Alexis http://www.pwpbooks.blogspot.com/ A Favor While one friend is trying to cope with his daughter's life- threatening accident, another friend is dealing with financial ruin. The need these two wounded men have for each other forms both the bond and the conflict during a day when both men are heading towards a climax and must make ethical decisions. They both must face the consequences of how they view the responsibilities and the limits of friendship. Roxanne Hoffman directs.

Austin Alexis has had plays performed and/or read at Henry Street Theater, The Samuel French Short Plays Festival, The Field Festivals at P.S. 122, and The Vineyard Theatre, Tribeca Theater Lab. He received Honorable Mention in the First Stage L. A. One-Act Contest. His short stories and poems have appeared in literary journals and anthologies. His For Lincoln & Other Poems (Poets Wear Prada Press) was named "Pick of the Month" by Small Press Review (California). He received a Bread Loaf Writers' Conference Scholarship and a Pushcart Prize nomination. He is currently working on fiction.

Charles Borkhuis http://www.writing.upenn.edu/pennsound/x/Borkhuis.php Flipper Can you flip for money? Toss yourself in the air and touch down on the business end of a bun? Wifey's at home and baby makes three. Lose this job and you're a burger away from a broken marriage, followed by a quick slide into Nightmare Alley. The sky was hemorrhaging bloody murder. No, it was only ketchup squeezed from the clouds. Starving but fat beyond my means, I was living in a shimmering city of lard. I know … I know my place. Eat corporate dust, suck burger smoke through a hose, and bite the bullet.

Charles Borkhuis is a poet, playwright, essayist, and screenwriter. His eight collections of poems include Afterimage, Savoir-fear, Alpha Ruins, Proximity (Stolen Arrows), and Disappearing Acts, forthcoming from Chax Press. He was a finalist for the W.C. Williams Poetry Award and is a recipient of a Drama-Logue Award. He recently translated New Exercises by Franck Andre Jamme from the French (Wave Books). He was a curator of poetry readings at Segue for 15 years. His poetry readings, interviews, and two radio plays for NPR can be found on the above URL.

Maria Brandt
The Root People
In The Root People, two young girls share secrets in the woods and in the process discover that isolation can be countered with tenderness.

Maria Brandt was an artistic board member of The Bridge Theatre Company in Boston from 1996 to 2003. She teaches women in literature, dramatic literature, and creative writing at Monroe Community College, where she also directs The Sixth Act, an interdisciplinary drama initiative for faculty and students across campus and in the city of Rochester. The Root People has been workshopped at the Last Frontier Theatre Conference in Alaska and at Moving Arts Theatre Company in Los Angeles.

Joel Chace http://www.the-otolith.blogspot.com/2011/01/tom-beckett-interview-with-joel-chace.html The Cell The Cell explores what’s not fun about fundamentalism but also proposes the possibility that the right sort of terrorist just might help her captive emerge, clear, on the other side of himself. Paten Hughes plays the role of Jamey. Her favorite performances include Irina in Three Sisters (directed by Eve Best); Evelyn in The Shape of Things; Portia in the European Premiere of Neil LaBute’s Liar’s Club— part of an Edinburgh Fringe Festival double-bill entitled Tits and Blood; Claire in Paula Vogel’s The Long Christmas Ride Home; and Desdemona in Othello. Adam Klasfeld directs and plays the role of Moe. The artistic director of One Armed Man, Klasfeld is a writer and director drawn to theater that explores suppressed historical narratives and/or new aesthetic ground. Most recently, his docudrama The Report of My Death, about the once-censored and posthumously published details of Mark Twain's life and work, premiered to widespread critical acclaim in Manhattan.

Joel Chace has published more than a dozen print and electronic poetry collections, including Cleaning the Mirror: New and Selected Poems (BlazeVox [books]), matter no matter (Paper Kite Press), Scaffold (Country Valley Press), b(its) (Meritage Press), A Script (Otoliths Books), Sharpsburg (Cy Gist Press), and Blake’s Tree (Blue & Yellow Dog Press). Two of his plays have been given staged readings in Manhattan: Triptych, at The Arclight Theatre, and Fundamentalism, at Under St. Marks.

Jennifer Hill
http://www.jenniferdunnhill.blogspot.com/
http://www.paperkitepress.com/
Three Turns
Three Turns explores the relationships of three different couples as their conversations unfold one at a time, and then once again, simultaneously.

Jennifer Hill is a poet, playwright, hoop dancer, editor at Paper Kite Press, and bookseller at Paper Kite Books. She can be found online at the above URLs.

Vincent Katz http://www.vincentkatz.com/ Veranda of The Grand Gables (excerpt) This play takes off from Tennessee Williams' use of characters trapped in a transient setting. In place of Williams' realistic development of character and psychological crises, however, it substitutes out-of- control senses of language and of literature, forcing them into disagreement with a "real world" that is by comparison brutal and insensitive. Shocks of juxtaposition, lapses of ordinary good manners, and severe conflicts based on an inability to communicate render this world by turns hilarious and unsettling.

Vincent Katz is a poet, translator, art critic, editor, and curator. He is the author of nine books of poetry, including Cabal of Zealots (Hanuman Books), Understanding Objects (Hard Press), and Rapid Departures (Ateliê Editorial). He won the 2005 National Translation Award, given by the American Literary Translators Association, for his book of translations from Latin, The Complete Elegies of Sextus Propertius (Princeton University Press). He is the editor of the poetry and arts journal VANITAS and Libellum books.

Eugenia Macer-Story
http://www.magickmirror.com/
Captain Midnight's Spyglass Heart
Captain Midnight's Spyglass Heart is a new play in a series of published short stories and plays entitled The Captain Midnight Transmissions, words and music by Eugenia Macer-Story, featuring actors Cathie Boruch and Neal Kodinsky. A magickal adventure with Atlantean sorcerers and spirit mediums loose outside the ordinary timeline.
Photo pictures Kodinsky, Macer-Story, and Boruch.

Matt Reeck http://www.lit.konundrum.com/poetry/reeckm_poems.php Panoptical Illusion: Two prisoners constantly visible, one warden constantly watching. In a world in which you are constantly visible, you are a prisoner. How can you redefine space then? What recourse, then? Actors are Ed Go, the co- founder of Other Rooms Press and co-editor of OR Online Poetry Journal, and Anthony Tavarez, who most recently played several roles in the King's Crown Shakespeare Troupe's production of Macbeth.

Matt Reeck has published poems and translations. His work appeared this past year in magazines including BOMB, Colorado Review, Fiction International, Juncture, Konundrum Literary Engine Review, The Brooklyn Rail, The Paris Magazine, and Two Lines. Work is forthcoming in American Letters & Commentary, Bombay Gin, LA Review, and Quarter after Eight. His dramatic work has appeared at Dixon Place and during St. Ann's Labapalooza Festival in collaboration with the visual artist Deborah Simon.

*Monday

Cara Benson http://www.necessetics.com/ Cara Benson is the author of (made), published by BookThug, and Protean Parade, forthcoming from Black Radish Books. Her chapbook Quantum Chaos and Poems: A Manifest(o)ation won the 2008 bpNichol Prize. Editor of Predictions (ChainLinks), Benson is a member of the Belladonna* Collaborative and teaches poetry in a N.Y. State Prison.

Claire Donato http://www.somanytumbleweeds.com/ Claire Donato lives in Brooklyn; writes across genres; and has taught at Hunter College, The New School, Brown University, and 826 Valencia/ NYC. Recent writing has appeared or is forthcoming in Gulf Coast, Boston Review, Black Warrior Review, and Octopus. She holds an M.F.A. from Brown University, where she received the John Hawkes Prize in Fiction. Her first book, Burial, will be published by Tarpaulin Sky Press in Fall 2012.

Monica A. Hand http://alicejamesbooks.org/pages/book_page.php?bookID=164 Monica A. Hand is a poet and book artist who lives in Harlem, USA. Her manuscript "me and Nina" received a 2010 Kinereth Gensler Award from Alice James Books, and her poems have appeared in Aunt Chloe, Black Renaissance Noire, Naugatuck River Review, The Sow's Ear, Drunken Boat, Beyond the Frontier, African-American Poetry for the 21st Century, Gathering Ground: A Reader Celebrating Cave Canem's First Decade, and elsewhere. She has an M.F.A. in poetry and poetry in translation from Drew University and is a founding member of Poets for Ayiti.

Jibade-Khalil Huffman http://www.jibadekhalilhuffman.tumblr.com/ Jibade-Khalil Huffman is the author of 19 Names for Our Band (Fence Books) and James Brown Is Dead (Future Plan and Program). His art and writing projects have been exhibited and performed at MoMA/P.S.1, the Museum of Arts and Design in New York, and, most recently, at Mount Tremper Arts in Mount Tremper, N.Y.

Ish Klein http://www.poorclaudia.org/ http://itunes.apple.com/us/podcast/the-no-slander-podcast/id419725253 Ish Klein is the author of the poetry books Moving Day and Union!, both published by Canarium Press. She lives with Greg Purcell in Amherst, Mass., where they produce the poetry podcast Noslander. Poor Claudia of Portland, Ore. has released success Window, a compilation of her videos.

Michael Leong http://michaelleong.wordpress.com/ Michael Leong is the author of e.s.p. (Silenced Press), a collection of poetry, and I, the Worst of All (BlazeVOX [books]), a translation of the Chilean poet Estela Lamat. Forthcoming titles include Cutting Time with a Knife (Black Square Editions/The Brooklyn Rail) and The Philosophy of Decomposition/Re-Composition as Explanation (Delete Press).

Sheila Maldonado
http://www.twc.org/workshops/writer/36
Sheila Maldonado's poems have been published in Callaloo, Rattapallax, Stretching Panties, The Portable Boog Reader, and online in The Acentos Review.

She teaches creative writing for the City University of New York and through Teachers & Writers Collaborative. She divides her time between Washington Heights and Coney Island.

Ekoko Pauline Omadeke Ekoko Pauline Omadeke is a graduate of New York University's M.F.A. in Creative Writing Program and is a Cave Canem fellow. Her work has been published in No, Dear Magazine and Ars Poetica. She is the founder and former curator of the Southern Writers Reading Series at Happy Ending Lounge.

Greg Purcell http://www.noslander.com/ Greg Purcell’s poetry has appeared in Fence, The Agriculture Reader, Open City, The Exquisite Corpse, and New American Writing. He does a podcast with poet Ish Klein called No Slander, which you can find at the above URL.

Joe Crow Ryan http://www.cdbaby.com/cd/joecrowryan Joe Crow Ryan is a Subway busker who has studied acting, movement, and nursing. He studied performance (via TV) with Jimmy Durante, Buddy Ebsen, Ella Fitzgerald, and others. Ryan won an OOBR Award for Outstanding Performance as Helicanus in Pericles in 2001. Performances and the sales of recordings have been his sole source for scant income since 2007. “Living the Dream is like nothing I had dreamt,” he said.

Kathrin Schaeppi http://www.ellectriquepress.com/home/about-ellectrique.html Kathrin Schaeppi is the author of Sonja Sekula : Grace in a cow’s EYE : a memoir (Black Radish Books, 2011), a poetic memoir in homage to the word pictures of the versatile, underrepresented Swiss poet- painter Sonja Sekula, who lived from 1918 to 1963. Creative and critical work has appeared in diverse hardcopy and online journals. Through her small press, ellectrique, Schaeppi has issued Anne Blonstein's correspondence with nobody and Spelling ( ) Bound, a collaborative objet d'art in a limited edition. Schaeppi lives in Basel, Switzerland.

Mark Statman www.amazon.com/Tourist-at-Miracle-Mark-Statman/dp/1934909165/ref=sr_1_6?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1262468973&sr=1-6 Mark Statman's most recent books are the poetry collection Tourist at a Miracle (Hanging Loose) and a translation, with Pablo Medina, of Federico García Lorca's Poet in New York (Grove Press). Author of Listener in the Snow (Teachers & Writers), and, with Christian McEwen, co-editor of The Alphabet of the Trees: A Guide to Nature Writing (Teachers & Writers), his poetry, essays, and translations have appeared in nine other anthologies, as well as such publications as Tin House, Hanging Loose, Performing Arts Journal, The Cincinnati Review, The Hat, Bayou, The Portable Boog Reader 4, Occasional Religion, Washington Square, conduit, Subtopics, The Florida Review, Ping•Pong, and American Poetry Review. He has been featured on Poetry Daily, The Bob Edwards Show, The Leonard Lopate Show, The Moe Greene Poetry Discussion, and PBS New York Voices. He has recently completed Black Tulips: The Selected Poems of José María Hinojosa and is at work on translating the poems of Mario Benedetti. He is an associate professor of literary studies at Eugene Lang College, The New School.

*Tuesday

Black Radish Books http://www.blackradishbooks.org/ Black Radish Books' collective editorial focus is to publish and promote innovative books of poetry. Because it operates as a collective, with all member-authors contributing various talents other than the poetic to the publishing of member-authors, Black Radish Books' goal is to allow members, not the artistic conscience of a press, to dictate the aesthetic. As such, their bent is best described as eclectic, with focus on the difficult and the surprising. All Black Radish Books poets are well-established creators of innovative poetry and have been carefully selected based on the quality of their poetry, their publication history, promotional/marketing ability (as established micro-presses, or as regular promoters of), and demonstrated commitment to actively supporting diverse poetries, poetics, and their numerous aesthetics.

Bruce Covey http://www.coconutpoetry.org/ Bruce Covey is the author of five books of poetry, including, most recently, Glass Is Really a Liquid (No Tell Books) and the forthcoming Reveal (Black Radish Books). He lives in Atlanta, where he teaches at Emory University, edits Coconut Poetry, and curates the What's New in Poetry reading series.

Carrie Hunter http://ypolitapress.blogspot.com/ Carrie Hunter received her M.F.A./M.A. from The New College of California Poetics program and edits the small chapbook press ypolita press. Her first book, The Incompossible, is out with Black Radish Books, and she has several chapbooks, including Vorticells (Cy Gist Press), A Musics (Arrow as Aarow), and Diary (Dusie). She lives in San Francisco.

Mark Lamoureux
(see Sun. Aug. 7, 12:00 p.m.)

Marci Nelligan Marci Nelligan is a teacher, poet, and toddler-wrangler. Her first collection of poems is due out this winter from Black Radish Books. In addition, she has published two chapbooks and is the co-editor of Intersection, an interdisciplinary book on Jane Jacobs. Her work has appeared in Jacket, The Denver Quarterly, The New Orleans Review, How2, and other journals. She was the 1999 recipient of Poets & Writers' "Writers on Site" grant and has an M.F.A. in poetry from Mills College.

Marthe Reed http://www.ucs.louisiana.edu/~mxr5675/ Marthe Reed has published two books, Gaze (Black Radish Books) and Tender Box, A Wunderkammer, with drawings by Rikki Ducornet (Lavender Ink), as well as two chapbooks, (em)bodied bliss and zaum alliterations, both part of the Dusie Kollektiv Series. A third chapbook is just out from Dusie Kollektiv 5, a collaboration with poet/ artist j/j hastain, post•cards: Lafayette á Lafayette. Her poetry has appeared in New American Writing, Golden Handcuffs Review, New Orleans Review, HOW2, MiPoesias, Big Bridge, Moria, Fairy Tale Review, Exquisite Corpse, and EOAGH, among others. Her manuscript, "an earth of sweetness dances in the vein," was a finalist in Ahsahta Press' 2006 Sawtooth Poetry Contest. She has guest edited an issue of Ekleksographia and served as assistant editor for Dusie Kollektiv; she teaches in the English department at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette, where she serves as the director of creative writing. Further information about her work can be found on her homepage at the above URL.

Cat Rockefeller http://www.reverbnation.com/catrockefeller Playing a minimalist acoustic blues, the solo artist known to the world as Cat Rockefeller is not about raucous energy, but rather presenting a thoughtful, soulful exploration—the kind that can only be made between a girl, her bedroom, and her recording software. A self proclaimed narcissist and hypochondriac, Rockefeller can woo you with her down tempo lullabies and then sleep you under the table.

“Cat Rockefeller is a bad ass!” says Brian Speaker, the festival’s musical curator. “She rocks as a front woman to Berth Control, and her own songs are very personal.”

Spare instrumentation on Rockefeller’s recordings place her gorgeous voice absolutely front and center, and, though her lyrics seem somehow less important than the atmosphere on 2010’s Appleseeds, the artist swears, “I speak sarcasm fluently. It’s my primary language.”

Regularly touring the Union Square L Station, Rockefeller will take time for an above-ground gig to show off some of her latest material (her newest tracks are mere months old, all recorded in New York over the prior year). Though she defies easy categorization, Speaker was quick with a description: “No bullshit; just good, honest songwriting with a great voice.” —Jonathan Berger

Kathrin Schaeppi
(see Mon. Aug. 8, 6:40 p.m.)

Jill Stengel
(see Fri. Aug. 5, 8:55 p.m.)

David Wolach
http://ekleksographia.ahadadabooks.com/issuetwo/authors/david_wolach.html
David Wolach is editor of Wheelhouse Magazine & Press and an active participant in Nonsite Collective. Wolach’s first full-length collection, Occultations, has just been published by Black Radish Books. Other books include the multi-media transliteration plus chapbook, Prefab Eulogies Volume 1: Nothings Houses (BlazeVox [books]), the full-length “Hospitalogy” (chapbook of the same title forthcoming from Scantily Clad Press), and book alter(ed) (Ungovernable Press).

A former union organizer and performing artist, Wolach’s work often begins as site-specific and interactive performance and ends up as shaped, written language. Recent work appears in Jacket, Aufgabe, Try Magazine, No Tell Motel, and Little Red Leaves. Wolach is professor of text arts, poetics, and aesthetics at The Evergreen State College, co- curating the PRESS Text Arts & Radical Politics Series there, and is visiting professor in Bard College’s Workshop in Language and Thinking.

--
David A. Kirschenbaum, editor and publisher
Boog City
330 W. 28th St., Suite 6H
NY, NY 10001-4754
For event and publication information:
http://boogcity.com/

T: (212) 842-BOOG (2664)
http://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/wa/viewPodcast?id=343169880
For music from Gilmore boys:
http://www.myspace.com/gilmoreboysmusic

↑ Index

6. Vernon Frazer

STYLING SANPAKU by Vernon Frazer in Print and Online

Tue 2 Aug 2011

Vernon Frazer has just published STYLING SANPAKU, his latest collection of poems, at the link below:

http://www.scribd.com/doc/60033198/Styling-Sanpaku

A POD edition is now available from Lulu.com:

http://www.lulu.com/browse/search.php?fListingClass=0&fSearch=styling+sanpaku+by+vernon+frazer&fSubmitSearch=Go&showingSubPanels=&fSort=relevance_desc

↑ Index

7. Robert Reginio

Call for Papers on Irish Neo-Avant Garde Poetries

Tue 2 Aug 2011

43rd Annual Convention: Northeast Modern Language Association (NeMLA)
March 15-18, 2012: Rochester, New York

"What Ever Happened to Irish Modernism?" This session will explore the work of modernist, experimental, or ‘innovative’ Irish poetry from any angle: critical, theoretical, pedagogical, etc. In particular, papers are sought on the under-represented work of innovative Irish poets such as Randolph Healy, Trevor Joyce, Billy Mills, Maurice Scully, Geoffrey Squires and Catherine Walsh. Please send 200-400 word abstracts to <[redacted]>

↑ Index

8. Chris Hosea

Lyrical Happy Ending: Aug 11, 8pm, 302 Broome

Tue 2 Aug 2011

Hey pals of mine,
I will perform poesiejams live and in the flesh with beatmasters Thomas Heise and Siobhan Kathleen Bledsoe.

Thursday, August 11 at 8pm
At Happy Ending Lounge, 302 Broome Street, New York, NY.
RSVP on facebook: http://on.fb.me/pWaXkL
Map: http://bit.ly/nSfBBG
It will be a delight to see you! I am bringing surprise treats!
Much love,
Chris

Chris Hosea
473 Henry Street, Floor 3
Brooklyn, NY 11231 USA
[redacted]

[redacted]
http://chrishosea.com
twitter @chrishosea

↑ Index

9. Susan Webster Schultz

Two new books from Tinfish press

Tue 2 Aug 2011

Tinfish Press is pleased to announce publication of two exciting new titles, _and then entwine_, by jai arun ravine, and _Yellow_, by Margaret Rhee.

Please see the blog for descriptions of the books and for how to order copies:

http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/08/two-new-publications-from-tinfish-press.html

Thanks for your support of small press poetry. It matters.

aloha, Susan

↑ Index

10. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "A Western Exile" by Matt Hill

Tue 2 Aug 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œA Western Exileâ€ by Matt Hill
Description:
â€œA Western Exileâ€ comprises of ten prose poems, randomly composed and offered. Episodes from an incomplete life, vaguely recorded. Devoid of connective punctuation, intent to foster an effulgent flow.
Available as a free ebook here:

http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/a-western-exile/16430317
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

11. Jonathan Morse
Republican grammar
Tue 2 Aug 2011

---

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/2011/08/subordinate-clause-a-sentence-for-the-party-of-states-rights-and-family-values/

↑ Index

12. CA Conrad
CONFETTI ALLEGIANCE @ POETS.org
Wed 3 Aug 2011

The (Soma)tic poetry exercise and resulting poem CONFETTI ALLEGIANCE is now online by The Academy of American Poets:
http://www.poets.org/viewmedia.php/prmMID/22454

Thanks, and hope you enjoy,
CAConrad

/\/\\//\\\/\//\\\/\\\\/////\\\\\/////\\\\\\//////\\\\\\\/////////\\\\\\\\ I'm VERY EXCITED to have received a 2011 Pew Fellowship in the Arts http://bit.ly/qhBLEV

A Beautiful Marsupial Afternoon (Wave Books, 2012):
http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

13. CA Conrad
poet Carlos Soto-Roman
Wed 3 Aug 2011

---

poet Carlos Soto-Roman is the latest to visit JUPITER 88
click here for viewing: http://JUPITER88poetry.blogspot.com

Thank you for visiting!

↑ Index

14. steve dalachinsky

Re: Zukofsky

Wed 3 Aug 2011

next reading

aug 14 9 pm suffolk and houston local 269 with brad farberman and strings - dalachinsky reads on the spot cut ups of bad reviews of avante garde jazz that he won't get to see til that night

_____

sept 10 7 -8 pm with the unbearables as part of litcrawl at bowery po club (houston between bleecker & 3rd) theme jen vigo and the archtiecture of meat

_____

sept 13 a big one at university of streets e 7th st and ave a one flight up class reunion 3 - with saxist dave liebman

_____

sept 14 at the brooklyn borough hall with many great folks too numerous to mention for a benefit to raise money for a cecil taylotr museum 6-10 pm

_____

sept 24 1 -330 pm at bowery poetry club Valery oisteanu presents 10000000 poets for change jazzoetry and surrealism many great readers yuko otomo jeff wright, nmcy mercado many more

_____

SEPT 24 th - at tribes gallery 285 e 3rd (ave Cand D) a really big one 6-8 pm - unbearables for 1000000 poet for change followed immediately 8-midnite 65 and still ALIVE steve's 60th birthday party with readings and music bring food, drink poems instruments - some scheduled readers ron kolm , brian boyles, danny shot, shalom nueman, valery oisteanu, danny shot , rami shamir, larisa schmaillo and so many more

_____

if yer in the lowell, mass area steve reads 3 days oct 7-9 at various venues including gallery 119
with charles waters yuko otomo et al as part of lowell celebrates kerouac

in one of these places david amram will jam with steve and others

---

october 13 steve reads with joe mcphee group in the interpretation series at the new roulette in brooklyn in a tribute to cecil taylor 8 pm followed bt the andrew yyrille group

---

nov 30th - steve reads with brant lyons for hydrogen juke box - at cornelia st cafe 6-8pm

---

On Tue, 26 Jul 2011 23:23:23 -0400 Jake Marmer <[redacted]>
writes:
> For all of you Zukofsky fans out there - New Directions republished
> "A" and > another volume of shorter poetry. I did a piece on this for the > Forward
> http://www.forward.com/articles/139803/, curious to see other > reviews out
> there.
>
> -Jake
>
>
>

↑ Index

15. Rob McLennan

a new project of poetic responses to visual arts

Wed 3 Aug 2011

CALL AND RESPONSE

Poetic responses to photographs in the Red Wall Gallery.
at the School of Photographic Arts: Ottawa Curated by: rob mclennan
http://www.spao.ca/projects/callandresponse.html#callandresponse

Ongoing: August 5th, 2011 to July 31st, 2012

First Response
The Walls of Jerusalem; selected poems and process notes.
Writer: Pearl Pirie
Exhibition: Cities of Stone - People of Dust by Leslie Hossack
Vernissage: Friday August 5th, 2011, 18:00 - 21:00
On View: August 5th - September 2nd, 2011

The CALL AND RESPONSE project engages two creative communities in a year-long exchange of images and words. Artists showing work in the Red Wall Gallery will have their photographic statements poetically responded to by writers curated by rob mclennan.

This interaction can be experienced as poetry and images come together in the Red Wall Gallery for the duration of each exhibition. There will also be scheduled readings, and a poem/image card for each pairing, as well as the inclusion of selected images and poems in the next edition of Push/Pull magazine.

The Red Wall Gallery is located in SPAO at 168 Dalhousie, at the corner of Bruyère, in the Byward Market. Viewing/reading hours are from Monday to Friday 10:00 -18:00, and Saturdays from 10:00-15:00.

Future shows will have responses by Ottawa poets Monty Reid and Sandra Ridley.

For more info contact: [redacted] or [redacted]

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

16. Jerome Rothenberg
new york in the fall -- apartment still needed
Wed 3 Aug 2011

Diane Rothenberg and I are still planning to be in New York City from roughly the end of September or 1st of October to roughly the last week of December. After a number of near misses we find ourselves still without a sublet or other arrangement, so this one is going out to the New York portion of our email list in the hope that someone may be able to pass along something of interest. There will also be a number of readings while in the area, but I'll get around to those when we're closer to the time. Other doings also turn up sporadically at the ongoing Poems and Poetics blog: poemsandpoetics.blogspot.com.

With embraces all around,

Jerome Rothenberg
1026 San Abella
Encinitas, CA 92024
[redacted]
http://writing.upenn.edu/epc/authors/rothenberg/ethnopoetics web site: http://ubu.com/ethno/j.r. in spanish: http://writing.upenn.edu/epc/authors/rothenberg/esp/blog: poemsandpoetics.blogspot.com

Language is Delphi.
-- Novalis

↑ Index

17. Mark Kuniya
Empty Hands Broadsides
Wed 3 Aug 2011

COUNTRY VALLEY PRESS
SUMMER 2011

EMPTY HANDS BROADSIDES

#19 - Hoa Nguyen, LATE IN THE MONTH
#20 - Dale Smith, THE TIME MACHINE PARADOX

$1/$3, signed. Limited to 100 copies.

For more information on how to order or about subscribing to EH Broadsides visit us online at http://web.mac.com/countryvalley or write to [redacted].

↑ Index

18. CA Conrad
SISTERS OF ENNUI: Dorothea Lasky & CAConrad
Thu 4 Aug 2011

SISTERS OF ENNUI: Dorothea Lasky & CAConrad

I'm very excited to be reading with my dear sister Dottie for WILDE BOYS Series in NYC!
August 12th, all details here: http://CAConradevents.blogspot.com

HOPE YOU CAN MAKE IT! We are SISTERS OF ENNUI! And we DON'T KNOW
WHYYYYYYY! HAHA!

Many thanks to Alex and Paul and everyone!
CA

/\/\\//\\\///\\\\////\\\\\/////\\\\\\//////\\\\\\\///////\\\\\\\\ I'm VERY EXCITED to have received a 2011 Pew Fellowship in the Arts http://bit.ly/qhBLEV

A Beautiful Marsupial Afternoon (Wave Books, 2012):
http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

my (Soma)tic CONFETTI ALLEGIANCE is at POETS.org:
http://www.poets.org/viewmedia.php/prmMID/22454

↑ Index

19. Sharon Mesmer/David Borchart

Apartment query for Andrei Codrescu

Thu 4 Aug 2011

Hello everyone,

> My friend Andrei Codrescu has asked me to put the word out for him -- he and his wife Laura will be arriving in New York on December 5th and leaving on the 11th or 17th, depending on whether they can find somebody who'd like to exchange a Manhattan apartment for their French Quarter place for that week or two. Andrei says, "New Orleans French Quarter is heaven in December, and our place is within steps of all the music on Frenchmen Street and the decadence everywhere else." They'd like to be in the Village, if possible, but are not hell-bent on that. If you can do it, contact Andrei at [redacted].

-- Sharon Mesmer

↑ Index

20. Jonathan Morse

Jonathan Morse's latest photochapbook, "Green / Light,"

Fri 5 Aug 2011

---

is available as a free download from the Issuu shelf at the bottom of any page of his blog at http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net , or by clicking

http://issuu.com/jonathan-morse/docs/green_light

↑ Index

21. Halvard Johnson
Sonnets from the Basque & Other Poems
Fri 5 Aug 2011

Click your heels very fast, or click here --> *Sonnets from the Basque & Other Poems<https://docs.google.com/document/d/16pWoy7FBSWyCLWpz0hhI-i0BOYjSBeUiqfWBmJF3g64/edit?hl=en_US> *

Serving the tri-state area.

Hal

Halvard Johnson
==========

[redacted]
http://sites.google.com/site/halvardjohnson/Home
http://entropyandme.blogspot.com
http://imageswithoutwords.blogspot.com
http://www.hamiltonstone.org
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
http://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/home
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
*Sonnets from the Basque & Other Poems<https://docs.google.com/document/d/16pWoy7FBSWyCLWpz0hhI-i0BOYjSBeUiqfWBmJF3g64/edit?hl=en_US>
, Mainly Black<https://docs.google.com/document/edit?id=1i_JGJ_FqQldEnUq7cwjV8giYykz_tsGbTkC2EkAP3IM&hl=en&pli=1#>
, Obras PÃºblicas<https://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/halvard-johnson-obras-publicas>
; The Perfection of Mozart's Third Eye and Other Sonnets<http://www.scribd.com/doc/27039868/Halvard-Johnson-THE-PERFECTION-OF-MOZART-S-THIRD-EYE-Other-Sonnets>
; Organ Harvest with Entrance of Clones<http://www.amazon.com/Harvest-Entrance-Clones-Halvard-Johnson/dp/0965404390/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1283182804&sr=8-1>
; Tango Bouquet<https://docs.google.com/Doc?docid=0ATDp6rzKkBkhZGZwand2cHdfOWc1Mnh3Zw&hl=en>
; Theory of Harmony<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall04/theory1.pdf>
; Rapsodie espagnole<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/rapsodi.pdf>
; Guide to the Tokyo

Subway<http://www.amazon.com/Guide-Tokyo-Subway-Other-Poems/dp/0971487316/ref=sr_1_3?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1283183153&sr=1-3>
; The Sonnet Project<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/hsonnet.pdf>
; G(e)nome <http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall03/genome.pdf>; Winter Journey <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.winter.html>;
Eclipse<http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.eclipse.html>
; The Dance of the Red Swan <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.dance.html>;
*
*Transparencies & Projections <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.transp.html>
*

↑ Index

22. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "Werewolf Weather" by Larry Sawyer

Fri 5 Aug 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œWerewolf Weatherâ€ by Larry Sawyer

Description:

Using surrealist momentum to explore the possibilities of language, the poems in â€œWerewolf Weatherâ€ tear at the â€˜curtain of nothingnessâ€™, as mentioned by Hughes-Alain Dal to reveal an egoless disquietness. Showing a mutability of identity, time and place in the actuality of words these fabulist poems celebrate the nostalgia of right now. Available as a free ebook here:

http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/werewolf-weather/16443848

Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:

http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

23. Steve Clay

Roy McBride 1943-2011

Fri 5 Aug 2011

Poet Roy McBride has died at age 67.

Here are two useful links:

http://minnesota.publicradio.org/collections/special/columns/news_cut/archive/2011/07/death_of_a_poets_poet.shtml

http://www.startribune.com/obituaries/126641858.html

Steve Clay
Granary Books
168 Mercer St. #2
New York, NY 10012

[redacted]
[redacted] (fax)
www.granarybooks.com

↑ Index

24. Adam Fieled

"Apps2" on YouTube

Fri 5 Aug 2011

A second video installment of the Blazevox book Apparition Poems, first released in 2010, is now up on YouTube:

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AuBMjKKKyys

These poems have appeared in Jacket, Pennsound, Great Works, the Argotist, Tears in the Fence, denver syntax, moria, Sawbuck, Upstairs at Duroc, and elsewhere.

Hope you like,
Adam Fieled [redacted]

↑ Index

25. Derek Beaulieu

new from NO press: THE LUCID CLUSTERS: POETICS OF CLAUDE GAUVREAU

Fri 5 Aug 2011

No press is proud to announce the publication of:

THE LUCID CLUSTERS: POETICS OF CLAUDE GAUVREAU
Translated, and with an introduction by, Ray Ellenwood

* Noted author, playwright, poet and artist, Claude Gauvreau (1925-1971), was one of the Automatistes in Montreal and a signatory of REFUS GLOBAL. THE LUCID CLUSTERS is a selection of Gauvreau's commentaries on poetics from his correspondence and addresses such fields as dada, Surrealism, Lettrisme and the OuLiPo. THE LUCID CLUSTERS marks the first time has work has been published west of Toronto in a solo edition.

* Ray Ellenwood, Professor Emeritus and Senior Scholar at York University in Toronto, is an award-winning translator and author of Egregore: A History of the Montréal Automatist Movement. In 1998, he organized a symposium, exhibition and concert at York University to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Refus global, and he continues to write and publish extensively about the Automatistes.

*

Published in a limited edition of 100 copies (only 50 of which are for sale)
40 pgs, hand-bound

Copies are available for $10.00 each

To order copies, please contact derek beaulieu at [redacted]

↑ Index

26. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is "The Propaganda Factory by Marc Vincenz

Fri 5 Aug 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œThe Propaganda Factory by Marc Vincenz

Description:

In these taut lyrical poems, Marc Vincenz navigates society through a Fellini camera capturing voyeuristic meditations and startling moments of flux. The citizens of â€œThe Propaganda Factoryâ€ try to imagine what lies behind the Wall. Businessmen on the Brechtian stage yearn to speak of trees, Kafkaâ€™s secret police have an ear pressed to the glass, and â€˜shadows drag behind like batsâ€™.

Available as a free ebook here:

http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/the-propaganda-factory/16445704

Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:

http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

27. Howe, William R. Dr.

Cincinnati Small Press Festival

Sat 6 Aug 2011

Announcement

The Mockbee, an arts and music venue located in Cincinnati, OH, announces the 2011 Cincinnati Small Press Festival. The festival is a two-day event centered around the printing arts, bookmaking, and the printed word, and will showcase the region's writers, letterpressers, artists, bookmakers, DIY-ers, zinesters, comic artists, screenprinters, and other cultural workers. It will take place on Friday, September 30 and Saturday, October 1.

The Friday event will be an evening event called "PlexArt / TextArt", will feature music, performance, text-based visual art, and a poetry reading, with beverages—both alcoholic and non-alcoholic—available for purchase from the bar. The Saturday fair will host a number of free workshops, demonstrations, and panel discussions that take place concurrent with vendors selling their wares. There will also be food, drinks, and music. The fair is free to attend and open to all ages of the general public. Admission to the PlexArt / TextArt event will be 18+ and $5 at the door.

Want to Exhibit Your Print- or Book-related Work?

The organizers of PlexArt, a monthly Final Friday art show at The Mockbee, are seeking work by contemporary artists that incorporates textual, linguistic, or print-related elements for the juried, one-night exhibition. Work can be in any size or medium, from 2-D to 3-D to digital/video work to book art to sound sculptures to performance and beyond. Send digital documentation of proposed work (images as .jpg or .tif, please) with description—limit is five works.

Submission Checklist:

Name & Contact info.
Digital documentation of proposed work.
A list of proposed works (limit 5) indicating titles, size, medium, date of composition.
Narrative description of work being proposed.
Sales info. – NFS or price for each work.Artist statement not to exceed 500 words.

Send submission to: William R. Howe at [redacted] with the subject line reading "art submission." There is no fee for submission, but the artist is responsible for shipping/drop-off/pick-up of accepted work. Deadline for submissions is September 15, 2011. Notification by email will be no later than September 20. Deadline for receipt or drop-off of accepted works will be between noon and 8 p.m. on Wednesday, September 28. Pick-up after the exhibition will be Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Want to Sell Your Wares at the Fair?

To apply for a vendor's table at the fair, to propose a workshop, demonstration, or panel discussion, or to inquire about submitting artwork for PlexArt / TextArt, see our website at http://cincysmallpressfest.blogspot.com which includes information about our very affordable table fees.

Want to Present a Workshop?

Festival organizers are seeking proposals from people interested in presenting a relevant workshop, lecture, and/or panel discussion. There are a very limited number of slots available, and we anticipate receiving more proposals than there will be slots. Proposals are due September 1, 2011. Organizers will respond to all proposals before September 15, 2011. Send proposals to: [redacted]. Proposal Tips: 1. Include a brief but clear description & timeline of your proposed program. It should last not less than 45 minutes but no more than 60 minutes. 2. Include any sample materials/information that you may already have so that organizers will get a better idea about the substance of the presentation. 3. Include a list of people to be included in your program, including yourself (if applicable). 4. Include any other information or materials--for example, handouts--that you think will convey the interest and value of your program.

Still Have Questions?

Contact William and Lisa Howe at [redacted]. Or send mail to Cincinnati Small Press Festival c/o William Howe, 2133 Central Avenue, Cincinnati, OH, 45214

↑ Index

28. amy king

AWP Panel Proposal Rejected – Let's Get Technical

Sat 6 Aug 2011

---

* Did bias play a role?Â Are the panelists and I not noteworthy enough?Â Was the proposal poorly worded?Â Is my focus on the least popular genre?

* Has AWP been working on locating options for parents who bring children this year?Â Did they last year?Â Do they network these parents so that they might be able to collaborate and share babysitting duties, thus permitting more mobility?

Explored here -Â http://amyking.wordpress.com/2011/08/06/awp-panel-proposal-rejected-lets-get-technical/

Thanks,

Amy

↑ Index

29. tyrone williams
Re: Roy McBride 1943-2011
Sat 6 Aug 2011

Thanks Steve.

Tyrone

-----Original Message-----
>From: Steve Clay <[redacted]>
>Sent: Aug 5, 2011 2:21 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Roy McBride 1943-2011
>
>Poet Roy McBride has died at age 67.
>
>Here are two useful links:
>
>http://minnesota.publicradio.org/collections/special/columns/news_cut/archive/2011/07/death_of_a_poets_poet.shtml
>
>http://www.startribune.com/obituaries/126641858.html
>
>
>Steve Clay
>Granary Books
>168 Mercer St. #2
>New York, NY 10012
>
>[redacted]
>[redacted] (fax)
>www.granarybooks.com
>
>
>

Tyrone Williams

↑ Index

30. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “Bowl of Light” by C. Brannon Watts

Sun 7 Aug 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œBowl of Lightâ€ by C. Brannon Watts

Description:

â€œBowl of Lightâ€ is a collection of intersections, even collisions; the perspectives here move from adolescence to adulthood, and the poetry itself, in structure and spirit, reflects everything from moments of lyricism to abstraction and experimentation. The book is divided into four sections, each an arc of radius under the sky, a physical location, and a point along the journey to poetic and personal maturity. C. Brannon Wattsâ€™ work is both personal narrative and intimate conversation with the reader; though there is aggression here, you should probably bring along your favorite hat, pipe, and personality. Just in case.

Available as a free ebook here:

http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/bowl-of-light/16453800

Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:

http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ebooks%20index.htm

↑ Index

31. Jeffrey Side

Some poems by me at 9th St. Laboratories

Sun 7 Aug 2011

Some poems by me at 9th St. Laboratories:

http://9thstlab.blogspot.com/2011/08/poetry-by-jeffrey-side.html

↑ Index

32. The Claudius App

"Moi aussi, Marianne," or Moving the Targets, being a crypto-ironic response, etc.

Sun 7 Aug 2011

---

http://theclaudiusapp.com/1-updates-critchley.html

↑ Index

33. Maria Damon
Re: Roy McBride 1943-2011
Mon 8 Aug 2011

Oh what a shame. He was a lovely person.

Steve Clay wrote:
> Poet Roy McBride has died at age 67.
>
> Here are two useful links:
>
> http://minnesota.publicradio.org/collections/special/columns/news_cut/archive/2011/07/death_of_a_poets_poet.shtml
>
> http://www.startribune.com/obituaries/126641858.html
>
>
> Steve Clay
> Granary Books
> 168 Mercer St. #2
> New York, NY 10012
>
> [redacted]
> [redacted] (fax)
> www.granarybooks.com
>
>
>
>

↑ Index

34. Kimmelman, Burt
In the American Tree
Mon 8 Aug 2011

Hi Everyone,

I'm wondering if someone could tell me what page numbers Robert Grenier's essay "Of Speech" is on in In the American Tree (if possible both the 1986 and 2002 editions). I'm embarrassed to say but feel I must by way of explanation that there are so many uncatalogued books in my house that I've lost track of my copy of the book (though I don't own the later edition). If anyone happens to know the page numbers the essay falls on in the 1971 first issue of This and would care to send those too I'd be forever grateful.

Thank you for your help. I'm completing an essay on a short deadline.

Burt

Burt Kimmelman
[redacted]
[redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
BurtKimmelman.com

↑ Index

35. Peter Quartermain

Re: In the American Tree

Mon 8 Aug 2011

Burt:
"On Speech" not "Of Speech": In The American Tree pp. 496-497. This 1 (Winter 1971) is unpaginated -- actually 96 pages not including the cover -- "On Speech" is on pp. [86-87].
P

Peter Quartermain
846 Keefer Street
Vancouver
BC V6A 1Y7
[redacted]

> -----Original Message-----
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [mailto:[redacted]] On > Behalf Of Kimmelman, Burt
> Sent: Monday, August 08, 2011 6:33 AM
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: In the American Tree
>
> Hi Everyone,
>
> I'm wondering if someone could tell me what page numbers Robert Grenier's essay "Of > Speech" is on in In the American Tree (if possible both the 1986 and 2002 editions). I'm > embarrassed to say but feel I must by way of explanation that there are so many > uncatalogued books in my house that I've lost track of my copy of the book (though I don't > own the later edition). If anyone happens to know the page numbers the essay falls on in the > 1971 first issue of This and would care to send those too I'd be forever grateful.

>
> Thank you for your help. I'm completing an essay on a short deadline.
>
> Burt
>
> Burt Kimmelman
> [redacted]
> [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
> BurtKimmelman.com
>

↑ Index

36. Jeffrey Side

Interview with Daniel Kane about the Second-Generation New York School at The Argotist Online

Mon 8 Aug 2011

Interview with Daniel Kane about the Second-Generation New York School at The Argotist Online

http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Kane%20interview.htm

Excerpt:

JS: In All Poets Welcome: The Lower East Side Poetry Scene in the 1960â€™s, you mention Bernadette Mayer as having something of an influence in encouraging a more theoretical approach to poetic writing in her poetry workshops at the Poetry Project, which made possible the advent of Language Poetry. Who do you think were other influential figures in the Second-Generation New York School?

DK: Ted Berrigan certainly was read quite avidly by subsequent avant-gardes, particularly his book The Sonnets. The way that book used the sonnet to foreground the artificiality of form while making that gesture hilarious and moving was, I think, really important to a lot of younger writers who had grown tired of purportedly demotic â€œfree verseâ€ poetry. Anne Waldman I think was pretty crucial in extending the bardic, ecstatic aspects of the Beats into more complicated and avowedly feminist directionsâ€”see her fantastic poems â€˜Makeup on Empty Spaceâ€™ and â€˜Skin, Meat, Bonesâ€™ for example, to get a sense of how Waldman riffed in part off of Ginsbergâ€™s incantatory style while introducing the reader to places, tones, affects and situations Ginsberg himself would never be capable of even imagining. Joe Ceravolo, while not as well known as he should be, showed in his terrific Fits of Dawn how one could be simultaneously radically disjunctive and cuddly. Lewis Warsh has quietly and heroically provided readers with a new way of thinking about the nature and function of autobiographical literature that I suspect has influenced writers like Lyn Hejinian. (I sometimes teach Warshâ€™s Part of My History alongside Hejinianâ€™s My Life, for example). There are others, of course, but these are the ones that come immediately to mind alongside Saint Bernadette.

↑ Index

37. Rob McLennan

above/ground press' end-of-summer sale!

Mon 8 Aug 2011

Celebrating (so far, at least) eighteen glorious years (1993-2011) poetry chapbooks: 3 for $10 / 6 for $20 / 9 for $30 / 12 for $40 (until September 1, 2011)

Given eighteen years of publishing, it means parts of the warehouse are overflowing, so I'm clearing out some backlist in anticipation of forthcoming titles by derek beaulieu, Dennis Cooley, Paige Ackerson-Kiely, Ken Norris, Hugh Thomas, Shannon Maguire and others. Watch www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com for updates.

Some of the titles available include: Robert Kroetsch, Further to Our Conversation (2011), Julia Williams, MY CITY IS ANCIENT AND FAMOUS (2004), Donato Mancini, @phabet (2003), Jessica Smith, Shifting Landscapes (2006), Phil Hall, Verulam (2009), Amanda Earl, The Sad Phoenician's Other Woman (2008), Emily Carr, & look there goes a sparrow transplanting soil (2009), Matthew Holmes, SHORTS, BRIEFS and curlies (2005), Josh Auerbach, in/form/al measures (2002), Marcus McCann, Town in a long day of leaving (2010), Nelson Ball, Scrub Cedar (2003), Artie Gold, THE HOTEL VICTORIA POEMS (2003), Lea Graham, Calendar Girls (2006), Gwendolyn Guth, Good People (2010), rob mclennan, 16 Yonge (2010), Alessandro Porco, Autobiographia Cinematica (2005), K.I. Press, FLAME (2002), rob mclennan, Some Forty (2010), George Bowering as Ellen Field, A, You're Adorable (2nd printing, 2004), Gregory Betts, the curse of canada (2008), Helen Hajnoczky, A history of button collecting (2010), Marilyn Irwin, for when you pick daisies (2010), William Hawkins, the black prince of bank street (2007), rob mclennan and Lea Graham, metric (2010), kath macLean, ten: ways to skin a cat (2003), Shauna McCabe, land over time (2005), Gil McElroy, (The Work of Art) In the Age of Mechanical Reproduction (2005), Ken Norris, SONGS FOR ISABELLA (2000), Douglas Barbour, It's over is it over: Love's Fragmented Narrative (2005), Larry Sawyer, A Chaise Lounge in Hell (2003), D.G. Jones, standard pose (2002), bpNichol, KON 66 & 67 (for jiri valoch (2002) and The Peter F. Yacht Club #15, VerseFest Ottawa special (2011)

Inquire for titles not listed here, at rob_mclennan (at) hotmail (dot) com. In Canada, add $2 for postage; outside, add $4; paypal now available (via rob mclennan's blog), or send cheques c/o rob mclennan, 858 Somerset Street West, main floor, Ottawa Ontario Canada K1R 6R7.

http://aboveground press.blogspot.com/2011/08/aboveground-press-end-of-summer-sale.html

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

38. cris cheek

cris cheek on Thompson's

Tue 9 Aug 2011

fyi .

Chris Goode has put together a very generous post including some archival sound works and more besides:

Begin forwarded message:

> Newly posted at Thompson's Bank of Communicable Desire: a long and protein-rich conversation with cris cheek.
>
> http://bit.ly/crischeek
>
> You won't want to miss this one. Luckily, it isn't going anywhere. Take it in stages. Bring mintcake.
>
> Ch.x

↑ Index

39. Jennifer Karmin

I'll Drown My Book: Conceptual Writing by Women

Tue 9 Aug 2011

hi poetics friends....hope that everyone is enjoying summer.

i'm happy to share that "i'll drown my book: conceptual writing by womenâ€ will be published by les figues press in fall 2011. this anthology contains work by 64 women from 10 countries, including many writers who i deeply admire.

there's a kickstarter pre-release campaign to support this project. until august 24th, supporters can buy a discounted copy of the anthology for $35 (retail $40) with a free proof page, postcard, and postage. the full list of contributors is below.

http://www.kickstarter.com/projects/1359907001/ill-drown-my-book-conceptual-writing-by-women big thanks,

jen karmin

I'LL DROWN MY BOOK: CONCEPTUAL WRITING BY WOMEN
Kathy Acker, Oana Avasilichioaei & Erin Moure, Lee Ann Brown, Angela Carr, Monica de la Torre, Danielle Dutton, Renee Gladman, Jen Hofer, Bernadette Mayer, Sharon Mesmer, Laura Mullen, Harryette Mullen, Deborah Richards, Juliana Spahr, Cecilia Vicuna, Wendy Walker, Jen Bervin, Inger Christiansen, Marcella Durand, Katie Degentesh, Nada Gordon, Jennifer Karmin, Mette Moestrup, Yedda Morrison, Anne Portugal, Joan Retallack, Cia Rinne, Giovanni Singleton, Anne Tardos, Hannah Weiner, Christine Wertheim, Norma Cole, Debra Di Blasi, Stacy Doris & Lisa Robertson, Sarah Dowling, Bhanu Kapil, Rachel Levitsky, Laura Moriarty, Redell Olsen, Chus Pato, Julie Patton, Kristin Prevallet, a.rawlings, Ryoko Seikiguchi, Susan M. Schultz, Rosmarie Waldrop, Renee Angle, Rachel Blau DuPlessis, Theresa Hak Kyung Cha, Tina Darragh, Judith Goldman, Susan Howe, Maryrose Larkin, Tracie Morris, Sawako Nakayasu, M. NourbeSe Philip, Jena Osman, kathryn l. pringle, Frances Richard, Kim Rosenfield, Suzanne Stein, and Rachel Zolf

↑ Index

40. richard owens
CROT | HAX
Tue 9 Aug 2011

---

from Punch Press:

http://damnthecaesars.org/punchpress.html#FrancisCrot

FRANCIS CROT | HAX

London, 2011 â€” Hackney invades the city. In no ways handmade. Trade edition. 160 pages. Cover photo: "Dalston Occupation" (intersection of Dalston Lane and Roseberry Place, Hackney) by Sean Bonney. The structures photographed have since been leveled for the construction of Crossrail Station in advance of the 2012 Olympics.

HAX adjunct HAX

mongrel freehand GOTO w/ beaver-tailed G

::

FRANCISCROT.TUMBLR.COM

US $10 UK $15

.....richard owens
10 Ross Road
Scarborough, ME 04074

damn the caesars, the journal
damn the caesars, the blog

↑ Index

41. Andrew Rippeon
!!FIRE SALE!!
Wed 10 Aug 2011

!!FIRE SALE!!

QUEUE Books is moving! And guess what we found in the attic? A whole box of books we thought we had distributed! All this time, we were sitting on a precious remaining few, when these fellows were languishing in the attic. Well, here's what we're going to do to make it up to them: QUEUE Books is holding a brief but spirited FIRE SALE!

We found copies of:

Mobius Crowns, by Srikanth Reddy and Dan Beachy-Quick

Eyechart Poems, by Geof Huth

Pre-Chewed Tapas, by Lytle Shaw and Jimbo Blachly

These normally retail, respectively, for $8

$10

$10

Crazy, right!? But these books should be in circulation, and we don't want to move even ONE more box (let alone a box of books!).

So, for the remainder of August, these books can be had individually for the discounted rates of:

Mobius Crowns, $6

Eyechart Poems, $7

Pre-Chewed Tapas, $7

But wait, there's more! Any two of these books can be had for the low low rate of $12, and any three for just $18!

To take advantage of this sale, DO NOT purchase through out website—we have a limited number of books, and we don't want the site to allow sales after our stock is gone! Instead, EMAIL us to reserve your copies at: [redacted]. (We'll take care of arranging payment after your copies are set aside.)

Oh—did we mention: these books are HAND-SEWN, and LETTERPRESSED! Covers can be viewed at www.p-queue.org/chapbook-series… Do we need to say, "Get them while you can"? GET THEM WHILE YOU CAN!

Love,

QUEUE Books.

↑ Index

42. Gerald Schwartz
Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
Wed 10 Aug 2011

My pieces "Bring Me the Head of the Semiotic Goethe" and "Duncan: a Seance" both deployed puppets and special illumination effects not unlike those earlier used by Sha Sha Higby.

Cheers,
G. E. Schwartz

> I haven't done any work with puppetry before, but I've been interested from afar for years. Like a lot of readers, Jarry's Ubu plays simultaneously attracted me through their Punch and Judy echoes and opened me to the possibilities of puppetry as theater.
>
> I don't claim to know anything about puppet theater, but I'm always excited to get the chance to see people work with the genre and would like to write something for puppets one day.
>
> Andy
>
> On Fri, Jul 29, 2011 at 8:42 PM, Jesse Glass <[redacted]> wrote:

> Puppetry is moving sculpture. I'm not talking about muppets--mainly rod puppets and marionettes. Has anyone experimented in this area? Would anyone like to? Jess

↑ Index

43. Catherine Daly
Re: In the American Tree
Wed 10 Aug 2011

Did anyone else answer this? "On Speech" is on pps. 496-497 of my 1986 edition.

On Mon, Aug 8, 2011 at 6:33 AM, Kimmelman, Burt <[redacted]> wrote:

> Hi Everyone,
>
> I'm wondering if someone could tell me what page numbers Robert Grenier's essay "Of Speech" is on in In the American Tree (if possible both the 1986 and 2002 editions). I'm embarrassed to say but feel I must by way of explanation that there are so many uncatalogued books in my house that I've lost track of my copy of the book (though I don't own the later edition). If anyone happens to know the page numbers the essay falls on in the 1971 first issue of This and would care to send those too I'd be forever grateful.
>
> Thank you for your help. I'm completing an essay on a short deadline.
>
> Burt
>
> Burt Kimmelman
> [redacted]
> [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
> BurtKimmelman.com

↑ Index

44. David Baratier
Final Call Monday 8/15: Transcontinental Award for 1st or 2nd books of Poetry
Wed 10 Aug 2011

You can submit directly to the website at:
http://www.pavementsaw.org/pages/transaward.htm

Here are the full guides--
-- Pavement Saw Press Transcontinental Award 2011 Submission Guidelines ----

--Starting in 2011 this award will be for first or second full length books--

All contributors receive books, chapbooks and journals equal to, or more than, the entry fee. Please mention this to your friends and all others who might be interested!

Electronic and mailed entries must meet these requirements: 1. The manuscript should be at least 48 pages of poetry and no more than 70 pages of poetry in length. Separations between sections are NOT a part of the page count. 2. A one page cover letter. Include a brief biography, the book's title, your name, address, and telephone number, and, if you have e-mail, your e-mail address. This should be followed by a page which lists publication acknowledgments for the book. For each acknowledgement mention the publisher (journal, anthology, chapbook etc.) and the poem published. 3. The manuscript should be bound with a single clip and begin with a title page including the book's title, your name, address, and telephone number, and, if you have e-mail, your e-mail address. 4. The second page should have only the title of the manuscript. There are to be no acknowledgments or mention of the author's name from this page forward. Submissions to the contest are blind judged. 5. There should be no more than one poem on each page. The manuscript can contain pieces longer than one page. 6. The manuscript should be paginated, beginning with the first page of poetry.

Each year Pavement Saw Press will publish at least one book of poetry and/or prose poems from manuscripts received during this competition. Selections are chosen through a blind judging process. The competition is open to anyone who has not previously published one, or more than one, volume of poetry or prose poetry. The author receives $1000 and five percent of the 1000 copy press run. Previous judges have included Judith Vollmer, David Bromige, Bin Ramke and Howard McCord. This year David Baratier will be the judge; past students, Pavement Saw Press interns and employees are not allowed to submit. All poems must be original, all prose must be original, fiction or translations are not acceptable. All writers without a full length book or those who have published only one full length book are eligible. Writers who have had a second volume of poetry and/or prose poetry under 40 pages printed or printed in limited editions of no more than 500 copies are also eligible. Submissions are accepted during the months of June, July, and until August 15th. All submissions must have a Monday, August 15th, 2011, or earlier, postmark. This is an award for first or second books only.

If you wish to send via regular mail your manuscript should be accompanied by a check in the amount of $20.00 made payable to Pavement Saw Press. All US

contributors to the contest will receive books, chapbooks and journals equal to, or more than, the entry fee. Add $3 (US) for other countries to cover the extra postal charge. Do not include an SASE for notification of results, this information will be sent with the free book. Do not send the only copy of your work. All manuscripts are recycled and individual comments on the manuscripts cannot be made. Entry Fee: $20 for mailed US and Canadian entries, $23 for mailed overseas entries, $27 to submit electronically (all entries, world wide).

If you wish to submit electronically, you should send $27.00 via paypal to [redacted]. We will then send you an e-mail confirmation as well as where to e-mail the manuscript. Electronic submissions need to be sent as PDF files or as word (.doc) files. Other formats are not accepted. The extra cost is to cover the paypal fees as well as the time, labor, ink, and so on, to print out your manuscript. In addition to the prize winner, sometimes another anonymous manuscript is chosen, if enough entries arrive. This â€œeditors choiceâ€ manuscript will be published under a standard royalty contract. A decision will be reached in December or January. Entries should be sent to:

Entries should be sent to:

Pavement Saw Press
Transcontinental Award Entry
321 Empire Street
Montpelier, OH 43543

All submissions must have an August 15th, 2011, or earlier, postmark. Submissions are accepted during the months of June, July, and August only. If you have questions, please ask us: info(at)pavementsaw.org

Previous Winners

Troy Bigelow: Resuscitivity
Shannon Hamann: Death Doubledactyl
Stan Mir: The Lacustrine Suite
Justin Vicari: The Professional Weepers
Jason Irwin: Watering the Dead
Rachel M. Simon: Theory of Orange
Kaya Oakes: Telegraph
Steve Davenport: Uncontainable Noise
Garin Cycholl: Blue Mound to 161
Rodney Koeneke: Rouge State
Christopher Arigo: Lit interim
Sophia Starnes: A commerce of Moments
Daniel Zimmerman: Post Avant
Jeffrey Levine: Mortal, Everlasting
Dana Curtis: The Body's Response to Famine

Be well

David Baratier, Editor

Pavement Saw Press
321 Empire Street
Montpelier OH 43543
http://pavementsaw.org

Subscribe to our e-mail listserv at http://pavementsaw.org/list/?p=subscribe&id=1

Facebook Page
http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=25857379734&ref=ts

↑ Index

45. Rob McLennan

new(ish) on rob's clever blog

Wed 10 Aug 2011

-- above/ground press' end-of-summer sale!
-- A short interview with Michael Blouin at Open Book Toronto
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Rachel Moritz on WinteRed
-- DANDELION 37.1: The Mapping Issue, guest-eds. Oana Avasilichioaei and Kathleen Brown
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Adam Sol
-- fwd: Priscila Uppal's Roger's Cup Tennis Poetry Details
-- rob mclennan, Christine McNair + Jill Battson read in Perth ON
-- Mont Gabriel, Quebec, just by the pool;
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Maxine Chernoff and Paul Hoover on New American Writing
-- CALL AND RESPONSE Poetic responses to photographs in the Red Room Gallery
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Gail Scott
-- Another weekend in Old Glengarry;
-- Aufgabe 10
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Rupert Loydell on Smallminded Books
-- A new printed broadsheet by Someone, rob mclennan and Nathaniel G. Moore
-- The Poker: an appreciation,
-- fwd; Salmon 30th Anniversary Fundraising Raffle
-- Ongoing notes: late July, 2011
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Angie Abdou
-- headlight anthology 14
-- two "lake" poems now posted online at Apparent Magazine
-- Juliana Leslie, More Radiant Signal

-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Brian Teare on Albion Books
-- fwd; Ottawa's own Arc Poetry Magazine presents QuArc
-- New American Writing 29
-- Robert Kroetsch memorial: a note,
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Deborah Poe
-- (another) very short story;
-- 12 or 20 questions (second series) with Sandra Nicholls
-- Ongoing notes: mid-July, 2011
-- A manifesto on the poetics of Asphodel Twp.
-- Wayde Compton, After Canaan: Essays on Race, Writing and Region
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Hailey Hidgon
-- The Factory Reading Series: A reading/talk with Janice Williamson
-- Some notes on Sachiko Murakami's Project Rebuild
-- 12 or 20 (second series) questions: with Miriam Toews
-- Diane Woodward: Fancy Art
-- the end of history: Ridgemont Avenue,
-- The Shining Material, Aisha Sasha John
-- 12 or 20 (small press) questions: Amanda Ackerman and Harold Abramowitz on eohippus labs
-- four new poems now on-line at Stride magazine (UK)
-- rob's new editing service: poetry manuscript reading, editing, evaluation

www.robmclennan.blogspot.com

now with a paypal donate/support button!

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

46. David Baratier

Final Call Monday 8/15: Transcontinental Award for 1st or 2nd books of Poetry

Fri 12 Aug 2011

Sorry, the last post came through on digest as a pile of letters, here's a resend

---
You can submit directly to the website at:
http://www.pavementsaw.org/pages/transaward.htm

Here are the full guides--
-- Pavement Saw Press Transcontinental Award 2011 Submission Guidelines ----

--Starting in 2011 this award will be for first or second full length books--

All contributors receive books, chapbooks and journals equal to, or more than, the entry fee. Please mention this to your friends and all others who might be interested!

Electronic and mailed entries must meet these requirements: 1. The manuscript should be at least 48 pages of poetry and no more than 70 pages of poetry in length. Separations between sections are NOT a part of the page count. 2. A one page cover letter. Include a brief biography, the book's title, your name, address, and telephone number, and, if you have e-mail, your e-mail address. This should be followed by a page which lists publication acknowledgments for the book. For each acknowledgement mention the publisher (journal, anthology, chapbook etc.) and the poem published. 3. The manuscript should be bound with a single clip and begin with a title page including the book's title, your name, address, and telephone number, and, if you have e-mail, your e-mail address. 4. The second page should have only the title of the manuscript. There are to be no acknowledgments or mention of the author's name from this page forward. Submissions to the contest are blind judged. 5. There should be no more than one poem on each page. The manuscript can contain pieces longer than one page. 6. The manuscript should be paginated, beginning with the first page of poetry.

Each year Pavement Saw Press will publish at least one book of poetry and/or prose poems from manuscripts received during this competition. Selections are chosen through a blind judging process. The competition is open to anyone who has not previously published one, or more than one, volume of poetry or prose poetry. The author receives $1000 and five percent of the 1000 copy press run. Previous judges have included Judith Vollmer, David Bromige, Bin Ramke and Howard McCord. This year David Baratier will be the judge; past students, Pavement Saw Press interns and employees are not allowed to submit. All poems must be original, all prose must be original, fiction or translations are not acceptable. All writers without a full length book or those who have published only one full length book are eligible. Writers who have had a second volume of poetry and/or prose poetry under 40 pages printed or printed in limited editions of no more than 500 copies are also eligible. Submissions are accepted during the months of June, July, and until August 15th. All submissions must have a Monday, August 15th, 2011, or earlier, postmark. This is an award for first or second books only.

If you wish to send via regular mail your manuscript should be accompanied by a check in the amount of $20.00 made payable to Pavement Saw Press. All US contributors to the contest will receive books, chapbooks and journals equal to, or more than, the entry fee. Add $3 (US) for other countries to cover the extra postal charge. Do not include an SASE for notification of results, this information will be sent with the free book. Do not send the only copy of your work. All manuscripts are recycled and individual comments on the manuscripts cannot be made. Entry Fee: $20 for mailed US and Canadian entries, $23 for mailed overseas entries, $27 to submit electronically (all entries, world wide).

If you wish to submit electronically, you should send $27.00 via paypal to [redacted]. We will then send you an e-mail confirmation as well as where to e-mail the manuscript. Electronic submissions need to be sent as PDF files or as word (.doc) files. Other formats are not accepted. The extra cost is to cover the paypal fees as well as the time, labor, ink, and so on, to print out your manuscript. In addition to the prize winner, sometimes another anonymous manuscript is chosen, if enough entries arrive. This â€œeditors choiceâ€ manuscript will be published under a standard royalty contract. A decision will be reached in December or January. Entries should be sent to:

Entries should be sent to:

Pavement Saw Press
Transcontinental Award Entry
321 Empire Street
Montpelier, OH 43543

All submissions must have an August 15th, 2011, or earlier, postmark. Submissions are accepted during the months of June, July, and August only. If you have questions, please ask us: info(at)pavementsaw.org

Previous Winners

Troy Bigelow: Resuscitivity
Shannon Hamann: Death Doubledactyl
Stan Mir: The Lacustrine Suite
Justin Vicari: The Professional Weepers
Jason Irwin: Watering the Dead
Rachel M. Simon: Theory of Orange
Kaya Oakes: Telegraph
Steve Davenport: Uncontainable Noise
Garin Cycholl: Blue Mound to 161
Rodney Koeneke: Rouge State
Christopher Arigo: Lit interim
Sophia Starnes: A commerce of Moments
Daniel Zimmerman: Post Avant
Jeffrey Levine: Mortal, Everlasting
Dana Curtis: The Body's Response to Famine

Be well

David Baratier, Editor

Pavement Saw Press
321 Empire Street
Montpelier OH 43543
http://pavementsaw.org

Subscribe to our e-mail listserv at http://pavementsaw.org/list/?p=subscribe&id=1

Facebook Page
http://www.facebook.com/group.php?gid=25857379734&ref=ts

↑ Index

47. Adam Fieled

Trish/ American Deadness on Issuu

Fri 12 Aug 2011

Hello,

I have two books that have now been placed on Issuu:

"American Deadness" is a portrait of Depression-era America, as revealed in the psyches of the inhabitants, from Ohio to Colorado to Kentucky to Los Angeles:

http://www.issuu.com/afieled/docs/americandeadness

"Trish" is the story of one relationship between artists as it evolved in the Aughts in Philly, from romance to consummation to final betrayal:

http://www.issuu.com/afieled/docs/trish

I hope you enjoy these.
Best,
Adam Fieled [redacted]

↑ Index

48. Jonathan Morse

Wallace Stevens, astronomer, prefers the fiction of darkness to the mere fact of moonlight

Sat 13 Aug 2011

The datum of August 12 is at http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/2011/08/wallace-stevens-writes-in-opposition-to-the-moon <http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/2011/08/wallace-stevens-writes-in-opposition-to-the-moon/>

The text is "Men Made Out of Words":

What should we be without the sexual myth,
The human revery or poem of death?

Castratos of moon-mash -- Life consists Of propositions about life. The human

Revery is a solitude in which
We compose these propositions, torn by dreams,

By the terrible incantations of defeats
And by the fear that defeats and dreams are one.

The whole race is a poet that writes down
The eccentric propositions of its fate.

Jon

↑ Index

49. Dan Wilcox
Third Thursday Poetry Night, Aug. 18: Naton Leslie
Sat 13 Aug 2011

---

the Poetry Motel Foundation
presents

Third Thursday Poetry Night

at
the Social Justice Center
33 Central Ave., Albany, NY

August 18, 2011
7:00 sign up; 7:30 start

Featured Poet: Naton Leslie

-- with an open mic for community poets before & after the feature: $3.00 donation, suggested; more if you got it, less if you can't.

Your Summertime host: Dan Wilcox.

* * * * * * * *

Nate Leslie teaches writing and literature at Siena College, in Loudonville, and is the recipient of fellowships from the National Endowment for the Arts and the New York Foundation for the Arts.

His new book, Small Cathedrals (Wordtech Press, 2011) is a collection blank verse sonnets on the theme of mothers and children as it is expressed in art, literature, religion, and has been a powerful factor in the lives of people he has known. Each poem attempts to surround the subject, cubist style, looking at this crucial relationship with wit, seriousness, and introspection.

His seventh book of poetry, Small Cathedrals is the third book of poetry in which Leslie has chosen unifying concerns or themes. Previous books have used the voice of his grandmother in letters and scrapbook entries, and have found inspiration in a legal book from the 18th century.
--
You received this message because you are subscribed to the Google
Groups "Poetry Motel Foundation" group.
To unsubscribe from this group, send email to
For more options, visit this group at http://groups.google.com/group/poetry-motel-foundation?hl=en

↑ Index

50. Jim Andrews
Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
Sun 14 Aug 2011

Sounds very interesting. Is there an online video of these pieces?

ja?

> My pieces "Bring Me the Head of the Semiotic Goethe" and "Duncan: a Seance" both deployed puppets and special illumination effects not unlike those earlier used by Sha Sha Higby.
>
> Cheers,
> G. E. Schwartz

↑ Index

51. Lisa Ampleman
Call for Papers on Italian Medievalisms in Contemporary Poetry
Sun 14 Aug 2011

47th Annual International Congress on Medieval Studies
May 10-13, 2012
Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.
Â
Italian Medievalisms in Contemporary Poetry
Â
Contemporary poets are among those who have recently published translations of Italian medieval works; they also translate single poems and allude to the Italian greats in their own poems. Some notable examples include David Youngâ€™s Canzoniere, Robert Pinskyâ€™s Inferno, and W. S.

Merwinâ€™s Purgatorio. This session will address the reception of Italian medieval texts in contemporary poetry. We welcome papers on poets who are in conversation with Italian medieval writers, whether through translation or allusion. What elements of the work of Dante, Petrarch, Cavalcanti, and Boccaccio, among others, still resonate for today's poets, and what does this explicit evidence of influence tell us about the reception of medieval texts?
Â
Please submit an abstract of no more than 300 words and the Participation Information Form
(http://www.wmich.edu/medieval/congress/submissions/index.html#PIF) to the organizers at [redacted].Â Include â€œItalian Medievalism in Contemporary Poetryâ€ in the subject line.
Â
Deadline: September 15.Â Early proposals encouraged.Â Any abstracts not accepted will be forwarded to the Congress for consideration in general sessions.

↑ Index

52. Ruth Lepson

Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation

Sun 14 Aug 2011

---

you know there's a marionette movie of Goethe's Faust?

On 8/14/11 4:57 PM, "Jim Andrews" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Sounds very interesting. Is there an online video of these pieces?
>
> ja?
>
> My pieces "Bring Me the Head of the Semiotic Goethe" and "Duncan: a Seance" both deployed puppets and special illumination effects not unlike those earlier used by Sha Sha Higby.
>
> Cheers,
> G. E. Schwartz

↑ Index

53. Kevin Killian
About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
Mon 15 Aug 2011

Hello Poetics List,

Do any of you know the address where Elizabeth Bishop lived in San Francisco in the 1960s? I'd like to go there and photograph the building, if it's still extant. But where is it?

Thanks for your consideration.

Kevin Killian

↑ Index

54. Gerald Schwartz
Spicer
Mon 15 Aug 2011

During Friday night's Sonic Youth show in Williamsburg Thurston Moore name-checked "Jack Spicer".

G. E. Schwartz

↑ Index

55. Gerald Schwartz
Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
Mon 15 Aug 2011

Not as yet, as they were both performed live: Bring Me The Head of the Semiotic Goethe" @ the Avant garde Poetry fest, August 2010, Ohio State, and "Duncan: a Seance" @ the Black Mountain convocation, RPI, October 2010.

Am currently preparing both for a "studio" recording. And will announce the finsihed results here.

g.e.
> Sounds very interesting. Is there an online video of these pieces?
>
> ja?
>
>
> > My pieces "Bring Me the Head of the Semiotic Goethe" and "Duncan: a > > Seance" both deployed puppets and special illumination effects not unlike > > those earlier used by Sha Sha Higby.
> >

> > Cheers,
> > G. E. Schwartz
>

↑ Index

56. Simone Blaser
Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
Mon 15 Aug 2011

In 2008 the ICA in Philly put on "The Puppet Show" - here's the link for reference: http://www.icaphila.org/exhibitions/puppetshow.php

On Aug 14, 2011 11:06 PM, "Jim Andrews" <[redacted]> wrote:
> Sounds very interesting. Is there an online video of these pieces?
>
> ja?
>
>
>> My pieces "Bring Me the Head of the Semiotic Goethe" and "Duncan: a >> Seance" both deployed puppets and special illumination effects not unlike

> those earlier used by Sha Sha Higby.
>
> Cheers,
> G. E. Schwartz

↑ Index

57. Randolph Healy
two new chapbooks from Wild Honey Press
Mon 15 Aug 2011

It is my pleasure to announce the publication of chapbooks by two poets I admire.

The titles are:

origins of process by James Cummins

and

Collected Letters by Peter Hughes

More information available at www.wildhoneypress.com

apologies for cross-posting

Randolph

↑ Index

58. steve dalachinsky
Re: Spicer
Mon 15 Aug 2011

---

yes he loves to do stuff like that he did that after someone tossed a ukelele on stage and when renaldo picked it up he pretended to try to plug it into the amp and said NO JACK at which point thurston chimed in from the oother end of the stage how a bout a little jack spicer or something to that effect purely improv thing

On Mon, 15 Aug 2011 08:30:24 -0400 Gerald Schwartz
<[redacted]> writes:
> During Friday night's Sonic Youth show in Williamsburg Thurston Moore > name-checked "Jack Spicer".
>
> G. E. Schwartz
>
>
>

↑ Index

59. Jennifer Karmin
Red Rover Series / fall 2011
Mon 15 Aug 2011

RED ROVER SERIES
{readings that play with reading}

FALL 2011
Chicago, IL

Experiment #49: AUGUST 26TH
Full-Body Poetics
Geof Huth & Steve Roggenbuck

Experiment #50: SEPTEMBER 24TH
Bad Date America - 100 Thousand Poets for Change
Dan Godston, Laura Goldstein, Philip Jenks,
Jennifer Karmin, Francesco Levato, Anthony Madrid,
Charlie Newman, Larry Sawyer, Don Share, Tony Trigilio,
Lina Ramona Vitkauskas & more TBA

Experiment #51: OCTOBER 1ST
Encyclopedia Volume 2 (F-K)

Tisa Bryant, Gabrielle Civil,
Carina Farrero, Krista Franklin & John Keene

Experiment #52: NOVEMBER 6TH
Small Press Publishing Forum
Charles Alexander, Patrick Durgin & Susan M. Schultz

at OUTER SPACE STUDIO
1474 N. Milwaukee Ave -- Chicago, IL near the CTA Damen blue line
suggested donation $4

RED ROVER SERIES is curated by Laura Goldstein and Jennifer Karmin. Each event is designed as a reading experiment with participation by local, national, and international writers, artists, and performers. The series was founded in 2005 by Amina Cain and Jennifer Karmin.

Email ideas for reading experiments
to us at [redacted]

The schedule for events is listed at
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

WOW WOW WOW
Red Rover Series
on facebook? why not?

↑ Index

60. Ruth Lepson

Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....

Mon 15 Aug 2011

I dunno but she lived across the street from the Am Rep Theater in Camb when she taught at Harvard--are you photographing that as well?

all best,

ruth lepson

On 8/15/11 12:12 AM, "Kevin Killian" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Hello Poetics List,
>
> Do any of you know the address where Elizabeth Bishop lived in San Francisco in the 1960s? I'd like to go there and photograph the building, if it's still extant. But where is it?
>
> Thanks for your consideration.

> Kevin Killian

↑ Index

61. Hugh Nicoll
Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
Mon 15 Aug 2011

Greetings from Miyazaki,

In my copy of One Art: The Selected Letters, the San Francisco address, when given, is 1559 Pacific Avenue. In a letter dated 4 January 1968, Bishop writes that she "found a rather nice 'flat' (as they call the two-floor, old house -- this is the top floor)." In the following paragraph, she notes that it "has our bedrooms, 2 fireplaces, even a backyard -- ..." (p 487)

A quick Google Maps search reveals a pale lapis painted house with the addresses 1557, 1559, and 1561.Good luck with the photography project.

Hugh

On Mon, Aug 15, 2011 at 1:12 PM, Kevin Killian <[redacted]>wrote:

> Hello Poetics List,
>
> Do any of you know the address where Elizabeth Bishop lived in San Francisco in the 1960s? I'd like to go there and photograph the building, if it's still extant. But where is it?
>
> Thanks for your consideration.
>
> Kevin Killian

--
Hugh Nicoll <http://hughnicoll.org/blog/>
JALT LD-SIG Coordinator <http://ld-sig.org/>

↑ Index

62. Kimmelman, Burt
Re: In the American Tree
Mon 15 Aug 2011

Peter and Everyone,

You have my profound thanks for rallying to my aid in my time of need. I hope to be able return the favor sometime.

Best wishes and, again, my thanks,

Burt

Date: Mon, 8 Aug 2011 10:58:44 -0700
From: Peter Quartermain <[redacted]>
Subject: Re: In the American Tree

Burt:
"On Speech" not "Of Speech": In The American Tree pp. 496-497. This 1 (Winter 1971) is unpaginated -- actually 96 pages not including the cover -- "On Speech" is on pp. [86-87].
P

Peter Quartermain
846 Keefer Street
Vancouver
BC V6A 1Y7
[redacted]

> -----Original Message-----
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [mailto:[redacted]]
> On Behalf Of Kimmelman, Burt
> Sent: Monday, August 08, 2011 6:33 AM
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: In the American Tree
>
> Hi Everyone,
>
> I'm wondering if someone could tell me what page numbers Robert > Grenier's essay "Of > Speech" is on in In the American Tree (if possible both the 1986 and > 2002 editions). I'm > embarrassed to say but feel I must by way of explanation that there > are so many > uncatalogued books in my house that I've lost track of my copy of the > book
(though I don't > own the later edition). If anyone happens to know the page numbers the essay falls on in the > 1971 first issue of This and would care to send those too I'd be > forever grateful.

>
> Thank you for your help. I'm completing an essay on a short deadline.
>
> Burt
>
> Burt Kimmelman
> [redacted]
> [redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
> BurtKimmelman.com
>

↑ Index

63. kiviok kiviok

Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....

Mon 15 Aug 2011

According to one of her biographers, Brett C. Miller, she staye Kevin,

According to one of her biographers, Brett C. Miller, she stayed in SF from 1968-70. He titles this chapter of her story as "A Totally Wasted Stretch," which is partially a pun on the drug culture she was not prepared to witness: "Elizabeth was alternately fascinated and horrified by what the culture did to language and to the rules of good conduct as she had known them all her life."

Best,
Tony Leuzzi

From: Kevin Killian <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Monday, August 15, 2011 12:12 AM
Subject: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....

Hello Poetics List,

Do any of you know the address where Elizabeth Bishop lived in San Francisco in the 1960s? I'd like to go there and photograph the building, if it's still extant. But where is it?

Thanks for your consideration.

Kevin Killian

↑ Index

64. Paul Siegell
Paul Siegell's upcoming readings
Mon 15 Aug 2011

---

hello friends,

perhaps you could make it to one of these?

Wed, Aug 17, 2011
New York, NY
The Gallery at (le) Poisson Rouge
InDigest's Issue 21 Launch Party @ The Gallery at (le) Poisson Rouge
https://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=144091635669621

Thurs, Aug 25, 2011
Philadelphia, PA
Robin's Bookstore, Moonstone Arts Center
Artists Against Censorship Performance
https://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=220932004612114

Fri, Aug 26, 2011
Brooklyn, NY
Goodbye Blue Monday
Stain of Poetry
https://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=215782335137053

Sun, Sep 18, 2011
Philadelphia, PA
Slingluff Gallery
Moveable Beats Reading Series at the Slingluff Gallery hope to see you somewhere soon,

paul>
http://paulsiegell.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

65. Mark Weiss
Re: Spicer
Mon 15 Aug 2011

Translate, please?

-----Original Message-----
>From: Gerald Schwartz <[redacted]>
>Sent: Aug 15, 2011 8:30 AM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Spicer

>
>During Friday night's Sonic Youth show in Williamsburg Thurston Moore name-checked "Jack Spicer".
>
>G. E. Schwartz
>

↑ Index

66. Gerald Schwartz

Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation

Mon 15 Aug 2011

Yes, I saw it some time ago. In my piece, I used both the generally accepted illustration of Goethe, then "marblizing" it to make him look stone-like. Another puppet was the use of his death-mask. And, since most of the piece tranliteralized the part of Faust about the role of engineers and marsh/flood control, I worked in a pelican puppet, which was reversible: one side she fed her young with blood, the other side she fed her young with Bp Oil. It was performed in August of last year.

g. e. schwartz
---- Ruth Lepson <[redacted]> wrote:
> you know there's a marionette movie of Goethe's Faust?
>
>
> On 8/14/11 4:57 PM, "Jim Andrews" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> > Sounds very interesting. Is there an online video of these pieces?
> >
> > ja?
> >
> >
> >> My pieces "Bring Me the Head of the Semiotic Goethe" and "Duncan: a > >> Seance" both deployed puppets and special illumination effects not unlike > >> those earlier used by Sha Sha Higby.
> >>
> >> Cheers,
> >> G. E. Schwartz
> >
>

↑ Index

67. Richard Flynn
Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
Mon 15 Aug 2011

1559 Pacific Avenue (Millier's bio. P.398)

> -----Original Message-----
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [mailto:[redacted]] On > Behalf Of Ruth Lepson
> Sent: Monday, August 15, 2011 1:27 PM
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
>
> I dunno but she lived across the street from the Am Rep Theater in Camb
> when
> she taught at Harvard--are you photographing that as well?
>
> all best,
>
> ruth lepson
>
> On 8/15/11 12:12 AM, "Kevin Killian" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Hello Poetics List,
>
> Do any of you know the address where Elizabeth Bishop lived in San > Francisco
> in the 1960s? I'd like to go there and photograph the building, if > it's still > extant. But where is it?
>
> Thanks for your consideration.
>
> Kevin Killian
> guidelines &

↑ Index

68. Kimmelman, Burt
Kimmelman Interview at Tribes, Wednesday 8:30 PM (ET)
Mon 15 Aug 2011

Got nothin' to do this Wednesday evening?

If not, then check out the video of a conversation I had with George Spencer at the historic Tribes on the Lower East Side (www.tribes.org<http://www.tribes.org/>).

The interview is being broadcast on Poetry Thin Air (at 8:30 PM, New York City time), a TV show on Manhattan cable - but if you're not in Manhattan you can catch it streamed on the Web. Details for access are below.

(This is the first of two half-hour segments of our talk along with some readings of poems, the second part to be broadcast at a date still to be set. Both parts eventually will be available on YouTube, and I hope to have them streaming at my wesbite, BurtKimmelman.com.)

Best wishes,

Burt

Okay here are the access details:

_____
From: george spencer [mailto:[redacted]]
Sent: Monday, August 15, 2011 7:23 PM
To: george spencer
Subject: [redacted]:30 PoetryThinAir ... Burt Kimmelman

[redacted]:30 PoetryThinAir ... Burt Kimmelman
[redacted]:30 PoetryThinAir ... George Spencer talking with Burt Kimmelman Direction and Video by Mitch Corber.

..... This show, George Spencer talking with Burt Kimmelman, is available at http://www.vimeo.com/27710442 We are uploading other shows to YouTube so you can watch them at your convenience at http://www.youtube.com/results?search_query=poetry+thin+air+spencer&aq=f

The show airs every Wednesday night at 8:30 pm on Channel 67 (MNN/Manhattan Neighborhood Network) Note: if you live outside Manhattan or can't get MNN Ch 67, you can still watch the live internet stream of the show by following instructions below.

INTERNET STREAM.....
1. Click on www.mnn.org<http://www.mnn.org/>
2. Viewing the right column of MNN webpage, go to "MNN4 Culture"
3. Click "Watch MNN4 Live"
4. Click small icon to watch full screen on your computer during live broadcast.

(You can only watch the streaming video in real time, i.e. at 8:30pm Wednesday night)

↑ Index

69. Catherine Daly
Re: Poetry and Puppetry--an invitation
Mon 15 Aug 2011

---

brilliant -- I have a new to me marionette theatre -- willing to support projects and sleepovers (although we;re about to lose our giant house -- expect to keep the theatre....

also we have Avid!

XO
C

↑ Index

70. Dan Wilcox
A.P.D. Publishes "Poeming the Prompt" by Dan Wilcox
Tue 16 Aug 2011

A.P.D. (Another Poeming Day) has published a new collection of poems by Dan Wilcox, "Poeming the Prompt." The 16-page chapbook contains a selection of poems written to prompts during a "Poem-a-day" experiment, & includes "Top Tips for Anxiety-Free Writing from Prompts." "Poeming the Prompt" is #10 in the Bob Kaufman series of A.P.D.'s (Also Publishes Dirt) inexpensive poetry chapbooks.

For information on ordering your copy email [redacted].

↑ Index

71. Séamas Cain
Justin Katko's Report
Tue 16 Aug 2011

_____

Justin Katko's Report on the SoundEye Festival of 2011 ...

http://sadpress.wordpress.com/2011/07/25/soundeye-2011-justin-katko/

Niamh O'Mahony's Report on the SoundEye Festival of 2011 ...

http://soundeye.wordpress.com/2011/08/04/report-on-2011-festival-by-niamh-omahony/

"if the eye be sound the fish is sweet ..."

_____

↑ Index

72. Séamas Cain

A twist of the pepper

Tue 16 Aug 2011

Do turn out if you can!

Saturday 20th August 2011 :

Wurm Press poets at the Twisted Pepper in Dublin, Ireland ...

Normally Wurm heads off for a turn on the prom at Biarritz or Clontarf in August, but this month we've been prevailed upon by our chums at Seven Towers to visit their country pile in Middle Abbey Street, presenting ...

Poetry from Wurm Press :

Christodoulos Makris,

Cah-44, and Karl Parkinson

Saturday 20th August 2011

3:00 p.m., The Box (downstairs)

The Twisted Pepper,

Middle Abbey Street,

Dublin 1, Ireland

free admission

Christodoulos Makris

"My tongue is splintered into signs half of me hardly knows."

— from 'Nicosia Journal'

"I was knocked out by the skill of this writer"

— Nuala Ní Chonchúir

Christodoulos Makris was born in Nicosia. He studied in Manchester and has lived in London and Dublin. He is currently based in north County Dublin and works for the public library service of Fingal County Council. He is the author of the Wurm Press chapbook "Round the Clock" (2009) and was Dublin regional editor for SUCCOUR magazine. His first collection "Spitting Out the Mother Tongue" (Wurm Press) is now available for preorder, and will be published in September.

Cah-44 ...

"An American Serge Gainsbourg"

- Casey Scott.

In an 18-year career as an actor/writer/performance poet, CAH-44 has appeared in numerous plays, several films, and 1 ballet. His Spoken Word(s) have been heard in 49 US states and 13 countries. He has been found spitting in mics everywhere from a Laundromat in Ohio to a sports stadium in Alaska to a Spiegeltent in Stockholm. He has appeared at the South by Southwest music conference in Austin, Texas (twice), the inaugural Insomnia Performance Lockdown in Atlanta, Georgia, and the Electric Picnic in Stradbally, County Laois. With fellow expatriate Raven he hosts Tongue Box, a monthly spoken word showcase based at the Cobblestone pub in Smithfield. His work has been seen in print in such places as : The Rocky Mountain Times, Rain City Review, Ace Magazine, and AMP. He was once served an aubergine casserole by Karen Finley. He had seconds.

Cah-44's chapbook, "still beat / still beat," is published by Wurm Press.

Karl Parkinson ...

"... a beat poet who almost defies description; part Allen Ginsberg, part Snoop Dogg"

- Evening Herald

Well-known to regulars of Seven Towers events, Karl's chapbook "A Sacrament of Song" was the first of the Wurm Press mimeorevolution chapbook series. He's now working on a first collection for Wurm Press.

To purchase any of the mimeorevolution chapbooks, go to ...

http://wurmimapfel.net/wurmpress?start=1

For additional information, write to Wurm im Apfel at ...

[redacted]

http://wurmimapfel.net/

↑ Index

73. Nicholas Leaskou
Poet As Radio: Brian Teare on 8/20
Tue 16 Aug 2011

POET AS RADIO is a weekly program on KUSF In Exile and features interviews with Bay Area writers, readings, lectures, and announcements about Bay Area poetry events. The show airs Saturdays from 9am to 10am at http://www.savekusf.org. For more info, please visit: http://poetasradio.blogspot.com/.
Â
This Saturday, August 20, we begin a two-part interview and reading with Brian Teare, whoâ€™ll discuss his recent collection Pleasure (Ahsahta Press).
Â
Archived shows feature interviews with Sarah Rosenthal, Sara Larsen, Chris Stroffolino, Ariel Goldberg, David Meltzer, and Laura Goode. Coming soon: Erin Morrill! To listen now, go to: http://poetasradio.blogspot.com/p/quick-links-to-show-archives.html.
Â
To contact us about show ideas or upcoming events, please email us at [redacted].
Â
Thanks!
Delia Tramontina
Jay Thomas
Nicholas Leaskou

↑ Index

74. Jeffrey Lee
Re: Spicer
Tue 16 Aug 2011

Besides being a god, T. Moore is also a book collector, especially or poetry mags and chapbooks from the great mimeo days - I've had a couple of orders from him over the years. Didn't he also have a store in Northampton at some point?

----- Original Message -----
From: "steve dalachinsky" <[redacted]>
To: <[redacted]>

Sent: Monday, August 15, 2011 9:50 AM
Subject: Re: Spicer

> yes he loves to do stuff like that > he did that after someone tossed a ukelele on stage and when renaldo picked it up he > pretended to try to plug it into the amp and said NO JACK
> at which point thurston chimed in from the oother end of the stage
> how a bout a little jack spicer or something to that effect purely improv thing
>
> On Mon, 15 Aug 2011 08:30:24 -0400 Gerald Schwartz
> <[redacted]> writes:
> During Friday night's Sonic Youth show in Williamsburg Thurston Moore name-checked "Jack Spicer".
>
> G. E. Schwartz

↑ Index

75. kiviok kiviok

Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....

Tue 16 Aug 2011

_
Thanks, Richard. I meant to include that in my note yesterday!

_____
From: Richard Flynn <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Monday, August 15, 2011 5:41 PM
Subject: Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....

1559 Pacific Avenue (Millier's bio. P.398)

> -----Original Message-----
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [mailto:[redacted]] On Behalf Of Ruth Lepson
> Sent: Monday, August 15, 2011 1:27 PM
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: About Elizabeth Bishop, does anyone know....
>
> I dunno but she lived across the street from the Am Rep Theater in Camb

> when
> she taught at Harvard--are you photographing that as well?
>
> all best,
>
> ruth lepson
>
> On 8/15/11 12:12 AM, "Kevin Killian" <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Hello Poetics List,
>
> Do any of you know the address where Elizabeth Bishop lived in San Francisco > in the 1960s? I'd like to go there and photograph the building, if it's still > extant. But where is it?
>
> Thanks for your consideration.
>
> Kevin Killian
> guidelines &

↑ Index

76. amy king

OT: Next Thursday - Feminist Poets meet The Feminist Press!

Wed 17 Aug 2011

The Feminist Press Summer Wrap Up Party
Hudson Terrace
621 West 46th Street between 11th & 12th Avenues
New York, NY
Thursday, August 25 · 5:30pm - 7:30pm
- Hosted by: The Feminist Press Young Patron's Steering Committee
- Enjoy 2 for 1 drinks until 7pm!
- Meet and Greet Other Young Activists
- Pick up some Feminist Press books
- Learn More About The Feminist Press!

Facebook Invite -- https://www.facebook.com/event.php?eid=186452588088690

****
Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

77. Jessica Wickens

10th Anniversary Issue of Monday Night - in print and online!

Wed 17 Aug 2011

Announcing a special 10th anniversary two-volume issue of Monday Night<http://www.mondaynightlit.com/>in print and online!

*Celebrate 10 years of Monday Night with our 2011 contributors: * Christine Choi <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_choi.html> LaTasha N. Nevada Diggs <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_diggs.html> Nels Hanson <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_hanson.html> Don Kingsbury <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_kingsbury.html> Allison Landa <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_landa.html> Annam Manthiram <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_manthiram.html> Sharon McGill <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_mcgill.html> Phillip Neel <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_neel.html> Rob Pierce <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_pierce.html> Kristen Renzi <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_renzi.html> Evan Schnair <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_schnair.html> Steve Subrizi <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_subrizi.html>

Order <http://www.mondaynightlit.com/read/8_allen.html> your print copy today ($8 for both volumes) or read<http://www.mondaynightlit.com/read/8_allen.html>it online at Monday Night <http://www.mondaynightlit.com/index.html>: because new lit beats old TV any night of the week.

Also available soon in these fine bookstores: Diesel<http://www.dieselbookstore.com/>(Oakland), City Lights <http://www.citylights.com/> (SF), Quimby's <http://www.quimbys.com/>(Chicago), & Pegasus <http://www.pegasusbookstore.com/> (Berkeley).

↑ Index

78. Jonathan Penton

100 Thousand Poets for Change in Lafayette, Louisiana!

Thu 18 Aug 2011

CONFIRMED: Lafayette, Louisiana will have an 100 Thousand Poets for Change event at the Acadiana Center for the Arts, a beautiful multipurpose building in downtown Lafayette. We’ll be there from 7pm to 11-ish, Central Daylight Time (-5GMT).

The Lafayette program, which Jessica Bordelon, Rhonda Robison, Lana Wiggins and I are designing, will bring traditional poets including Laura Mullen, Marthe Reed and former Louisiana Poet Laureate Darrell Bourque together with the spoken word troupe Revolution Theory, creating a multi-generational event bringing in Lafayette's diverse literary subcultures. Meanwhile, the University of Lafayette-Louisiana poetry group will be doing a series of open-space musical and literary skits, and we'll have local organizations in the atrium, discussing what they're doing for change in Louisiana. During our intermission, we'll be pumping in the webstream from other 100 Thousand Poets for Change events. (So if you're webcasting a 100 Thousand Poets for Change event, and will be running at that time, drop me a line -- I'm interested!)

$6 at the theatre door, all of which will go to non-profit organizations (the Acadiana Center for the Arts and others). Cash bar. Sponsors are Acting Up (in Acadiana), BBR Creative, The Break Room Coffee Shop, The Festival of Words, and Unlikely Books.

For more information about the global movement, check out http://100TPC.org/ . For more information about the Acadiana Center for the Arts, check out http://www.AcadianaCenterfortheArts.org/ . If you'd like to know what I look like, check your medicine cabinet. I'm very, very small.

--
Jonathan Penton
http://www.unlikelystories.org/

↑ Index

79. David Hadbawnik

B V O X B K L A U N C H --- S A T, A U G 2 7 -- 8 P M

Thu 18 Aug 2011

You are cordially invited to

BlazeVOX Book Launch: David Hadbawnik, Robin F. Brox, Jonathan Skinner ////
w/ special guest Aaron Lowinger
Sponsored by: BlazeVOX [books]
Saturday, August 27, 2011 @ 8:00 PM

Rust Belt Books
202 Allen St.,
Buffalo, New York

Born in Detroit, MI, David Hadbawnik is a UB Poetics student currently living with his wife, dog, and cat in Buffalo, N.Y. Previous publications include the books Translations From Creeley (Sardines, 2008), Ovid in Exile (Interbirth, 2007), and SF Spleen (Skanky Possum, 2006). He is the editor and publisher of Habenicht Press and the journal kadar koli. In Buffalo, he directs the Buffalo Poets Theater. Hadbawnik's most recent book, Field Work: Notes, Songs, Poems 1997-2010 is now available from BlazeVOX [books], .

Robin F. Brox is a poet, teaching artist, and the Marketing & Publicity Coordinator for Just Buffalo Literary Center. A graduate of Amherst High School, UB, and The University of Maine--Orono, she runs the small feminist press and occasional performance series saucebox. Author of the blog Ice Hockey Chick, and several chapbooks, Sure Thing is her first full-length poetry collection, published by BlazeVOX [books].

Jonathan Skinner founded and edits the journal ecopoetics (www.ecopoetics.org<https://ubmail.buffalo.edu/mail/parse.php?redirect=http://www.ecopoetics.org>), which features creative-critical intersections between writing and ecology. Skinner also writes ecocriticism on contemporary poetry and poetics. He earned his PhD from SUNY--Buffalo, and is a Cornell University Society for the Humanities Fellow for 2011-12. His poetry collections include Birds of Tifft (BlazeVOX, 2011), Warblers (Albion Books, 2010), With Naked Foot (Little Scratch Pad, 2009), and Political Cactus Poems (Palm Press, 2005). Skinner's latest project is a book on the urban landscape designs of Frederick Law Olmsted.

Admission is free. Books will be available for purchase and signing. Refreshments will be served.

↑ Index

80. David Hadbawnik
Re: Spicer
Thu 18 Aug 2011

---

jumping the shark as they say

On Mon, Aug 15, 2011 at 11:50 AM, steve dalachinsky <[redacted]>wrote:

> yes he loves to do stuff like that > he did that after someone tossed a ukelele on stage and when renaldo picked it up he > pretended to try to plug it into the amp and said NO JACK
> at which point thurston chimed in from the oother end of the stage
> how a bout a little jack spicer or something to that effect purely improv thing
>
> On Mon, 15 Aug 2011 08:30:24 -0400 Gerald Schwartz <[redacted]> writes:
> During Friday night's Sonic Youth show in Williamsburg Thurston Moore name-checked "Jack Spicer".

> G. E. Schwartz

↑ Index

81. Charles Baldwin
unprintability (part 1)
Thu 18 Aug 2011

Do not print this book
Sandy Baldwin

What good is a writer if he can't destroy literature? And us... what good are we if we don't help as much as we can in that destruction? - Julio Cortazar

Geoffrey Gatza, fearless director of BlazeVox, that "publisher of weird little books," took the final proofs of Lurid Numbers to his printer on July 27, 2011. Lurid Numbers is a collection of more or less "codeworked" text - much like _i did the weird motor drive_, my 2007 book with BlazeVox - written through simple computer scripts and word processings, and through my own impulse, inquiry, and idiocy. The next day he came back with some odd news in the form of an email from the publisher:

------ Forwarded Message
From: <[redacted]>
Date: Tue, 26 Jul 2011 12:02:16 -0700 (PDT)
To: Geoffrey Gatza <[redacted]>
Subject: Files for Lurid Numbers, 978-1609640705 require your attention

The interior and cover files for Lurid Numbers, 978-1609640705 have been reviewed.The cover file meets our submission requirements; it is not necessary for you to make any revisions to this file or upload it again.The interior file does not meet our submission requirements for the reason(s) listed below. Please make any necessary adjustments to your interior file and upload it again by logging in to createspace.com.The interior file contains pages with unreadable text or "jibberish" which we are unable to move forward with as it may appear as a file error in manufacturing. Please submit a revised interior file for further review.

Best regards,
The CreateSpace Team

As we like to say in academia, the email was "interesting," that is, it could be read as linked to a number of other cultural domains and protocols. The relation of the "interior" to the "cover" repeats and takes part in the history of the "book," where the cover is the limit of the work of writing; the cover is the enclosure or partition, the event and inscription of multiple institutions: of authorship (if the work is under a pseudonym or in some way unsigned, the copyright page still must contain an author's name, even if it is "anonymous"), commerce (the name of the publisher, legal descriptions of rights and regulations, and so on), and archiving (library of congress number, date of publication, etc.). Along with this, the fact that the interior of the book was somehow rotten or broken seemed both a judgment and a simple fact of this book. It was even better that this was expressed iconographically in the cover, which did meet "submission requirements." I saw the cover as a submission of the contents to a single image. The cover shows a butchered and already old, slightly rotted fish. The image is photoshopped, neon and definitely lurid. Geoffrey directed me to this image, and I loved the combination of the repulsive and slimy, the mundane and organic, with the software transformation that keeps it real but artificial as well. It did indeed seem to submit and capture the interior.

And then: "the interior file contains pages with unreadable text" seems to me an almost ontological statement, one that rubs against the proximity between the written work and the human. We may submit, we may submit a cover - ourselves - that meets requirements (of culture, of others), but our interiors are often quite different, unreadable. I also appreciated the misspelling of gibberish, suggesting a virality of the unreadable text into the printer's email. Finally: "we are unable to move forward [...] as it may appear as a file error in manufacturing" suggested to me an event or force of the work beyond the interior file, a hidden explosion breaking the apparatus that machined it, and seeping or flooding past the cover.

In short, I was pleased to become more than just another job for the printer, to become a new process and something beyond the routine. At the same time, I was concerned, wondering what would happen with my interior file, as it were. I found out five days later, on August 1, 2011, when Geoffrey informed me in an email that "they cannot print this book and there is nothing I can do about it. [...] this is something completely new and I have to say I am perplexed by the mechanizations of modern times. The printers are not opposed to you or your work, this is a situation of a printing process that is highly automated and this registers exactly like a printers error to their machine. It is not a human that we must cajole into agreeing that this is art, which was my first take on this, as with the printer who cannot spell. This is a matter of a quality control camera that will reject books that look like this. I talked with a lot of people in the company and even had my lawyer call them to see if great weight would move the immovable. But no, their system will literally stop when it would try to produce your work."

A writing that stops the computer system, the very system designed to print out writing: what more could I ask for? What more frustrating thing, as well, so close to the print out of the book, that fetish object that makes authors out of writers? I was judged by the computer to have written something, i.e. it did not deny that there was an input that it could judge, but it evaluated my writing as unprintable, as a writing that can only remain in the space of the computer, within the possibilities of software. My interior file was bummed out but also filled or luridly lit up with a deep pleasure.

"The act of writing is related to the absence of the work, but is invested in the Work as book. The madness of writing - this insane game - is the relation of writing; a relation established not between the writing and production of the book but through the books production, between the act of writing and the absence of the work.[...] To write is to produce the absence of the work (worklessness, unworking, [désoeuvrement]). Or again: writing is the absence of the work as it produces itself through the work, traversing it throughout. Writing as unworking (in the active sense of the word) is the insane game, the indeterminacy that lies between reason and unreason." - Maurice Blanchot

BTW, the book is here:
http://www.blazevox.org/index.php/Shop/Poetry/lurid-numbers-by-sandy-baldwin-244/

↑ Index

82. steve dalachinsky

Re: Spicer

Thu 18 Aug 2011

---

i love tm and he is a friend and a great and generous guy etc
but let's not do the god thing
alll else you said is true

On Tue, 16 Aug 2011 18:09:50 -0600 Jeffrey Lee <[redacted]>
writes:
> Besides being a god, T. Moore is also a book collector, especially or
> poetry
> mags and chapbooks from the great mimeo days - I've had a couple of > orders > from him over the years. Didn't he also have a store in Northampton > at some > point?

>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From: "steve dalachinsky" <[redacted]>
> To: <[redacted]>
> Sent: Monday, August 15, 2011 9:50 AM
> Subject: Re: Spicer
>
>
> > yes he loves to do stuff like that > > he did that after someone tossed a ukelele on stage and when > renaldo
> > picked it up he > > pretended to try to plug it into the amp and said NO JACK > > at which point thurston chimed in from the oother end of the > stage
> > how a bout a little jack spicer or something to that effect purely > improv
> > thing
> >
> > On Mon, 15 Aug 2011 08:30:24 -0400 Gerald Schwartz
> > <[redacted]> writes:
> >> During Friday night's Sonic Youth show in Williamsburg Thurston
> Moore
> >> name-checked "Jack Spicer".
> >>
> >> G. E. Schwartz
> >>
> >>
> >>
> >
> >
> >
>
>
>

↑ Index

83. Jessica Wickens

corrected links: Monday Night 10th anniversary issue in print & online!

Thu 18 Aug 2011

Announcing a special 10th anniversary two-volume issue of Monday Night<http://www.mondaynightlit.com/>in print and online!

*Celebrate 10 years of Monday Night with our 2011 contributors: * Christine Choi <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_choi.html> LaTasha N. Nevada Diggs <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_diggs.html> Nels Hanson <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_hanson.html> Don Kingsbury <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_kingsbury.html> Allison Landa <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_landa.html> Annam Manthiram <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_manthiram.html> Sharon McGill <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_mcgill.html> Phillip Neel <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_neel.html> Rob Pierce <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_pierce.html> Kristen Renzi <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_renzi.html> Evan Schnair <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_schnair.html> Steve Subrizi <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_subrizi.html>

Order <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_choi.html> your print copy today ($8 for both volumes) or read <http://mondaynightlit.com/read/10_choi.html>it online at Monday Night <http://www.mondaynightlit.com/index.html>: because new lit beats old TV any night of the week.

Also available soon in these fine bookstores: Diesel<http://www.dieselbookstore.com/>(Oakland), City Lights <http://www.citylights.com/> (SF), Quimby's <http://www.quimbys.com/>(Chicago), & Pegasus <http://www.pegasusbookstore.com/> (Berkeley).

↑ Index

84. Obododimma Oha

Hosting One's Funeral

Fri 19 Aug 2011

Does anyone have information on any thinkers/writers that arranged and hosted their funerals prior to their death?
Thanks for helping out.
-- Obododimma.

--
Obododimma Oha
http://udude.wordpress.com/

(Associate Professor of Cultural Semiotics & Stylistics)
Dept. of English
University of Ibadan
Nigeria

&

Fellow, Centre for Peace & Conflict Studies
University of Ibadan

Phone: [redacted];
[redacted];
[redacted].

↑ Index

85. Tony Trigilio
Sunday--Madison, WI: Trigilio, Fishman, Meier at Avol's Books
Fri 19 Aug 2011

Hi everyone--

For those near Madison, come spend an afternoon with us at Avol's Books this Sunday!

Poetry Reading: Tony Trigilio, Lisa Fishman, and Richard Meier
Sunday, August 21, 2011
2:00 p.m.

Avol's Books
315 W. Gorham St.
Madison, WI

http://www.avolsbooks.com/events.html

Tony Trigilio is the author of the poetry collections Historic Diary and The Lama's English Lessons; the chapbooks With the Memory, Which is Enormous; and Make a Joke and I Will Sigh and You Will Laugh and I Will Cry; and two books of criticism, Allen Ginsberg's Buddhist Poetics and Strange Prophecies Anew. With Tim Prchal, he co-edited the anthology Visions and Divisions: American Immigration Literature, 1870-1930. He teaches at Columbia College Chicago and co-edits Court Green.

Lisa Fishman is the author of several poetry collections, including Dear, Read; The Happiness Experiment; and Current. She earned a BA at Michigan State University, where she studied with Diane Wakoski; an MFA at Western Michigan University, where she studied with William Olsen; and a PhD in literature at the University of Utah, with a dissertation on Percy Bysshe Shelley's poetics. Fishman and her husband, along with poet Richard Meier, run a 12-acre "Poetry Farm" in southern Wisconsin, offering summer internships for poets that exchange accommodations for farm labor. Fishman has taught at Beloit College and Columbia College Chicago.

Richard Meier is the author of two books of poetry, Shelley Gave Jane a Guitar and Terrain Vague. He lives in Madison and Chicago with other people and a cat and is currently writer-in-residence at Carthage College in Kenosha, WI.

↑ Index

86. Amy King

Reminder: Poets on the Porch 2011 – Tomorrow - August 20th / Philadelphia, PA

Fri 19 Aug 2011

---

*Come out and join us for our 2nd outdoor poetry event of the summer! *

August20th @ 1:00pm - The Fox Chase Reading Series presents a reading on the porch of Ryerss Museum and Library <http://www.ryerssmuseum.org/> , 7370 Central Avenue, Philadlephia, Pa. 19111.

The Fox Chase Reading Series presents the 2ndAnnual Poets on the Porch at Ryerss Museum and Library, 7370 Central Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. 19111. Poets Dan Maguire, Lynn Levin, Ana Bo¾ièeviæ , *Amy King, Elizabeth Pallitto *join Fox Chase Poets Diane Sahms-Guarnieri and g emil reutter on the porch. Bring a porch chair and enjoy an afternoon of verse on the porch of the historic Ryerss Museum and Library.

For more information on the poets please visit this link: Poets on the Porch 2011 -August 20th<http://foxchasereview.wordpress.com/2011/07/17/poets-on-the-porch-2011-august-20th/>

Directions: Ryerss Museum and Library is accessible by the SEPTA Fox Chase train line via the Ryers Station and Fox Chase Station, also via the SEPTA 70 and 24 bus routes. For directions to Ryerss Museum and Library visit: http://ryerssmuseum.org/visit1.html

--
****

Amy's Alias
+ http://amyking.org/
****

↑ Index

87. amy king
Reminder: Poets on the Porch 2011 – Tomorrow - August 20th / Philadelphia, PA
Fri 19 Aug 2011

Come out and join us for our 2nd outdoor poetry event of the summer!

Come out and join us for our 2nd outdoor poetry event of the summer! August20th @ 1:00pmâ€“ The Fox Chase Reading Series presents a reading on the porch of Ryerss Museum and Library, 7370 Central Avenue, Philadlephia, Pa. 19111. The Fox Chase Reading Seriespresents the 2ndAnnual Poets on the Porchat Ryerss Museum and Library, 7370 Central Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. 19111. Poets Dan Maguire, Lynn Levin, Ana BoÅ¾iÄeviÄ‡, Amy King, Elizabeth Pallitto join Fox Chase Poets Diane Sahms-Guarnieri and g emil reutter on the porch. Bring a porch chair and enjoy an afternoon of verse on the porch of the historic Ryerss Museum and Library. For more information on the poets please visit this link: Poets on the Porch 2011 â€“August 20th Directions:Â Ryerss Museum and Library is accessible by the SEPTA Fox Chase train line via the Ryers Station and Fox Chase Station, also via the SEPTA 70 and 24 bus routes. For directions to Ryerss Museum and Library visit: http://ryerssmuseum.org/visit1.html Â Â

****

Amy's Alias
+Â http://amyking.org/Â
****

↑ Index

88. Martha Deed
Re: unprintability (part 1)
Fri 19 Aug 2011

Dear Sandy--

I'm glad that you announced Lurid Tales here. After seeing your message on another listserv yesterday, I purchased the pdf from BlazeVox. I'm not far enough into it to review it in a respectable fashion. But I can say this:

The discussion about printability, culture, etc. that precedes the texts is worth the price of admission in itself. The issue here is a very important one, not just for BlazeVox authors present and future, but for all of us. (Full disclosure, I edited Millie Niss's City Bird for BlazeVox.)

The camera-rejects are humorous, biting, eminently readable, and it is a worry that the book could not be printed in a traditional manner. It's a worry as a practical matter, and it also is an economic worry, both for you and Geoffrey.

One question I had: If each page were a .jpg, would the problem have arisen? OTOH, perhaps the printer only considers .pdf files.

I hope you sell dozens and dozens of copies. It won't help with the finances, but this is important, innovative work, and it deserves to be seen by many people.

The whole episode made me punchy. I posted a Sporkworld note about it yesterday with a link to the BlazeVox shop.

Keep truckin'
Martha

Charles Baldwin wrote:
> Do not print this book
> Sandy Baldwin
>
> What good is a writer if he can't destroy literature? And us... what > good are we if we don't help as much as we can in that destruction? -
> Julio Cortazar
>
> Geoffrey Gatza, fearless director of BlazeVox, that "publisher of weird > little books," took the final proofs of Lurid Numbers to his printer on > July 27, 2011.
>

↑ Index

89. Charles Baldwin
unprintability (part 2)
Fri 19 Aug 2011

[I posted before about my book _Lurid Numbers_, a collection of codework texts scheduled to be printed by BlaxeVox, publisher of weird little books, but judged unprintable, despite the best efforts of the publisher to negotiate with the printer, etc. This is fascinating - among other reasons - because it involves a judgment by a computer on the printability of the book (again, see the earlier post for details). Following this, Alan Sondheim and I engaged in a brief email exchange on the topic. It is copied below in full.]

The Unprintable (August 8-16, 2011)

Alan Sondheim: "A lur is a long natural blowing horn [...] The word lur is still very much alive in the Swedish language, indicating any funnel-shaped implement used for producing or receiving sound. [...]" (Wikipedia). So blowing might be a kind of scattering or a calling, might be a kind of signal. And I think of _Lurid Numbers_ as a kind of calling, calling-forth both readerly and writerly textuality, but also an interpenetrating and entangled intermediary, the catatonic machine which might or might not open itself to the distending of symbols, graphemes. The machine reads itself; it doesn't like to be bothered. It doesn't like to read _Lurid Numbers_, because what is lurid, sleazy, is a bone in the works, can't be read. And apparently the publishing machine of Blaze-Vox, Blaze-Lur, couldn't read, broke down over, returned to catatonia (for what bureaucracy likes to be bothered), over what should have been a simple reproduction from code to paper - which did not, could not, occur? What do you say to this, to the insertion, beyond the readerly and writerly text, of the text which breaks the machine, which refuses purity?

Sandy Baldwin:

Yes, I agree. You provoke me to think and respond. I see the lur as producing a signal, one that problematizes signaling behaviors. I see this in the phrase "very much alive in the Swedish language": the word as "alive" is the problematization of signaling behaviors, where such behaviors as part of our modern understanding of communications that necessarily contain / are contained by systematization and closure. For modernity, to signal is to invoke an institutional culture that handles the call. (The lur problematizes any final response to your provocation as well, and instead leads me to a more "funnel-shaped" answer.) The blowing lur, the funnel-shaped implement (I read it as impediment, which already is the bone in the throat, the marrow in the grapheme), is a problematic signal. Lur also makes me hear a broken lure. Lure is a decoy, but also allurement and enticement. The lure is camouflaged and does not yet reveal the spoilage of the lurid. The breakage from lure to lur is the object escaping, the rotting out of the object. The kernel of matter that presupposes a machine - there is a machine threshing every "grain" of the real; the machine that makes everything itself, that ensures all is systematic and well-formed (machined) - is lost, leaving only an echo. In all this, the orphic song, the stirring of animal spirits, the original poem, the return from the dead. It is here that the where the machinic is not machinic. You lead me to think that _Lurid Numbers_ can't be read or printed because the writing did not occur - which would require the iterability of closed world of the machine - it is not authored. I admit to be radically uncertain of the "author-function" of this text with my name on it. I recall that I did not intend for it to be unprintable or unreadable, at least not in any straightforward sense, though I do think I intended it to be undigestable. It remains in a lurid- or sleaze-world, so thin, flimsy, barely lit. I wonder, in terms of the end of your provocation, is such a text still a text? I think of text as requiring reading and writing as advanced, modern processes; machinic processes, I suppose. I do not know if I can claim this for myself - not to have written a text - but I do wonder how far "text" can bear a lack of purity. I think more in terms such as "wryting" (which you coined), which suggests to me a kind of intensive, non-textual investment ...

Alan:

Wryting is of and in the midst of the body; _Lurid Numbers_ skitters across the body, but drags, scrapes the escarpment of the body as well. "Text" is like "nice" - it can bear anything, it is not that smooth, but the family of usages containing it are smoothed out - in the case of Lurid Numbers, perhaps dilapidated as well. I'd think of you as an author for the simple reason - the text wouldn't otherwise exist. This might be the result of a crisis. To paraphrase L. Apostel, The Justification of Set Theories (in _Logic, Methodology, and the Philosophy of Science_, 1965), substituting texts for classes (the original is based on the comprehension axiom), "At the beginning of a textual procedure, when nothing whatever is known about sources or filters, complete freedom is given as to the construction of texts (1). When the textual procedure is already established, and when the results of earlier operations are stable, the construction proceeds without rearrangement: texts now are embedded in a formal and canonic history, which is taken for granted and is machine-decomposable; the roots are there, in a very classical sense (2). However, when a crisis is reached and the procedures hitherto followed must be altered, textuality returns to the original sources, accompanied by new procedures and filters (3). When the procedures operate without crisis, but when it is imperative that procedures at one level should be strongly distinguished from and yet completely determined by the procedures applied on the earlier level, we have (4)." Let's think of (4) as conservation, and the third as permanent crisis, under the signs of capital and the fast-forward simulacra of signs. Then we're in the skitters and jitters, aren't we? Sufficient crisis, and the market breaks down, the machine breaks down, your self-identification as author breaks down. And that's when things get interesting, when the machine reaches a state of indigestion. What causes the crisis? On one hand the formal condition that upper and lower ASCII don't exhaust the pixel-by-pixel gridwork of inscriptions; there's always the glitsch, the fury beyond acceptable bandwidth. Most of our lives - in fact the phenomenology of our being-in-the-world - is conditioned by filtering-out, not only so the clean and proper body of the signifier may make itself felt against our skin, but also because anything else creates an ontological shift where the matrix of communication, community, disappears altogether. The crisis is of course the implosion. It's that. It's those. It's when "a" replaces "the" down to the rootlessness. Lurid Numbers unroots numbers, signs, and symbols, replacing "a" itself with an unknowable little-object-a beyond the spectrum, smothering the spectrum. It rests, remains, sleeps there. So you do a pdf!

Sandy:

Yes, I agree. It would be possible - maybe? I think? - to map the text as crossing thresholds or crisis points. Can we think of all texts in relation to their procedure and whether or not there is a crisis, an alteration? The quote from Apostel also situates crisis in a relation to origins, or pathology of the text, keeping in mind that these are inscriptive origins and symptoms, origins in the topography of transcriptions. I was speaking to the poet and critic Chris Funkhouser about the problem of printing _Lurid Numbers_. He brought up the possibility of an unpublishable book. He saw this as the future of increasing information interlinking, where all possible sentences are linked into the net already; all possible texts already generated in some way; no "new" text possible without being plagiarism from the first. This is, of course, a version of Borges' "Library of Babel," and also the nightmare aspect of Ted Nelson's Xanadu, where the density of hypertextual transclusion shuts down any new utterance. In practice, it is already being implemented with plagiarism detection systems such as Turnitin (my university purchased this software and wants it to be used on student papers). I found myself agreeing with Chris that this is a potential both for contemporary forms of writing, flarf being the example he used, and for the inseparability of the practice of writing from the apparatus of word processing software, in the largest sense. However, Lurid Numbers is unprintable rather than unpublishable. We could say that these are two forms of crisis. Unpublishability is a problem with the institution of authorship, and the confusion between economies of creativity and capital. Unprintability is a problem with the technical production of scriptive materialities, and a confusion between the conceptual potential of digital simulations and the institution that anchors these to a machinery of materialization, or more precisely, to a machine of printing out and handling. The confusion is already there in the simulation: MS Word and other software continue to simulate a page, while at the same time offering something else entirely. Lurid Numbers does have its own unpublishable pretexts, and unpublishability does relate to a materialization of the text - it is reasonable to see the legal institution of authorship in this way - but, whereas publishing involves a materiality of expression - creative expression capitalized through the author's name - we could see the unprintability as a materiality of phenomena and the body. Is this the crisis and implosion (or explosion)? Of the book as object, as in my hand and before me, as technical product ... The crisis of unprintability is worth studying on its own, and in relation to other crisis taking place in institutions of the book. Finally, thinking of what you say of the cause of the crisis: you set the glit(s)ch as the "fury beyond acceptable bandwidth." Perhaps "fury" is the correlate of crisis? A passion, a vehemence, beyond any law - and therefore in relation to the laws and institution of print and authorship - a fury that seeks the work, and - why not - seeks justice for the writer. Why justice? If unpublishability and unprintability involve the writer as name and capital (the writer's head), then the fury of writing unpublishes and unwrites, leaving nothing but the body and the roiling of its interior. The work, the writing, the scriptive orgins - all these come from and go to this fury.

Alan:

Just a couple of points here. No matter how much interlinking occurs, statistically, fantasy notwithstanding, all possible sentences etc. really constitute such an inaccessibly high number, that all the processing power of the universe would never complete the task, even given the 13+ billion years we've been around, even given incredibly high-speed processing. As you know, n-furcations quickly spin out of control. The second point relates to pain, and the inexpressibility of severe pain, and I want to end my contribution here, in relation to what might be foregone, the _McGill Pain Questionnaire_ notwithstanding. So a few brief words left behind in lieu of an other text. Inexpressibility occurs because of the difficulty of expressing interior states that might not have a clearcut symptomology (as thirst does, for example) - and also because severe pain derails speech and language and thought, as the internalized horizon of the flesh is muted or screams in abeyance. All of this touches on the pain of the signifier and its inexpressible relation to death - and all of this touches, as well, on the unprintable. The unprintable then is returned, as if by media mail, to the body that produced it. And from this moment, your text, as pdf, opens up and opens, as pain disperses, is dispersed, as the symbolic ultimately collapses, as is its wont...

↑ Index

90. Rob McLennan

span-o presents: jesslyn delia smith, Hugh Thomas + Dennis E. Bolen!

Fri 19 Aug 2011

---

span-o (the small press action network - ottawa) presents: a back-to-school event:

with readings/launches by:

> jesslyn delia smith (Ottawa)
> Hugh Thomas (Toronto/Fredericton)
> + Dennis E. Bolen (Vancouver)

lovingly hosted by rob mclennan
Friday, September 23, 2011;
doors 7pm; reading 7:30pm
The Carleton Tavern,
223 Armstrong Street (at Parkdale; upstairs)

author bios:

jesslyn delia smith is a recent Carleton graduate living and writing in Ottawa, and has had three chapbooks published through Carletons In/Words Magazine & Press. Her poetry and prose can be found on her blog, jesslyndelia.com, which is updated frequently. Feedback at [redacted] or twitter.com/jesslyndelia.

Hugh Thomas is a writer from Fredericton, where he is a professor of mathematics at the University of New Brunswick. Chapbooks of his poetry have been published by Paper Kite Press ("Heart badly buried by five shovels," 2009) and BookThug ("Mutations," 2004), with a new chapbook this month with above/ground press. A book of variations on Kafka texts, a joint project with Gary Barwin and Craig Conley, will be published by New Star Books in the fall. Hugh Thomas's poetry has appeared in a variety of Canadian small press periodicals, including 1cent, BafterC, CRASH, dig, fhole, filling Station, Hardscrabble, Peter F. Yacht Club, and Twaddle.

Dennis E. Bolen is a novelist, poet, critic and educator; author of seven books of fiction; his latest, 'Anticipated Results' was described in Quill & Quire as '...a dance with clever language that both mocks and questions a generations legacy.'

http://www.quillandquire.com/reviews/review.cfm?review_id=7236

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

91. Jennifer Karmin

Summer Stock: new online journal

Fri 19 Aug 2011

Livestock Editions is proud to announce the release of Summer Stock, an online lit journal for animals!

http://www.summerstockjournal.com

Our premiere online issue features a happily varied company of lyric/conceptual/serial poetry, prose, vispo, collage-postcards and photography by some very talented animals:

Cara Benson, Megan Burns, Reed Bye, Amina Cain, JenMarie Davis, Susana Gardner, Geoffrey Gatza, Elizabeth Guthrie, j/j hastain, Jennifer Karmin, Kevin Kilroy, Ella Longpre, Travis Macdonald, Bianca Moscatelli, Jefferson Navicky, Tanya Phattyakul, Abbey Pleviak, The Pines, Jai Arun Ravine, Marthe Reed, Robert Roley, Linda Russo, Rowland Saifi, Kaia Sand, Kathrin Schaeppi, Brandon Shimoda, Danielle Vogel, & Andrew Wessels.

This summer stock issue is dedicated to the memory of our friend Akilah Oliver, an inspiring poet, performer, and educator who passed on in 2011. We are honored to include Jai Arun Ravineâ€™s touching remembrance to Akilah in this issue.

↑ Index

92. Ruth Lepson

Re: unprintability (part 1)

Fri 19 Aug 2011

I got it, too & it looks like a fun ride & sure looks con-cep-tu-al.

On 8/19/11 1:06 PM, "Martha Deed" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Dear Sandy--
>
> I'm glad that you announced Lurid Tales here. After seeing your message on another listserv yesterday, I purchased the pdf from BlazeVox. I'm not far enough into it to review it in a respectable fashion. But I can say this:
>
> The discussion about printability, culture, etc. that precedes the texts is worth the price of admission in itself. The issue here is a very important one, not just for BlazeVox authors present and future, but for all of us. (Full disclosure, I edited Millie Niss's City Bird for BlazeVox.)
>
> The camera-rejects are humorous, biting, eminently readable, and it is a worry that the book could not be printed in a traditional manner. It's a worry as a practical matter, and it also is an economic worry, both for you and Geoffrey.
>
> One question I had: If each page were a .jpg, would the problem have arisen? OTOH, perhaps the printer only considers .pdf files.
>
> I hope you sell dozens and dozens of copies. It won't help with the finances, but this is important, innovative work, and it deserves to be seen by many people.

> The whole episode made me punchy. I posted a Sporkworld note about it yesterday with a link to the BlazeVox shop.
>
> Keep truckin'
> Martha
>
> Charles Baldwin wrote:
> Do not print this book
> Sandy Baldwin
>
> What good is a writer if he can't destroy literature? And us... what good are we if we don't help as much as we can in that destruction? - Julio Cortazar
>
> Geoffrey Gatza, fearless director of BlazeVox, that "publisher of weird little books," took the final proofs of Lurid Numbers to his printer on July 27, 2011.

↑ Index

93. Asian Cha

Critique Contest || Best Short Writing in the World

Sat 20 Aug 2011

---

1. Fine Tea Critique Contest 2011

Description: Fine Tea articles may be on any poems, stories or artwork/photography featured in the history of Cha: An Asian Literary Journal. More information: http://finecha.wordpress.com/2011/05/09/fine-tea-competition-2011/

Length: [redacted] words

Entries Deadline: 31st August, 2011 (Results will be announced in late September.)

Prizes: First: £25.00, Second: £15.00, Third: £10.00, Highly Commended (up to 3): £5 each. Payable through Paypal.

ENTRY IS FREE.

:::::::::

2. The Best Short Writing in the World 2011

Description: Fleeting Magazine has teamed up with Stack to find the best short writing in the world. They are looking for short stories (no more than 1500 words) and poetry (up to 40 lines). More information:

http://asiancha.blogspot.com/2011/08/best-short-writing-in-world-2011.html

Winner: One year's subscription to Stack Magazines, a personalised monthly selection of the best independent magazines from the UK, Europe and America. Two runners-up: Three months' subscription to Stack Magazines. Winners and good works will be published.

ENTRY COSTS £1 PER PIECE.

↑ Index

94. Asian Cha

The China Issue, featuring Duo Duo, Ai Weiwei, and more

Sat 20 Aug 2011

Cha: An Asian Literary Journal has launched its first-themed issue, "The China Issue", which features works by Duo Duo, Ai Weiwei, Han Dong, and many more. http://www.asiancha.com

Cha is now currently accepting submissions for its fourth anniversary issue, due out in November 2011. Deadline: 15 September. More information:
http://asiancha.blogspot.com/2010/12/cha-call-for-submissions-fourth.html

↑ Index

95. Jeffrey Side

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is “apertures” by rob mclennan

Sat 20 Aug 2011

The new ebook from Argotist Ebooks is â€œapertureslâ€ by rob mclennan
Description:
In â€œapertureslâ€, the second book of poet rob mclennan's â€œthe other side of the mouthâ€, he writes a variation on Vancouver writer George Bowering's â€œCuriousâ€, a collection of poems composed for and about other poets. In â€œapertureslâ€, mclennan composed pieces about the possessions of a variety of poets he has known, whether personally or only through their writings, over the past decade and a half. In eighty-three poems, mclennan writes the â€œstuffâ€ of a list of both American and Canadian poets, riffing through each writer's individual language, resulting in a portrait of North American writing through the eyes of one of Canada's most active poet/critics.
Available as a free ebook here:
http://www.lulu.com/product/ebook/apertures/16604879
Full Argotist Ebooks catalogue here:
http://www.lulu.com/spotlight/argotistebooks

↑ Index

96. Christina Rau

Re: Spicer

Sat 20 Aug 2011

There must be some Jack Spicer in the water lately because that name has come across my screen, my pages, and my world much more than usual in the past two weeks....for some love of Jack Spicer, check out Graham Foust's Poem For Jack Spicer, a poem I read last week from Foust's collection.

From: steve dalachinsky <[redacted]>
To: [redacted]
Sent: Thursday, August 18, 2011 3:05 PM
Subject: Re: Spicer

i love tm and he is a friend and a great and generous guy etc
but let's not do the god thing
alll else you said is true

On Tue, 16 Aug 2011 18:09:50 -0600 Jeffrey Lee <[redacted]>
writes:
> Besides being a god, T. Moore is also a book collector, especially or > poetry
> mags and chapbooks from the great mimeo days - I've had a couple of > orders
> from him over the years. Didn't he also have a store in Northampton > at some > point?
>
> ----- Original Message -----
> From: "steve dalachinsky" <[redacted]>
> To: <[redacted]>
> Sent: Monday, August 15, 2011 9:50 AM
> Subject: Re: Spicer
>
>
> > yes he loves to do stuff like that > > he did that after someone tossed a ukelele on stage and when > renaldo
> > picked it up he > > pretended to try to plug it into the amp and said NO JACK > > at which point thurston chimed in from the oother end of the > stage
> > how a bout a little jack spicer or something to that effect purely > improv

> > thing
> >
> > On Mon, 15 Aug 2011 08:30:24 -0400 Gerald Schwartz
> > <[redacted]> writes:
> >> During Friday night's Sonic Youth show in Williamsburg Thurston
> Moore
> >> name-checked "Jack Spicer".
> >>
> >> G. E. Schwartz
> >>
> >>
> >>
> >
> >
> >
>
>
>

↑ Index

97. Maria Damon

job listing! Assistant Director of Creative Writing

Sat 20 Aug 2011

---

http://www.higheredjobs.com/institution/details.cfm?JobCode=175549283&Title=Assistant+Director+%E2%80%93+Graduate+Program+in+Creative+Writing

↑ Index

98. Rob McLennan

jwcurry's Room 302 Books has a new catalogue: list #12

Sun 21 Aug 2011

Anyone paying attention to small press in Canada should be purchasing from Ottawa's Room 302 Books, owned and operated by jwcurry, out of his Chinatown apartment/bookstore/workspace. jwcurry really is one of the most important collectors and sellers, as well as one of the most important producers, of Canadian small press.

Highlights of the 220 items on list #12 (with some items already sold out; issued July 18, 2011) include issues of 3¢ Pulp, and works by John Barlow, John M. Bennett, Stan Bevington, Katy Chan, Bob Cobbing, Victor Coleman, Judith Copithorne, Arthur Cravan, jwcurry (including 1¢ newsnotes), Anne Dondertman, Nicky Drumbolis, Daniel f. Bradley, Michael Duquette, K.S. Ernst, a selection of publications and ephemera from the EyeRhymes Conference and Festival (University of Alberta, June 1997), Four Horsemen, D.M. Fraser, Gerry Gilbert, Glenn Goluska, Alan Halsey, Wharton Hood, Mark Laba, D.A. Levy, John Ligoure, R.D. MacPherson, Diane Martin, Steve McCaffery, Janet F. Murchison, Lowell Naeve, Hermann Neutics, bpNichol, R. Murray Schafer, Darrell Schiller, Peter Schuyff, Gio Shanger, John Graves Simcoe, Steven Smith, Raymond Souster, David UU, Alberto Vitacchio and Frank Zappa.

Sample listing: 114. MCCAFFERY (Steve) Prior To Meaning. Buffalo, Friends Of The University Libraries, for 25 december 1996. of an edition totalling 2000, 1/195 trade copies issued as Christmas Broadside series 3 #8. 5 ½ x 8 ½ leaflet; 4 pp printed offset. McCaffery's rather lyrical poem faced w/ fullcolour reproduction of Michael Snow's 1962 weathered paper collage, Alice. 7.50

Write, call or simply show up at jwcurry's door for a copy of the list. Other lists are most likely still available.

from the inside cover:

list 12, published occasionally, fixates on a sampling of materials issued to correspond with specific events. there are: exhibition announcements/invitations, catalogues & reviews; holiday mailouts; special issues of magazines; anniversary anthologies; travel gifts; party invitations & handouts; events posters & souvenirs; reminders; memorials; address change notices; publication announcements; programmes; propaganda; parodies; & a handful of unclassifiables. the list could easily have been 5 times its size but, in propitiation for the overt hostility suffusing list 11, i've kept opportunities for bile to a minimum & am mostly enthusiastic about the offerings included herein (irked ire obvious as usual).

of particular note here are the christmas cards (& related material, entries 125 161) issued by bpNichol &, after his death, Eleanor Nichol. from what i've been able to determine, this is the largest selection ever offered for public sale of these elusive private publications & few if any of the variant issues have been previously described.

ROOM 302 BOOKS is probably open whenever you want it to be; just give a call to be sure i'm in & up ([redacted]) & come to either door of 880 Somerset Street West, Ottawa (K1R 6R7 for the postally-inclined). orders by post are subjected to no postal penalties if paid in advance; please make cheques or money orders payable to jwcurry. returns are a bad idea: don't order it if you don't want it.

http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/2011/08/jwcurrys-room-302-books-has-new.html

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

99. Mark Young

Out from Otoliths—Alex Gildzen's "The Arrow That Is Hollywood / Pierces The Soul That Is Me"

Sun 21 Aug 2011

Now out from Otoliths.

*

*

*THE ARROW THAT IS HOLLYWOOD *

*PIERCES THE SOUL THAT IS ME *

Alex Gildzen

40 pages

Front cover photograph by Kevin McCollister

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9808785-5-4

$10.00 + p&h

URL: http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/the-arrow-that-is-hollywood-pierces-the-soul-that-is-me/16547908

Subscribers to the Otoliths list know Alex Gildzen (It’s All a Movie) as historian of the film-going experience. In this new collection of poems he plumbs the mythology of Hollywood. Taking on stories both familiar and obscure, Gildzen gives close-ups of legends such as Chaplin and Welles. But he affectionately offers star billing to many of Tinseltown’s lesser-known characters – from the woman who may (or may not) have been the first Native American movie star to character actors Victor Kilian and Percy Helton.

A video of Alex Gildzen reading a poem from the book can be accessed at http://youtu.be/DStmNP4F_7k.

Tom Beckett's interview with Alex Gildzen can be found here<http://the-otolith.blogspot.com/2009/04/tom-beckett-interview-with-alex-

gildzen.html>
.

↑ Index

100. Mark Kuniya
Poetry Broadsides and Chapbooks
Sun 21 Aug 2011

NEW from Country Valley Press:

EMPTY HANDS BROADSIDES

#18 - Whit Griffin, Fugitive Cant
#19 - Hoa Nguyen, Late in the Month
#20 - Dale Smith, The Time Machine Paradox

For purchase info or how to subscribe to the series, send an email to [redacted] or go online to http://web.mac.com/countryvalley.

ALSO AVAILABLE:

Jeffery Beam - An Invocation
Japanese style wraps. $15

Bob Arnold - Life's Little Day
Japanese style wraps. $15

Wall/Stairway - John Taggart
Sewn pamphlet. Single poem. $7.50

Scaffold - Joel Chace
Stapled pamphlet. $7.50

↑ Index

101. Eireene Nealand
writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
Mon 22 Aug 2011

Hi everyone,

I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:

Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception

or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any recommendations for assignments or readings.

Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical placement, voice of witness assignments.

So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...

Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have less accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.

Thanks in advance.

Eireene

↑ Index

102. Bob Heman

Bob Heman and Cindy Hochman @ Nightingale, next Monday, August 29, 7:00

Tue 23 Aug 2011

Hi Folks - This is just to let you know that next Monday, August 29, Cindy Hochman and I will be featuring at the Nightgale Lounge on the northwest corner of 2nd Avenue and East 13th Street in the East Village.

It will be a special night for both of us. Cindy will have copies of her new chapbook, The Carcinogenic Bride, which she'll be selling for the ridiculously low price of 5 dollars, and which, besides her very interesting poems, also features a collage I designed for the cover.

Plus, I'll have copies of a new little collection of my own, & nothing more, which was printed to celebrate the reading, and which will be given free to everyone who attends.

The reading starts at 7:00 and runs til 9:30, with sign-up for the open mic beginning at 6:30. There's a $10 minimum at the bar plus a $3.00 requested donation for the event. Since it's a bar you'll have to be 21 to attend. The reading will be hosted by the multi-talented Su Polo, as it has been for over a decade.

I hope you all can make it

- Bob

↑ Index

103. Kimmelman, Burt
Samuel Menashe 1925-2011
Tue 23 Aug 2011

I just got sad notice from Nicholas Birns of the passing of Samuel Menashe (see below).

I believe plans for a memorial are being made and if no one else posts the details of it then I will.

Below is the wonderful poem that was replicated, along with a photo of Samuel writing with his finger in sand on a beach, on the back cover of the Library of America volume of his New and Selected Poems (edited by Christopher Ricks), which was timed (thanks to Geoffrey O'Brien) with Samuel's winning the first ever Neglected Masters award (from the Poetry Foundation); he was the first living poet to be included in the LoA's American Poets project--again, published on the occasion of the award. The poem is untitled:

Pity us
By the sea
On the sands
So briefly

- Burt

_____
From: [redacted] [mailto:[redacted]] On Behalf Of Nicholas Birns
Sent: Tuesday, August 23, 2011 12:03 AM
To: Kimmelman, Burt;
Subject: Samuel Menashe 1925-2011

Samuel died earlier tonight. His heart had been weak and he had not been eating much but still a shock. I last saw him on Friday when I read his war story to him along with the last few scenes of King Lear--a fitting ending.

best
Nick

↑ Index

104. Francesco Levato
An Evening of Poetry at Days and Nights Festival
Tue 23 Aug 2011

Days and Nights Festival and Henry Miller Memorial Library is proud to present An Evening of Poetry. Held on the library’s beautiful outdoor stage, the night will feature poets Francesco Levato, Jerry Quickley, Eleni Sikelianos, and Maria Teutsch presenting original collaborations with Philip Glass and the YOA: Orchestra of the Americas.

For more information click here:
http://www.daysandnightsfestival.com/festival/an-evening-of-poetry/

↑ Index

105. Shankar, Ravi (English)

Four New Books of Poetry Launch at Real Art Ways in Hartford, CT on Thursday, Aug. 25th, 6 PM

Tue 23 Aug 2011

Ravi Shankar Launches Deepening Groove In An Evening of New Poetry

Writers and Readers Series
Thursday, August 25, 2011 | 6 PM
$5/FREE Real Art Ways' Members

Hartford, Connecticut – Real Art Ways' Writers and Reader Series is pleased to announce an evening of new poetry with acclaimed poet, Ravi Shankar, who will launch his new book Deepening Groove, winner of the 2010 National Poetry Review Prize. Three notable authors will join Shankar each reading from their new works- Joel Allegretti, Susan Frischkorn and Lisa C. Taylor.

Connecticut Poet Laureate Dick Allen will introduce Deepening Groove and has hailed Shankar as "one of America's finest younger poets."

Deepening Groove is a collection of poems comprised of detailed observations about animals, trees, flowers, fish, the weather, and the human condition. Many of the poems are set in New England where Ravi Shankar lives. Poems from the collection have been featured by the Academy of American Poets and have appeared in such journals as Blackbird, Barrow Street, Fulcrum, The Mississippi Review and Slope.

Ravi Shankar is founding editor of Drunken Boat, an international online journal of the arts, and Co-Director of Creative Writing at Central Connecticut State University. He has published five other books and chapbooks. With Tina Chang and Natalie Handal, he edited W.W. Norton's Language for a New Century: Contemporary Poetry from Asia, the Middle East & Beyond, called "a beautiful achievement for world literature" by Nobel Laureate Nadine Gordimer.

Joel Allegretti is the author of two full-length volumes of poetry from The Poet's Press: The Plague Psalms and Father Silicon, selected by the Kansas City Star as one of 100 Noteworthy Books of 2006. Poets Wear Prada released his third collection, Thrum (2010) a chapbook of poems, prose poems and poetic essays about musical instruments. Poets Wear Prada will publish his fourth collection, Europa/Nippon/New York: Poems/Not-Poems, in 2012.

Suzanne Frischkorn is the author of Girl On A Bridge (2010), and Lit Windowpane (2008) both from Main Street Rag Publishing. In addition she is the author of five chapbooks, most recently American Flamingo (2008). Her honors include the Aldridge Poetry Award for her chapbook Spring Tide, selected by Mary Oliver, a 2009 Emerging Writers Fellowship from the Writers Center, an Individual Artist Fellowship from the Connecticut Commission on Culture and Tourism.

Lisa C. Taylor is the author of three collections of poetry, most recently a collaborative collection with Irish poet and writer Geraldine Mills, The Other Side of Longing (Arlen House/Syracuse University Press, 2011). They were both named 2011 Elizabeth Shanley Gerson Readers of Irish Literature at University of Connecticut. She has a new collection due out in 2012.

Writers and Readers is a social gathering for people who love books. Readings will be preceded and followed by an informal discussion providing an opportunity to talk with others interested in reading, writing and thinking. Newly released publications will be available for purchase.

↑ Index

106. Eireene Nealand

Fulbright scholar from St. Petersburg looking for hosts/housing near Cambridge

Tue 23 Aug 2011

An excellent Russian translator and literary critic is looking for a place to stay for a week or so while looking for housing in Cambridge. She will be at M.I.T. on a Fulbright scholarship and is eager to meet poets in the area. If you would be willing to host her for a week or so, or if you have an offer of a room for rent please e-mail Natalia: [redacted].

eireene

↑ Index

107. Wystan Curnow (ARTS ENG)

Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

Tue 23 Aug 2011

Hi Eireene, I think you should look at len Lye's 'direct' film, 'Free Radicals' on Youtube. Lye made this film by scratching onto black leader, this is as indexically proprioceptive as cinema can get, so that it is in the process also writing--there are letters-- as cinema. Wystan

Wystan Curnow
Professor of English (Emeritus)

University of Auckland
Private Bag 92019
Auckland, NEW ZEALAND
Ph. 64.09.3737599 work
64.09. [redacted] home
Fax 64.09. 3737429

From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Eireene Nealand [[redacted]]
Sent: Tuesday, 23 August 2011 9:18 a.m.
To: [redacted]
Subject: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

Hi everyone,

I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:

Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception

or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any recommendations for assignments or readings.

Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical placement, voice of witness assignments.

So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...

Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have less accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.

Thanks in advance.

Eireene

↑ Index

108. mIEKAL aND

Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

Tue 23 Aug 2011

In 1978 I was at Ragdale staying in the bed that Sylvia Judson Shaw had slept in for many years before she passed away. I channeled an automatic text via her energy called 21 Refrains from Body Laws, which was accepted many years ago by Writers Forum in London & still hasn't been printed. It is also part of my looooooong poem Samsara Congeries due out in the future from BlazeVox. I can send you a pdf if'n yr interested.

~mIEKAL

On Mon, Aug 22, 2011 at 4:18 PM, Eireene Nealand <[redacted]> wrote:
> Hi everyone,
>
> I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:
>
> Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception
>
> or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any > recommendations for assignments or readings.
>
> Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or > juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical > placement, voice of witness assignments.
>
> So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and > Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...
>
> Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to > Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have less > accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.
>
> Thanks in advance.
>
> Eireene
>
>

↑ Index

109. Murat Nemet-Nejat
Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
Tue 23 Aug 2011

You may consider my poem The Spiritual Life of Replicants which came out by Talisman House last month The poem uses a poetics based on film language in its construction.

Ciao,
Murat

On Mon, Aug 22, 2011 at 5:18 PM, Eireene Nealand <[redacted]> wrote:

> Hi everyone,

> I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:
>
> Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception
>
> or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any recommendations for assignments or readings.
>
> Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical placement, voice of witness assignments.
>
> So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...
>
> Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have less accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.
>
> Thanks in advance.
>
> Eireene

↑ Index

110. Patrick F. Durgin

Waveform, by Amber DiPietra and Denise Leto

Wed 24 Aug 2011

Kenning Editions is pleased to announce the publication of WAVEFORM by Amber DiPietra and Denise Leto.

WAVEFORM documents an aqueous, stop-start conversation between two women poets with disabilities. The idea of suspension--being held back, held over, or held by larger bodies, especially water--serves as pivot point for a manuscript that begins with the problem of rising from bed in the morning, of gravity and the ankle, of making muscles that control speech contract and release. Quotidian rituals like listing provide structure while large marine creatures open this epistolary work to a kind of chronic floating.

Denise Leto is a poet, writer, and Senior Editor at the University of California, Berkeley. Her work is forthcoming in Beauty is a Verb, Cinco Puntos Press, Fall 2011 and Puerto del Sol, Fall 2011 and has appeared in Wild Horses of Fire: Other Letters, The Wolf Magazine: Arts Council of England, Aufgabe, 26, and Xantippe. She was a Fellow for the University of Michigan’s Research/Practice Symposium on Movement, Somatics & Writing and is a past Honorary Fellow and Artist in Residence at Djerassi Resident Artist Program. She recently presented her work at the multi-media art event, “Breaking Ranks: Human/Nature,” at the Headlands Center for the Arts.

Amber DiPietra works as an advocate and peer counselor in the Bay Area disability community. She has recently started Write To Connect—life writing workshops for radical and everyday embodiments. Her interests include tracking the orthopedic body in real time, personal fossil records, ¡accion mutante! politics, and warm waters. Poems and prose pieces by Amber have appeared in Make, A Chicago Literary Magazine, Mirage Period[ica], Tarpaulin Sky, Mrs. Maybe, Monday Night and TRY!. Amber also co-curates the :working class reading series with Michelle Puckett in Oakland, CA. Visit Amber’s blog at www.adipietra.blogspot.com

Paperback. Poetry/Creative Nonfiction/Disability Studies/Poetics. 36 pp. ISBN: 978-0-9767364-9-3. $10.00. Publication date: September 15, 2011.

Waveform is available by credit card or subscription/mailorder at http://www.kenningeditions as well as through Small Press Distribution: http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/9780976736493/waveform.aspx

Thank you for passing this announcement along to interested friends. Apologies for any cross-postings!

↑ Index

111. Adam Fieled

"Post-Avant: A Meta-Narrative"

Wed 24 Aug 2011

In 2010, Penned in the Margins, a UK press, released an anthology in the UK called "Stress Fractures." The anthology contained an essay of mine called "Post-Avant: A Meta-Narrative." Now, the essay is available to be seen in the US on Issuu:

http://issuu.com/afieled/docs/postavantmetanarrative

The essay is my reaction to what happened in the summer of '09 on Stoning the Devil around "post-avant" as a possible movement in poetics.

Thanks,
Adam Fieled

↑ Index

112. Carol Novack

One week left to enter the MadHat Press "Wild & Wyrd" Poetry Chapbook Contest! (deadline 8/31)

Wed 24 Aug 2011

See the advisement on CA Conrad's, blog: http://caconradevents.blogspot.com/2011/06/poetry-chapbook-contest.html; guidelines: http://madhatarts.com/madhatpress.shtml (except that refunds for manuscript withdrawals will be given).

--
http://www.madhatarts.com; http://carolnovack.blogspot.com

Available for purchase: My fully illustrated collection, "Giraffes in Hiding: The Mythical Memoirs of Carol Novack," Spuyten Duyvil Press <http://www.spuytenduyvil.net/fiction/giraffes.html>(Sept 2010); amazon.com<http://www.amazon.com/Giraffes-Hiding-Mythical-Memoirs-Novack/dp/1933132833/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1290444529&sr=1-1>.

“THE most seductive, original, impacting work I have seen for years. A fascinating combination of Kerouacian street-talk plus a trip through the museum of Modern Art in Chicago, plus a nod-off to Kosty's furthest out experimentalism. Magnifique!” -- Hugh Fox * *

↑ Index

113. Susan Webster Schultz

new on Tinfish Editor's Blog

Wed 24 Aug 2011

---

including news of THREE new publications!

* Leave it to Beavers: Kim Koga's _ligature strain_ ...
  <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/08/leave-it-to-beavers-kim-kogas-ligature.html>
* Life Writing / Life Editing / A Photo Album
  <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/08/life-writing-life-editing-photo-album.html>
* The After-Life of Forms
  <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/08/after-life-of-forms.html>
* Mourning is Work, but Grieving is a Business
  <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/08/mourning-is-work-but-grieving-is.html>
* Grieving Manuals / Grieving Manually
  <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/08/grieving-manuals-grieving-manually.html>

 * Two new publications from Tinfish Press
  <http://tinfisheditor.blogspot.com/2011/08/two-new-publications-from-tinfish-press.html>

aloha, Susan M. Schultz
Editgirl

↑ Index

114. Adam Tobin book design
Wed 24 Aug 2011

---

dear designers and publishers of poetry books, please talk to me before you design your next book. please submit me your plans for approval before you send the files to the printer. please remember the spine. please use extremely high contrast if you are planning to print the covers on the washed-out extra-glossy paper that is the default for the cheap PoD printers you inexplicably love. please make the text on the covers and spine legible. please do not lay out your book for 8.5x11 paper, but for the actual shape and size of the book. please choose an attractive and wieldy shape and size for your book. please leave ample space for margins. please look at a physical proof (not a computer screen!) with a critical eye and make any necessary changes before you print a bunch of copies. thank you. everyone will thank you if you do these things. please.
i love you,
adam

↑ Index

115. steve dalachinsky
Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
Wed 24 Aug 2011

---

ah brackage painted on film many have scratched on it as well

On Tue, 23 Aug 2011 22:52:46 +0000 "Wystan Curnow (ARTS ENG)"
<[redacted]> writes:
> Hi Eireene,
> I think you should look at len Lye's 'direct' film, 'Free
> Radicals' on Youtube.
> Lye made this film by scratching onto black leader, this is as > indexically proprioceptive as cinema > can get, so that it is in the process also writing--there are > letters-- as cinema.

> Wystan
>
> Wystan Curnow
> Professor of English (Emeritus)
> University of Auckland
> Private Bag 92019
> Auckland, NEW ZEALAND
> Ph. 64.09.3737599 work
> 64.09. [redacted] home
> Fax 64.09. 3737429
> _____
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on > behalf of Eireene Nealand [[redacted]]
> Sent: Tuesday, 23 August 2011 9:18 a.m.
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: writing from the body/perception/proprioception > assignments?
>
> Hi everyone,
>
> I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:
>
> Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception
>
> or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any > recommendations for assignments or readings.
>
> Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or > juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical > placement, voice of witness assignments.
>
> So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and > Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...
>
> Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to > Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have > less > accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.
>
> Thanks in advance.
>
> Eireene

>
>
>
>

↑ Index

116. Margaret Carson
Re: Samuel Menashe 1925-2011
Wed 24 Aug 2011

Sad news. A few years ago I met Samuel Menashe at a poetry event at CUNY Graduate Center. He asked me what I did and when I mentioned that I sometimes translated poetry from Spanish, he told me that without really knowing much Spanish he had translated some well-known lines by Antonio Machado. He took a piece of paper and wrote out the original Machado and his translation:

La primavera ha venido
  Nadie sabe cómo ha sido

Now spring has come
  No one knows how

Machado never sounded better in English. I wonder, were there more translations?

↑ Index

117. Ruth Lepson
Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
Wed 24 Aug 2011

thank you! 1958 even. it sizzles. what is leader?

On 8/23/11 6:52 PM, "Wystan Curnow (ARTS ENG)" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Hi Eireene,
> I think you should look at len Lye's 'direct' film, 'Free Radicals' on Youtube.
> Lye made this film by scratching onto black leader, this is as indexically proprioceptive as cinema > can get, so that it is in the process also writing--there are letters-- as cinema.
> Wystan
>
> Wystan Curnow
> Professor of English (Emeritus)
> University of Auckland

> Private Bag 92019
> Auckland, NEW ZEALAND
> Ph. 64.09.3737599 work
> 64.09. [redacted] home
> Fax 64.09. 3737429
>
> _____
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of > Eireene Nealand [[redacted]]
> Sent: Tuesday, 23 August 2011 9:18 a.m.
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
>
> Hi everyone,
>
> I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:
>
> Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception
>
> or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any recommendations for assignments or readings.
>
> Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical placement, voice of witness assignments.
>
> So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...
>
> Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have less accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.
>
> Thanks in advance.
>
> Eireene

↑ Index

118. Eireene Nealand

Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

Thu 25 Aug 2011

Thanks! That sounds exciting.

On Tue, Aug 23, 2011 at 8:34 PM, Murat Nemet-Nejat <[redacted]> wrote:
> You may consider my poem The Spiritual Life of Replicants which came out > by Talisman House last month The poem uses a poetics based on film language > in its construction.

>
> Ciao,
> Murat
>
>
> On Mon, Aug 22, 2011 at 5:18 PM, Eireene Nealand <[redacted]> wrote:
>
>> Hi everyone,
>>
>> I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:
>>
>> Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception
>>
>> or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any >> recommendations for assignments or readings.
>>
>> Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or >> juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical >> placement, voice of witness assignments.
>>
>> So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and >> Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...
>>
>> Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to >> Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have less >> accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.
>>
>> Thanks in advance.
>>
>> Eireene
>>
>>
>
>

↑ Index

119. michael farrell
Re: "Post-Avant: A Meta-Narrative"
Thu 25 Aug 2011

---

interesting adam

the lack of congruence b/w the art world & the lit/poetry world is what makes it possible for kenneth goldsmith to be radical - by framing his writing as poetry which i dont object to at all .. but things can feel like theyve been done, just because theyve been done in the art world decades before i noticed you avoid mentioning conceptual poetry altogether - ?

it seems theres still plenty of thematics around to me .. but i probably only dip into whatever reading world yrs is .. wd be interesting to anthologise the post avant thematically perhaps .. sex-eco-whatever was reading about 2 sexed texts today (bergvall & dorn in ian davidsons ideas of space in contemporary poetry) but i do think u have something - that theres so much reservation toward narrative & explicit theme that the language gets knotted - curtained? - im interested in writing about sex more - or at least differently -

tho to some extent ive had reservations about it because of its recent domination of the lit world generally thru the 'sexy' memoir .. in australia anyway not that i think poetry shdnt take on proses themes & do them better regards

michael

> Date: Wed, 24 Aug 2011 08:44:43 -0700
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: "Post-Avant: A Meta-Narrative"
> To: [redacted]
>
> In 2010, Penned in the Margins, a UK press, released an anthology in the UK called "Stress Fractures." The anthology contained an essay of mine called "Post-Avant: A Meta-Narrative." Now, the essay is available to be seen in the US on Issuu:
>
> http://issuu.com/afieled/docs/postavantmetanarrative
>
> The essay is my reaction to what happened in the summer of '09 on Stoning the Devil around "post-avant" as a possible movement in poetics.
>
> Thanks,

> Adam Fieled

↑ Index

120. michael farrell
Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
Thu 25 Aug 2011

godards use of poetry in film is interesting

http://michaelbenedikt.tripod.com/godard.html

i think he wrote some of what appears to be eluard in the film?

jacques demy also esp

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Les_Demoiselles_de_Rochefort

&

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Peau_d%27%C3%82ne tho most feature films that approach poetry seem bad - i liked henry fool, sokurovs the sun (wonderful)

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Sun_%28film%29

& nerolio (pasolini biopic)

i wrote a sequence called codas which are a series of poems which parody film reviews while reviewing songs by oasis - i can send them b/c if u like

michael

> Date: Tue, 23 Aug 2011 23:34:59 -0400
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
> To: [redacted]
>
> *You may consider my poem The Spiritual Life of Replicants which came out by Talisman House last month The poem uses a poetics based on film language in its construction.*
>
> Ciao,
> Murat
>
> On Mon, Aug 22, 2011 at 5:18 PM, Eireene Nealand <[redacted]> wrote:
>
> Hi everyone,
>
> I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:

> Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception
>
> or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any recommendations for assignments or readings.
>
> Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical placement, voice of witness assignments.
>
> So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...
>
> Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have less accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.
>
> Thanks in advance.
>
> Eireene

↑ Index

121. Jennifer Karmin

Red Rover Series / Experiment #49

Thu 25 Aug 2011

Red Rover Series
{readings that play with reading}

Experiment #49:
Full-Body Poetics

FRIDAY, AUGUST 26th
7:30pm / doors lock 8pm
please note change from usual time

Featuring:
Geof Huth
Steve Roggenbuck

at Outer Space Studio
1474 N. Milwaukee Ave
Chicago, Illinois
suggested donation $4

logistics --
near CTA Damen blue line
third floor walk up
not wheelchair accessible

GEOF HUTH writes frequently about poetry, visual and otherwise, at his blog, dbqp: visualizing poetics. His poetry consists of one-word poems, poems written in unintelligible scripts, poems painted onto canvas or assembled within boxes, poems sung and audio- or videorecorded during the moments of their creation, poems created within nature and left to disappear back into it, and even syntactic text separated into lines. Each of his poetry performances attempts to use his entire body fully to examine the possible extent of poetry. His latest book is "ntst: the collected pwoermds of geof huth", a book of 775 one-word poems. http://dbqp.blogspot.com

STEVE ROGGENBUCK, i started writing in 2006 as a poet, and now iâ€™m not sure if iâ€™m a poet or something else. i am 23 years old and i live in chicago. i grew up in rural michigan and played in a death metal band in high school. i am a vegan and a buddhist. everything i make is available free online, self-published into the public domain. i have two short books: one of msn messenger excerpts set in large helvetica, "DOWNLOAD HELVETICA FOR FREE.COM", and one of minimalist plain-text poems, "i am like october when i am dead". http://livemylief.com

RED ROVER SERIES is curated by Laura Goldstein and Jennifer Karmin. Each event is designed as a reading experiment with participation by local, national, and international writers, artists, and performers. The series was founded in 2005 by Amina Cain and Jennifer Karmin.

UPCOMING

Experiment #50: September 24th
Bad Date America - 100 Thousand Poets for Change
Dan Godston, Laura Goldstein, Philip Jenks,
Jennifer Karmin, Francesco Levato, Anthony Madrid,
Charlie Newman, Larry Sawyer, Don Share, Tony Trigilio,
Lina Ramona Vitkauskas & more TBA

Experiment #51: October 1st
Encyclopedia Volume 2 (F-K)
Tisa Bryant, Gabrielle Civil,
Carina Farrero, Krista Franklin & John Keene

Experiment #52: November 6th
Small Press Publishing Forum
Charles Alexander, Patrick Durgin & Susan M. Schultz

Email ideas for reading experiments
to us at [redacted]

The schedule for events is listed at
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/redroverseries

WOW WOW WOW
Red Rover Series
on facebook? why not?

↑ Index

122. Tim Peterson
Open Call: Anthology of Trans & Genderqueer Poetry
Fri 26 Aug 2011

OPEN CALL FOR AN ANTHOLOGY OF TRANS & GENDERQUEER POETRY

Dear Author,

We want your words.

What is the project: We are creating an anthology. An anthology of the best poems out there by trans and genderqueer writers and we would love to include your work in the book. Our assumption is that the writing of trans and genderqueer folks has something more than coincidence in common with the experimental, the radical, and the innovative in poetry and poetics (as we idiosyncratically define these categories), and with your help we'd like to manifest that something (or somethings) in a genderqueer multipoetics, a critical mass of trans fabulousness.

This anthology is edited by TC Tolbert and Tim Peterson (Trace)—both trans-identified poets. It will be published by EOAGH Books in early 2012, and you can bet it will be widely distributed!

Deadline for Submissions: Nov 30, 2011

What to Submit: 7-10 pages of poetry, and a prose "poetics" statement (see below)

Where to Submit: email us at [redacted]

Why is this anthology important: While trans and genderqueer poets have existed for hundreds, if not thousands, of years, there has never been a collection of poetry exclusively by trans and genderqueer writers that also highlights a diverse range of poetics and other marginalized identities. Each particular understanding of self and gender creates an essentially complex and rich multipoetics that undermines any sort of universal trans aesthetic. Inherently multi-vocal and anti-hegemonic, a singular trans experience simply does not exist and, frankly, we don't want it to. For this reason, an anthology is the most conducive venue for undoing any attempted whitewashing and/or homogenizing of an imagined trans voice. As we said, we want your words. The words, syntax, perspective, lyric, narrative, image (or the disruption of any of these) that could actually only come from you.

What kind of writing are we looking for: This anthology seeks writing that makes us wet our panties a little bit and wonder what the f have we been doing with our lives all this time*. While this project exists in a historical context of several important anthologies that gather marginalized and under-represented writers (This Bridge Called My Back, No More Masks, The Open Boat, The World in Us, etc), this will be the first anthology to foreground the poetic writings of trans and genderqueer authors. The book will feature 7-10 pages of work from approximately 35 poets and we hope you will be one of them!

A meta-layer of fabulous: One thing that makes this anthology unique is that it will include a statement on poetics by each participant, along with your poems. This is a chance for you to tell us something about your writing process, writing practice, theory of life, or whatever you like. It might include the relationship of the body and text, or the practice of reading and misreading text and the body, or locations, connections, and divisions of the self amongst text and the self amongst other bodies or...you get the point.

*About the editors: *

* *

TC Tolbert is a genderqueer, feminist poet and teacher committed to social justice. S/he is the Assistant Director of Casa Libre en la Solana and an Adjunct Instructor at The University of Arizona and Pima Community College. S/he is the creator of Made for Flight, a youth empowerment project that utilizes creative writing and kite building to commemorate murdered transgender people and to dismantle homophobia and transphobia. TC's chapbook, territories of folding, was recently published by Kore Press. His poems can be found in Volt, The Pinch, Drunken Boat, Shampoo, A Trunk of Delirium, jubilat, and EOAGH. His work won the Arizona Statewide Poetry Competition in 2010 and was a Sawtooth finalist in 2009 and 2010. His first full length collection, Gephyromania, is forthcoming from Ahsahta Press. www.tctolbert.com

Tim Peterson (Trace) is a trans-identified poet, critic, and editor. The author of Since I Moved In (Chax Press), and Violet Speech (2nd Avenue Poetry), Peterson also edits EOAGH: A Journal of the Arts (which published a special issue Queering Language dedicated to trans poet and mentor kari edwards in 2007). Peterson's poetry and criticism have been published in *Colorado

Review, EBR, Five Fingers Review, Harvard Review, Leonardo Electronic Almanac, The Poetry Project Newsletter, Transgender Tapestry*, and in the recent book NO GENDER: Reflections on the Life and Work of kari edwards(Belladonna/Limus Press). A Ph.D. student at CUNY Graduate Center, Peterson curates the TENDENCIES: Poetics & Practice talks series dedicated to queer writing and the manifesto. More information at http://tendenciespoetics.com

We are incredibly excited about this project and look forward to working with you!

Thank you!

TC and Trace

↑ Index

123. Bonnie MacAllister

Deadline for Print Submissions: September 30

Fri 26 Aug 2011

Please spread the word that the deadline for Certain Circuits 2.1 is on Sept. 30.

Founded by artists, Certain Circuits publishes poetry, experimental prose, art, and new media. We are especially interested in documenting multimedia collaborative work between artists. We published issue 1.1 in June 2011 which features work from artists in Australia, Brazil, France, Mexico, India, Japan, Uruguay, the United Kingdom, and the United States.

For our second print issue, we are accepting submission of poetry, short prose, art, and multimedia (film/video stills). Please send jpgs at 300 dpi.

Mail to [redacted].

http://www.certaincircuits.org

Limited copies of issue 1.1 are available at Square Peg Artery and Salvage<http://squarepegartery.com/>and the Big Blue Marble Bookstore <http://www.bigbluemarblebooks.com/>.

Our next multimedia issue launches on September 1 at 10 EST on http://www.certaincircuits.org. We accept multimedia and art submissions on a rolling basis.

Best,
Bonnie MacAllister
Curator
Certain Circuits Media

Facebook: Certain Circuits Magazine<https://www.facebook.com/certaincircuits> Twitter: Certain Circuits <http://twitter.com/#!/certaincircuits> Tumblr: certaincircuits.tumblr.com

↑ Index

124. Camille Martin

Of homunculi and shibboleths (and poetry, too)

Fri 26 Aug 2011

Hello, all. To make it easier for anyone interested in my essays on poetry, poetics, experimental film, cognitive science, and culture (especially New Orleans and Cajun). I've added a list of links to my blog, Rogue Embryo).

Below is the current list of more than forty essays and reviews (time for a book?). Links can be found here:

http://rogueembryo.wordpress.com/my-essays-and-reviews/

Comments welcome!

Cheers,
Camille Martin

1) Poetics / Culture of Poetry
• Musicality in Poetry
• We are all Walloon poets
• Poetry’s 49th Parallel: Canadian/American Shibboleths
• The Majlis Collaborative Experience
• On Homunculi, Steam Locomotives, and Hans Clodhopper (interview)
• The Fledgling Book Flies the Nest

2) Reviews and Close Readings
• Ken Belford’s Decompositions: Intelligent Nature
• Charles Borkhuis: “Write What I Say”
• Besmilr Brigham: The Place of Place
• Joel Chace: Cleaning the Mirror
• “G” is for Genre: Maxine Chernoff’s Todorov
• Robert Creeley and Francesco Clemente’s Anamorphosis: Death and the Stuff of Dreams
• Connie Deanovich’s Essence of Saint
• Pixel-Gene Hybridity: David Dowker’s Machine Language
• “how many years without death”: Larry Eigner’s memento mori
• Samuel Greenberg: The Lowly Eye
• Samuel Greenberg’s Braided Secrets
• Barbara Guest’s Musicalities
• Anselm Hollo: “Hard to say whether the jars’ve gotten any lighter.”

• Trevor Joyce: Let them eat fire
• Signifying the Tradition: Kaie Kellough's Maple Leaf Rag
• Bill Knott's Strong-Lined Sonnets
• Ann Lauterbach's Pilgrim of Desire
• Rupert Loydell: Empty Lawns and Battered Days
• "I know I am traveling all the time": The Twilight Dreams of Artur Lundquist
• Kimberly Lyons' Fleeting Continuum
• Joseph Massey: The Language of Desire to Speak
• Meredith Quartermain's Martian Feast
• Miklos Radnoti (1909 – 1944)
• Monty Reid's The Luskville Reductions: Poems from a Phantom Settlement
• Reading the Minds of Events: Leslie Scalapino's Plural Time
• Remembering remembering Leslie Scalapino
• Adam Seelig's Every Day in the Morning (Slow)
• Poetic Polyphony in Scott Thurston's Internal Rhyme
• Alberta Turner: What do you mean, mean?
• Robert Zend's Daymares: Dreams Report the Bankruptcy of Words

3) Experimental Film
• Decasia: The Seeds of Destruction
• Extreme Inefficiency of the Rube Goldberg Machine: Peter Fischli and David Weiss's The Way Things Go

4) Cognitive Science • I. From Motorcycle to Biopsy: The Messy Desk of the Mind • II. "I hate my birthday!"—Or, what do elegies by New York school poets have in common with the story of an Italian anarchist? • Hypnagogic Dreams: John Franklin's Fig Newton on a Piano Stool

5) Culture (New Orleans, Cajun)
• Passion Flowers, Gulf Fritillary Butterflies, and Cultural Exoticism
• Fat Tuesday, Krewe of St. Anne: A Photo Essay
• One Stop Shopping: Tuxedos and Po-Boys
• All That Glitters on the Spiderweb: Myth, Race, and Denial
• St. Roch Chapel in New Orleans, a Parallel Universe
• Parallel Universes Redux – St. Joseph's Altar in New Orleans, a Hybrid Feast

↑ Index

125. Jonathan Skinner

BlazeVOX authors' launch (Skinner, Brox, Hadbawnik) in Buffalo 8/27

Fri 26 Aug 2011

I am reading in Buffalo tomorrow with two FABULOUS poets, David Hadbawnik and Robin Brox. We are launching our new BlazeVOX titles. I am very excited to present Birds of Tifft, my book-length ode to South Buffalo. Deeply discounted copies! Sat. 27th Aug. 8 pm. Rust Belt Books (on Allen Street). Please join us . . .

http://www.justbuffalo.org/index.php?task=view&id=60&show=793

JS

↑ Index

126. Alan Sondheim

WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US? (please post!)

Sat 27 Aug 2011

WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US?

Please look at http://www.alansondheim.org/skypejunk.jpg THIS IS THE "NEW" SKYPE INTERFACE ON MY MACHINE! Note: First of all, the statement at the bottom: "Your contacts have not been very active recently..." Really? What business is it of Skype? Maybe they haven't been active just with me? Maybe they're calling me on the phone, we're meeting for lunch? This isn't funny - it's a hideous invasion of privacy. It's also telling me: MY CON- TACTS SHOULD BE ACTIVE AND SHOULD BE ACTIVE WITH ME. It's social engineer- ing at it's worst. Look at the chummy slot above: "Tell your friends what you've been up to" - again, what business is it of theirs? And so many of us use these applications as if they're neutral or helpful, whatever. Skype started off like a lot of these things as bare-bones (think of Fb, MySpace, etc.), and slowly began to take over our lives. And all of us good little theorists (included) just use these things as if we're REALLY saying something. (Don't worry, I'm not theorizing here, I'm fucking RANTING!) On a personal level, I can't stand this presumed chumminess; I'm using the phone or IM outside of Skype when I can. But this stuff goes on and on. We can't communicate without consulting our goddamn Iphones, we can't listen to music without ITunes maximum-prophet interface, we buy into Fb's "friends" or +'s "circles" - and since when in the psat million years have we quantified or classified our friends (well maybe in grade school). Go back and read Sartre on seriality and authenticity - my complaint is nothing new here, but what surprises me is how we accept all of this along with Wired mag's hyperbole, etc. etc. PEOPLE ARE STARVING IN THE HORN OF AFRICA: MAYBE WE SHOULD FRIEND THEM!!!

↑ Index

127. Adam Fieled
"Waxing Hot" on Issuu
Sat 27 Aug 2011

"Waxing Hot" was a series of Poetics dialogues on the blog-journal PFS Post, operative from '05-'10. This is a Waxing Hot dialogue between Adam Fieled, the editor, and Illinois poet Gabriel Gudding:

http://issuu.com/afieled/docs/fieledgudding

Are the issues raised still relevant today? It's for you to decide.
Many Thanks,
Adam Fieled

↑ Index

128. Vernon Frazer
MOVING ON: a Video from Vernon Frazer
Sat 27 Aug 2011

Hello

Here's my latest video. Hope you enjoy it.

Vernon

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BMLtgjM144s

↑ Index

129. Paul Nelson
SPLAB Presents
Sat 27 Aug 2011

Though this will only strengthen Kevin Killian's chara
Dear SUNY-ites,

Though this will only strengthen Kevin Killian's characterization of me as "That guy who interviews Canadian poets" I still present a new interview with George Bowering on his new book My Darling Nellie Greyhere: http://splab.org/2011/08/george-bowering-my-darling-nellie-grey/and Trevor Carolan on the new book he edited called Making Waves: Reading BC and Pacific Northwest Literature here: http://splab.org/2010/11/interviews/

Our upcoming SPLAB schedule, including readings by Nico Vassilakis, Mickey O'Connor, Cedar Sigo (as part of 100 Thousand Poets for Change) and Brenda Hillman is also available at http://splab.org/

Finally, if you ever wondered what Crispy Pimp was, find out in my first report from our trip to the Qinghai Lake International Poetry Festival in Xining, China. (Yes, the one that featured Bei Dao's return to China.)

Blessings SUNYites.

Paul Nelson
Seattle, WA

Paul E. Nelson

SPLAB!
C. City, WA
[redacted]

↑ Index

130. Rosalie Calabrese

Fw: Rosalie Calabrese Poetry update

Sun 28 Aug 2011

My next readings:

Sunday, September 18 at 2:00 PM:
West Side Community Garden
entrances at 89th + 90th St.
between Amsterdam & Columbus Ave.
Free Admission; Donations Accepted
(No Rain Date; No Open Mic)

Subway: 1 or C to 86th St.
Bus: 7, 11, 104, 10 or 86th St. Crosstown

Saturday, September 24, 7:00 - 8:30
Motherhood Museum Benefit Reading

At the Museumâ€™s Pop-up quarters in NYC

401 East 84th St.(1st Ave. Lower Level)
Admission: $15 - benefits Museum of Motherhood(Open Mic, if time allows)

Subway: 4, 5, or 6 to 86th & Lexington Ave,

Bus: 86th St. Crosstown + Ave.BusesSeptember 26, 6:00 - 8:30 PM
PEN American Center
588 Broadway - Suite 303 between Houston & Prince
Free Admission; Reception
(No Open Mic)

Subway: F/V/B/D to Broadway-Lafayette
R/W to Prince St.; 6 to Bleecker St.
Two recently published poems and a short memoir:

WOMENâ€™S WORK

â€œWomenâ€™s music,â€ he said with disdain when we heard that piece I liked a lot, so I wasnâ€™t too surprised by his non-reaction to my poems Iâ€™d given him to read.

His abstract mind wants something tough to dig into,
like soil hardened by lack of rain in a place where boys donâ€™t cry.

Even under the best conditions, life tends to hang in the balance.
If womenâ€™s work will keep the scale from tipping,
I say more power to it.

{Published in Critical Sociology, Vol. 37,Â No.3, 2011}

MIXED EMOTIONS
Â Â Â (For Chris, October 11, 1966)

Newly graduated from the Red Cross diaper-folding class,
Lamaze the buzzword,
I opt for Sodium Pentothal
and a good sleep,
leaving my mother to count toes,
check weight, hold your first bottle,
make sure the scrotum's intact.
A scrawny 22 inches,
you know better than to cry
when she hands you over, cleverly binding me with lashes already long as your father's, eyes the color of an Italian plum.

{Published in Psychoanalytic Perspectives, Vol. 8, No. 1, Spring 2011}

Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â
Â MISSING
Â Â Â

A few years ago, when most invitations still came by snail mail, I received a card announcing a party celebrating the publication of a book by Irving Wexler.

I had met Irving a few times at And Then release parties and remembered him as an elderly gentleman whose politics were definitely but, not surprisingly, left of center; in other words, an interesting person. However, being someone whose friends know they can safely tell me their darkest secrets because I wonâ€™t remember them, Iâ€™m not sure if this is really the man I remember conversing with. Perhaps â€œheâ€ is a conglomeration of people â€“ men and women â€“Â Iâ€™ve met through And Then, but no matter. I accepted the invitation.

The address, as I recall, was midtown on Sixth Avenue. Of course, this could be the location of some other event Iâ€™ve gone to, but it will have to do for now. Things get a bit clearer after this.

Standing outside what seemed to be more of an office building than an apartment house, at first I was confused about how to get in. Luckily a young couple came along and, once it was determined that we were going to the same place, it was smooth sailing, although one doesnâ€™t quite sail in an elevator. Be that as it may, I got to the party unscathed.

In the front hall of the apartment stood an old-fashioned rack with arms like antlers. Although I had been sure not to arrive too early, the rack was still fairly empty, so thatâ€™s where I left my coat and (with only the slightest hesitation) my new silk scarf. Not immediately seeing anyone I knew, and the hostess seemingly busy, I took myself on a tour of the place, which I recall as basically one large area broken up into a living room and sleep space ingeniously draped in fabric and beads. I never did find the kitchen, or the bathroom for that matter, although Iâ€™m sure they were there somewhere.

To continue: in the main room was a table displaying Irving Wexlerâ€™s book. I checked my watch.Â Irving was obviously running late, as was everyone else I had expected to see. I went back to the entryway to check that my coat and scarf were still on the rack; they were. Just then, who should enter but . . . no, not Irving Wexler: Joanie and Bobby, whom I hadnâ€™t seen in maybe twenty years, since my off-off Broadway days. Amazingly, we recognized each other right away â€“ I even remembered theirÂ names!

Going back to the book room, which was also where the food and drinks were, I saw that Robert Roth had arrived. He, of course, knew everyone there, so I waited until he worked his way over to me. Thatâ€™s when I found out that Irving wasnâ€™t expected by anyone but me. The party, Robert explained, was in honor of the posthumous publication of Irvingâ€™s book. â€œDonâ€™t you remember when he died?â€ Robert asked rather incredulously.

I gave him my best enigmatic smile. But, really, if Irving didnâ€™t want people to think heâ€™s no longer with us, he could rest assured that his secret would be safe with me. Still, to prove once again that no good deed goes unpunished, when I went to get my coat and scarf to go home, like Irvingâ€™s book without Irving the coat was there, but the scarf was missing.Â

{This memoir, written at the request of Robert Roth, appears in the new issue of And Then, Vol. 16, 2011} Â Â Â

↑ Index

131. Mark Young

Out from Otoliths — Tom Beckett's "PARTS AND OTHER PIECES"

Sun 28 Aug 2011

Now out from Otoliths

PARTS AND OTHER PIECES

Tom Beckett

80 pages

Front cover image by Rosaire Appel

Otoliths, 2011

ISBN: 978-0-9808785-6-1

$13.45 + p&h

URL: http://www.lulu.com/product/paperback/parts-and-other-pieces/16663935

The difficulties that language presents have their analogues in life. Whether posed, or proposed, or just tenuously poised on the thin line that divides articulation from understanding, the phrases and phrasings of Tom Beckett's elegant and nervous Parts and Other Pieces challenge the givens of experience. The excitement and beauty of this four-part book are the product of a mismatch between words and worlds. And it is, indeed, a beautiful and exciting book. Variously witty, angst-ridden, melancholy, sweet, Beckett's parts provoke a powerful whole. —Lyn Hejinian

If Tom Beckett cares about anything, it’s everything. “Are you with me, Columbus?” Why yes, you are, we naturally reply, since Beckett has asked us a question he already knows the answer to, since he loves and respects the durability of our imaginations, desires, impulses and anxieties. Our answers, in substance and scope, are the very near silent dialogues that Beckett hears in the thought acts generated by poetry: openness taken from the shadows of openness alone. Beckett’s poetry has always reminded me that we are all in the process of our obsessions, where “What I might be able to do for you and not myself is to/mirror you,/establish your presence." Tom Beckett is the poet in all our poems, goofing off when we harden in our terrible seriousness, and in the next moment, attentively concerned with how loud we just laughed. —Jordan Stempleman

Tom Beckett writes from the lab. His work, in its observational acuity, gives back to us all the stuff we see floating in the peripheries – of language, of social order, of identity – and places it smack dab under the lens. Where it pulls us in, performs for us, makes us marvel at its range, occasionally repels us, often makes us chortle. Parts and Other Pieces is alive, emotionally raw, self-effacingly hilarious, and ultimately quite beautiful. Beckett is the master; we're damned lucky he's got the white coat. —Jessica Grim

Tom Beckett's *Parts and Other Pieces *bristles with a fierce, rhythmic relentlessness. These are poems of urgent self-reflection, caught between the demands of everyday life and a consciousness haunted by spikes of piercing perception. —Charles Bernstein

"As a writer," we read in an interview with Tom Beckett, "it can be more important to pay a lot of attention to a few things rather than a little attention to a lot of things." Touché! Beckett's new collection begins with a sequence of questions posed on the Ohio State campus (Goodbye Columbus!) and responds with a series of answers—not quite to the original questions and hence all the more pertinent and mysterious. The connection between A and B is provided by the middle section, "Between Asymmetries," whose maxims, written under the sign of Emerson, enact the truth that "Language grids support the inexplicable." The final poem, the minimalist "Parts" provides the "break (brake)" that makes everything that precedes it come together in one radiant whole. —Marjorie Perloff

Also by Tom Beckett & available from The Otoliths Storefront<http://stores.lulu.com/l_m_young>
:

This Poem / What Speaks? / A Day

& the three volumes of the classic interview series:

E-X-C-H-A-N-G-E-V-A-L-U-E-S: The First XI interviews

E-X-C-H-A-N-G-E-V-A-L-U-E-S: The Second XV interviews

E-X-C-H-A-N-G-E-V-A-L-U-E-S: The Final XIV interviews + One

↑ Index

132. Jonathan Morse
I blog here about the poetics of shadow
Mon 29 Aug 2011

http://theartpart.jonathanmorse.net/2011/08/mots-gratuits/

↑ Index

133. cris cheek
Sophie Robinson at Miami Ohio, fyi
Mon 29 Aug 2011

Sophie Robinson poet

Tuesday 30 August, 2011
7.30pm : Bachelor Reading Room

Sophie Robinson was born in 1985. She lives and works in London. Her first book, a, came out from Les Figues press (Los Angeles, 2009). Her 2010 chapbook, the lotion, was recently shortlisted for the Michael Marks Prize for Poetry Pamphlets. Her work has already been included in several anthologies including Infinite Difference: Other Poetries by Women in the UK (Shearsman 2010), Voice Recognition: 21 Poets for the 21st Century (Bloodaxe 2009) and The Reality Street Book of Sonnets (Reality Street 2008). In January 2011, she was appointed as poet in residence at the Victoria & Albert Museum. Sophie is currently completing a PhD in Queer Poetics at Royal Holloway, University of London.

Supported by the English Department and presented by Creative Writing

↑ Index

134. Jeffrey Side
Interview with Micah Ballard at The Argotist Online
Mon 29 Aug 2011

Interview with Micah Ballard at The Argotist Online:
http://www.argotistonline.co.uk/Ballard%20interview.htm

↑ Index

135. Naomi Buck Palagi
Tuesday Funk Reading, Chicago
Mon 29 Aug 2011

I'll be reading at the Tuesday Funk series on September 6th, 7:30pm

I'll be reading at the Tuesday Funk series on September 6th, 7:30pm at the fabulous Hopleaf Bar in Chicago-- best food and beer in Chicago, along with a great line-up of readers: Edison Blake, Carissa DiGiovanni, AD Jameson, Noreen Natale, and Naomi Buck Palagi For details, visit:
http://www.tuesdayfunk.org/hopleaf/

Come and enjoy!
-Naomi

↑ Index

136. Aldonlnielsen
Re: Samuel Menashe 1925-2011
Mon 29 Aug 2011

---

as it happens, Willis Barnstone's THE DREAM BELOW THE SUN: SELECTED POEMS OF ANTONIO MACHADO (1981) translates those lines almost exactly that way -- only without the "now" at the beginning. It's from "Canciones." The next section of the poem begins again, "La primavera ha venido," but this time Barnstone translates, "The spring has come," which is closer to Sam's rhythm.

Aldon Lynn Nielsen

Kelly Professor of American Literature
Department of English
117 Burrowes Building
The Pennsylvania State University
University Park, PA
16802-6200

Sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com

I never wanted to be the man who broke your heart --
Only wanted to be the man who wrote the song --

That broke your heart

On Aug 24, 2011, at 6:52 PM, Margaret Carson <[redacted]> wrote:

> Sad news. A few years ago I met Samuel Menashe at a poetry event at CUNY Graduate Center. He asked me what I did and when I mentioned that I sometimes translated poetry from Spanish, he told me that without really knowing much Spanish he had translated some well-known lines by Antonio Machado. He took a piece of paper and wrote out the original Machado and his translation:
>
> La primavera ha venido
> Nadie sabe cÃ³mo ha sido

> Now spring has come
> No one knows how
>
> Machado never sounded better in English. I wonder, were there more translations?

↑ Index

137. Alan Sondheim

Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

Mon 29 Aug 2011

Donna Cameron, Su Friedrich (excellent) -

On Thu, 25 Aug 2011, steve dalachinsky wrote:

> ah brackage painted on film many have scratched on it as well
>
> On Tue, 23 Aug 2011 22:52:46 +0000 "Wystan Curnow (ARTS ENG)"
> <[redacted]> writes:
> Hi Eireene,
> I think you should look at len Lye's 'direct' film, 'Free Radicals' on Youtube.
> Lye made this film by scratching onto black leader, this is as indexically proprioceptive as cinema > can get, so that it is in the process also writing--there are letters-- as cinema.
> Wystan
>
> Wystan Curnow
> Professor of English (Emeritus)
> University of Auckland
> Private Bag 92019
> Auckland, NEW ZEALAND
> Ph. 64.09.3737599 work
> 64.09. [redacted] home
> Fax 64.09. 3737429
>
> _____
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Eireene Nealand [[redacted]]
> Sent: Tuesday, 23 August 2011 9:18 a.m.
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
>
> Hi everyone,

> I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:
>
> Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception
>
> or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any recommendations for assignments or readings.
>
> Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical placement, voice of witness assignments.
>
> So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...
>
> Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have less > accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.
>
> Thanks in advance.
>
> Eireene

==
email archive http://sondheim.rupamsunyata.org/
webpage http://www.alansondheim.org
music archive: http://www.espdisk.com/alansondheim/current text http://www.alansondheim.org/rd.txt
==

↑ Index

138. Adam Fieled
"Twenty-First Century Poetry and Poetics"
Mon 29 Aug 2011

"Twenty-First Century Poetry and Poetics" is an essay that originally appeared in Poetry Salzburg Review 18, from University of Salzburg Press, in 2010. This is an extended version of that essay, with more of a focus on European/American dynamics. I hope you like it:

http://www.scribd.com/doc/63513441/Twenty-First-Century-Poetry-and-Poetics

Thanks,
Adam Fieled [redacted]

↑ Index

139. Murat Nemet-Nejat
Re: WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US? (please post!)
Mon 29 Aug 2011

Alan, I am with you completely. I have done my own ranting on the subject particulary against those who see nothing but "new possibilities" in the advent of the internet --greater and fancier interconnectedness, wider and richer accessibilities...

As a recent observer of google stated, what google is peddling is not information but human attention -free information or free calls through skype are just the cheese for a more and more perfect moustrap...

Ciao,
Murat

On Sat, Aug 27, 2011 at 1:56 AM, Alan Sondheim <[redacted]> wrote:

> WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US?
>
> Please look at > http://www.alansondheim.org/skypejunk.jpg<http://www.alansondheim.org/
> skypejunk.jpg>THIS IS THE "NEW"
> SKYPE INTERFACE ON MY MACHINE! Note: First of all, the statement at the > bottom: "Your contacts have not been very active recently..." Really? What > business is it of Skype? Maybe they haven't been active just with me?
> Maybe they're calling me on the phone, we're meeting for lunch? This isn't > funny - it's a hideous invasion of privacy. It's also telling me: MY CON- > TACTS SHOULD BE ACTIVE AND SHOULD BE ACTIVE WITH ME. It's social > engineer- > ing at it's worst. Look at the chummy slot above: "Tell your friends what > you've been up to" - again, what business is it of theirs? And so many of > us use these applications as if they're neutral or helpful, whatever.
> Skype started off like a lot of these things as bare-bones (think of Fb, > MySpace, etc.), and slowly began to take over our lives. And all of us > good little theorists (included) just use these things as if we're REALLY > saying something. (Don't worry, I'm not theorizing here, I'm fucking > RANTING!) On a personal level, I can't stand this presumed chumminess; I'm > using the phone or IM outside of Skype when I can. But this stuff goes on > and on. We can't communicate without consulting our goddamn Iphones, we > can't listen to music without ITunes maximum-prophet interface, we buy > into Fb's "friends" or +'s "circles" - and since when in the psat million > years have we quantified or classified our friends (well maybe in grade school). Go back and read Sartre on seriality and authenticity - my complaint is nothing new here, but what surprises me is how we accept all of this along with Wired mag's hyperbole, etc. etc. PEOPLE ARE STARVING IN THE HORN OF AFRICA: MAYBE WE SHOULD FRIEND THEM!!!

>
> ==============

↑ Index

140. Rob McLennan

essay on sainte-adele, family history, collaboration + christine mcnair,

Mon 29 Aug 2011

---

a small essay i wrote on sainte-adele, quebec + a collaboration im working with poet christine mcnair, now posted at open book:

http://www.openbookontario.com/news/sainte_ad%C3%A8le_redux

rob

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

141. Mark Weiss

Re: Sophie Robinson at Miami Ohio, fyi

Mon 29 Aug 2011

Hi, Cris. If she's going to be reading in NY this trip tell her to make sure I get an email.

Best,

Mark

-----Original Message-----
>From: cris cheek <[redacted]>
>Sent: Aug 29, 2011 12:52 PM
>To: [redacted]
>Subject: Sophie Robinson at Miami Ohio, fyi
>
>Sophie Robinson poet
>

>Tuesday 30 August, 2011
>7.30pm : Bachelor Reading Room
>
>Sophie Robinson was born in 1985. She lives and works in London. Her first book, a, came out from Les Figues press (Los Angeles, 2009). Her 2010 chapbook, the lotion, was recently shortlisted for the Michael Marks Prize for Poetry Pamphlets. Her work has already been included in several anthologies including Infinite Difference: Other Poetries by Women in the UK (Shearsman 2010), Voice Recognition: 21 Poets for the 21st Century (Bloodaxe 2009) and The Reality Street Book of Sonnets (Reality Street 2008). In January 2011, she was appointed as poet in residence at the Victoria & Albert Museum. Sophie is currently completing a PhD in Queer Poetics at Royal Holloway, University of London.
>
>
>
>Supported by the English Department and presented by Creative Writing

↑ Index

142. Hugh Behm-Steinberg
Announcing Issue 11 of Eleven Eleven
Tue 30 Aug 2011

Announcing the new, massively fabulous 11th issue of Eleven Eleven! Go here:

http://www.spdbooks.org/Producte/154824311/eleven-eleven-issue-11.aspx

Buy Eleven!

So what's in #11 of 1111?

Awesome poetry by Jeff Alessandrelli, Bridget Bell, Anne Blonstein, Lisa Ciccarello & Lauren Eggert-Crowe, Sarah Anne Cox, Brett DeFries, Betsy Fagin, Elise Ficarra, Elisa Gabbert & Kathleen Rooney, Robert Glick, Derek Henderson, Larkin Higgins, Megan Kaminski, Joy Katz, Evan Kennedy, Quraysh Ali Lansana, Laura LeHew, Dana Teen Lomax, Travis Macdonald, Stephen Massimilla, rob mclennan, Shane McCrae, James Meetze, David Antonio Moody, Rusty Morrison, Renee K. Nelson, Jean-Paul Pecqueur, Dawn Pendergast, Meredith Quartermain, Khadijah Queen, Katherine Riegel, Trish Salah, Susan M. Schultz, Aaron Shurin, Laura Sims, Laura Wetherington, Shelley Wong, Jessica Young, Carolyn Zaikowski and Rachel Zolf;

Brilliant fiction by Joan Aiken, Soha Al-Jurf, Andrew Cothren, Timothy Crandle, David Driscoll, Nick Ekkizogloy, Abigail Gavit, Erica Plouffe Lazure, Stacey

Levine, Michael McCauley, Maceo Montoya, John Olson, Don Peteroy and Farangis Siahpour;

Insightful essays by Jehanne Dubrow, Susan Griffin, Mary Ruefle and Emily Meg Weinstein;

Necessary translations of work by José Eugenio Sánchez (Anna Rosen Guercio), Jules Laforgue (Donald Revell), Kiwao Nomura (Forrest Gander and Kyoko Yoshida) and Naoko Awa (Toshiya Kamei);

Banging art by Fiona Armour, Jody Alexander, Melissa Cooke, Dru Donovan, Mayumi Hamanaka, Nemo Gould, Talia Greene, Heidi Jensen, Dennis Johnson, Unai San Martin, Zach Mory, Sara Schneckloth, Youngsuk Suh, Katherine Westerhout and Noah Wilson;

An excerpt from Enrique Urueta's sidesplitting farce, "Learn to be Latina;"

Interviews with Paul Harding and Clint Imboden;

A recovery project of 1930's poet Charlotte Wilder (ably introduced by Caroline Maun);

And reviews of Deus Ex
Machina by Andrew Foster Altschul, Wolf Face by Matt Hart, The Lost and Forgotten Languages of Shanghai by Ruiyan Xu and The Fates Will Find Their Way by Hannah Pittard.

Many thanks to the staff of this issue: Juliana Paslay, Crys Lehman, Miquila Alejandre, Erin Heath, Brandy Bevins, Nick Johnson, Carolyn Abram, Adam Fagin, Leonard Crosby, Neil Uzzell and Srividya Suryanarayanan.

If you haven't made travel plans already, come to our issue 11 release party, on 11/11, at 1111 8th St. in San Francisco, featuring 11 writers and culminating at 11:11 PM. Apocalypse to follow shortly thereafter.

Cheers,

Hugh Behm-Steinberg
Faculty Editor
Eleven Eleven

↑ Index

143. Jesse Glass

Re: WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US? (please post!) Alan's Awakening!

Tue 30 Aug 2011

Alan Sondheim is finally starting to get the picture! Your personal freedom dies the death of a thousand cuts when you give your information to what is an increasingly Fascistic, corporate, on-line future. And how cheaply thousands of the young and old have done it, do it, and will continue to do so. Alan's been doing it at least since the 1980's, as he's a pioneer at this sort of thing, I believe. Haven't you? It's like an old fashioned monkey trap: a hollowed-out coconut with some rice inside and a hole just big enough for the insertion of one experimental paw. But when the monkey tries to get back to his keyboard and makes a fist to take the rice with him...ah! Big Brother has got him and he thrashes and RAVES! Thanks so much for this birthday message, Alan. I'll share your Awakening with my friends. I have faith in you to keep typing--especially those plays!--You and your co-typists have all the time in the world to write Shakespeare's collected, at least that's what the probabilities seem to indicate, but the reality seems to present a bleaker picture. Jess

On 8/27/2011, "Alan Sondheim" <[redacted]> wrote:

> WHAT'S HAPPENING TO US?
>
> Please look at http://www.alansondheim.org/skypejunk.jpg THIS IS THE "NEW" SKYPE INTERFACE ON MY MACHINE! Note: First of all, the statement at the bottom: "Your contacts have not been very active recently..." Really? What business is it of Skype? Maybe they haven't been active just with me? Maybe they're calling me on the phone, we're meeting for lunch? This isn't funny - it's a hideous invasion of privacy. It's also telling me: MY CON-TACTS SHOULD BE ACTIVE AND SHOULD BE ACTIVE WITH ME. It's social engineer- > ing at it's worst. Look at the chummy slot above: "Tell your friends what you've been up to" - again, what business is it of theirs? And so many of us use these applications as if they're neutral or helpful, whatever. Skype started off like a lot of these things as bare-bones (think of Fb, MySpace, etc.), and slowly began to take over our lives. And all of us good little theorists (included) just use these things as if we're REALLY saying something. (Don't worry, I'm not theorizing here, I'm fucking RANTING!) On a personal level, I can't stand this presumed chumminess; I'm using the phone or IM outside of Skype when I can. But this stuff goes on and on. We can't communicate without consulting our goddamn Iphones, we can't listen to music without ITunes maximum-prophet interface, we buy into Fb's "friends" or +'s "circles" - and since when in the psat million years have we quantified or classified our friends (well maybe in grade school). Go back and read Sartre on seriality and authenticity - my complaint is nothing new here, but what surprises me is how we accept all of this along with Wired mag's hyperbole, etc. etc. PEOPLE ARE STARVING IN THE HORN OF AFRICA: MAYBE WE SHOULD FRIEND THEM!!!

↑ Index

144. Rob McLennan

Chaudiere Books' "Decalogue" moving sale!

Tue 30 Aug 2011

To celebrate our recent move, and to make space for upcoming new titles, we're moving both of our Decalogue titles for half-price, $10 instead of the retail $20.

The "Decalogue" series was built as a series of ongoing conversations, featuring ten Ottawa writers per volume, and Ottawa-specific artwork by a local artist on each cover.

Decalogue: ten Ottawa poets edited by rob mclennan; with Stephen Brockwell, Michelle Desbarats, Anita Dolman, Anne Le Dressay, Karen Massey, Una McDonnell, rob mclennan, Max Middle, Monty Reid and Shane Rhodes.

for more information on the book and/or authors, check the link here: http://www.chaudierebooks.com/books/decalogue.html

$10

Decalogue 2: ten Ottawa fiction writers edited by rob mclennan; with Emily Falvey, Matthew Firth, Gabriella Goliger, Alison Gresik, John-James Ford, Clare Latremouille, John Lavery, Nadine McInnis, rob mclennan and Ian Roy.

for more information on the book and/or authors, check the link here: http://www.chaudierebooks.com/books/decalogueII.html

$10

For orders, add $5 for mailing. Paypal available via www.robmclennan.blogspot.com or send cheques payable to rob mclennan, c/o 402 McLeod Street, #3, Ottawa ON K2P 1A6 for further Chaudiere Books updates, check out: http://chaudierebooks.blogspot.com or http://www.chaudierebooks.com

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

145. steve dalachinsky
blurbs and gigs
Tue 30 Aug 2011

---

anyone out there wanna write a blurb for a book of mine 2 are coming out end of sept they are short please academics do not be afraid i will not compromise your credibility as some already seem to believe on sept 10 come to bpc 7 pm for unbearables at the litcrawl event all day poesie all over lower east side

hello folks i need ya at this one

steve dalachinsky (words) and dave liebman (sax, piano,drums)
sept 13, 2011 - 8pm - $10 it'll be a long set class reunion 3 - 65 and still alive
at the university the streets
130 e. 7th street (ave A) one flight up

also come to soto vlelez stanton and rivington sept 11 4-11pm great music poetry and dance 15$ all day - gayle, lake, mcphee, mateen, hwang, swell and many more poesie by henderson, dalachinsky and others - a full day of remembrance and foward thinking and sept 15 poisson rouge benfit for jazz foundation 630 onward everyone will be there go to rouge website for details

On Mon, 29 Aug 2011 18:20:56 -0400 Aldonlnielsen
<[redacted]> writes:
> as it happens, Willis Barnstone's THE DREAM BELOW THE SUN: SELECTED > POEMS OF ANTONIO MACHADO (1981) translates those lines almost > exactly that way -- only without the "now" at the beginning. It's > from "Canciones." The next section of the poem begins again, "La > primavera ha venido," but this time Barnstone translates, "The > spring has come," which is closer to Sam's rhythm.
>
> Aldon Lynn Nielsen
>
> Kelly Professor of American Literature
> Department of English
> 117 Burrowes Building
> The Pennsylvania State University
> University Park, PA

> 16802-6200
>
> Sailing the blogosphere at http://heatstrings.blogspot.com
>
>
>
>
> I never wanted to be the man who broke your heart --
> Only wanted to be the man who wrote the song --
>
> That broke your heart
>
> On Aug 24, 2011, at 6:52 PM, Margaret Carson <[redacted]> > wrote:
>
> > Sad news. A few years ago I met Samuel Menashe at a poetry event > at CUNY
> > Graduate Center. He asked me what I did and when I mentioned that > I > > sometimes translated poetry from Spanish, he told me that without > really > > knowing much Spanish he had translated some well-known lines by > Antonio
> > Machado. He took a piece of paper and wrote out the original > Machado and his > > translation:
> >
> > La primavera ha venido
> > Nadie sabe cómo ha sido
> >
> > Now spring has come
> > No one knows how
> >
> > Machado never sounded better in English. I wonder, were there more > > translations?
>
> >
>
>
>

↑ Index

146. Evan Kennedy

The Swan's Rag 4: Armantrout, Baudelaire, Bellamy, Boyer, Legault, Manuel, Sidney, Sourisseau

Tue 30 Aug 2011

Dirty Swan Projects is glad to announce THE SWAN'S RAG FOUR from San Francisco.

http://theswansrag.blogspot.com

RAE ARMANTROUT

CHARLES BAUDELAIRE translated by Brandon Brown

DODIE BELLAMY

STEPHEN BOYER

PAUL LEGAULT

STEVEN MANUEL

SIR PHILIP SIDNEY

AXEL SOURISSEAU

images by TAZZIO and DONATIEN VEISMANN

$4.25!

http://theswansrag.blogspot.com

↑ Index

147. Wystan Curnow (ARTS ENG)

Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

Tue 30 Aug 2011

---

its the blank film strip at the beginning and the ends of a reel. W

Wystan Curnow
Professor of English (Emeritus)
University of Auckland
Private Bag 92019
Auckland, NEW ZEALAND
Ph. 64.09.3737599 work
64.09. [redacted] home
Fax 64.09. 3737429

From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of Ruth Lepson [[redacted]]
Sent: Thursday, 25 August 2011 12:17 p.m.

To: [redacted]
Subject: Re: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?

thank you! 1958 even. it sizzles. what is leader?

On 8/23/11 6:52 PM, "Wystan Curnow (ARTS ENG)" <[redacted]> wrote:

> Hi Eireene,
> I think you should look at len Lye's 'direct' film, 'Free Radicals' on Youtube.
> Lye made this film by scratching onto black leader, this is as indexically proprioceptive as cinema > can get, so that it is in the process also writing--there are letters-- as cinema.
> Wystan
>
> Wystan Curnow
> Professor of English (Emeritus)
> University of Auckland
> Private Bag 92019
> Auckland, NEW ZEALAND
> Ph. 64.09.3737599 work
> 64.09. [redacted] home
> Fax 64.09. 3737429
>
> _____
> From: Poetics List (UPenn, UB) [[redacted]] on behalf of > Eireene Nealand [[redacted]]
> Sent: Tuesday, 23 August 2011 9:18 a.m.
> To: [redacted]
> Subject: writing from the body/perception/proprioception assignments?
>
> Hi everyone,
>
> I'm working on a new class, which will be titled:
>
> Writing and Cinema: from Perception to Proprioception
>
> or something like that, and I'm wondering if anyone has any recommendations for assignments or readings.
>
> Maybe you've worked with writing from the body? Or ekphrasis? or juxtapositional jump cuts? Or some cultural studies--historical placement, voice of witness assignments.
>
> So far, I've got Mark Nowak's Shut Up, Shut Down on the list, and Kerouac's 'tic, sketch, dream' assignments...
>
> Any other ideas? It's a 10 week class and has to be accessible to Introduction to Creative Writing students...although if you have less > accessible assignments I'd be happy to adapt.

>
> Thanks in advance.
>
> Eireene

_____ Information from ESET NOD32 Antivirus, version of virus signature database 6404 (20110823) _____

The message was checked by ESET NOD32 Antivirus.

http://www.eset.com

↑ Index

148. Little Red Leaves
Re: Group review of Michael Cross's Haecceities
Wed 31 Aug 2011

In anticipation of our upcoming e-editions launch (which promises to be huge), we're circulating a group review & source book for Michael Cross's Haecceities (Cuneiform Press, 2010). Participants were David Brazil, Thom Donovan, Brenda Iijima, CJ Martin, Kyle Schlesinger, and Jamie Townsend.

Please follow this link for a hefty discussion of Cross's book, as well as a few supplemental items: http://littleredleavesjournal.blogspot.com/2011/08/lrl-e-editions-sneak-peek-group-review.html .

Enjoy! & keep your eyes peeled for the next batch of LRL e-editions, which will include books from Pattie McCarthy, Sarah Mangold, David Brazil, Hugo García Manríquez--and one very special reprint (details forthcoming).

Sincerely,
The LRL e-editions editors
--
www.littleredleaves.com www.littleredleaves.com/ebooks www.textileseries.com www.littleredleavesjournal.blogspot.com

↑ Index

149. Rob McLennan

the third issue of seventeen seconds: a journal of poetry + poetics[C[D

Wed 31 Aug 2011

---

the third issue of seventeen seconds: a journal of poetry + poetics is now online at http://www.ottawater.com/seventeenseconds/edited by rob mclennan, the third issue features new works by:

> Judith Copithorne
> Gregory Betts
> derek beaulieu
> and Amanda Earl

as well as an interview with Pearl Pirie by Sean Moreland, and a second interview between rob mclennan and Stephanie Bolster, ten years after their first.

seventeen seconds: a journal of poetry and poetics comes out as the natural extension of the eight issues of Poetics.ca edited by rob mclennan and Stephen Brockwell. Highlighting the diversity of voice, style, practice and politic, seventeen seconds continues the resolve to provide a forum for dialogue on contemporary poetics, with a focus on Canadian writing. Over the past two decades, the amount of critical writing published in print literary journals on Canadian poetry, specifically, seems to have decreased dramatically, but slowly returned through a number of online journals. seventeen seconds simply wishes to help strengthen the dialogue and the ongoing conversation about writing through publishing new writing, and conversation about new writing. How else are we supposed to learn anything, unless we keep talking?

Feedback and submission queries are most welcome.

rob mclennan, editor
Roland Prevost, managing editor

-- writer/editor/publisher ...ottawater, above/ground press & Chaudiere Books (www.chaudierebooks.com) ...coord., SPAN-O + ottawa small press fair ...poetry - Glengarry (Talonbooks) ...2nd novel - missing persons www.abovegroundpress.blogspot.com * http://robmclennan.blogspot.com/

↑ Index

@poetics

The UB Poetics Discussion Group

Archive of Electronic Correspondence

September 2011

158 messages · Wed 31 Aug 2011 – Fri 30 Sep 2011

September 2011 gave the shrunken list one large and hopeful idea to gather around — that if the room had thinned, the wider tribe of poets might still be marshaled, all at once, everywhere, toward change. One hundred and fifty-eight messages moved through it, and its most animating current was the news of a single global day of poetry, thousands of readings in hundreds of cities on one date, the largest coordinated poetry event anyone had attempted. In a year of dwindling traffic, the room warmed to the fantasy of poetry at planetary scale.

The largest hopeful thread was the call to mass action. One Hundred Thousand Poets for Change, organized by Michael Rothenberg, proposed to stage simultaneous readings around the world on a single September day — poetry not as the private argument of a fading listserv but as public, collective, global assembly, the scattered practitioners briefly made visible as a multitude. It was the exact inverse of the list's own condition: where the room had contracted to a whisper, the event imagined the whole diffuse world of poets shouting together.

The quarrel, insofar as the quiet month had one, was whether the gesture meant anything. A day of readings changes no law and topples no regime; skeptics could call it feel-good spectacle, poets reassuring themselves of their own numbers. But the room mostly declined the cynicism, as it had for the oil spill and for Japan, on the same stubborn ground: that visibility is not nothing, that a hundred thousand poets made briefly countable is a fact worth making, even if it moves no government.

Around it ran the smaller keepings — a new media-arts blog, a magazine's call for submissions, a Zukofsky query, an autumn reading announced in New York. The ordinary maintenance of a literary life went on beneath the one big dream, the room tending its notices while entertaining, for once, a vision larger than itself. There was something poignant in the juxtaposition — a listserv that could barely fill a September now cheering a plan to fill the whole world with poets on a single day, as if the dream had grown in exact proportion to how small the dreamer had become.

I have set September down exactly as the archive delivered it — the hundred thousand poets summoned to a single global day, the doubt about whether it mattered, and the quiet notices carrying on beneath — because it was the month the diminished list lifted its eyes from its own smallness to imagine poetry at the scale of the whole world. A room reduced to a hundred and fifty voices that can still thrill to the idea of a hundred thousand poets reading at once, on one day, for change, is a room whose hope has outlasted its numbers, still able to believe that the tribe is larger than the inbox, and that being counted together, even for a day, is a thing worth doing.

— Kristen M. Fabians

Index

Writers, names mentioned, and concepts. Every number links to its message. 158 in all.

WRITERS

Andrews, Jim 57, 77
Ballardini, Anny 123
Beaulieu, Derek 85
Borchart, Sharon Mesmer/David 5
Browning, Sommer 78
Cain, Séamas 144
Casamassima, Christophe 109
Cheek, Cris 49, 75, 96
Ciccariello, Peter 50
Conrad, CA 13
Cárthaigh, Tomás Ó 68, 100, 120, 125
Dalachinsky, Steve 1, 46, 47
Damon, Maria 32
Deed, Martha 44
Dennison, Brittany 141
Dewhurst, Robert 28
Dolin, Sharon 104, 106, 146
DuCharme, Mark 26
Durgin, Patrick F. 40, 88, 114
Edgerton, Michael Tod 23, 98
Edmond, Jacob 138, 140
Elshtain, Eric 30, 107
Farrell, Michael 2, 11, 17, 103, 119
Fieled, Adam 4, 20, 64, 74, 115, 124
Al Filreis 60
Foley, Brian 84
Garr, Megan M. 69
Godston, Dan 65, 156
Golata, Russ 149
Heuving, Jeanne 18
Hinton, Laura 52
Holder, Doug 19, 21, 33
Hunter, Carrie 56
Jarnot, Lisa 61, 127
Johnson, Halvard 3, 15, 27, 82, 154, 157
Karmin, Jennifer 6, 93, 143
Kelder, Cralan 63
King, Amy 43, 113, 118, 150, 151, 152
Kirschenbaum, David 102, 155
Klein, Lucas 137
Lantry, W.F. 148
Leaskou, Nicholas 122
Lee, Jeffrey 9
Lepson, Ruth 37, 70
Lewis, Susan 7
Linsker, Eric 132
Loden, Rachel 147
Low, Trisha 129
MacAllister, Bonnie 12, 87, 92
Martin, Camille 42, 66, 110, 128, 136
McCaffery, Stephen 134
McLennan, Rob 36, 62, 73, 79, 95, 112
Michael 51
Myers, Spencer 99
Nakagawa, Jane 142
Nealand, Eireene 158
Nelson, Paul 97
Nemet-Nejat, Murat 29, 72, 121, 131
Nicholson, Andy 105
Pallant/FS/VCU, Cheryl 34
Peterson, Tim 31, 83
Reed, Marthe 135
Review, The Paris 71
Richet, Martin 108
Robbins, Micah 24
Rothenberg, Jerome 117, 133
Safdie, Joe 130
Sarai, Sarah 14
Schlesinger, Kyle 116
Seabolt, Brian 48
Sebastian, Nic 8, 86
Side, Jeffrey 22, 76
Siegell, Paul 53, 54
Skinner, Jonathan 58
Slaughter, William 41, 67
Smith, Meghan 10
Sondheim, Alan 16, 89, 91
St. Thomasino 111
Thompson, George 35
Tobin, Adam 153
Trigilio, Tony 126
Vaile, Vanessa Crary 59
Vidaver, Aaron 145
Warsh, Lewis 94
Weishaus, Joel 55, 81
Weiss, Mark 38, 45
Wickens, Jessica 25, 101
Yadav, Kulpreet 80, 139
Yearous-Algozin, Joey 90
}, { Brad Brace 39

NAMES MENTIONED

Abess, Matthew 129
Alexander, Charles 60, 93, 143, 155
Alice, Mary 108, 155
Allegretti, Joel 102
Alpert, Barry 123
Americans, Asian 152
Amerika, Mark 102
Anderson, Erik 155
Andre, Michael 155
Arbor, Ann 21, 143

Archambeau, Robert 64
Arendt, Hannah 78
Armantrout, Rae 147
Asante, Toni 93
Ashbery, John 103
Atlanta, Mark P. 155
Austin, Geer 83, 102, 155
Baker, Lori 71, 123, 153
Baratier, David 155
Barg, Barbara 93
Barker, Andrew 70
Barnes, Christopher 123
Barnes, Diane 56
Barthes, Roland 74
Barwin, Gary 95
Bataille, George 74
Baudrillard, Jean 20
Baus, Eric 109
Beckett, Samuel 21
Beckman, Joshua 141, 155
Bedient, Calvin 155
Beer, John 141
Benjamin, Walter 40, 74, 123
Berkeley, Michael 40, 94, 143, 155
Berkson, Bill 94
Berlin, Irving 155
Bernard, Kenneth 70, 123
Bernstein, Charles 117, 121, 130, 131, 132, 133, 135, 154
Berrigan, Anselm 75, 96
Berry, Jake 70
Besemer, Jen 93
Blake, William 28, 70
Blouin, Michael 36, 112
Bly, Robert 70
Bolster, Stephanie 36
Borges, Millicent 123
Bouchard, Daniel 70, 155
Bourdieu, Pierre 20
Boykoff, Jules 155
Bozicevic, Ana 150
Brady, Taylor 70
Bramhall, Allen 123
Brazil, David 28, 40, 114
Brown, Ann 28, 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135, 155
Brown, Lily 84
Bryant, Tisa 93, 143, 158
Burke, Andrew 3, 23
Burton, Philip 104, 106, 146
Butler, William 70, 123
Buuck, David 90, 155
Carlos, William 102
Carr, Michael 155
Carroll, John 78
Chan, Jill 123
Chernoff, Maxine 155
Chomsky, Noam 152
Clark, Cheryl 70
Clark, Emilie 70, 155
Clay, Steve 155
Clements, Brian 155
Clover, Joshua 132, 154
Cobb, Allison 155
Cobbing, Bob 129
Cole, Peter 141
Coleman, Jennifer 155
Coletti, John 123, 155
Columbus, Christopher 61, 155
Cooley, Nicole 112
Coolidge, Clark 70
Cooper, Dennis 71, 83
Corelis, Jon 123
Cortez, Jane 143
Courtemanche, Brian 33, 38
Covey, Bruce 155
Crooker, Barbara 70
Cross, Michael 155
Crozier, Andrew 70
Crumpacker, Caroline 58
Cunningham, John 70
Cuomo, Dave 155
Davis, Jordan 155
Davis, Martin 71, 151, 155
Demske, Nick 70, 75, 96
Dennis, Carl 36, 112, 117, 121, 123, 130, 131, 133, 135, 155
Derrida, Jacques 20
Dickinson, Emily 61
Dickinson, Mark 61
Dienstfrey, Patricia 155
Dillon, Matt 123
Doller, Sandra 155
Donovan, Thom 90
Dowling, Sarah 83
Drescher, Julia 155
Dunagan, Patrick 28
Duncan, Robert 70, 127
Durgin, Patrick F. 40, 88, 114
Eckes, Ryan 109
Edwards, Joshua 155
Eigner, Larry 58
Einstein, Albert 34
Eli, Noah 155
Ellen, Mary 36
Emerson, Claudia 70
England, Amy 102
Eno, Brian 65
Eshleman, Clayton 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Ferlinghetti, Lawrence 102
Ferry, David 70
Finch, Annie 155
Fisher, Allen 70

Fisher, Ann 70
Flis, Brad 90
Flynn, Albert 155
Folsom, Eric 112
Forche, Carolyn 56
Forrest, Lisa 71
Foster, Edward 155
Foust, Graham 141
Fox, Hugh 19, 21
Frances, Mary 123
Fraser, Kathleen 70
Freedman, Lewis 90
Frost, Robert 41
Fuchs, Greg 155
Fugate, Ethan 155
Fulton, Alice 21
Gallagher, Kevin 123
Gander, Forrest 70, 71
Garcia, Gabriel 109
Gardner, David 155
Gardner, Janet 56, 70, 155
Garr, Megan M. 69
Gatza, Geoffrey 26, 123, 155
Gelsinger, Eric 155
Giffin, Lawrence 90
Gilmore, Gary 102, 155
Ginsberg, Allen 102
Glass, Jesse 28, 155
Godard, Barbara 36
Goldstein, Laura 93, 143
Gordon, Robert 70, 123, 155
Graham, Lea 141, 155
Graham, Taylor 123
Greenwald, Ted 94
Gregory, Dick 123, 155
Grinnell, Tracy 155
Grossman, Pam 123
Grubbs, David 70
Gudding, Gabriel 64
Guthrie, Camille 123
Hadbawnik, David 155
Halle, Steve 33, 38, 64
Hamilton, Ann 23, 98
Hammond, Paul 123, 155
Hardy, Edmund 143
Harris, Kaplan 59, 70
Hart, Matt 75, 96, 155
Hartman, Charles O. 155
Healy, Randolph 123
Hejinian, Lynn 94, 155
Henri, Charles 63
Henriksen, Matt 155
Hershon, Bob 155
Hirsch, Edward 102
Hoffman, Cara 102
Holloway, Rob 31, 43
Holman, Bob 51, 68, 72, 100, 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Holmes, Janet 155
Hoover, Paul 155
House, Poets 121, 130, 131, 135
House, White 109
Howe, Susan 70
Iijima, Brenda 155
Indiana, Robert 83, 102, 143, 156
Inman, Peter 70
Ireland, Lauren 120
Israeli, Henry 155
Jackson, Jesse 143
Jacob, Max 93
Jarvis, Simon 154
Jenks, Philip 93
Johnson, Kent 132, 154
Jones, Jill 103
Joris, Pierre 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Kafka, Franz 95
Kaplan, Josef 90
Kathryn, Mary 149
Katko, Justin 155
Kaufman, Erica 155
Keene, John 93, 143
Keeney, Scott 67
Kelly, Patrick 3, 23, 60, 84, 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135, 157
Kelsey, Karla 36, 155
Kennedy, Kit 123
Kerry, John 71
Khlebnikov, Velimir 58
Killian, Kevin 40, 114
Kirschenbaum, David A. 102, 155
Koeneke, Rodney 56
Koke, Audrey 33, 38
Kroetsch, Robert 112
Kyger, Joanne 123
Ladouceur, Ben 112
Lamoureux, Mark 155
Landers, Susan 155
Lang, Eugene 52
Lau, David 155
Leary, Timothy 28, 81
Lederer, Katy 155
Leftwich, Jim 123
Leidner, Mark 70
Leong, Michael 48
Leuzzi, Tony 83
Levato, Francesco 93
Levine, Jeffrey 70
Levitsky, Rachel 155
Lewis, Bernard 3, 7, 23
Livingston, Reb 155
Lohmann, Sam 155
London, Frank 31, 43, 63, 65, 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Lorber, Brendan 155
Lorde, Audre 83

Louise, Bobbie 63, 151
Luoma, Bill 40, 114
Machlin, Dan 155
Madison, James 51, 68, 72, 100
Madrid, Anthony 93
Madueno, Amalio 59
Magee, Michael 155
Magi, Jill 155
Maguire, Shannon 42, 45, 66, 110, 112
Malina, Judith 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Mallarmé, Stéphane 58
Mancus, Tony 78
Mangold, Sarah 155
Manning, Nicholas 123
Manson, Douglas 28
Marie, Joshua 84
Marks, Justin 155
Marmer, Jake 1, 47
Martin, Charles 123
Martin, Chris 84
Marvin, Lee 123
Masterson, Patrick 155
Mathews, Harry 153
Maxwell, Andrew 70, 155
Mayer, Bernadette 5, 6
Mayer, Jane 123
Maynard, Joe 155
Medina, Tony 143
Mee, Don 141
Mees, Amy 155
Meetze, James 155
Metres, Philip 78
Millar, Jay 155
Miller, David 63
Mir, Stan 109
Monk, Geraldine 56
Moody, Rick 70
Moore, Michael 152
Moritz, Rachel 36
Morris, Marianne 132, 154
Morrow, Charlie 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Moschovakis, Anna 155, 158
Motika, Stephen 83
Muldoon, Paul 71
Mulligan, Jennifer 79
Murphy, Ryan 155
Murray, Ian 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Mycue, Edward 123
Myles, Eileen 60
Nelson, Gale 153
Nelson, Paul E. 123
Newman, Charlie 93
Nguyen, Hoa 155
Nicholson, Jack 135
Niedecker, Lorine 58
Norris, Ken 112
Norton, John 153
Novack, Carol 123
Oak, Gwyn 155
Oha, Obododimma 123
Olds, Sharon 71
Oliver, John 52
Olson, Charles 70
Oppenheimer, Joel 102
Orwell, George 10
Osman, Jena 90, 93
Ossip, Kathleen 70
Otting, Nathaniel 70
Owen, Maureen 26
Owens, Richard 155
Pacific, Asian 126
Padgett, Ron 31, 43
Paige, Abby 62, 112
Palm, Lars 123
Palmer, Michael 34, 70
Parish, Jefferson 70
Parrish, Gary 155
Paterson, Don 102
Patton, Julie 58
Pawlak, Mark 70
Penn, Robert 41
Perchik, Simon 155
Pessoa, Fernando 136
Peterson, Katie 65
Pettit, Emily 70
Phillips, Beth 123
Pierce, Scott 155
Pinsky, Robert 70
Place, Vanessa 132, 154, 158
Poe, Deborah 123
Porter, Anne 141
Posamentier, Evelyn 123
Potter, Steve 155
Powell, Ren 147
Di Prima, Diane 150, 152
Pringle, Kathryn 155
Professor, Kelly 60
Prynne, J. H. 70
Purcell, Jack 73
Pynchon, Thomas 102
Quaid, Andrea 158
Queyras, Sina 85
Quinn, Alice 70
Randall, Karen 70
Raworth, Tom 70
Reese, Marshall 148
Reeves, Jennifer 93
Rizzo, Chris 155
Roberts, Gary 123
Robinson, Anthony 155
Robinson, Elizabeth 141
Robinson, Sophie 31, 43
Rogal, Stan 36
Rogers, Jennifer 93

Ross, Harry 65
Rothenberg, Diane 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Rothenberg, Jerry 72, 100
Ruiz, Mariana 155
Rushin, Kate 83
Sappho 67, 103
Sarandon, Susan 152
Sawyer, Larry 93
Scalapino, Leslie 36, 155
Schatz, Kate 143
Schickling, Jared 123
Schmidt, Paul 65
Schneider, Dan 123
Schultz, Susan M. 93, 143
Schwabsky, Barry 64
Seldess, Jesse 40, 88, 114, 155
Sendecki, Daniel 155
Shakespeare, William 153
Shaughnessy, Brenda 71
Shiroma, Jerrold 155
Shmailo, Larissa 123
Siegel, Nathaniel A. 31, 43
Sigo, Cedar 97
Silliman, Ron 134
Simon, Greg 63, 132
Simonds, Sandra 113, 118
Sinclair, John 70
Sirois, Justin 155
Smith, Dale 155
Smith, Harry 10, 70, 143
Smith, Rod 132, 154, 155
Smither, Elizabeth 123
Snyder, Rick 51, 68, 72, 100
Sol, Adam 36
Sonnenberg, Kerri 155
Spahr, Juliana 36, 158
Spears, Rebecca 123
Sprague, Jane 155
Spyker, James 73
Starace, Rosemary 123
Stebelton, Chuck 70
Stein, Gertrude 108
Stengel, Jill 155
Stevens, Wallace 70
Stevenson, Matt 70
Stewart, Jon 93
Strongin, Lynn 123
Sullivan, Andrew 58, 68, 72, 100
Sullivan, Gary 155
Sutherland, Keston 132, 154
Szymaszek, Stacy 155
Tabios, Eileen R. 36, 155
Taransky, Michelle 60, 84
Tardos, Anne 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Terris, Susan 123
Terry, Philip 71
Texas, Irving 83, 155
Theater, Poets 40, 114
Thomas, Dylan 36, 95, 112, 122, 123
Thorson, Maureen 155
Tieger, Aaron 155
Toklas, Alice B. 108
Toogood, Jason 155
Topel, Andrew 90, 123
Tranter, John 111, 119
Treadwell, Elizabeth 56
Tribune, Chicago 120
Turner, Victor 155
Twemlow, Nick 155
Upton, Lawrence 123
Valentine, Jean 141
Valery, Paul 1, 47
Valle, Charles 155
Vangelisti, Paul 123
Vassilakis, Nico 97
Vermont, Charlie 62
Vincent, Stephen 155
Vincenz, Marc 7
Vitale, Anna 90
Waber, Dan 155
Wagner, Catherine 56
Wagner, Mark 155
Waldman, Ken 26, 117, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135
Waldor, Peter 155
Waldrop, Keith 155
Walker, Mary 155
Wallace, Nicole 123
Warren, Kenneth 41, 70
Washington, George 18, 42, 45, 66, 134, 141, 155
Watson, Scott 78
Watts, Carol 56
Weaver, Rebecca 70
Weiner, Hannah 40
Weiner, Lawrence 40
Weiss, Jason 117, 131, 133
Welish, Marjorie 84
Wiegers, Michael 141
Wierzbicki, Carol 102
Wilbur, Richard 41
Wilkinson, John 84
Williams, Paul O. 102, 144
Williams, William Carlos 83
Willis, Elizabeth 70
Wilson, Karen 116, 158
Wolach, David 90
Wolff, Rebecca 70
Wolman, Ken 3, 23
Woolf, Virginia 56
Wright, C. D. 143
Wright, Laura E. 26
Yankelevich, Matvei 155

Young, Mark 48, 111, 119
Zapruder, Matthew 141
Zukofsky, Louis 1, 47

CONCEPTS

9/11 40, 68, 72, 100
Activism and protest 51, 62, 68, 72, 100, 152
Aesthetics 63, 75, 96, 132, 148, 154, 158
Afghanistan 51, 68, 72, 100
Anthologies 10, 21, 31, 40, 43, 56, 102, 114, 119, 123, 137, 143
Archives and libraries 33, 36, 38, 51, 55, 65, 68, 70, 72, 75, 81, 84, 96, 100, 120, 127, 128, 129, 156
Autobiography 10, 94, 108
Avant-garde 21
Beat generation 63
Beauty 51, 68, 72, 100, 145
Biography 7, 127
Blogs 3, 7, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 20, 23, 27, 29, 32, 34, 35, 36, 37, 44, 46, 50, 51, 53, 62, 64, 68, 71, 72, 73, 74, 76, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 84, 95, 98, 100, 101, 102, 105, 110, 112, 115, 122, 123, 124, 128, 135, 136, 137, 139, 152, 154, 157
Book announcements 13, 31, 43, 46, 48, 56, 63, 83, 84, 112, 153
Bookstores 12, 25, 26, 70, 71, 80, 83, 101, 105, 139
Calls for submissions 8, 10, 25, 69, 80, 99, 101, 105, 139, 150, 152, 157, 158
Capitalism 125
Cities 58, 93, 149, 155
Collage and montage 24, 128
Conceptual writing 85
Conferences and festivals 18, 36, 65, 70, 83, 87, 92, 97, 102, 113, 118, 140, 141, 143, 156, 158
Confessional poetry 70
Copyright and permissions 7, 10, 71, 157
Craft 87, 92, 141
Creative writing pedagogy 18, 83, 158
Deconstruction 87, 92
Digital archives 60, 129
Disability 18
Dreams 8, 21, 63, 94
Ecology and ecopoetics 51, 55, 58, 68, 72, 93, 100, 155
Editing 14, 17, 102, 123, 143, 157, 158
Ekphrasis 83
Electronic poetry and hypertext 36, 141
Empire and imperialism 14, 17
Epic 94
Erasure 129
Experimental poetry 88, 103, 158
Feminism 143
Film 8, 65, 93, 100, 125, 136, 143, 156
Gender 145, 151
Globalization 125
Grants and funding 18, 51, 68, 72, 78, 83, 100, 143
Haiku 125
Humour and satire 7, 73, 75, 96
Ideology 22, 74
Improvisation 65, 143, 156
Indigenous and Native poetics 55
Interviews 7, 19, 23, 31, 36, 43, 71, 79, 97, 98, 122, 148
Israel and Palestine 155
List moderation 63
Little magazines 7, 10, 14, 17, 25, 31, 33, 36, 38, 41, 43, 48, 51, 56, 58, 62, 64, 67, 68, 70, 71, 72, 75, 79, 80, 87, 88, 92, 96, 100, 101, 102, 105, 107, 119, 132, 139, 143, 148, 150, 154, 155
Lyric poetry 26, 56, 103
Memory 56, 62, 63, 95
MFA programs 14, 17, 18, 83, 84, 98, 122, 143
Mourning and loss 71, 79, 89, 120, 125
Multiculturalism 18
Music and poetry 1, 7, 47, 58, 63, 65, 77, 86, 88, 102, 117, 120, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135, 143, 155, 156
Nature 62
Obituary and memorial 52
Occupy 152
Oulipo 50
Performance and the poetry reading 12, 31, 43, 51, 54, 59, 68, 70, 72, 75, 87, 92, 93, 95, 96, 100, 103, 110, 112, 117, 121, 123, 128, 129, 130, 131, 133, 135
Philosophy 55, 158
Place and region 58, 62, 91
Poetics 6, 18, 26, 31, 41, 43, 56, 58, 64, 67, 79, 83, 84, 102, 117, 121, 122, 130, 131, 133, 134, 135, 138, 145
Politics and poetry 158
Print vs. digital 13, 21, 26, 46, 123
Prizes and awards 10, 21, 31, 43, 75, 78, 83, 84, 96, 102, 103, 128, 143, 147, 149, 153
Procedural and constraint writing 103
Prose poem 102
Prosody and meter 61, 132, 154
Queer poetics 24, 31, 43, 83, 103, 143
Race and poetry 143
Reading announcements 12, 26, 36, 49, 59, 63, 73, 88, 122, 147
Religion and the sacred 21, 24, 63, 81, 117, 118, 121, 130, 131, 133, 135, 149
Representation 158
Reviewing and criticism 7, 10, 21, 36, 59, 71, 73, 76, 79, 83, 84, 102, 116, 142, 143, 155
Science 40, 95

Small press publishing 4, 19, 21, 30, 31, 33, 36, 38, 39, 40, 43, 56, 62, 67, 73, 75, 78, 79, 84, 85, 88, 93, 94, 95, 96, 102, 104, 106, 112, 114, 122, 137, 143, 146, 155, 158
Social media 54, 68, 69, 72, 75, 84, 87, 92, 93, 96, 100, 102, 110, 112, 113, 115, 118, 120, 125, 128, 136, 143, 152, 155
Software and code 57
Sonnet 3, 15, 23, 27, 31, 42, 43, 45, 66, 82, 128, 154, 157
Subjectivity 85
Surrealism 1, 47, 65
The academy 1, 18, 21, 31, 33, 38, 43, 46, 47, 49, 51, 56, 58, 60, 68, 70, 72, 78, 79, 81, 83, 84, 85, 95, 98, 100, 102, 103, 116, 117, 121, 129, 130, 131, 133, 135, 141, 143, 145, 150, 153, 158
The body 8
The internet 22, 87, 92, 115, 124
The Iraq war 63, 153
The line 14, 17
The listserv 14, 17, 71, 96, 112
Theatre 40, 63, 70, 87, 92, 114, 156
Torture and Abu Ghraib 40, 78
Translation 25, 41, 58, 59, 63, 71, 80, 101, 102, 105, 137, 139, 141, 143, 145, 153
Visual and concrete poetry 57, 77
Visual art 1, 47, 54, 55, 65, 70, 87, 88, 92, 141, 143, 147, 155, 156
Women's writing 10

Contents

Every entry links to its message. 158 in all.

31 AUG 2011

1. steve dalachinsky — Re: Zukofsky
2. michael farrell — jacket 2

1 SEP 2011

3. Halvard Johnson — Truck rolls on into September
4. Adam Fieled — "Rubber Soul, 2nd Edition" on Issuu
5. Sharon Mesmer/David Borchart — Contact info for Bernadette Mayer
6. Jennifer Karmin — Bernadette Mayer Folio & storm update
7. Lewis, Susan — SUBMIT to MHR Blog!
8. Nic Sebastian — Call for submissions or your poems are dying to be a videopoem triptych
9. Jeffrey Lee — Max Finstein

2 SEP 2011

10. Meghan Smith — Call for Submissions: Magnolia Journal for socially engaged work by women wr...
11. michael farrell — new posts

3 SEP 2011

12. Bonnie MacAllister — Friday, Sept. 9: Big Blue Marble Bookstore presents Dilruba Ahmed and ...
13. CA Conrad — a beautiful marsupial afternoon
14. Sarah Sarai — Re: book design
15. Halvard Johnson — Remains To Be Seen (a new collection of work new and old by Halvard Johns...

4 SEP 2011

16. Alan Sondheim — New Eyebeam blog
17. michael farrell — Re: book design
18. Jeanne Heuving — NEW MFA, POETICS CONFERENCE, JOBS

5 SEP 2011

19. Doug Holder — Hugh Fox Small Press Icon dies at 79
20. Adam Fieled — Best of Stoning the Devil 2006-2009
21. Doug Holder — Hugh Fox: Way, Way Off On His Final Road: 1932 to 2011
22. Jeffrey Side — "Composite Ideologies: Europe, America, Poetry, and the Internet" by Adam Fi...
23. Michael Tod Edgerton — Truck rolls on into September - Which way is left?
24. Micah Robbins — New from SAY IT WITH STONES - j/j hastain's *long past the presence of comm...
25. Jessica Wickens — call for submission: Monday Night Issue 11
26. Mark DuCharme — Answer from BlazeVOX + Upcoming readings
27. Halvard Johnson — Remains To Be Seen (Vol. II)
28. Robert Dewhurst — WILD ORCHIDS vol. 3: William Blake
29. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: New Eyebeam blog

6 SEP 2011

30. Eric Elshtain — New Beard of Bees Chapbook
31. Tim Peterson — Zinc Bar 9/9: Amy King, Nathaniel Siegel & Sophie Robinson

7 SEP 2011

32. Maria Damon — Re: New Eyebeam blog
33. Doug Holder — SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE Wants You!

8 SEP 2011

34. Cheryl Pallant/FS/VCU — Michael Palmer email address
35. George Thompson — Re: New Eyebeam blog
36. Rob McLennan — new(ish) on rob's clever blog
37. Ruth Lepson — Re: New Eyebeam blog
38. Mark Weiss — Re: SMALL PRESS COLLECTION AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE Wants You!

9 SEP 2011

39. { brad brace } — small press collection -> donations
40. Patrick F. Durgin — Some Math by Bill Luoma, new from Kenning Editions
41. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark
42. Camille Martin — Poetry & trains were meant to be
43. amy king — TONIGHT! @ Zinc Bar - 7 p.m.
44. Martha Deed — Re: New Eyebeam blog
45. Mark Weiss — Re: Poetry & trains were meant to be
46. steve dalachinsky — Re: a beautiful marsupial afternoon
47. steve dalachinsky — Re: Zukofsky
48. Brian Seabolt — Raft 4 online

10 SEP 2011

49. cris cheek — John Matthias reading at Miami this coming week
50. Peter ciccariello — In the absence of Oulipo III

11 SEP 2011

51. Michael — 100 Thousand Poets for Change Organizes Largest Poetry Event in History - We're a…
52. Laura Hinton — Chant de la Sirene posting

12 SEP 2011

53. Paul Siegell — New at TheWriteGame
54. Paul Siegell — two PHILLY readings
55. Joel Weishaus — "The Lost Way of Stones."
56. Carrie hunter — New from Black Radish Books
57. Jim Andrews — Aleph Null: new interactive net art

13 SEP 2011

58. Jonathan Skinner — Listening Sounding Writing: An Ecopoetics Workshop with Jonathan Skinner
59. Vanessa Crary Vaile — 2nd Annual Malpais Review Poetry Reading, ABQ Sept 18
60. Al Filreis — episode #45 of PoemTalk released: on Eileen Myles
61. Lisa Jarnot — Emily Dickinson poetry workshop in Sunnyside Queens
62. Rob McLennan — new from above/ground press: Paige Ackerson-Kiely
63. Cralan Kelder — amsterdam this sunday evening Beats in Translation | Music | mini book-fair
64. Adam Fieled — "Waxing Hot: A Collection" on Scribd

14 SEP 2011

65. Dan Godston — "Oh, Bleek Strategies" at the Newberry Library
66. Camille Martin — Re: Poetry & trains were meant to be
67. William Slaughter — Notice: Mudlark
68. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Re: 100 Thousand Poets for Change Organizes Largest Poetry Event in His…

15 SEP 2011

69. Megan M. Garr — Call for submissions: Versal 10
70. Ruth Lepson — FW: Poetry Readings thru October: Many New Listings [1]
71. The Paris Review — Nicholson Baker, Lydia Davis, et al. in the new Paris Review
72. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: 100 Thousand Poets for Change Organizes Largest Poetry Event in His…
73. Rob McLennan — the ottawa small press book fair, fall 2011;

74. Adam Fieled — "Benjamin's Desktop: Unpacking the Phenomena of Literature Online"
75. cris cheek — NIck Demske and Matt Hart read at Miami of Ohio
76. Jeffrey Side — Two poems at Mad Hatter's Review blog

16 SEP 2011

77. Jim Andrews — 89 screenshots from Aleph Null
78. Sommer Browning — Philip Metres abu ghraib arias from Flying Guillotine Press
79. Rob McLennan — new from above/ground press: rob mclennan's The underside of the line,
80. Kulpreet Yadav — Re: call for submission: Monday Night Issue 11

18 SEP 2011

81. Joel Weishaus — Poetica Critique of Peter O'Leary's "Depth Theology."
82. Halvard Johnson — Remains To Be Seen

19 SEP 2011

83. Tim Peterson — Tendencies 9/23 - Kate Rushin, Cyrus Cassells, Sara Jane Stoner
84. Brian Foley — *BRAVE MEN PRESS*MICHELLE TARANSKY - NO, I WILL BE IN THE WOODS*NOW ...
85. Derek Beaulieu — New from Snare : "SEEN OF THE CRIME: Essays on Conceptual Writing" by dere...
86. Nic Sebastian — videopoem triptych - 'Propolis'
87. Bonnie MacAllister — Please circulate: New Creative Writing/Book Arts/Performance Series at...
88. Patrick F. Durgin — Jesse Seldess, October 29th, Chicago
89. Alan Sondheim — father immaterial
90. Joey Yearous-Algozin — Announcing P-Queue Vol. 8: Document
91. Alan Sondheim — 'a document' lastofhome
92. Bonnie MacAllister — Time Clarification: New Creative Writing/Book Arts/Performance Series ...
93. Jennifer Karmin — Sept 24: Bad Date America
94. Lewis Warsh — ClEARVIEW/LIE by Ted Greenwald

20 SEP 2011

95. Rob McLennan — new from above/ground press: Hugh Thomas' Opening the Dictionary
96. cris cheek — Re: NIck Demske and Matt Hart read at Miami of Ohio
97. Paul Nelson — Cedar Sigo, Mickey O'Connor, Nico Vassilakis
98. Michael Tod Edgerton — Truckin' on
99. Spencer Myers — Re: call for submission: Monday Night Issue 11
100. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Re: 100 Thousand Poets for Change Organizes Largest Poetry Event in His...
101. Jessica Wickens — Re: call for submission: Monday Night Issue 11

21 SEP 2011

102. David Kirschenbaum — Boog City presents Poets Wear Prada and Joel Allegretti
103. michael farrell — come to our poetry reading if u can like to - sappho oct 4
104. Sharon Dolin — Save the date: Oct. 2nd CBA Chapbook Reading with Kimiko Hahn and winner Neh...
105. Andy Nicholson — Re: call for submission: Monday Night Issue 11
106. Sharon Dolin — Save the date: Oct. 5th CBA Chapbook Reading with Kimiko Hahn and winner Neh...
107. Eric Elshtain — New from Beard of Bees
108. Martin Richet — Parution : L'Autobiographie de Gertrude Stein
109. Christophe Casamassima — NEW RELEASE Furniture Press Books: Ryan Eckes, Old News
110. Camille Martin — Camille Martin at Grey Borders
111. St. Thomasino — Congratulations Mark Young Best Australian Poems via Eratio

22 SEP 2011

112. Rob McLennan — above/ground press: 2012 subscriptions now available,

113. amy king — OT: On-site Childcare @ AWP - Cast your vote?
114. Patrick F. Durgin — Three "newish" Kenning Editions books 40% off!
115. Adam Fieled — I.T. (Internet Theory) posts revised

23 SEP 2011

116. Kyle Schlesinger — Two Jobs
117. Jerome Rothenberg — new york in the fall -- address and dates
118. amy king — OT: On-site Childcare @ AWP - Cast your vote?
119. michael farrell — Re: Congratulations Mark Young Best Australian Poems via Eratio
120. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — Culture Night vs 100 000 Poets for Change, Edenderry, Co. Offaly, Irela...
121. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: new york in the fall -- address and dates
122. Nicholas Leaskou — Poet As Radio: Carrie Hunter on 9/24

24 SEP 2011

123. Anny Ballardini — An Anthology and an Event
124. Adam Fieled — "Internet Theory and the Threat of Commodification"
125. Tomás Ó Cárthaigh — As 100000 Poets for Change draws to a close...

25 SEP 2011

126. Tony Trigilio — Reading, Village Books, Sat., Oct. 1
127. Lisa Jarnot — looking for photos of Robert Duncan
128. Camille Martin — Camille Martin and Jim Johnstone at Boneshaker
129. Trisha Low — Segue 10/1: Matthew Abess & Laura Neuman!
130. Joe Safdie — Re: new york in the fall -- address and dates
131. Murat Nemet-Nejat — Re: new york in the fall -- address and dates
132. Eric Linsker — Submit to The Claudius App

26 SEP 2011

133. Jerome Rothenberg — AUTUMN IN NEW YORK -- an itinerary
134. Stephen McCaffery — RON SILLIMAN READS IN BUFFALO
135. Marthe Reed — Re: new york in the fall -- address and dates
136. Camille Martin — Traveling with Pessoa: “The universe isn’t mine: it’s me.”

27 SEP 2011

137. Lucas Klein — Xi Chuan Poetry blog Notes on the Mosquito
138. Jacob Edmond — Two MA Scholarships Available for Studies in Iterative Poetics
139. Kulpreet Yadav — Re: call for submission: Monday Night Issue 11
140. Jacob Edmond — Crossed Lines symposium
141. Brittany Dennison — Wave Books 3 Days of Poetry: Poetry in Translation
142. Jane Nakagawa — book review
143. Jennifer Karmin — Red Rover Series / Experiment #51

28 SEP 2011

144. Séamas Cain — Soundworks with poetry
145. Aaron Vidaver — Launch of Species Branding by Danielle LaFrance (Vancouver/Oct.1)
146. Sharon Dolin — Invitation to The CBA Chapbook Reading Wed., Oct. 5th

29 SEP 2011

147. Rachel Loden — Armantrout & Loden in San Francisco
148. W.F. Lantry — Poet Spotlight - THIS Literary Magazine
149. Russ Golata — Fw: Guidelines for Time for Prose Writing Contest (in case you couldn't open ...
150. amy king — Esque: The Revolution Issue - call for submissions
151. amy king — OT: Long Live Thelma & Louise! Two Great Resources!
152. amy king — OCCUPY WALL STREET - IS IT REALLY HAPPENING?
153. Adam Tobin — Gale Nelson & Lori Baker: Saturday in Brooklyn
154. Halvard Johnson — Re: Submit to The Claudius App

30 SEP 2011

155. David Kirschenbaum — Non-NYC Small Press Needed for Boog's levy lives Series
156. Dan Godston — Chicago Calling
157. Halvard Johnson — Call for submissions for October at Truck
158. Eireene Nealand — Call for papers: Emergent Communities in Contemporary Experimental Writin…

1. steve dalachinsky

Re: Zukofsky

Wed 31 Aug 2011

---

leaving town for a bit so some early heads up

hello folks i need ya at this one

steve dalachinsky (words) and dave liebman (sax, piano,drums)
sept 13, 2011 - 8pm - $10 it'll be a long set
class reunion 3 - 65 and still alive
at the university the streets
130 e. 7th street (ave A) one flight up _____ sept 11 at soto velez vizion fest presents from the ashes 2 - with such greats as charles gayle, david henderson, joe mcphee, patricia nicolson parker, oliver lake, rob brown, sabir mateen, jason hwang and many others - song, dance - poem - music 4 - 11 pm $15

_____ __

sept 15 at @ poisson rouge with many great folks too numerous to mention for a benefit to raise money for the jazz foundation 6-10 pm includes WOW bill cosby and so many greats - check rouge website for price and other artists

_____

sept 18 - 1pm onward opening at dorshowitz center gallery @ indusrial city
220 36th st (2 and 3 aves) NRD to 36th st group reading - free

_____ ___

sept 21 at university of the streets big book party and reading for unbearables book of sex 130 e 7th st at ave a 7-11 pm many great readers

_____
____

sept 24 1 -3:30 pm at bowery poetry club Valery Oisteanu presents 10000000 poets for change jazzoetry and surrealism many great readers yuko otomo jeff wright, nancy mercado, ron kolm.
  many more - $

_____

SEPT 24 th - at tribes gallery 285 e 3rd (ave C and D)

a really big one 6-8 pm - unbearables for 1000000 poets for change - many great readers

followed immediately 8-midnite 65 and still ALIVE steve's 65th birthday party with readings and music bring food, drink, poems, instruments, gifts - some scheduled readers ron kolm , brian boyles, danny shot, shalom nueman, valery oisteanu, danny shot, rami shamir, larisa schmaillo, yuko otomo, tsaurah litsky and so many more donation.....

---

if yer in the lowell, mass area steve reads 3 days oct 7-9 at various venues including gallery 119 on oct 19
with charles waters yuko otomo et al as part of lowell celebrates kerouac

in one of these places david amram will jam with steve and others

---

october 13 steve reads with joe mcphee group in the interpretation series at the new roulette in brooklyn in a tribute to cecil taylor 8 pm followed by the andrew cyrille group
$15 - check roulette website for address - part of the interpretation series

---

nov 6th 3 pm with connie crothers at connies loft on kent ave more details to follow in williamsburg

On Tue, 26 Jul 2011 23:23:23 -0400 Jake Marmer <[redacted]>
writes:
> For all of you Zukofsky fans out there - New Directions republished
> "A" and > another volume of shorter poetry. I did a piece on this for the > Forward
> http://www.forward.com/articles/139803/, curious to see other > reviews out
> there.
>
> -Jake

>
>
>

↑ Index

2. michael farrell
jacket 2
Wed 31 Aug 2011

---

ive been posting on australian poetry for jacket 2 - brief commentaries on poems etc

https://jacket2.org/commentary/michael-farrell

michael

↑ Index

3. Halvard Johnson
Truck rolls on into September
Thu 1 Sep 2011

Truck rolls on into September<http://halvard-johnson.blogspot.com/2011/08/truck-rolls-on-into-september.html> Thank you, Ken Wolman, for guiding Truck during August. Our new driver, taking over tomorrow, is Michael Tod Edgerton. I think you'll find the keys under the driver's seat, Michael.

Â¡Buen viaje!
*
http://halvard-johnson.blogspot.com/*
*
*Note: Seeing Truck through to the end of the year will be Kelly Cherry, Andrew Burke, and Lewis LaCook.

Serving the tri-state area.

Hal

Halvard Johnson
==========

[redacted]
http://sites.google.com/site/halvardjohnson/Home
http://entropyandme.blogspot.com
http://imageswithoutwords.blogspot.com
http://www.hamiltonstone.org
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>

http://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/home
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
*Remains To Be Seen<https://docs.google.com/document/d/1tII1LvsGmJpmLby_dyie77p3D2u2sAwcJL3TuW5T-nY/edit?hl=en_US>
, Sonnets from the Basque & Other
Poems<https://docs.google.com/document/d/16pWoy7FBSWyCLWpz0hhI-i0BOYjSBeUiqfWBmJF3g64/edit?hl=en_US>
, Mainly Black<https://docs.google.com/document/edit?id=1i_JGJ_FqQldEnUq7cwjV8giYykz_tsGbTkC2EkAP3IM&hl=en&pli=1#>
, Obras PÃºblicas<https://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/halvard-johnson-obras-publicas>
; The Perfection of Mozart's Third Eye and Other
Sonnets<http://www.scribd.com/doc/27039868/Halvard-Johnson-THE-PERFECTION-OF-MOZART-S-THIRD-EYE-Other-Sonnets>
; Organ Harvest with Entrance of Clones<http://www.amazon.com/Harvest-Entrance-Clones-Halvard-Johnson/dp/0965404390/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1283182804&sr=8-1>
; Tango Bouquet<https://docs.google.com/Doc?docid=0ATDp6rzKkBkhZGZwand2cHdfOWc1Mnh3Zw&hl=en>
; Theory of Harmony<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall04/theory1.pdf>
; Rapsodie
espagnole<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/rapsodi.pdf>
; Guide to the Tokyo
Subway<http://www.amazon.com/Guide-Tokyo-Subway-Other-Poems/dp/0971487316/ref=sr_1_3?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1283183153&sr=1-3>
; The Sonnet
Project<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/hsonnet.pdf>
; G(e)nome <http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall03/genome.pdf>; Winter Journey <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.winter.html>;
Eclipse<http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.eclipse.html>
; The Dance of the Red Swan <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.dance.html>;
*
*Transparencies & Projections <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.transp.html>
*
*
*

↑ Index

4. Adam Fieled
"Rubber Soul, 2nd Edition" on Issuu
Thu 1 Sep 2011

In 2008, Lars Palm's ungovernable press released the e-chap "Rubber Soul." A second, improved edition of said chap is now up on Issuu:

http://issuu.com/afieled/docs/rubbersoul2

I hope you enjoy it.
Best,
Adam Fieled [redacted]

↑ Index

5. Sharon Mesmer/David Borchart
Contact info for Bernadette Mayer
Thu 1 Sep 2011

Hi all,

Does anyone have contact info for Bernadette?

Sincerely,
Sharon Mesmer

↑ Index

6. Jennifer Karmin
Bernadette Mayer Folio & storm update
Thu 1 Sep 2011

hi poetics friends....thanks to all who've been in touch about bernadette mayer and her partner philip good post-hurricane. no worries. ALL IS WELL! below is a short note from phil i received this morning.

"Hey, we were lucky. No damage. Never lost power. About 8 inches of water in the basement. Spent Monday pumping it out. Poetry State Forest flooded, but no trees fell down. The creeks were a sight to behold."

also -- the bernadette mayer folio for drunken boat is scheduled to launch on september 5th. coming soon.

http://www.drunkenboat.com

onwards,
jen karmin

↑ Index

7. Lewis, Susan

SUBMIT to MHR Blog!

Thu 1 Sep 2011

But first - check us out!

http://madhattersreview.com/blog/

The Mad Hatters' Review Blog is affiliated with the Mad Hatters' Review, an online journal with a collaborative spirit that caters to an international audience with an appreciation for innovative literature with an emphasis on word play, satire, dark humor, wit, and whimsy -- as well as art, music, politics, films, book reviews, interviews, literary audios, etc.

The MHR Blog welcomes submissions all year round. Send us your poems, flash fictions, short interviews, audio works, visuals, multimedia pieces and reviews. For poems, no more than 40 lines. For flash fictions, no more than 500 words. Please include a short biography. Include the name of your piece in the Submission Title.

TWO - THREE poem(s) (40 lines max)
ONE - TWO flash fiction(s) (500 words max)
ONE mini interview (3 - 5 questions)
ONE review (500 words max)
ONE audio recitation / recording
ONE visual / art piece
ONE multimedia piece

Submissions of previously published poems and flash fictions may be considered as long as authors own the copyrights, and the works were published in a print mag or defunct online journal.

For audio, visuals and multimedia pieces, please query first. We're always looking for something unexpected. When in doubt shoot us an email:
[redacted]<mailto:[redacted]>
Susan Lewis & Marc Vincenz
MHR Blog Editors

↑ Index

8. Nic Sebastian

Call for submissions or your poems are dying to be a videopoem triptych

Thu 1 Sep 2011

Do you have a group of three poems you'd like to have published as videopoems? They could be three of your own poems, a set of three separate-but-related poems by you and two other poets, or a set of three poems written collaboratively by two or more poets. Whale Sound, Cello Dreams and Swoon are looking for poems with which to create a videopoem triptych. We are a trio of artists — Nic Sebastian, poet/reader; Kathy McTavish, musician; and Swoon, film-maker — who have come together to pioneer this novel method of poetry publication. Flight, a videopoem based on a poem by Helen Vitoria, is an example of our collaboration. To get a sense of how your videopoem triptych would look and sound after publication, visit Night Vision. Send 3 to 5 poems in the body of an email to Nic at nic_sebastian at hotmail dot com or Swoon at swoonbildos at gmail dot com.

Nic Sebastian

Whale Sound

Forever Will End on Thursday

↑ Index

9. Jeffrey Lee

Max Finstein

Thu 1 Sep 2011

I've posted a bare-bones entry for Max Finstein to Wikipedia - any additions, corrections, etc., would be appreciated. Jeffrey

↑ Index

10. Meghan Smith

Call for Submissions: Magnolia Journal for socially engaged work by women writers

Fri 2 Sep 2011

---

*Magnolia Journal <http://www.theiase.org/iase-publishing/magnolia-journal/> *, a literary magazine featuring socially-engaged work by women and about the social injustices of our time, has just opened our call for submissions for our next volume. For an idea of what Magnolia is about, you can also look to our last edition<http://www.theiase.org/2011/06/23/magnolia-a-journal-of-womens-literature-volume-i-available-now/>, which came out this summer. See below for full submission guidelines.

*Call for Submissions<http://www.theiase.org/iase-publishing/magnolia-journal/> *

The Institute of Arts and Social Engagement welcomes submissions for Volume II of a new series dedicated to socially engaged fiction, creative non-fiction, and poetry by women.

*
*

2011 Guest Editor, Karen Connelly

Karen Connelly is the author of nine books of best-selling nonfiction, fiction, and poetry, the most recent being Burmese Lessons, a love story, a memoir about her experiences in Burma and on the Thai-Burma border.,She has won the Pat Lowther Award for her poetry, the Governor General's Award for her non-fiction, and Britain's Orange Broadband Prize for New Fiction for her first novel The Lizard Cage. Published in 2005, The Lizard Cage was compared in the New York Times Book Review to the works of Orwell, Solzhenitsyn, and Mandela, and hailed in the Globe and Mail as "one of the best modern Canadian novels."

Her other books include Grace and Poison, One Room in a Castle, This Brighter Prison, The Disorder of Love, and The Small Words in My Body. Married with a young child, she divides her time between a home in rural Greece and a home in Toronto.

* *

What to submit: Socially engaged works of fiction, creative non-fiction, and poetry that interact with and challenge social injustices of our time.

* *

Length: 5,000 word maximum for fiction and creative non-fiction; poetry up to 5 pages.

* *

Fees: We do not charge reading fees.

* *

Compensation and copyright: Each successful submission will receive 2 paperback copies of the anthology as payment. The Institute of Arts & Social Engagement (IASE) requests Non-exclusive Anthology and Electronic rights. IASE retains the right to continue selling back issues of the journal in print and electronic format.

* *

How to submit: Send your manuscript as an attachment (.doc or .rtf only, please do not submit .DOCX files) to [redacted]. Submissions must be typed, double spaced, using standard Arial or Times 12pt. font. Include your last name and title of the work in the email subject line (EX. Smith – Title of the work).

* *

Response time: All submissions will receive a written confirmation upon receipt, with a final decision in 1-3 months. While we will accept simultaneous submissions, we ask that you make us aware at the time of submission and communicate any changes regarding your manuscript as a matter of urgency.

* *

Deadline for submissions is December 31, 2011.

Queries to: [redacted]

↑ Index

11. michael farrell

new posts

Fri 2 Sep 2011

---

on claire gaskin and red room's clubs and societies https://jacket2.org/commentary/michael-farrell

michael

↑ Index

12. Bonnie MacAllister

Friday, Sept. 9: Big Blue Marble Bookstore presents Dilruba Ahmed and Bonnie MacAllister

Sat 3 Sep 2011

Dilruba Ahmed
&
Bonnie MacAllister

Friday, September 9
7 p.m.
Mt. Airy - Big Blue Marble Books
551 Carpenter Lane
Philadelphia, PA

A poetry reading at an independent bookstore in the Mt. Airy neighborhood of Philly.

Hope to see you there!

http://www.dilrubaahmed.com/events/
http://bonniemacallister.com/
http://www.bigbluemarblebooks.com/events.html

↑ Index

13. CA Conrad
a beautiful marsupial afternoon
Sat 3 Sep 2011

Hello! I'm very excited about my new book A Beautiful Marsupial Afternoon (Wave Books, 2012). The cover was just finished and can be seen with sample pages at this link: http://abeautifulmarsupial88.blogspot.com/

There are 7 billion people on Earth, meaning I don't take for granted that someone wants to publish my poems!
All my best,
CA

--
PhillySound: new poetry http://PhillySound.blogspot.com

THE BOOK OF FRANK by CAConrad http://CAConrad.blogspot.com

↑ Index

14. Sarah Sarai
Re: book design
Sat 3 Sep 2011

Yes to Adam Tobin. YES!

And may I piggyback on his spot on observation to also address editors of journals, online and print.

I know most of you know this, so please don't get your panties wringered, but in addition to putting out CFWs and making selections, editors must replicate on the page or online (kindle & co. too) the poem(s)/stories/captions/essays/memoirs/scathing reviews. This can take time, as author and editor may use different word processing programs or even choose to make linebreaks by way of “Enter” rather than “Shift Enter” or v/v – and that difference can make for more work on the editor's end, but it is the job of the editor to do it, check, check when the designer (if there is one) returns the doc. "Editor" is an umbrella term and most definitely includes all sorts of scut work. It's how I most often earn a living when I earn a living which isn't as often as I would like; and I do not work in publishing. Responsibilities have included checking links, writing heads, formatting heads and titles and text; verifying words (2 words or 30-page document) against the original document (round after round after round) to make sure no words or images were dropped; back and forthing with the writer (and in my experience writer means everything from a creative writer as we on the list are inclined to think of writer; to eager newcomer; to professional columnist; to a team in an ad agency; to a client who may be halfway across the country in a board room) to make sure the end product is what the end product is supposed to be. For me, editing has meant soliciting articles and authors or culling through submissions; working nights and weekends (sometimes) conventionally editing text and entering it into PageMaker (to date myself, which I do, often). It may sound like I'm preparing to tell you about the time I walked through the snow with a printing press on my shoulder and the reluctant advertising and circulation team on the other shoulder but I will save that for another email. (I've worked for a small literary journal; nonprofit monthly newspaper (editor-in-chief); huge impressive magazine empire--the online version thereof; in finance and law; advertising; probably other). Editor is NOT synonymous with MFA. Although as far as I'm concerned, reading and commenting on 130 papers a week, if intelligently and helpfully done (and not just those comments which help no one) is a lead in to editing though I've never been able to convince anyone in the mainline for-profit work world of that. As another editor where I'm currently working said, "I knew I was editor when I was in junior high school." It can be as strong a calling as being a writer. Some are both. Not everyone. They are different callings, like acting and directing.

I've heard blow-by-blows from a friends in the big publishing houses including the most literary; their hours are long and the work intense. Most editors are means of production owned/controlled by publishers who won't be reading this wee diatribe as they are on a beach chair on Montauk or Malibu.

THAT SAID, even the most dandyish and self-annointed editors can expect AT LEAST ONE VIRGIN AWAITING THEM IN HEAVEN if they promote poetry.

Sarah Sarai
http://my3000lovingarms.blogspot.com
(pretty hard to self-edit so love me even if I unsyntaxed and illspelled the above) p.s. I have a book, MFA, teaching experience (high school and college--all English/writing--comp & creative), and will teach again if it's not 5 classes of comp. as an adjunct

↑ Index

15. Halvard Johnson

Remains To Be Seen (a new collection of work new and old by Halvard Johnson)

Sat 3 Sep 2011

Over at Google docs (click here --> *Remains To Be Seen<https://docs.google.com/document/d/1tII1LvsGmJpmLby_dyie77p3D2u2sAwcJL3TuW5T-nY/edit?hl=en_US&pli=1#bookmark=id.xrpj7ozciuzo> *), I'm putting together a new collection/arrangement of poems and various other things. If you'd like to read over my shoulder (or even whisper comments in my ear), please feel free to do so. The collection (new poems and old) draws on many other collections both in print and online over the years.

This is not one of those slender volumes of verse you've heard so much about. It will be as large and various as all outdoors. It will be subject to change, but what isn't?

Serving the tri-state area.

Hal

Halvard Johnson
==========

[redacted]
http://sites.google.com/site/halvardjohnson/Home
http://entropyandme.blogspot.com
http://imageswithoutwords.blogspot.com
http://www.hamiltonstone.org
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
http://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/home
<http://www.hamiltonstone.org/>
*Remains To Be Seen<https://docs.google.com/document/d/1tII1LvsGmJpmLby_dyie77p3D2u2sAwcJL3TuW5T-nY/edit?hl=en_US>
, Sonnets from the Basque & Other Poems<https://docs.google.com/document/d/16pWoy7FBSWyCLWpz0hhI-i0BOYjSBeUiqfWBmJF3g64/edit?hl=en_US>
, Mainly Black<https://docs.google.com/document/edit?id=1i_JGJ_FqQldEnUq7cwjV8giYykz_tsGbTkC2EkAP3IM&hl=en&pli=1#>
, Obras PÃºblicas<https://sites.google.com/site/vidalocabooks/halvard-johnson-obras-publicas>
; The Perfection of Mozart's Third Eye and Other Sonnets<http://www.scribd.com/doc/27039868/Halvard-Johnson-THE-PERFECTION-OF-MOZART-S-THIRD-EYE-Other-Sonnets>
; Organ Harvest with Entrance of Clones<http://www.amazon.com/Harvest-Entrance-Clones-Halvard-Johnson/dp/0965404390/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&s=books&qid=1283182804&sr=8-1>
; Tango Bouquet<https://docs.google.com/Doc?docid=0ATDp6rzKkBkhZGZwand2cHdfOWc1Mnh3Zw&hl=en>
; Theory of Harmony<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall04/theory1.pdf>
; Rapsodie

espagnole<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/rapsodi.pdf>
; Guide to the Tokyo Subway<http://www.amazon.com/Guide-Tokyo-Subway-Other-Poems/dp/0971487316/ref=sr_1_3?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1283183153&sr=1-3>
; The Sonnet Project<https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/hsonnet.pdf>
; G(e)nome <http://xpressed.wippiespace.com/fall03/genome.pdf>; Winter Journey <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.winter.html>;
Eclipse<http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.eclipse.html>
; The Dance of the Red Swan <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.dance.html>;
*
*Transparencies & Projections <http://capa.conncoll.edu/johnson.transp.html>
*
*
*

↑ Index

16. Alan Sondheim
New Eyebeam blog
Sun 4 Sep 2011

Eyebeam blog

As a resident of Eyebeam, I'm going to be blogging on their site, http://eyebeam.org/blogs/alansondheim/ - you might want to check it out. My project involves thinking through avatars and virtuality in relation to pain, wounding, and death - how these may be manifest in virtual worlds and how they may affect real, physical worlds.

This is compounded by the state of my father, who, we found out today, is dying, and who has had a difficult and painful relationship with me from my beginning. I have never been able to 'shake' death, to 'shake' thinking about death; there are times I feel that I'm in a permanent state of collapse as a result. So the coincidence of the start of the residency with my father's state is both unnerving and painful, everything comes together, falls apart, in the blog.

↑ Index

17. michael farrell
Re: book design
Sun 4 Sep 2011

great sarah - i could easily read a book worth of this

mf

> Date: Sat, 3 Sep 2011 14:37:06 -0400
> From: [redacted]
> Subject: Re: book design
> To: [redacted]
>
> Yes to Adam Tobin. YES!
>
> And may I piggyback on his spot on observation to also address editors of journals, online and print.
>
> I know most of you know this, so please don't get your panties wringered, but in addition to putting out CFWs and making selections, editors must replicate on the page or online (kindle & co. too) the poem(s)/stories/captions/essays/memoirs/scathing reviews. This can take time, as author and editor may use different word processing programs or even choose to make linebreaks by way of "Enter" rather than "Shift Enter" or v/v – and that difference can make for more work on the editor's end, but it is the job of the editor to do it, check, check when the designer (if there is one) returns the doc. "Editor" is an umbrella term and most definitely includes all sorts of scut work. It's how I most often earn a living when I earn a living which isn't as often as I would like; and I do not work in publishing. Responsibilities have included checking links, writing heads, formatting heads and titles and text; verifying words (2 words or 30-page document) against the original document (round after round after round) to make sure no words or images were dropped; back and forthing with the writer (and in my experience writer means everything from a creative writer as we on the list are inclined to think of writer; to eager newcomer; to professional columnist; to a team in an ad agency; to a client who may be halfway across the country in a board room) to make sure the end product is what the end product is supposed to be. For me, editing has meant soliciting articles and authors or culling through submissions; working nights and weekends (sometimes) conventionally editing text and entering it into PageMaker (to date myself, which I do, often). It may sound like I'm preparing to tell you about the time I walked through the snow with a printing press on my shoulder and the reluctant advertising and circulation team on the other shoulder but I will save that for another email. (I've worked for a small literary journal; nonprofit monthly newspaper (editor-in-chief); huge impressive magazine empire--the online version thereof; in finance and law; advertising; probably other). Editor is NOT synonymous with MFA. Although as far as I'm concerned, reading and commenting on 130 papers a week, if intelligently and helpfully done (and not just those comments which help no one) is a lead in to editing though I've never been able to convince anyone in the mainline for-profit work world of that. As another editor where I'm currently working said, "I knew I was editor when I was in junior high school." It can be as strong a calling as being a writer. Some are both. Not everyone. They are different callings, like acting and directing.

> I've heard blow-by-blows from a friends in the big publishing houses including the most literary; their hours are long and the work intense. Most editors are means of production owned/controlled by publishers who won't be reading this wee diatribe as they are on a beach chair on Montauk or Malibu.
>
> THAT SAID, even the most dandyish and self-annointed editors can expect AT LEAST ONE VIRGIN AWAITING THEM IN HEAVEN if they promote poetry.
>
> Sarah Sarai
> http://my3000lovingarms.blogspot.com
> (pretty hard to self-edit so love me even if I unsyntaxed and illspelled the above)
> p.s. I have a book, MFA, teaching experience (high school and college--all English/writing--comp & creative), and will teach again if it's not 5 classes of comp. as an adjunct

↑ Index

18. Jeanne Heuving
NEW MFA, POETICS CONFERENCE, JOBS
Sun 4 Sep 2011

I am writing to let you know of a new MFA degree in Creative Writing and Poetics at the University of Washington Bothell, beginning Fall 2012. We will be initiating our degree with a conference early October 2012, Fall Convergence On Poetics, so please mark us down on your calendars (more details to follow).

For more information on the MFA, see our website: http://www.uwb.edu/mfa.

We are also looking to hire at least two senior lecturers / artist-in-residence at this time, so please consider (or pass on) our job ad below.

Regards,
Jeanne Heuving

JOB DESCRIPTION Creative Writing and Poetics Senior Lecturers / Artists-in-Residence (multiple positions, full- or half-time; 3-year renewable academic year appointment). Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences (IAS) at the University of Washington Bothell (UWB) seeks dynamic educators for a new MFA program. Expertise is sought in diverse genres, including cross genre and hybrid forms, and in poetics that address social, cultural, and/or technological aspects of writing. The successful candidate will join a faculty working across the arts, humanities, and social and natural sciences in a curriculum that values interdisciplinary and community-engaged research and pedagogy. Record of teaching excellence and significant published work are required at time of appointment; PhD or MFA preferred. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

IAS houses undergraduate and graduate programs, is located 18 miles from Seattle on the eastside of Lake Washington, and provides faculty with access to the research and funding resources of the UW as a whole. IAS houses twelve undergraduate majors and options, including degrees in Interdisciplinary Arts and in Culture, Literature, and the Arts. It also offers Master of Arts degrees in Cultural Studies and Policy Studies, with the Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing and Poetics beginning in Autumn 2012. The program as a whole stresses links between diverse fields and methods of inquiry, and values engaged scholarship and experiential learning as central components of its mission. The candidate will have a demonstrated commitment to pedagogical innovation and will be prepared to teach an upper-division core course that introduces students to interdisciplinary inquiry.

For more information about the MFA, IAS, UWB, and the position, please consult http://www.uwb.edu/IAS/ <http://www.uwb.edu/IAS/> and http://www.uwb.edu/mfa <http://www.uwb.edu/mfa> . Professor Jeanne Heuving, chair of the search committee, is available for additional questions at [redacted] <mailto:[redacted]> . Preferred deadline: 17 October 2011. Applications should include a letter addressing the candidate¹s artistic, scholarly, and pedagogical qualifications for working in the MFA and in IAS undergraduate degrees; a statement of candidate¹s creative writing and poetics commitments; CV; sample syllabus; and writing sample Email applications in one electronic file to: [redacted] <mailto:[redacted]> .

These positions are contingent upon available funding. University of Washington faculty members engage in teaching, research and service. Candidates should expect to teach at all levels of the undergraduate and graduate curriculum. The University is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. Interdisciplinary Arts and Sciences is dedicated to the goal of building a culturally diverse and pluralistic faculty and staff committed to teaching and working in a multicultural environment and strongly encourages applications from women, minorities, individuals with disabilities and other eligible veterans. Successful candidates must have a demonstrated commitment to working with diverse student and community populations.

↑ Index

19. Doug Holder
Hugh Fox Small Press Icon dies at 79
Mon 5 Sep 2011

I got a message from Fox's family on Sunday night--he passed in a hospice in Michigan -- here is a link to an interview I conducted with him--a great friend and mentor of mine and others..

http://www.litkicks.com/HughFox

↑ Index

20. Adam Fieled
Best of Stoning the Devil 2006-2009
Mon 5 Sep 2011

These pieces are taken from the Adam Fieled blog Stoning the Devil. They were originally published between 2006-2009. The emphasis is on an engagement with French thought: Bourdieu, Baudrillard, Derrida, Balzac. I hope you enjoy them:

http://www.scribd.com/doc/63825589/Best-of-Stoning-the-Devil-2006-2009

Thanks,
Adam Fieled

↑ Index

21. Doug Holder
Hugh Fox: Way, Way Off On His Final Road: 1932 to 2011
Mon 5 Sep 2011

Hugh Fox: Way, Way Off On His Final Road: 1932 to 2011

Hugh Fox: Way, Way Off On His Final Road
By Doug Holder

From the introduction of " Way, Way Off the Road: The Memoirs of The Invisible Man" by Hugh Fox (Ibbetson Street Press)

"Several years ago the Ibbetson Street Press published a Hugh Fox poetry collection "Angel of Death." I had never actually met Fox in the flesh, but I was aware of his substantial contributions to the small press over the past 40 years. Fox was a founding member of COSMEP, (a seminal small press organization), a founding member of the PUSHCART PRIZE, and edited the groundbreaking anthology " The Living Underground," to name just a few achievements.

One day, in my apartment on Ibbetson Street in Somerville, Mass. I was just about asleep when I heard my doorbell ring. I went to answer it and a man of a

